Service Project Removes 900 Feet of Fencing

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The rain last Friday, though welcome, caused the cancellation of two of the three Saturday service projects of JustServe Helping Hands, an annual event sponsored by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and open to all members of the community. On April 25th, the volunteers carried on with the third project and in a matter of hours removed more than 900 feet of fencing at the American River near Dedo Way.

The cancelled projects were to have taken place at River Bend Park and El Manto oak groves under the oversight of Dianna Poggetto, executive director of the American River Parkway Foundation.

Poggetto cancelled the two projects because of safety considerations.

"The American River Parkway Foundation's whole mission is about volunteers becoming stewards of the Parkway," Poggetto said. "So on a given year we have about 4,000 volunteers that do work for us and put in about 22,000 hours to improve the Parkway. Whether that's removing trash, graffiti, or taking care of the flora and fauna it's very, very important."

Rancho Cordova resident Erin Seymour was project manager of the projects that were called off, and they may be rescheduled in the future. Sacramento County Natural Resource Specialist Mary Maret oversaw Saturday's project for fence removal, and project management was led by Michael Goold, director of public affairs for the Sacramento Cordova Stake of the Mormon Church, along with Seymour and Clayton Compton of Mather.

Maret said that the County had wanted the fence to come down last year but hadn't quite figured out what method to use, so when she knew she had a lot of volunteers, she thought this was a good place to put them. "They did such a nice job and were so organized and brought their tools and made breakfast for everybody," Maret said. "It was very pleasant and they're great people to work with.'

About 200 people showed up for breakfast at River Bend Park, including a number who had signed up for the cancelled projects Continued on page 11

$10,000 Fine for Water Infractions, says Brown

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) -Governor Brown, meeting with mayors from across the state, announced he will propose legislation to help local officials better enforce conservation requirements and will direct state agencies to streamline environmental review of local water supply projects.

"These measures will strengthen the ability of local officials to build new water projects and ensure that water is not wasted," said Governor Brown. "As this drought stretches on, we'll continue to do whatever is necessary to help communities save more water."

The proposed legislation will give new enforcement authority to local entities that don't currently have it and increase potential penalties against water wasters. Specifically, it will enable the following actions:

- Establish a new penalty of up to $10,000 per violation, expanding on $500 per day maximum infraction established in last year's drought legislation.
- Allow penalties to be issued administratively by wholesale and retail water agencies, as well as city and county governments. This change speeds up an infraction process involving courts that was established in last year's emergency drought legislation.
- Enable these entities to enforce local water restrictions against water waste, as well as conservation restrictions established by the State Water Resources Control Board.
- Allow local public agencies to deputize staff to issue water conservation-related warnings and citations.

Take It from the Tap During Drinking Water Week

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)
- This year marks the 40th anniversary of the Safe Drinking Water Act, which was signed into law by President Ford and gave the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency power to set health-based standards to protect drinking water.

The Sacramento Suburban Water District (SSWD) is encouraging people to help celebrate this special occasion by passing on the bottled water and having a drink from the tap during Drinking Water Awareness Week (May 3rd through May 9th). SSWD recommends it as a great way to stay refreshed and help conserve water.

FAIR OAKS CEMETERY MEMORIAL DAY AND AVENUE OF FLAGS CEREMONY

The Fair Oaks Cemetery District and the Memorial Day Ceremony Committee are finalizing plans for one of the most popular and inspiring Memorial Day ceremonies in the area.

The Seventeenth Annual Memorial Day and Avenue of Flags Ceremony will be held Saturday, May 23, at the Fair Oaks Cemetery, located at 7780 Olive Street, Fair Oaks. The formal ceremonies start at 10 AM. This year's theme is to honor the "150th Anniversary of the Civil War's End", and with special emphasis on our Civil War Veterans.

One Union Soldier of the Civil War is buried in the Fair Oaks Cemetery. He has gone unrecognized for years. Having no immediate family at the time of his death, a headstone was not placed to identify his final resting place.

Chairman of the Fair Oaks Cemetery District Memorial Day Committee, Tom Askins will be the Master of Ceremonies. The main speaker(s) will focus on the Civil War and the processes of restoring national unity.

The Fair Oaks Cemetery will be decorated with hundreds of flags lining its roadways as "The Avenue of Flags." We will also be adding more names to the Veterans Memorial Wall.

The laying of the wreath at the memorial in honor of over seventeen hundred veterans who are buried in the cemetery, will be done by VFW Post 6158 and American Legion Post 383.

The Fair Oaks Cemetery's Memorial Day Ceremony is a fine example of how we, the community, remembers loved ones and says thank you to our veterans and their families for their sacrifices.

The musical program will consist of Pipers, a Drummer and Recorded Music by a local Disc Jockey. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the ceremony by the Orangevale/Fair Oaks Grange & Fair Oaks Historical Society.

