Drum and Bugle Corps Marches to New Home

This event, the longest running of its kind in the Western United States, is a visual extravaganza of sight and sound. It's often described as "marching bands on steroids."

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - On June 22, 2014, at 6:00 p.m., Drum and Bugle Corps from around the country will gather at Hughes Stadium (at Sacramento City College) to compete in the 35th Annual Moonlight Classic, presented by Sponsors of Musical Enrichment (S.O.M.E.). The audience is expected to number in the thousands.

For the uninitiated, this event, the longest running of its kind in the Western United States, is a visual extravaganza of sight and sound. It's often described as "marching bands on steroids." Competing corps can include up to 150 youths, ages 8-21, comprised of marching percussion and brass, front ensemble, (vibraphones, marimbas and other percussion instruments) and color guard. The color guard component has evolved from merely carrying the flag to now include dance and props such as rifles, sabers and other specialty items.

Each 11 minute performance includes all of these elements in a meticulously choreographed presentation which can span the entire football field, and in past competitions, has included spectacular visuals like a field of mirrors, giving the illusion of doubling the size of the corps, full on Spartacus inspired gladiator match. Corps are judged on musical performance, general effect on the audience, and color guard.

The Mandarin Drum Corps of Sacramento, 8-time national champions, are scheduled to perform.

General admission is $20. Reserved VIP Seating is $30. Tickets can be purchased at the S.O.M.E. web site, www.someinc.com, or at the gate the night of the event.

S.O.M.E. is a non-profit California corporation founded in 1978 for the purpose of supporting local youth music organizations and the performing arts on a continuing basis. Funds raised by this organization are reinvested in the local community. To date, over $3,000,000 has been granted to deserving groups and individuals.

California State Senate Passes Bill to Raise Minimum Wage to $13 per Hour

SB 935 Would Give California Highest Minimum Wage in the Nation

LOS ANGELES, CA - On Thursday May 29th, California State Senate voted 21-12 to raise the state's minimum wage to at least $13 per hour by 2017. The bill would also require the minimum wage to be automatically adjusted for inflation annually beginning in 2018. The adjustments would be calculated using the California Consumer Price Index and reductions in the minimum wage would be prohibited if inflation is negative in any given period.

California Partnership (CAP) Director Vanessa Aramayo said "an increase in California's minimum wage is long overdue as it is lower than it was in 1965 when adjusted for inflation. SB 935 will reduce the number of Californian's living in poverty, reduce the number of people going hungry, and increase economic activity in our communities that have been hardest hit by the economic recession and stagnation of wages."

A recent report by Human Impact Partners cites a study that predicts a minimum wage of $13 would help reduce the

Rancho Cordova's Bank of America Supports United Way's Toilet Paper Drive

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - United Way California Capital Region is asking the community to spare a square by donating to its 6th Annual Toilet Paper Drive on June 12 that helps local nonprofits offset the cost for this staple item. Rancho Cordova's Bank of America loan center has donated thousands of rolls of toilet paper over the last five years, as well as volunteers.

Local nonprofits spend anywhere from a few hundred to thousands of dollars a year on toilet paper - money that could be invested in programs changing lives. Last year's drive raised 229,485 rolls of toilet paper and this year's goal is 240,000 rolls.

"We all take toilet paper for granted, but our nonprofit partners sure don't," said Stephanie McLemore Bray, United Way president and CEO. "At a dollar a roll, this drive will help more than a hundred local nonprofits save $240,000. Every dollar counts, and so does every roll. Together, we can make sure nonprofits have the resources to do what they do best - change people lives."

Since United Way's first Toilet Paper Drive, Bank of America has donated more than 12,000 rolls of toilet paper. This year, they hope to donate 5,000 rolls and the larger departments are challenging each other and creating contests. Employees are already getting excited and bringing in toilet paper.

Each year, Bank of America also has provided 15 volunteers and will do so again this year. Volunteers spread the word throughout the office, load toilet paper into vehicles and deliver it to Cal Expo, and lend support the day of the drive out at Cal Expo.

United Way's Toilet Paper Drive will take place 7 a.m.-7 p.m. on June 12 at the Cal Expo main entrance, 1600 Exposition Boulevard in Sacramento. Residents also can purchase toilet paper online through Sac-Val Janitorial Supply at www.yourlocalunitedway.org/tp-drive, which will be donated to the drive. For updates, visit facebook.com/uwccr or follow @unitedwayccr

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Community members are invited to the 13th Annual Celebration of Independence Gala that benefits Women's Empowerment, a local nonprofit helping women who are homeless find homes and jobs so they can support their families. Residents also can sponsor a graduate of the program to attend the event.

