Story and photos by Margaret Snider

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The latest art exhibit at Rancho Cordova City Hall features Elements—Earth, Wind, Fire, Water. The Cordova Community Council sponsors several juried art exhibits during the year, and the reception at City Hall on July 23rd showcased 32 artists and their work.

Artist Christina Marcella Lemar, 30, was one of those featured artists. "Basically, the beginning and awakening of my artistic experience happened in Rancho Cordova," Lemar said. Always interested in making things, Lemar started painting two years ago when she saw a flier for a free art class at the Rancho Cordova library. She signed up, and afterward joined classes taught by the same instructor, Victoria Smith, at the Michael's store.

As a teenager, Lemar thought she might like to go into fashion design. That background may have influenced her success in the "wearable art" competition for the best creatively made hat associated with this season's artist reception. "The first thing I thought was—I want to win!" Lemar said. Her Native American style headdress took her 60 hours of work to produce and won first place in the contest.

In her painting, Lemar uses oils and acrylics, but often works in multimedia as well. Her work, "Wind Mosaic," is created of plastic beads. "I took my acrylics and blended them really well on the canvas, and then I laid down the beads on top of that," Lemar said. To get the "wispiness" of the wind, she painted the back of some of the beads blue to make them stand out.

Lemar is married and is a special education teacher at a charter school in Sacramento. There she collaborates with general education teachers to modify curriculum for students with special needs. "I've found that students with ADHD really need to be multitasking," Lemar said. "And drawing is just really pivotal in the success of a student with ADHD. ... Drawing really helps them be more successful."

Lemar has some advice to emerging artists: "Create because you love it, because you have something on the inside that's just screaming to come out."

Artist Ron Hall, 51, has two works hanging at City Hall. In "Elements of the East," he incorporated his love of Japanese culture with the show's theme. His other work in the show, "Ill Wind," is named for a 1934 jazz song and integrates his love of jazz.

Basic Elements Form Theme of Rancho Cordova Art Exhibit

Retired Folsom fire captain Ron Hall displays his work "Elements of the East" at the artist reception at Rancho Cordova City Hall. "I just want to keep doing shows and getting better and better," Hall said.

Hall had a lifelong interest in drawing and initially prepared himself for a career in art, but switched and received a bachelor's degree in fire administration, following in the footsteps of both his father and his father-in-law, who were both firefighters for the Rancho Cordova Fire Department. Hall is recently retired as a captain from the City of Folsom Fire Department. He developed fire safety educational materials while in the fire service and said, "This process kept my creative side going."

He has taught art history for a home school cooperative group and likes working with elementary age students. "Kids at that age," Hall said, "...still are very creative, have an open mind, and just have a lot of imagination to work with."

Now that Hall is back in college studying art history, he is planning to build a studio in his back yard. Currently, he shares the kitchen with his wife, Jamie. "She loves having me around and talking with me while I paint," Hall said. "However, it can be difficult having a dual function kitchen." His wife and their sons, Max, 17, and Sam,

"LOVING GOD ... LOVING PEOPLE ... HELPING PEOPLE LOVE GOD"

14, are very supportive of his art.

"When I paint I listen to and am inspired by jazz," Hall said. "I listen to Miles Davis, Thelonius Monk, Esperanza Spalding, and Dave Brubeck." Some of his favorite artists are Basquiat, Degas, Van Gogh, Dali, and Monet.

Hall's advice to artists: "Paint for yourself. ... Just stay true to yourself; don't worry about other people as much as what you want to do with your art."

Artwork of these and other talented artists can be seen at Rancho Cordova City Hall through October 10th.

Crowds of Locals Run the Fab 40's 5K

More than 900 people participated in this year's Fab 40's 5K Run/Walk, with the proceeds going to the local chapter of the Alzheimer's Association for use in support of caregivers in the region.

By Sal Arrigo Jr.

A beautiful Saturday morning was had by all! The eighth annual Fab 40's 5K Run/Walk took place in East Sacramento on Saturday, July 25th. This is a unique event: It starts and ends at East Lawn Memorial Park, and if that is not enough to get your attention, it is the only 5K of its kind in the United States, and is home to the Alzheimer's Wall of Remembrance. This Wall was constructed so people can permanently inscribe the name of a loved one who has succumbed to Alzheimer's disease. There were more than 900 people who participated in this year's event-30 from Rancho Cordova—taking in the sights and sounds of the area as they reflected on the importance of the morning. The proceeds from this event went to the local chapter of the Alzheimer's Association for use in support of caregivers in the region. As participants made their way along the 3.1-mile course, they read educational signs informing them about Alzheimer's disease. The one that sticks in my mind read, "Everyone knows someone who has been affected by this disease." A co-worker, your mailman, your banker, the grocery store clerk, all know someone who is dealing with the sixth leading cause of death in this country— Alzheimer's disease.

Even though this race brings to light a serious subject, the participants were able to enjoy some diversions in the form of the many vendor booths, which included chili sampling, face painting, and snacks and refreshments.

