RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Members of the Sacramento Cordova Stake of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be painting, planting, and providing general maintenance work on the annual Day of Community Service. Several hundred participants will work from 8-11 a.m. on Saturday, April 26th, in several different Rancho Cordova locations.

This year Hagan Community Park, the Sacramento Valley Live Steamers located in Hagan

Park, St. John Vianney Catholic School, and the Cordova Food Locker will all receive attention from the volunteers.

"Day of Community Service is an opportunity to partner with the community to serve and beautify wherever it is needed," said Christina Barnett, Sacramento Cordova Stake community outreach specialist. "Personally, I love to watch the little children work. The joy they find in service makes all the months of preparation worthwhile."

Projects are carried out by LDS stakes throughout California

"We connected with the Rancho Cordova City Council and volunteer folk here, and with some brainstorming, thought and discussion, this opportunity became available" and Hawaii. The Cordova Stake includes eight congregations.

"We connected with the Rancho Cordova City Council and volunteer folk here, and with some brainstorming, thought and discussion, this opportunity became available," said Alan

Fisher, president of the Cordova Stake. "We decided that this was a good place for us to be this year."

Volunteers will help paint a full-sized caboose that is on display at Sacramento Valley Live Steamers.

"They're also going to do a retaining wall for us, and a walkway for visitors to come in from the park and make it easier for them to walk in," said Rob Sharrat, yardmaster for the Steamers. "It's very nice when we have the help."

The non-profit hobby club has nearly 200 members devoted to the lore and history of the steam train. Their scale, functioning steam engine and three gas-powered engines give rides to adults and children one day a month over more than 6,300 feet of track.

"There's always plenty of work here," said club president Bill Yoder. "We're all volunteers, there's no paid staff."

For more information on the Day of Community Service or to volunteer, please call Christina Barnett, (916) 802-1662, or Alan Fisher, (916) 505-5791. ★

Metro Fire Sponsors Urgency Legislation to Allow Additional Tax Refunds to Homeowners

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District (Metro Fire) announced the introduction of legislation authored by State Assemblyman Ken Cooley (D - Rancho Cordova) that would enable the district to provide additional refunds to homeowners who were improperly charged and paid a special fire tax on their parcels.

"AB 1053 is an urgency bill which will give Metro Fire the legal authority it has lacked to refund taxes to residents who were unfortunately billed in error," said Assemblyman Ken Cooley. "I am very pleased to help remove the current statutory barrier that has tied the hands of Metro Fire's governing board."

Under Assembly Bill 1053, Metro Fire would be able to legally refund four additional years of the Sloughhouse/Rancho Murieta Special Fire Tax. This supplemental special tax helps pay for fire suppression services in the Sloughhouse/Rancho Murieta area.

The tax was approved by area property owners in 2000 but improperly levied on 3841 additional neighboring parcels from tax year 2005/2006 to 2012/2013. The error was discovered through an internal audit. Metro Fire worked with the County to remove the Special Fire Tax from current year tax bills and notified all affected property owners in December that they were eligible for refunds.

To date, homeowners have only been eligible for refunds for 2009/10, 2010/11, 2011/12 and 2012/13 tax years. Under Revenue and Taxation Code §5097(a), all claims for tax refunds must be presented no later than four years after the date that the taxes are paid. This statute and California court decisions prohibit local agencies from providing tax refunds for claims older than four years, even for improperly levied taxes.

"We are thankful for Assemblyman Cooley's dedication to helping find a solution and accomplish our goal of correcting this unfair outcome and making homeowners whole for this error," stated Metro Fire Chief Kurt Henke. "We also appreciate Senator Darrell Steinberg for his role in helping this measure become urgency legislation. Our priority is now on supporting this measure through the legislative process so we can deliver additional refunds as soon as possible."

AB 1053 is currently in the Senate Rules Committee awaiting referral to a policy committee. ★

Forged from a long line of tradition, Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District (Metro Fire) provides professional and compassionate protection, education and service to all-risk emergency hazards and incidents.

The District was formed in 2000 through the final consolidation of 16 predecessor departments in the Sacramento region. The combined District now consists of approximately 630 employees and serves an area encompassing 417 square miles that include Sacramento and Placer counties. Metro Fire is the seventh largest fire agency in the State of California.

SMUD Unveils Electric Vehicle Fast-Charge Station

Pilot Project Enables EV Drivers to Recharge in 30 Minutes or Less

SMUD Assistant General Manager Paul Lau plugs in an electric car to the new fast charger located at SMUD. The fast charger is the only one in the region that charges most fast-charge EVs in less than 30 minutes. The station features the only fast charger in the region with dual capability to accommodate most types of EVs manufactured by domestic and foreign automakers. It is also one of the first fast-charge stations in the U.S. installed by a utility.

