Andy Kotko of Mather Heights Elementary teacher earns highest honor: Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics & Science Teaching. Folsom Cordova Unified School District staff

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Andy Kotko, a first-grade teacher at Mather Heights Elementary School, has been named by President Obama as one of the best math and science teachers in the country.

The White House honored Kotko on Monday with the 2016 Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics and Science Teaching, the highest recognition bestowed upon the nation's math and science teachers.

Kotko has twice been a finalist for this prestigious honor. Kotko and 212 other winners from throughout the country will receive a $10,000 award from the National Science Foundation and travel to Washington, D.C. on Sept. 8.

Kotko makes learning look effortless in his classroom. His young students dig deep - and have fun - while exploring complex mathematical concepts through hands-on projects and group work.

"Teachers transform lives by inspiring and equipping students as lifelong learners," Kotko told the National Science Foundation. "I am grateful for the many educators who have invested in my teaching practice as well as for the colleagues and families that work beside me each day. This honor is also a testimony to the great effort of the students under my guidance who work diligently to grow in their mathematics understanding."

Andy has been an educator for 14 years and is a founding teacher at the District's Academy for Advanced Learning, a public magnet school at Mather Heights Elementary focused on inquiry and project-based learning. He also earned National Board Certification in 2007, one of the most difficult professional designations to earn in teaching.

"Our school district is fortunate to have a teacher of Andy's caliber on our team, and our students are even luckier," said Folsom Cordova Superintendent Deborah Bettencourt. "Andy embodies the very best of the profession, and we are proud for him to represent the hundreds of teachers in Folsom Cordova schools who work tirelessly to improve students' lives."

Kotko is also a leader outside of the classroom. This year, he is chairman of the California Teacher Advisory Council, an organization that provides teacher expertise to policymakers whose decisions impact science and math instruction in the state. In 2014, Kotko spoke to Congress about improving teacher-training in universities.

Kotko earned a bachelor's degree in physics from California State University, Sacramento.

Senator Nielsen Asks Constituents to Stand Up for Law Enforcement

Margaret Snider

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - State Senator Jim Nielsen shared his views with guests at the Rancho Cordova August luncheon on August 19. In his address, Nielsen blasted Governor Jerry Brown and the legislature, for Proposition 47 and the "resulting tens of thousands of dangerous, unrehabilitated individuals" who have been unleashed upon society. "The handcuffs have been taken off of them, and they've been put on our law enforcement officials," Nielsen said. "It's open season on those men and women who protect our lives. We have to come back and stand up for them, and it's a lonely fight."

At the same time, Nielsen said he found it amusing that he and Brown have been allies on a number of issues, one being the rainy day fund, and another the Proposition 1 water storage investment program. "The rainy day fund, he invited us down for the signing ceremony in his office," Nielsen said. "We shook hands and laughed how this was a part of both of our legacies."

Nielsen complimented the Rancho Cordova area's elected officials, in particular Assemblyman Ken Cooley. "As far as matters related to serving the District, the people that we represent," Nielsen said, "we're side by side on all things, working together. That's good teamwork. That's the way representative government ought to be."

Nielsen, a successful farmer and rancher, grew up on a small farm in the San Joaquin Valley and has a bachelor's degree in agricultural business. He was elected to the State Senate in 1978 and was Republican Leader from 1983 to 1987. In 2008, he was elected to represent the state's 2nd Assembly

Assemblyman Cooley Honors Local Non-Profit CEO as Veteran of the Year

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Assemblyman Ken Cooley (D-Rancho Cordova) honored Kevin Cameron as the 8th Assembly District's 2016 Veteran of the Year. Each year, the Assembly Veterans Committee hosts the Veteran of the Year Awards to recognize veterans with distinguished military careers or those who have continued to serve making significant contributions to their communities.

"Following his distinguished service in the U.S. Army, Kevin founded a one-of-a-kind non-profit that honorably serves the nation," said Cooley. "He uses his expertise in dog training, as well as military ethical standards, to provide for Americans in need" continued Cooley.

