Woo-hoo! for Kids Day

Up to 1,000 free bicycle helmets have been provided by the Sierra Sacramento Valley Medical Society Alliance, through a community grant aimed at improving wellness in the region, an will surely be a highlight of this year's Kids Day event.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - There will be no shortage of giggles – or free bike helmets -- this weekend when Kids Day in the Park celebrates its 25th Anniversary at Hagan Park in Rancho Cordova. Sponsored by the City of Rancho Cordova, Sacramento County and a host of other sponsors, Kid's Day has exploded to become one of the largest children's events in the region. Organizers said they are working to assure it will be more fun than a barrel of monkeys on Saturday, April 26 at Hagan Park as Kids Day celebrates “Happy Birthday Kids Day” and provides a rollicking day of free activities, health screenings and parent resources. Honored earlier this year by the Sierra Sacramento Valley Medical Society with its “Community Medical Service Award,” Kids Day will also be the place for children to earn a free bicycle helmet by completing a safety course offered by the Rancho Cordova Police Activities League. Up to 1,000 free bicycle helmets have been provided by the Sierra Sacramento Valley Medical Society Alliance, through a community grant aimed at improving wellness in the region, an will surely be a highlight of this year's event. Kids Day was begun a quarter-century ago and has grown and evolved into a community-wide celebration of children which last year attracted more than 6,000 visitors. This year's event will feature crafts and games, children's entertainment and the popular Police Activities League (PAL) Bike Rodeo during which dozens of bicycles donated by the Sheriff's Toy Project and safety helmets from the Alliance and UC Davis Trauma service providers will be given away to lucky children. Great children's health is an objective of Kids Day, and organizers are working with health providers from Sacramento County and the Folsom Cordova Unified School District to present free hearing, vision and school readiness screenings for toddlers, reaching deep into the community to get kids off to a healthy start in the education. Kids Day runs from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, April 26 with no admission charge. Free parking is available nearby. Normal park entry fees apply for those who chose to park inside the park. Bolstered by an army of sponsors, the Kids Day event will offer more activities and fun than ever, said Amy Hiramoto, chair of the event. “We are hard at work putting

Crocker Art Museum Wins Prestigious National Award

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Sacramento's Crocker Art Museum received a Best Show award for excellence from the AICA-USA, one of 63 national sections comprising the International Association of Art Critics (AICA International), a non-governmental organization headquartered in Paris, France. Organized by William Breazeale, Ph.D., curator at the Crocker Art Museum, with guest curators Michael Duncan and Christopher Wagstaff, “wAn Opening of the Field: Jess, Robert Duncan, and Their Circle”, which first opened at the Crocker Art Museum, won an AICA-USA award for best thematic national show outside New York. “An Opening of the Field” reveals the complex interplay between poetry and art in the mid-century Bay Area cultural scene. Announced earlier today, the awards recognize excellence in art criticism and curatorial achievement in the conception and realization of exhibitions by galleries, museums, and related cultural institutions. Eighteen first and second-place winners in nine categories were selected from more than 140 exhibitions nominated by AICA-USA's national membership of more than 400 critics, curators, and scholars. “We are thrilled to receive this award for our provocative and powerful exhibition, and especially to be recognized for excellence amongst our peers from the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.; the Philadelphia Museum of Art; the Hirschhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden in Washington, D.C.; and, the Museum of Modern Art Chicago,” said Lial A. Jones, Mort and Marcy Friedman Director of the Crocker Art Museum.

Artist Jess Collins, known simply as Jess, and the poet Robert Duncan joined their lives in San Francisco in the early 1950s. In an era of unacceptance, these men formed one of the most fascinating artistic partnerships of the 20th century. At the epicenter of a remarkable circle of friends, Jess and Duncan shared an enduring, collaborative genius that inspired and changed the creative vision of a generation of artists and writers. This is the first exhibition to explore the couple's rich artistic production and relationship. Through more than 140 individual and collaborative works of art and personal letters drawn from private and public collections, this exhibition also looks at their influence and unique position as precursors of Postmodernism. Food Literacy Center Expands, Holds Open House Celebration

Local Nonprofit Invites Community To Celebrate New Office, Staff And Name Change

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Craft stations, cooking demos, wine and small bites will abound at the open house celebration of Food Literacy Center's expansion into a new space on the second floor of the Medical Society building at 5380 Elvas Avenue, Sacramento, from 5:30-8 p.m. on May 1. Guests will have the opportunity to meet Food Literacy Center's students, who will be cooking and serving bites. Guests also can meet the center's food literacy advocates, board members and staff, tour the office and try food literacy activities ranging from tasting plant parts such as edible flowers to learning about sugar. RSVP to elaine@californiafoodliteracy.org.

