RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Rancho Cordova harbors a burgeoning art community, according to artist and art teacher Victoria Smith of Rancho Cordova; the Fall Show and the Artist Reception held on October 15th illustrates this. At City Hall, more than 60 works of art representing forty different artists meander along the walls down several hallways. The many different styles and types of media provide nourishment for every taste.

"We started as this really tiny group three or four years ago," Smith said. "The city has made a very unusual place for us, and the (Cordova) Community Council,

Pasta Feed Fundraiser

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Soroptimist International of Rancho Cordova & Gold River Club is hosting a Pasta Feed on Friday, October 23rd, 6:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m. at Mills Middle School in the multi-purpose room, 10439 Coloma Rd, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670. Tickets are $20 if purchased in advance, or $25 at the door. This includes all-you-can-eat pasta of different varieties, salad, garlic bread, and dessert.
This club was chartered over six years ago and has made a significant impact in the community. Some of the projects include:

- Working with Project 680 to provide homeless K-12 students' basic necessities like socks, shoes, toiletries, undergarments, etc.
- Creating "Comfort Kits" for women who have escaped domestic violence in our community, since many leave with nothing but the clothes on their backs, and "Comfort Kids" drawstring bags containing a coloring book, crayons, small plush toy and personal hygiene items for the children of these courageous women.
- Treating Kindergarteners to a holiday party complete with gifts, food and personal time with Santa Claus in an elementary school where 90% of the families live below the poverty line
- Worked with 4 other local Soroptimist clubs to host a STOP Human Trafficking Symposium
- Volunteering at Rancho Cordova community events and activities
- Providing deserving homeless senior girls with a new Senior Ball dress, shoes and make-over for Senior Ball
- Giving cash awards to single mothers who have returned to school
- Giving cash awards to 14-17 aged girls who volunteer and make a difference in their community, with a matching cash award to an organization of their choice
- Creating pillowcase dresses for girls in developing countries to discourage human traffickers
- Raised money to purchase 40 Solar Cookers for Sudan refugee families
"It's so important that this fundraiser is a success so we can continue doing the projects we do each year as well as offer new projects like "Project B-You-tiful," which is an after school workshop for middle school girls, as well as expand existing projects to serve more people," says club President Romel Billeci. "We only do one major fundraiser in the fall and one in the spring. We need the community's support so we can continue making a difference," says Billeci.
The name Soroptimist, means "best for women," and that's

Sacramento Splash Cultivates Understanding of Vernal Pools

Story and photos by Margaret Snider

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Once upon a time, said Emily Butler, executive director of Sacramento Splash, the entire Sacramento Valley would have been covered with vernal pools. Now, Mather Field is one of the last bastions of the vernal pool environment in the area, maybe even in the world.

“Sixteen years ago we told kids that probably 10% of the original vernal pools remained,” Butler said at the October Rancho Cordova Luncheon. “Today I can guarantee that number is far, far lower. There are very few good stands of vernal pools left.”

With an enthusiasm that occasionally brought a tremor to her voice, Butler told the group assembled at City Hall about vernal pools—temporary wetlands that occur in a Mediterranean climate in which the pools fill with rain in the winter, and shrink in the hot, dry summers. A particular bee thrives in this environment. It collects pollen only from one species of flower, then burrows down into the ground to lay eggs. The larvae lie dormant until that specific species of flower is blooming. Many other forms of life are indigenous to the vernal pools.

Sacramento Splash was founded by Emily Butler’s mother, Eva Butler, not only because she was a scientist and interested in vernal pools, but also because of the science program provided in elementary schools.

“I was part of the GATE program,” Emily Butler said. “It’s supposed to be the best of the best, but in 5th grade the entirety of our science curriculum consisted of watching ‘Free Willy’ once before we left on vacation.” Splash now presents almost 90 sessions in their program on vernal pools for public elementary schools. Twelve of those are in Rancho Cordova this school year.

“This opportunity has opened

Emily Butler, executive director of Sacramento Splash, talks to attendees at the Rancho Cordova Luncheon on October 16th after her presentation on the importance of Splash programs for elementary schools.

the eyes of kids who would never get these things otherwise,” Emily Butler said. “It’s very valuable, and it’s only possible because we focus on public schools.”

Just a generation or two ago, kids played outdoors as a matter of course. “When I talk to people from my mother’s generation, it’s very rare I find somebody who doesn’t say, ‘Oh, totally, I used to catch salamanders in the ditch behind my uncle’s place,’” Emily Butler said. Nowadays such an inherent relationship with nature often does not happen.

The essence of Splash boils down to three main goals: The first is to build bridges to nature; the second, to inspire elementary school students to get into the science pipeline and to help alleviate the serious shortage in the United States of engineers and scientists; and lastly, to foster environmental stewardship. As Emily Butler said, “It’s about experiencing it, it’s about learning about it, and then it’s about coming back and saying, ‘What can I do?’”

In the Splash program, each child takes on the identity of one of the critters of the vernal pool environment, and learns about it in detail. The kids identify so fully with their own critter that when they go out to Mather Field they call each other by that name.

