By Shelly Blanchard

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - George Burnash, a 40-year Rancho Cordova volunteer whose contributions range from Rancho Cordova incorporation to will be Leadership Rancho Cordova took top honors as the "Rancho Cordovan of the Year" Feb. 28 during the 15th Annual Community Volunteer Awards. Celebrating "There's No Place Like Home" against a Wizard of Oz backdrop that included everything from a balloon rainbow to flying monkeys, celebrity host Ken Rudolph of Good Day Sacramento led a lively program honoring stellar volunteer efforts. For Rudolph, it was something of a homecoming, and he recollected his years at Cordova High and Mitchell Middle School. "I have taken a lot of Rancho Cordova with me through life," he said. "Rancho Cordovan of the Year" is something of a "lifetime achievement" award and in the case of top winner Burnash, recognizes a lifetime of volunteer service in the Rancho Cordova community which started four decades ago and continues today. Burnash led the Cordova Community Council as president in the 1980s, PTAs at Rancho Cordova Elementary and Mills Middle School, has led Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, church

Rancho Cordova Invites Public to Arbor Day Celebration

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - To commemorate Arbor Day 2014, a Chinese Pistache tree will be planted in front of the Rancho Cordova Police Station on Tuesday, March 11th. The public is invited to attend the program that will take place at 10 a.m. at 2897 Kilgore Road.

The celebratory Chinese Pistache tree is a gift from the Sacramento Tree Foundation. Since incorporation in 2003, the City has planted more than 30 trees on City properties and has actively promoted tree plantings through Eagle Scout projects and other activities.

The Arbor Day program will be hosted by Todd Humphrey, Facilities Manager for the City of Rancho Cordova. Other participants will include Mayor Dan Skoglund, Council Member Linda Budge, Assistant Chief of Police Robert Davis, and Kelly Conroy, Greenprint Regional Coordinator for the Sacramento Tree Foundation.

Pope Blesses Cordova Community Food Locker

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Pope Francis has captured the imagination and respect of the world as he continues his quest to bring the plight of the poor to the forefront of world consciousness. As he sends his bishops and priest into the streets to "walk hand and hand" with those most in need, he is also reaching out and recognizing the ongoing ministries of those who live by the credo: "Do you love me? Then feed my [people]."

The Cordova Community Food Locker was the recipient of a "personal blessing" from Pope Francis for their ministry of feeding the poor.

Deacon Walter Little, Director and co-creator of the Cordova Food Locker was excited to receive the blessing on behalf of the hundreds of volunteers and contributors who have made it such a success.

When we started this project in 1987, Little remembered, only about 40 people showed up. Today we have distributed over 13 million meals to the most needy in our community. We are recognized by every level of government. Businesses and fraternal organizations as well as the school system and many different churches support us with their time, talent and treasure.

Fr. Dan Madigan, the creator of the Sacramento Food Bank commented that whenever he meets someone who wants to start up a food closet he sends them to see how Rancho Cordova does it.

Ed Evans, long-time manager of the food locker recognized the "bitter-sweet" nature of the blessing. "It's wonderful to be recognized for what we are doing. At the same time we all wish that we didn't have to be here."

The Cordova Food Locker is open every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. 9:30am to 1:30pm., and is located at 10497 Coloma Rd. Rancho Cordova. ★

The proclamation paid tribute to the generations of women whose commitment to society has proven to be invaluable. Source: City of Rancho Cordova RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The new year was off to a running start at the Chamber of Commerce. Twelve businesses were added to Chamber membership, including the newest Capital Village eatery, Panera Bread.

Palm Tile & Stone Gallery owner Doug Disney told me that as soon as his doors were open, one of the first things he did was join the Chamber. With his twenty six years in the tile business, he understands the importance of exposure. At Palm Tile, you can get 'great quality and fashionably products at an affordable price.' His doors are open to walk-in customers.

Fire Rock Grill has taken over the previous Shepherder's Restaurant. Their menu promises a New American menu that includes tastes from Latin support the business community. "We don't just sell a policy, we sell a relationship." Integrity, Expertise, Service. These are the cornerstones of SSR Insurance Services.