Cameron served in the United States Army from 1997 until his honorable discharge in 2011, after receiving a Purple Heart. As a Military Working Dog Trainer, Cameron designed numerous programs that produced Working Dog Teams successful in many explosive and narcotic finds. Using his experience in the Army, Cameron founded Alpha K9, a non-profit organization that provides service dogs to veterans, people living with PTSD, domestic and sexual abuse victims, and children.

"It is a great honor to be recognized as the Veteran of the Year," said honoree, Kevin Cameron. "I am able to receive this honor because of Alpha K9 and the Service Dogs we have been able to provide to our wonderful veterans. Without the generous support for our program providing service dogs to our veterans would not be possible," continued Cameron.

Assemblyman Ken Cooley represents the 8th Assembly District which includes the communities of Arden-Arcade, Carmichael, Citrus Heights, Rancho Cordova, Rancho Murietta, Rosemont, Wilton and other portions of unincorporated Sacramento County.

Send Your Children Back to School Protected from Serious Disease

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - With the arrival of back-to-school season, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) urges parents and guardians to ensure their children are current on vaccines. Immunizations protect against a number of serious and potentially life-threatening diseases.

"Getting children all of the vaccines recommended by the Centers for Disease Control is one of the most important things parents can do to protect their children from serious diseases," said Dr. Karen Smith, CDPH Director and State Public Health Officer. "If you haven't done so already, check with your child's doctor to find out what vaccines your child needs. Vaccinations are the best way to ensure that students are protected against serious and preventable diseases, including measles."

When children are not vaccinated, they are at increased risk for contracting diseases and can also spread diseases to other people, including students in their classrooms and both children and adults within their communities. Babies who are too young to be fully vaccinated, and people with weakened immune systems due to cancer or other health conditions are especially susceptible.

California law requires students to receive certain immunizations in order to attend public and private elementary and secondary schools as well as licensed child care centers. Schools and licensed child care centers are required to enforce immunization requirements, maintain immunization records of all children enrolled, and report student immunization status to CDPH.

Talk to your child's doctor to find out which vaccines are recommended for them before going back to school.

Visit www.ShotsforSchool.org for more information on immunization laws and required vaccinations.

Senator Nielsen: Stand Up for Law Enforcement

District in the State Legislature, and elected to the State Senate for District 4 in January 2013.

As Chairman of the Board of Prison Terms, he reviewed the life histories and cases of many death row inmates, and ten times had to vote yes or no for the governor to grant clemency. "Now that's a long way away from the farm," Nielsen said. "I never dreamed I'd ever have that kind of responsibility, and that was the hardest, most stressful responsibility and job I've ever, ever had. If anyone under my employ ever made a mistake, the consequences were immediate and dire." Against abolition of the death penalty, Nielsen said it was a just sentence, and there are those who deserve it.

In response to a question regarding veterans, Nielsen, chairman of the Senate Committee on Veterans Affairs, said the committee is concerned and working on a number of issues, including reaching out to troubled veterans and helping discharged veterans re-enter society. Nielsen is hoping to expand a program presently used at San Quentin to help incarcerated veterans return to a useful and successful role in society. The unique concerns of female veterans are also being addressed.

"I'm a big fan of Senator Nielsen," said Sacramento Sheriff Scott Jones, also a candidate for Congressman, 7th District. "He has a lot of history, and as you can tell by the speech today, he still has just a tremendous amount of passion for the things that he does." ★

And Another Thing ... Fire and Rain

A few dozen students, staff, and faculty have lost their homes to the fire as well. I hope the citizens of Lower Lake will be able to rebuild their homes, and that they will also be able to rebuild their sports programs because it means a lot to everyone there. I haven't seen the details of some of the other fires that are burning in other western states, but I hope the weather will begin to change soon and help the firefighters who put their lives on the line to save people, animals, and property.