On site at Splash, the kids proceed through three stations, starting with the microscope station, where “we have little live aquatic critters under each of 12 microscopes,” Emily Butler said.

The second station is the critter station where there are frogs, toads, salamanders, snakes, rabbits, voles, turtles, and more. “They’re all rescue animals, and they have some reason why they can’t live in the wild,” said critter keeper Lu-Anne Spencer-Hartle.

The third station is the watershed model where kids learn about how to prevent water pollution.

The outdoor exploration that comes next is the crux of the whole experience. “This is where you get the kids out into nature’s outdoor classroom. They get to dip into the pool, see what they can catch,” Emily Butler said.

Dan Anklam, principal of Cordova High School and a former biology teacher, said that emphasis on standards-based education killed science in elementary school because testing is in math and English.

“Thank you for what you’re doing,” Anklam said. “We always said, science is a verb.”

City Council Meeting Minutes

At Monday's City Council meeting, Mayor Robert J. McGarvey presented a proclamation to WEAVE Inc. in recognition of October as Domestic Violence Awareness Month. Domestic violence is the single largest cause of injury to women and affects people of all ages, racial, socioeconomic, educational, religious, and occupational segments of our society. WEAVE is the oldest and most comprehensive provider of domestic violence services in Sacramento County and annually responds to more than 10,200 crisis line calls, provides more than 11,200 bed-nights of confidential shelter to more than 400 adults and children, and provides counseling to over 2,000 survivors. Learn more about WEAVE by visiting www.weaveinc.org. (Pictured left to right: Mayor Robert J. McGarvey, WEAVE Executive Director Beth Hassett, and WEAVE Director of Development and Marketing Julie Bornhoeft.)

Mayor Robert J. McGarvey presented a proclamation at Monday's City Council meeting recognizing October 4th through 10th as Mental Illness Awareness Week to Crystal Rowland, Sacramento County Public Health Educator (center), and Aunjuli Reese of Stop Stigma Speakers Bureau (right). One in every four adults is affected by a mild to severe diagnosable mental illness, and one in five children will experience an emotional or behavioral difficulty. In Sacramento County, it is estimated that nearly 355,000 residents live with a mental health condition, but only one-third of those individuals will seek professional help primarily due to the stigma and discrimination surrounding mental illness. Stop Stigma is a program of Sacramento County to educate the community and provide mental health services for adults and children. Learn more by visiting www.StopStigmaSacramento.org.

At Monday's City Council meeting, Council Member Linda Budge presented a proclamation to Rancho Cordova Friends Group for National Friends of the Library Week, October 18th to the 24th. Last year, the Friends of the Sacramento Public Library provided more than 50,000 hours of service, gave local libraries more than $310,000 to fund programs, buy books, and purchase new equipment, and brought the community together. Rancho Cordova Friends Group was instrumental in ensuring Regional Transit bus service to the Rancho Cordova Library continues and is participating in the planning for the new light rail station that will be available for Library patrons. Arts Blossom in Rancho Cordova they are really stepping up in a way that I've never experienced in any other community, because they really want arts here."

Besides the walls of art, show openings at City Hall generally include something extra, such as the best creatively made hat contest at the last opening. This time, the reception featured performance art by three Hoyt sisters: Tabitha, 16, Kaitlin, 13, and Jacalyn, 12, who presented a Haunted Tea Party in CosPlay. CosPlay, Smith explained, is short for costume play. Each sister was artistically dressed and made up and posed at a table with a Mad Hatter type tea set.

The four art shows a year are sponsored by the Cordova Community Council, and Smith specifically mentioned the importance of its efforts and also the work of Rancho Arts, with all the various art programs that they each support throughout the city. Smith teaches art for the Sacramento City School District and also classes at Michaels in the Target shopping center. She recently received a grant to do a mural with the Sacramento Special Education system. She teaches occasional free workshops at the library, as well as giving private lessons and classes.

In September, Smith was one of 20 artists chosen from around the world by Golden Artist Colors, Inc., to participate in a workshop for seven days in New Orleans.

"Not only did I get there and get an education, but I got to meet these incredible people who are doing the same thing I do, in terms of community workshops and growing our art culture here," Smith said. "It was probably one of the most educationally stunning weeks of my life."

Artists attended from Brazil, Netherlands, Wales, Canada, Mexico, and the United States.

"They have generously given me a little taste of everything, so now I can share it with Rancho Cordova," Smith said. "That's pretty exciting, because there are only 20 of us all over the world, and we're Rancho Cordova, and we have it."

There are several of Smith's students with paintings in the Fall Show. One of them is Izze Greene, 17. Izze attends Cordova High School and has been interested in art ever since she was old enough to draw and paint. She is apparently following in the steps of Leonardo da Vinci in that she is a creative generalist. Among the other media she works or wants to work in are sculpting, wire work, papier-mâché, mixed media, photography, filmmaking, writing, fashion, and languages. Right now she is learning Japanese. "It's pretty confusing, but it's fun," she said.

Izze has been taking art classes at Michaels for a while. "When Victoria came in I wanted to go to more of her classes, because she's a really great mentor and she has a lot to teach everyone," Izze said.