Story and photos by Margaret Snider

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) -On April 24th, Riverview STEM Academy in Rancho Cordova played host to 14 different business and organization exhibitors for a morning of hands-on scientific experiences as students interacted with the wonders of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM).

"They've been watching tadpoles with microscopes, building energy, and playing with wind tunnels," said Principal Tony Peterson. "It's fantastic. I'm very impressed with what all the businesses put together."

SMUD, the principle sponsor of the Expo, presented tiny model cars that circled a track solely by use of solar power, and the children were able to put motors together and figure out how to orient solar panels for the maximum effect.

'Schools like this one help train the next generation of leaders and engineers in the energy field," said Jacobe Caditz, energy advisor with SMUD. "The energy industry is changing so rapidly now we're up and have the experience and background to be able to lead in the energy industry."

Classes of kindergarten through fourth grade students, accompanied by their teachers, enthusiastically scampered (in an orderly manner) through each exhibit, getting their passports stamped at each one they visited. Every exhibit allowed the children direct involvement with science, technology, engineering, or mathematics principles.

As an example, the Cisco Webex exhibit allowed the children to communicate using visual-audio conferencing with others in Bangalore, India; Denver, Colorado; and several other locations simultaneously, as they would if they were in a visual conference call.

At the Aerojet exhibit, it really was rocket science in which the children were participating. "I think my favorite was the rocket science one," said Jazmine Savorn, 9, a fourth grader. "We got to see how you can use liquid nitrogen and (learned) about Silly Putty. "I learned that they didn't have enough original rubber so they made the Silly Putty. It wasn't really good for the world war, but it's been around for 50 years for kids to play with, as a

At the Intel exhibit, the kids donned "clean suits," head and shoe covers, and face masks just like the technicians do at Intel and got to see and handle the real insides of a computer.

Sacramento Splash had the kids viewing the tadpoles, demonstrated water runoff on a three-dimensional relief map, and displayed a live king snake. The MAD Science exhibit spanned distances between magnetic bars with multiple iron rods and discs, in a manner that appeared impossible—but wasn't. All of the exhibits had an enthusiasic reception.

Beatrice Tetteh, pediatrician at the Rancho Cordova WellSpace Health clinic, joined in with a booth at the last minute because nurse practitioner Delilah Mergupe, whose children attend Riverview, mentioned the Expo in passing. "I'm really interested in not just health care but health education and community advocacy,"

Students at Riverview STEM Academy examine marshmallows under vacuum conditions at the STEM Expo Aerojet exhibit. "Basically, it's the concept of a vacuum, the vacuum of space," said Mark Graham, principle chemist at Aerojet and the presenter of the vacuum demonstration. "It's very visual to them and something they can understand.

Tetteh said. "For this event, helping kids see what's involved in a healthcare career, I thought it would be a great opportunity."

Some parents were able to attend the Expo as well. Colleen Cadwallader, who is volunteer PTA secretary at Riverview, helped recruit and sign up exhibitors for the event. Her seven-year-old son is a student at the Academy.

"I think it went great, better than I had hoped, even," Cadwallader said. "Really that's because the exhibitors were all so incredible. They really put a lot of time and effort into thinking about how to engage the kids in a way that is appropriate for them. So I think it was really cool."

Plant a Tree for Arbor Day

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On Friday, April 24th, City representatives and community members planted a willow oak tree at City Hall in celebration of National Arbor Day 2015. The tree is a gift from the Sacramento Tree Foundation. One of their primary goals is to plant five million trees in the region by 2025, and Rancho Cordova was one of the first cities to get on board. The City has planted over 30 trees on City properties since incorporation in 2003. The Sacramento Shade Tree Program offers up to 10 free shade trees to SMUD customers. Contact the Sacramento Tree Foundation at (916) 924-8733 to participate in the program.

- May 5th is the region's second annual Big Day of Giving, and I'm writing to encourage my neighbors and friends to participate. The goal is to raise $5 million in 24 hours through online donations for 529 participating local nonprofit organizations.

Presented by GiveLocalNow and the Sacramento Region Community Foundation, in partnership with the Yolo and Placer community foundations, Big Day of Giving is a time to come together and "give where your 12,000 people donated over $3 million to 394 nonprofits serving Sacramento, Placer, and Yolo counties—in 24 hours! This year, we can do even better.

I am proud that my employer, Bank of America, has been a supporter of GiveLocalNow and that last year my colleagues donated 10,000 hours of volunteer time to local nonprofit organizations. I can't wait to donate alongside my colleagues on this amazing day of celebrating our community!

Whether you give $25, $50, or even $1,000, you'll be helping to support the work of organizations making a real difference in the community. Each gift will get a boost from the heart is." Last year, more than Big Day of Giving Incentive

Our local nonprofits feed the hungry, shelter the homeless, give books to children, train the unemployed for new jobs, protect our environment, and more. But they need our support to continue strengthening the communities we call home. Whatever your favorite cause is, I hope you'll join me in supporting Big Day of Giving 2015!