Mike Ammon of Carmichael finished in first place for the men's 70-75 age group. Ammon said, "It's a fun race, especially since it's age graded, so old guys like me at 70 years old can race against the young ones. The Fab 40's race is one of the Buzz Oats series races, which is age-graded; at the end of the season, money is awarded to the top finishers. Last year I was lucky enough to win $350, which adds to the challenge. And the Fab 40's folks do a really great job putting on this race, and it's a lot of fun because of the support they give. This year I think my time was 21:30, not as good as in some years past, but I get slower as time marches on. It's also fun to see all 'the usual suspects,' as I call them; I'm part of a running club, River City Rebels, so a lot of those people usually show up at this race."

Special thanks must be given to Big Jim Hall, the announcer for the event. There were also more than 40 sponsors for this year's event, including the following:

- A4 Promotions
- Batesville
- Boulevard French Cleaners
- Capital Road Race Management
- City of Sacramento Councilmember Jeff Harris's Office

Thank you, everyone, for your support of the 2015 Fab 40's 5k Run/Walk! As the founder of "Sal's Pal's," I will once again be doing my part next year on July 30th, 2016. Team "Sal's Pal's" has been challenged by "Team Unforgettable" to get the most people to participate. Help us be victorious—consider joining me next July. You have a year to prepare for the 3.1-mile walk!

Engaging Neighborhoods in Rancho Cordova

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Residents in four Rancho Cordova neighborhoods are finding ways to engage with each other and make a difference in the community. The neighborhoods of Cordova Meadows, Kavala Ranch, West La Loma, and Lincoln Village are all participating in a community engagement effort that is part of the Growing Strong Neighborhoods Initiative. The Initiative was launched in 2007 by current Vice Mayor David Sander to improve the quality of life in Rancho Cordova, and includes everything from neighborhood clean ups to volunteer opportunities to Problem Oriented Policing programs.

There used to be a day and time in our society where kids played outside more often, where families knew and relied upon each other, and where you felt a sense of connectedness amongst your neighbors. Strength and commonalities within a community make for a stronger and safer place to live, improving the quality of life.

Rancho Cordova neighborhoods are finding ways to engage with each other and make a difference in the community, like holding a festival at a local apartment complex. Photo courtesy of the City of Rancho Cordova

These are the goals of the community engagement effort.

Working with City staff through the community engagement effort, Cordova Meadows residents created a name for their group, "Keep Cordova Meadows Beautiful," and completed several neighborhood projects together. One of their first accomplishments was a beautiful mural that can be seen on the side of the Carousel School facing West La Loma Drive. They have since continued working together on many projects in their neighborhood, including partnering with the Cordova Meadows Elementary School to combine resources.

Then, a group of residents in the Kavala Ranch neighborhood identified many people in the neighborhood who didn't know one another. When they came home at night, they drove into their garages and went into their homes for the night. With support from City staff, the residents organized three block parties leading up to one large Fall Festival in the Kavala Ranch Park. They provided music, food, and fun. And best of all, they forged new partnerships.

Recently, the City started working with Principal Joseph Piazza at Cordova Meadows

Elementary to connect with parents of the students. The City was interested in learning what parents wanted to do to make their neighborhood better. Their answer was to provide safety and fun for children. The idea for a soccer game took hold and soon followed at the school one weekend. The children had a great time, parents connected, and they have continued to hold soccer games ever since.

Some parents in this initial group live in the apartments just down the street from the school, and they felt another effort to meet their neighbors would prove beneficial. So, the group expanded and decided to hold a festival at the apartment complexes complete with face painting, piñata, barbecue food, music, and more. And over 200 people showed up.

With the success of the first event, the group is now unleashing their other ideas:

 Teaching children and parents about healthy food and eating by cleaning up and replanting the community garden at Cordova Meadows Elementary School. Soil Born Farms will be providing tips for growing their own garden.

• Organizing a clean-up event for the entire neighborhood.

Most recently, the Rancho Cordova Police Department held a community meeting at A.M. Winn Elementary School about recent crime activity in the Lincoln Village neighborhood. Around 50 residents attended to ask questions about what was being done to address the recent activity. Some residents asked how they could get involved in being part of the solution. The City engaged a small group of residents and plans to meet with them this month to start brainstorming ideas.

All these residents have shown great commitment to growing strong neighborhoods in Rancho Cordova. If you are interested in learning more, please contact Volunteer Coordinator Lorianne Ulm at (916) 851-8755 or lulm@ cityofranchocordova.org.

SUMMER TIPS FOR OUTDOOR LANDSCAPING

Golden State Water Company wishes to thank you, our customers, for the steps you have taken to reduce water use during the drought, and is offering these tips to help you maximize your water-use efficiency this summer.

