Local Jobs Demand Stalling

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- The second quarter jobs market may have reached a plateau among some sectors of the Sacramento economy.

Like a failing tire, a portion of Sacramento's top employers surveyed say the business climate is "flat." In anecdotal comments, several firms representing all sectors expected business to "slow" and some polled also noted "work moving to China" from our market. However, while hiring may be slow at some firms and employers are showing caution, Pacific Staffing discovered that 67% of regional companies polled say they are motivated to hire in April, May, and June.

Another secondary note of caution comes in the type of hiring Sacramento's top companies will be doing in the second quarter. While growth hiring outstripped replacements in recent quarterly polls, HR contacts pushed hiring for replacements within current workforces ahead of growth hiring for the first time in 2015. In contacts with regional companies between February 17th and March 17th, 48% are motivated to hire for attrition or replacements within current workforces. Hiring for expansion of workforces dropped behind to 46% of demand in the next three months.

Third, while many companies are hiring in the next three months, 6% plan to reduce workforce through layoffs in the second quarter, and one company closed after being sold. Several other firms have moved hiring functions out of the area, in some cases to China.

The majority of Sacramento regional employers are focused on customers, as customer service/sales is in highest demand for the next three months. Other firms note strong demand for general office, accounting, manufacturing, shipping, and warehouse experience. Some companies report problems in hiring specific skill sets, including delivery drivers, IT/ Engineering, RNs, lab techs, and skilled construction trades such as carpentry. For more information, employment blogs, and market surveys, go to www.pacificstaffing.com.

Companies polled for the second quarter report that finding qualified applicants in the market is becoming a problem and retention of current employees is a growing concern. They also say new laws in sick leave and ongoing controversy over the ACA rules and benefits are continuing headaches.

Rancho Cordova Police Use New Video Surveillance Tools

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) -The Rancho Cordova Police Department is committed to protecting its citizens and keeping our beautiful city safe. As part of the new effort "Crime Stops Here," video surveillance cameras are being used in two areas of the city to enhance this goal. The areas selected are the West La Loma/Bravado/La Loma neighborhood of Cordova Meadows and the Folsom/Olson/

Zinfandel business district. The cameras are marked with a blue light signifying that it's a public safety surveillance camera. This tool allows officers on the street or at the police station to have access to live camera views for locating criminal or suspicious activity. Some areas are equipped with license plate reading capabilities to help officers locate wanted persons.

With this effort, officers are trained before being granted access to the system. They only have the ability to view areas open to the public.

These new cameras are funded by Measure H tax dollars after citizens identified enhancements in public safety as a priority. As always, please call the Rancho Cordova Police Department to report any suspicious activity using 9-1-1 for emergencies or (916) 362-5115 for non-emergencies.

As part of the fraternity's annual Public Schools Month Kickoff Celebration, a donation to support teachers and students within Sacramento area public schools was presented. At the celebratory event, principals Angi Carlomango of Williamson Elementary and Sandy Spaulding of White Rock Elementary warmly welcomed students and guests.

During the fast-paced presentation, Ms. Corina Pimental and Ms. Abbie Arnold spoke of the Masons' statewide initiative in partnership with Raising a Reader and how this program has impacted and benefited their children. Area education leaders spoke of the importance of teaching and modeling reading for student success at an early age. Grand Master Russell Charvonia explained how big problems can be solved when volunteers, parents, and teachers work together. This idea is the crux of Public Schools month.

This year, California members and lodges are raising money to help make elementary school children throughout California fire safe. The money will provide age-appropriate lessons on fire safety to vulnerable elementary school students. California firefighters will bring life-saving burn-prevention techniques to more than 70,000 students in California public schools with the Firefighter in Safety Education

Another impact Masons are Mayor McGarvey read the making is supporting a special kind of scholarship geared toward high school seniors who have succeeded in school despite immense challenges in their lives. Known as Investment in Success (in partnership with the GLOW Foundation in San Francisco), these funds support under-resourced seniors from area schools who might not otherwise be considering college, awarding a minimum of $7,000 to five Sacramento-area high school seniors. This year, the Masons are delighted to award Investment in Success to 90 new students throughout California.