Source: Weber Shandwick ★

On Monday, May 25th, 2015, we will be at our ninth annual Memorial Day Ceremony at the Mather Veterans Memorial Plaza. It is an opportunity, as our theme suggests, for Remembering our Veterans and Honoring the California National Guard. "Always ready, always there."

Veterans are fewer in number every year. We lose more WWII and Korean Veterans every year, and the Vietnam Veterans are beginning to add to that shrinking number. The Veterans of the Gulf War, Iraq War, and Afghanistan War are continually being asked to do more every year. They give years of their lives while serving their country. Yet I have found that even after giving those years of their lives to their country, some don't think of themselves as Veterans. Their orders send them to isolated places of the world for months or years, and they are separated from their families. Their duties and jobs make them responsible for protecting their families

In Honor of All Our Veterans and the rest of our country from countries and/or terrorists who would and have harmed and killed innocents in our nation like on 9/11.

From the Mayor's Corner

Some still think that even though they have given us many years of their lives to protect us, unless they are in a war zone, have been wounded, or other things that they didn't do then, they aren't Veterans. Educating the Veterans is another goal that has to be reached.

When a person signs up and is sworn into the military and are trained on what to do in their field, they receive orders. Some receive orders that send them to a war zone, and others do not. When I was in the U.S. Air Force, my orders didn't send me to Vietnam. My orders told me to get on a KC135 and fly to Alaska, and to Guam, and to Okinawa, and to begin laying out the fabric of the quilt of history that was part of our country's involvement in Vietnam. Obeying your orders is what you do when serving your country.

I looked at the 60s from the 1760s and the 1860s and the 1960s and found that either the citizens of our country were preparing for war (1760s), or engaged in the Civil War (1860s), or engaged in the Vietnam War (1960s). The 1960s also included some of the most tumultuous times in our history. In addition to the Vietnam War, there was the "sex revolution," flower children, changing music (what else is new), the President being assassinated, two other leaders being assassinated, and we landed a man on the moon. The most important thing that affected Veterans was the beginning of the end of the Draft. That has changed our military to an all-volunteer military.

Personally, I think having a draft again would force people to give two years of service to their country. It could be the military, but it could also be community service of different types. Such service could be two years of working for your church, or helping the poor, or building roads, etc. But no matter what the service was, it would be paid time giving back to your country. You would have to work wherever your job was for two years, and like the military, you would have to work with people you wouldn't otherwise work with. You would have to learn about yourself. That would help people who do not have to do anything for anyone but themselves. Kind of scary for some!

From Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next or more than 50 years, Union Gospel Mission has been serving Sacramento's homeless with shelter, meals, clothing, a rehabilitation program and a life-changing Gospel message. Founded in 1962 by concerned Christians for men in need, the Mission now serves women and children, too, and is an amazing testament to the good that comes with committed volunteers, inspired leadership and the community's support.

We accept donations, clothing and goods, 7 days a week ... and prayer always!

Walk and Roll Rancho Cordova

Great Scott Bike and Walk Event. Event organizers hope to draw even more participants to Sunday's event with the new bike fest and contests. Photos courtesy of the City of Rancho Cordova RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) -"Life is like riding a bicycle. To keep your balance, you must keep moving," said Albert Einstein.

May is Bike Month, so get ready to Walk and Roll as Rancho Cordova kicks off Bike Month on Sunday, May 3rd. Break out your bikes or walking shoes and join the Great Scott Bike and Walk Event from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at White Rock Road and Luyung Drive, near Sunrise Boulevard, continuing past Scott Road in Sacramento County.

The 20-mile stretch of White Rock Road from the City of Rancho Cordova to El Dorado Hills will be closed to vehicles for the enjoyment of community members to bike or walk.

For those who want more than the open road, a bike fest will create a hip and fun atmosphere at the start line featuring live musical performances, minimassages, food trucks, and even bike jewelry.

Looking for more of an adventure? Participate in the Great Scott Scavenger Hunt and find eight items including a cow or a cyclist not wearing spandex.

Snap a photo of the beautiful landscape or of you and your friends, and upload it to Instagram using hashtag #BikeScottRoadPhotos to join the Great Scott Photo Contest.

If you are the creative type, join the Great Scott Art Contest. Artists can set up easels or cameras along the route to draw or photograph their favorite parts of the event. Scout out your location prior to May 3rd, and on event day, we will take you to your selected location.

Sections of roadway will be closed to all through vehicles for the event including Scott Road between the US-50/Scott Road Interchange and Latrobe Road, portions of Placerville Road, and White Rock Road from Luyung Drive to the Sacramento County/ El Dorado County Line.

Visit www.bikefriendly50. com for the event schedule, live band information, contest details, a parking map, and more. Stay tuned to www. CityOfRanchoCordova.org for other Bike Month events.

Are You Carrying Bricks In Your Backpack?

Procrastination! Ugh! What a word that is. But, we're all guilty of it - whether it's putting off laundry or doing your taxes - it's usually related to some task or chore we just don't want to do.