Lawn Irrigation Tips

- ▲ Limit lawn irrigation to 2 days per week.
- Water lawns before 8 am or after 7 pm, when temperatures are cooler.
- Water for 2-3 minutes, wait 45 minutes, then water again for 2-3 minutes. This schedule will help prevent runoff and water lost through the soil.
- While hand watering your lawn, focus on dry spots and pay close attention to avoid runoff.
- Avoid watering your lawn on windy days to limit overspray and evaporation.

Outdoor Irrigation Days

Even Addresses: Sunday/Wednesday Odd Addresses: Tuesday/Saturday

*Irrigation restrictions do not apply for trees or edible vegetation watered

 Survey your lawn irrigation system and fix any sprinklers, valves and lines that may be damaged or leaking water.

 Check to make sure sprinklers are positioned to irrigate your lawn and not your sidewalk, driveway or gutters.

 Install a weather-based smart irrigation controller and water-efficient sprinkler heads.

 Turn off lawn irrigation systems during rainy periods, and avoid watering during and 48 hours following measurable precipitation.

▲ SAVE YOUR TREES: Capture the water that runs while your shower warms up, and use it to water your trees.

This is what it looks like to us:

COMPANIONSHIP, QUALITY OF LIFE AND FUN!

olden Pond offers Independent and Assisted Living for seniors in studio, one, or two-bedroom apartments. Nestled in the quiet residential neighborhood of Rosemont, we provide meals, transportation and many other available services to make life easier for seniors.

Instead of being stuck inside, with limited exercise and stimulating company, why not choose a more active, social environment?

At Golden Pond we offer daily activities and attentive staff - to take the chill off those dark, winter days.

Call to schedule your personal visit today... we can't wait to show you around!

The Independent • 7 August 7, 2015

As I came back to the office after lunch on Tuesday, the outside digital thermometer for my truck said the temperature was only 80 degrees. I looked out the window of my office and checked my calendar. The calendar still says it is only the 4th of August, not the last weeks of September or October, which it looks and feels like it should. Weird weather, but most of our weather seems to be very strange lately.

I know the cooler weather is a nice change for the firefighters. With 21 forest fires going on in California today, and one of them being the "Rocky Fire," any help from any source is welcome. My wife and I like going to the Clear Lake State Park where we camp and fish. Our usual way of driving miles of that road has been cut off because of the Rocky Fire. Today, the news media said the fire has burned 65,000 acres and is only 12% contained. The next time we drive to the park on Highway 20, there will definitely be a different, scarred view of what we saw just a couple of weeks ago. What is left after a forest fire leaves pictures and views that are burned into your memory.

From the Mayor's Corner Operating in the Black

Going onto other things, some of the things that we accomplished Monday night were great. At our special meeting at 4 p.m., we talked about the Branding Strategic Communications Plan. It covers our new website that is coming soon and banners and signs, etc. And at our regular City Council Meeting at 5:30 p.m., we passed our City's budget and approved the first things to be taken care of using "Community Enhancement Fund" (Measure H) money.

There is much more, of course, that was talked about and voted on during the

there is on Highway 20, and 16 meeting. When you go to the City website at www.cityofranchocordova.org, on the left side of the website you will see a box that is titled "Community Enhancement Fund." That used to be listed as "Measure H," but you can still see everything that was covered during all the town hall meetings. Some of those things were voted on last night, and some will have to be part of the second year or the third year use of funds.

> On the City website, you can also see what was discussed at the August 3rd meeting (and many more meetings) by choosing "Government" across the top toolbar, choosing "City Council," and then selecting "Council Meeting Agendas, Minutes, and Video."

We will continue to watch our budget as we have in the past, and will present a balanced budget. Operating in the black is the only way to go.

From Mayor Bob Mcgarvey, God bless, and see you next

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

What Is so Funny About the Drought?

Absolutely nothing, however, an older resident of Rancho Cordova was overheard laughing about the fact that his lawn was totally green. Why? Because the recent changes to the lawn watering schedule didn't say anything about how many times a day he could water. It is this type of irresponsible thinking and behavior that needs to change. We must start thinking about the future for the sake of our children and grandchildren. As I go about my business in this community, I see many brown lawns that cause bittersweet feeling in me. On one hand I see the residents of the community working together to combat this drought and it makes me proud to be a part of Rancho Cordova. On the other hand, I see lawns that are emerald green, water flowing down the gutters, sprinklers watering in the midday sun and I wonder what these are not thinking, anyway, not thinking of others or the future. It is disheartening. I wish I was brave enough to stop and discuss the drought with these people. I am not so, I will just send my opinions to the editor while I continue finding ways to conserve water during the drought and thinking, "what goes around, comes around".

