Rancho Cordova and Grodno Form Friendship Agreement

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Rancho Cordova established a "Friendship City" with the City of Grodno in Eastern Europe on Jan. 22nd, 2016.

Mechyslau Hoi, Chairman of the City Executive Committee of Grodno, visited Rancho Cordova during his cross country tour of the United States. Grodno is located in the Republic of Belarus with close proximity to the borders of Poland and Lithuania.

With over 84 languages spoken at our schools, Rancho Cordova is home to many people with roots from Eastern Europe.

Chairman Hoi made a stop in Rancho Cordova due to our accomplishments, diversity, and economic development. He was impressed by our job figure of 50,000 business professionals that work in the City.

"The best aim of our visit is creating jobs in our City," said Chairman Hoi. "We have a program of the President (of the Republic of Belarus) to open more jobs in the City."

During the visit, Rancho Cordova and Grodno established a "Friendship City" relationship between the two cities to promote mutual understanding and friendly cooperation.

The "Friendship City" agreement states both cities will support and encourage interchange and cooperation by the citizens of our communities in every field, promote the study of our languages in our respective schools and institutions, and encourage other communities to join in friendly relationships as a means of promoting peace and welfare for all of mankind.

"We had a phenomenal chance to meet Chairman Hoi during his visit to the United States," said

Council Member Dan Skoglund. "We were able to establish a relationship with Grodno and support one another's similar goals to grow economic development in our respective cities."

In celebration of the signed agreement, Chairman Hoi presented Council Member Skoglund with gifts including decorative art pieces and a book about his City. Council Members Linda Budge and Robert McGarvey then presented a Key to the City to Chairman Hoi.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Cordova Community Council is riding a magic carpet in search of nominations for the 2016 Community Volunteer Awards event: "Rock the Kasbah," slated for March 11 at Rancho Cordova City Hall. The prestigious "Rancho Cordovan of the Year" award can honor an exceptional contribution to the community during the year or over a lifetime.

"This event may not be our largest, but it is the most inspiring," said Executive Director Shelly Blanchard. "It is a chance for us to shine the spotlight on the most amazing individuals and organizations in Rancho Cordova—our volunteers."

Blanchard said nominations often dig behind the headlines to find extraordinary acts of volunteerism that otherwise get overlooked. "That's why we open up the nominations to the entire community for those who have seen things others may have missed."

Categories include: Distinguished Community Business Partner, Distinguished Community Service (Individual or group), Distinguished Community Service Organization, Distinguished Service by Faith Community, Outstanding Youth Service (Service by an individual teenager or youth service organization), Outstanding Service to

WINTER WATERING TIPS

FOR OUTDOOR LANDSCAPING

Golden State Water Company thanks you, our customers, for the steps you have taken to reduce water use during the drought, and is offering these tips to help you maximize your water-use efficiency this winter.

❖ Winter should bring rain and cooler temperatures, presenting an opportunity to turn off irrigation systems.

❖ Avoid watering during and 48 hours following measurable precipitation, and refrain from watering your lawn on windy days to limit overspray and evaporation.

❖ Install a weather-based smart irrigation controller and water-efficient sprinkler heads.

❖ Check to make sure sprinklers are positioned to irrigate the lawn and not your sidewalk, driveway or gutters.

❖ All outdoor irrigation should occur before 8 am or after 7 pm, and should not exceed 10 minutes per station.

❖ Current restrictions for Gold River and Rancho Cordova customers limit outdoor irrigation to one day per week.

Author Approaching 80 Publishes First Novel

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - “All That Time” is Rancho Cordova author Steve Liddick’s first published novel. At the age of 79.

What took so long?

“I had written four novels since I was in my fifties,” Liddick said. “But this is the first one published. I had been doing what a lot of new writers do. I was stalling out of fear that I wasn’t good enough and would be rejected by the publishing industry.”

So, one day about a year ago Liddick decided it was then or never. After all the work he had put in on the project, “never” was not an option.

“I hired a professional editor in New York City to assess the work and determine whether I was fit to play with the big boys or just kidding myself. She checked it for structure, punctuation and grammar, formatted it for publication, assured me that I was an actual writer, and pronounced it ready for prime time.”

The publishing world has changed dramatically in the past several years. With the advent of the Print on Demand (POD) process, writers are now able to bypass the agent and traditional publishing process and go straight from idea to bookshelf. The result is a high-quality volume the equal of any that were printed as books had always been printed. Rather than having to accumulate thousands of books in anticipation of sales, POD allows books to be printed to order: one order, one book. No longer would there be stacks of books sitting unsold and moldering in garages all over America.