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

Drivers of electric vehicles need not fear running out of juice too far from home in the Sacramento area. The Sacramento Municipal Utility District (SMUD) has a new EV fast-charge station at the SMUD campus that is open for business. The pilot project's technology charges most fast-charge EVs in less than 30 minutes, giving drivers the range confidence to fully realize the tremendous potential these cars offer.

The station features the only fast charger in the region with dual capability to accommodate most types of EVs manufactured by domestic and foreign automakers. This station is one of the world's first commercial installations of certified DC fast-charge hardware that meets the new industry standard. It is also one of the first fast-charge stations in the U.S. installed by a utility and the first that SMUD will open in the area in 2014. The electric to gasoline comparison is about $2 a "gallon" to fast charge versus $4 for a gallon of gasoline.

The project is the next step in a quarter-century effort by SMUD to improve local air quality by advancing clean alternative-fuel transportation, as well as cleaner power sources. The station is a joint SMUD, General Motors and U.S. Department of Energy project. Funding for this station comes from the sale of carbon credits.

Plug-in electric vehicles are far more advanced and can even charge using a normal 120-volt home outlet. SMUD makes it easy to get plugged in and on the road. SMUD provides a special rate, one of the lowest in the state, to make plugging in instead of pumping gas even more affordable. The at-home rate equals 60 cents per gallon for charging after midnight. Drivers can save upwards of $1,800 a year compared to a gasoline car.

Environmental leadership is one of the SMUD Board of Directors' core values. SMUD made its original commitment to electric vehicles in 1989 and has continuously supported electric vehicles as they help improve the air quality in the Sacramento region and reduce dependency on oil.

Through the years SMUD has partnered with a host of major automakers, entrepreneurs, universities and other technology developers regarding all types of electric vehicles. This range of expertise is nationally recognized and provides Sacramento with a knowledge base to support the current wave of electric vehicles. SMUD currently operates 15 plug-in electric vehicles and will be purchasing nine additional vehicles by the end of the year and has long-term fleet deployment plans that will increase the fleet to 54 by 2017.

As the nation's sixth-largest community-owned electric service provider, SMUD has been providing low-cost, reliable electricity for more than 65 years to Sacramento County (and a small portion of Placer County). SMUD is a recognized industry leader and award winner for its innovative energy efficiency programs, renewable power technologies, and for its sustainable solutions for a healthier environment. SMUD is the first large California utility to receive more than 20 percent of its energy from renewable resources. For more information, visit smud.org. ★

What Do Chamber Members Want?

By Jane S. Daly

From big corporations to mom and pop operations, every business is affected by the government. Sign ordinances, parking restrictions, traffic control, building inspections, code enforcement, smoking laws. At some point, everyone is touched by the government.

For example, let's say I'm a small business owner. I placed an order for 10,000 widgets. When I received the order, I discover that I've accidentally ordered 100,000 widgets. I could either send the additional widgets back, or try to sell them for a small profit. I install a temporary banner on my building advertising the widgets. Total cost: $200 for the banner and $250 to have it hung on the building. My widget profit decreases. Two days later, I receive a notice from the City that I need to have a permit for the sign, $248 for thirty days. My widget profit has now shrunk even more.

What does this have to do with the Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce?

Advocacy on behalf of our Chamber members is one of the key services provided by your Government Relations Committee. Each month members review legislation, evaluate candidates and initiatives to determine the impact on the members of our Chamber. When appropriate, the Committee, at the direction of the Board, will engage in advocacy at the local, regional, or state level.

Rancho Cordova Chamber President and CEO Diann Rogers says, "We are the voice of and for business." Rogers is currently working with the City of Rancho Cordova to determine a fair and reasonable sign ordinance. This is one example of how the chamber works behind the scenes to advocate on the part of business.

As we near the June primary, it's important to know who the candidates are and what issues may affect your business. The Chamber's Government Relations committee meets on the first Monday of the month from 12:00 - 1:00 at the Chamber office. Rogers encourages business owners and managers to be engaged, become knowledgeable, and vote for business friendly candidates.

As always, when considering a product or service, check the Chamber directory first. www.ranchocordova.org ★

Left to right: Violet Richardson Award winner, Melissa Perez; Soroptimist club Treasurer, Debbie Bettencourt; Women's Opportunity Award winner, Nicki Bounmasanoh and her daughter; Women's Opportunity Award winner, Zeta Williams; Soroptimist club President, Julie Schaffer; Ruby Award winner, Elaine Whitefeather; Soroptimist club Director, Rebecca George; (kneeling in front) Soroptimist Awards Chairperson, Sheryl Longworth. RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - After the very difficult task of judging the Violet Richardson Award, Women's Opportunity Award and Ruby Award applications, selections were made and awards presented at the Soroptimist International of Rancho Cordova's (SIRC) recent award reception.