Also joining the Chamber are Alfred Civil Engineering, OSU Solutions, Integrity Auto Systems, Red Dog Shredz, Dezvision Photography, Chef Hef's Consulting, Cordova Recreation and Park District, Susan Haverty MFT, US Lawns of Sacramento, and Ralph Opfer Floors.

As you can see, Chamber members run the gamut from big business to small, service businesses to restaurants to non-profits. Welcome to all the new members. Remember to look at the Chamber's membership directory www.ranchocordova.org when searching for a product or service. ★

The Mayor's Thoughts and More . . .

Mayor Dan Skoglund talked about our first 10 years and then covered quite a few more City projects when he was the keynote speaker at the Cordova Community Council luncheon on February 21st. He spoke about how our businesses in Rancho Cordova are prospering and that we have new businesses opening their doors. The long-awaited Panera Bread opened for business on February 26th with an official Grand Opening on Monday, March 3rd. Bonney Plumbing and Bell Brothers Heating and Air Conditioning are relocating their headquarters to Rancho Cordova. VSP has added additional space across the street from its existing site.

We have a new Police Station, a new bridge over the Folsom South Canal, the Zinfandel Drive into Mather extension, the Rancho Cordova River City Concert Band, and the Rancho Cordova Civic Light Orchestra – just to name a few accomplishments the people of Rancho Cordova have achieved.

We will break ground for the Entertainment Center this spring and it's expected to be completed by May 2015. Local business "BARCO" which provided cutting edge visual support at the recent Olympics in Sochi and also at the Super Bowl, will be bringing state-of-the-art visual and audio theater equipment to the new Center. Eppie's Great Race will continue its popular draw this coming summer and Rancho Cordova will be the site of a major international long distance triathlon in October.

Mayor Skoglund's speech and PowerPoint presentation covered many more areas. If you would like to hear his speech and see the PowerPoint, go to our City's website.

The other part of my column today covers a story that affects our City, our State, and our Country. Defense Secretary Chuck Hagel's proposal is to shrink the United States Army to its smallest force since before the World War II buildup. In 1940, the active duty military personnel in the US Army numbered 269,023. As of September 2011, the number of active duty military personnel in the US Army was 565,463. That number excludes reserves on active duty for training. These numbers come from the Department of Defense. Hagel also proposes eliminating an entire class of Air Force attack jets in a new spending proposal.

To quote the officials from the New York Times and the Associated Press, they say, "Officials describe it as the first Pentagon budget to aggressively push the military off the military war footing adopted after the terror attacks of 2001.

The officials acknowledge that budget cuts will impose greater risk on the armed forces if they are again ordered to carry out two large-scale military actions at the same time: Success would take longer they say, and there would be a larger number of casualties. Officials also say that a smaller military could invite adventurism by adversaries."

Another quote from the AP, "Hagel said the military must adjust to the reality of smaller budgets, even as the United States faces a more volatile, more unpredictable world that requires a more nimble military."

Since 1973 when the military draft ended, everyone who joined the military is a volunteer. Earlier this month I talked about Veterans and Congress. According to CNN, USA Today, and the Wikipedia Encyclopedia, the number of members of Congress who have active duty military service backgrounds is down from 80% in 1977 to 19% today. The citizens who were and are in the military reserve are called up many times to protect our country along with those who are regular active duty.

I guess my main problem today is that knowing what the terrorists have done in and to our country and our citizens and knowing what terrorists have done to other countries and the people who live there, protecting our country today depends on how much money Congress is willing to spend on it. Protecting our country hasn't relied on money alone. The Declaration of Independence ends with: "And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."★

From Vice Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time.

CORDOVA HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

Lancer Hoops' Playoff Run Ends in Second Round Rugby Squad Drops Contests

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Four Cordova High School boys basketball players scored in double figures in their second round of the CIF Sac-Joaquin Section Division II quarterfinal playoff game at Folsom. But the host Bulldogs clawed their way to a fast start en route to an 84-66 victory over the Lancers on Feb. 28.

Early last week, Cordova won its first round playoff game with a 68-56 win over Rocklin at the Lancers' gym. In the Cordova-Folsom game, the Bulldogs' offense used the entire floor that forced the Lancers' defense to spread out. That led to a 28-11 first quarter lead.