"Our new office is a milestone symbolic of how far we've come," said Amber Stott, founding executive director. "Our progress has been a team effort, and for those who haven't yet met the team or experienced our fun approach to food literacy, our open house is your chance."

The event also celebrates Food Literacy Center's expansion of staff. The organization has two paid staff and will begin looking for a program manager in the next month. With the expansion, the local nonprofit also changed its name from California Food Literacy Center to Food Literacy Center.

"While we remain devoted to teaching food literacy in the Sacramento region, we also offer the most comprehensive food literacy curriculum in the country, and we receive speaking and teaching requests from across the United States," Stott said. "We are the central resource for food literacy, and we want our name to reflect that."

Thanks to community support and a strong volunteer base, the center has been able to expand despite a $130,000 annual budget.

"It was quite an accomplishment for a three-year-old nonprofit to raise $130,000 in one year," Stott said. "When you compare that to larger local nonprofits whose budgets range from $1.5-12 million, we are doing a lot on a small budget. With 70 active volunteers and a hardworking staff, we know how to stay focused, lean and hit our goals. But if we want to make sure all kids have access to food literacy, we need to double our budget in 2014."

Leaders of the center will discuss growth plans further at the open house on May 1.

Food Literacy Center was established in July 2011 to educate and inspire low-income children to eat healthy food. Students learn fruit and vegetable appreciation, how to read nutrition labels, basic cooking skills and environmental impacts of their food choices. The nonprofit also runs the Food Literacy Academy, which trains community members as food literacy advocates. To date, the nonprofit has 70 active volunteers and serves 2,400 kids annually. After just three months of food literacy education, 70 percent of students request the foods they have tasted in class, including broccoli, celery and oranges. Ninety-two percent of K-1st grade students say healthy food tastes good, and 88 percent of children understand how to read a nutrition label. To make a donation: www.californiafoodliteracy.org.

Rancho Cordova Recognized for Citizens Financial Report

City Finds Better Way to Tell Residents About Finances

A team of City of Rancho Cordova employees collaborated to create the award-winning Citizens' Financial Report. Pictured left to right: Assistant to the City Manager David Gassaway, Senior Management Analyst in the City Manager's Office Stephanie Snyder, Finance Director Donna Silva, Public Works Management Technician Dana Grossi, Housing and Neighborhood Development Analyst Jessica Hayes, and Public Works Management Technician Maria Lopez.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Recognizing that financial reporting documents are not always the easiest for residents to read, the City of Rancho Cordova changed the way it reported financial accomplishments to citizens. In 2012, the City created a new Citizens' Financial Report. The new report is a colorful, easy-to-read, and graphic-based four page document that was distributed in the City's quarterly newsletter that reaches every City address.

"We wanted to produce a financial report that was short, informative, and interesting to read," said City of Rancho Cordova Finance Director Donna Silva. "We were hoping that people would read it at the breakfast table and that it would spark conversation about the great things happening in our community."

The City's innovative approach to reporting appears to have worked. The California Association of Public Information Officers (CAPIO) recently recognized the Citizen's Financial Report with the organization's top honor, the Excellence in Communications Award. The award recognized the City in the Special Innovation category for demonstrating leadership, innovation, and success for its Citizens' Financial Report.

Each year, the City is legally required to produce a Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR), a 200-plus page document that deeply details the financial operations of the City. The CAFR is effective at relaying complex financial information to industry professionals, but does little to help the common citizen understand the finances of a government. The City has been recognized in the past with the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for their CAFR documents - an industry staple for well-run finance departments.

"After being recognized by our peers for financial reporting, we felt compelled to innovate a better way of sharing information with citizens," said Silva. "I am very proud that we have been recognized for producing a communications document out of financial information. That may just be a first for local government."

The City plans to continue developing the annual financial report to communicate with residents and businesses. The 2012-13 Citizens' Financial Report is available by visiting www.CityofRanchoCordova.org, clicking on Government, Finance, and Citizens' Financial Report. ★

Largest Marijuana Bust in Citrus Heights History

By Jennifer Trovato

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - At about midnight on April 9th, marijuana, cash, weapons and ammunition were seized in the biggest drug case in Citrus Heights history. The Citrus Heights Police Department's Special Investigations Unit (SIU) and the Post-Release Community Supervision (PRCS) enforcement team were responsible for the investigation that led to the raid and the arrest of two suspects.