Speaking about schools, our grandchildren have started school again and are in their third week of getting "back to work". That is what I tell our grandkids when we talk about their parents (and sometimes grandparents too) going to work. They may not like it, or maybe they will like it, but children have to go to "work" and learn the three "R's" until the fourth grade. And then, in the fourth grade, they read to learn instead of learning to read. That's the theory anyway. Later in life of course, you find out that you have to learn different languages, like "Legalese", "Socialgese", and other weird stuff. But that's what learning is all about. Right?

The first day of summer this year was June 20th and the days are getting shorter now, but I don't think the weather is going to go along with the rest of the deal. When I first came to California, courtesy of the United States of America at Mather Air Force Base, you could almost be sure that a shower or two would come in September, more rain in October, and then pretty much more rain until the end of May. May was usually when the last few showers would end. There were a few odd storms that would come in on occasion, like rain in June, but that kind of weather was the norm. But boy has that changed! The rain would shorten the fire season to where it would start in the spring and normally end in the fall. But with only one rainy season that was anywhere close to our usual amount of rain over the last five years, the fire season is now all year long. I'm not sure about the coming winter, but I can hope like the rest of us that the rain and snow will come "as usual" and help get rid of the drought.

And another thing I would like to see is jobs, and more of them, for our children and grandchildren. Jobs that pay what is considered median income today are much harder to find than they were when I was looking for a job after my military time in the Air Force. There were more jobs available that paid a living wage. You had to be willing to start at a lower pay and work for higher pay. But finding jobs like that were more normal, instead of starting at the minimum wage and having to stay there for a long time. You had to work for your pay then just as you do now, but you could advance. In the past, jobs were not given to you on a silver platter of course, but as Joe Girard said, "The elevator to success is out of order. You'll have to use the stairs... one step at a time."

From Councilman Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

Principal Peter Maroon of Mills Middle School Recognized

Principal Peter Maroon of Mills Middle School was recognized by the Rancho Cordova City Council at the August 15 meeting for receiving the 2016 Sacramento County Office of Education's Principal Arts Leadership Award. Principal Maroon was nominated for this award for his dedication to promoting the Visual and Performing Arts education program at his school. He has worked tirelessly to secure funding to purchase and maintain quality instruments and is making the music program full time for the 2016-17 school year. Pictured from left is Vice Mayor Donald Terry, Mayor David Sander, Principal Maroon, Councilmember Linda Budge, Councilmember Bob McGarvey, and Councilmember Dan Skoglund.

Last week I spoke about our trip through Lower Lake on our way to the Clear Lake State Park. Well, the fire is pretty well contained, but I found an article about what happened after the fire. The schools in the town of Lower Lake started late this year because of the Clayton Fire. Lower Lake High School began last Tuesday, and some of their sports equipment burned in the fire. The soccer coach Sharon Murray had brought the uniforms home to wash them and they were all lost when her house burned down, along with almost 200 others in the town. The girls soccer team was supposed to have their first game, but as was said earlier, their uniforms were lost with the coach's home.

In addition to the soccer uniforms, which will cost $6,000 to replace, they also lost the softball equipment, which will cost over $24,000 to replace. Half a dozen football sleds also burned on the athletics fields and will cost about $5,000 each. They were fortunate that the rest of the football equipment was stored elsewhere. The school will be working from now until the coming spring to replace the lost softball uniforms and equipment before the spring season. There is more information on the Lower Lake High School Facebook page for those who would like to make donations to help Lower Lake sports programs.

Farm Laborers Will Bear the Brunt of Ag Overtime Changes

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Tom Berryhill (R-Twain Harte), who is also a lifelong farmer, issued the following statement upon Senate passage of Assembly Bill 1066 (Gonzalez D-San Diego), legislation to change California's agriculture overtime rules:

"Today's vote underscores how out of touch urban elites are about farming and the farming economy. The ebb and flow of work hours on a farm goes with the territory. These big city elitists haven't the slightest clue about growing seasons and the urgency required to get crops in on time. The laborer that currently works 10 hours will only get 5. The work still needs to be done but it will now be done with two 5 hour workers."

