Rancho Cordova Chamber Presents the 6th Annual Business to Community Expo

The Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce urges anyone within the region to come by the Rancho Cordova City Hall and check out the Expo. Photos courtesy Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - There is such thing as a FREE Lunch! Over 80 vendor booths and at least 550 guests will converge on the Rancho Cordova City Hall next week, Thursday, August 18th, to share information, promote business goods and services and offer fine lunch samplings from local restaurants and caterers.

The public is invited to join the event's presenting sponsor Wells Fargo, along with event sponsors Heritage Community Credit Union, SMUD and Rancho Cordova Travel & Tourism for this annual business-to-community expo. Everything from financial services to windows and cabinets, hotels and restaurants to information on energy efficiency and helicopter rescue services – you can find it all right here in Rancho Cordova.

The Chamber of Commerce introduced the Business Expo five short years ago in 2011. Every year it has grown - both in the number of attendees and vendors! The first year the Chamber welcomed approximately 200 guests who explored about 32 vendors. Today, the Expo anticipates a tripling of both those figures.

Guests can enter a contest to win lunch for their office colleagues, pick up information on special events, find out how to set up an app, collect a give-a-way or two and even have the chance to win a new Galaxy tablet.

"I definitely saw an uptick in business from the Expo. I plan to participate every year!" Garrett Gatewood, President, Lime Works, Inc.

The Chamber urges anyone within the region to come by the Rancho Cordova City Hall and check out the Expo. It is designed for both the public to learn more about local businesses and for businesses to learn about each other.

"This is a fantastic event to showcase our Rancho Cordova business community. We invite everyone to drop by before, during and after their lunch hour to explore Rancho Cordova's best in business and services" – Diann Rogers, President & CEO, Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce.

Colorful billboards along Highway 50 have promoted the event for the past six weeks and a directed social media campaign via Facebook should help drive attendance. Outreach to large employers, small offices, residents, and community organizations help ensure our business community enjoys the opportunity to share their goods and services.

"The Rancho Cordova Business Expo is on my calendar every year. I enjoy checking out the new and returning vendor booths. The Chamber does a great job of promoting business in our community." Bea Lopez, Rancho Cordova resident be held at Rancho Cordova City Hall, 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, (Corner of White Rock just off Zinfandel and Prospect Park). The event is scheduled for Thursday, August 18th from 10:00 am to 2:00 pm. Parking and entry is free.

The Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce values integrity, prosperity and a diverse business community. We strive for significant impact through the development of opportunity, clear vision and committed action on behalf of our members. The Chamber has serves nearly 450 members and over 10,000 member employees throughout the Rancho Cordova region. Find out more at RanchoCordova.org

FBI Warns of Phone Scam Targeting Northern and Central California Residents

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Sacramento field office has received numerous reports of individuals impersonating government agencies in an effort to scam the public. Currently, these unsolicited calls are placed by criminals who claim to be representatives of the FBI or other government agency and make demands for money. Several call recipients stated that Caller ID information falsely displayed the call as originating from an FBI office and the caller told the victim to check the internet to verify the number.

Federal agencies do not call or e-mail individuals to collect money. Government impersonation scams vary but most use intimidation tactics to coerce victims to hastily provide personal information or money. During calls, scammers often tell victims that charges have or will soon be filed against them and arrest or confiscation of property is imminent unless payment is made immediately by pre-paid credit card or gift card. Often, if a call recipient questions the caller about the authenticity of the call, the caller becomes increasingly more aggressive. In some cases, Caller ID information was replicated to make calls appear to originate from a federal agency's legitimate phone number.

The FBI advises the public to always exercise caution when receiving unsolicited calls and never give personal information when such calls are received. Recipients of scam calls should hang up immediately and report the call. All types of telephone fraud schemes and scams can be reported to the FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3) at <https://www.ic3.gov/complaint/splash.aspx>.

New Fire Chief Selected for Metro Fire

Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District (Metro Fire) announced on August 5th their selection of Todd Harms (above) as the next Fire Chief.

MATHER, CA (MPG) - The Board of Directors for the Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District (Metro Fire) announced on August 5th their selection of Todd Harms as the next Fire Chief.

After Fire Chief Mark Wells announced earlier in the year that he planned to retire later this year, the Board launched a nationwide search in May to recruit his successor. Given that Metro Fire is the largest fire agency in the Sacramento region and the 7th largest in California, the Board was seeking a dynamic and visionary leader in the fire service, with a passion for public safety, who would be energized by Metro Fire's fast pace and the diversity of service demands.

"We are pleased to have Todd Harms take the lead as our new Fire Chief," stated Board President Jack Scheidegger. "His expertise and leadership experience will add greatly to the existing excellent Metro Fire staff and provide expanded vision and perspective as we move into the future. We are fortunate to have this opportunity to build on the fine leadership provided by Chief Wells."

Harms has 35 years of public safety service, of which nine were spent serving as an Executive Staff member for the Phoenix Fire Department. He is currently the Assistant Chief of Operations and has also been their Assistant Chief of Personnel and the Training Division, with oversight of the Training Academy, Command Training Center, Special Operations, Emergency Medical Services, Technical Services, dispatch and the Regional 9-1-1 services.