"They did just exactly what we expected," said Cordova head coach Fletcher Johnson of Folsom's offense. "We just didn't match the intensity, or transition well. We came out flat, not executing." In the second quarter, Cordova's high-flying offense got back on track, outscoring Folsom, 20-16, to trim the Bulldogs' lead to 44-31 at halftime. Cordova (19-9) continued to trim Folsom's lead to 46-36 early in the third quarter, thanks to baskets from Jordan Roberson and Marquis Bolden. But the Bulldogs' offense picked up momentum when Jordan Ford canned a 3-pointer midway through the quarter to build his team's lead to 49-36.

"Basketball is a game where you have to have strong discipline," said Johnson of his team's efforts in the final 16 minutes of the game. "There difference in the game tonight was they (Folsom) are a much disciplined team, and they executed on what they were trying to do. We were trying to make it up, going with the flow, make it up as we go. You can't win at this stage of the season without discipline and know what you're doing."

The game became pretty intense toward the end of the third quarter. Lancer forward Chris Johnson was driving toward the basket inside the paint, when he was fouled hard by Bulldog guard Jared Wall, who was guarding Johnson. Both players pushed each other after Johnson was called for a foul, but were separated by their respective teammates. The referees sent Johnson to the free throw line, but missed his free shots.

"Some of the little things that players do to grab and hold you," Johnson said. "He (Johnson) barely touches a guy, and it's a foul.

Folsom outscored Cordova,

19-14, to take a 63-45 lead entering the fourth quarter.

Both teams scored 21 points each in the final quarter.

Lancer guard Nathaniel Hendrix led the four in scoring with 15 points. Guard Kyle Lorena followed with 14 points, and Roberson and JaQuan Lewis had 10 each.

Bolden finished with eight points, Lamar Brewer six, Devin Baldwin two and CJ Coles one.

Cordova 68, Rocklin 56

In its first round and home playoff game on Feb. 26, Cordova jumped out to a 24-15 first quarter lead, and never looked back. The Lancers led 38-29 at halftime. The visiting Thunder made some limited noise in the second half by scoring 27 points. But the Lancers scored 30 points to post the victory.

Roberson was on fire in the Lancers' playoff opener, scoring 35 points. Brewer followed with eight points, Hendrix seven, Bolden and Coles had five points each, Johnson and Lorena three each and Alex Yakimchuk two. ★

Story By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On Feb. 28, the Cordova Lancers Rugby Club boys team rallied but fell to Granite Bay, 26-20, at the Lancers' field. Weather conditions impacted the game at the beginning, Lancer head coach Dan Rose pointed out.

"The game started out with hard rain, and three to four lightning strikes that threatened to cancel (the game)," Rose said. "However, the lightning stopped and we kicked off on time."

Granite Bay scored on its first three tries for a 21-0 lead. But Cordova (1-4) scored late in the first half to cut the lead down to 21-5 at halftime.

At the start of the second half,

Granite Bay scored again for a 26-5 lead. Then Cordova went on a three-score run to cut the lead to the final score.

"With five minutes remaining (in the game), we got deep into Granite Bay territory but penalties and ball possession cost us dearly," Rose said.

Scoring for Cordova were George Espinoza, who scored twice. Erick Jarquin and Darreon Bieneman scored each for the Lancers.

Lancer seniors who stood out in the game were Jarquin, Espinoza, Chukwu Njoki, Falou Maui and Dylan Krause. Juniors with solid performances were Bieneman, Vincent Spikes and Azat Kudbalyan, and sophomores Eryc Wolf and Hector McDonald shined in the game.

Jesuit 55, Cordova 20

Cordova rallied in the second half after Jesuit jumped out to a 38-0 lead in the first half in their

Feb. 20 game in Carmichael.

But in the second half, Cordova outscored Jesuit, 20-17. The Lancers scored four consecutive times in that half. Dylan Krause, Journey Fatu, David Masila and Jarquin scored for the Lancers.

"We did make a run in the second half," Rose said. "Unfortunately, there are two halves and you must win both."