This year's Violet Richardson Award recipient, Melissa Perez, is a senior at Cordova High School and is a captain of Cordova High's color guard. Melissa took the initiative to establish a marching and color guard program at Cordova Meadows Elementary to help kids improve their listening, teamwork and motor skills as well as get more exercise. Melissa also volunteers as a tutor and as "another set of eyes" at Cordova Meadows' after school STARS program and in Cordova High's autism class where she works with the students to help them feel "normal," appreciated and loved. Melissa, with her drive and creativity, is a shining example of the power a young woman has to make a difference! Two Women's Opportunity Award winners were selected this year. The first, Zeta Williams of Sacramento, is a single mother of three children who is presently studying to become a Medical Assistant with the ultimate goal of receiving a Master's degree in social work so she can help teens or women. Ms. Williams says of her current educational experiences, "Working towards being a medical assistant has showed me how strong I am, I can do anything I put my mind to. It taught me the real meaning of discipline, to say no to things that take me away from achieving my goals."

Our second Women's Opportunity Award winner,

Nicki Bounmasanoh, also of Sacramento, is a single mother of five children ages 3 to 11. Nicki is also studying to become a Medical Assistant and has the goal of becoming a Registered Nurse. Determination must be Nicki's middle name, as she has not only received her GED but, overcome barriers that twice prevented her from completing the Medical Assisting program. She is now on track to graduate this summer.

Our Ruby Award was given to Elaine Whitefeather, Executive Director of A Community for Peace (ACFP), based in Citrus Heights. "Ms. Whitefeather has been the creative force in developing ACFP's programs," says Carole Ching, President of ACFP. Ms. Ching went on to say in her nomination of Ms. Whitefeather, "ACFP is different from other domestic violence service programs in that it teaches women and girls how to recognize individual patterns of behavior that have lead them into battering relationships. And it takes an inclusive stance on the role of men and boys in this destructive equation. Ms. Whitefeather is a source of pride, inspiration and encouragement for clients, staff, and board members every day. She has been impacting lives in a positive and constructive way for nearly four decades and is well deserving of the Soroptimist Ruby Award."

ACFP is presently working on a location in Rancho Cordova which they hope to have up and running soon. "Soroptimist International of Rancho Cordova looks forward to collaborating with them when they do," says SIRC president, Julie Schaffer.

"Our club is extremely proud of all our award winners. We are confident that they will achieve and exceed the goals they have set for themselves," says SIRC Awards Chair, Sheryl Longworth.

The Violet Richardson Award is given to a deserving candidate, age 14-17, who has identified a problem in her community or the world, and has worked hard to address that problem. The ultimate goal of the Women's Opportunity Award is to help head of household women improve their economic status by preparing them to enter or re-enter the workplace. Unlike other award programs, the Women's Opportunity Awards can be used for books, childcare, transportation or any other expense that will help a woman reach her educational goal. The Ruby Award honors women who have worked to improve the lives of women and girls through their professional and/or volunteer work.

Applications are usually available in mid-October and the deadline is in December. Applications may be requested by emailing siranchocordova@soroptimist.net or by visiting www.soroptimistranchocordova.org. ★

Soroptimist is an international organization for business and professional women who work to improve the lives of women and girls in local communities and throughout the world. The name Soroptimist means "best for women," and that's what the organization strives to achieve. Soroptimists are women at their best, working to help other women be their best. Visit www.soroptimistranchocordova.org or email siranchocordova@soroptimist.net for more information about SIRC, to learn how to become a member or how to volunteer.

By Bob McGarvey

I note the levels in Folsom, Oroville, and Shasta reserves that are shown every day in the Sacramento Bee on the last page of section B. And even though the water levels in all of them are better than they were towards the end of January, I hope the Federal and State "experts" don't drain Folsom or the others again.

On April 14th, the water in Folsom was a fraction over half of the normal amount. Today the Sacramento Bee showed rainfall is 9.68 inches for this area so far this year—the average this time of the year is 18.64 inches. After studying the water bond that is scheduled to be on the ballot this coming November, I hope the bond is defeated. The Peripheral Canal or "twin tunnels" are not made to hold any water.

As of April 14th, Folsom Dam has 501,273 acre feet in it. The maximum amount it can hold is 977,000 acre feet. The others we hear about most often are Oroville and Shasta Dams. They also have about a little more than half of what they can hold. The State would be much better off to spend the $11 billion dollars putting in projects like the Auburn Dam and/or others like it. Finding different ways to save the limited water that we have is much more logical than acting as if we will always have unlimited water sources. We will be voting on this in the coming June 3rd primary.