You can see the varied artwork hanging at Rancho Cordova City Hall from now through Jan. 17th, 2016.

Those interested in other art events in and around Rancho Cordova can contact Smith for more information at victoriasmithart@gmail.com. Rancho Cordova artists can register at the Cordova Community Council website, www.cordovacouncil.org, click on "Call for Artists." By registering, the artists will receive the year's calendar for city art events and will be eligible to enter their art in the juried art shows throughout the year.

By Sal Arrigo, Jr.

As an adjunct instructor in the Gerontology Department at American River College, I come across much information on events in the community related to issues pertaining to older adults. One such piece of information was presented to me by a student, who said to me, “this is important.” I agree; the 1st Annual Caregiver Resources Day, sponsored by the Respite Club, will take place at the Cordova Neighborhood Church on Wednesday, October 28th, 2015, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. It is a free event.

Caregiver Resource Day

John Donne wrote, “No man is an island, entirely unto thee.” How right he is when it comes to caregiving. Many times caregivers (I was one), feel alone, without hope, and often asking, “Where do I get help?!” The Respite Club, established in Rancho Cordova more than 20 years ago, is the best-kept caregiving secret in the area. Operating three days a week, the Club provides respite care for those who are caring for individuals with dementia, mainly Alzheimer’s disease. The organization has one unique feature—it is a drop-in respite care organization. That’s right, if you are in desperate need of care one day, you can drop by and have your loved one cared for while you take care of your business! Unique? You bet!

Rebecca Graulich, marketing director for the Club, said to me, “Our operation is going to expand; we will be adding another day to our service in the very near future. When family members hear about us, and realize the scope of our care, you can sense their relief in knowing someone can help them.”

As for the Caregiver Resource Day itself, there will be free 30-minute consultations available with businesses who have donated their time to the event. There will be representatives offering information in the following areas:

- Financial Planning
- Hospice
- Legal Advice
- Housing Placement Assistance
- Mobility Services
- Final Arrangements
- And More!

The Cordova Neighborhood Church is located at 10600 Coloma Road, Rancho Cordova at the corner of Coloma Road and Cordova Lane. For more information, please call Rebecca at (916) 966-9600. You can check out their website at: www.respiteclub.org. ★

Regional San to Open Recycled Water Fill Station

New Fill Station to Offer Free, Recycled Water for Residential and Commercial Users

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - On September 30th, 2015, Sacramento Regional County Sanitation District (Regional San) will open a Recycled Water Fill Station at the Sacramento Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant in Elk Grove. Regional San will offer residential and commercial users the opportunity to get a free, environmentally responsible and safe water supply to irrigate lawns, gardens, and landscaping, or for dust control or other permitted uses.

Initially, this program will be limited to the first 500 users to sign up, and is expected to run until the rainy season sets in, possibly through October, while Regional San gauges the logistics and popularity of the program. “With the extended drought, conservation of potable water supplies is more important than ever. The new recycled water fill station is just one component of our sustainable water recycling program, which aims to reduce the region’s dependence on precious groundwater and surface water,” said Prabhakar Somavarapu, district engineer for Regional San. Regional San plans to reopen the fill station in spring 2016 and hopes to increase participation, based on findings from the current year.

The Recycled Water Fill Station Project will feature several connection bays for users to fill approved containers or commercial water trucks. Interested users must sign up in advance of the September 30th facility opening at www.regionalsan.com/fill-station. Participants must live in, and use the recycled water in the Regional San service area. Participation is limited and requires completion of a permit application and a brief training session.

Regional San’s water recycling program currently provides up to 3.5 million gallons per day of tertiary-treated recycled water to irrigate to a number of parks, street medians, and commercial and school sites in the Laguna West, Lakeside, and Stone Lakes developments in Elk Grove, in partnership with the Sacramento County Water Agency.

Learn more about Regional San’s other sustainable water recycling projects at www.regionalsan.com/water-recycling.

Regional San provides wastewater conveyance and treatment services to residential, industrial, and commercial customers throughout unincorporated Sacramento County; the cities of Citrus Heights, Elk Grove, Folsom, Rancho Cordova, Sacramento and West Sacramento; and the communities of Courtland and Walnut Grove.

From the Mayor’s Corner

grandkids to school sometimes, and, for them, the different cultures and “colors” are just part of a kid’s day. As we know, they accept those differences so much easier than some adults do. Colors are seen by them as colors in crayons, not something that separates people from each other.

The holidays have many colors so they are brightened more than your normal day. Many people come together to celebrate, commemorate, and honor one or many people on those holidays. I looked at the calendar and counted 15 holidays starting on “Labor Day” and ending on “New Year’s Eve” or “New Year’s Day,” however you count that day. You will see more colors, and they are usually brighter colors, than you will see the rest of the year. There is more color green (money) seen exchanging hands this part of the year than other times too. We give presents to friends and family on their birthday, Mother’s Day, Father’s Day, Fourth of July, etc. but during the fall, there is more celebration and more gifts given to more people at one time.