After reading the Public Schools Proclamation for 2015, Grand Master Charvonia presented a check of $45,000 to district leaders as the Masons investment in local public school students, investing $10,000 in the Firefighters in Safety Education and $35,000 for five awardees for the Investment in Success scholarships.

FAIR OAKS CEMETERY MEMORIAL DAY AND AVENUE OF FLAGS CEREMONY

The Fair Oaks Cemetery District and the Memorial Day Ceremony Committee are finalizing plans for one of the most popular and inspiring Memorial Day ceremonies in the area.

The Seventeenth Annual Memorial Day and Avenue of Flags Ceremony will be held Saturday, May 23, at the Fair Oaks Cemetery, located at 7780 Olive Street, Fair Oaks. The formal ceremonies start at 10 AM. This year's theme is to honor the "150th Anniversary of the Civil War's End", and with special emphasis on our Civil War Veterans.

One Union Soldier of the Civil War is buried in the Fair Oaks Cemetery. He has gone unrecognized for years. Having no immediate family at the time of his death, a headstone was not placed to identify his final resting place.

Chairman of the Fair Oaks Cemetery District Memorial Day Committee, Tom Askins will be the Master of Ceremonies. The main speaker(s) will focus on the Civil War and the processes of restoring national unity.

The Fair Oaks Cemetery will be decorated with hundreds of flags lining its roadways as "The Avenue of Flags." We will also be adding more names to the Veterans Memorial Wall.

The laying of the wreath at the memorial in honor of over seventeen hundred veterans who are buried in the cemetery, will be done by VFW Post 6158 and American Legion Post 383.

The Fair Oaks Cemetery's Memorial Day Ceremony is a fine example of how we, the community, remembers loved ones and says thank you to our veterans and their families for their sacrifices.

The musical program will consist of Pipers, a Drummer and Recorded Music by a local Disc Jockey. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the ceremony by the Orangevale/Fair Oaks Grange & Fair Oaks Historical Society.

Chris Feist, one of the featured artists at the art exhibit at City Hall, sits in his studio next to another of his paintings, titled "Old Man and the Sea." Feist would like to see more venues to showcase peoples' artwork in the community.

Story and photos by Margaret Snider

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - "Wheels" is the theme for the art exhibit sponsored by the Cordova Community Council and now hanging at City Hall. The show can be viewed through July 17th, 2015, and features 27 artists, each of whom has a unique perspective on the subject of wheels.

Photographer Boyd Jensen and painter Chris Feist are examples of the diversity of the artists represented in the juried show.

Boyd Jensen, 79, has been a professional photographer all his life, starting with 12 years at Aerojet General Corporation, where he photographed high speed movies of rocket tests. After Aerojet, Jensen worked for 18 years at Channel 13, KOVR, and had the opportunity to photograph many famous people. Later on, he and an associate took their portfolios to the Sacramento Kings and were hired on the spot to do the Kings' advertising, which they did for five years. Jensen also taught photography at Sacramento City College, California State University at Sacramento, and Cosumnes River College. While he worked, he earned a bachelor's degree in anthropology and a master's degree in art history and theory. "What's beautiful," he said, "is that I've always been

Two of Jensen's photos are included in the exhibit at City Hall, one of a truck at a service station in Bodie State Park, CA, and the other of a car that is actually missing its wheels, at Great Basin National Park in Nevada.

After Jensen's wife died in 2009, he was left feeling worn out and depressed. In order to combat this, he had what he calls a "Eureka idea," and made the decision to visit a National Park every month. Though he has missed a few months, he now has only three of the 59 National Parks left to see and has many remarkable photos of wildlife and scenery from his visits.

"It really kind of saved my life, just getting out in that beautiful nature," Jensen said. "It's just a tremendous thing to be out there with the flora and the fauna."

Chris Feist, 35, has an associate of science degree in computer animation, and in his day job he works as a 3D sculptor, making such things as letters for 3D signs and full 3D props of animals. After sketching or sculpting out an object, he creates it in 3D on the computer from which a special machine builds the final product. "The machine is like a big Etch-a-Sketch that has an x and a y and a z coordinate within it, and it will cut in real space whatever I want it to make. It's a pretty cool job."

That is the only sculpting that Feist does, though. "When it comes to painting and making pictures, I'm more just about inks, pencil, marker, acrylic and oil paints," he said.