-S. Hollis, Resident of Rancho Cordova

Be a Rancho Cordova Drought Champ

apply:

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) -Many Rancho Cordova citizens have stepped up to save water during the drought. Here are some simple ways you can be a drought champ:

- Prevent Fire Hazards: Prevent lawns from becoming fire hazards during the drought by keeping grass cut between 3" to 4" tall, removing dead weeds and vegetation, and clearing
- Save Your Trees: Trees produce clean air and provide shade, which lowers energy bills and helps lawns retain water. Check trees by inserting a small shovel or screw driver into the soil. If it's dry and crumbly, it's time to water. Soak the soil beneath and beyond the edge of the canopy of leaves until it feels sticky and wet. Add mulch around the base to retain moisture.
- Sprinkler Tips: Adjust sprinklers to prevent runoff onto sidewalks and driveways. Replace old sprinkler heads for maximum water efficiency.

street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY

OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee.

beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section

2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property.

you may call (800) 280-2832 or visit this Internet Web site www.auction.com, using the file number assigned to this case 15-34390. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Dated: 7/14/2015 Law

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF BETTY JANE
SPRAGUE(descendent)
ESTATE NO. 34,2015,00181700

ESTATE NO. 34-2015-00181799 To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of BETTY JANE SPRAGUE (deceased): A petition has been filed by JOHN SPRAGUE in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting that JOHN SPRAGUE be appointed as administrator to the estate of the decedent. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: September 17, 2015, 9:00 a.m. in Dept. No. 129 at William Ridgeway Relations Courthouse, Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826. IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Prohate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. # Sacramento County DA Reports

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Darren Goodman

District Attorney Anne Marie Schubert announced on August 4, 2015, that 23-year-old Fabian Pozos was convicted by jury of first-degree murder and the jury found the use of a knife allegation Pozos lived in an apartment next door to Maurice Lynch at a housing facility operated by Volunteers of America. At around midnight on June 21, 2014, Pozos was inside Mr. Lynch's apartment with other guests. Pozos was being aggressive with a female guest and Mr. Lynch confronted him. After a brief altercation, Pozos threatened to kill Mr. Lynch and other guests before going back to his apartment. Pozos returned with a knife and confronted Mr. Lynch, who was on his way to alert staff at the facility of Pozos' behavior. Pozos stabbed Mr. Lynch in the chest, puncturing his heart. He died minutes later. Pozos faces a maximum potential sentence of 26 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for September 4, 2015, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 22 before the Honorable Russell Hom.

CASE: Markas Fulgham & Latanya McLeod

PROSECUTOR: Principal Deputy District Attorney Kelly Mulcahy, Insurance Fraud Unit District Attorney Anne Marie Schubert announced that on July 28, 2015, 28-year-old Markas

Fulgham and 30-year-old Latanya McLeod pled no contest to felony insurance fraud. Both defendants were sentenced by the Honorable John Sapunor to 90 days county jail, 5 years formal probation, and ordered to pay $2,000 in restitution.

On December 30, 2013, Fulgham was driving McLeod's car and was involved in an accident in downtown Sacramento. The insurance carrier of another vehicle in the accident investigated and found Fulgham at fault. McLeod's car sustained damage to the passenger side front and rear doors, but she did not repair it since she was uninsured.

On January 23, 2014, McLeod called Fulgham's sister's insurance company claiming Fulgham's sister drove her car and caused damage to the front and rear passenger doors. Fulgham's sister told her insurance company the car was already damaged from an earlier accident. The insurance company obtained the file from the insurance carrier of the other vehicle involved in the December accident. Photographs of the damage from the December accident were identical to photos taken of McLeod's car on January 23, 2014. When interviewed by the insurance company, both defendants denied preexisting damage to the car and maintained Fulgham's sister caused the damage. Interviews of Markas Fulgham's mother and stepmother supported his sister's statement. McLeod ultimately admitted she lied about the pre-existing damage to her car because she did want to pay for repairs.

Insurance fraud is committed when an individual reports to an insurance company fraudulent information regarding an accident, regardless of whether the insurance company pays the claim or suffers financial loss.

CASE: Steven Thompson & Michelle Marks

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Alan Hengel, Insurance Fraud Unit

District Attorney Anne Marie Schubert announced that on July 13, 2015, 28-year-old Steven Thompson pled no contest to felony insurance fraud and was sentenced to 364 days in the county jail and placed on five years formal probation. On July 29, 2015, 27-year-old Michelle Marks pled no contest to misdemeanor insurance fraud and was sentenced to 180 days in the county jail and placed on three years formal probation. Both defendants were sentenced by the Honorable Ben Davidian.

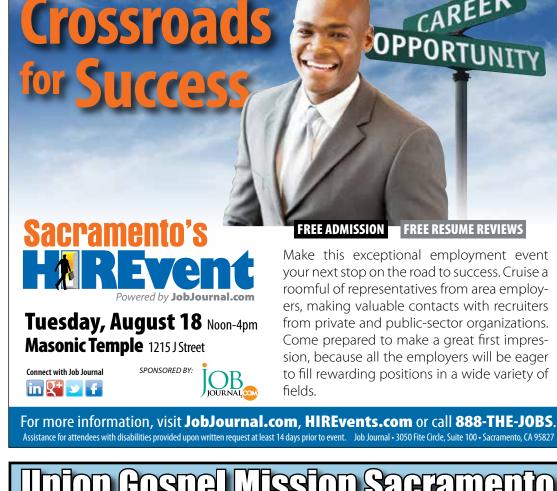

On March 4, 2014, a driver was traveling at a low speed and accidentally rear-ended a vehicle driven by Thompson. At the time of the collision, Thompson was the sole occupant in his vehicle. Two days later, Thompson and Marks filed a bodily injury claim with the other driver's insurance company, Progressive Insurance. Their claim asserted Marks was in Thompson's vehicle at the time of the collision and she was injured. Progressive Insurance denied Thompson's and Marks' bodily insurance claim after concluding Marks was not in Thompson's vehicle at the time of the collision.