Harms began his fire service career in 1981 as a Firefighter

Paramedic in Peotone, Illinois, and in 1987, became a member of the Phoenix Fire Department. He has progressed through the ranks as a Firefighter, Paramedic, Engineer, Captain, Battalion Chief, Deputy Chief of Special Operations and Shift Commander. He has been an Urban Search and Rescue (US&R) team member, with deployments to Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Harms holds a Bachelor's degree in Fire Service Management and is a past adjunct instructor at Phoenix College in the Fire Science Program.

Sheriff Scott Jones Condemns Obama Administration's Cash Ransom Payment to Iran

Scott Jones

SACRAMENTO, CA - (MPG) Sacramento County Sheriff Scott Jones condemned today the secret cash ransom payment the Obama Administration paid to Iran in exchange for the release of four American hostages.

The Wall Street Journal has reported that President Barack Obama and Secretary of State John Kerry, over the objections of the Department of Justice, arranged for $400 million in cash to be secretly flown into Iran in an unmarked cargo plane. The paper reported that U.S. officials "acknowledge that Iranian negotiators on the prisoner exchange said they wanted the cash to show they had gained something tangible."

"By putting a price on the heads of American hostages, the administration has signaled to every criminal regime and terror organization in the world that taking Americans hostage can be a profitable enterprise," said Sheriff Scott Jones.

U.S. Congressman Ed Royce, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said to reporters that; "hundreds of millions in the pockets of a terrorist regime means a more dangerous region, period. And paying ransom only puts more American lives in jeopardy. We already know the Iran nuclear deal was a historic mistake. It keeps getting worse. What else is the Obama administration hiding?"

CDPH Reports Record-Low Birth Rates Among Adolescents

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - California's birth rate among adolescents has continued to decline to record-low levels, reports California Department of Public Health (CDPH) Director and State Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith. The state's 2014 numbers indicate a record low of 20.8 births per 1,000 females between the ages of 15 and 19. Those numbers reflect a 10 percent decline from 2013 and a 55 percent decline from the 2000 rate of 46.7.

"California's continued success in reducing births among adolescents is an excellent example of public health at work," said Dr. Smith. "We can have a positive influence on the lives of young people when we empower them with knowledge, tools and resources to make healthy choices."

The birth rate among adolescents decreased among all racial and ethnic groups between 2000 and 2014. During this time, the birth rate dropped from 77.3 to 31.3 (births per 1,000 females aged 15 to 19) among Hispanics, 59.1 to 24.6 among African Americans, 22.3 to 8.4 among Whites and 15.0 to 3.7 among Asians.

Despite these declining birth rates, racial disparities persist in adolescent childbearing in California. African American and Hispanic adolescents are three to four times as likely to give birth as White females. In addition, the birth rate among adolescents varies considerably across counties, from a low of 7.0 in Marin County to a high of 45.1 in Kern County.

California has a number of programs aimed at preventing adolescent pregnancy and improving pregnancy outcomes among young women. CDPH funds the Information and Education Program, the Personal Responsibility Education Program authorized through the Affordable Care Act of 2010, and the Adolescent Family Life Program for expectant and parenting adolescents. In addition, the state provides no-cost family planning services to eligible men and women, including adolescents, through the Family PACT Program.

Berryhill Blasts Governor's ALRB Appointment

Says Geneiveve Shiroma's Personal Connections with UFW Makes Her Unsuitable For Board

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Tom Berryhill (R-Twain Harte) spoke on August 4th in opposition to Geneiveve Shiroma's reappointment to the Agriculture Labor Relations Board. Excerpts from his floor remarks include:

"Her [Shiroma's] relationship with the UFW's lobbyist, who is also her campaign manager, while not illegal, creates the perception, within the agriculture industry that she cannot be fair and balanced."

Berryhill went on to cite ALRB's disregard of

Senator Tom Berryhill (R-Twain Harte)

Gerawan Farming's employees in favor of the UFW as an example of Shiroma's bias.

"Impartiality and lack of bias are the building blocks of the entire ALRB process.... When folks - on either side - lose faith in the ability to get a fair hearing, the process doesn't work."

The Senate confirmed Ms. Shiroma's appointment 26-11.

Senator Berryhill represents Rancho Cordova and the counties of Amador, Calaveras, Inyo, Mariposa, Mono, Stanislaus, Tuolumne and parts of Fresno, Madera, Sacramento and Tulare. ★

CA Federation of Teachers Files Complaint Against Accrediting Commission for Community Colleges

SAN FRANCISCO, CA (MPG) - This week, the California Federation of Teachers filed a substantive new complaint against the Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges, arguing that the accreditor of California's community colleges has failed so completely to fulfill its duties that the U.S. Department of Education should immediately "delist" it—that is, deny its renewal as an accreditor. TheCFT was joined in the complaint by the faculty union at City College of San Francisco, AFT Local 2121, and its parent organization, the American Federation of Teachers.

A previous complaint filed by CFT in 2013 resulted in a finding by the Education Department that the ACCJC was in violation of numerous accreditation standards.