The event, which raises funds for the organization and honors the group's 1,144 graduates, will take place from 5:30-8:30 p.m. on June 26th at the Red Lion Hotel Woodlake in Sacramento. Guests will mingle with graduates from the program and enjoy a formal dinner, silent auction, live auction by Keith McLane of KLM Auctions, live music and presentations from the graduates. For tickets or sponsorships, visit www.womens-empowerment.org.

"Each year this event grows larger as more community members come out to celebrate the amazing women in our community who have broken the cycle of homelessness for themselves and their children," said Lisa Culp, executive director. "Last year's event was attended by more guests than ever before and raised record funding to ensure women in our community could support their children. We hope to include even more community members this year. Those who can't attend can sponsor one of our graduates to have a night where she will shine and be celebrated for her accomplishments."

Women's Empowerment offers the most comprehensive job-readiness program in the Sacramento area designed specifically for homeless women and their children. The 2009 Nonprofit of the Year has graduated 1,144 homeless women and their more than 2,500 children.

In 2013, 81 percent of graduates found homes and 90 percent found jobs or enrolled in school or training. Senior Activity Center Named after Neil Orchard

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On Friday, May 30, 2014, in the presence of his family, friends, former colleagues and dignitaries, the CRPD Board of Directors Chair Inez Reyes led the dedication ceremony for the newly renamed Neil Orchard Senior Activities Center.

Neil worked for the Cordova Recreation and Park District for 35 years. He started out as Recreation Superintendent, moved on to Assistant Administrator. In 1986 after being appointed by the Board to replace the retiring Paul Hagan as the new District Administrator, Neil took over the reigns for obtaining a State Grant that would help develop the Senior Center that now bears his name. He remained in the top spot for almost 17 years.

During his years at the park district, Neil saw both good times and bad as Aerojet workers jammed into homes and apartments across Rancho Cordova and then left in droves after the end of the Vietnam War. He guided the park district through both growth and hard times, guiding the acquisition of the Mather Sports Complex into the park district when Mather Air Force Base was closed.

His work at CRPD brought with it professional accolades, including the California Association of Recreation and Park District's "Outstanding Professional Award" and a "Professional Citation" from the California Park and Recreation Society. ★

Peking Restaurant Serves Quality Chinese-Korean Fusion Cuisine Food for 21 Years

By Linda Harper

GOLD RIVER, CA (MPG) - One only has to see the collage of photographs behind the register at Peking Restaurant to see why it's a great place to find quality Chinese-Korean Fusion Cuisine. Their clientele is multi-generational. Grandparents began eating at the family style restaurant since it's opening in 1992. Their children remained patrons when they became adults, and now they bring their offspring in to enjoy authentic Asian food in the friendly, inviting atmosphere, Peking Restaurant has gained notoriety for.

Liyen and Chung Yi Liu immigrated to the US from South Korea with their young family in 1988, and settled in Gold River. They arrived with years of experience in the restaurant business, and set out to do what they do best, prepare and serve quality, affordable Chinese-Korean Fusion Cuisine for their community. The Liu's opened Peking Restaurant, located in Butterfield Plaza, 9529-A Folsom Blvd., 21 years ago, and have been successfully supplying area residents with healthy, authentic Asian meals ever since.

Liyen Liu, the matriarch of the family business, greets customers when they arrive with an inviting smile and bubbly personality, while her husband, a trained Chef, prepares mouthwatering dishes from the restaurant's wide menu. Their son, Robert Liu, helps out in all aspects of the business operations. Patrons can't help but notice the stuffed, happy Panda Bears adorning Peking restaurant. Liyen explains they were given to her by satisfied repeat customers, over the years. These cuddly creatures add to the friendly ambiance of the restaurant.

Peking Restaurant is open six days a week: Tuesday-Friday, 11 a.m.-9 p.m., Saturday, 11:30 a.m.-9 p.m., and Sunday, 12 noon- 9 p.m. They offer lunch specials, family dinners and an extensive menu of delectable Asian dishes. The Liu's celebrate customer birthdays by offering 10% off the birthday person's meal, and they're equipped to host parties of any size. Their full menu is available for takeout, and reservations are not required.

If you're an Asian food connoisseur, or if you and your family just want to experience a hearty meal prepared with fresh ingredients, visit Peking Restaurant.

Just a Reminder

more of them to showcase our City. The postcards are available free of charge at City Hall and I am working on some additional distribution sites.

The City of Rancho Cordova is a member of the National League of Cities (NLC) and one of the benefits of NLC is its free Prescription Discount Card program. The free cards are available at City Hall and you don't have to be a Rancho Cordova resident to qualify. While they are not an insurance card, the cards do, on the average, save 20% off the price of prescription drugs. For those who have to go to the ER and then get a prescription filled, 20% can be quite a savings. The cards are honored at CVS, Walgreens, and many other pharmacies.