The same is true about making final arrangements. Who wants to think about, or talk about, death. And with so many more fun things to spend our money on, who wants to pay for it?

Well, just like taxes, death is something unavoidable, and when it's done - what a relief that is. You can then unload that brick from your backpack and have some peace of mind. If you still need motivation, consider these points:

- You get to arrange what you think is best and not expect family members to know your wishes
- You can know that once your pre-arrangements are made, your wishes will be carried out
- You get to relieve your family from that burden of planning your funeral when they are grieving
- · You can minimize disputes between your well-meaning relatives
- You can set up affordable monthly payments so the financial burden does not fall to your surviving family members
- You will show your love in a way your family will never forget

We hope these tips are useful. Call us today for an appointment and let us help you unload some bricks from your backpack!

Stricter Medical Marijuana Ordinance Should Alleviate Complaints

By Chris Gilbert

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) -

It's been nearly 19 years since California voters approved the use of marijuana for medicinal purposes. And city and county officials appear to finally be getting comfortable with how to

The Rancho Cordova City Council updated its five-year-old ordinance in January, joining an increasing number of local jurisdictions in outlawing outdoor

Mayor Bob McGarvey said the city has had quite a few complaints, including the skunky odor. "My wife used to teach, and they had to move a class out of a portable classroom because the smell from somebody growing in the backyard next door was making it impossible to teach," he said. "We had a lady come to a meeting. She and her daughter were very ill from the Police detective Mark Baxter said public safety and security has been an even greater concern. "What we were seeing was increased crime," he said. "Home invasion robberies, theft, and homicides. When you don't have a permit, these guys are doing some crazy wiring. We were having houses nearly burn down."

Also, indoor cultivation is prohibited at residences where persons under 18 live. "They're still subject to the odor and all the things that come with it," said Baxter. "They're using quite a few chemicals to speed up growth these days."

The revised ordinance restricts growing to five-by-five square foot indoor plots that reduce the number of mature plants that can be grown to six. Lighting also cannot exceed 1,200 watts.

In November of 2010, residents passed a measure that requires all marijuana growers to pay $600 per square foot for up to 25 square feet.

"If for some reason the Federal Government would actually change or eliminate Federal law, which still makes marijuana illegal, then we already have a tax in place," said McGarvey. There have been complaints, including in lawsuits filed in the other parts of the state, that the changes make it a lot more difficult to afford growing medical marijuana.

McGarvey said patients can still find dispensaries just outside the city limits. Dispensaries are now banned inside the city limits, mainly due to worries about

Baxter said the new ordinance should make it much easier for law enforcement to control use. "The cost of enforcement was pretty high," he said. "We had to keep coming back, checking on outdoor growths. But a lot of people don't want to pay the cost of an indoor grow. They don't want to pay for the equipment. They don't want to pay the electricity. I would say we've probably seen at least a 50% reduction in the number of grows we've responded to this year."

Violators face citations with fines. But Baxter said that has not been enforced yet. "We'll still go out on an education basis," he said. "They're still their personal property, technically. We say you need to move this inside into your own grow room and get that permitted. We'll be back in the next couple or three days to see that you've complied."

But Baxter agrees the true impact of the new ordinance won't be known, or felt, until plants start getting larger, around June or July and through the fall

This legislation will give all water agencies and local governments a consistent, minimum set of enforcement authorities to achieve required water conservation. Local water agencies with existing authorities to enforce against water waste can continue to use those authorities. Under the proposed legislation, any monetary penalties from this enforcement will be used for local conservation efforts.

Separately, to streamline environmental permitting for critical water supply projects, the Governor has directed his Office of Planning and Research and other state agencies to help local water agencies reduce the time required to comply with staterequired environmental reviews. These permit streamlining efforts will focus on projects that can increase local water supplies with limited environmental impacts. The Governor's Office will also explore legislative changes that can speed up delivery of critical water supply projects.

In recent weeks, Governor Brown has convened top agricultural, environmental, urban water agency, and business leaders from across California to discuss the state's drought and conservation efforts.

In April, Governor Brown announced the first ever 25%

statewide mandatory water reductions and a series of actions to help save water, increase enforcement to prevent wasteful water use, streamline the state's drought response, and invest in new technologies that will make California more drought resilient. This order included measures to help replace lawns with drought-tolerant landscaping and old appliances with more water and energy efficient models; cut water use at campuses, golf courses, cemeteries, and other large landscapes; prevent potable water irrigation at new developments unless waterefficient drip systems are used; and stop watering of ornamental grass on public street medians.

Within days of the Governor's order, the State Water Resources Control Board released its framework to achieve the mandatory water reductions and the California Energy Commission approved new water appliance standards to save billions of gallons of water per year. The California Department of Water Resources also announced that due to the severe drought it will install an emergency temporary rock barrier across a Sacramento San Joaquin Delta channel to help prevent the saltwater contamination of water that 25 million Californians depend on.