Feist had been working on a series of paintings representing different milestones in his life, one of which fell right into the theme of wheels. "When I was thinking of the idea of a wheel, I wasn't just thinking in terms of wheels on cars or vehicles, but of time itself," Feist said.

Feist has spent 10 to 15 years developing his artistic voice. "Now that I'm in that position where I'm broadening my vocabulary creatively speaking, I feel like I have a lot to express and show."

There is a lot of talent in Rancho Cordova, and what they do at City Hall is wonderful, Feist said. There is a lot of creative energy in this area. "It would be wonderful to see a lot of younger artists' work, and I would love to be a part of just watching and cultivating the arts community in Rancho Cordova."

Photographer Boyd Jensen of Rancho Cordova holds his photograph titled "Daybreak on the Smith Farm," which he captured in Manchester, NY. Jensen has two other photographs hanging at the art exhibit at

New Water Pipeline Plans in the Works

By Julia Baum

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Rancho Cordova residents will soon receive additional water from a new water main recently approved by the Carmichael Water District (CWD). The water main will run under the American River and pass through the Rossmoor Bar recreation area and down Rossmoor Drive to Coloma Road.

CWD General Manager Steve Nugent and representatives from the Golden State Water Company (GSWC) and engineering firm Kennedy-Jenks outlined the project for residents at an April 22nd public meeting at the Rancho Cordova City Hall.

"This is a replacement water supply for the contaminated water supply," Nugent said, referring to contaminated groundwater wells owned by Aerojet Rocketdyne. Water from Aerojet's wells will be pumped out and then go through a series of transfers and treatments at several plants, according to

"They pump the water out of the ground and treat it through the drinking water standard," Nugent said. "Then they dispose of that water by putting it into the American River; once it goes into the American River, it goes downstream, we pick up and then we retreat and we send it back over to Rancho Cordova for the Golden State Water Company."

Aerojet officials could not be reached for comment about how much water is expected to be treated; however, a program engineer for GSWC said that the new pipeline is expected to deliver approximately 4 to 4.5 million gallons per day.

Residents who attended the meeting were excited to have a new water source but voiced concerns about construction in their neighborhood. Becky Gabourie runs a hair salon from her home on Rossmoor Drive and is worried that her clients will be put off by the activity.

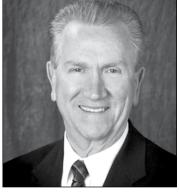

"I'm scared, to tell you the truth," Gabourie said, calling the parking situation by her house already sticky. "Is water going to be shut off at my house? My clients are not going to be as thrilled about coming around.'

Gabourie had bad experiences when her street was redone several years ago and said she wants assurance that project leaders will be available for residents to share any concerns or complaints.

GSWC Water Distribution Superintendent Sean Twilla said that he and other project team members will do everything in their power to keep the community updated on all developments.

'We'll also be reaching out with the city and public works department so that they can also answer questions," Twilla said in a phone interview with the Rancho Cordova Grapevine Independent. "We have a customer service office in Rancho Cordova ...and I'm always available for our customers."

Construction is expected to begin sometime in June, once CWD has reviewed and selected a construction bid for the project.

Bob McGarvey

I received a dreamcatcher in the mail a while back and thought it was long gone. But I found it again as I was trying to get rid of old mail, and now I find it at my desk again. The legend of the dreamcatcher comes from Native Americans of the Great Plains who believe the air is filled with both good and bad dreams. According to legend, the good dreams pass through the center hole to the sleeping person. The bad dreams are trapped in the web, where they parish in the light of the dawn. Historically, dreamcatchers were hung in the tipi or lodge and on a baby's cradle board. Good dreams are all we wish for when we see our children sleeping.