One of the holidays that brings colors of its own is “Halloween.” Some of the colors of the ghouls, witches, E.T., and other costumes that add to the other colors bring a ghastly hinge to that holiday. With the colors of pumpkins, squashes, husks, ghosts (what a minute, does a ‘ghostly white’ count?), you know when it is “Halloween.”

The colors of the cloths of Pilgrims and Native Americans, which are part of what we see and think of as part of the history of “Thanksgiving,” have been part of that holiday for quite a few years. The pumpkins, squashes, husks, Native American corn, turkeys, etc. also add color to the pictures that we see as part of Thanksgiving.

Now there are other holidays between Thanksgiving and Christmas, and they too have colors of their own. But Christmas seems to bring more color in the stores, outside of the stores, wrapped around or in front of homes, and in homes, with the Christmas tree the center of attention. There are many other celebrations during that time of the year, and there are many different ways to bring warmth in your home and in your heart if you let it happen.

The colors of the rainbow are finally beginning to appear on falling leaves. “The Autumn Leaves” is one of my favorite songs, and like many pieces of music, the music has a magic all its own. You can close your eyes and let the sound of the music open your imagination. It allows you to create and hear and see the music in the leaves as they separate from the trees, fall to the ground, and become a prelude to the upcoming falling snows of winter.

From Mayor Bob Mcgarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

The House Republican Meltdown

At least they aren’t brawling the way they do in the South Korean parliament -- at least not yet.

House Republicans have over the past month seen their speaker, John Boehner, announce his imminent resignation under pressure and his heir apparent, Kevin McCarthy, suddenly give up on trying to succeed him -- all while the party enjoys a comfortable majority and faces no external threat from Democrats.

The Republican nervous breakdown is entirely self-inflicted. Understanding the House caucus is less Politics 101 than scorpions in a bottle. The right of the caucus hates and distrusts the leadership, while most of the rest of the caucus hates and distrusts the right, and no one has the standing to bring all sides together in a semblance of unity.

With McCarthy, the current majority leader, shocking the political world by giving up his speaker bid, it’s not clear who can pick up the pieces. Some even speculate (although this is far-fetched) that Republicans will have to go to Democrats to forge a bipartisan coalition to fill the office, which would be a humbling concession that Republicans aren’t capable of governing the House on their own.

McCarthy is a pol’s pol who has good personal relations with other Republicans. He had a strong majority of the caucus backing him for speaker, but that wasn’t enough. He needed to get 218 votes on the House floor, a threshold that gave the several dozen members of the conservative House Freedom Caucus the ability to block him. It is this blocking power that the group has used again and again in legislative fights to frustrate the leadership. The right made Speaker John Boehner miserable, and ultimately ousted him in a demonstration of the power of a determined legislative faction.

No one is blameless in the House Republican civil war. The leadership is so unpopular with the grass roots because it has been unimaginative and timid, and the right of the caucus is correct to want to prod and challenge it.

Of course, there are limits to what even the shrewdest congressional leadership can achieve when the other party controls the White House, but House GOP leaders never advanced a substantive alternative agenda on major issues and weren’t willing to push the envelope in their fight with the president over his executive abuses. Both the House and Senate leadership were mostly content to restore “regular order,” a priority that could inspire only a few subcommittee chairmen.

On the other hand, the right in the House has had a clearer view of what it opposes than of what it supports, and often has seemed willing to burn the place down in the cause of symbolic purity.

We’re still a long way from the sort of chaos that gripped the House in 1855, when the politics of slavery scrambled congressional politics such that it took months and more than 100 ballots to get a new speaker. Eventually, someone among House Republicans will have the credibility and creativity to get to 218, perhaps when exhaustion with the internecine warfare takes hold.

One only hopes that no one starts throwing chairs before then.

Hero Dog Exposes Puppy Mills

dogs, including service and military dogs, and other rescued pets that have become an inspiration to pet advocates.

Unlike responsible breeders, puppy mills have destructive breeding practices, and care can be brutal: for example, they'll attempt to produce as many litters of popular dog breeds as possible, exhausting and often physically abusing breeding dogs, selling the best and mistreating the rest. Mill dogs often are kept in tiny, dirty cages, with little to no medical care.

Puppy mill rescues gain access to and liberate such dogs, try to have the mills shut down, and provide care and rehabilitation for the rescued dogs. They'll also try to find homes for dogs that are able to be adopted, but sadly, many are unable to live with a family. Hopefully, through legislation and continued vigilance, puppy mills can become a thing of the past.

Send your questions or tips to ask@pawscorner.com.

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: This year, the American Humane Association chose Harley, a scrappy, one-eyed Chihuahua, as the 2015 Hero Dog. Its decision calls attention to the stark realities of puppy mills, one of which Harley was rescued from.

Harley had significant health issues when he was rescued, and he lost an eye when his cage was power-washed with him in it. Despite this, he retained a strong spirit and has become a beacon for other puppy mill dogs. The “Harley to the Rescue” campaign inspired by him (<http://milledogrescue.org/harley-to-the-rescue/>) has saved close to 600 puppy mill dogs.