"For years, the ACCJC has pushed forward with self-serving, illegal accreditation practices that unjustifiably sullied the names of colleges and universities throughout California, like our own City College of San Francisco, while allowing bad actors like Corinthian Colleges to defraud and even bankrupt thousands of students," said AFT President Randi Weingarten, whose 1.6 million members include more than 200,000 professionals in higher education. "Even after it's been found at fault, the ACCJC is still in business, with the potential of devastating the college's functioning and, with it, the ability of faculty to deliver a high-quality education to our students. Enough is enough. It is time to delist this failing commission and return hope to the community and every student City College serves."

The complaint notes that the ACCJC is widely scorned because of its actions and no longer has "wide acceptance" among the California community colleges it oversees, a crucial standard for continued recognition for regional accreditors by the Department of Education.

"It is past time that we move on to a fair, competent accreditor for the colleges that serve more than 2 million students," said CFT President Joshua Pechthalt, who is an AFT vice president. "The department should pay close attention to the long list of abuses of power and violations of accreditation norms committed by this agency, and help us find an agency that can do the job properly."

The American Federation of Teachers is a union of 1.6 million professionals.

State Supreme Court Issues Another Victory for Brown's Plan to Construct Two Giant Tunnels Beneath The Delta

Supreme Court ruled that the state has the right to go on private property for environmental testing as part of a plan to divert fresh water under or around the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta on its way to Central and Southern California. It is a victory for the governor's plan to construct two giant tunnels beneath the Delta as a way to improve reliability of the state's water system and send tremendous amounts of water to Southern California. The pro-tunnels advocates still have many bridges to cross before they can say they have won the battle. With the Delta losing so much fresh water to Southern California, there will be a tremendous amount of salt water moving in to the Delta. That will be another blow that Northern California will have to deal with. Construction of the tunnels will not begin for a few years though, so something may be found during that time that will stop the whole thing.

The school year began on August 9, 2016 and four of our grandchildren have started going to their new classrooms. Next spring when the school year comes to an end, we will see one grandson graduate from Cordova High School and then we're not sure where he'll go next; another grandson will graduate from Mitchell Middle School and go on to Cordova High; another grandson will begin the 4th grade; and the fourth grandson will begin the 2nd grade. Our granddaughter just turned 1 year old, so she has a little time before she will be going to school. Looking at that layout, there will be quite a few grandchildren going to Rancho Cordova schools for quite a while. Good! We are looking forward to seeing what the future holds for them, for their parents, and for their grandparents too. (That will be us of course.)

The first 50 apartments in the Veterans Village at Mather are all occupied, and there are some very happy veterans who now have a place they can call home. There are some steps that we need to take to get going on the next 50 apartments, but they will be taken. The county hasn't given us the final approval for the ground upon which the apartments will be built, but with the help of County Supervisor Don Nottoli, we know it will be finished. Don has been working with us to get homes for the veterans, and he is just as happy as we are that the program is moving forward. Thanks Don!

From Councilman Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

We are getting closer to the presidential election on November 8, 2016, and after it is done, the country will take a breath and get into the holiday spirit. After two years of campaigning, you would think that both the winner and the loser can relax a little bit. Now granted there are still three months to go before the election, but all of the presidential candidates should take these last three months to see where they really are as far as the citizens are concerned. All of them think they are ahead "according to the polls", but I think Will Rogers was a little more accurate when he said, "If you're riding ahead of the herd, take a look back every now and then to make sure it's still there." Some of the people I have talked to recently have decided not to vote for either one of the two major political party candidates. I guess we will all have to see what those who are "riding ahead of the herd" end up with when the dust settles.

CDPH Confirms First Human West Nile Virus Death of 2016

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - California Department of Public Health (CDPH) Director and State Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith today announced the first confirmed death in California due to West Nile virus (WNV). The deceased person was a senior citizen in Sacramento County.

“West Nile virus can cause a deadly infection in humans, and the elderly are particularly susceptible, as this unfortunate fatality illustrates,” said Dr. Smith. “West Nile virus activity in the state is increasing, so I urge Californians to take every possible precaution to protect themselves against mosquito bites.”

CDPH has reported ten human cases of WNV from eight California counties this year. In addition, 764 dead birds from 26 counties have tested positive for WNV in 2016 and 1,487 mosquito samples from 30 counties have also tested positive for WNV this year.

The number of WNV positive dead birds and mosquito samples exceeds the numbers at this same time last year and are above the state’s most recent five-year average.

West Nile virus is influenced by many factors, including climate, the number and types of birds and mosquitoes in an area and the level of WNV immunity in birds. West Nile is transmitted to humans and animals by the bite of an infected mosquito. The risk of serious illness to most people is low. However, some individuals – less than 1 percent – can develop serious neurologic illnesses such as encephalitis or meningitis.

People 50 years of age and older and individuals with diabetes or hypertension have a higher chance of getting sick and are more likely to develop complications.

CDPH recommends that individuals protect against mosquito bites and WNV by practicing the “Three Ds”:

- 1. DEET – Apply insect repellent containing DEET, picaradin, oil of lemon eucalyptus or IR3535 according to label instructions. Repellents keep the mosquitoes from biting you. Insect repellents should not be used on children under two months of age.
- 2. DAWN AND DUSK

– Mosquitoes usually bite in the early morning and evening so it is important to wear proper clothing and repellent if outside during these times. Make sure that your doors and windows have tight-fitting screens to keep out mosquitoes. Repair or replace screens that have tears or holes.