"Farming is a business like no other, and California is the agricultural engine of this country. Today folks who've never set foot on a farm, who think food comes from the grocery store, are telling us how it should be done. Very sad to see an ignorant and arrogant policy devastate the very people it hoped to help."

Senator Berryhill represents Rancho Cordova, the counties of Amador, Calaveras, Inyo, Mariposa, Mono, Stanislaus, Tuolumne and parts of Fresno, Madera, Sacramento and Tulare. For more information see www.senate.ca.gov/berryhill

Slim Randles' HOME COUNTRY

So For Three Days We Took a Tour Of Jasper's Past

Well look out now, boys and girls; we have created a monster! Ol' Jasper went from being shocked to being a semi-almost-darn-near technogeezer in about half an hour.

For the next three days, we had to wait until the old boy went to sleep before we could check our email. He was on that machine constantly.

But his new ability to eavesdrop on any place on earth at least led to some wonderful stories.

"Come here and look at this," he'd say. We did.

"You see that tree right there? I killed a huge buck under that tree."

"See this? No ... this little cabin over here on the left. That's where old Leroy What's-his-name lived back when I was a kid. He's the one showed me how to pan for gold. Right there in the creek. No ... down a little ways farther, not that close to the cabin. Let me move it a bit ... yeah, right there. See that big hole in the creek? Right there. Got a little bit of color, too. Not much, but if you're a kid and find any gold at all, it's a wonderful thing, you know?"

So for three days we took a tour of Jasper's past. Canyons and creeks and small towns and even the homes where certain special young ladies had lived more than half a century earlier.

It was a fascinating blend of history and technology.

Brought to you by Ol' Jimmy Dollar (a kids book) about a man and his hounds. See it at LPDPRESS.com. ★

When old Jasper Blankenship came to town from the diggings recently, we asked him over for a few days. He saw us working the home computer and asked about it, but he really seemed to be immune to its wonders.

But then my wife showed him how he could call up a certain program, tell it where he wanted to go, and have it zoom in from outer space to some tiny corner of the world.

The proposed improvements to the first 5,300 feet east of Rancho Cordova Parkway would comprise north lane and north side frontage improvements that will complete the buildout of Douglas Road to a City standard four-lane arterial roadway. The remaining 1,500 feet of the roadway widening east to Americanos Boulevard would include center lane, north lane, and north side frontage improvements. The project would require acquisition of approximately 64 feet of right-of-way for construction of a median, two travel lanes, and a pedestrian/bike path on the south side of the existing Douglas Road alignment. Project construction would include placement of pavement, sidewalk, curb, gutter, median, landscape, irrigation, striping, signage, water, sewer, drainage, fire protection, street lighting, and signal lighting improvements. The City is also considering an option to install a new driveway connection from Douglas Road to Security Park that would align with Borderlands Drive on the south side of Douglas Road. The existing driveway into Security Park would be removed. The optional driveway would be approximately 350 feet long and would terminate at Tailings Drive.

FINDINGS/DETERMINATION: The City has reviewed and considered the proposed project and has determined that the project will not have a significant effect on the environment, with substantial supporting evidence provided in the Initial Study. The City hereby prepares and proposes to adopt a Mitigated Negative Declaration for this project.

PUBLIC REVIEW PERIOD: The public review period for the Mitigated Negative Declaration/Initial Study will commence on August 26, 2016 and will end on September 26, 2016 for interested individuals and public agencies to submit written comments on the document. Any written comments on the Initial Study/Mitigated Negative Declaration should be sent to the attention of Patrick Angell and must be received at 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670 by 5:00 PM on September 26, 2016. Copies of the Initial Study/ Mitigated Negative Declaration are available for review at Rancho Cordova City Hall at 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, CA and online at www.cityofranchocordova.org.

If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. IRS Warns of Back-to-School Scams

WASHINGTON, DC (MPG) - The Internal Revenue Service recently warned taxpayers against telephone scammers targeting students and parents during the back-to-school season and demanding payments for non-existent taxes, such as the "Federal Student Tax."