Vacaville 22, Cordova 12

In its Feb. 14 home game, Cordova played a hard fought game against Vacaville through the entire game. But toward the end of the contest, Vacaville scored to put the game out of reach, as the game ended when darkness fell.

Today - Friday, March 7 - Cordova will play at the Carmichael Cougars. On Friday, March 14, Cordova will play its final home game of the season against the Burbank Islanders. Game time is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. ★

Prime Time Players

T.J. WARREN, NC STATE
Warren put on an offensive clinic on Monday night, scoring a career-high 41 points on only 22 field goal attempts to lead NC State to a 74-67 win at Pittsburgh. The sophomore forward converted 16-of-22 from the field and 6-of-7 from the foul line en route to becoming only the fourth ACC player in the last 17 years to score 40 points in a road win. Warren leads the ACC in scoring with 24.2 points per game.

ANTONIO BARTON, TENNESSEE
After scoring a total of six points (and missing all eight 3-point attempts) in his previous two games, Barton had season highs in both scoring (21 points) and assists (six) to lead Tennessee to an easy 76-38 win over Vanderbilt. The fifth-year senior, a transfer from Memphis, hit 7-of-11 from the field, including 5-of-7 beyond the 3-point arc.

DORIAN FINNEY-SMITH, FLORIDA
Finney-Smith broke out of an extended scoring slump by averaging 17.5 points and 5.5 rebounds to help Florida improve to 16-0 in the SEC. The transfer from Virginia Tech scored 19 points — including a huge 3-pointer in the final minute — to lead the Gators in a 57-54 win at Vanderbilt on Tuesday night. Then, on Saturday, he scored 16 points in a 79-61 win over LSU that clinched the SEC title for Florida.

ISAIAH COUSINS, OKLAHOMA
Oklahoma completed a season sweep over rival Texas with a 77-65 win in Norman. Cousins, a sophomore guard, led the way with a career-high 24 points on 7-of-11 shooting from the field. Since missing all eight shots against Oklahoma State two weeks ago, Cousins has converted 17-of-31 from the field.

TYLER HAWS, BYU
Haws continues to score at a high level as his BYU Cougars are making a late charge at a possible at-large bid in the NCAA Tournament. The junior guard scored 25 points in Saturday's win at San Diego. Haws, who leads the West Coast Conference with a 23.4-point average, has scored in double figures in every game this season.

MIKE MOSER, OREGON
The well-traveled Moser is playing his best basketball as an Oregon Duck at the right time of the year. Moser, who played one season at UCLA and two at UNLV before opting to spend his final year of eligibility in Eugene, scored 20 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead the Ducks to a 78-62 win at USC. Moser is averaging 17.6 points during Oregon's current five-game winning streak.

JUSTIN MARTIN, XAVIER
Martin rebounded from a subpar effort (three points, three rebounds) in a win over St. John's on Tuesday by scoring 19 points and grabbing 16 rebounds in Xavier's huge 75-69 win over Creighton in Cincinnati. It was the first career double-double for the junior forward from Indianapolis.

BRENTON WILLIAMS, SOUTH CAROLINA
Williams poured in a game-high 24 points to lead South Carolina to a surprising 72-67 win over Kentucky — easily the biggest victory of the Frank Martin era in Columbia. Williams only hit four field goals but connected on 15-of-16 from the foul line — including four following the two technicals that led to John Calipari's ejection.

JARED BROWNRIDGE, SANTA CLARA
Brownridge scored a career-high 38 points and added seven rebounds, three assists and two steals as Santa Clara posted an 86-78 win at Pepperdine. A freshman guard from Aurora, Ill., Brownridge hit 12-of-22 from the field, including 7-of-9 from the 3-point line.

MARCUS SMART, OKLAHOMA STATE
Smart overcame a slow start (one point in the first half) to lead Oklahoma State to its biggest win of the season — a 72-65 victory over Big 12 champion Kansas Saturday night in Stillwater. The sophomore guard scored 20 points in the second half to help the Cowboys rally from a 10-point deficit. Then, on Monday night, Smart scored 18 points and added six rebounds, five assists and three steals in a 77-61 win over Kansas State.