- 3. DRAIN – Mosquitoes lay their eggs on standing water. Eliminate all sources of standing water on your property, by emptying flower pots, old car tires, buckets, and other containers. If you know of a swimming pool that is not being properly maintained, please contact your local mosquito and vector control agency.

California’s West Nile virus website includes the latest information on WNV activity in the state. Californians are encouraged to report dead birds on the website or by calling toll-free 1-877-WNV-BIRD (968-2473).

Q&A with Buyers & Sellers

This column is here for you as a resource in sorting out buying and selling property. When you ask a question we answer here so everyone benefits. What don't you know about buying and selling property? Let me help.

It's easy, just email your question to us and we share the answer so everyone can learn from it. Email: ellenherrle@hotmail.com or leave a message at 916-761-2108.

Q: Hi, we are hoping to have buyers visit our current home but worry about who will visit and potential theft during an Open House. Any suggestions?

A: I understand your concerns as a Realtor. We always want our clients to feel safe, secure and know what's going to occur in sales including Open Houses. Here is a list of ideas and number one is get a Realtor you can trust!

1. Ask your Realtor to bring an assistant to oversee others while they sell the home.
2. Let neighbors know about your Open House.
3. Declutter rooms, protect your valuables by removing them including important financial or credit paperwork that includes account numbers. Prescription drugs should also be removed or secured in the home.
4. Take pictures BEFORE the Open House. Once staged and ready for visitors take photos to review immediately after the door closes at the end of the day.
5. Keep track of who visits, and some provide a sign in sheet that includes follow up contact information including name, phone and emails.
6. Technology offers a watchdog in security cameras that can be placed in hidden to monitor rooms. Video should be captured on a recorder for later inspection.
7. Hire a Security Guard!
8. Check home security after an Open House to make sure all windows, doors and other access points are still locked and secure to avoid later intruders after the Open House is over.

Some homeowners and realtors don't want to do an Open House, but that is up to each individual seller and may offer more for buyers to see than is apparent in pictures, so it's a case-by-case call for homeowners and Realtors to discuss. Also, listen to us live at 105.5 FM, M-F, 12 to 1, KSAC, The Wall Street Business Network. Ellen

For those who get in touch each month you'll also receive one of three pamphlets on buying and selling strategies, and be entered in a random drawing for a dinner for two at one of our great Sacramento or Placer restaurants! Don't spend more than you have too, or sell for less than you deserve by asking the expert first! Call us to help when you decide to buy or sell at 916-761-2108.

Next time: Buyers and sellers learn more to earn more! Listen weekdays at noon on Money 105.5 ★

IT'S ALL ABOUT YOU

When selecting a real estate agent, you need someone who puts your needs and wants above everything else. You need an agent who:

- Listens and understands your particular needs
- Communicates on a regular basis
- Knows local markets • Handles details
- Gives you the best value - whether you are buying or selling property!

For honest, ethical and reliable real estate assistance, call Ellen today.

NOTICE TO READERS

California law requires that contractors taking jobs that total $500 or more (labor and/or materials) be licensed by the Contractors State License Board. State law also requires that contractors include their license numbers on all advertising. Check your contractor's status at www.cslb.ca.gov or 800-321-CSLB (2752). Unlicensed persons taking jobs that total less than $500 must state in their advertisements that they are not licensed by the Contractors State License Board.

DISCLAIMER

Be wary of out of area companies. Check with the local Better Business Bureau before you send any money for fees or services. Read and understand any contracts before you sign. Shop around for rates.

Make It Fun and It Will Get Done!
The Secret to Being Organized
Pam Young's Corner
Know When to Give it Up

Many have a hard time letting go and it really doesn't have to be that way. Now I'm not talking about the letting go of a person whom you love and he no longer loves you. That's a boo hoo, hard kind of letting go and it takes time. I'm talking about de-cluttering. As far as de-cluttering goes, I used to have a hard time letting go, but I don't anymore, because of a test question I ask every time I get stuck holding onto an item that needs to go.

I'll tell you what that test question is in a minute. First I want to tell you a little story. Because of a contest called Project CHAOS (Can't Have Anyone Over Syndrome) I've been in over 100 homes that were crammed with too much stuff. My sister and I would pick a winner in a city and armed with television cameras, newspaper journalists and photographers; we'd go into the home of the winning family and de-junk a room. The "before" and "after" were always media fodder.

I remember one specific winner vividly. She was a physician (even doctors can have too much stuff) and she wanted us to help her with her personal, walk-in closet. It was jam-packed with fashions that spanned two decades and four sizes.

She dressed well. Her clothes were purchased at high-end dress shops and department stores, and most were designer.

One of her biggest roadblocks was remembering what she paid originally for each garment and in the beginning it was hard to get her to let go, especially with garments that had little wear. It seems like when we pay a good price for something and then we don't wear it, we'll keep it just in case, by some miracle, we'll change our mind. NOT!

The doctor had gained about 50 pounds in twenty years and we explained that even if she lost the weight, she wouldn't want to wear stuff that was out of style, and besides if she lost the weight she certainly deserved to get a brand new wardrobe! With that realization, the closet emptied like we'd pulled the plug on a bathtub full of water.