Can you let people know about the AHA's Hero Dog, Harley? -- Ginny, via e-mail

DEAR GINNY: I sure can! Harley's story also can be found at the AHA Hero Dog page: <http://www.herodogawards.org/hda2015vote-harley>. He was chosen from a finalist field of eight exemplary

AUTUMN TIPS FOR OUTDOOR LANDSCAPING

Golden State Water Company wishes to thank you, our customers, for the steps you have taken to reduce water use during the drought, and is offering these tips to help you maximize your water-use efficiency this autumn.

Lawn Irrigation Tips

- Autumn should bring rain and cooler temperatures, presenting an opportunity to scale back irrigation.
- Turn off lawn irrigation systems during rainy periods, and avoid watering during and 48 hours following measurable precipitation.
- Install a weather-based smart irrigation controller and water-efficient sprinkler heads.
- Check to make sure sprinklers are positioned to irrigate your lawn and not your sidewalk, driveway or gutters
- While hand watering your lawn, focus on dry spots and pay close attention to avoid runoff.
- Avoid watering your lawn on windy days to limit overspray and evaporation.
- Survey your lawn irrigation system and fix any sprinklers, valves and lines that may be damaged or leaking water.
- SAVE YOUR TREES: Capture the water that runs while your shower warms up, and use it to water your trees.

Dewey's Product Producing Rabbits and several does in them.

“Everyone knows rabbits produce superior product,” Dewey told his lady love, Emily Stickle, she of the fantastic cheekbones and finely honed business acumen. Emily glowed, knowing that this rabbit idea was strictly Dewey’s.

Well, the rabbits produced product all right, and Dewey put a few hundred of his finest red wiggler fishing worms under the hutch to put the finishing touches on primo fertilizer ... we mean houseplant-grade fertilizer. It’ll bring more money in, too.

After a few months, there was quite a mound of product to be processed, and there was also a marked increase in the rabbit population.

Dewey really enjoyed watching the baby rabbits grow up. But then he had to decide whether to have rabbit for dinner or just turn them all into product makers. The product idea won. This meant buying more hutches, but he was able to do this with the houseplant fertilizer money, which also bought rabbit pellets.

One of the best parts of this division of his soil amendments business was that Dewey could actually feed and care for the rabbits and their product with nothing but a shovel. And accident-prone Dewey can handle any tool fairly well, as long as it isn’t sharp, has no moving parts and is commonly called a shovel.

Windy’s driving the loader and the truck for him now, several days a week, and Emily is taking care of the books. So Dewey just watches happily as the growing rabbit population produce ... well, product is as good a name as any.

Life is good.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice of Intent to Adopt a Mitigated Negative Declaration/Notice of Availability Environmental Assessment Study Results Available Announcement of Public Hearing

Widening Proposed on White Rock Road from Sunrise Boulevard to Grant Line Road

WHAT'S BEING PLANNED?

Caltrans (California Department of Transportation), in cooperation with the City of Rancho Cordova (City), is proposing to widen and construct improvements to the existing six-lane portion of White Rock Road from Sunrise Boulevard to Luyung Drive, including restriping and additional pavement for the addition of a second westbound through lane on the east leg of Fitzgerald Road/Sunrise Park Drive intersection with White Rock Road. White Rock Road will be reconstructed and widened from two lanes to four lanes from Luyung Drive to Grant Line Road. The project alternatives being studied will include the above build alternative and a no-build alternative that allows for a comparison of not approving the proposed project.

The proposed work will encroach upon on seasonal wetlands. The project is being evaluated to determine if there are any practical alternatives to avoid this encroachment or, if not, to ensure that all practical measures are taken to minimize harm to the seasonal wetlands.

The proposed work involves a site on a list enumerated under Section 65962.5 of the Government Code pertaining to hazardous wastes.

This project is not considered a Project of Concern regarding particulate matter (PM10 and PM2.5) as defined in 40 CFR 93.123(b)(1). A detailed PM10 and PM2.5 hot-spot analysis was not completed because Clean Air Act and 40 CFR 93.116 requirements are met without an explicit hot-spot analysis.

WHY THIS AD?

The City and Caltrans have studied the effects this project may have on the environment. Our studies show it will not significantly affect the quality of the environment. The report explains why it is called an Initial Study with Proposed Mitigated Negative Declaration/Environmental Assessment (IS/EA). This notice is to inform you of the preparation of the Proposed Mitigated Negative Declaration and IS/EA and of its availability for you to review.

A hearing will be held to give you an opportunity to discuss the release of the environmental document. General project information including the public review period, public comment process, next steps and other display information will be available.

WHAT'S AVAILABLE?

You can review the Mitigated Negative Declaration and IS/EA and other project information at the Rancho Cordova City Hall (2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670) on weekdays from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Copies may also be reviewed at various locations including the Rancho Cordova Library (9845 Folsom Boulevard, Sacramento, CA 95827), Gold River Community Association (11715 Gold Country Boulevard, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670), Sacramento County Administration Building (700 H Street, Sacramento, CA 95814), and Caltrans (703 B St, Marysville, CA 95901), as well as for download from the City's website: <http://www.cityofranhocordova.org/Index.aspx?page=184>

WHERE YOU COME IN

Do you have any comments about processing the project with a Mitigated Negative Declaration and IS/EA? Do you disagree with the findings of our study as set forth in the Proposed Mitigated Negative Declaration? Would you care to make any other comments on the project?