These measures build on unprecedented action by the State Water Resources Control Board over the past year to prohibit other wasteful water use and encourage Californians to conserve, including strict limits on outdoor irrigation (two days a week in much of California) and bans on hosing down outdoor surfaces, decorative water fountains that don't recirculate water, and car washing without an automatic shut-off nozzle. Bars and restaurants are also now required to only serve water upon request and hotels must ask guests staying multiple nights whether linens and towels need to be washed.

Governor Brown proclaimed a drought state of emergency in January 2014, and for more than two years the state's experts have been managing water resources to deal with the effects of the drought, which include severely curtailed water supplies to agricultural producers, farmworker job losses due to fallowed fields, drinking water vulnerability in communities across California, heightened fire danger, and threats to endangered and threatened fish and wildlife.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) -

They came, they giggled, they plundered. Thousands of children and their families set out for swashbuckling adventure last Saturday during the 26th annual Kids Day in the Park, presented by the Cordova Community Council.

This year's pirate theme proved to be bigger than life with no less than four pirate ships and privateers setting the scene in Hagan Park. Children climbed aboard the ships to talk with pirates, and to talk like pirates; they shot off candy-shooting cannons and took in a rib-tickling adventure on stage with Captain Jack Spareribs.

More than 100 exhibitors shared information and resources with parents while the kids had all the fun of jump houses, arts and crafts projects, games, and so much more. Providers checked out hearing, vision, and dental issues, parents learned about childhood mental health and fun activities for children all part of the strategy of Kids

Children drew pictures and signed their names to giant wooden letters that spelled out "WONDER"—an art project for the City of Mission Viejo, which made a stop at Kids Day to a community art project in the southern California city.

"All the fun and games, all the parents and grandparents playing with the kids, all the laughter that's what Kids Day is all about," said Amy Hiramoto, who chaired the event for the Cordova Community Council. "All the information parents leave with is the big pay-off."

HOME COUNTRY

It was just one of those things. It didn't really mean Marvin Pincus had lost his mind. Consider this yourself for a minute. Marvin had opened the mail that morning and in it was the Fenwick glass fly rod he'd ordered. Oh, it was used, of course. But there's a feel to a Fenwick that only a man dedicated to a life of using dry flies can appreciate.

The weather was gorgeous. The fish were biting on Lewis Creek. But there was a hitch. Marvin had broken his ankle the previous week and was temporarily in a wheelchair. It was his right ankle, so he couldn't drive down to the creek. And there, in his hands, was the Fenwick. He put it together, attached a reel and some four-weight line and set it on the couch and looked

Marjorie was off visiting her sister, so she couldn't help him. But there's a pull, an irresistible draw to a fly rod. He had

It took Marvin about 20 minutes to negotiate the front steps with that wheelchair and the Fenwick. Oh, he could've called a friend to help him, but how could he possibly explain why?

"Isn't it hard to catch fish without water?"

Finally, he negotiated the sidewalk and then the edge of the street itself. There were no cars coming this early

Up came the Fenwick. A few swishes in the air told Marvin he'd done the right thing in ordering the rod. So he ran out some line and began casting. About halfway across the street was a large mulberry leaf. He did a double haul on the line and sent the fly toward the leaf. It took several tries before he hit it, but when he made that cast, you could've sold tickets to it. His fly came to rest about three feet above the leaf and then fluttered gently down onto its target. Marvin's smile said it all.

Then the school bus came around the corner full of kids heading home, and Marvin realized he was casting a fly rod from a wheelchair onto dry pavement.

"Hi Mr. Pincus!" yelled one of the kids. "Catch anything?"

"A little slow today, Billy," he yelled back.

"Isn't it hard to catch fish without water?" Billy yelled.

"It's okay, son," Marvin said with a grin. "I'm using a dry fly!"

Lady Lancers Bitten by Diamondbacks

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Two hits in the first inning helped the Cordova High School softball team pose a threat to Union Mine in the big Sierra Valley Conference (SVC) showdown on Monday, April 27th.

But the damage was already done by the visiting Lady Diamondbacks, who scored three times in the top of the frame that led to a 5-0 win over the Lady Lancers. Both teams were tied for first place in the SVC at 13-1 each as they entered the conference finale.

Now the Lancers-who closed out the regular season on Thursday, April 30th with a non-conference road game at Bear River—finish second place in the conference. Union Mine wins its second SVC crown in three seasons.

Cordova now awaits its playoff seeding by the Sac-Joaquin Section, which is expected to release playoff brackets on its website (www.cifsjs.org) next week.

Tiana Brown doubled to leftcenter field in the bottom of the first inning for Cordova (13-2 in the SVC, 19-3). Then with two outs, Lancer pitcher Megan Stacy singled to centerfield to move Brown to third. But Union Mine winning pitcher

Beth Hammer put the hammer on the next Lancer batter with a strikeout. Hammer fanned 11 Cordova players.