The result is a 217-page, 72,000-word novel about a 55-year-old university computer science professor who was bullied as a youth. The trauma of that mistreatment, coupled with rejection by his father, carried forth to his adulthood in the form of eroded self-esteem. Ted McBride had often said, “I wish I had known then what I know now.”

A fellow professor and time travel researcher offers Ted the opportunity to travel back 40-years in time to his adolescence, inside the mind of his 15-year-old self, but with the experience, knowledge and maturity he had accumulated in the four decades since.

“There was a time,” Liddick said, “when ‘self-published’ was sneered at. ‘Vanity press’ was the term...a stigma. But today, more than half of the books on the market are self-published and many have become best-sellers.”

Liddick points out that some of the best-known authors of the past published their own work: Mark Twain, Ezra Pound, Jane Austen, Virginia Woolf, Emily Dickinson, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Martin Luther, Marcel Proust, and Walt Whitman among them.

“Traditional publishing houses typically leave most or all of promotion of the book to the author,” he said. I figured if I was going to do all of the work of publicizing ‘All That Time’ myself, I may as well publish it myself and reap any benefits.”

It’s too early to tell if “All That Time” will make it to the New York Times bestseller list, but response at regional book signings and by Internet book buyers’ reviews has been positive.

“I’ve even been entertaining the notion lately that I might actually be a writer.”

The Great Humiliation

The Obama administration was right when it insisted that the capture and release of 10 American sailors by Iran showed the benefits of a cooperative relationship with Tehran.

The crux of the arrangement is simple: The Iranians agree to humiliate us (and pursue their long war against the United States and their hegemonic ambitions in the Middle East), and we agree not to care. It is, as Secretary of State John Kerry says, diplomacy at its best.

What Vice President Joe Biden called “standard nautical practice” involved the Iranians making our sailors get on their knees on their captured boats, eliciting an apology from the commander, and photographing and videotaping all of it to broadcast for propaganda purposes -- in clear violation of international law.

This obviously wasn’t another Carter-era Iranian hostage crisis (it wasn’t even a hostage crisis), but it was another national humiliation to add to a sour public mood that President Barack Obama doesn’t get, let alone understand his own role in creating.

His State of the Union address was devoted to a pep talk for the country that did more to demonstrate that he is out of touch -- an occupational hazard for late-second-term presidents -- than that anyone is wrong to feel pessimistic.

Yes, the economy has had a long recovery, but it has been slow and weak and, by some measures, hasn’t been felt in much of the country. Yes, we are the most powerful nation on Earth, but our adversaries, from Vladimir Putin to ISIS to Iran, have been gaining and are eager to demonstrate our toothlessness -- in the case of ISIS, with spectacular acts of evil.

The president’s version of world events in the State of the Union was particularly wan. He touted the marginal gains against ISIS without coming to grips with the catastrophes that made its rise possible; he boasted of the Iran nuclear deal, with nary a hint that the pact hasn’t moderated Iranian behavior as hoped; and he spoke as though “partnering with local forces and leading international efforts” in Syria is an effective response to that country’s hellish meltdown.

True to form, in what was supposed to be a visionary speech, Obama continually took ill-disguised shots at his potential Republican successors, Donald Trump foremost among them. He scolded the 2016 GOP field for its fear, cheap sound bites and pandering.

There is all of that, of course -- it is a primary campaign, after all -- but there also is a deeper disgust with the direction of our country and the failures of its institutions, and a yearning for something better.

The president has actively sought America’s diminishment abroad. For him, this is a shrewd play that avoids costly entanglements and makes us stronger. But there is no doubt that we are less respected and feared around the world. The public feels it, and doesn’t like it. Many Americans, as a certain presidential candidate puts it, want to win again.

They look at the photographs and videos of those American sailors, and it feels like a punch in the gut. The Obama administration looks at them and says to the Iranians, thank you very much.

Tank Tapping Freaks Out Fish

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My mom said not to tap on the side of the fish tank because it scares them. I’m not tapping very hard, so why would it bother them?

-- Tanner in Dallas

DEAR TANNER: Imagine this: Your room has a big glass wall, and strange, scary creatures come up to the glass all day long and stare at you. Imagine also that the wall has amplifiers in it so that every time someone knocks on the glass, the sound is so loud it puts a lot of pressure on your ears.

If that happened to you several times a day, every day, you’d be pretty stressed out. Especially if it happens when you’re trying to sleep or rest.

For fish, which tend to react badly when their environment changes, tank tappers can really cause problems. Because they’re constantly being startled and scared, their immune systems weaken and they become vulnerable to diseases they can normally fight off. Some fish have been reported to try and escape from a tank they’re constantly being scared in by jumping out of it. That doesn’t usually work out well for the fish.