But what about old shoes, purses, scarves and jewelry? She still wore the same size shoe and purses, jewelry and scarves don't have a size. This is when I thought up "the question." I had her hold each item, one at a time, and ask this question: "If I were at a second-hand store like Goodwill or the Salvation Army, would I buy this?" The question made her focus like we do when we shop, and when she really scrutinized a pair of shoes for example, suddenly the worn heel or frayed strap jumped out at her. A purse, well passed its expiration date, moaned, "I'm tired, let me go." It was a real eye-opener to keep that question in her mind.

So with that story, the next time you get stuck holding onto an item that needs to go, ask it, "Would I buy you at Goodwill?" If the answer is "no," get rid of it. When you go about your daily routine, you might want to keep those Goodwill eyes open for any items that need replacing.

Now, go to your kitchen and look at your dish clothes, dishtowels and hot pads and ask, THE QUESTION, as you hold each one. It just might be time to let go and get new!

Dave Says

speaking where the money is concerned, it's still a drain.

You really don't have any choice but to do a budget. Having seven kids doesn't give you an excuse to live out of control or mean that living out of control without a plan is the definition of success. You've got to set more emergency categories aside in your budget. You've got to budget heavier for food, medical, transportation and things like that, because you've got more things pulling at you — and your money!

—Dave

Commonsense calculation

Dear Dave,
I make $80,000 a year, and I was wondering if there's an easy way to determine how much money a person would need to live comfortably after retirement.

- John

Dear John,
A commonsense rule of thumb, if you've got your money invested in good growth stock mutual funds, is to pull from those funds at a rate that is lower than which they are growing. Otherwise, you'll destroy them, right?

I tell folks if they want to pull off six percent to eight percent — I'm comfortable doing eight percent — then you've got to decide exactly how much you want to live on and what that means for your nest egg. If you want to live on $80,000 a year, it means you have to have a $1 million nest egg. If you want to live on $40,000 a year, then you need a half-million dollar nest egg for what we're talking about here.

To get into that a little bit further, I would advise going to Chris Hogan's website. He's got a tool on there that takes just a few minutes, and it will give you exact numbers on what you need to do. It's ChrisHogan360.com, and the tool is called the R:Q — your Retire Inspired Quotient.

You can walk through it, and in just a few minutes you'll know exactly what's going on and what needs to happen!

Street Address or other common designation of real property: 14811 Reynosa Drive, Rancho Murietta, CA 95683 A.P.N. : 128-0270-001-0000 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $480,490.48 If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary of the Deed of Trust has executed and delivered to the undersigned a written request to commence foreclosure, and the undersigned caused a Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property. NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE Note: Because the Beneficiary reserves the right to bid less than the total debt owed, it is possible that at the time of the sale the opening bid may be less than the total debt NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 714-730-2727 or visit this Internet Web site www.ndscorp.com/sales, using the file number assigned to this case 14-22044-SP-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. A Day in the Life of Metro Fire

This morning started with a 2:00 am call for a house fire on the 8000 block of Camrose Way in South Sacramento.

Sac Metro Fire Special Report

MATHER, CA (MPG) - As the busiest fire agency in the region, Metro Fire responded to more than 93,000 calls for service in 2015. So, what does a typical day at Metro Fire look like?

This morning started with a 2:00 am call for a house fire on the 8000 block of Camrose Way in South Sacramento. Nobody was hurt, the home sustained minimal damage, and Fire Investigators determined the cause to be arson.

Roughly two hours later, Metro Firefighters were called to the 7200 block of Castle Rock Way in South Sacramento, where they found a vacant home, well-involved with fire, flames coming through the roof. The fire had already spread to a second house and was immediately threatening a third. Firefighters were quickly assigned based on strategic objectives: contain the well-involved house while quickly extinguishing the fire in the second home, and protecting the third. Damage to the house of origin is estimated at $250,000, the second house at $35,000, and the only damage to the third house was melted window frames. No injuries were reported and the cause is currently under investigation.

Around 11am, a car that swerved into a ditch knocked down a utility pole, downing energized lines at Eagles Nest and Jackson Road. A fire started in a pole barn and spread to nearby grass. About a quarter mile away, a spark from a fuse on the damaged line started a second grass fire. The driver was uninjured and both fires were contained to less than an acre.

Just before 1pm, another grass fire at Jackson Road and Litzwelsh Road threatened multiple structures. An aggressive fire attack held the fire to less than three acres, with fire damaging fences and trees but none of the homes. No injuries were reported and the cause is still under investigation.

Throw in training and 250 more calls (on average) for medical emergencies, water rescues, floods, vehicle accidents, animal rescues, fires, and vertical rescues, and you have a snapshot of a day at Metro Fire.

Governor Brown Signs Tribal Compacts

Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. today announced that he has signed tribal-state gaming compacts between the State of California and the Agua Caliente Band of Cahuilla Indians, the Jamul Indian Village, the Pechanga Band of Luiseño Indians and the Yocha Dehe Wintun Nation, as well as an amendment to the current tribal-state gaming compact with the Yurok Tribe.