There was a movie called

From the Mayor's Corner The Legend of the Dreamcatcher

Legend, and in that movie there was a creature that looked very much like the devil, who would use our dreams that didn't come true. "The dreams of youth are the regrets of maturity." There are some dreams we don't want to come true anyway, and the ones we hope for do sometimes become a reality. I wouldn't mind if I had a dreamcatcher that could catch a good one or two. In reality, I have had more good "dreams" come true than I ever thought possible. And I am grateful for them all. Now if the dreamcatcher I found will send the good ones to our children and grandchildren, and trap the bad dreams in the web where they parish in the light of dawn, I'll hold on to it for a while. Maybe like in the song, "A dream is a wish your heart makes," it would be one you are wishing for. Whatever dreams are, and I'm not trying to "analyze" or anything like that, they are a part of all cultures. And wishes, desires, and hopes seem to fit like many of the suggestions we received at our Town

Hall meetings about Measure H.

Working to get things (a wish or dream) done can be difficult for two main reasons: there isn't enough money, or people procrastinate. Lack of money will usually stop you for a while, and sometimes there are too many people who procrastinate. For example, I read a quote that provided the "Top 10 reasons I procrastinate; 1." (Author Unknown). That was as far as the Top 10 reasons went and was as far as the author went, apparently. The City Council and the staff of the City of Rancho Cordova will provide the first list of items that will be done with Measure H money at the first City Council Meeting in June. Then we will go on to the next list, and then the next, etc.

We are all thankful for the input that was provided by those who came to the Town Hall meetings, and also to those who provided more suggestions online. Some dreams and wishes can be reached and they will be.

From Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time.

Summer Safety and Self-Defense Clinic for Families Taekwondo with Sacramento

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- To keep kids safe over the summer months, it is important to share safety awareness and self-defense strategies to avoid conflicts including bullying. This one hour free safety clinic brings parents and children together to learn and practice being safe, including easy escapes from grabs and anti-bully roleplaying that families can share.

With many parents working and the kids out of school, kids are often more vulnerable to bullying, playground assault, or to be potential victims of predators. Safety in our community comes from raising awareness and giving children and families the tools they need to cope. This year, Robinson's Taekwondo, the first family name in martial arts, is celebrating 40 years of sharing communities.

The free safety clinic takes place on Saturday, May 16th at 1 p.m. Registration is required and space limited. Register online at http://www.robinsonstkd.com/ tickets to reserve your place and to find a participating location in the Sacramento region. Call (888)

Are You Carrying Bricks In Your Backpack?

Procrastination! Ugh! What a word that is. But, we're all guilty of it - whether it's putting off laundry or doing your taxes - it's usually related to some task or chore we just don't want to do.

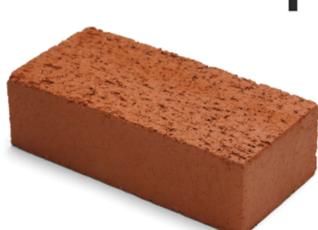

HR | Payroll | Benefits

The same is true about making final arrangements. Who wants to think about, or talk about, death. And with so many more fun things to spend our money on, who wants to pay for it?

Well, just like taxes, death is something unavoidable, and when it's done - what a relief that is. You can then unload that brick from your backpack and have some peace of mind. If you still need motivation, consider these points:

- You get to arrange what you think is best and not expect family members to know your wishes
- You can know that once your pre-arrangements are made, your wishes will be carried out
- You get to relieve your family from that burden of planning your funeral when they are grieving
- You can minimize disputes between your well-meaning relatives
- You can set up affordable monthly payments so the financial burden
- does not fall to your surviving family members You will show your love in a way your family will never forget

We hope these tips are useful. Call us today for an appointment and let us help you unload some bricks from your backpack!

A Successful Transition

Story and photos by Sal Arrigo Jr.

I recently met two military veterans who have made a successful transition into civilian life. These two individuals—Bryan Pinelli, a Navy veteran, and Manuel Guerra Jr., an Army veteran not only have represented their country through military service but also have benefitted from the Veterans' Success Center (VSC) at California State University, Sacramento (CSUS). According to the VSC website, the Center assists students in accessing their GI benefits, completing the admission application process, and registering for courses. The Center also helps students access campus resources, get involved in leadership activities, and transition into the civilian work world. The VSC can be an important transition from one life to the next—military to civilian life. The VSC is under the direction of Dr. Jeffrey Weston, who works with a very capable staff that assists all veterans in their transition. Monica Daniel, the Veterans Career Pathways coordinator, told me, "The average age of our veterans (at the VSC) is 31 years old and we work as a team, both staff and veterans, to help the veterans adapt to a cultural change." The VSC does this by preserving the camaraderie among the veterans that is so much a part of their military life while providing them the tools to be successful on their own.