"This is by far the largest drug case we've ever had here in Citrus Heights," said CHPD Chief Boyd.

In total, 858 pounds of marijuana with a street value of approximately 2.5 million dollars was seized from an El Dorado Hills residence. The firearms consisted of four semi-automatic handguns, one semi-automatic rifle and two semi-automatic restricted/assault rifles.

Jeremy Zahn

The El Dorado Hills residence appears to be the base of the packaging and distribution operation and is suspected to have been in operation since September of 2013. It was not the grow location, which is currently unknown.

31 year old Citrus Heights resident, Jeremy Zahn, was arrested for transportation of marijuana, possession of marijuana for sale, and violation of his PRCS condition. He was booked at the Sacramento County Jail. A second suspect, 23 year old Lindsay Loya of Laverne, CA, was arrested on Tuesday, April 22nd in Los Angeles County on Sacramento County warrants for transportation of marijuana and possession for sale of marijuana. An arrest warrant has also been issued for a third, unnamed suspect, who is still at large.

The task force believes that Loya and the third suspect were the main players and that Zahn was working for them.

"At this point, the case has been submitted to the Sacramento County District Attorney's office, but the investigation is continuing," said Chief Boyd.

A traffic stop on the 8300 Block of Oak Avenue approximately six to eight weeks prior, led to the raid of the El Dorado Hills residence. Officers found approximately 48 pounds of packaged, vacuum sealed, processed marijuana in the back of Zahn's vehicle. The packages consisted of three sealed boxes and all were prepared to ship to out of state addresses. The traffic stop was a result of an on-going SIU/PRCS enforcement team investigation involving Zahn, and led to the issuing of arrest warrants and a search warrant for the El Dorado Hills residence. The SIU and PRCS joined forces with the United States Department of Justice Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives and the United States Postal Inspection Service within 24 hours of the traffic stop.

Lindsay Loya

Approximately 810 pounds of marijuana was discovered at the El Dorado Hills residence, much of which was hidden behind a false wall. Two large safes contained additional marijuana, seven firearms, ammunition, high capacity magazines, and $464,850.00 in US currency.

Evidence seized during the search indicates the suspects had been shipping marijuana outside of California.

The Citrus Heights Police Department's SIU/ PRCS enforcement team was created in the spirit of agency cooperation, regionalization, and collaboration in response to prison realignment. The unit is a multi-agency team consisting of a Citrus Heights Police sergeant and detectives, a detective from the Folsom Police Department, and a full time assigned Probation Officer from the Sacramento County Probation Department. The mission of the team is to monitor Post-Release Community Supervision offenders. The task force routinely checks on offenders at home and at work, conducts surveillance and gathers and follows evidence.

Prison realignment was instituted to reduce prison populations and became effective on October 1, 2011. PRCS is a new status in addition to probation and parole, and requires that a County agency supervise any convicted felon released from state prison with a committing offense that was non-violent, non-serious, and not a high-risk sex offense, or inmates committed after admitting one serious or violent prior. The Sacramento Probation Department has been designated by the Board of Supervisors as the supervising County agency for the PRCS offender group.

The Citrus Heights Police Department's investigation is on-going. Anyone with information about this investigation is encouraged to contact Sergeant Wheaton of the Citrus Heights Police Department at (916) 727-5500.

June 3 Primary is Only 39 Days From Now

By Bob McGarvey

The clock keeps ticking and the June 3rd primary is only 39 days after you read this issue of the "Rancho Cordova Grapevine Independent". As I said last week, approval of Proposition 41 will let us finish Proposition 12 that we passed overwhelmingly five years ago with a bond that will help our veterans purchase housing. The other proposition, Proposition 42, was put on the ballot by the Legislature. What I have heard is that information from local agencies' (special districts, counties, and cities but not State agencies) must be given to the public because it is the public's right to know what their government is doing.

I'm not sure why the Legislature DIDN'T include themselves in this proposition, but what they DID include was transferring the cost of complying with the California Public Records Act from the State to local governments. In other words, paying the cost of $10s of millions of dollars to comply with the law would no longer be imposed upon the State. It would be up to the special districts, counties, and cities to come up with the $10s of millions of dollars instead. It would be worth your while to read up on the propositions before you make a decision. The Public Records Act would be incorporated into the California State Constitution by Proposition 42 and would force local government agencies to pay the cost of all requests in full. George Bernard Shaw said, "A government that robs Peter to pay Paul can always depend on the support of Paul." I guess "Paul" is another name for the State government.

