SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - For four days, from Thursday, February 3rd, to Sunday February 6th, 150 firefighters from throughout Sacramento County and beyond showed up at the corner of Sunrise Boulevard and Greenback Lane in Citrus Heights to participate in the 28th Fill the Boot for Burns fundraiser. This is the Firefighters Burn Institute's (FFBI) largest fundraiser of the year. The official tally at the end of the week was $203,000, $33,000 more than

2021. Helping them raise funds, fire personnel from Folsom, South Placer, Consumnes, West Sacramento, Elk Grove, Woodland, Travis Air Force Base in Solano County and Beale Air Force Base in Yuba County took to the streets of Citrus Heights alongside their local brother and sister firefighters. Following the main event in Citrus Heights each winter, smaller satellite fundraisers are held during the year

throughout the area.

The official FFBI website explains their mission statement and the intensive work they are doing in this field:

"The Firefighters Burn Institute is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization founded by Sacramento Fire Captain

State Officials Announce Latest COVID-19 Stats

CDPH Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The California Department of Public Health (CDPH) released the most recent statistics on COVID-19 and updates on the state's pandemic response. The most up to date data is available on the state's COVID-19 data dashboard.

Update on ICU Capacity

While statewide case rates continue to drop and hospitalization rates are stabilizing, ICUs in the San Joaquin Valley are at or near capacity activating surge protocols which allows flexibility to transfer patients to hospitals with additional ICU capacity. Counties within the region include: Calaveras, Fresno, Kern, Kings, Madera, Mariposa, Merced, San Benito, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Tulare, and Tuolumne.

More information about the surge protocols can be found here. These surge protocols have been in place since August 2021 to ensure hospitals can provide all Californians the care they need.

"California has measures in place to respond to the surge and changing dynamics of the pandemic," said Dr. Mark Ghaly, Secretary of the California Health & Human Services Agency. "ICUs in the San Joaquin Valley, where vaccination rates are lower, are nearing capacity. Californians will get through this latest surge by continuing to follow the science, including by getting vaccinated and boosted, which is the safest way to protect yourself from the virus."

Statewide COVID-19 Data

Rates of cases, hospitalizations and deaths are highest among unvaccinated individuals and lowest among boosted individuals. This is true for all age groups. See additional data for unvaccinated and vaccinated cases, hospitalizations and deaths.

Vaccinations

69,152,754 total vaccines administered; 81.7% of the eligible population (5+) has been vaccinated with at least one dose; 122,422 people a day are receiving COVID-19 vaccination (average daily dose count over 7 days).

Cases

California has 7,706,395 confirmed cases to date; Today's average case count is 82,997 (average daily

City Approves Small Business COVID Recovery Grant Program

Story by Shaunna Boyd

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - At the January 27 meeting, the Citrus Heights City Council considered allocating $323,763 of the federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funds to the proposed Small Business COVID Recovery Grant Program.

The City's total ARPA funding award is $15.6 million. After the first installment of $7.8 million was received in May 2021, $5.3 million was allocated to restore staffing at the Citrus Heights Police Department. The final $7.8 million installment is expected in May 2022.

Megan Huber, Economic Development and Communications Manager for Citrus Heights, explained that the ARPA Final Guidelines allow for $10 million to be allocated under an extremely flexible revenue loss category.

The remaining $323,763 is restricted to COVID recovery with fewer eligible uses. The City Council will hold a special Study Session in the coming months to discuss all possible options for the flexible $10 million, while allocating all of the available restricted dollars to the Small Business COVID Recovery Grant Program.

The grant program is for small businesses only, so those with no more than 20 full time employees and that earned $3 million or less in annual revenue in 2019. To be eligible, they must be a physical commercial business located and licensed in Citrus Heights; operational as of March 1, 2020; and still currently operating with the intention to remain open. To prove eligibility, the business must provide documents showing net revenue loss of at least 25% in either 2020 or 2021 compared to 2019.

Grants will be awarded based on a tiered system: Businesses that made between $1,000 and $100,000 in 2019 will be eligible for a $2,000 grant; those that made between $100,000 and $1 million will get $10,000 in grant funds; and businesses that made between $1 million and $3 million will be eligible for $15,000.

In order to provide as much help as possible to businesses, the list of eligible expenses is quite flexible: the grant funding can be used for general business expenses, including payroll and supplier payments; rent, lease, or mortgage payments; façade or outdoor improvements; personal protective equipment (PPE) or sanitation supplies; business planning needs; and COVID compliance efforts.

Staff is working to create a streamlined and expedited application process for the program, with businesses submitting online applications with the required documents. The program will be promoted through email, social media, and other media, as well through local business associations and the Citrus Heights Chamber of Commerce.

The initial application period will last 30 days, and Huber said subsequent rounds will be initiated if funds aren't exhausted in the first round. City staff will review the applications for eligibility, with the possibility of a discretionary review process if the available funds won't meet the number the applications.