The public review/comment period will end on December 1, 2015. If you have comments or concerns on the proposed Mitigated Negative Declaration and IS/EA, you are encouraged to submit your comments in writing no later than December 1, 2015 5:00pm to the Caltrans District 3 Office, 703 B St, Marysville, CA 95901 (Attn: Kelly McNally) or by email to kelly.mcnelly@dot.ca.gov. You will also have an opportunity to provide comments during the public hearing.

Cordova Football Suffers First SVC Loss

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On its final offensive drive at Lancer Stadium on October 16th, the Cordova High School football team appeared to be headed toward its second consecutive Sierra Valley Conference victory over Liberty Ranch's squad.

Instead, the Lancers lost a tough 28-26 contest to the Hawks. Cordova (1-1 in the SVC, 4-3) had the ball on Liberty Ranch's 15-yard-line with two minutes and two seconds left in the game.

"What coach wouldn't want to be in that position," said Cordova Head Coach Darren Nill.

Lancer quarterback Unique Perez threw a touchdown pass on the drive. But the Lancers were called for illegal motion that pushed the ball back to the Hawks' 20. Two plays later, another TD pass was thrown, but the Lancers were hit with another yellow flag, this time for offensive pass interference. That pushed the ball back to the Lancers' 30 yard line.

Then a pass was thrown that the Hawks intercepted, getting the ball back and ending the Lancers' chances of winning the game.

"We took what they gave us," Nill said. "We were moving the ball fairly well...just fell a little short."

All of the Lancers' losses have been by a combined eight points.

"That's tough," Nill said. "They were going to run the ball, we were going to pass. They are extremely good at what they do."

Cordova finished with 415 total offensive yards; 351 in the air. Liberty Ranch had 547 total offensive yards with 515 on the ground.

The Lancers came out with an odd-man defensive front against the Hawks.

"That seemed to slow them down a bit," Nill said. "I don't think they were prepared for it. We caught them off-guard a little bit. I think that helped keep the score close."

In the first quarter, Liberty Ranch led 7-6 and 21-20 at halftime. Cordova and the Hawks scored a touchdown each in the third quarter before each defense held the other's offense in the fourth quarter.

Perez completed 23-of-43 passes for 351 yards and three touchdowns for Cordova. He also had nine carries for 50 yards on the ground.

Lancer wide receiver Devin Baldwin hauled in eight receptions for 161 yards and a touchdown. Isaac Black was 7-69 and Angel Garcia 4-61.

On defense, Nate Williams led the Lancers with 14 tackles. Terrill Johnson followed with 12, Jason Johnson 11 and Deante McCullough and Aaron Giles had 10 each.

In the junior varsity contest, Cordova lost a tough 35-28 game to Liberty Ranch. The loss moves the JV Lancers to 1-1 in the SVC, 6-1 overall.

Tonight, Friday, Cordova continues SVC action at Placerville against El Dorado (0-2 in the SVC, 4-3). Game time is scheduled for 7:15 p.m. ★

Mixed Results for Lady Lancers Volleyball

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Out of five matches in the past week, the Cordova High School volleyball team won three.

In Monday's Sierra Valley Conference home match against Galt, the Lady Lancers (2-4 in the SVC, 8-9 overall) cranked out a 3-0 win over the Warriors. The final scores were 25-16, 25-14, 25-20.

Last Saturday, Cordova competed in three matches at the Stockton Classic where it posted wins over Elliot Christian and Grace Davis of Modesto. The Lancers' lone loss was to East Union.

To close out the first half of conference play October 14th, the Lancers played at Rosemont where they lost a tough five-set match; the final scores were 16-25, 25-15, 25-14, 22-25, 12-15.

On Wednesday, Cordova continued SVC action at Union Mine. Next Monday, the Lady Lancers are back on the road at El Dorado and host Liberty Ranch next Wednesday, October 28th. Start times are scheduled for 6 p.m. ★

Lancers Soccer Improves to 4-2-1 in SVC

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Two goals in the first half of Monday's Sierra Valley Conference road game looked like it would carry the Cordova High School boys' soccer team to victory.

But host Union Mine rallied, which led to a 2-2 tie with the Lancers. Going into Wednesday's home finale against El Dorado, Cordova (4-2-1 in the SVC, 11-7-2 overall) is alone in third place in the SVC. The top four teams advance to the Sac-Joaquin Section playoffs that start early November.

In the 21st minute, Lancer midfielder Luis Aguilar scored the team's first goal, as he and other Lancers and Union Mine players scrambled for the ball in front of the box.

Then the Diamondbacks responded with a goal in the 35th minute to net a 1-1 score. But two minutes before halftime, Cordova forward Bernardo Valdez punched in the ball into the back of the net off an assist from Alex Casal for a 2-1 advantage.

Union Mine tied the game in the 60th minute off a corner kick. The D-backs had half a dozen shots on goal in the final 20 minutes of the game but were met with resistance from the Lancers' defense.