The best way to enjoy an aquarium full of fish is to, well ... just watch them. Most fish will shy away if you approach the tank, but if you hold still, they will begin to swim past you and you’ll get a close look at them. If they’re holding still or not swimming fast, don’t tap the tank -- just let them be.

The minor will not be present in court unless he requests or the court so orders. 2. Trustee Sale No. : 00000005158746 Title Order No.: 853860 FHA/VA/PMI No.: NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST, DATED 04/24/2006. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. EXECUTED BY: JAMES F MCCOY AND CAROL L MCCOY, WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH, CASHIER'S CHECK/CASH EQUIVALENT or other form of payment authorized by California Civil Code 2924h(b), (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States), DATE OF SALE: 02/04/2016 TIME OF SALE: 2:00 PM PLACE OF SALE: AT THE MAIN ENTRANCE TO THE COUNTY COURTHOUSE, 720 9TH STREET, SACRAMENTO, CA. STREET ADDRESS and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 2801 DON JUAN DR, RANCHO CORDOVA, CALIFORNIA 95670 APN#: 067-0312-007-0000. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $227,775.73. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site www.nationwideposting.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case 00000005158746. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. I am very glad that we have gotten the rain and snow (so far) that is beginning to make a dent in our drought. My wife and I have gone up Highway 50 a few times just to see how beautiful the Sierra can be in the winter when it is painted white with the falling snow. Some of the mountains are actually covered to the point that the trees and rocks on the higher peaks are buried in snow. Most of us are enjoying the weather that is more “normal” than it has been for the last four years. And don’t ask me what “normal” is because like you, normal means what I am used to. Washington D.C. along with a good part of the east coast is setting records with the amount of abnormal weather they received with the last storm. Hopefully they will be able to get caught up and there won’t be any more loss of life because of the weather.

How many people like history? Most think of history as the class you had to take when you were in school, and the number of names and dates you had to remember. To me, history has been more like a novel that was written about life as we know it. In retrospect, it is easy to forget just how much history meant to some of the people who are still alive now. In WWII for example, the Doolittle

And Another Thing ...

Looking for Rainbows

Raid that was done four months after Pearl Harbor was attacked. The damage it inflicted was very small, but the raid itself raised American morale tremendously.

When we celebrate Veterans Day and Memorial Day, there are still WWII veterans who are able to come and celebrate with us. They remember that part of history which was so needed when the world was in turmoil. History isn’t just remembering a name or a date. “Columbus sailed the ocean blue in 1492,” or was it “Columbus sailed the deep blue sea in 1493”? Things that happened in the past, but are part of the lives of the people still living today should be more important than it is. In a recent National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), only 13 percent of high school seniors could identify what event happened that brought the United States into WWII. I wonder how many high school seniors can tell you what happened on Sept. 11th, 2001? I hope more than 13 percent know because their lives are part of that continued war.

On to other things. The citizens of the City of Rancho Cordova and people who work in Rancho Cordova are being asked how to spend money. Some of the money we are talking about is $2.5 million dollars from the Community Development Block Grant program from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Washington D.C. There is quite a bit of information about that in the Jan. 22nd issue of the Grapevine Independent. The other decisions that the people are being asked to help decide is the $7 million (more or less) from the Community Enhancement Fund (Measure H). We will have a couple workshop meetings about the application process this year about Measure H again but it will not be another 16 meetings like we had last year.

And another thing...while I talked about the weather earlier in this column, I am going back to the weather again anyway. The traffic light at Femoyer Street and International Drive is slowly being worked on. Mather Veterans Village is being worked on inside of the buildings, and construction outside is slower than it has been. The plans for repairing and resurfacing some of our residential streets are going to occur this coming spring. This year, construction is actually being slowed down because of the weather. And while it was nice to see the Performing Arts Theater completed and the Folsom Lake College Campus building being done sooner than planned, I believe that all of us are glad to see the showers, and the drizzle, and the occasional downpours, and welcome them with open arms. One of my favorite things to do when I was growing up was to beat the rain to the house, get into our house, look out the windows, and see and hear the rain come pouring down. Then look for the rainbows.

From Councilman Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On Tuesday, the Cordova High School girls basketball team closed out the first round of Sierra Valley Conference action against rival Rosemont.

In a game that the Lady Lancers started the road contest in first place and remained in that same spot. But now share it with El Dorado after the Lady Lancers fell to Rosemont 53-38. The loss puts Cordova and El Dorado at 4-1 each in the SVC. The Lancers are 11-11 overall.