The terms of the new compacts regarding licensing, compliance enforcement, mitigation of off-reservation impacts and protections for patrons and employees are consistent with recent compacts. The regulatory provisions reflect the professionalism of the tribes' regulators and their constructive relationship with state gaming regulators. The new compacts strengthen government-to-government relations at the local level by providing incentives for tribal funding to local jurisdictions for fire, emergency medical services, law enforcement, public transit, infrastructure improvements, education and other essential services. They also promote tribal investments that provide a mutual benefit to the tribe and the local community. These investments may include renewable energy, recycling or water conservation projects, non-gaming-related economic development and health care facilities.

Two of the compacts - Pechanga and Yocha Dehe - establish the new California Native American Education and Scholarship Fund. This fund recognizes that investment in educational programs and opportunities is essential to the overall health and welfare of all Californians, and is inspired by the belief that a college education not only improves the quality of an individual's life but also engenders broad social, economic and political benefits. It is intended to ensure that Native American youth from tribes without substantial gaming revenue have the financial support to pursue and obtain undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. Each of the new compacts also provides significant additional revenue to the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund, which distributes gaming revenue to non-gaming and limited gaming tribes so that the economic benefits of gaming reach all tribal governments within California.

The compact with Agua Caliente reflects the unique relationship between the tribe and Palm Springs, Rancho Mirage and Cathedral City and creates a framework within which the tribe can make significant investments that will generate jobs and stimulate additional economic growth in each of those communities.

The compact with the Jamul Indian Village recognizes that the tribe has committed to support projects that benefit local residents, ranging from transportation infrastructure improvements to funding for enhanced fire services, as the tribe makes the transition from a recipient of Revenue Sharing Trust Fund money to a contributing tribe.

The new Pechanga compact will make the tribe one of the largest contributors to funds - including the new California Native American Education and Scholarship Fund and the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund - which support other tribal governments and their members. In addition, the compact creates a new Local Community Credit Fund that will serve as a vehicle for investments in projects that benefit the tribe and the local community.

The compact with Yocha Dehe affirms the tribe's commitment to the residents of Yolo County and is intended to enable the tribal government to invest in worthy causes, such as providing needed funding, economic development and infrastructure for tribal and non-tribal governments; scholarships for Native American people and funding for schools dedicated to Native American education; capital to help local governments establish the machinery needed to protect cultural resources; and housing and health care benefits for those in need.

The amendment to the compact with the Yurok Tribe conforms the provisions of its 2006 compact regarding workers' compensation to those of more recent compacts.

Non-Prescription Meds - A Forgotten Solution to Rising Healthcare Costs

Commentary by Devon Herrick

The American College of Physicians is urging its 140,000 members to prescribe generic medications whenever possible, even if newer medicines are available. The ACP explains that people are far more likely to fill an inexpensive generic prescription, since skyrocketing drug prices and insurance fees have made brand-name medicines increasingly unaffordable.

That recommendation, though a step in the right direction, doesn't go far enough. Often, the cheapest, safest, and most effective treatments don't require a prescription at all.

It's time for doctors and insurers to steer patients to these non-prescription remedies. Doing so would save patients billions while improving their health.

Prescription drug prices keep rising. List prices for brand-name drugs jumped almost 15 percent in 2015. Even generic prices rose 3 percent.

Insurers increasingly pass these costs on to patients. Patients' average out-of-pocket spending jumped 77 percent from 2004 to 2014. Spending on insurance deductibles rose eight times as fast as wages. And expenditures on co-insurance - an arrangement that forces patients to pay a large percentage of each prescription's cost - more than doubled.

Many patients can't afford these costs. So they respond by skipping doses to make their prescriptions last longer. Or they don't fill the prescriptions at all - and become sicker as a result.

Doctors could prevent much of this non-adherence - which costs the nation up to $300 billion a year - by encouraging patients to use affordable non-prescription alternatives first.

Most Americans are familiar with non-prescription remedies such as Tylenol, Allegra, and Imodium. Consumers can obtain these products at local pharmacies, retail stores, and even online without a doctor's prescription.

Many people assume that if a product doesn't require a prescription, it's less effective. Not true. More than 700 over-the-counter products were once available only by prescription.

Consider the range of treatments for irritable bowel syndrome, a combination of diarrhea and constipation that plagues up to 55 million Americans. Most physicians initially advise IBS sufferers to make dietary modifications, such as eating smaller meals throughout the day or avoiding fatty foods.

If that doesn't work, doctors typically default to "drug 'em up" mode -- saddling patients with high costs in the process. New prescription options for irritable bowel syndrome can cost as much as $19 per tablet.

Patients may fare better if doctors recommended non-prescription remedies before reaching for their prescription pads. One such IBS remedy, IBgard, sells for 63 cents per capsule, and according to recent clinical studies, it decreases IBS symptoms by 40 percent after four weeks. Other testing shows that another non-prescription remedy, Miralax -- which costs less than a dollar per dose -- relieves IBS-related constipation in the overwhelming majority of patients.

Non-prescription remedies effectively treat a host of other common ailments too. Prilosec, for instance, controls acid reflux disease just as well as prescription medications, according to recent studies. Non-prescription anti-inflammatory treatments, such as Aleve, reduce joint pain about as much as prescription Celebrex.