People should be on the lookout for IRS impersonators calling students and demanding that they wire money immediately to pay a fake "federal student tax." If the person does not comply, the scammer becomes aggressive and threatens to report the student to the police to be arrested. As schools around the nation prepare to re-open, it is important for taxpayers to be particularly aware of this scheme going after students and parents.

"Although variations of the IRS impersonation scam continue year-round, they tend to peak when scammers find prime opportunities to strike", said IRS Commissioner John Koskinen. "As students and parents enter the new school year, they should remain alert to bogus calls, including those demanding fake tax payments from students."

People should be on the lookout for IRS impersonators calling students and demanding that they wire money immediately to pay a fake "federal student tax."

The IRS encourages college and school communities to share this information so that students, parents and their families are aware of these scams.

Scammers are constantly identifying new tactics to carry out their crimes in new and unsuspecting ways. This year, the IRS has seen scammers use a variety of schemes to fool taxpayers into paying money or giving up personal information. Some of these include: Altering the caller ID on incoming phone calls in a "spoofing" attempt to make it seem like the IRS, the local police or another agency is calling; Imitating software providers to trick tax professionals--IR-2016-103; Demanding fake tax payments using iTunes gift cards--IR-2016-99; Soliciting W-2 information from payroll and human resources professionals--IR-2016-34; "Verifying" tax return information over the phone--IR-2016-40; Pretending to be from the tax preparation industry--IR-2016-28

If you receive an unexpected call from someone claiming to be from the IRS, here are some of the telltale signs to help protect yourself.

The IRS Will Never:

- Call to demand immediate payment using a specific payment method such as a prepaid debit card, gift card or wire transfer. Generally, the IRS will first mail you a bill if you owe any taxes.
- Threaten to immediately bring in local police or other law-enforcement groups to have you arrested for not paying.

- Demand that you pay taxes without giving you the opportunity to question or appeal the amount they say you owe.
- Ask for credit or debit card numbers over the phone.

If you get a suspicious phone call from someone claiming to be from the IRS and asking for money, here's what you should do: 1) Do not give out any information. Hang up immediately. 2) Search the web for telephone numbers scammers leave in your voicemail asking you to call back. Some of the phone numbers may be published online and linked to criminal activity. 3) Contact TIGTA to report the call. Use their "IRS Impersonation Scam Reporting" web page or call 800-366-4484. 4) Report it to the Federal Trade Commission. Use the "FTC Complaint Assistant" on FTC.gov. Please add "IRS Telephone Scam" in the notes. 5) If you think you might owe taxes, call the IRS directly at 800-829-1040.

Volunteers Age 50+ Needed by September to Help Sacramento Area Kids Learn to Read

A volunteer works with a child on reading as part of AARP Foundation's Experience Corps, which is partnering with United Way in the Sacramento area. Photo by Matt Roth

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Local residents ages 50 and up are needed by September to help kids read, as part of United Way California Capital Region's partnership with AARP Foundation's Experience Corps. Volunteers will be placed in Sacramento-area schools and will partner with small groups of students in kindergarten through third grade to help them improve their reading. For more information, visit www.yourlocalunitedway.org/experiencecorps to sign up for an upcoming information session.

"We know that improving children's early literacy has a direct impact on their success in higher education, and we know that higher education is the equalizer that breaks the cycle of poverty," said Stephanie Bray, president and CEO, United Way California Capital Region. "As adults, we can give back by helping many more children grow up prepared for success."

The program will take place in Center Joint Unified, Elk Grove Unified, Robla and Washington Unified school districts.

Volunteers will spend two to three hours a day in the classroom two days a week helping students read at grade level and beyond, and providing consistent support to the same teacher and students over the course of the school year. Volunteers receive 25 hours of training in literacy and classroom management.