Both teams were guilty of many turnovers in the first quarter of Tuesday's game. The host Wolverines clung onto a 19-13 lead.

"We started off real flat," said Cordova coach Raymond Bradley. "There were too many turnovers back and forth. There was no offensive flow."

Moving the ball was limited for Cordova, which scored a combined eight points in the second and third quarters. Rosemont led 25-17 at halftime and 39-21 after three quarters.

Bradley was pleased with his team's defense in the final quarter that transitioned into offensive shots for Cordova. The Lady Lancers outscored the Lady Wolverines, 17-13.

"We started pressing them harder," Bradley said.

Cordova forward Kelsie Graf was the team's leading scorer with 18 points. Guard Erika Wilson followed with eight points.

In an SVC home contest on

Jan. 21st, Graf was on fire for the Lancers.

Graf scored 25 points that included four, 3-pointers. She also sank 3-of-6 free throws, grabbed seven rebounds and three steals.

Wilson had an excellent game from the defensive standpoint with 10 of the Lancers' 28 steals. That was part of Cordova's success on defense, which pressed for most of the contest. The result was grounding the Hawks to only four points in the first quarter, as the Lancers led 26-22 at halftime.

"We kind of relaxed them off a little bit, let them back in the game," said Bradley of the team's play in the second quarter. "In the third quarter, we jumped on them early."

That led to a 12-7 advantage for the Lancers, who increased their lead to 38-29 going into the final quarter.

Behind Graf in scoring was Wilson with seven points. Nikki Jones and Adrienne Hammond followed with six points each. Jullisa Reis grabbed nine of the Lancers' 35 rebounds.

Being in first place is a great feeling for Bradley and the Lancers.

"It's one game at a time," Bradley said.

Last night, Cordova started the second half of conference play at Galt. Next Tuesday, Feb. 2nd, the Lady Lancers will host Union Mine. Game time is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Lancers Grounded by Hawks in Showdown

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - In last Friday's Sierra Valley Conference, the Cordova High School boys basketball team got off to a hot-shooting start in the first quarter against Liberty Ranch.

Moving the ball around the perimeter on a continual basis, the Lancers ended the first eight minutes of their contest against the Hawks. But Liberty Ranch came and ended the contest undefeated at 21-0 and 4-0 in conference with a come-from-behind 77-60 win over Cordova (4-1 in the SVC, 12-10) at The Hawks' Nest in Galt. The loss puts the Lancers in second place in conference.

Cordova made five three-pointers in the first quarter that developed into a 25-23 lead. Then the Lancers used offensive rebounds that led to an 11-5 run, thanks to baskets and treys from Mike Brown and Jason Novik for a 36-28 lead halfway through the second quarter.

"The tempo was real fast for the guys," said Cordova coach Fletcher Johnson. "Making shots was the main thing."

But Liberty Ranch ended the quarter with its own run at 17-4. Hawks guard Isaiah Halsey, who made 4-of-6 in the first quarter, calmly sank his free shots that included the go-ahead lead at 41-40 with 2:30 remaining. He scored 17 of his points in the first 16 minutes of the game and made 10-of-15 free throws for 27 points in the game. Liberty Ranch led 45-40 at halftime.

Two minutes into the third quarter, Liberty Ranch's defense forced Cordova into three turnovers. That led to a 7-0 run and a 52-40 lead.

Rebounds played a role for the Hawks in the second half. Most of their 40 boards came during this time. Cordova finished with 25 and had limited shots that gave Liberty Ranch a 63-46 lead and coasted for the win.

Last night, Cordova hosted Galt to start the second round of conference play. Next Tuesday, Feb. 2nd, the Lancers play at Union Mine and Thursday, Feb. 4th host El Dorado. Game times for both are scheduled for 7 p.m.

END OF THE BENCH BY GERRY SCHOU

Is That All You've Got?

The greatly-anticipated clash of NBA titans Monday night quickly turned into one more validation of the fact that the Golden State Warriors' championship last season, their first in forty years, was no fluke.

Often chided by sources beyond the Bay Area that their title run was "lucky" and aided by favorable matchups in the playoffs against teams short-handed due to injuries to significant players, the Warriors set out to prove all of their detractors wrong this season.

Rewriting the record books right from the start, Golden State has been laying waste to the rest of the league and shocked everyone except for their own fans when they destroyed the standard of excellence that is the San Antonio Spurs, 120-90, at the exceptionally raucous Oracle Arena in a game viewed by an all-time, record-setting audience on NBA TV. Now the entire basketball world has been assured that the Dubs' championship was not a fluke and another one, or more, could be in the offing.