'We sucked it up first inning," said Cordova head coach Lindy Willeford of her team posing a threat to the D'backs.

But in the top of the first inning, the D'backs took advantage of two hits and two Lancer errors to score their three runs.

After the first inning, Cordova's only hit was in the seventh inning when Tracy Mahony singled to centerfield.

"We didn't adjust to two-strike counts," Willeford said. "We went up there and tried to hit home runs. We did not play our game."

If Hammer wasn't sending Lancer batters back to the dugout on strikeouts, the D'backs' defense registered the remaining outs to secure the win and the program's second SVC title in three seasons. Union Mine scored a run each in the fifth and sixth innings to secure the win.

Cordova 9, Liberty Ranch 1

In the April 23rd road conference game in Galt, the Lancers' Jocelyn Brown banged out three of the team's 10 hits that included a triple and three RBIs. Stacy, Vanessa Cain, and Leila Cooper had two hits each.

Cordova led 3-1 until the top of the seventh inning, when it scored its remaining runs to ground the Lady Hawks.

Cordova 13, Galt 0

The Lady Lancers proved to be too much for the visiting Lady Warriors in their April 22nd game. Cordova scored in the first four innings. The game was called after the top of the fifth because of the mercy rule.

Mason Pittaro clubbed a grand slam for the Lancers. She went 2-for-3 with five RBIs. Tiana Brown also had two hits. Nikki Jones, Jocelyn Brown, Kai'lee Cole, and Stacy had a hit each that added up to eight for the

Chumps or Champs, and Sometimes Both

"Hey, sweetheart, at least I'm not one of those guys that lies around all weekend watching golf or chugging beers while I turn the volume up on the NASCAR madness, neglecting the 'to-do list' through it all.

"I don't get up early and slink out to go fishing, leaving you a note to have fun shopping alone at OSH and Home Depot, and I'll be home for dinner.

"I just like to relax in the evework while watching some baseball or basketball. During football season I like to catch some of that on the weekends and Monday nights. And I'm so considerate these days --- I DVR all of it so I can skip through the commercials to cut down my hours before the tube, freeing up more time for your HGTV and Food Network shows.

"And I really love it when you settle in for awhile and watch the games with me. I appreciate your level of sports knowledge and I'm sometimes surprised at the things you say (and I try not to let you see me roll my eyes at other times). And I only watch hockey when your not home or after you have gone to bed.

"So tell me, honey, am I still your champ, or just a chump? Don't answer that! At best, the answer is probably, 'A little of both."

You could say the same thing about most of the people all around the wide world of sports; and, then, there are some that are just champs (we think) and an awful lot more that are chumps.

You don't necessarily have to have a championship on your resume to be a "champ." Keeping it relatively local, when you think about the cream of the crop you would likely name people such as Steph Curry, Tim Flannery, Bruce Bochy, Buster Posey, Madison Bumgarner and a number of current Giants, Ronnie Lott, Steve Young, Brent Jones, Dave Stewart, J.T. Snow, Vlade Divac, Kevin Johnson, Tara VanDerveer, Mike Montgomery, Nate Thurmond, and of course, Willie Mays and Willie McCovey. And there is the injured Hunter Pence, hanging on the railing supporting his teammates, waiting to get healthy and for his PenceFenceCatch bobble-head to go public and claiming, "I would rather die than not make that catch." You never hear anything bad about those people, but you can still never be 100% positive about their pure "champness."

Now, what the heck is going on with the Kansas City Royals? That team was universally admired last fall for the great run they had, and for the character and drive they displayed right through to Game nings when I get home from 7 of the World Series where they came up short against the Giants. Maybe that frustration has gotten to them, because they seem to be taking it out on everybody they play. The Royals have been having beanball wars and bench-clearing rumbles on a regular basis this season --- already squaring off with the Athletics, Angels and White Sox, prompting Cleveland pitcher Trevor Bauer to wear boxing gloves in the dugout when the Royals came to town. K.C. --- almost a champion, but not quite. But when it comes to rumbles on a regular basis, turn to the NBA Playoffs that are looking more and more like WrestleMania than basketball. All the talk is about Kevin Love's dislocated shoulder that will likely keep him out of the rest of the playoffs for Cleveland, suffered when he tangled with Boston's Kelly Olynyk chasing after a loose ball. Afterward, Love stated he felt Olynyk's play was an intentional attempt to injure, which Olynyk flatly denied. Love, who hooked up with Cleveland and LeBron James in a quest for a championship after wallowing in NBA limbo in Minnesota for years, was clearly speaking out of emotion and disappointment.

That play appeared a bit reckless but rather mild compared to some others and to the general tenor of the action throughout the playoffs. The NBA basketball crowd thinks things should be completely different in the playoffs and that the officials should just "let them play." Okay, but to what extent? Instead, maybe they should clean the playoffs up a bit before somebody takes a two-forearm shiver to the chops followed by a swat to the face, or somebody catches a swiping, backhanded punch to the chin and wrecks his knee when he falls, or somebody suffers "accidental" multiple fractures to his mug, or....oh, those things already happened. Add Kendrick Perkins and J. R. Smith to the "chumps" list.