One of the ways that helped both Pinelli and Guerra with their individual transitions was enrolling in a writing-intensive class through the Recreation, Parks, Tourism, and Administration

Navy veteran Bryan Pinelli, Student Veterans Organization Campus

(RPTA) Department. Developed by Dr. Beth Erickson, RPTA Associate Professor, this is just one of many intensive writing classes across the campus, but the RPTA version is unique for veterans, especially those who may deal with Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD).

According to the National Institute on Mental Health (www. nih.gov), PTSD develops after a terrifying ordeal that involved physical harm or the threat of physical harm. The person who develops PTSD may have been the one who was harmed, the harm may have happened to a loved one, or the person may have witnessed a harmful event that happened to loved ones or strangers. PTSD was first brought to public attention in relation to war veterans, but it can result from a variety of traumatic incidents such as being in a car accident or dealing with potentially lifethreatening health issues.

So how does this writing-intensive class help these veterans? As they write down their emotions, their experiences, they learn there are creative ways to express themselves through writing and they begin to see how leisure is a vital link to overall good health. As Guerra said to me, "Veterans can become mentors for other veterans." He elaborated by saying, "As you get to know other veterans through your class work and writing projects, you get to know them on an individual basis as well. The writing class was our link in connecting."

In addition to being a student, Pinelli is also the president of the Student Veterans Organization on campus. "The Veterans Success Center helps a veteran with everything from resume writing to interview preparedness to helping veterans gain employment," said Pinelli.

Daniel elaborated, saying, "We work to help the vets meet their individual goals. My job is to be the community outreach coordinator and to organize meaningful campus-wide events as well." Veterans are "fast tracked" through the system; once they take and pass the Writing Placement for Juniors exam. which all students must take, they can immediately enroll in the writing-intensive class.

Presently, the VSC serves approximately 80 veterans, and they also work with veterans looking to make the jump from community college to a fouryear institution. When asked how the VSC measures its own success, Daniel said, "We go from case to case and keep the veterans on track to meet their goals. I even hear back from veterans letting me know how important the work of the Veterans Success Center has been to their lives."

The Veterans Success Center is located on the CSUS campus in Lassen Hall, Room 3003. You can contact the Center by calling (916) 278-6733; you can obtain more information by visiting their website at www.csus.edu/vets. ★

Lady Lancers Prepare for Playoffs

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Playing a tune-up game before opening the Sac-Joaquin Section playoffs next week, the Cordova High School softball team lost a tough 2-1 contest to Bear River in extra innings of a non-conference game.

In the April 30th road game at Lake of the Pines, Cordova (19-4), which took second place in the Sierra Valley Conference (SVC), was led by another strong pitching performance by Megan Stacy. The Lancer, who threw a perfect game against Galt en route to a 13-0 win, struck out 10 Bear River batters. For the season, Stacy is 17-3 on the hill with an ERA of 0.53 and 193 strikeouts.

The Cordova-Bear River game was tied 1-1 after seven innings.

Bear River scored the winning run in the bottom of the 10th frame. "Both teams played good defense," said Cordova head coach Lindy Willeford.

The Lady Lancers had only two hits in the game: Stacy had an RBI double, and Leila Cooper had the other hit.

On Thursday, May 7th, the section was scheduled to release the play-off brackets for all seven divisions. Based on enrollment, Cordova, although playing in a Division IV conference, could wind up in D-III; its student body enrollment (per the section's website) is 1,694.

Great Run Ends for Cordova Girls Soccer

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG)
- On Tuesday, May 5th, the Cordova High School girls soccer team hosted a Sac-Joaquin

Section Division III playoff game against Ponderosa.