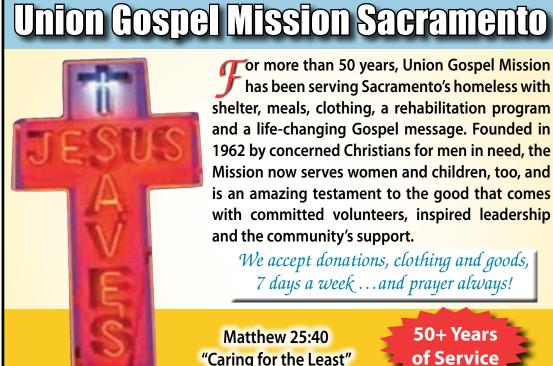

An investigation by the California Department of Insurance's Urban Auto Task Force concluded Marks' and Thompson's insurance claim was fraudulent.

This case is a good example of a "stuffed passenger" insurance scam, in which people falsely claim to have been injured in a car accident when they were not in the car at the time of the accident, hoping to cash in on an insurance payout.

Williams Retires as Section's What Parents and Athletes Need To Know First-Ever Assistant Commissioner

By Mike Bush

LODI, CA (MPG) - For the last 14 years, John Williams served as the Sac-Joaquin Section assistant commissioner—a position he actively sought in 1999.

"I was in the newspaper business and I wanted out," said Williams, who worked as a sports writer, sports editor, managing editor, and production manager for different newspapers for a combined 24 years.

On June 30th, 2015, Williams retired as the section's first-ever assistant commissioner. Ryan Tos was named as Williams' replacement toward the end of spring. Williams said he'll continue to be active with the section in minor capacity roles.

Williams approached Pete Saco, who served as the section's commissioner from 1993 until last summer when he retired, about working as an assistant since the section didn't have one at the start of the 21st century.

"I told him, 'Seems to me you need an assistant, and if you need an assistant I'm interested," recalled Williams about led from 18 leagues to 26. his conversation with Saco.

Williams served as the Sierra Valley Conference (SVC) commissioner. During that time and now, Cordova High School was and is a current member of the SVC. In addition to working as production manager for Herburger Publications, Willimas was an assistant coach for the Galt High School girls basketball team. He also taught the high school's journalism

"He came from a media background, but had taught a little at Galt and completely understood the importance of high school sports," said Saco of Williams. "When John was hired, the Internet was relatively new and he was able to help provide direction for our section and he was able to communicate with the media in a more timely manner than I was able to do because my job was becoming bigger. He had a basic understanding of our goals and objectives."

Over the last 14 years, the section has grown from 130 high schools to 197. That has extensive. From 1996 to 2001, 3 seed from another league to the No. 1 seed hosting a No. 8 or No. 16 seed in Division I to D-VII. There are state championship games in football, girls and boys volleyball and swimming, to name a few.

> During his years as the assistant commissioner, Williams has also seen his fair share of Cordova athletic teams make deep runs in the section's playoffs, from the Lancers' football teams to boys basketball to former Cordova coach Guy Anderson's baseball squads.

> High school athletics is a part of Williams' life. His son, Josh, is the Liberty Ranch boys basketball coach. Liberty Rancho, Cordova, Rosemont, El Dorado, Union Mine, and Galt are part of the SVC.

> Although he'll stay busy with watching the growth of his four grandchildren, Williams admitted he'll miss the section's staff and their daily interaction. "I'll miss day-to-day operations, who belongs where in playoff brackets," Williams said. "I've been lucky to get this job. I don't have big plans, any big trips. But it's time for someone else to do this job. I'm looking forward to some me time, which I haven't had in a long time." ★

About Carbohydrates in the Form of Sugar

An athlete needs fuel to perform, and carbohydrates, including sugars, have been found to be functional for athletes who are engaged in activity for at least an hour who have a performance goal. Photo courtesy of Brandpoint

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (BPT)

- An athlete's overall nutrition needs vary depending on several factors, including the type of sport and duration of time in motion. Specifically during activity, an athlete needs fuel to perform, and carbohydrates, including sugars, have been found to be functional for athletes who are engaged in activity for at least an hour who have a performance goal. "The increased activity level of an athlete in the moment of training or competition calls for additional fuel, in essence, a readily available source of energy," says Scott Sehnert, Auburn University sport dietitian and education chair of the Collegiate and Professional Sports Dietitians Association. "As registered dietitians, it's our job to ensure athletes understand the importance of fueling their bodies to help them perform at their best, and science supports appropriate consumption of carbohydrates, including those in the form of sugar, to help improve intermittent exercise capacity for athletes training or competing for more than 60 minutes."