United Way California Capital Region is leading the program in the Sacramento region through a four-year grant from AARP Foundation, a grantee of the Social Innovation Fund (SIF). In August 2015, AARP Foundation received $3 million from SIF, a program of the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS), the federal agency for volunteering and service programs. The SIF fosters public and private collaborations to evaluate and grow innovative community-based solutions that work. In just five years, the SIF and its private-sector partners have invested more than $876 million in compelling community solutions. As a result of $295 million in federal grants and more than $581 million in non-federal match commitments, the SIF has made grants to 39 institutions and 353 non-profits working in 40 states and the District of Columbia. This subgrant award is the result of an open competition held by AARP Foundation to identify and select promising organizations in high need communities to implement and rigorously evaluate the Experience Corps model.

The local program is part of United Way California Capital Region's Square One Project, a 20-year promise to significantly increase the number of local students who graduate from high school ready for success in college and beyond. Through nine decades of work and research across Amador, El Dorado, Sacramento, Placer and Yolo counties, the local United Way now believes ending poverty starts in school and is working to ensure kids meet important milestones for success in college. Dare to Live Without Limits

Inner Peace

by Bryan Golden

You can achieve inner peace. Although it doesn't have to be elusive, it seems to be when you are distracted by life's problems and challenges. If your attitude is negatively affected by all you have to deal with, a circular chain reaction ensues. A sour outlook attracts undesirable outcomes, which in turn reinforces the poor attitude.

Finding inner peace begins with breaking this endless cycle. You don't wait for this to happen, you make it happen. Being proactive in your life is key. Inner peace is exactly that; it exists within you. Contrary to some conventional wisdom, inner peace is a cause, not a result.

Inner peace starts with your outlook. Look at every day as wonderful, filled with endless possibilities. Always be grateful for your blessings. Look for solutions rather than wallowing in problems. Engage in positive self-talk.

Seek simplification. Your mind tends to complicate things. Every situation can be broken down into simple components. This approach enables you to formulate an effective strategy for both the short and long term.

Recognize what you can change and what you can't. Don't get mired in all that is beyond your control. Focus your efforts on what you can influence. This concept is especially applicable to people. They are who they are. You can't change them.

Instead, work on yourself.

Harness the power of smiling. You'll feel better because you smile, not vice versa. Smiling is a source of happiness more than a result. Those people who wait until they are happy before they smile are constantly waiting.

Inner peace is connected to what you do for others rather than how much you acquire for yourself. You can get everything you want in life by helping enough other people get what they want. Always be polite, courteous, and respectful.

Keep learning, improving, and growing. Education is necessary for growth. Repeatedly making the same mistakes inhibits inner peace. Learn from your past. Live in the present. Take action to prepare for the future.

Stop worrying. It's a pointless activity that causes stress. Take action regarding anything you have control over. Let all the other stuff go. Eliminating worry takes a tremendous load off you. This one act alone moves you a lot closer to inner peace.

Have fun. Do what you enjoy. Laugh. Inner peace is unattainable when you are miserable. Having fun is not selfish. You have more to offer others when you are happy. Being miserable repels people. No one wants to associate with someone who is always dragging themselves around.

Take responsibility for your life. The path you take is up to you. Change your direction if you don't like where you are headed. Don't blame other people or circumstances. Thinking or acting like a victim repels inner peace. In its place you will attract stress and frustration.

Be aware of how you feel and where you are headed. You must understand your current situation in order to take corrective action. Life is fluid. The only thing constant is change. You change and your goals change. Remain flexible. Be ready to make adjustments as needed.

Inner peace isn't an all or nothing proposition. It is attained over time. It is achievable by anyone. No special training, aptitude, or sacrifice is required. You can work toward it on a regular basis.

Setbacks are part of the process. There are times where it seems as if you are going backwards. Don't get frustrated or discouraged. When you stumble just get back up. Inner peace is more of a journey than a destination.

Cordova Football Returns Seasoned' Players on Defense

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Led by a trio of linebackers, the Cordova High School football team is looking to make some noise on defense this season.