However, the Lady Lancer booters, who finished in second place in the Sierra Valley Conference (SVC) with a 6-3-1 record and 14-4-1 overall, saw their great season come to an end with a 7-1 loss to the Bruins. Cordova scored its only goal of the game in the first

Members of this year's team, coached by Ron Arellano, are Claire Nuttall, Emily Yearwood, Lexi Samayoa, Charlotte Perez, Hannah Morris, Kelsie Graf, Carla Donos, Ashley Land, McKenzie Emery, Stephanie Garcia, Adrienne Hammond, Hunter Robert, Svetlana Verstivskaya, Maria Vigil, Alyssa Moreno, Kara Magness, Priscilla Juarez, Amy Victorovich, Daria Scerbani, and Yelena Melnik. ★

So, what do you want to talk about? The bout? There's really not much to talk about. Besides, you've come to the wrong place. For all we care, what happened in Vegas can stay in Vegas.

To all of you suckers who coughed up a hard-earned hundred bucks for the privilege of watching the Floyd Mayweather-Manny Pacquiao welterweight fight Saturday night --- touted as "The Fight of the Century" --- congratulations, you just dropped a "Benjamin," not counting whatever wagers you might have made on the side, on what is now known as "The Dullest Fight of the Century." Good thing for fans of boxing that the century is just a few years in.

For fans of sports in general, it must have felt as though they were taking a pounding themselves from all of the sports media outlets, that dished out a relentless barrage of pre-fight analysis that infiltrated all other sporting events for weeks. The boxing talk was unavoidable and tiresome. In the end, it was a unanimous decision that, as one radio caller put it simply, "It wasn't worth the hype."

With many more desirable options from which to choose over the busy weekend, we decided to ignore the thing altogether and wait for the results and reviews to come in later. There was a hint of what was to come: a neighbor was hosting a "fight party," but there wasn't much noise coming from there.

The very same sources that had pumped up interest in the mega fight between the Domestic Abuser and the National Hero were forced into a corner and had to admit their disappointment in the aftermath of Mayweather's methodical victory.

On ESPN's Mike & Mike radio show in the morning, Mike Golic said, "It provided me zero entertainment." Along with partner Mike Greenberg, the pair referred to the shenanigans and the seedy underbelly of the boxing industry.

On KNBR's morning show, the fight made the "BumBabies List" and evoked such remarks as, "The fight stunk.

The whole thing is a circus."

The Associated Press reported the fight "...wasn't the best. Far from it, with long periods where both fighters fought cautiously, looking for an edge."

Everybody should have known that the match was nothing to get too excited about, even though the theater featured elements of the past (Mayweather's long history of serial domestic abuse that included jail time) and the future (Pacquiao's ambitions of post-career politics in the Phillipines). Mayweather's past was downplayed through the excitement surrounding the big event. Many people insisted on separating Mayweather, the technical, defenseminded, undefeated (48-0) champion in the ring, from Mayweather, the offensive woman-beater outside the ring, although, of course, he is one and the same person.

There were several preferable choices for spending your allotment of sporting time and dollars, rather than wasting it on that boxing craziness. You could have followed the NFL Draft and fantasized about unlikely near-future successes for your Forty Niners or Raiders (though the Raiders' No. 4 pick of Alabama wide receiver Amari Cooper could mean that the Raiders could surpass their threshold of four wins). You could have watched your San Francisco Giants reassert themselves while sweeping three games from AL MVP Mike Trout and the L. A. Angels at picturesque AT&T Park, and witnessed the continued revitalization of fan-favorite Tim Lincecum. You could have been highly entertained by a classic first-round, NBA playoff Game 7 heavyweight battle won by the L.A. Clippers over defending champion San Antonio on a last-second shot by Chris Paul, 111-109. "You could not ask for a better playoff game than the one you just saw," said TNT host Ernie Johnson, after a game featuring 16 ties and 31 lead changes, including 12 in the fourth quarter.

You could have continued to be amazed by MVP Steph Curry and the Golden State Warriors, as they won their second-round opener over the Memphis Grizzlies for their fifth straight playoff win. You could have put money down on the favorite in the Kentucky Derby, and held your breath while American Pharoah held off two challengers down the stretch.

Sadly, most of the focus was on the fight. Afterward, Mayweather was satisfied to have reached his intended goal --- one that so many might recognize --- to make a lot of money and don't get hurt. He and Pacquiao combined to cash in for around $300 million. Those celebrities that paid $40,000 and up for ringside seats, and all of you payper-view subscribers out there helped to line their pockets, instead of saving your money to spend it on your mothers or the mothers of your children. Your money was not well-spent on the richest and most boring fight in history.