Huber said, "This is an initial program, and we will be assessing further ARPA funding allocations with City Council in a study session in the coming

Nielsen Endorses Lanhee Chen for State Controller

Lanhee Chen
for Controller Press Release

RED BLUFF, CA (MPG) - California State Senator Jim Nielsen, Vice Chairman of the Senate Committee on Budget and Fiscal Review and one of the authors of Proposition 2, which created the state's Rainy-Day Fund for fiscal emergencies, endorsed Lanhee Chen for California State Controller. "Californians need a State Controller who will be a watchdog, not a rubber stamp on the hundreds of billions of dollars our state spends each year," said Nielsen.

“Lanhee Chen will be a tireless fiscal advocate for all Californians. More importantly for our state’s future needs, he will make sure that the money allocated for everything from water infrastructure to wildfire prevention is actually spent as we are told it will be.”

Nielsen continued, "I believe Lanhee is someone we can trust to keep a watchful eye over our tax dollars and state spending. I am proud to endorse him and look forward to helping him get his message out across California.”

A successful farmer and rancher, Senator Jim Nielsen grew up on a small farm in the San Joaquin Valley and graduated from Fresno State with a bachelor's degree in Agricultural Business. After college, Jim worked as a ranch foreman and operated the family cattle, field, and row-crop ranch. He later founded a company that utilized rice hulls and rice straw for fuel. Elected to the State Senate in January 2013, Senator Nielsen proudly represents the citizens of Butte, Colusa, Glenn, Placer, Sacramento, Sutter, Tehama, and Yuba counties. ★

Cliff Haskell and the Sacramento Area Fire Fighters Local 522 in 1973, for the purpose of establishing a local burn treatment facility; providing recovery programs for burn survivors; providing fire and burn prevention through public education; funding education for burn team professionals, firefighters, and burn survivors; and supporting burn treatment and rehabilitation research”.

The FFBI was brought about in response to a terrible accident. “In 1972, a jet airplane attempting to take off from Sacramento Executive Airport, crashed into a crowded Farrell’s Ice Cream Parlor, killing 23 people and burning many others. A Sacramento firefighter, Gene LaVine, and eight members of his family died in the fiery crash. Shortly after, Sacramento Fire Department Captain Cliff Haskell convinced the Sacramento Area Fire Fighters Local 522 to allow him to begin work establishing a specialized burn unit for the area. Cliff’s initial fundraising campaigns formed the FFBI in December 1973.

FFBI’s goal was to help establish a local burn treatment facility in the Sacramento area. Shortly after its founding, FFBI collaborated with physicians and administration at the University of California Davis Medical Center (UCDMC) to open the UCDMC Regional Burn Center in January of 1974. Over the years, FFBI has expanded its mission to include burn research, public education, fire and burn prevention and burn recovery for survivors and their families, which extends far beyond the firefighting community to any and all burn survivors. If it wasn’t for Captain Cliff Haskell and the support of his wife, Tillie Haskell, there would not be definitive burn care in the Sacramento area”.

The firefighters themselves are important in the planning and execution of all programs and their involvement in the FFBI has been the assurance of its success. Nearly five decades later, the FFBI participates in local recovery and educational outreach efforts and plays an active leadership role on a national level through its involvement in the Federation of Burn Foundations and the American Burn Association.

In 2020 a children’s book for preschoolers and kindergarteners, inspired by the Haskell’s was created. “Safety in the Fire House,” featuring Cliff the firefighting goat and Tillie the fire safe chicken educates young children about how to stay safe from fires and other dangerous hot objects around the house.

Sponsors who help make this event happen include Duarte Construction, California Fire Foundation, Emergency Board Up Solutions, Sacramento Area Fire Fighters Local 522, Sunrise Mall, and the City of Citrus Heights.

months, so we’ll be really excited to present data on how this program was received, by whom, if it would be undersubscribed or oversubscribed, so Council can take that into account for the strategic planning and forecasting of these one-time pivotal funds.”

Councilmember Jeannie Bruins said, “The funds we are approving tonight are an immediate approval for going forward with this new business recovery program. ... When we have our strategic planning session, further support of the business community could very well come out of that as well. So, this is not the only opportunity we’re going to look at to provide funding. So once we have the comprehensive session, we’ll take a look at that again, and we’ll fortunately have data ... to show what the initial response has been and that will help guide our actions as we go forward.”

Vice Mayor Tim Schaefer expressed concern about businesses that might not want to provide their tax documents to the City since they would become public record, so he asked if there were alternative ways for businesses to receive funding.

Interim Administrative Services Director Bill Zenoni explained that providing tax documents is the normal procedure in this situation, and the City will need to have that documentation available if the federal government were to audit this grant program.

City Attorney Ryan Jones said that Tax Identification Numbers and Social Security Numbers would be redacted, but the income sections would be subject to the Public Information Act.
Councilmember Bret Daniels said he hoped to see some flexibility in the eligibility requirements, stating that a business that lost 24% of their revenue wouldn’t meet the 25% threshold but would still be struggling and in need of help.
Huber said that staff will be working to identify businesses falling through the cracks so they can suggest alternative ways to provide assistance.
The Council voted unanimously to approve the Small Business COVID Recovery Grant Program. ★

Two Boost Mobile Retail Stores Close in Citrus Heights

By Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - Two retail Boost Mobile cell phone franchise stores serving customers in Citrus Heights have closed.