Usually in election years, it isn't hard to find someone outside of stores asking for your signature on whatever proposition they may be working on. Sometimes they are volunteers and other times they are paid signature gatherers, trying to get enough qualified signatures to put a proposition on the ballot. On April 17th, there was someone trying to get signatures for a proposition that would legalize marijuana. I'm not sure if it is for the upcoming November 4th election, but I have to admit that I don't have time to put my signature on a proposition that would put a controlled substance on the streets.

As most residents of Rancho Cordova know, our City Council has denied permits to anyone who is trying to open a marijuana shop in our city limits. Federal law still shows marijuana as an illegal drug and until the law is either changed and/or removed, it will remain listed in the City of Rancho Cordova as an illegal drug. There are many smart people here who know they shouldn't have to depend on a drug. I like Bill Cosby's idea: "A word to the wise ain't necessary - it's the stupid ones that need the advice." ★

From Vice Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time.

Rancho Cordova, and what could be done to improve business conditions in Rancho Cordova.
The program’s main purpose was to build relationships with the 50,000 workers employed in Rancho Cordova. Being the second largest employer in the Sacramento Region, the City wanted an effective way to engage local businesses.
“Our employees connected with the businesses they often talk to on the phone or help with permits, licenses, and so forth each day,” said City Economic Development Director Curt Haven. “Businesses had a safe environment to share their concerns and needs with our employees. This one-on-one connection is invaluable to developing a trusting business relationship with one another.”

Because surveys took place throughout a year, the City also gathered a complete picture of the local economy. The City learned that business is improving for the majority of companies and is at the “great/good” level.

Battle of the Wilderness Civil War Reenactment at Gibson Ranch Park

By Linda Harper

NORTH SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - May, 1864: “General Grant, promoted to commander of the Union Armies, planned to engage Lee’s forces in Virginia until they were destroyed. North and South fought in an inconclusive battle in the Wilderness. Lee inflicted more casualties on the Union forces than his own army incurred, but unlike Grant, he had no replacements.”
—Library of Congress, American Memory

May 4–May 22, 1864 marked a grueling battle that served as the crossroads of the Civil War and led to the conclusion of combat within America. The field of battle was 2100 square miles of Virginia wilderness with towering trees, thick underbrush, and swamps of brackish water. Each day, the resounding sounds of gunshots and booming cannon blasts rang through the region, including the sleepy community of Spotsylvania, VA.

General Grant and his Union men were camped on one side of the Rapidan River while General Lee’s Confederate Army was on the other side. The exchange of black powder musket fire caused massive, uncontrollable underbrush fires which burned to death wounded Union and Confederate soldiers alike before their comrades could rescue them.

Not believing that General Lee could reach the area until May 5th, Grant intended to advance to the West, consolidate troops and position his forces to attack the Confederates. Alerted to General Grant’s movements, Lee quickly devised a daring scheme to charge ahead and assault Union forces unexpectedly from the east. So began the infamous Civil War Battle of the Wilderness.

On Saturday, May 3rd and Sunday, May 4th, Gibson Ranch Park will host a Civil War Reenactment of the Battle of the Wilderness, with all the thrilling anticipation of the original conflict. This is the second year Gibson Ranch Park has been transformed into a living history destination for Civil War battles, featuring the National Civil War Association’s professional reenactors. The Ranch’s gently rolling hills and other natural amenities provide the perfect venue to recreate one of America’s most politically charged struggles, initiated 150 years ago.

The event will showcase life during the Civil War with living history camps, Civil War music and dancing, a mix of modern day and period food vendors, crafts representing the 1860s and a historical fashion show. Kids’ activities will be held in “Civilian Town.”

Two battles will be fought each day. On Saturday, the camps open at 9:00 a.m., the first battle is at 1:00 p.m., the second is at 4 p.m., and the camp closes at 5:00 p.m. On Sunday, the camps open at 9:00 a.m., the first battle is at 11:00 a.m., the second is at 2:00 p.m., and the camps will close at 3:00 p.m.

This year, Blood Source and Talk 650 KSTE are teaming up to help increase the valuable, life saving blood supply in our region. People can donate blood at any Blood Source or mobile unit to determine who the Civil War battle winner is. Donors can choose General Grant’s Union Army by using donor card #7001, or General Lee’s Confederate Army by using donor card #2100. Results will be announced at the beginning of each battle. Go to the Blood Source or Gibson Ranch Park Facebook page to see Dominick, Vince, and Michael duel each other.