K.J. MCDANIELS, CLEMSON
McDaniels, one of the nation's most underrated players, had perhaps the best game of his junior season. He scored 26 points and had 14 rebounds and six blocks to key the Tigers' 77-73 double-overtime win over Maryland. The Birmingham, Ala., native is averaging 16.8 points and 6.9 rebounds.

BRYANT MBAMALU, UL-LAFAYETTE
Mbamalu was spectacular in the Ragin' Cajuns' 102-76 win over South Alabama. The senior guard scored 32 points and grabbed 11 rebounds (both season highs) to lead UL-Lafayette to its 10th Sun Belt win of the season.

D'ANGELO HARRISON, ST. JOHN'S
Harrison scored 25 points and had 10 rebounds to lead St. John's to a much-needed 72-64 win over DePaul on Sunday. The junior is one of the Big East's top scorers, but he has struggled with consistency of late; he scored only four points in the Red Storm's loss at home to Xavier last Tuesday.

Weekend on Tap

SATURDAY, MARCH 8

KENTUCKY AT FLORIDA

Assuming Florida can do Tuesday what Kentucky couldn't last Saturday — win at South Carolina — the Gators will be in position to become the first team not named Kentucky to navigate the SEC regular season without a loss since 1954. Kentucky, on the other hand, entered Tuesday's game against Alabama with eight losses — eight more than some Wildcat fans were expecting before the season started.

SMU AT MEMPHIS

It's a tribute to Larry Brown — the only coach with both an NCAA and NBA championship — that SMU is playing meaningful games in March. The Mustangs, winners of three straight, trail Cincinnati and Louisville by one game in the American Athletic Conference with two games remaining. Memphis, which is two games out, picked up a huge win last weekend, rallying past Louisville for a 72-66 victory. This team has the right ingredients to be dangerous in the NCAA Tournament.

OKLAHOMA STATE AT IOWA STATE

Oklahoma State has rebounded from a seven-game losing streak by winning four straight to all but secure an at-large invitation to the NCAA Tournament. The Cowboys showed some maturity by playing well Monday night in a win over Kansas State just two days after an emotional victory over Kansas. Iowa State is playing for seeding at this point in the season. The Cyclones are in the No. 4-5 range in most mock brackets.

CONNECTICUT AT LOUISVILLE

The American will be sending five teams to the NCAA Tournament, and they all seem to be playing each other in the final week of the regular season. Louisville missed a great opportunity to take control of the league race by losing a late lead Saturday at Memphis. The Cardinals, with a win, would have been in sole possession of first place. Now they are tied with Cincinnati and only one game up on SMU.

ARIZONA AT OREGON

Left for dead by most bracketologists after opening the Pac-12 season with a 3-8 record, Oregon has played its way into the field — for now — by winning five straight games to even its mark at 8-8. The Ducks can end all doubt by sweeping the Arizona schools in Eugene this week. Arizona has solidified its position as a No. 1 seed by winning four straight games, the last three in dominating fashion.

MISSOURI AT TENNESSEE

It's the ultimate bubble game in the SEC between two teams that have underachieved in league play. Tennessee (RPI 48) has played a difficult schedule and has a dominating win over Virginia, the ACC champs, on its resumé. Missouri (RPI 49) doesn't have any real bad losses but has not done much away from home. The Tigers will have an opportunity to make a statement in Knoxville on Saturday.

NORTH CAROLINA AT DUKE

The ACC champion has already been crowned — in Charlottesville, Va. — but there is always plenty at stake when these two rivals get together. Duke, with a strong finish, could earn a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament. North Carolina, which has elite wins on its resumé, could move up to a No. 2 or 3 seed with another win over Duke and a solid showing in the ACC Tournament.

INDIANA AT MICHIGAN

Indiana kept its slim NCAA Tournament hopes alive by beating Iowa and Ohio State at home last week. The Hoosiers can get to .500 in the league with wins over Nebraska at home and at Michigan this week. A year ago, they clinched the outright Big Ten title with a last-second win in Ann Arbor. This year, a victory at Michigan likely would put them in the NCAA Tournament.

NEW MEXICO AT SAN DIEGO STATE

San Diego State, with a great showing in non-conference play, stole the national headlines, but New Mexico is in position to earn the Mountain West title. The two teams enter the final week of play tied at 14-2 in the league. San Diego State has the more difficult midweek test; the Aztecs visit UNLV while UNM hosts Air Force.