Boost Mobile’s retail store in the Greenback San Juan Center in Citrus Heights was operated by Gotem Wireless and located adjacent to the Bank of the West at 7363 Greenback Lane. A business telephone number for its owner, Gotem Wireless, is no longer in service.

Store managers located nearby in the Greenback San Juan Center said the Boost Mobile retail store at 7363 Greenback Lane closed in late December 2021. No notice of the store’s closure is posted in the store window for its customers.

In a web chat response, the two Citrus Heights local franchises, which included 7363 Greenback Lane and 6176 Auburn Boulevard in Citrus Heights were independently owned and operated. Calls to Boost Mobile’s Auburn Boulevard store, also shuttered, were not returned.

Current Boost Mobile customers have two available options for retail customer service in the local area. Retail stores at 10401 Folsom Blvd, Ste C in Rancho Cordova and at 199 Cirby Way in Roseville remain open.

Boost Mobile offers its customers a no annual wireless service contract. Service plans typically include pre-paid unlimited talk and text, and phones from top brands at affordable prices. Customers who need to reload funds on their account can still do so at participating 7-11, Walgreens and CVS stores. Some Boost Mobile phones are also available for retail purchase at Walmart.

Dish now owns Boost Mobile, bringing Dish – after years of speculation – into the consumer wireless market where it is expected to compete with Verizon, AT&T, and T-Mobile.

As part of the agreement, Dish paid $1.4 billion for Boost and other Sprint prepaid assets. Dish also secured access to T-Mobile’s network for seven years, allowing its subscribers to use T-Mobile’s network while Dish builds out its own 5G service.

According to Boost Mobile’s corporate website, Dish says the new Boost Mobile will have more than 9 million subscribers.

Utilities Join to Support Regional Electric Vehicle Charging Network

California Utilities Press Release

SACRAMENTO CA (MPG) - During a virtual event with Secretary of Energy Jennifer M. Granholm, Secretary of Commerce Gina Raimondo, the California Electric Transportation Coalition and California utilities announced a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) to support a California Regional Charging Network. The MOU encourages cooperation and leadership amongst the California utilities to build out a regional network of chargers in support of California’s ambitious goals to electrify the transportation sectors in California.

The MOU was signed by the Los Angeles Department of Water & Power (LADWP), Northern California Power Agency (NCPA), Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), Sacramento Municipal Utility District (SMUD), San Diego Gas & Electric Company (SDG&E) and Southern California Edison (SCE), with additional utilities planning to join soon.

The MOU encourages cooperation and leadership in support of electric cars and trucks traveling along key corridors in California and beyond to reduce pollution, protect public health, advance equity, and support access to electric cars and trucks for all Californians.

“We’re proud to support a partnership that aims to maximize EV infrastructure throughout the state,” said Paul Lau, CEO, and general manager of SMUD. “We recognize that achieving the state’s emission reduction goals will take a collective effort and we’re happy to be aligned with utilities and municipalities that support that effort. Creating clean travel corridors throughout the state benefits everyone, especially our disadvantaged residents who disproportionately live near these corridors. We hope that this MOU will support the purchase and use of EVs while bolstering the confidence of drivers who move about our state.”

“Providing the infrastructure needed to support widespread electric vehicle adoption is critical to breaking down one of the biggest barriers to EV adoption,” said Pedro J. Pizarro, president and CEO of Edison International, parent company of Southern California Edison. “Edison is committed to doing our part to ensure electrification of the transportation sector is truly equitable.”

The California utilities will be working together to identify key locations for charging infrastructure in support of regional travel across the state, identify those locations that minimize grid impacts and customer costs, and define charging infrastructure characteristics that lead to more user-friendly car and truck charging.

“No single utility on its own can create a regional charging network to eliminate range anxiety,” said SDG&E CEO Caroline Winn. “But by working together within a framework of shared values, we can make a bigger collective impact to benefit all Californians and advance our state’s global leadership in clean transportation.”

This MOU and collaboration grew from the ongoing commitment in California to zero-emission mobility and goods movement, recently highlighted by Governor Newsom in Executive Order N-79-20. Under the order, 100 percent of sales of new cars and drayage trucks are to be zero-emission by 2035 and all on-road cars and trucks are to be zero-emissions by 2045. Although California has built out its charging infrastructure at a commendable rate, much more is needed to meet the state’s zero-emission car and truck goals, and ensure that all Californians have access to safe, clean, and affordable electricity fuel.

“At LADWP, we recognize the tremendous benefits to transitioning California’s vehicle fleet to electricity fuel, and we are committed to doing our part to ensure this transition is truly equitable. The opportunities to benefit from this transition apply to all Californians whether or not they own or operate an electric vehicle, these kinds of collaborations help improve and ensure those benefits,” said Reiko Kerr, LADWP senior assistant general manager, Power System Engineering and Technical Services.

The MOU specifically calls out the need to support and engage with local and diverse communities along the regional corridors. The MOU emphasizes equity and community inclusion, as part of the participating utilities core values.