All sugars are not the same and athletes mostly need forms that can be quickly converted to energy (digested and absorbed) to help them perform at their best. A variety of well-respected organizations, including the National Athletic Trainers' Association, the American College of Sports Medicine, and the International Olympic Committee Guidelines recommend team sport athletes consume 30 to 60 grams of rapidly digested and absorbed carbohydrates per hour when training or competing for greater than 60 minutes. Research verifies these recommendations and emphasizes the need for easily digestible sugar-such as glucose and sucrose.

"In addition to consuming the right type and amount of fuel, sucrose or glucose, athletes need to consider how much their bodies can handle," adds Sehnert. "The science supports solutions containing no more than 14 grams of rapidly absorbed carbohydrates per eight ounces of fluid to help athletes meet fuel recommendations while promoting fluid absorption and minimizing gastrointestinal distress. Sports drinks, such as Gatorade Thirst Quencher, follow these recommendations."

An Annoying List of Sports Bugaboos

Everybody just loves a good sports list. Actually, that's not true. Sometimes lists can be so totally annoying.

top tens of this, that, or the other, their "greatest of all time," their whys or why-nots. It's all in good fun for the sake of debate and argument, to "compare and contrast." But it is always impossible to cover all of the angles on any list. Something always gets overlooked, omitted, misplaced, undervalued or overrated.

Everyone who reviews any list has an individual frame of reference based on personal experiences, and thereby will have objections and differences of opinion that render the list inherently incomplete in their eyes and resulting in dissatisfaction and...annoyance... Can't you just hear it?

"What the hell is that guy thinking?" "No way, that team is not that good!" "How in the world can they put that guy ahead of this guy?" "He thinks that; well what about this?" "So-and-so will never be half the player so-and-so was!"

But, one thing that everybody can agree on is...there are always plenty of annoying things going on in the wonderful world of sports and any list of those to be compiled would be openended, and could continue to infinity and beyond!! So, without putting too much thought into it, we got things started with whatever random entries came to mind in a very disorganized, sort-of listing of things that are bugging us...

Deflategate. Enough already about those slightly-underinflated footballs that were used by New England quarterback Tom Brady in the AFC Championship Game to defeat the Colts...oh, yeah!...45-7!! Those footballs made all the difference. The air has been getting kind of stinky around the Patriots; Brady thought it was a "Spare-the-Air Day." Some guy got his hands on one of those balls and cashed it in for almost $44,000. He's going to buy a Prius. Every person Sports people love to list their in the Patriots' organization "picks," predictions, rankings, should have to do public service, handing out fully-inflated free footballs to all the underprivileged kids in the state of Massachusetts --- so long as they can hold on to them without fumbling.

Pat's owner Robert Kraft, who was disappointed that Brady's four-game suspension was upheld and said (roughly paraphrased), "It's routine in the NFL for discipline to be reduced." That's great policy. All the players know ahead of time that if they really screw up their punishment will be minimal (if they are good enough players).

Football players gone astray; it happens everyday. The latest, the Jets' Sheldon Richardson mess --- already with a fourgame suspension for substance abuse, getting charged with resisting arrest, driving 143 mph in his Bentley with others in the car, including a 12-yearold, reeking of pot and with a loaded handgun aboard and keeping it secret for two weeks. Reportedly, the Jets' GM said, "There is a degree of trust that has been broken, but we are supportive of him..." Oh, really? Not kicked off the team? He must be pretty good.

Stories about the sod at Levi's Stadium (just get it right, damn it). Mount Davis. Any talk about the Jets. TV shots of the owners in their luxury boxes. Jerry Jones' face. Stadium deals, holding communities and taxpayers hostage via threats of "moving to L. A." (Thanks to HBO's Last Week Tonight with John Oliver).

College football dramas in the South. Florida State Seminoles and The Tomahawk Chop chant, also stolen by the lame fans of the Atlanta Braves. The SEC. Example (from SB Nation): "Star Ole Miss tackle Laremy Tunsil and his stepfather have agreed to drop assault charges against each other." So glad those two are working things out.

The term "underrated" when it is used instead of saying, "He's not as good as we thought he would be when we drafted him." Ticket prices to everything. The overly-obnoxious food fare sold at parks just to attract attention from the media and send customers to the hospital. Continued coverage of "competitive eating" as sports stories (that might make you throw up). New uniforms for every reason imaginable, when the real reason is mo' money, mo' money. Biggame hunting (you almost wish that lion would have sunk his teeth into that dentist).