The information about the entertainment center that almost everyone has been waiting for is finally here. Inside the entertainment center will be 24 bowling lanes, 10 movie theaters, two full-service VIP movie theaters, a two-story laser tag facility, an elevated ropes course, an interactive arcade, five conference rooms, and a premium sports bar and restaurant. The various businesses that are building the center will file for the needed permits on June 17th and I have asked for the groundbreaking to be done this month, too. A resident asked if the bowling facility would accommodate bowling leagues and the answer is a definite yes! It will be nice to get bowling leagues back into our City and it also will be very nice to be able to drive five miles or less to go to the movies, bowling, etc. and not leave Rancho Cordova.

One of my early goals was to create postcards which would showcase some of the wonderful things about Rancho Cordova. The first postcard pictured rafts on the American River, the Air Force Thunderbirds, Mills Station, and the tower at the entrance to Capital Village Park. We have since added seven more postcards but we need

In the not too distant future, I will be working on a plaque or some form of monument in which we will honor our Rancho Cordova Veterans. Many cities have found ways to honor their local Veterans but this is something we are missing here in Rancho Cordova. Today it is even easier to fill out the Veterans profile form because you can fill it out on-line and push the send button. Go to our City's web site (cityof-ranchocordova.org), click on "Residents", "Community", "Veterans Profile" and fill it out. The forms are also available at City Hall and they can be dropped off there. If you know someone who you think should be included, you can fill out the form for them. Recently, a daughter filled out the form for her father who had passed away.

Last year, we talked about another connection to Mather and the Mather VA Hospital. Progress is being made this year! Femoyer Street, which has a 90 degree turn into Peter A. McCuen Boulevard, is being changed into a four-lane road and is being connected to Air Park Drive which connects to International Drive. This will be a wonderful new connection into Mather and will be a second entrance to and exit from the Mather VA Hospital. Currently, there is only Mather Field Road. The roadwork should be completed by October of this year.

The last reminder of what has been talked about in the past is my concern about the Federal Government cutting our military defense to a very dangerous level. There were two terrorist attacks that happened in April 2013 here in the continental United States that were written about by Brian T. Kennedy. They were attacks from within. The first was the bombs at the Boston Marathon and the other was an attack in San Jose on an electric-transmission substation owned by PG&E. Damage to that huge sub-station forced electricity to be rerouted. Most of the news media missed or skipped that attack because it was done the day after the Boston Marathon bombing.

President Abraham Lincoln gave a speech on January 27, 1838 in which he said the United States cannot be defeated by those outside of our country. "Shall we expect some transatlantic military giant, to step the Ocean, and crush us at a blow? Never!--All the armies of Europe, Asia, and Africa combined, with all the treasure of the earth (our own excepted) in their military chest; with a Bonaparte for a commander, could not by force, take a drink from the Ohio, or make a track on the Blue Ridge, in a trial of a thousand years. At what point then is the approach of danger to be expected? I answer, if it ever reach us, it must spring up amongst us. It cannot come from abroad. If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of freemen, we must live through all time, or die by suicide." That was said 176 years ago. It is another thing to think about. ★

Environmentalist Remembered

One of California's most respected naturalists and a life-long champion for ecology, Hiehle died in February at the age of 93. His passing came soon after the death of his beloved wife, actress Zilpha. The Hiehles were stalwarts of the Effie Yeaw Nature Center, whose facility hosted the memorial event.

His son Torgen recalled a father who enjoyed sharing his love of nature with children and adults. "My father felt the stewardship of the environment was something everyone could play a part in," said his son. "He tried to make people see it was not just an environmentalist's job to restore habitat. It was everyone's job. To acquire that love for nature, you must learn about it. And he wanted to help people learn."

Jack Hiehle was mentor to thousands, including this reporter.

I recall many interviews on the subjects of deer, turkey and otters in the Carmichael community. I dogged his footsteps on wildlife counts and shared my first photographs of what I thought to be beaver kits near Harrington Bar. After some cogitation, he called me and suggested that I had presented commendable portraits of muskrats. Any easy mistake, he assured me.

In consolation, he led me to the real McCoy: a Labrador-sized beaver, beating around the sloughs near William Pond Park. Jack was unerring in his ability to find even the most elusive critters. He just seemed to know their addresses. He grew up in Southern California. He was a surveyor in British Columbian and Yukon wildernesses. In WW II, he served as a US Army rifle instructor and later headed for U.C. Berkeley to study forestry. During a long career with the State, he worked with the Departments of Fish and Game and Parks and Recreation where he was appointed the first wildlife ecologist for California.