The Spurs have won five titles since the 1998-99 season and entered the game on a 13-game winning streak and with a 38-6 record, second only to the Warriors' 40-4 mark. The Spurs have "owned" the Warriors for years, posting a 55-8 record in head-to-head, regular-season competition since future Hall of Famer Tim Duncan came into the league in 1997. It was suggested that had the Warriors faced the Spurs (losers to the Clippers in the first round) in the playoffs last year they would not have completed the deal.

The 39-year-old Duncan and his sore knees were held out of Monday's game, but it's unlikely that even the great 6' 11" longtime centerpiece of the franchise could've made all the difference against the much younger, much faster Warriors, who dominated the Spurs in virtually every statistical category.

The Spurs came in as the top-rated defensive team in the league, while the Warriors are the top offensive team. Led by reigning MVP Steph Curry, Golden State ran out to a 62-47 lead at the half. It was the most points allowed in a first half by the Spurs all season. Curry set the torrid pace with 15 points in the first quarter and finished the game with 37 in just 28 minutes, and sat out the fourth quarter after the Warriors poured it on in a 33-19 third period to lead 95-66.

After Curry's quick start, even Kawhi Leonard, last season's Defensive Player of the Year, couldn't stop him. Meanwhile, Leonard, who was recently voted an All Star starter ahead of the Warriors' "heart-beat," Draymond Green, was limited to only six field goal attempts and 16 points. Green held the Spurs' 6' 11" LaMarcus Aldridge (15.6 ppg.), San Antonio's major off-season acquisition, to just five points. It was the Warriors' defense that was superior, creating 26 turnovers (a season high for SA) that led to 32 points. GS had 20 assists on 24-of-41 shooting in the first half against the Spurs' vaunted defense.

For some, the Warriors' remarkable performance overshadowed the results of the NFL Playoffs a day before, when the Denver Broncos (14-4) and Carolina Panthers (17-1) advanced to meet in Super Bowl 50 on Feb. 7 at Levi's Stadium in Santa Clara.

In another classic confrontation pitting all-time-great quarterbacks Peyton Manning and Tom Brady against each other for the 17th time, it was the 39-year-old Manning who won out to go to his fourth Super Bowl when the Broncos' defense thwarted a New England two-point conversion attempt with only 12 seconds left for a 20-18 win in the AFC title game. Manning had a strong first half, but was far from spectacular. It was the Denver defense that controlled the game until a near-miracle rally led by Brady at the finish that fell just short. A missed extra-point kick in the first quarter came back to haunt the Patriots.

The NFC Championship Game was all but over so fast that the fat lady from North Carolina started singing during her pregame shower at her hotel. The Arizona Cardinals didn't bring any game at all to face the juggernaut that is the Panthers (who happen to prowl Steph Curry's old stomping grounds of Charlotte; is there karma about?). QB and probable MVP Cam Newton led the Panthers' rampage to a quick 17-0 first quarter lead, a 34-7 margin in the third quarter, and a 49-15 final, while the Carolina defense created seven turnovers by Arizona.

That was the same Cardinals who defeated the Green Bay Packers, 26-20 in overtime, a week earlier in the Divisional Playoff round in one of the most exciting games of the season. The game featured an astonishing comeback in the closing seconds of regulation by QB Aaron Rodgers and the Packers, culminating with a 41-yard "Hail Mary" touchdown pass on the final play to send the game to overtime. Arizona responded early in OT with a "Hail Larry" play, when wide receiver Larry Fitzgerald turned a short completion into a 75-yard play and followed that up on the next play by taking a shovel-pass into the end zone for the victory.

Watching that game on a big screen in a large sports pub with some friends and a lot of rowdy Packers fans, there were frequent glimpses of a TV screen off to the side of the Warriors losing on the road at Detroit. We all kept expecting the Warriors to kick it into gear and overtake the Pistons, but that never happened. They just didn't have it that day and we wondered, "What's up with that?"

Apparently, Warriors coaches and players were asking themselves the same thing after it was over. In the eight days following, the W's won four times, obliterating three of the league's better teams, each by 30 or more points, and mixing in a 12-point win over Indiana. In the first marquee matchup, the W's invaded LeBron James' turf in Cleveland, where the Warriors clinched their title a few months prior, and demoralized the top team in the Eastern Conference, 132-98. That, it seems, prompted the firing of coach David Blatt, though he had led the Cavaliers to within two wins of a title last year and to a 30-11 conference-best mark this season.

Two days later, the W's went to Chicago and defeated another playoff team, the Bulls, 125-94, before returning home to take down the Pacers and Spurs to make it 39 straight regular-season wins at home and to pose the question to the rest of the NBA, "Is that all you've got?"