“The California utilities have led the nation on clean, renewable, electricity and support for electrification. I look forward to this collaborative effort and to seeing it expand with partnerships and collaboration across the United States that benefit all EV drivers by ensuring they can travel freely within and outside the state,” said Eileen Tutt, executive director, California Electric Transportation Coalition. ★

Be Patient, Find Your Path ... and Forget About Student Loans

Dear Dave,

My husband and I are 30, and we are on Baby Step 2. He wants to go back to school and become a social worker. He currently makes about $20,000 a year as a teacher’s assistant, and he wants to take out student loans to do this. He already has an associate’s degree, which wouldn’t mean four years of loans, but the idea scares me a lot. I have a good job, so how can I still support him and his desire to further his education without agreeing to go deeper into debt?

– Britney

Dear Britney,

So, it’s kind of a situation where you’re working the Baby Steps and he’s not. On top of this, he wants to go into debt to do social work. Does he know what social workers make these days?

This guy obviously has

a heart for helping people. That’s a great thing. But I’ve got to believe there are ways to expand his options. Social work is one path, but there are probably several paths he could follow to get involved in what he loves about the idea of social work.

I’m guessing he has a passion for counseling and advocating, too. Finishing a four-year degree would put him in a position where he could potentially move into a guidance counselor role or something along those lines, considering his background. But taking out loans isn’t necessary. He just needs to be patient, and wait a little bit while you two buckle down on the Baby Steps and get out of debt. He could get a second job for a while nights or weekends, and then you’d be able to pay off your debt faster and avoid those stupid loans thanks to the cash you set aside. Plus, there are millions of dollars in scholarships out there for traditional and non-traditional students.

Sometimes when people feel stuck in a job, they automatically default to the idea they need a degree. What your husband really needs right now is a clear idea and direction. Then, you determine if a degree is necessary to get there. Don’t misunderstand me. I’m not against social work. But I’ve talked to so many people who went six-figures into debt, only to wind up making $38,000 as a social worker for the state. That’s crazy!

You two need to sit down together, and talk all this out. Tell him why you’re worried, and point out that borrowing a bunch of money isn’t the only way – and definitely isn’t the smart way – to make this happen. If you really want to support him, Britney, you need to help him see there are steps he can take to pursue his dream without it turning into a financial nightmare for both of you.

Newsom in the Middle of Solar Panel Battle

By Dan Walters CALMatters

High-octane battles over major policy issues are nothing new in the state Legislature. Every legislative session has at least one such clash that draws intense public and media interest.

Although the 2022 legislative session has just begun, it already has high-profile battles underway over whether public school students should be required to have COVID-19 vaccinations and whether the state should embrace single-payer medical care.

We sometimes forget that there are dozens of other, less public, venues where conflicts over important policy issues play out — like state regulatory agencies. With all of them directly or indirectly controlled by the governor or other political figures, they make decisions that can have multi-billion-dollar consequences and affect the lives of millions of Californians.

The California Public Utilities Commission, whose members are appointed by the governor, is arguably the state’s most influential regulatory agency. Originally created more than a century ago to regulate railroad freight rates, the PUC’s portfolio expanded to include utilities supplying electric power, natural gas and water.

With that broad franchise, PUC decrees affect the finances of virtually every household and business in the state. It now faces one of the most heated conflicts in its history — a utility-backed proposal to reduce the financial incentives for installing rooftop solar panels, primarily the right to sell excess solar energy back to utilities, dubbed Net Energy Metering or NEM.

In December, the PUC released a 204-page proposal to reduce the payments to solar panel owners, largely embracing what the utilities and their unions had been seeking, but angering advocates of rooftop generation. The factions have been waging a fierce battle, mostly in the media, ever since.

The utilities contend that NEM amounts to a subsidy for Californians affluent enough to afford solar arrays that manifests itself in higher power rates for everyone else, particularly the poor, and has assembled a coalition of politicians, consumer advocates and environmentalists.

The opposition, funded mostly by solar panel manufacturers and sellers, contends that it’s a grab by utilities that will retard the growth of solar power and make it more difficult for the state to meet its greenhouse gas reduction goals.

Fundamentally, it’s an existential issue for both. Utilities fear that widespread self-generation will damage their financial viability while the solar industry sees reducing NEM’s incentives as discouraging potential customers.

The PUC’s draft was a big tactical win for the utility faction, but its rival redoubled its effort to maintain the status quo, gaining support from such high-profile figures as Sen. Dianne Feinstein and former Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger.

As with so many big issues these days, Gov. Gavin Newsom is the man in the middle. The opposition was buoyed, therefore, when Newsom indicated this month that he wants changes in the PUC’s draft.

Asked about NEM at his budget news conference, Newsom replied: “That draft plan that was recently released, I just had a chance to review, and I’ll say this about the plan: We still have some work to do,”

When asked again later in the news conference about the PUC proposal, Newsom said, “Do I think changes need to be made? Yes I do.”

The PUC got the message and delayed a vote on whether to adopt the draft, moving everything behind closed doors. Newsom hasn’t specified the changes he seeks but presumably wants to make the NEM overhaul at least marginally acceptable to the solar faction without alienating the utilities or, more importantly, their influential unions.