Also, candidates will be chosen for the November election and there are propositions and measures that will be decided upon. I will be talking about them in the coming weeks, but the first proposition to be discussed is Proposition 41. It is "The Veterans Housing and Homeless Prevention Bond Act of 2014" that will help finish what we voted on five years ago. Here is part of the description of Proposition 41: "Five years ago, Californians overwhelmingly affirmed their gratitude to our veterans by approving Proposition 12, a nine hundred million dollars ($900,000,000) general obligation bond intended to help veterans specifically purchase single family homes, farms, and mobile-homes through the CalVet Home Loan Program."

The national and international economies over the last five years were close to collapse, so the bonds that were approved five years ago haven't been able to meet the goals that were intended. "California voters should be granted the opportunity to restructure the Proposition 12 veterans bond program to better respond to the housing needs as well as the changing demographics of the current veteran population." I gathered the information and the quotes by bringing up the proposition online. We passed a school bond here in Rancho Cordova that is now allowing us to finish what we wanted for our schools. It had been started by another bond but was stopped by the "Great Recession".

As I said, there are other measures and propositions that are in the June 3rd primary, but that will be for the next column. For now, think of Proposition 41 as the beginning. It is a good way to say thanks to the Veterans who give and gave us what we have in the USA.

"Gratitude is born in hearts that take time to count up past mercies." - Charles E. Jefferson

Temporary Lane Closure on La Riviera Drive April 14 to May 2, 2014

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)- The Sacramento County Department of Transportation (SACDOT) is alerting motorists that there may be increased congestion for three weeks on La Riviera Drive between the northbound Watt Avenue off-ramp and southbound Watt Avenue on-ramp. This work is part of the Watt Avenue @ US-50 Interchange Project.

Construction Update: The construction of new sidewalks and minor pavement reconstruction will require the closure of the # 2 lane on westbound La Riviera Drive for a three week period beginning April 14th. Motorists may experience an additional five to 10 minute delay through the construction area, and are advised to reduce speed and drive carefully through the work zone.

Completed Project: The completed interchange project will provide: a reduction in overall delay through the interchange, much easier and safer access on and off the freeway for all motorists, dedicated transit facilities, and improved access and safety for bicyclists and pedestrians.

Anticipated Project Completion: It is anticipated that the project will be completed by mid-summer, 2014.

Patience is Appreciated: The patience and cooperation of the traveling public is appreciated as work to construct the interchange project continues. ★

You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. CORDOVA HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

Strong Start for Cordova Baseball in Tournament

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Now that Cordova High School baseball coach Guy Anderson has picked up his 900th career win, it's back to business for his Lancers.

Anderson, who now has 904 career wins in the last 42 years as the Lancers' skipper, and his squad started play in the 44th annual Cordova Easter Baseball Tournament on Monday. Cordova (9-7) utilized small ball to post a 3-0 win over Golden Sierra. Then in the nightcap, Cordova slipped past Redwood Christian, 2-1.

Cordova scored its first run against Golden Sierra in the bottom of the second inning with one out. James Nixon singled to left field, and moved to second after Trevor Tipton beat out an infield single. Logan Appino grounded out for the Lancers' second out, but Nixon scored for a 1-0 advantage.

In the bottom of the third inning, winning Lancer pitcher and leadoff hitter Tylor Myers reached first base on an infield error by the Grizzlies. Then with one out, Nigel Robinson walked. Then Dominic Gentry put down a perfect push bunt down the third base line that scored Myers.

"We did the things we like to do," Anderson said. "We did a good push bunt with runners at first and third."

The Lancers scored their final run in the inning when Zackary Tapia hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Robinson.

"Guy Anderson who now has 904 career wins in the last 42 years as the Lancers' skipper, and his squad started play in the 44th annual Cordova Easter Baseball Tournament on Monday"

On the mound, Myers went the distance for the Lancers, striking out three and holding the Grizzlies to two hits. Four of the outs for Cordova were deep into the outfield in which Golden Sierra had batters hitting deep. "Myers did a great job,"

Anderson said. "He threw with velocity. They (Golden Sierra) got some pretty good shots but we caught the ball. What I was impressed with was our pitching."

Robinson was 2-for-2 at the plate, while Tipton, Nixon and Gentry accounted for the Lancers' hit total.

Cordova 2, Redwood Christian 1

In the second game, the Lancers scored a run each in the fifth and sixth innings.

Tapia and Brandon Buck hit a double each for Cordova, which had four hits in the game.

Riley Robson went the distance on the hill for the Lancers, giving up three hits.

Cordova 8, Mira Loma 4

In a Capital Athletic League road game, the Lancers (5-2 in CAL) had eight hits. Jarrett Harris went 3-for-3 at the plate with a double and an RBI. Appino had 3 RBIs. Robinson was 2-for-4. Kurtis Simmons, Tapia, Appino and Nixon had a hit each.

Robson struck out three and gave up five hits on the mound.