In closing, as we said, if you came here to talk boxing, you came to the wrong place. Damn. ★

Cordova Baseball Falters in SVC Games

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - As the season came to a close earlier this week, the Cordova High School baseball team fell in its final home game.

Cordova was dealt an 11-1 loss by Liberty Ranch at the Lancers' field on April 30th. The Lancers (1-14 in the SVC, 6-21 overall) had seven hits, while the Hawks flew to 12 in the game.

Half of the Lancers' hits came off the bat of Jeremiah Anderson, who went 3-for-3 with a double and an RBI. Other hits from Cordova batters came from Michael Brown, Jeremy Buck, Austin Smith, and Brandon Buck.

On Tuesday, May 5th, Cordova closed out the season on the road, falling to Union Mine 6-2 on the Diamondbacks' field. A wrap-up of this game, plus some thoughts from Lancer head coach Guy Anderson, are scheduled to run in an upcoming edition of the Rancho Cordova Grapevine Independent.

Strong Finish for Lancer Swimmers

By Mike Bush

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Last weekend, the Cordova High School boys and girls swim teams competed at the Sierra Valley Conference (SVC) finals at Rosemont's pool.

The Lancer boy's squad led halfway through Saturday's finals. But SVC foe El Dorado swam back to capture the team title with 345 points. Cordova was second with 304 and Union Mine third at 301.

Winning their events for Cordova was the 200 medley relay team—Yevgeniy Belous, Tom Higdon, Cody Crowl, and Davis Cocker—with a time of 1 minute, 47.61 seconds. The quartet also won the 200 freestyle relay race at 1:35.10, winning by five seconds.

Cocker, Crowl, and Higdon were double winners at the finals. Cocker captured first place in the 100 freestyle at 50.82 seconds. Crowl took top honors in the 500 freestyle at 5:43.72. Higdon was tops in the 100 breaststroke at 1:04.90.

The Lady Lancers finished in fifth place out of the six SVC schools with 147 points. El Dorado swept the team points with 514.

Cordova girls who had strong finishes were Becca Edmisten in the 100 freestyle, taking third place with a time of 1:02.42. She was part of the 200 freestyle relay team, joining teammates Sarah Gebhart, Morgan Andrus, and Jomazel Bachiller in taking third at 2:09.58. ★

The Minnesota Twins have been on a tear lately, winning seven of their last nine games and eight of 11. Both the pitching staff and hitters can claim some responsibility here. The Twinkies have batted .309 with 27 extra-base hits over their last nine games. And the pitchers lead the majors with a 1.160 WHIP over the last 11 games...Through April 2014, there were no hit-

Adam Jones of Baltimore (.402)...Matt Carpenter of St. Louis leads the majors with 19 extra-base hits so far this season. The most punchless of hitters thus far is Arizona catcher Tuffy Gosewisch. The Diamondbacks' backstop has yet to get a knock for extra bags in 72 plate appearances. The next highest plate appearance total without an extra-base hit is 38...Perhaps Boston third baseman Pablo Sandoval might consider abandoning switch-hitting, following the lead of teammate Shane Victorino, who bats only right-handed now. Sandoval continues to struggle from the right side of the plate, batting a feeble .083 with just one walk. From the left side, he continues to tear it up to the tune of .415...Daniel Murphy of the Mets has come to the plate six times with the bases loaded this season, producing nine RBIs... While names like Robinson Cano, Brandon Phillips, Dustin Pedroia, Ian Kinsler and Ben Zobrist are more familiar, Devon Travis of Toronto leads all second basemen with a 1.019 OPS...It appears that the Dodgers are seriously considering promoting shortstop Corey Seager to the

Orioles, White Sox Stage Quiet Game

Chicago and Baltimore play an afternoon tilt in an empty stadium

mid civil unrest in Baltimore, the Orioles and White Sox played Wednesday afternoon in front of three scouts, a modest media contingent and 45,968 empty seats. The two previously scheduled games were postponed and rescheduled for a doubleheader on May 28, a mutual off day for the two teams.

Club officials, along with Baltimore authorities, determined that it would be in the best interest of public safety for the game to be closed to the public. The primary issue was that the city did not want to divert any resources and manpower away from the rioting for ballgame security.