An avid sportsman in his spare time, he joined actress wife Zilpha as a National Ski Patrol volunteer and saved many skiers from off-piste refrigeration. A skiing accident near the age of 90 curtailed his rugged educational rambles on the American River flood plain.

Before this decline, the volunteer was a treasured resource for the American River Natural History Association. His passion resulted in the removal of thousands of non-native plants from the Effie Yeaw Nature preserve. Hiehle's aim was to see American oaks sustained and protected. To this end, he launched a campaign to cage oak saplings before grazing deer nipped them in the bud.

Fabled London architect Christopher Wren was eulogized in granite with the advice "If you seek his monument, look around you." Those who require a monument for ecologist Hiehle might simply walk the Effie Yeaw preserve trails and regard many youthful trees reaching skyward to eventually replace dying oaks. These—the future of our vulnerable parkway and symbols of hope for the thousands of animals living here—are Jack Hiehle's monument.

Gain awareness of how your attachments have created your reality!

Become aware of how you confuse what you know for who you are!

Love is accepting ourselves just the way we are, with all of our flaws and our ever-changing belief system. You are nothing else but who you are. You are not the person you were a year ago. You are not the person you will be in a year. You aren't even the person you think you are. You simply are, and that must be enough."

MELKO, SR. (deceased): A petition has been filed by RICHARD W. MELKO, JR. in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting that RICHARD W. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take any actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. Bond is not required. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: June 18, 2014, 9:00 a.m. in Dept. No. 129, Room 2144atRidgewayFamilyRelationsCourthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826. IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. Lady Lancers Make All-CAL

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Five members of the Cordova High School softball team were honored for their success on the field by making all-Capital Athletic League accolades.

Lady Lancers selected for the first team were Megan Stacy, Brooke Stacy, Tiana Brown and Nikki Jones. Traci Mahony was named to the league's honorable mention list.

On the mound, Megan Stacy had an ERA of 1.26 with 126 strikeouts in 108 innings pitched. At the plate, Stacy had a .373 batting average and five doubles. Brooke Stacy was also a force at the plate for Cordova, which took second place in CAL at 7-3 and 12-5 overall, with a .333 batting average.

"We were probably not expected to get where we were," said Cordova head coach Lindy Willeford. "I don't think (Brooke Stacy) she's ever hit over .200 until this year. She did a good job."

Jones had a big bat in the Lancers' line-up, batting .551, seven doubles, 13 stolen bases and 13 RBIs. Brown, who was the Lancers' shortstop, had a perfect 1.000 fielding percentage, not allowing an error all season. She batted .353, and had 20 RBIs this season. Mahony batted .383.

Recently, the Lady Lancers held their awards banquet. Megan Stacy was named the Lancers' MVP. Jones earned the Outstanding Offense award. Brown was picked for Outstanding Defense and Brooke Stacy picked up the Coaches Award.

Willeford was pleased with the progress of her Lady Lancers that hit into high gear when league play started two months ago.

"We worked on our defense a lot more," Willeford said. "We have a lot of young kids. We got a lot more aggressive, and played better defense. I didn't think we'd hit as well as we did. For the most part of the season, people stepped up and hit pretty well."

Willeford loses only Brooke Stacy to graduation. Jones and Mahony are sophomores, Megan Stacy and Brown are juniors.

"She's a great kid," said Willeford of Brooke Stacy. "She's always been a steady, defensive player for us."

Next spring, Cordova plays in the Sierra Valley Conference, which is now Division IV, and should be contenders for the conference title. Cordova returns to the SVC for all sports starting in August.

"We got almost everyone returning, which is nice," Willeford said. "We should be a lot stronger next year." ★

LDS Recognized for Day of Community Service

Rancho Cordova, CA (MPG) - Rancho Cordova Council Member David Sander (second from left) presents a proclamation to Michael Goold, Alan Fisher, Christina Barnett, and Margret Snyder from The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (LDS) in recognition of their Day of Community Service. On April 26, 2014, 610 LDS members in Rancho Cordova provided 1,420 hours of service at the Cordova Recreation and Park District, Sacramento Valley Live Steamers Railroad Museum, St. John Vianney Catholic School, and the Cordova Food Locker. The volunteers completed work that included the restoring of a caboose, designing and completing two murals, installing a new roof, building up gravel along railroad tracks, constructing a partial walkway, adding new flower beds, landscaping acres of park, cleaning out portions of a pond, washing and waxing tractors, and painting locomotive steaming bays, picnic tables, buildings, curbs, blacktop lines, areas around two pools, and a United States map on blacktop. When you join a service club, you do so to help in your local community and not because you seek attention for your efforts. However, there are occasions when members are recognized for their service. The Rancho Cordova Kiwanis is proud to say that several of its members - Sharon Racine, Dee Cee Lee, Larry Ladd and Alan Withers, - have been recognized for their active roles in the Kiwanis Key Club at Cordova High School and Kinney High School. Through their efforts, students from both schools were awarded scholarships for academic achievements. Each Kiwanis member was presented with an "Outstanding Service Award" and Sharon Racine was singled out as the "Outstanding Key Club" advisor for 2013-14. Congratulations!