A guest appearance by Armstrong and Getty’s after show staff is scheduled. IN MEMORIAM

Keith Dale Miller

05/03/1942 – 04/13/2014

Keith Dale Miller, (May 3, 1942 - April 13, 2014), devoted father, brother, English teacher, counselor, and coach, died Sunday, April 13, after a short bout with Pick’s disease (a fast acting form of dementia). He was 71.

Mr. Miller inspired and shaped the lives of thousands of students, athletes, and fellow teachers. He began his 38 year career teaching and coaching basketball at Mitchell Jr. High school in 1965. He led the Mitchell Marauders to several championships. After 18 years of teaching, he earned his Masters Degree and moved to Mills Jr. High as a counselor for 10 years, then moved to Cordova High as head counselor for 10 more years, before retiring in 2003.

Mr. Miller was born in Woodward, Oklahoma, the first of four, to Walter Miller, an auto mechanic, and Gene (Morris) Miller. He grew up in several towns with his mother, moving between cities in California and Oklahoma, while his father discovered his lifelong love of basketball and would devote the next 25 years to the sport, playing throughout jr. high and high school in Stockton, CA and back to Woodward, yet again. A basketball scholarship took him to Magic Valley Christian College in Idaho, and finally Pepperdine University, in Los Angeles, where he graduated with a degree in English.

Mr. Miller will be terribly missed and forever remembered for his eternal sense of humor, his passion for reading, his lifelong love of the Bible and Christian faith, and his unending devotion to his family, children and grandchildren.

Mr. Miller is survived by three children: Michael Miller, Sandra Headley, Christopher Miller; brother, Ken Miller; sister, Lynne Gaumer. He is also survived by four grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held: Saturday, April 26, 11am, Warehouse Ministries, 9933 Business Park Drive, Sacramento, CA 95827.

A public forum for thoughts and condolences can be posted at the Facebook page, “You May Not Remember Me, Mr. Miller” at: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/198593220320457> together a wonderful day for families to come out with their kids and enjoy green grass, fresh air and a lot of fun, free things to do,” she said. “But we also are paying attention to our parents and will load them up with plenty of resources and information, too.”

Rancho Cordova Arts will be helping children decorate a giant birthday cake, with the Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band entertains and teaches how to make homemade musical instruments.

The newly-formed Rancho Cordova Athletic Association, representing a wide range of youth sports leagues in the city, will also be on site with information about how children can sign up for organized play and be active.

The event will also feature an all-star line-up of talent on the Kids Day Stage, including fun and educational performances by the kid-friendly performers from Radio Disney, sponsored by the City of Rancho Cordova. A magic show, children’s dancer performances, a clown show and more are all lined up and ready to go on the Kids Stage.

When it comes time to burn off energy, kids can hop around in jump houses, climb aboard for a free street train ride and much more.

Children will enjoy visiting animals at a petting zoo sponsored by Sacramento County, and participating in craft projects, games and fun competitions. A Tot Zone full of free activities make it a party.

Lunch will be available for a nominal fee. Get a hot dog lunch for $3, or select from among kettle corn, shaved ice or gourmet food trucks coming for the event.

But while Kids Day is all about fun, there’s plenty of information and even free health screenings available, too.

Parents can get tips on how to prepare their children for school, mental health resources and how to access a wide range of free and private services for their kids.

Kid’s Day is sponsored by a wide range of community businesses, organizations and health providers, including: Cordova Recreation and Park District, City of Rancho Cordova, Sacramento County, Assemblyman Ken Cooley, Rancho Cordova Arts, Wells Fargo, Heald College, Sims Metal Management, Councilman Donald Terry, Real Estate America, Sheriff’s Toy Project, Rancho Cordova Rotarians in Action, Rancho Cordova Police Activities League, Folsom Cordova Unified School District, Republic Services, Heritage Community Credit Union, California Carnival Company and Golden State Water Company. The event is produced by the Cordova Community Council.

For more information, visit www.cordovacouncil.org or call the Cordova Community Council at 273-5704.