So the first major league game since the 1800s to be played without fans ended with the Orioles crushing the White Sox 8-2 after ambushing Chicago starter Jeff Samardzija for six runs in the first inning.

But the most interesting storylines of the day had little to do with the game between the lines.

Three scouts were in attendance in seats behind home plate. But no other fans were allowed inside the ballpark, and members of the media were confined to the press box.

Prior to the game, Baltimore catcher Caleb Joseph pretended to sign autographs for fans along the wall near the Orioles' dugout. He thanked the "fans" with a tip of his cap, ran into shallow center field and raised his arms as if to encourage cheers.

The national anthem featured an orchestra recording, as the players lined up in front of their respective dugouts. Baltimore players took their positions for the first inning quickly and quietly.

Chicago White Sox outfielder Adam Eaton tweeted earlier in the day that the team would try to take the crowd out of the game early. Conversations between players and umpires could be heard around the stadium, and every call of "mine" and "I got it" was clear.

Chris Davis launched a mammoth homer onto the outfield concourse in the first inning. The valuable baseball slowly rolled to a stop near a restroom and remained there for the rest of the game.

> After recording a force out at first base to end an inning, Davis tossed the ball into the stands as has become a custom. Rather than creating a furious scramble, the ball lay under a seat for the next few hours. Down each foul line, ball girls manned their stations and chased errant baseballs, collecting them in buckets placed in prominent seats.

> About 100 fans lined a fence in right field to catch a glimpse of the game with restricted views. Others in balconies of the nearby Hilton displayed their colors as their cheers could be faintly heard on the field.

> The club maintained its seventh-inning stretch tradition with John Denver's rendition of "Thank God I'm a Country Boy" blaring in the stadium.

The game was televised by MASN, the Orioles network, and CSN, the White Sox broadcast partner. At one point, longtime Orioles announcer Gary Thorne broke out his Masters voice. He quietly described an Adam Jones double, "Jones will whack the son-of-a-gun to center field. That's very deep, it's deep and it's off the base of the wall. Adam Jones has a double, and that green jacket is well within reach, [broadcast partner] Jim [Palmer]."

The unusual game was played in a brisk two hours and three minutes. Afterwards, the players described the experience as "weird," "surreal" and "awkward." Additional fallout from the unique situation in Baltimore included moving the scheduled weekend series against Tampa Bay to St. Petersburg with Baltimore playing as the home team. Tickets for the impromptu series were all sold as general admission. For just $15 fans could grab the best seats in the house on Friday night. Prices jumped up to $18 for the weekend.

AL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Josh Reddick, Oakland

The rightfielder missed the beginning of the season due to an injury, but Reddick has quickly made up for lost time. Last week, he batted .478 with a 1.452 OPS and drove in 12 runs in just six games. He now owns an 11-game hitting streak, and has driven in at least one run in six of his last seven games. He ended the week with two home runs and eight RBIs in the three-game set at Texas.

AL PITCHER OF THE WEEK

Sonny Gray, Oakland

The young righthander ran his record to 4-0 for the season with two wins last week. He defeated two division opponents—Los Angeles and Texas— in fine fashion. He tossed eight innings against the Angels, allowing just a pair of runs on six hits and a walk. He threw 6.2 shutout innings at Texas striking out 10, although he issued seven walks. He lowered his ERA to 1.67 for the season.

NL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Paul Goldschmidt, Arizona

The Diamondbacks' first baseman began the week with three hits in each of the three games against the Rockies. He stayed hot through the weekend, batting .556 with a 1.386 OPS for the week. Goldschmidt had five multi-hit games last week. He homered once and finished with five extra-base hits and two stolen bases. His teammates didn't offer much support, slugging just .288.

27. Rangers

29. Phillies

30. Brewers

28. White Sox

NL PITCHER OF THE WEEK

Jason Hammel, Chicago

Perhaps a forgotten man in the Cubs' rotation, Hammel made the rest of the NL Central take notice last week. Hammel pitched eight shutout innings with no walks in a win over Pittsburgh. The first three Pirate batters combined to go 0-for-12 with four whiffs. He gave up three earned runs over six innings as he took a no-decision in a loss to Milwaukee on Sunday.