Cordova 9, Mira Loma 4

Cordova scored six times in the bottom of the fourth inning to break up a 2-2 tie in its first meeting with Mira Loma on the Lancers' field April 9th. The inning was fueled by Appino, who smacked a double to drive in two runs.

The Lancers finished with nine hits. Brown was 4-for-4, Harris and Tipton 2-for-3 each and Harris, Tapia, Simmons and Robinson had a hit each.

Whitney 14, Cordova 1

The Lancers were held to three hits in a CAL road game April 7th. Robson, Tapia and Gentry had a hit each.

This past Tuesday and Wednesday, Cordova continued play in its tournament.

The Lancers return to action Tuesday, April 21st at Rio Americano, then play the Raiders again Thursday, April 23rd at home. Both games are scheduled to start at 4:15 p.m. ★

Lancers Softball off to Strong CAL Start

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Cordova High School softball coach Lindy Willeford feels the turning point of this season was after a pre-season loss.

Last month, the Lady Lancers fell to Ponderosa, 10-0, at the Bruins' field in Shingle Springs in which the visitors had limited communication on defense. On offense, Cordova was held to five hits.

"(The loss) gave us an idea of what we needed to work on," Willeford said. "Just being more aggressive at getting balls."

In recent weeks, Cordova has turned its fortunes around, and finds itself in the thick of the Capital Athletic League race. The Lancers won two of three league games last week that puts them at 4-1 in league, 8-2 overall.

"We talked about some of the things we did wrong (against Ponderosa)," Willeford said. "I think we have confidence."

This week, Cordova is off because of spring break, and returns to CAL action on Tuesday when it hosts Mira Loma.

Antelope 7, Cordova 2

In a league home game April 10th, the Lady Lancers' Brooke Stacy smacked a single to drive in two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to cut the Titans' lead to 3-2. But Antelope scored four runs in the top of the seventh to secure the win.

Cordova had four hits in the game; Tiana Brown, Delacy Cobb, Stacy and Megan Stacy had a hit each. Brown's hit was a triple. Brooke Stacy had 2 RBIs.

Cordova 14, Rio Americano 0

The Lancers banged out 15 hits in the April 8th road game in Sacramento. Cordova scored three runs in the top of the first inning, and coasted the rest of the way in the game called after five innings because of the mercy rule.

Nikki Jones went 3-for-4 and an RBI for Cordova, followed by Megan Stacy (3-for-4, 2 RBIs).

Brooke Stacy (2-for-3, 3B) and Traci Mahony (2-for-3, 2B) led a group of Lancers with hits. Sierra Reyes (2 RBIs), Madison Brokaw, Brown (RBI), Cobb (RBI) and Vanessa Cain had a hit each.

On the mound, Megan Stacy was just as lethal for the Lancers. She fired a two-hitter, and struck out seven batters.

Cordova 10, Mira Loma 0

Megan Stacy tossed a one-hitter, fanning 11 hitters in the April 7th league road game. At the plate, she went 2-for-4 with 2 RBIs.

Cordova had 12 hits, and took advantage of four Matador errors. Jones and Cain had two hits each. Samantha Lutman, Leila Cooper, Brown, Cobb, Brooke Stacy and Mahony had a hit each. Brown, Megan Stacy and Cain had two RBIs each.

After Tuesday's game, Cordova plays at El Camino on Thursday, April 24th. Both games start at 4:15 p.m. ★

DRAFT DAY (Rated-PG-13)

A Film Review by Tim Riley

Quality sports films are not uncommon. More recent really good ones that come to mind include "42" and "Moneyball." Other popular favorites are "Field of Dreams," "The Natural," and "Bull Durham."

Oddly enough, all the sports films mentioned so far have been focused on baseball, perhaps proving, to some extent, the national pastime's enduring popularity, even if the NFL claims supremacy.

Ivan Reitman's "Draft Day," obviously produced with the cooperation of the NFL, breaks the mold, turning out a solid gridiron saga that's finely tuned to front office maneuverings rather than pigskin heroics on the turf.

In many respects, "Draft Day" is the football equivalent of "Moneyball," where it's about the dynamics of fielding a team. The drama is behind-the-scenes, and here it all takes place in one day, leading up to the NFL's annual draft of college players at New York's cherished Radio City Music Hall.

Kevin Costner is like the John Wayne of sports films.

Whether it's the well-known baseball titles or films like "Tin Cup" and "For the Love of the Game," Costner owns every sports film in the same way Wayne owned the Westerns.

Hardly anybody is more credible than Costner as the aging competitor or athletic mentor. His Sonny Weaver, Jr. is the besieged general manager of the woeful Cleveland Browns, a venerable NFL franchise with a blue collar fan base clamoring for a winning team.

Sonny's personal and professional life is on trial for the course of one day. His father, the former beloved coach of the

Riley Reviews

SAVVY SPORTS FILM "DRAFT DAY" SCORES BIG WINNING TOUCHDOWN

Browns, recently passed away. Sports radio hosts still hold a grudge for Sonny having forced his father into retirement a few years back.