All seniors, the three returning linebackers returning this season to run the Lancers' 4-3 base defense is strong side linebacker Michael Gonzalez (6-foot-1, 190-pounds), who also starts at right offensive tackle. He is followed by middle linebacker Kenny Haney (5'11, 195) and weak side linebacker Jason Johnson (6'0, 185).

Last season, Gonzalez had 70 tackles, while Johnson had 68 and Haney 58. Johnson also had two fumble recoveries.

"Kenny is getting some looks from some (colleges)," said Cordova head coach Darren Nill of Haney. "There are several schools that are interested in Kenny."

Nill considers Gonzalez as "the most seasoned we have" in terms of seniors who played extensively as juniors last season.

At the line, Nill, who calls the defense, states that the Lancers will use "players by committee" in the trenches. That includes the offensive linemen will be shuffled onto the other side of the ball. Those players are Zariahn Zimmer (6'2, 290), who plays offensive left tackle; Fidel Romero (left guard), sophomore Austin McCoy (center) and Joseph Salcedo, a junior who started as a sophomore

A Cordova football defensive player brings down a Capital Christian running back in their controlled scrimmage last Saturday. Tonight, Friday, Cordova plays for real when it hosts Rio Americano in the home and season opener at Lancers Stadium. Photo by Rick Sloan last season. But McCoy's season was cut very short when he broke his leg in the Lancers' first game of the season against Pioneer of Woodland, and was out for the rest of the season.

"The offensive linemen will be playing defensive tackle," Nill said.

Looking to start at defensive end is Clifford Bright (6'0, 220), a junior who started as a sophomore last year. Bright had 58 tackles and three quarterback sacks last season.

Josh Colvin (6'3, 185) will play the other defensive end spot. A junior who also played as a sophomore last season, Colvin played extensively in the second half of last season. Another player expected to see time at defensive end is Kelechi Njoku (6'0, 210).

When the Lancers use a nose guard on defense, most of the reps will go to Zimmer.

In the secondary, Terrell Johnson returns as the Lancers' strong safety. Last season, Johnson lead Cordova in tackles at 100, plus two interceptions. Vying for playing time at the same spot is Tyreke Tate, a junior at 6'0 and 190.

At free safety, another sophomore makes the move for the Lancers in Alvin Banks (5'11, 170), who Nill calls "very talented." Banks is projected to be a two-way starter; he's also one of the Lancers' wide receivers.

"He's that talented," said Nill of Banks. ★

Lancers Ready for Home Opener

The Cordova offense, seen here competing against Capital Christian in a controlled scrimmage last Saturday, is looking to run for many yards in tonight's home and season opener against Rio Americano. Photo by Rick Sloan

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Tonight, Friday, has finally arrived for the Cordova High School football team.

The Lancers will open the season against Rio Americano at Lancers Stadium. Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. The Rio Americano-Cordova junior varsity football game will play prior, and is slated to start at 5:15 p.m.

The contest against the Raiders is the first of three pre-season home games for Cordova. But next Friday, the Lancers trek to San Joaquin County to play at Chavez of Stockton.

After next week's contest, Cordova will host Rio Linda (Sept. 9th) and Vista del Lago of Folsom in a battle of schools in the Folsom-Cordova Unified District on Sept. 16th.

After the Vista del Lago contest, the Lancers will hit the road again for their final non-league game, at Foothill on Sept. 23. Then the Lancers will have the bye week. Cordova starts Sierra Valley Conference action on Friday, Oct. 7th when Galt pays a visit to Lancers Stadium.

The Lancers play two of their five conference games at home; the other will be hosting El Dorado on Oct. 21st. Cordova will play at Union Mine (Oct. 14th), Liberty Ranch of Galt (Oct. 28th) and closes out the regular season at SVC rival Rosemont on Nov. 4th.

Last Saturday, Cordova football fans had a chance to see the varsity and junior varsity football teams in action in a controlled scrimmage against the Capital Christian grid squads.

Last year, Cordova went 5-5 overall and 1-4 in the SVC. ★