Whatever happens, it is another reminder about the important role played by regulatory agencies and about the power that politicians have over what those agencies decree.

Calif. Bill Would Allow Children 12 and Older to Be Vaccinated Without Parental Consent or Knowledge | 20 Jan 2022 | California Senate Bill 866, introduced by Sen. Scott Wiener (D-San Francisco), would permit children 12 and older to be vaccinated, including against COVID-19, without a parent’s consent or knowledge. The bill is the first to be proposed this year by a group of Democratic lawmakers that has pledged to strengthen vaccination laws and target misinformation amid the COVID-19 pandemic. Vaccine consent laws vary across the country, with Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia allowing children 11 and older to be inoculated without parental approval. If SB 866 is passed by the Legislature and signed by Newsom, the bill would go into effect Jan. 1, 2023.

US to close borders to unvaccinated Canadian, Mexican truckers on Saturday – Mandate moving ahead as planned despite pushback from industry | 20 Jan 2022 | The U.S. will close its borders to unvaccinated and partially vaccinated Canadian and Mexican truck drivers on Saturday, the Department of Homeland Security said on Thursday. “These updated travel requirements reflect the Biden-Harris Administration’s commitment to protecting public health while safely facilitating the cross-border trade and travel that is critical to our economy,” Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas said in a statement. The border COVID-19 vaccine mandates are coming into force despite pushback from the truck industry. The impact will be felt most acutely for the U.S.-Canada freight market, where around 160,000 truckers regularly cross the border – 75% of whom are Canadian. Already capacity has tightened significantly, with huge price increases in the spot market. Since millions of (untested, unvaccinated) immigrants are allowed to enter the US illegally every year, it’s obvious that the DHS cares not a whit about public health. Not to mention the fact that Biden’s TSA allows illegal immigrants to use their arrest warrants as an acceptable form of ID.

University finds novel 1984 ‘offensive and upsetting’ – Students are being warned of ‘explicit material’ awaiting them in a novel that ironically describes the dangers of censorship. | 23 Jan 2022 | The University of Northampton has issued a harsh warning over potentially “offensive and upsetting” material contained in the famous dystopia by George Orwell, 1984. The novel, which describes the dangers of totalitarian rule and censorship, is now red-flagged, as it addresses “challenging issues related to violence, gender, sexuality, class, race, abuses, sexual abuse, political ideas and offensive language.” The warning, issued to students taking a module called “Identity Under Construction,” became public following a Freedom of Information request by The Mail on Sunday.

‘The Final Variant Is Tyranny’: Thousands of anti-vaccine mandate protesters flaunt mask rules to descend on D.C. – A crowd of up to 20,000 gathered in Washington DC Saturday to protest ongoing vaccine mandates, including those in the Capitol. “Americans want democracy back, and this rally is a demand to get their democracy back,” keynote speaker Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., said. | 23 Jan 2022 | Thousands gathered in Washington D.C. - a city that mandates vaccines - for a “Defeat the Mandates” protest, with protesters blaring ballads by Meat Loaf... Robert F. Kennedy and Informed Consent Action Network founder Del Bigtree were among big names who addressed the rally Sunday morning. Around 20,000 people were expected to attend the demonstration. “Americans want democracy back, and this rally is a demand by Americans to get their democracy back,” Kennedy said of the rally, according to WUSA9. Kennedy compared the plight of the vaccine-adverse to that of Anne Frank on Sunday, saying, “Even in Hitler’s Germany, you could hide in the attic like Anne Frank did.”

Deloitte funded group that wants to keep homeless on subways | 22 Jan 2022 | The corporate employer of tragic subway shoving victim Michelle Go, who was allegedly killed by an unhinged vagrant, helped fund a progressive non-profit that sued to keep the homeless from being ousted from the NYC transit system. Go, 40, a senior manager at consulting conglomerate Deloitte, was killed Jan. 15 when Simon Martial, 61, allegedly pushed her in front of an oncoming train at the Times Square station. He told reporters he did it “because of God.” Deloitte Financial Advisory Services donated between 25,000 and 50,000 in 2021 to the Urban Justice Center, according to the group’s annual report.

Russia Responds to UK’s ‘Very Dangerous’ Coup Allegations | 23 Jan 2022 | Russia’s Foreign Ministry on Sunday dismissed claims from the United Kingdom that Moscow wanted to install a pro-Russia leader in Kyiv while it considers whether to invade the beleaguered Eastern European nation. “We have information that indicates the Russian Government is looking to install a pro-Russian leader in Kyiv as it considers whether to invade and occupy Ukraine,” the UK statement, published Saturday, began... The UK did not provide evidence for its claim. Over the weekend, Russian officials said the UK’s Foreign Office should stop publishing “nonsense” and “disinformation.” “We strongly urge London to stop foolish rhetorical provocations, which are very dangerous in the current overheated situation, and contribute to the real diplomatic efforts to ensure reliable guarantees for European security,” the statement issued by the Russian Embassy in the UK said. Murayev, meanwhile, responded to the UK’s statement by dismissing the claim. “This morning I already read in all the news publications this conspiracy theory: absolutely unproven, absolutely unfounded,” Murayev told Reuters on Sunday, adding he was considering legal action. ★

New Low-Floor Light Rail Vehicles in Production

SacRT Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Congresswoman Doris Matsui (CA-06), Sacramento Regional Transit District (SacRT) and Siemens Mobility, Inc. announced significant mobility improvements benefitting the Sacramento region during a press conference at the Siemens Mobility manufacturing facility in south Sacramento, thanks to the new federal bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act.

The Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act is the largest long-term investment in infrastructure and the economy in our nation's history and provides more than $108 billion for public transit. This bold investment in public transportation will help Sacramento and the nation tackle climate change, advance equity, meet growing and evolving mobility demands and create jobs.

"The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law is delivering for Sacramento, bringing critical funding that will act as a catalyst to further our region's leadership in innovative public transportation programs," said Congresswoman Matsui. "Here in Sacramento, we have projects that are ready to go, with local leaders like SacRT and Siemens Mobility that have the ability to have a tremendous impact in our community. This is an exciting time to look to our future, and I am committed to continue fighting in Congress for the resources our region deserves."

The law provides more than $10 billion in transit funding for California, assisting SacRT with its Light Rail Modernization Project, including the purchase of low-floor light rail vehicles, which are being manufactured by Siemens Mobility's Rolling Stock division in south Sacramento. In December 2021, SacRT and Siemens Mobility executed a contract for the purchase of an additional eight vehicles, on top of the 20 currently being manufactured. SacRT's contract with Siemens includes options for the purchase of up to 72 vehicles.

"This federal investment is helping SacRT expedite our light rail modernization and expansion programs, and conversion to accessible low-floor light rail vehicles," said SacRT General Manager/CEO Henry Li. "With the new federal investment, SacRT will be able to shift all of our light rail vehicles to low-floor in the near future, delivering on SacRT's commitment to operating a world-class transit system."

"Siemens Mobility has been manufacturing American-made light rail vehicles in Sacramento for more than 30 years. We delivered our first vehicles to SacRT in the 1980s and are looking forward to delivering the new low-floor S700 vehicles," said Michael Cahill, president of Siemens Mobility Rolling Stock in North America. "SacRT is a prime example of the bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act's ability to transform our communities. From new LRVs to digital solutions and alternative power sources, such as battery-hybrid technology, transit agencies around the country have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to provide more efficient and sustainable transit options."

Siemens Mobility built SacRT's original light rail fleet, which started operating in revenue service in 1987. Many of those vehicles are still in operation today; however, they are at, or past their useful life benchmark. New Low-Floor Light Rail Vehicles in Production as Federal Infrastructure Law Benefits Mobility in the Sacramento Region.

The new low-floor vehicles will have low level boarding at every doorway, a spacious seating design, and large windows for better light and views. They will feature improved accessibility with wider aisles and areas for bicycles. The new low-floor vehicles will increase overall operational flexibility by providing more access to passengers with disabilities and others boarding with strollers, bicycles, and other mobility devices. The first low-floor vehicles are scheduled to be ready for SacRT service by fall 2023. Learn more about the project at sacrt.com/modernization.

"I have watched SacRT make major mobility improvements over the last few years, but this federal infrastructure investment will truly bring our transportation network into the 21st century," said SacRT Board Chair and Citrus Heights Councilmember Steve Miller.

"SacRT's contract with Siemens Mobility is a win-win for our region. We are upgrading our transit system while supporting hundreds of high-skilled manufacturing jobs at Siemens in South Sacramento," said SacRT Board Vice-Chair and Sacramento County Supervisor Patrick Kennedy.

City of Rancho Cordova Notice of Public Hearing

NOTICE is hereby given that on Tuesday, February 22, 2022, at 5:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, the City Council of the City of Rancho Cordova will hold a Public Hearing at the Rancho Cordova City Hall, located at 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, to consider the following:

PROPOSED ARISTA DEL SOL COMMUNITY FACILITIES DISTRICT NO. 2022-1

The purpose of this public hearing is: The City of Rancho Cordova is considering the formation of a community facilities district (the "CFD") under the authority of the Mello-Roos Community Facilities District Act of 1982, as amended, in to fund certain public facilities related to a new development within the City of Rancho Cordova.

This Notice contains a brief summary of the proposal, but you are referred to the City Council's resolution "A Resolution of Intention of the City Council to Form a Community Facilities District and Levy a Special Tax in City of Rancho Cordova Arista Del Sol Community Facilities District No. 2022-1 to Finance the Acquisition and Construction of Certain Public Facilities in and for such Community Facilities District" adopted January 4, 2022 and its resolution "A Resolution of the City Council Declaring its Intention to Incur a Bonded Indebtedness to Finance the Acquisition and Construction of Certain Public Facilities in and for City of Rancho Cordova Arista Del Sol Community Facilities District No. 2022-1" adopted January 4, 2022 for the definitive description of the proposal.