Dressed-to-the-18s golfers complaining about the course, or conditions, or taxes (just shut up and play). Tiger Woods (No. 262). The "great athletes" in those barbaric, so-called sports (they know which ones they are). Poor Ronda Rousey can't get a date and she wonders why. Now that he's gone, Jim Harbaugh. Needing no explanation: Urban Meyer, Jim Boehiem, John Thompson, Jr. (the dad), A. J. Pierzynski, A-Rod, Joe Buck (add your own).

Bean ball wars, benches-clearing shoving matches, bat flips, gum throwing, tobacco chewing, floating strike zones, too-lengthy further reviews and the unwritten rules of baseball. Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose, sometimes it rains or the sprinklers come on (that sounds familiar). Talking about mega-contracts during the All Star Game (a really bad look, 'er, sound).

Shoe deals in the NBA. LaMarcus Aldridge is building a house for his shoe collection. Adidas is trying to lure Houston's James (Fear the Beard) Harden away from Nike with a $200-million proposal. Hey, James, how about you and all your buddies taking all that money and those shoes and shoeing all the shoeless Joes out there who could really use them? That would be "a really big shew!"

Griffey Jr. leads 2016 call to the Hall of Fame

Piazza, Bagwell, Raines among other Cooperstown hopefuls

raig Biggio, Randy Johnson, Pedro Martinez and John Smoltz were inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame last week in what comprised the largest group elected by the Baseball Writers' Association of America since 1955.

Looking ahead to 2016, there are plenty of worthy candidates — from a statistical perspective, at least. However, due to the restriction of only 10 names per ballot and divisive opinions on perceived, alleged and actual PED use, few of them will reach the needed 75 percent vote necessary to become enshrined.

Even with four players off the ballot, there are several interesting firsttime candidates who will go on the ballot, including one sure-fire firstballot Hall of Famer.

Here's a breakdown of what our ballot would be and what the players' chances of being elected to the Hall of Fame next year are:

Ken Griffey Jr.: First Year

Surely a first-ballot lock, Griffey is one of eight players to hit 600 home runs (630), ranking sixth all-time. The Kid was the 1997 AL MVP, a 13-time All-Star (starting nine times), and a 10-time Gold Glove winner. He won't be unanimous because no one is, but he's as close to a lock as they come

Chances: Lock

Mike Piazza: Fourth Year, 69.9% last year

Widely considered the best offensive catcher in baseball history, Piazza hit 427 career home runs while hitting .308 with a .377 on-base percentage. He was an All-Star every season from 1993 to 2005 except in 2003, starting in 10 of the Midsummer Classics. He keeps inching up about five percentage points each year.

Chances: Very good

Jeff Bagwell: Sixth year, 55.7% last year

He's been consistently receiving 50 to 60 percent of the votes, a number that would be much higher if not for his suspected steroid use — despite there being no evidence. Bagwell hit a ton of home runs — 449 for his career and 205 during his five-year peak — and is widely considered a better player than Biggio, who is already enshrined.

Chances: Possible

Tim Raines: Ninth year, 55.0% last year

Raines is on the outside looking in with two years of eligibility left with the writers. He's fifth all-time in stolen bases (808), and everyone above him is in the Hall. Raines played in the majors from age 19 to 42 and has a career .294 batting average and .385 on-base percentage, leading the National League in both categories in 1986.

Chances: Possible

Barry Bonds: Fourth year, 36.8% last year

Bonds likely won't make the Hall of Fame because too many voters won't look past his alleged PED use, but he's among the greatest hitters in baseball history. Not only does he have the all-time and single-season home run records, but he also is the all-time walks leader by 368 and has a career .444 on-base percentage, including a .609 OBP at age 39.

Chances: Not happening

Roger Clemens: Fourth year, 37.5% last year

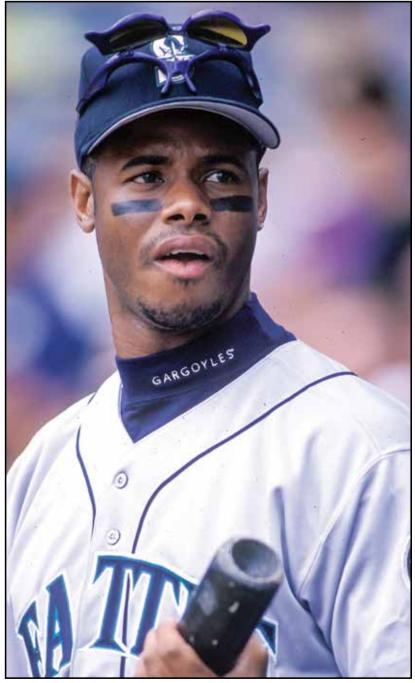

Clemens is in the same boat as Bonds as far as alleged PED use, and he was nearly as dominant on the mound as Bonds was at the plate. He is third all-time in strikeouts (4,672, leading the league five times), led the league in ERA seven times and has the most Cy Young Awards in baseball history (seven).