The general manager is also carrying on a covert romance with the team's salary-cap expert, Ali (the fetching Jennifer Garner making the most of a relatively small role). Just for added pressure on Sonny, Ali springs the news that she is pregnant.

Meanwhile, Sonny must also contend with a few egomaniacs in the organization, none of which adds more pressure than team owner Anthony Molina (Frank Langella), who insists on making a "big splash" in the draft by going for Heisman Trophy winner Bo Callahan (Josh Pence).

The other most troubling person with a swelled head is the volatile Coach Penn (Denis Leary), new to the Browns and eager to pick up another oversized Super Bowl championship ring. Coach Penn is equally insistent that the team go for Callahan.

The Seattle Seahawks have the first pick in the draft, and so it is up to Sonny to do some wheeling-and-dealing for Cleveland to get first choice. To do so, he's obliged to trade away his number one draft picks for the next three years. Ouch! Anyone can tell you that's a tough bargain.

Clever and resourceful, Sonny treats the draft day negotiations as if he were channeling Garry Kasparov in a chess tournament. There are a lot of moving pieces during the course of the day where Sonny engages general managers from Buffalo to Houston and places in-between.

Keeping cool under pressure, Sonny must also contend with the persistence of NFL prospect Vontae Mack (Chadwick Boseman, who played Jackie Robinson in "42"), whose college record is blemished by an infraction but who otherwise appears to be a person of solid character.

One takeaway from "Draft Day" is that character does matter. It's a subject that weighs heavily on Sonny's mind as he digs deeper into the background of Bo Callahan, the star quarterback of the University of Wisconsin, where even his coach (Sam Elliott) seems oddly reticent to sing his praises.

Tempers flare from time to time, whether in the Cleveland war room, where Sonny keeps his assistants mostly in line with the game plan, though the hot-headed Coach Penn is practically unhinged during Sonny's controversial moves to keep everyone guessing until the clock almost runs out on making the draft pick.

Tom Welling's Brian Drew is the team's current quarterback, but he's coming off an injury that some believe has him washed up. Naturally, the veteran player thinks otherwise and delivers a potent message to the GM.

Ivan Reitman ("Ghostbusters" and "Animal House") has a long track record of hit comedies. "Draft Day" is a departure for the director, both in tone and subject matter. While there are humorous moments, "Draft Day" is a sports drama focused on characters rather than action on the field.

Just like "Moneyball," there's plenty of talk in the backroom and on the phones. To spice up the conversations, the director employs the split-screen technique to add some tension to the negotiating process. Mostly, it works, but some may tire of the frequency.

Before leaving home for the office on draft day, Sonny tucks a slip of paper into his pocket. Since the camera lingers on this move, we know it has significance. Indeed, it explains everything once all is said and done.

I'll admit that being a sports fan facilitates the enjoyment of this movie. But Costner and the whole cast are so good, and the dialogue is so sharp and crisp with palpable tension in the air, that "Draft Day" is intriguing, compelling entertainment.

To this sports-loving critic, "Draft Day" has jumped right into the pantheon of the best sports movies, and that's a tribute to the entire production team. They run with an attitude that produces a champion. ★

Around the Horn

- The Indians' Asdrubal Cabrera should expect to see a steady diet of right-handed relievers this season. At least until he proves that he can adjust to righties. The shortstop is batting a respectable .292 in 24 at-bats against left-handed pitching, but an anemic .083 vs. righthanders.
- Texas manager Ron Washington has called on journeyman infielder Josh Wilson to make seven starts this season, five at second base, two at third. Four of those seven starts have come against left-handed pitching, and there are sure to be more opportunities. Wilson, who carries a .227 career batting average over seven seasons with eight different franchises, is 7-for-10 off lefties so far this season. He's yet to find a hit in 11 at-bats off of righties in 2014.
- Most early reviews of MLB's instant replay system are less than positive. Two plays last Saturday in key divisional games appeared to have been missed, even after the replay review. The Nats' Nate McLouth appeared to be safe on a close play at first as MASN, who broadcasts the Nats' games had what most would consider a conclusive view of the play. Evidently, the same view wasn't available at the New York MLB umpire center where plays are reviewed. In the Boston-New York game at Yankee Stadium, Boston infielder Xander Bogaerts held a tag on runner Dean Anna after his slide into second base. As he popped up out of his slide, Anna's foot came off the base and was caught on camera by Fox. Again, evidently, the folks in New York didn't see that replay and allowed Anna to remain on second. While many MLB officials refer to this as a "three-year rollout" fans are getting a tad impatient as they watch definitive replays in their living rooms, but the hi-tech MLB system can't get it right.