"We held our own," said Cordova Head Coach Eric McCahon after the game. "But we were just a little out of sorts tonight. This is a tough place to play."

Cordova 2, Galt 1

In a SVC home game October 14th, the Lancers had a goal in the first and second halves to hand the Warriors their first conference loss of the season. Galt scored its lone goal in the second half.

Valdez and Aguilar also scored a goal each in this game for the Lancers.

After Wednesday's home finale, Cordova will play its final two conference games on the road. Next Monday, the Lancers play at Liberty Ranch and close out the regular season at Rosemont. Both teams are scheduled to start at 7 p.m. ★

ABSOLUTELY LEGENDARY

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG)

- Rancho Cordova legends were honored by the Rancho Cordova Athletic Association with a new sports tradition on October 17th. The first ever inductions into the Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame was held at City Hall and attracted a full house of over 350 attendees. The event was hosted by the ever-entertaining Ken Rudolph from Good Day Sacramento.

The Rancho Cordova Athletic Association was formed in 2013 to foster lifelong values of good sportsmanship, teamwork and healthy active lifestyles through development of excellent youth sports facilities and organizations, positive coaching, and access to play for all.

To be elected to the Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame, inductees were judged to have attained significant achievements in or contributions to athletics, as well as exhibiting high standards of character and sportsmanship.

The event was organized by the Rancho Cordova Athletic Association in partnership with the Cordova Community Council. Congratulations to the Hall of Fame selection committee and the Rancho Cordova Athletic Association organization. The event was truly an inspiration to the entire community.

Rancho Cordova Sports luminaries inducted included:

•1975 Lancers Football Team: Considered by many to be the best football team to ever come out of this part of the country, the '75 Lancers was the State Team of the Year and was close to being a mythical national champion. Cordova went 102-6-1 in the 1970s, which was not only the best record in the state, but the best in the nation.

•Guy Anderson: One of the winningest coaches in high school baseball history, Anderson led the Cordova Lancers team for 45 years as varsity coach and a National High School Hall of Fame inductee.

•Chris Bosio: A Cordova High School baseball notable pitcher, Bosio went on to play Major League Baseball including a no-hitter in 1993 for the Seattle Mariners against the Boston Red Sox. He is currently a pitching coach for the Chicago Cubs.

•Christy Bowles: At Cordova High School, Bowles was an area Hall of Fame softball catcher, a MVP field hockey player, and area Hall of Fame Female Athlete.

•Rod Connors: A Cordova High track standout, Connors was a State Meet 400 Meters winner. His 1975 USC freshmen mile relay record still stands.

•Duane Fidel: A Cordova High wrestling standout, a three-time Delta League and three-time Sub Section wrestling champion.

•Dewey Guerra: (Deceased) Considered by some to be the greatest high school football coach in the country, he was the head coach of the 1975 Lancers and led Cordova to 10 straight championships.

•Doug Hawkes: (Deceased) The longtime Grapevine Independent newspaper publisher and sports writer, Hawkes' "Sports on the Eastside" column was a constant chronicle of Rancho Cordova athletics and sports history for decades.

•Geoff Jenkins: A Cordova High School baseball standout who also played football and basketball. Jenkins was a first round draft pick for the Milwaukee Brewers and also played for the Philadelphia Phillies.

•Helen Klein: A nationally-recognized senior ultra-marathoner, Klein was in the inaugural class of the Sacramento Running Association Hall of Fame, with dozens of ultra-marathons and records to her credit.

END OF THE BENCH BY GERRY SCHOLL

Must These Shows Go On?

Every so often the search for something reasonable to watch on television must be undertaken. But, as usual, the search fails to disclose any worthwhile results, and we resort to falling back into sports for entertainment, even if all there is to choose from is a playoff baseball blowout between two teams we care little about, or some sloppy NFL game between two losing teams from the East Coast.

We get so easily frustrated scrolling through the guide. Channel, after channel, after channel gets a shake of the head. A bunch of run-of-the-mill cops-and-robbers series...a few over-acted courtroom dramas...some "shocking" doctor/hospital shows...several dumbed-down talk shows...some "introspective" panel bits...too many unrealistic reality shows...much too real news programs...a wide assortment of HGTV-type stuff that only make you jealous and hungry...sitcom and old movie reruns...and on and on they go...

We seem to always go back to the games. But, then, they aren't as inspiring when your teams aren't playing, are just plain lousy or out of contention, or happen to be on their bye week. You might consider turning the tube off (??) and do some reading, but it's too early in the evening to fall asleep. You just want to lay on the couch like some rotting log and soak up some kind of nonsense that will, at least, keep your attention.

You know what they oughta do for people like us? They oughta take some of the ideas from all of those other TV shows and combine them with sports themes, and see what might become of that.

They could have a cop show that has some crazy star football player that kills a former teammate; or one that has a player that keeps disturbing the neighborhood with a lot of wild parties that result in some sexual assaults; or, in part two of that episode, that fella has a friend with a gun fetish that races off to practice in the morning after a drunken all-nighter and crashes his car into a tree, and then both guys get arrested and kicked off the team.