These equally-effective treatments can help to protect patients' bank accounts as well as bodies. While the average brand-name prescription costs about $268 and the typical generic prescription costs $33, the average non-prescription remedy sets consumers back less than $10.

All told, non-prescription drugs save Americans $102 billion a year. That's a third of the nation's total pharmaceutical spending.

Non-prescription treatments also come with fewer side effects and health risks. For instance, researchers have discovered that a non-prescription, 200-milligram tablet of ibuprofen -- the active ingredient in Advil -- curbs pain as effectively as a 10-milligram dose of prescription morphine. The latter treatment, of course, is highly addictive and can lead to drug abuse.

Doctors aren't the only ones who ought to encourage greater adoption of non-prescription remedies. Insurers should too.

Currently, many insurance companies incentivize doctors and patients to use inexpensive treatments by keeping co-pays low for generic drugs, while charging high co-insurance fees for expensive brand-name medicines. Yet these companies neglect to cover many non-prescription remedies. That forces patients to pay the full price out-of-pocket.

Expanded coverage for such remedies would give doctors and patients a financial incentive to try non-prescription options before resorting to expensive drugs. Congress could also further encourage non-prescription drugs by repealing the medicine cabinet tax on OTC drugs and allowing consumers to use their HSAs and FSAs to purchase non-prescription drugs.

Non-prescription treatments boost patients' health -- without breaking the bank. By encouraging increased use of these therapies, physicians and insurers could trim ballooning healthcare bills and ensure patients can actually afford to follow their doctors' orders.

CHP to Host "Coffee with a Cop" August 17th

CHP Special Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Officers from the California Highway Patrol Valley Division Office and community members will come together in an informal, neutral space to discuss community issues, have coffee, and build relationships.

All community members are invited to attend. The event will be held from 8:00 am to 10:00 am on Wednesday, August 17, 2016 at Old Soul @ 40 Acres. Please contact Officer Guillermo Garcia with questions: (916) 731-6300, or email 201pio@chp.ca.gov.

Coffee with a Cop provides a unique opportunity for community members to ask questions and learn more about the Department's work in Sacramento's neighborhoods.

The majority of contacts law enforcement has with the public happen during emergencies or emotional situations. Those situations are not always the most effective times for relationship building with the community, and some community members may feel officers are unapproachable on the street. Coffee with a Cop breaks down barriers and allows for a relaxed, one-on-one interaction.

"We hope community members will welcome the opportunity to ask questions, bring concerns forward, or simply get to know our officers," said Chief Janice Mulanix. "These interactions are the foundation of community partnerships."

Coffee with a Cop is a national initiative supported by the United States Department of Justice, Office of Community Oriented Policing Services. Similar events are being held across the country as local police departments strive to make lasting connections with the communities they serve.

The program aims to advance the practice of community policing through improving relationships between police officers and community members one cup of coffee at a time. ★

First 5 California: Summer Reading at Your Local Library

By Diane Levin, Chief Deputy Director, First 5 California

During the long hot days of summer, it can be challenging to find new activities for your young children. A great option to consider is the local library. Libraries offer many free resources and activities for parents with young children.

From the moment children are born, their brains are developing at an incredible speed. By talking, reading, and singing to a child during these critical early years, a parent can help to develop crucial neural synapses, increase a child's vocabulary, and establish a love for books helping that child to be successful in school and throughout life.

The neighborhood library has a wide selection of books for children of all ages to explore and discover. Every day, parents and their children can check out a stack of books, read through them together, and then do it all over again, all at no cost.

The children's librarian can help guide the search and make recommendations on books that can lead to surprising new discoveries. There are also compact discs available to be borrowed for sing-along time at home.

Additionally, libraries offer a wide variety of free and low-cost activities and programs, such as story time, readings by children authors, arts and crafts classes, puppet shows, musical performances, science labs, book clubs, and many more. This enables children to learn new skills, socialize, and interact with others of their own age.

Visit your local library today! There are amazing benefits just waiting to help enrich your child's life and create a life-long appreciation for reading. Find the nearest library at <http://www.publiclibraries.com/california.htm>

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendant Sentenced for Elder Abuse, Terrorist Threats Gang Member Convicted for Shooting at Occupied Vehicle

DATE: July 29, 2016

CASE: Gregory Ortiz

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Tate Davis, Domestic Violence Unit

The Honorable Eugene Balonon sentenced 45-year-old Gregory Ortiz to 14 years, 4 months in prison. On April 14, 2016, a jury convicted Ortiz of elder abuse, making terrorist threats, and resisting arrest. A prior strike conviction and 5 year prison prior were also found true.

On June 25, 2015, the 77-year-old victim let Gregory Ortiz into her house despite having several restraining orders issued against him. Ortiz started drinking and became violent with the victim, choking her several times. He threatened he would kill her if she called police. Ortiz also choked the victim's dog and threatened to kill the dog if she went to the police.

The following morning, Ortiz started yelling at the victim. Out of fear, she called her sister, who called 911. When the victim told Ortiz the police were called, he began choking her again until law enforcement arrived and announced they would break down the door. Ortiz then released the victim and tried to escape. After a struggle with deputies and attempts to resist arrest, Ortiz was taken into custody.