The proposal is to subject the property within the CFD to a special tax which will be used to pay for facilities of benefit to land within the CFD, including paying principal and interest on bonds used to build facilities, and will expire when the bonds are retired and all eligible facilities are financed. The proceeds of the bonds will be used to pay for the facilities and other expenses set forth in the resolutions referred to in the preceding paragraph. A map showing the land proposed to be included in the CFD is on file with the City Clerk.

As set forth above, the City Council will hold a public hearing on the establishment of the CFD, the facilities to be financed by the CFD, and the levy of the special tax within the CFD.

The proposal also includes authority to issue up to $50,000,000 in bonds to be repaid by the special tax. Neither the City of Rancho Cordova nor any person outside the CFD has any liability for the special tax or the bonds. The security for the bonds is limited to the property subject to the special tax within the CFD.

In order to confer the authority upon the Rancho Cordova City Council to levy the special tax and to issue the bonds, a public hearing must be held on the proposal, then the City Council will decide whether to form the CFD, and finally the qualified electors within the CFD must approve the proposal by a two-thirds vote. Where the CFD is uninhabited (as is the case here) the qualified electors are, pursuant to law, the owners of property within the CFD.

At the hearing, the testimony of all interested persons or potential special taxpayers for or against the formation of the proposed community facilities district, the authorization to levy the special tax, and the authorization to issue the bonds will be heard. If written protests against the proposed CFD are delivered to the City Clerk at or before the time set for the hearing by either registered voters residing within, or the owners of property within, the proposed CFD, they will be counted toward a possible majority protest. Such protests by a majority of the registered voters residing within the CFD or by the owners of a majority of the land area within CFD which is or will be subject to the special tax, if not withdrawn prior to the close of the hearing so as to reduce the value of the protests to less than a majority, will require the proposed CFD to be eliminated from immediate consideration, and prevent its being included in a subsequent proceedings for at least one year.

If the City Council, after the public hearing, determines that a majority protest under Section 53324 of the California Government Code was not made at the hearing, the City Council may conduct an election by mailed ballot to levy a special tax and incur bonded indebtedness.

The City of Rancho Cordova encourages interested parties to attend public meetings and comment on the issues being discussed. In response to Governor's Executive Order N-29-20 and the Resolution Declaring the Existence of a Local Emergency Relating to the COVID-19 Pandemic adopted by the City of Rancho Cordova, the City Council meetings are currently Teleconference Meetings Only to align with local and federal guidelines and social distancing recommendations for the containment of COVID-19. Self Employed with Retiree Benefits...
Why Do I Need Part B??

Toni King

Toni:

We saw your answer about Medicare Part B in an article online and our situation is different. My wife and I will turn 65, me in March and Carol in May. I have signed up for Medicare Part A only and Carol will enroll for Part A soon.

I retired 2 years ago with fantastic retiree benefits for both me and my wife. Currently, I am self-employed and paid as a 1099 contract worker, but I do not have health benefits from that company.

We do not see a need to sign up for Medicare Part B because we are covered under an existing employer retiree plan. Are we correct in this assumption of not enrolling in Part B? Neither the HR department nor Medicare can give us a straight answer.

When do you advise us to sign up for Part B? Thanks,

~ Richard and Carol from Alexander, VA
Hello Richard and Carol:

Great Medicare question ... I would advise you to enroll in Part B NOW because both you and Carol are in your Medicare Initial Enrollment period. Not enrolling in Medicare Part B can cause you to experience a “Medicare nightmare.”

I did a Medicare consultation for a person that is also self-employed, but was given wrong advice from a well-meaning friend about delaying his Part B. His Medicare nightmare is now starting...

Medicare recognizes “true” company and union health plans with the Medicare recipient working full-time for that company for the working employee and non-working covered spouse to be able delay Part B without receiving the famous Medicare Part B penalty.

The Medicare and You Handbook states “COBRA and retiree health coverage does not count as current employer coverage.” Individual health plans also are not considered a current employer coverage for those that are self-employed.

The self-employed person that I consulted with is now 66 and will receive a 10% penalty for each year due to not enrolling in Part B at the right time. His penalty will be 20% (2 years 65 and 66) each month for as long as he is on Medicare. The 20% penalty will increase in cost as the Part B premium increases.

As I said earlier in the article that NOW is you and Carol’s “Medicare Initial Enrollment Period” which is a 7-month period that begins when you turn 65. You and your wife have 3 months before turning 65, the month you turn 65 and 3 months after to enroll in Parts A and B; keeping you and Carol from receiving the Part B 10% penalty for each 12-month period which you could have had Part B but failed to enroll.

I advise anyone who contacts the Toni Says® Medicare team for a personalized Medicare consultation to enroll in Medicare Parts A and B when you are “not working full-time” for a company with true employer benefits. Not working full-time with employer insurance benefits is what Medicare looks for to keep for giving the famous Medicare Part B penalty.

Enroll in Medicare the correct way when you are turning 65 or after 65 retiring from your company because you do not get a second chance. “I didn’t know?” is not a good excuse for Medicare and Medicare will give you a penalty!