CORDOVA HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

Lancers Take 2nd Place in Their Own Tournament

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Bats made plenty of noises for the Cordova High School baseball team last week. Hosting its 44th 14 hits in victories over Mesa Verde, Redwood Christian and Golden Sierra. That led to the Lancers playing Narbonne for the tourney title. But the Lancers were held to one hit, as the Gauchos posted a 5-0 victory at the Lancers’ field on April 16. Cordova (11-9) had its lone hit was off the bat of Dominic Gentry, who smacked a single. Logan Appino and Zackary Tapia were walked in the game for the Lancers. Jerome Brown had two stolen bases in the contest. The Gauchos had five hits to match their runs in the win. Cordova 11, Mesa Verda 1 Tapia tossed a one-hitter in the April 15 game that included seven strikeouts. Jarrett Harris pitched the final two innings of the five-inning contest that was called because of the mercy rule. “Our philosophy has been throw to contact,” said Cordova skipper Guy Anderson during the tournament. At the plate, Cordova had six hits. Nigel Robinson and Gentry had two hits each in the game. Brandon Buck and Appino had a hit each. Another advantage the Lancers had was nine walks. Tylor Myers was walked two times. Ian Covey, Appino, Kurtis Simmons, Tapia, Gentry, Jarrett Harris and Buck had a walk each. Myers, Appino and Harris had a stolen base each. On Monday, Cordova returned to Capital Athletic League action at Rio Americano, which posted 3-2 win. The Lancers (5-3 in CAL) hosted Rio Americano on Wednesday. Today – Friday – Cordova continues league play at El Camino. On Monday, April 28, the Lancers host El Camino. Cordova will play its second league home game against Antelope on Wednesday, April 30. All games are scheduled to start at 4 p.m.★

Free Sailboat Rides!

Free sailboat rides and training will kick off the sailing season at Lake Washington Sailing Club’s newly renovated clubhouse near the Port of West Sacramento. Photo Courtesy Doug McWilliams

WEST SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The fresh breezes and sleek sailboats, with their colorful sails, will be featured again this year on Lake Washington in West Sacramento, California. Free sailboat rides and training will kick off the sailing season at Lake Washington Sailing Club’s newly renovated clubhouse near the Port of West Sacramento. Bring the whole family to the LWSC Clubhouse at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 3rd. The annual Open House event is a great opportunity to learn about the environmentally friendly sport of sailing. Our experienced sailors take members of the public for safe, free sailboat rides on beautiful and spacious Lake Washington, one of the best secret locations in the Sacramento area. The event ends at 3:30 p.m. The nonprofit sailing club hosts “Sail a Small Boat Day” each year. The club sails Coronado 15, Sunfish, Laser, Thistle, Lido 14 and other small sailboats. The friendly, accessible club was founded in 1934 and uses the Port of West Sacramento’s turning basin as an ideal recreational and training site. What a wonderful alternative to driving to San Francisco Bay to get the sailing experience. To get there: From the Capital City Freeway (highway 50), take the Harbor Boulevard exit south in West Sacramento. Proceed south on Harbor to Industrial Boulevard. Turn right. Drive another 800 feet to a left turn across the railroad tracks and follow signs to parking and the LWSC Clubhouse. ★ Source: Lake Washington Sailing Club, www.LWSailing.org

Around the Horn

• Much was made of the Dodgers' four-headed outfield over the winter and manager Don Mattingly repeatedly fielded questions about how he would make playing time work for former NL MVP Matt Kemp and All-Stars Carl Crawford, Andre Ethier and Yasiel Puig. Maybe a bit too much was made of the situation. As of Sunday, the quartet was hitting .226 and slugging just .387. Their teammates are picking up some slack. Combined, the rest of the Dodgers are batting .247 and slugging .409. The four-some's seven homers are just one more than the six players atop the NL with six each.

• Coming out of spring training, the Atlanta Braves were seemingly in panic mode. In fact, they hit the panic button during spring training by signing starting pitcher Ervin Santana. Why all the concern? Atlanta had lost two starting pitchers — Kris Medlen and Brandon Beachy — to season-ending elbow surgery. Another starter, Mike Minor, was nursing shoulder soreness, in an effort to salvage what could be from this season, the Braves added veteran Aaron Harang, who was released by Cleveland, late in training camp. The season appeared bleak. Then a crazy thing happened; the regular season began, and Atlanta's starting pitching has been the best in baseball. Harang evidently thinks he's the 1974 version of Buzz Capra. Youngster Julio Teheran is pitching like John Smoltz, and Santana, well, he's been as sharp as Phil Niekro was in his prime. Through the first 18 games, the Braves' starters have allowed more than two earned runs just once. David Hale gave up four runs, three earned, to the Mets on April 10.

AL Player of the Week

Albert Pujols, Los Angeles

He's baaaack! Well, we'll see after another month, but all appearances are that Mr. Pujols has found his old magic. He certainly made believers of the Tigers' and Athletics' pitchers last week. The Angels' first baseman raised his season average 40 points from .240 to .280 with three multi-hit games and a .360 average and a 1.189 OPS for the week. He hit three bombs and drove home seven runs.