The Key Club is the high school version of Kiwanis and its members assist Kiwanis with acts of service in the community like helping with the Rancho Cordova Food Locker or the "Family Fun Day in the Park." Key Club members learn leadership skills by running their own meetings, electing officers, planning service projects and attending local and regional Kiwanis conferences

These young members are so dedicated and involved that the Cordova High Key Club was recognized by the Kiwanis District 44 South Region as the "Outstanding Key Club" for volunteering the most service hours in the local area. All of the Key Club students deserve a round of applause! There is no doubt in my mind that these "about-to-be college freshman" will continue to volunteer and choose the Circle K Clubs (Kiwanis) that exist on college campuses.

Now, with the summer months approaching, we are reminded that our annual City of Rancho Cordova July 4th Parade is well into the planning stages. Kiwanis has played an instrumental role in the organizing of this event, and a big "thank you" goes to Kiwanis member Joe Gilbert for his years of commitment as the "point person" for this successful parade. This will be the last year that the Rancho Cordova Kiwanis Club will be one of the lead agencies, as other groups are stepping forward to assist the City in operating this worthwhile community event.

RC Kiwanis meets every Thursday at 7 am at the IHOP on Sunrise. Interested individuals/couples who want to know more about Kiwanis and how we support the community should attend a meeting.

On a personal note: I'd like to take a moment here to recognize an important individual in our City, and my former boss, Neil Orchard. Neil retired after 36 years with the Cordova Park District and guided our area through many positive changes, one of them being the building of the Senior Center. There was a dedication and renaming of the Cordova Senior Center on May 30, 2014. The facility is now called the "Neil Orchard Senior Activities Center." Kiwanis salutes you, Neil! ★

Come Swing with the Band

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Take a sentimental journey with the Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band June 14, as they host a fundraising concert and dance at the Marriott Hotel in Rancho Cordova.

"Those Were the Days" features great "big band" sounds playing tunes including "Sentimental Journey," "In the Mood," "Tuxedo Junction," and more.

If the sound of those great standards don't get you on your feet, the instructors on hand to perform dance demonstrations and teach dance steps surely will.

The fun starts at 6 p.m. and continues until 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 14 at the Marriott's Grand Ballroom, 11211 Point East Drive. Tickets are $20 each, and include hors d'oeuvres, Starbucks coffee, dessert pairings and wine tasting by R. Merlo Winery and beer tasting by the American River Brewing Company of Rancho Cordova. No-host cocktails will also be available.

The dance and concert begins at 7 p.m.

Featured performers include the Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band and the RC Swing Band, the newest addition to the local musical line-up.

Proceeds from the event will benefit Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band activities in the community, and will help prepare the band to host the 2105 Association of Concert Bands National Convention in April 2015.

The band is also hoping to establish a scholarship fund for graduating music students from the Folsom Cordova Unified School District.

The Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band is sponsored by the Cordova Community Council, City of Rancho Cordova, Folsom Cordova Unified School District, Golden State Water Company and SMUD. ★

"Eyewash" Ethics

By Doug Haaland, Candidate - California Assembly District #8

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Post Hoc Ergo Propter Hoc - Any fan of the now famous and popular "West Wing" remembers when President Bartlett asked his staff in the oval office the English translation of this Latin phrase.

You'll also remember that our TV President provided the answer, "...after therefore because of it."

The "West Wing" approach would seem to be that taken by President Pro Tem Steinberg and his fellow Democrats in the Legislature when it comes to the issue of ethics as it relates to their friends in the legislative arena.

People across California have been shocked and disgusted by the continuing news stories involving State Senators and Assembly members indicted, convicted or accused of various crimes, or the subject of ethical complaints filed by their own staff. I believe that one of the reasons for such revulsion is the fact that we all expect our elected representatives to come to their offices guiding their actions with the words of former Congressman J.C. Watts, who once said, "Everyone tries to define this thing called Character. It's not hard. Character is doing what's right when nobody's looking."

Senator Ron Calderon, 12 years, Senator Rod Wright, 12 years, and Senator Leland Yee, 12 years.

These aren't the number of years each senator has been sentenced to prison. Rather, it's the number of years each one has served in the Legislature as an assemblyman and/or senator prior to their respective indictment or conviction.