Defenseless Against Superbug

Commentary
by Brandon Noble

I wasn’t nervous about a minor knee surgery. As an NFL football player who’d undergone far more extensive operations before, this procedure seemed completely routine. Little did I know that within 36 hours, I would be lying unconscious on the sofa at my daughter’s second birthday party, my right leg inflamed like an overinflated balloon.

The incision site on my knee had been infected with methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus, or MRSA, an antibiotic-resistant “superbug.” What my doctor had initially diagnosed as a simple infection nearly cost me my leg. It could have even taken my life.

It took weeks of intensive care, including six weeks of intravenous antibiotics, for me to recover. I was lucky to walk away from such a dangerous situation. Not everyone is as fortunate. Superbugs like MRSA kill upwards of 160,000 Americans a year. Within the next 30 years, such infections are expected to kill 10 million people around the world annually, as superbugs spread, and existing antibiotics lose their efficacy.

The only way to prevent such carnage is to invent new, stronger antibiotics. And we’re not pouring nearly enough resources into research and development.

Consider the resources spent battling Covid-19. The United States alone funneled $18 billion toward vaccine R&D via Operation Warp Speed. Yet governments around the world spend only $550 million a year on antibiotics research. That’s not nearly enough to fight this global health crisis.

A world without effective antibiotics is almost too terrible to imagine. Infections like strep throat, pneumonia, meningitis, and gonorrhea are adapting to resist treatments; people may once again start dying from what we used to consider small problems. Minor surgeries like mine might become too dangerous to perform at all.

Why isn’t the necessary research happening already? The market is broken. Pharmaceutical companies have little incentive to spend the roughly $1 billion it costs to develop just one antibiotic because it is so difficult to make a return on investment.

Doctors are encouraged to use powerful antibiotics in moderation – to prevent bacteria from evolving to resist those medicines. This caution is necessary – but it means that drug companies struggle to sell enough doses to earn back the costs of R&D and fund research into new products.

We need to revamp the system, fast. While I may not usually be in favor of major government intervention into market issues, this extreme case warrants it. Governments and hospitals need to incentivize the companies that can develop these important medicines.

Congress is currently considering legislation, like the PASTEUR Act and the DISARM Act, that could encourage the creation of new antibiotics that save millions of lives.

We need lawmakers to take this issue seriously. If I – a professional athlete in prime physical condition – can be sacked by superbugs, anyone can. We need to work together to prevent another global health crisis.

‘End of Watch’ for Officer Ty Lenehan Held

By Elise Spleiss

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - The Texas Roadhouse in Citrus Heights held a successful “End of Watch” fundraiser for Elk Grove police officer Ty Lenehan on February 2 and February 3, 2022. Lenehan, an Elk Grove police officer, was killed by a drunk driver going the wrong way on Highway 99 on January 21. He was on his motorcycle on his way to work when he was hit and killed. He had been with the Elk Grove Police Department for six years. He first worked for the Citrus Heights Police Department (CHPD) from 12/10/2012 to 6/28/2014, then the Galt Police Department for two years before joining the Elk Grove Police Department in 2016. Staff at the Texas Roadhouse in Citrus Heights worked nonstop for two nights cooking 423 meals for take-out and dine in. Parking was hard to find and waiting area and dining rooms were packed from 3 to 10 p.m. both nights. On Wednesday, 258 meals were served and on Thursday 165 meals were ordered for take-out or dine-in. By closing the second night, $3,000 had been raised from the 20% donated by the restaurant from the meals sold, a raffle basket provided by the CHPD and other donations. Many of those ordering were officers from surrounding police departments, Sacramento County Sheriff and California Highway Patrol. Co-manager of the Texas Roadhouse Espinosa-Lask said they were honored to be able to provide support to the family during these trying times. Texas Roadhouse is known for supporting their community by doing outreach to the community such as donating 35 meals to Sayonara Youth Center for their fundraiser for foster children, meals to the fire department and other first responders and doing fundraisers to support local youth groups. An email from Lt. Chad

Morris described Lenehan’s connection to Citrus Heights and his professional path: “After completing his service in the Air Force, Ty had the option of continuing on as an electrician and taking over the family business, or to follow his dream of being a police officer. He decided on the latter and never looked back. After putting himself through the police academy and graduating, Ty became part of our CHPD family, starting his law enforcement career here as a Reserve Officer. This was his first position working in the law enforcement profession. Officer Lenehan served as a Reserve Police Officer with the Citrus Heights Police Department from 12/10/2012 - 06/28/2014. During this time a full-time police officer position opened with the Galt Police Department and he took advantage of that opportunity.” Citrus Heights Police Chief Alex Turcotte said in an email, “Ty was a valued member of our CHPD family who easily made many long-lasting friendships. He is fondly remembered for his contagious smile, strong work ethic, and being a genuine human being that loved to keep people laughing. His CHPD badge, #39, has been officially retired in his honor. Our Citrus Heights Community will never forget our friend and hero, Officer Lenehan.” Officer Lenehan’s Celebration of Life was held with full honors on February 1st at Bayside Church Adventure Campus in Roseville. It can be viewed online on the KCRA website. ★