AL Pitcher of the Week

Jesse Chavez, Oakland

Chavez was expected to pitch out of the bullpen this season, but injuries to Oakland starters forced manager Bob Melvin to insert the righthander into the rotation. He hasn't disappointed at all. Last week, Chavez limited the Angels and Astros to eight hits, three walks and three runs, only two earned. He struck out 15 while earning a win. The A's have won all four of his starts this season.

NL Player of the Week

Troy Tulowitzki, Colorado

The Rockies' shortstop is one of the best players in the game when he's healthy. Unfortunately, that's been a pretty big if throughout his career. But he's proven what a force he can be when on the field everyday. Last week, Tulowitzki batted .500 with a 1.439 OPS. He drove in six runs and scored eight times, aided by seven walks.

NL Pitcher of the Week

Lance Lynn, St. Louis

The big righthander spends most of his time in the shadows of teammates Adam Wainwright, Michael Wacha and Shelby Miller, but Lynn has been solid this season, and raised his performance level to terrific last week. In a pair of starts at Milwaukee and Washington, Lynn limited batters to just eight hits and six walks over 12.2 innings. He struck out 16 while earning the win in both games, posting an ERA of 0.71.

Farm Report

Francisco Lindor, SS, Cleveland

Considered by many to be the best defensive player in the minor leagues, the Indians have pushed the 20-year-old quickly. He is currently at Double-A Akron.

Jeter Watch

Next month, Derek Jeter will visit five stadiums for the final time. His career has spanned 20 seasons now and the most recent captain of the Yankees will end his illustrious career as one of the greatest Yankees ever.

Just a few of his notable achievements:

• Made his debut on May 29, 1995, at the Seattle Kingdome against the Mariners. He batted ninth and went 0-for-5. Buck Showalter was his manager, Wade Boggs played next to him at third base, Randy Velarde was his double-play partner and Don Mattingly played first. He hit a soft fly ball to right in his first at-bat off of Rafael Carmona.

• The first two hits of his career came the following day. After striking out looking in the second inning, he singled through the hole at short off of Tim Lincecum. He followed with another single up the middle before a walk against Jeff Nelson ended his day.

• His first postseason action came the following year as the Yankees defeated the Rangers and Orioles on their way to a World Series win over Atlanta. Jeter batted .361 in the postseason in 1996.

• The future Hall of Famer has a .390 career OBP when leading off an inning.

• He owns a .368 batting average against New York's other team. His .283 average against the Mariners is his lowest mark vs. any American League team. His .338 average vs. Cleveland is his highest.

• Only 18 active players have more career hits than the 1,669 hits Jeter has on the road.

Athlon Spotlight

Best 25-and-Under Team

If I had to win a championship with only players age 25 and younger, this would be my 25-man roster. For clarity, I considered ages as of Opening Day this season.

Catcher

Sal Perez, Kansas City

The Royals' backstop entered this season with a .301 career average and mad defensive skills that have resulted in nailing 34 percent of would-be base stealers.

First Base

Freddie Freeman, Atlanta

He'll turn 25 in September, but has already come into his own with a .413 batting average this season. Freeman was fifth in NL MVP voting last season and is well on his way to another high finish. He leads the majors in slugging and OPS.

Second Base

Anthony Rendon, Washington

Originally a third baseman, Rendon gives the squad some flexibility.

Third Base

Manny Machado, Baltimore

After suffering a serious knee injury late last season, Machado has yet to appear in a game this season. But he's still the best.

Shortstop

Andrelton Simmons, Atlanta

He is quickly becoming the new standard for defensive runs saved. Narrowly beats out Bogaerts for the starting spot.

Bryce Harper, Washington

This isn't as much of a no-brainer as you might think. Whether it's injuries or the league making adjustments, Harper has been rather ordinary for the past 11 months.

Center Field

Mike Trout, Los Angeles Angels

Clearly, Trout is the superstar on this team. If there were a media guide, Trout would grace the cover.

Right Field

Giancarlo Stanton, Miami

He's made news this season by hitting bombs in South Florida. What's lost in that hoopla is that he leads the majors with 26 ribbies.

Bench

C Devin Mesoraco, Cincinnati

The Reds committed to their rising star over the winter, handing him the everyday job behind the plate. He's rewarded the club with a .515 batting average and 1.522 OPS through Sunday.

1B Eric Hosmer, Kansas City

Still looking for his first home run this season, he's averaged 17 with 72 RBIs over the past three years.

2B Dee Gordon, Los Angeles Dodgers

The speedster's move from shortstop to second has improved his defense.

3B Nolan Arenado, Colorado

He won a Gold Glove as a rookie last season and batted .267. His bat is steadily improving.