While it's difficult to imagine that there are more ways for officials to lower our expectations or our faith in government, those who purport to serve us and not themselves have managed to find it. I'm speaking about the most recent stories that report that instead of removing these officials who have violated our trust it has been decided that taxpayers should fund paid vacations while their respective cases await resolution.

What may be even more laughable is the fact that following the move to place the three

Senators on a paid vacation, it was decided by the leader of the Senate that what was required to "...repair some of the damage that has been wrought..." was to hold a two-hour ethics training session.

Senator Calderon is age 56, Senator Wright is 61, and Senator Yee is 65, so the question becomes at what point in their collective lives did the question of following the rule of law or engaging in ethical behavior become murky? Does anyone truly believe that an ethics training class lasting less time than the average fundraiser held by any one of these politicians would have made a difference prior to being caught by the authorities?

It's time for the people of California to get more than eyewash ethics. It's time for officeholders who commit themselves to restoring trust or who pledge themselves to "...restoring the Legislature's honor" to stop talking and start acting. Talk for the purpose of getting elected seems to have resulted in the belief that two hours of training is all that is needed. ★

Around the Horn

•The Toronto Blue Jays, the hottest team in baseball right now, have built a modest 3.5-game lead in the AL East. While the pitching staff has been at its best so far this season, the three-headed run-producing monster of Edwin Encarnacion, Jose Bautista and Adam Lind has been unstoppable. In the seven games last week, the three combined to bat .449 with eight home runs, 20 RBIs, 24 runs and 13 extra-base hits.

•After more than 1,500 plate appearances without a home run, it would be understandable for Ben Revere of the Philadelphia Phillies to savor the moment after going deep for the first time. But according to the website taterottracker.com, which tracks such things, Revere circled the bases in 21.96 seconds. That's longer than the average, but not in the top 10 longest trots this season. David Ortiz of the Boston Red Sox owns the six longest jogs around the bases this season and seven of the top 10. He owns the only four home run trots longer than 30 seconds.

•Heading into the May 27 game between Cleveland and the White Sox, Justin Masterson of the Indians was 5-0 in six career starts vs. the Sox. Chris Sale of Chicago was 1-4 with an 8.04 ERA in his previous five outings against Cleveland. Was there any doubt how this game would turn out? Actually, both pitchers were solid through three innings of work when showers caused a one hour, 58-minute rain delay. Neither pitcher came back out after the interruption.

•Through May 26, Giancarlo Stanton of the Miami Marlins had six home runs of more than 440 feet this season. That total was more than any other team.

AL Player of the Week

Nelson Cruz, Baltimore

For the second consecutive week, Cruz is our AL Player of the Week. He was hit on the hand in his second plate appearance on Sunday, which ended his 12-game hitting streak. Last week, the slugger batted .476 with four home runs and seven extra-base hits. He raised his season average from .295 to .314.

NL Pitcher of the Week

Mark Buehrle, Toronto

The 35-year-old lefthander is putting together the best season of his career. He increased his record to 10-1 last week with wins over Tampa Bay and Kansas City. He gave up only three earned runs in the win over the Rays, then held the Royals scoreless for eight innings.

NL Player of the Week

A.J. Pollock, Arizona

A dismal season in Arizona got a little worse over the weekend. The Diamondbacks' centerfielder was hit in the hand and will miss a couple of months after surgery to repair a fracture. Pollock was the hottest hitter in the NL with a .522 average and 1.593 OPS last week. He had three three-hit games and scored multiple runs four times. Eight of his 15 hits went for extra bases.

NL Pitcher of the Week

Tim Hudson, San Francisco

The 38-year-old righthander has turned into one of the best free-agent signings of the off-season. Last week, in two starts, Hudson pitched seven scoreless innings against the Cubs and followed with another seven scoreless at St. Louis. He allowed just nine hits and two walks.

Farm Report

Robert Stephenson, SP, Cincinnati

The Reds could use an influx of offense from the minor leagues, but it appears the best prospect available is a starting pitcher. Stephenson pitches for Double-A Pensacola and is just 2-5 in 11 starts. But in 61 innings, he's allowed just 46 hits and struck out 67.

Austin Hedges, C, San Diego

With the recent trade of catcher Nick Hundley, the Padres may already be looking to the future with this elite defensive backstop.

Weekend on Tap

Los Angeles Dodgers at Colorado

The Rockies have struggled a bit of late and fallen back to .500, but Colorado and the Dodgers both have aspirations of chasing down the San Francisco Giants in the NL West. This series will feature superb pitching against the best lineup in the National League in the best hitter's park in the majors. Hyun-Jin Ryu, Zack Greinke and Clayton Kershaw will take the mound for the Dodgers. Greinke is one of the best starters in the NL this season. Kershaw, a three-time NL ERA champ, has fought through injuries this season, but is rounding into shape. Can they shut down a lineup that features NL MVP candidate Troy Tulowitzki and Carlos Gonzalez in Denver?