SUNDAY, MARCH 9

MICHIGAN STATE AT OHIO STATE

These two Big Ten heavyweights are not exactly peaking at the right time of the year. Michigan State, slowed by injuries to key personnel, has lost six of its last 10 games. Ohio State, which has remained healthy, has lost its last two to drop to 9-8 in the Big Ten. Michigan State will be dangerous if it can get healthy — but that is a big if.

SYRACUSE AT FLORIDA STATE

Florida State needs a marquee win to play its way into the NCAA Tournament at-large pool. Good thing Syracuse is coming to town this weekend. The Seminoles figure to enter the weekend with nine ACC wins, but none has come against a team that will be in the NCAA Tournament. Syracuse has proven itself to be one of the best teams in the nation, but the Orange need to start playing better — soon.

Ask the Editors

Finney-Smith ready for March

What under-the-radar player will become a March Madness hero?

David Fox: Hopes were high for Dorian Finney-Smith at Florida when he transferred from Virginia Tech two years ago, but he's had trouble cracking the Gators' deep, veteran lineup. Now, we're seeing a fairly fresh Finney-Smith contribute in a major way down the stretch. He can grab double-digit rebounds or hit the big three, as he did against Vanderbilt a week ago. Florida has many weapons between Casey Prather, Scottie Wilbekin and Patric Young. An opponent in the NCAA Tournament may be able to limit one or two — and Finney-Smith should be in prime position to fill in the gaps.

Mitch Light: Nic Moore isn't too well known nationally, but SMU's sophomore point guard is a big reason Larry Brown has the Mustangs back in the NCAA Tournament for the first time in two decades. The transfer from Illinois State has been a steady influence on a talented team that is playing meaningful games much sooner than most expected. Moore isn't a prolific scorer (14.1 ppg), but he has hit the 20-point mark six times this season. He shoots the ball well from the perimeter and has only committed more than three turnovers in a league game once. Moore is the type of player who can carry a solid team to unexpected heights in the NCAA Tournament.

Braden Gall: Wisconsin is surging, and everyone knows about the talent and upside of Sam Dekker and the development of Frank Kaminsky. But Josh Gasser could be the piece to the puzzle that could help carry Bo Ryan to his first Final Four appearance. Gasser has an all-around game with the ability to score from the outside, rebound and create off the bounce, and he is an elite defender who is normally charged with stopping the other team's top scorer.

Who is your National Coach of the Year?

Light: Billy Donovan is my choice. He has done a tremendous job with a team that isn't loaded with elite players. Sure, the SEC is down, but it's very difficult to go 18-0 (which Florida is on the verge of doing) in any league. In a two-week span, Donovan's team won road games at Tennessee, Kentucky, Ole Miss and Vanderbilt. That's not easy to do, even if you have a roster loaded with future NBA standouts (which Florida does not). The Gators only have two losses, both in the first month of the season and both when the team was not at full strength. After three straight Elite Eight appearances, Florida — led by Donovan — is poised to break through and reach the Final Four.

Florida forward Dorian Finney-Smith, who began his career at Virginia Tech, could play a key role for Florida in the NCAA Tournament.

Fox: In a season with many stand-out contenders, you have to go with the one who leads a program that is achieving history. Good teams lose games they're not supposed to every day in college basketball, but not at Wichita State this season. Gregg

Marshall has led a team that has not lost focus all season, defeating opponents by an average of 15.5 points on the way to the first 31-0 start since 1990-91. Beyond this season, Marshall has had an incredible career. The Shockers won only 11 games in his first season, in 2007-08, and have emerged as a nationally prominent program the past two seasons.

Gall: Entering the postseason undefeated is a huge accomplishment for Gregg Marshall and Wichita State, but I'd have to vote for Tony Bennett at Virginia. The ACC was supposed to be the best conference basketball had ever seen, and all Bennett and the Cavaliers did was win their first regular-season ACC title in 33 years. In a league with Hall of Fame coaches, multiple top-10 teams and Final Four contenders, it was Bennett's Wahoos who topped them all to win the league crown.