SS Xander Bogaerts, Boston

At the tender age of 21, he has handled the pressure cooker of Boston without batting an eye.

OF Yasiel Puig, Los Angeles Dodgers

In only 104 games last season, the Cuban native easily led the majors in excitement. The Dodgers are still trying to raise the positive-to-negative excitement ratio.

OF Jason Heyward, Atlanta

The Braves began to surge last season when he was inserted into the leadoff spot. Atlanta's right fielder just edges out Wil Myers for the final roster spot.

Starting Pitchers

Madison Bumgarner, San Francisco

Mike Trout (left), and Freddie Freeman should both garner MVP votes this season.

The Giants' ace has 51 wins, but won't turn 25 until this August. He is the dean of this rotation.

Jose Fernandez, Miami

In 2013-14, Miami is 20-12 when Fernandez starts, 51-98 when he doesn't.

Chris Sale, Chicago White Sox

After going 28-22 with a 3.06 ERA and 1.103 WHIP over the past two seasons, the ace of the White Sox is off to an even better start in 2014.

Stephen Strasburg, Washington

The No. 1 overall pick in 2009 has struggled out of the gate this season, but he brought a 1.073 career WHIP into 2014 after 75 starts.

Michael Wacha, St. Louis

The youngster captivated fans on his way to the NLCS MVP award last October. After four starts in 2014, his ERA is a run less than last season.

Bullpen

Gerrit Cole, Pittsburgh (Long Relief)

He proved his mettle with two solid starts against the Cardinals in the NLDS last fall.

Julio Teheran, Atlanta (Long Relief)

He hurled a three-hit shutout over

Philadelphia his last time out.

Trevor Rosenthal, St. Louis (Setup)

In his first season as full-time closer, Rosie has five saves and an extra-inning loss to start 2014.

Kevin Siegrist, St. Louis (Setup)

There may be better choices as short setup men — like Cody Allen of the Indians or Carlos Martinez of St. Louis — but in 55 career games covering 47 innings, Siegrist has 59 strikeouts and 42 hits and walks combined. He's given up just four extra-base hits. That, and this bullpen needs at least one lefty.

Craig Kimbrel, Atlanta (Closer)

The Braves' fireballer turns 26 this May, so this will be his final appearance on this team. He inherits the mantle of best closer in the game from Mariano Rivera.

Tough to Omit

Jean Segura, Milwaukee; Jose Altuve, Houston; Christian Yelich, Miami; George Springer, Houston; Anthony Rizzo, Chicago Cubs; Wil Myers, Tampa Bay; Carlos Martinez, St. Louis; Cody Allen, Cleveland

Turn Back the Clock

April 28, 1988

With Hall of Famers Eddie Murray and Cal Ripken anchoring the lineup in every game, the Baltimore Orioles manage to lose 21 consecutive games to start the season. The O's would win the following day at Chicago.

April 26, 1980

Lefty Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies pitches his sixth one-hitter, defeating his old team, the St. Louis Cardinals. Ted Simmons singles in the second inning and walks in the seventh for the only two baserunners allowed by Carlton, who never pitched a no-hitter. The first of his six one-hitters came in 1968 as a pitcher for the Cardinals.

Numbers Game

|-------|--|
| 498 | Career home runs for the Angels' Albert Pujols. With two more, Pujols will become the 26th member of the 500 Home Run Club. |
| 19 | Runs scored by Brian Dozier of the Minnesota Twins, the highest total in the majors. The Twins' shortstop is batting just .219 with 16 hits. |
| 26 | At-bats with the bases loaded this season for the Twins, the highest total in the majors. Minnesota batters are hitting .269 in those situations, plus a majors' best four bases-loaded walks. |
| 4.42 | Pitches per plate appearance for Atlanta starter Aaron Harang, who evidently doesn't mind going deep into counts. |
| 3.14 | Pitches per plate appearance for Henderson Alvarez of the Marlins, making him the most efficient pitcher in the bigs. |
| +.083 | Difference in Oakland's batting average with runners in scoring position (.244) and that of their opponents (.161), the largest gap in majors. |
| -.089 | Difference in Arizona batting average with runners in scoring position (.201) and that of their opponents (.290), the largest deficit in majors. |

Trivia Corner

Recently, Evan Longoria hit home run No. 164 to become the all-time home run leader for Tampa Bay, passing Carlos Pena. Can you name the only other current player who is a franchise's career home run leader?

Walter G. Arce, Sr.

31 behind Uggla.
154. Giancarlo Stanton is currently in sixth place.
Dan Uggla, who now plays for the Braves.