Weekend on Tap

St. Louis at Washington
The two teams met in the 2012 NLDS and the Nationals were one out away from advancing to the NLCS. A dramatic comeback allowed the Redbirds to advance. The two teams are among the leading contenders in the NL again this season. Both clubs have excellent starting pitching, but their offenses have gotten off to sluggish starts in 2014. The four-game set begins on Thursday. Washington ace Stephen Strasburg will face the Cardinals' Shelby Miller in the finale on Sunday.

Los Angeles Angels at Detroit
The Angels and Tigers began the year believing they could play in the World Series this fall. The Angels have disappointed fans the past two seasons, but seemed poised to break through this summer. Former MVP Josh Hamilton was off to a torrid start before injuring his thumb sliding into first base. He'll likely miss a couple of months. The Tigers will have the edge in the bullpen with closer Joe Nathan off to a nice start.

New York Yankees at Tampa Bay
The AL East rivalry doesn't have the same intensity that the New York-Boston matchup carries, but don't tell the Rays this isn't a huge rivalry. Most experts believe the AL East will be settled by fewer than three games among four teams this season with both the Rays and Yankees in the thick of the race. The pitching matchups are not necessarily marquee names, but expect close, low-scoring affairs.

Athlon Spotlight

It's Our Time to Shine

It's difficult to predict which rookies will emerge this summer and enjoy consistent success throughout the season. Many superior talents — such as Archie Bradley of the Diamondbacks and George Springer of Houston — are still toiling in the minor leagues, waiting for the call from the big club that will most certainly come some time this summer. Here are our projections for the best rookie seasons in 2014.

Wong, UPI/Bill Greenblatt /LANDOV; Abreu, Joe Robbins/Athlon Sports

When the Rookie of the Year hardware is handed out in November, Wong and Abreu could be there to receive the trophies.

AL Player of the Week

Carlos Beltran, New York
One of the newest Yankees, Beltran introduced himself to Yankee fans with a .423 batting average last week and 1.387 OPS. He drove in six runs and scored seven. Among his seven extra-base hits were three homers. Beltran's first experience in the Boston-New York rivalry yielded six hits over the four games, including five on Saturday and Sunday with a homer and double in each of the final two games, both New York wins.

AL Pitcher of the Week

C.J. Wilson, Los Angeles
The Angels' pitching has not been too stingy so far this season, but Wilson was terrific last week. In 15 innings he allowed just three runs, 10 hits and four walks. He struck out 16 and earned a couple of wins. He induced 21 ground-outs.

NL Player of the Week

Justin Upton, Atlanta
Reminiscent of 2013, Upton is off to a fast start this month for the Braves. Last week, the left fielder batted .591 with four homers, eight RBIs and eight runs. The Nationals certainly felt his presence. In the three-game sweep over Washington, Upton was 8-for-10 with five RBIs and six runs.

NL Pitcher of the Week

Aaron Harang, Atlanta
The righthander continues to be a pleasant surprise for Atlanta fans this season. In two starts last week, Harang allowed just two runs, one in each outing. His offense let him down in a 4-0 loss against the Mets in which he allowed just two hits over six innings. But the bats responded well for his next outing against Washington. Again, Harang allowed a lone run over six innings. For the week, Harang struck out 14 and allowed seven hits and five walks.

Farm Report

Mark Appel, SP, Houston
The No. 1 pick in 2013, Appel features an upper-90s fastball, sharp slider and changeup with impressive command at this stage of his career. Look for him in Houston in 2015.

Catcher

Josmil Pinto, Minnesota
The native of Venezuela showed enough last season that the Twins were willing to move All-Star catcher Joe Mauer to first base permanently. Pinto ended the week with seven home runs in 102 major league at-bats.

Travis d'Arnaud, New York Mets

First Base

Jose Abreu, Chicago White Sox
While it seemed a bit odd that the Sox would add another first base/DH type, Abreu, a native of Cuba, has been a run producer early this season. He's currently tied for the RBI leadership.

Jonathan Singleton, Houston

Second Base

Kolten Wong, St. Louis
Since St. Louis drafted him in the first round in 2011, he has been ticketed for second base this season. His speed brings an element to the Cardinals' offense that's been lacking in recent years. The club believes the humbling pickoff that ended Game 4 of the World Series last year and his stand-up response will serve him well in the future.

Javier Baez, Chicago Cubs
Jonathan Schoop, Baltimore
Marcus Semien, Chicago White Sox

Third Base

Nick Castellanos, Detroit
Castellanos' development made the decision to trade Prince Fielder an easy one. He's reached base safely at least once in all but one start this season.

Mike Olt, Chicago Cubs

Jackie Bradley Jr., Boston
The Red Sox handed him the position last season, and he didn't respond very well. He still has rookie status, and another year of maturity seems to have Bradley back on track.