Curt Schilling: Fourth year, 39.2% last year

Schilling won World Series titles with the Diamondbacks in 2001 and the Red Sox in 2004 and 2007, winning co-MVP honors with Arizona. His 11–2 record and 2.23 ERA in 19 postseason starts really stand out, but he was a workhorse during the regular season, too, recording 300-plus strikeouts three times and throwing more than 250 innings four times.

Chances: Unlikely

Regarded as one of the top players of his generation, Ken Griffey Jr. hit .284 with 630 home runs (sixth all-time) during his 22-year career that included two stops with the Mariners sandwiched around stints with the Reds and White Sox.

Trevor Hoffman: First year

Famous for a devastating changeup, Hoffman is one of the best relievers in baseball history. He was the first pitcher to accumulate both 500 and 600 saves, and he was the all-time leader in the category from 2006 to 2011 before Mariano Rivera passed him. He finished with a career 2.87 ERA and 1,133 strikeouts in 1,089.1 innings.

Chances: Unlikely this year

Mark McGwire: 10th year, 10.0% last year

McGwire is 10th all-time with 583 career home runs and broke Roger Maris' single-season home run record in 1998 with 70, a mark Bonds would surpass three years later. Although his power numbers are prodigious, he almost certainly won't become enshrined in his final year of eligibility because of admitted steroid use.

Sammy Sosa: Fourth year, 6.6% last year

Sosa had seasons of 66, 63 and 64 home runs but never led the league in any of those seasons. He finished his career as one of eight players to hit 600 home runs. His connection to PEDs will likely keep him out of the Hall, though, and could drop him off the ballot if he doesn't garner five percent of the votes.

Chances: Not happening

20. Tigers Picked up quality young pitching with Price and Cespedes trades. 21. Indians Corey Kluber has six quality starts in his last seven starts.

22. Red Sox Gave up 6.6 runs per game over the past week.

23. Athletics All-Star Stephen Vogt hit just .163/.193/.225 during July.

Jesus Montero has been tearing it up since reaching the majors again.

Went 4-3 against NL Central powerhouses St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

Fading from relevancy after losing six games in a row. Troy Tulowitzki trade could signal Carlos Gonzalez trade this winter.

In classic fashion, shed a lot of salary at the trade deadline.

Losers of eight of nine to Diamondbacks, Giants, and Cubs. Farm system rejuvenated after trading Cole Hamels.

AROUND THE HORN

After being named in trade rumors for well over a year, Cole Hamels was finally traded to the Rangers with reliever Jake Diekman for top prospects Jorge Alfaro, Nick Williams and Jake Thompson, along with Matt Harrison, Alec Asher and Jerad Eickhoff. At the time the trade was agreed to in principle, the Rangers were five games out of the second wild card spot, but after the weekend, they closed the gap to three games. ...

Oakland's Sonny Gray threw his second shutout of July, the fourth of his career, against the Dodgers last Tuesday. The 25-year-old allowed only three hits and one walk, striking out nine batters. He followed that start by allowing only one earned run in 7.0 innings in a no-decision against Cleveland on Sunday to lower his ERA to 2.12 for the season. ...

Angels starter C.J. Wilson will likely miss the rest of the season with news that an MRI revealed left elbow impingement, taking away depth from an already thin rotation. ...

Yoenis Cespedes joined his fourth team in 366 days Friday when he was traded for the third time during that span. After being dealt to the Red Sox for Jon Lester last July, Cespedes was traded to the Tigers during the offseason for Rick Porcello. Then, last week, he was traded to the Mets for pitching prospects Michael Fulmer and Luis Cessa. Given that he's set to become a free agent at the end of the season, there's a good chance Cespedes will join his fifth team in less than a year-and-a-half. ...

Despite being four games under .500 and 7.5 games out of a wild card spot at the time, the Padres decided to make only one trade — Abraham Almonte for Marc Rzepczynski. They were sitting on all sorts of trade chips, including free-agent-tobe Justin Upton as well as pitchers Craig Kimbrel, James Shields and Tyson Ross. ...

The Blue Jays added the biggest names at the trade deadline, acquiring Troy Tulowitzki from the Rockies and David Price from the Tigers. That duo has been to a total of 10 All-Star Games already, despite only being 30 and 29 years old, respectively. Price paid immediate dividends, allowing only three hits in eight innings of the Blue Jays' win over Minnesota on Monday.

NUMBERS GAME

12 of Mike Trout's 29 hits (41.4 percent) during the month of July were home runs, including 12 of his 14 extra-base hits. For the month, he had an .861 slugging percentage, raising his slugging percentage on the season from .582 to .642.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK

Aug. 7, 1999

Wade Boggs collects his 3,000th hit with a home run off the Indians' Chris Haney. He is the first player to join the 3,000-hit club with a home run. The day before, Tony Gwynn recorded his 3,000th hit – a single off the Expos' Dan Smith.

TRIVIA CORNER

The Toronto Blue Jays recently traded for Troy Tulowitzki, but they had a chance to draft him in 2005 with the sixth overall pick. Tulowitzki ended up going off the board with the next pick when the Blue Jays passed on him for which player?