Oakland at Baltimore

Oakland, the best team in the American League, travels to the East Coast this week to face the Yankees and Orioles. AL Cy Young candidate Sonny Gray will face Baltimore's Wei-Yin Chen, who leads the O's with six wins. The finale will see Scott Kazmir of Oakland and Baltimore's Ubaldo Jimenez, teammates in Cleveland last season, on the hill.

Boston at Detroit

Two teams with playoff plans this season have been terribly inconsistent over the past few weeks. Aces Jon Lester of Boston and Max Scherzer of Detroit will face each other on Saturday. The Tigers' most consistent starter, Anibal Sanchez, will pitch Sunday.

Athlon Spotlight

2017 American League All-Stars

The site for the 2016 MLB All-Star Game hasn't been announced yet, but we're already looking ahead to 2017. Here's a fun look at who might be on the American League All-Star Team in 2017. The NL team appeared last week.

George Springer, RF, Houston

The speedy outfielder with power leads off for the AL, a squad that has a distinctly Houston tilt.

Jose Altuve, 2B, Houston

By 2017, Altuve will be a household name all around the league, not just in Houston.

Mike Trout, CF, Los Angeles

I'm going out on a limb and suggest that Trout will have a pair MVP trophies by the time he suits up for this game.

Jose Abreu, 1B, Chicago

The slugger from Cuba will continue to be the best first baseman in the AL for the next three seasons.

Josh Donaldson, 3B, Oakland

Donaldson will be a fan favorite and easily win the vote to start the 2017 game.

Yoenis Cespedes, DH, Oakland

A talented outfielder now, Cespedes will see most of his at-bats at the DH position in 2017.

Sal Perez, C, Kansas City

The Royals' backstop will be the best at his position both offensively and defensively.

Byron Buxton, LF, Minnesota

Twins fans can't wait to see what this young prospect can do. Three years from now, he'll seem like a seasoned veteran.

Carlos Correa, SS, Houston

The No. 1 overall pick in 2012, Correa will make his first All-Star appearance five years later, one year sooner than Derek Jeter did.

Yu Darvish, SP, Texas

The Rangers' ace will still be in top form in 2017.

Reserves

Mike Zunino, C, Seattle

By 2017, there will be a shortage of talent behind the plate in the AL. But Zunino will be All-Star worthy.

Eric Hosmer, 1B, Kansas City

A .290-20-90 line with 40 doubles should be the norm for Hosmer between now and then.

Micah Johnson, 2B, Chicago

The speedster will make the 2017 team as a rookie.

Dustin Pedroia, 2B, Boston

The old man from Boston will be the only rep from the Red Sox.

Robinson Cano, 2B, Seattle

Cano will have been robbed of power numbers in Seattle, but his bat will continue to be one of the most feared in the AL.

Nick Castellanos, 3B, Detroit

Castellanos and Austin Jackson will be the heart of the Tigers' batting order by 2017.

Addison Russell, SS, Oakland

The talented shortstop will start his share of All-Star Games, but not before 2018.

Manny Machado, SS, Baltimore

His 51 doubles last season are but a glimpse of things to come. Once he improves his plate discipline, he'll be in the heart of MVP talk.

Adam Eaton, OF, Chicago White Sox

The catalyst of the White Sox offense will be a lock to score 100 runs a season between now and 2017.

Michael Brantley, OF, Cleveland

The Indians' veteran will be hitting his prime at age 30.

Chris Sale, SP, Chicago

The lanky lefty may have a few injury issues over the next few seasons, but he'll be among the best in the league.

Kevin Gausman, SP, Baltimore

Baltimore fans can't wait to see him in the rotation full-time.

Yu Darvish (left), ace of the Texas Rangers, and Manny Machado, a rising star for the Baltimore Orioles, are destined to be American League All-Stars in 2017, and perhaps beyond.

Darvish, Joe Robbins; Machado, Bruce Schwartzman

Manny Banuelos, SP, New York

Once considered a high prospect, Banuelos is recovering from Tommy John surgery and will be tough in 2017.

David Price, SP, Tampa Bay

The likelihood that Price is still pitching for Tampa Bay in 2017 is not high. The likelihood that he's on the All-Star team is pretty great.

Tyler Skaggs, SP, Los Angeles

Acquired from the Diamondbacks for Mark Trumbo, Skaggs has been the young ace the Angels have been searching for.

Sonny Gray, SP, Oakland

Fans in Oakland believe Gray should be starting the 2017 game rather than Darvish. Maybe they're right.

Taijuan Walker, SP, Seattle

The heir apparent to King Felix in Seattle enjoys a coming-out party in 2015, and his second All-Star appearance will come in 2017.