Billy Hamilton, Cincinnati
Michael Choice, Texas
Abraham Almonte, Seattle

Shortstop

Xander Bogaerts, Boston
Yes, he's technically still a rookie. Bogaerts played a huge role in Boston's championship run last season, starting all six World Series games at third base.

Chris Owings, Arizona

Outfield

George Springer, Houston
The Astros will certainly be monitoring the service time clock, but there's no other reason that Springer shouldn't join Singleton in the Houston lineup this season.

Oscar Taveras, St. Louis
He's been "the guy" for a few years now and has yet to turn the major league corner. His delay is primarily due to an injured ankle that required surgery last season. The Cardinals still believe he will be a star, but his coming out party (scheduled for this summer) may not happen until 2015.

Starting Pitcher
Archie Bradley, Arizona
With the Diamondbacks' rotation in a shambles, it's all about the service time clock starting with Bradley. He dominated the Southern League last season in 21 starts, and has been even better thus far at Triple-A this season.

Taijuan Walker, Seattle
The athletic Walker spent most of his high school days focusing on basketball and shortstop. Slowed by an injury this spring, the Mariners expect him to help during a pennant drive this summer.

Masahiro Tanaka, New York Yankees
Any pitcher that goes 24-0 for a championship team deserves attention, no matter what league. The Yankees don't expect a 24-0 season, but they do expect ace material from the Japanese import.

Kevin Gausman, Baltimore
He's in Triple-A now, but not for long. The Orioles have a governor on his work load, but he'll contribute as a starter this summer in Baltimore.

Jake Odorizzi, Tampa Bay
With a number of injuries to Tampa Bay starters, Odorizzi finally gets an opportunity for a regular turn. His first two starts have yielded a gem of six shutout innings over a tough Texas lineup, and seven earned runs in five innings to a Kansas City lineup that has been struggling to score. Go figure.

Andrew Heaney, Miami
Robbie Ray, Philadelphia
Noah Syndergaard, New York Mets

Reliever
Maikel Cleto, Chicago White Sox
Twice waived in the past 14 months, Cleto seems to have harnessed his impressive talent, and the Chicago bullpen can use the help.

Aaron Barrett, Washington

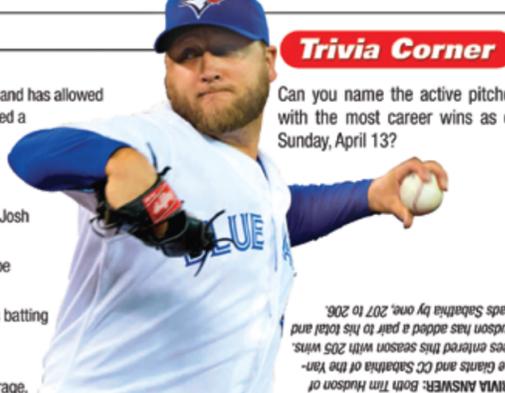

Turn Back the Clock

April 18, 1958
After opening the season with three games in San Francisco, the Dodgers host the Giants for the first-ever game in Los Angeles. After a downtown parade, 78,682 fans crowd into the L.A. Coliseum to watch the Dodgers win, 6-5. Dick Gray hits the first Dodger home run in Los Angeles and Carl Erskine earns the first victory.

April 17, 1969
In only the 10th game in the history of the Montreal Expos, Bill Stoneman tosses a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies. He walks five and whiffs eight. The game is completed in two hours and 24 minutes, and is witnessed by just 6,496 fans in Philadelphia.

Numbers Game

- 0.86 ERA for Toronto Blue Jays' veteran lefthander Mark Buehrle. After three starts, Buehrle has three wins and has allowed just two runs. In addition to the miniscule ERA, he has a 0.905 WHIP. Entering this season, Buehrle carried a career ERA of 3.84 and WHIP of 1.278.
- .500 Batting average for the Phillies' Chase Utley through April 13, which leads the majors.
- .111 Lowest batting average for any player among the 197 with enough plate appearances to qualify this season. The low mark is shared by Jhonny Peralta of the Cardinals, Kansas City's Mike Moustakas and Josh Reddick of Oakland.
- 100% Basestealers caught by Robinson Chirinos this season. In 48 innings behind the plate, only four would-be basestealers have attempted a stolen base on the Texas backstop. He's nabbed all four.
- 4.93 Pitches per plate appearance for Minnesota's Jason Kubel, the highest average in the majors. Kubel is batting a robust .385.
- 4.89 Pitches per plate appearance for Cleveland's Carlos Santana, the second-highest average in the majors. Santana is batting a paltry .186, proving that patience doesn't necessarily translate to a high batting average.

TRIVIA ANSWER: Both Tim Hudson of the Giants and CC Sabathia of the Yankees entered this season with 205 wins. Hudson has added a pair to his total and leads Sabathia by one, 207 to 206.