Ortiz has a criminal history dating back 24 years, including a 1992 strike conviction for battery causing serious bodily injury, a 2013 felony assault likely to cause great bodily injury conviction, and 14 misdemeanor convictions.

DATE: August 2, 2016

CASE: Anthony Cain

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Molly Steber, Gangs & Hate Crimes Unit

Twenty-three-year-old Anthony Cain was convicted by a jury of assault with a firearm, discharging a firearm at an occupied vehicle, and being a convicted felon in possession of a firearm. The jury also found true that Cain personally used a firearm and that he committed these offenses for the benefit of a criminal street gang. Cain has a prior 2012 strike conviction for possessing a loaded firearm for the benefit of a criminal street gang.

On March 11, 2014, the victims were driving home from breakfast when they passed Cain's vehicle, which angered Cain and his passenger. Cain followed the victims, flashed a gun, and shot at them. When Cain attempted to shoot again, his gun jammed and the victims were able to escape. Cain, who is an active Varrio Diamond Norteno gang member, was later identified through witness descriptions of the shooter, the car, and a partial license plate number.

Cain faces a maximum potential sentence of 54 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for September 7, 2016, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 26 before the Honorable Laurel White.

DATE: August 2, 2016

CASE: Christian Hirtzel

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney James Wax, Cyber Crimes Unit

The Honorable Michael Bowman sentenced Christian Hirtzel to 4 years 8 months in prison. On June 14, 2016, Hirtzel pled no contest to felony charges of extortion, accessing a computer to extort, contacting a minor to commit a sex offense, and possession of child pornography. Hirtzel will also be required to register as a sex offender for life.

Over several years, Hirtzel extorted and attempted to extort at least nine female victims. He obtained compromising photos of victims, primarily by hacking into the victims' email or social media accounts. He then anonymously messaged the victims, including at least two who were under 18, and threatened to distribute the images to friends, family members, or their college if they failed to send more graphic nude photos or videos of themselves. If they complied, he then used the new photos as additional leverage to make further demands. Several times, he posted the images of victims on social media sites regardless of whether they had complied.

While Hirtzel had previously dated several of the victims, he had only a limited connection with others through high school or college. When asked by one victim why he was doing this, he told the victim he wanted to feel powerful and feel like he had won. ★

It's All Business for Lancers Now

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Now it's all business for the Cordova High School football program.

After players had the option of working out at the school's weight room and take part in voluntary conditioning drills during the Sac-Joaquin Section's dead period the last three weeks, the Lancers' varsity and frosh/soph football teams gathered Monday to kick-off conditioning. On Wednesday, both teams put on the shoulder pads for the first time this season.

has also been working on special teams; kickoffs, kick-off returns, punt, punt returns and point after touchdowns (PAT)/field goal and PAT/FG block.

"We have been doing 15 minutes of special teams, 10 minutes all summer," Nill said. "(Tuesday) was a concentrated, special teams practice; we spent a good hour on just special teams."

According to Nill, there are now 104 players combined on both squads. There were 10 players who showed up on Monday; four on varsity and six on the frosh/soph squad.

Nill said that the four players for his squad have not worked out with the team over the summer, as they were busy playing on the Cordova High School boys basketball summer team. The coach noted that before those players are handed their football gear, they would need to run 45 miles. That is the same number of miles that the other varsity players ran throughout summer workouts.

"We have team rules, and they have to do a lot of running," Nill said. "That's not so much for them ... that's for the team. The team needs to see that these guys really want to play. Team rules come before wins."

"They missed a lot of hard work during the summer. They are in the process of doing that running. All four of them are good athletes."

Both the Cordova varsity and frosh/soph football teams will play their first scrimmage on Saturday, Aug. 20th, when they host Capital Christian. Admission to watch the controlled contests at Lancer Stadium is free.

A breakdown on this year's varsity football team will be in next week's issue. ★

Pool Safely: Learn, Share, Save a Life

Drownings are the number one cause of accidental death for young children. But YOU can take simple steps to save lives.

The City of Rancho Cordova is an official Pool Safety partner with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The Pool Safely campaign was founded by the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool & Spa Safety Act (P&SS Act). The act takes its name from Virginia Graeme Baker, a seven-year-old girl who drowned after she was trapped under water by the powerful suction from a hot tub drain.

Here are ways you can ensure safety of children when they're in and around the water.

1. Never leave a child unattended in or near water.
2. Teach children how to swim.
3. Teach children to stay away from drains.
4. Ensure all pools and spas have compliant drain covers.
5. Install proper barriers, covers and alarms on and around your pool and spa.
6. Know how to perform CPR on children and adults.
7. Spend one minute taking the Pool Safely pledge at www.poolsafely.gov/pledge. Adults pledge to follow the safety steps noted above, and kids pledge to follow steps such as never swimming alone and to stay away from drains.

Joseph Cuffe, the City of Rancho Cordova's Interim Chief Building Official, took the pledge to make sure that he and his family are safe around water this summer.

8. Download the new Pool Safely app "The Adventures of Splash and Splash" and help your child learn what to do (and not to do) in and around pools and spas. The app is available for download from the App Store or Google Play.