Felix Hernandez, SP, Seattle

Walker is still the heir, not the King.

Matt Moore, SP, Tampa Bay

Moore will be an All-Star vet in three years.

Dylan Bundy, SP, Baltimore

The young righthander will prove to be much better on the road than at Camden Yards.

Trevor Bauer, SP, Cleveland

Bauer will develop much slower than the Indians will like, but he'll finally make the All-Star team in 2017.

Dellin Betances, CL, New York

The next dominant Yankees closer.

Bruce Rondon, CL, Detroit

The Tigers expected him to be their closer by 2013 and an All-Star by 2015. He's running about two years late.

Ajay Meyer, CL, Toronto

The 2017 rookie will be deserving in his own right, but will be the Jays' only rep.

Turn Back the Clock

June 4, 1972

It is a day of little offense in Major League Baseball. There are a record eight shutouts, five in the American League and three in the National League. The Oakland A's blank the Baltimore Orioles in both games of a doubleheader, winning 2-0 in both games. Two Hall of Famers join the whitewashing party with complete game shutouts — Catfish Hunter wins the first game against the Orioles, and Bob Gibson blanks the Dodgers. Three other hurlers — Houston's Don Wilson, Detroit's Tom Timmermann and Boston's John Curtis — pitch complete game shutouts as well. As a side note, three other teams scored just one run.

Numbers Game

- 13 Home runs for Edwin Encarnacion of the Toronto Blue Jays since May 6, the most in the majors during that time. With 16 homers in May, the Blue Jays' slugger hit more bombs than the Royals (13) and Cardinals (11) hit as a team.
- 0 Triples for the Detroit Tigers in the month of May. The Tigers were the only team in baseball without a three-bagger in the month.
- 1,565 Career plate appearances for Ben Revere of Philadelphia before hitting the first home run of his career on May 27.
- .000 Batting average of left-handed hitters vs. lefthander Chris Sale of the Chicago White Sox. Lefties are 0-for-32 with two walks.
- .600 Batting average of Milwaukee's Jean Segura in the first inning since becoming the team's leadoff hitter. Over his first 10 games, the shortstop is 6-for-10 with six runs scored in the first inning.
- 3.22 Pitches per plate appearance for Alexei Ramirez of the White Sox, which ranks 172 of 174 players with enough plate appearances to qualify.

Trivia Corner

On May 26, Houston's George Springer became the sixth player since 1961 to have at least five runs, four hits, three RBIs, two doubles, a home run and a walk in a game. Can you name the other player to accomplish that this season?

TRIVIA ANSWER: Paul Goldschmidt did it on May 17, a performance that included a couple of homers and six RBIs.

DA Jan Scully Honored With Top Leadership Award

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California District Attorneys Association (CDA) announced that retiring Sacramento County District Attorney Jan Scully has been selected for the 2014 Edwin L. Miller Leadership Award. * This award is the highest honor paid to an elected district attorney in California.

In the nomination letter signed by 11 elected district attorneys throughout the state, Scully's colleagues asserted, "Jan's tenure as District Attorney has been marked by her leadership in a wide variety of areas - creating new programs and initiatives with respect to victims, underserved neighborhoods, and disadvantaged groups, addressing old problems in new ways, confronting emerging problems, and building within the law enforcement agencies and the justice system to ensure effective prosecution following the highest ethical standards." The nomination letter inventories a variety of Scully's accomplishments, concluding that she "has exemplified integrity, devotion and leadership in the criminal justice arena for two decades as the Sacramento County District Attorney."

It goes on to state "...in constructing collaborative partnerships, in building bridges and reaching out to a wide range of ethnic and cultural groups, and in doing so with a commitment to the highest standards of professionalism and integrity, she has been a leader and example for all prosecutors." Scully was elected president of CDA in 2005, the first woman to hold that position.

Scully's nomination package includes a letter from the Sacramento County Superior Court signed by an unprecedented 25 Superior Court judges. The letter concludes, "In two decades, Jan Scully has served as a leader with a unique ability to recognize needs, envision programs, and foster collaborations to the benefit of a wide range of parties, and to all citizens served by the criminal justice system. She is well deserving of CDA's highest award."

Also included is a letter from National District Attorneys

Association (NDAA) President Henry Garza who stated, "Jan's career as an elected District Attorney and leader among prosecutors on both the state and national stages make her especially deserving of this award." Scully was elected as the first woman president of NDAA in 2011.

"It is an incredible honor to receive this award and I am truly grateful for the support and recognition of my peers and colleagues," said District Attorney Jan Scully. "With my retirement drawing nearer, I look back on my tenure with great pride and will continue working to ensure a safe, violence-free community through the final months of my term." ★