Whenever you hear the announcers say, "That's a good no-call," you should interpret that as, "There should've been a call there." It's a good bet that the chump that got his chest bruised by a high-flying LeBron James knee when he was run over as the twotime NBA champion scored a clock-beating lay-up was not lying on the floor in pain thinking, "That was a good no-call."

There seems to be plenty of chumps around the NBA and a bunch of them are on one team, the L. A. Clippers...DeAndre Jordan, just because he couldn't sink a free throw to save his life; Matt Barnes, with his look and attitude; Blake Griffin, who has the reputation that nobody likes him; Chris Paul, with his little flops and falls that force the refs to call fouls on the defenders on punk-like plays that have nothing to do with the spirit of the game. On the other hand, the Warriors seem to have a roster and staff full of "golden boys," good dudes on a roll. Perhaps it would be fitting if Golden State, awaiting the start of the second round after sweeping New Orleans, was to go on to win its first championship in, like, forever.

There are some cases of a kind of transformation --- from once a champ, but now a horrible chump...or much worse --- guys like Ray Rice, Adrian Peterson, Lance Armstrong, Oscar Pistorius, Aaron Hernandez and the like. Those probably had a most awful "chumpness" in them all along.

The vast majority seem to have some of both qualities, to varying degrees and categories: Alex Rodriguez, Barry Bonds, Brian Wilson, Pablo Sandoval (sigh), Tiger Woods, Mark McGuire, Jose Canseco, Richard Sherman, Kobe Bryant, Urban Meyer, John Calipari, Jim Boeheim and on and on with the endless list.

"So, my dearest, whatever label you might apply, or whatever you or anybody else might think of me and my relative sports addiction, it is safe to say that I am not alone." ★

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - In two games earlier this week, the Cordova High School baseball team was competitive from start to finish.

In Tuesday's Sierra Valley Conference (SVC) road game at Galt, the Lancers fell to the Warriors, 6-2. Cordova (1-12 in the SVC, 6-19) responded to Galt's early lead at 6-0 with a run in the third and sixth innings. The Warriors scored four in the first inning and two in the

Cards Lose Ace

Adam Wainwright suffers season-ending Achilles injury

he St. Louis Cardinals suffered a huge blow on Saturday when starting pitcher Adam Wainwright stumbled coming out of the batter's box. Tests on Monday revealed a serious Achilles injury that will knock the Redbirds' ace out for the remainder of the season.

Can the Cardinals recover and still contend for the National League pennant? The short answer is yes. But as with any major loss, the margin of error for making the playoffs just shrunk appreciably.

The Cardinals have one of the deepest rotations in base-ball and are well-equipped to handle such a loss, probably more than any other organization, with the exception of Washington. There's little doubt that general manager John Mozeliak has already begun the search for a replacement through the trade market. But the club may have an answer already in the organization. Lefthander Marco Gonzales, who narrowly missed making the roster out of spring training, would be the first option. The Cardinals won three of his five spot starts last season, and he picked up two wins in his six postseason appearances last year.

But Gonzales won't share the load of replacing Wainwright alone. Michael Wacha is the ace-in-waiting and is poised to have a breakout season, and Lance Lynn has shown remarkable consistency over the past few seasons.

The keys to absorbing the loss of Wainwright without a hiccup will be veteran John Lackey, who must rekindle some youth, and rising star Carlos Martinez. The young Martinez hasn't proven he can be a starting pitcher over the past few seasons, working mostly out of the bullpen. The hard thrower has had success as a setup man as manager Mike Matheny has been able to find favorable matchups. As a starter this season, Martinez may have turned a corner. The Cardinals have won all three of his starts this season, and he's allowed just three runs (all solo homers) in 19 innings. The obvious questions are, can Martinez sustain this success over a full season, and how much does Lackey have left in the tank?

So there is certainly reason for Mozeliak to explore trade possibilities. The White Sox have shown interest in dealing starter John Danks, and the Phillies' Cole Hamels has been the subject of trade rumors for six months now. The price for Hamels is probably too high for St. Louis at this point. And while it's too early to draw meaningful conclusions about playoff position, the Cardinals have the luxury of some time to allow their existing rotation to prove itself before trading away prospects for a run this season.

Making Mozeliak's job a bit more difficult are the injuries to catcher Yadier Molina and outfielder Jason Heyward. Molina hasn't played since taking a foul ball directly to his right knee on April 24. He hasn't been moved to the disabled list yet, and is still considered day-to-day after the weekend. Heyward left Sunday's game at Milwaukee in the third inning with a groin injury after chasing down Gerardo Parra's triple in right field. It is not believed to be serious, but the injury certainly makes the Cardinals leery about trading one of their extra outfielders Randal Grichuk, who is currently on the disabled list, or Stephen Piscotty. Other teams would most likely inquire about St. Louis prospects Alex Reyes, a 20-year-old pitcher, and lefthander Tim Cooney, 24, who is close to major league ready.