They could have a courtroom drama in which, let's say, a former Olympic track and field champion --- and let's spice it up and make him a double-amputee named...uh, Oscar --- murders his beautiful model girlfriend on Valentine's Day. But with some lame excuses and technicalities through the long, drawn out process, the guy gets off easy by being convicted only of manslaughter, and is sentenced to one year in prison and four years of house arrest that he will spend living luxuriously in his uncle's mansion, with the freedom to leave to go to church (!!!) or to work (back on the track?). You can just feel the venom oozing from the family of the deceased victim.

Or, a venerable college football coach, nearing the end of his run, has a friend and assistant coach convicted of multiple counts of sexual abuse of children and is sent to prison. A number of school officials perjure themselves. The old coach dies from the stress a short time later.

A great hospital "shocker" could have a troubled, retired star professional basketball player being wheeled into the emergency room unconscious. The back-story would reveal that our guy --- call him, Lamar --- was found passed out from an overdose of some recreational drugs in a love-ranch brothel somewhere in Nevada. After days of hand-wringing, Lamar slowly opens his eyes and comes to, and the family rejoices in "his unrelenting strength and faith in God" that pulled him through.

Okay. How about a stupid talk show panel of simple-minded baseball players dressed in suits that are too tight --- name it Dr. Pete --- talking about their own insecurities, saying things like, "I have a PhD in getting booed," and mixing in some nervous chuckles and insincere fist-bumps. (You'll need a laugh track).

Reality shows would be easy... A Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback, a spoiled brat, isn't making it in the NFL and his teammates can't stand him. He goes into alcohol rehab for too short of a stint. He comes back, but doesn't play very well as a backup. He gets into a roadside fight with his drunk "girlfriend" and somebody calls 911. The pair give conflicting accounts and the police allow them to drive away together. Or, a basketball superstar who thinks he is Superman gets busted at the airport with a gun in his carry-on bag. Or, a Hall of Fame basketball coach going through a divorce as a result of his persistent infidelities has his current program under investigation for soliciting "strippers" (?) to entertain recruits at a party in his school's athletic dormitory. Or, a couple of high school football players attack an official on the field during a game under orders from one of their coaches.

An investigative report might uncover that a part-owner and general manager of a money-skipping Major League Baseball franchise is among the top-ten worst violators of water-saving policies in a drought-stricken state on his multi-million dollar estate in a gated community, far from the madding crowd.

The "Home" network could tour the crib of the greatest basketball player of all-time, which could double as Noah's Ark II because it is big enough to hold two of everything. Or, the "Food" channel could check in on a fan trying to eat a "decadent" 18-inch, $25 corn dog stuffed with cheese, jalapenos and bacon with a side of fries.

What? What!! Somebody already thought of those? Ah, those were some crazy ideas anyway.

We should just go ahead and watch "The Princess Bride" or "The Breakfast Club" again, or play Jeopardy, or watch "Raymond" or "Seinfeld" reruns again. Or, flip back over to whatever sports is on and do what former Giant Jeff Kent always said, "Enjoy the game more!" ★

They approached Ricardo Guerro and asked if he was a Sureño. Mr. Guerro said he was not a gang member, and he was not intimidated by them. Perceiving this response as disrespectful, Caballero shot him twice. The victim died almost instantly.
Once incarcerated, both defendants attempted to send notes to fellow gang members directing them to intimidate and threaten witnesses. The notes were eventually confiscated by law enforcement.
Caballero has two prior strike convictions, both gang related felony assaults. Flores has a prior strike conviction, a felony assault with a firearm.
Both defendants face a maximum potential sentence of life in prison without the possibility of parole. Sentencing is set for November 5, 2015 at 1:30 p.m. in Department 26 before the Honorable Curtis Fiorini.

Not Your Average 80-Year-Old

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Joan Trammel isn't your average 80 year old. She still rides her bike around town, was named Volunteer of the Year for her participation in a foster grandparent program and just started a brand new job at Chick-fil-A in Rancho Cordova. But, the Rancho Cordova resident and restaurant's newest team member doesn't cook or serve food, wash dishes or take orders at the drive-thru. So what does she do?
According to Joan, her job is to "bring life" into the restaurant. She greets and chats with guests, lends a hand to mothers with young children, refreshes beverages, and has quickly become the smiling face that guests most look forward to seeing.
Restaurant Manager Liviu Vizitiu had plenty of praise to give Trammel.
"Joan cares a lot about our community and has a passion for making a positive difference," said Vizitiu. "She is a steadfast volunteer in the community and has been recognized as an outstanding volunteer numerous times. Joan received a letter of recognition from US Senator Barbara Boxer on April 15th, 2015 for 20 years of service with the Sacramento County Foster Grandparent Program. She has volunteered with Shriners Children's Hospital for 13 years and in 2007 was recognized as Volunteer of the Year for service to Children and Youth.

"Grandma Joan (which is what she prefers that everyone calls her) is a joy to have in the restaurant and both the team members and our guests just love it whenever she is around. She regularly walks around and asks: 'Is everybody happy?' which is a cheer started by Truett Cathy, the founder of Chick-fil-A. Everyone's response to her question is a loud 'Yeah! H-A-P-P-Y!'"