Just how the Cardinals fill the huge hole left by Wainwright will most likely take several weeks to play out. As more teams drop from the race, more pitchers will become available. Former Cardinal Kyle Lohse is in the last year of his deal with Milwaukee, but has struggled mightily this season. Yovani Gallardo, formerly of Milwaukee, is in the final year of his deal with Texas. But Chris Carpenter is not walking through the clubhouse door, that's for sure.

AL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Mark Teixeira, New York

The aging first baseman of the Yankees was able to call back several years last week with five home runs and 10 RBIs. The Yankees won five of seven games behind Teixeira's bat. He was especially good against the crosstown rival Mets, going 5-for-11 in the series, with a pair of home runs and four RBIs in the opener, ending the Mets' 11-game winning streak.

AL PITCHER OF THE WEEK

Chris Archer, Tampa Bay

The young righthander ran his streak of no earned runs allowed to 27.1 innings with outings against Boston and Toronto. In 5.2 innings vs. Boston, he gave up an unearned run in a 1-0 loss. In his next start, he tossed seven innings and allowed just two hits and a walk to the Blue Jays. His totals for the week were nine hits, two walks and 16 strikeouts in 12.2 innings.

NL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Adeiny Hechavarria, Miami

The Marlins' shortstop—certainly not known for his bat—owns a nine-game hitting streak and ended the week with four multi-hit games in his last five. For the week, he batted .500 with a 1.270 OPS, 10 RBIs and eight runs, helping the Marlins to a season-best five-game winning streak. In 335 games entering this season, Hechavarria had just six homers. He already has a pair in 2015.

NL PITCHER OF THE WEEK

Jake Arrieta, Chicago

So far in 2015, Arrieta is the Chicago Cubs' ace, not Jon Lester, and it's not even close. Last week, the young righthander won twice, defeating the Pirates and Reds, both on the road. In 13 innings, he walked three, yielded eight hits and whiffed 13. He is now 3-1 with a 2.03 ERA on the season. He has given up only six runs in his four starts this season.

AROUND THE HORN

The San Diego Padres lead the National League in runs so far this season. That is unfamiliar territory for the club to be sure. The offseason acquisitions of outfielders Matt Kemp, Justin Upton and Wil Myers have thus far reaped benefits. Perhaps the most telling stat is the team's .318 batting average with runners in scoring position, the best mark in the majors... The season-ending injury to starting pitcher Adam Wainwright is a serious blow to the St. Louis Cardinals. As of Sunday, the Redbirds' rotation led the majors with a 2.39 ERA, and opponents were batting just .159 with runners in scoring position against the entire staff. The Cardinals are the only team holding foes under .200...Kansas City's bullpen is as dominant this season as in 2014, even without injured closer Greg Holland. Opponents are slugging just .194 off of Royals relievers, who own a 0.78 ERA...No player has a hit with the bases loaded this season against the Los Angeles Angels pitching staff... Even with the trade of top hitting catcher Derek Norris to the Padres over the winter, Oakland catchers lead all backstops with a .324 average and .554 slugging percentage. Although it must be noted that Norris has eight doubles and a pair of homers this season. Oakland catchers have eight extra-base hits...Detroit hitters have strode to the plate 28 times with the bases loaded this season. The major league average is 16. The Tigers' total equals that of Washington (8), Philadelphia (8), Cleveland (7) and Milwaukee (5) combined... The New York Yankees and the Toronto Blue Jays have each swatted 10 home runs in the seventh inning or later this season. The Milwaukee Brewers, struggling to find any offense, have hit just one in the late innings... Veteran catcher A.J. Pierzynski signed with the Atlanta Braves over the winter in hopes of getting rare starts behind the plate while being used primarily as a pinch-hitter. But with Christian Bethancourt's struggles, Pierzynski has found himself in the lineup about half the time. Both catchers had 34 at-bats at the end of the week. Pierzynski is batting .382 with a 1.138 OPS. Bethancourt is scuffling at .147/.400...During the New York Mets' recent 11-game winning streak, the team didn't exactly overpower with their bats. The Mets hit just .273 with only eight home runs, averaging 5.2 runs per game. However, their pitchers had a 1.091 WHIP and 2.73 ERA, giving up 3.7 runs per game.

NUMBERS GAME

The batting average for the Detroit Tigers' infield, led by shortstop Jose Iglesias (.379) and first baseman Miguel Cabrera (.377) (below). Second baseman lan Kinsler and third baseman Nick Castellanos round out the quartet.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK

April 30, 2005

Commissioner Bud Selig proposes harsher penalties for PED use. His plan calls for a 50-game suspension for the first offense, 100 games for the second and a lifetime ban for a third positive test. His proposal also includes a ban on amphetamines for the first time.
