Homeless Winter Sanctuary Returns for Sixth Year

By Elise Spleiss

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - Since 2017 the homeless in Citrus Heights have been offered the opportunity to enjoy a brief respite from their living situation each winter. For nine weeks, or 63 nights, eight churches in four cities are coming together on a rotating schedule to provide respite each night for 16 to 21 homeless men and women at their location. There are four weeks remaining this year.

Before being transported to the host church each evening, guests arrive at the intake venue, Messiah Lutheran at 5:00 p.m. HART volunteers conduct nightly registration and screening of new guests and sign-in for continuing guests. Bicycles and other gear are stored in a locked container at the registration site. Guests relax with a cup of coffee or cocoa and a snack while Gabby Yost, the homeless navigator works with those who would like to take advantage of the many resources available to help them navigate the homeless life, including housing information, bus passes and vouchers to obtain a driver's license or photo ID card. The hope is they will eventually work to get back into the community with a job and a place to live. In the words of Deacon Mark Holt at Holy Family Catholic Church, the ultimate goal of this program is to "meet the homeless where they are, to give them a hand up, (rather than a hand out) and help them become self-sufficient citizens of Citrus Heights." Holt was involved in the formation of the winter sanctuary.

At 6 p.m. a van owned and run by 'The Way Ministries' along with private drivers then transport guests to the host church for the night. Upon arrival guests receive a hot homemade meal prepared by volunteers, a safe warm place to sleep with a cot and sleeping bag, clean clothing and other personal items. After the meal,

Mercy Holistic Ministry volunteers maintain the showers functioning. Photo by Elise Spleiss

Continued from page 1 many guests retreat to their cot and sleeping bag for some quiet time in their own space. Men and women are housed separately and there is security throughout the evening. At 6:00 a.m. guests are awakened and given a bag breakfast with a simple meal and a fan favorite: socks! At 7 a.m. they are returned to Messiah to retrieve their stored belongings and be on their way until 5:00 that night when they may return again. On the Wednesday of week 4 at the Divine Savior Catholic Church the Orangevale Rotary had spent hours creating a meal to remember for their guests who were treated like royalty from the personalized placemats to the meals for which many came back for seconds. The food bank provided the food for a meal of shredded pork, simmered for four hours, mashed potatoes and well-cooked onions and string beans, which meant even those with few or no teeth could have a healthy meal of meat, protein and a starch. All applauded the homemade brownies by John! Jay Kays a guest who is following that path to self-sufficiency has been homeless for 2 ½ years. This is his third year at the shelter program. He is proud that after relapsing the HART program is helping him with his rehabilitation. Working with the navigator, he says, he is anxious to work his way back into the workforce when the economy turns around, and he is looking forward to better days. Meanwhile he visits the food closet on his bike and shares what he gets with others when he can. He has a place to stay in the park and cleans up the areas after others who are not as respectful of their surroundings. Because of COVID, many of the closed restaurants outside their entrances are becoming overcome with trash. He says despite the lack of adequate trash cans, he and his buddies do what they can to keep those areas in shopping strips clean. The police know them and appreciate their work. A fairly new resource since 2020 is the portable showers provided by Mercy Holistic Ministry. They have provided their service at different sites in Sacramento County. Pastor Berhanu Kumalo founder of the program, has seen how something we take for granted like a simple shower can restore one’s dignity. “When a person takes a shower (after not having one for so long), he feels human again.” Each guest receives a towel for their shower and clean underwear and clothing to take with them. Socks are a popular item and are always needed. Every Tuesday for the next four weeks they will be at Messiah Lutheran from 1:30 to 6 p.m. and every Wednesday they are at the host church from 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. If you can help with any resources, please contact Citrus Heights HART through our Citrus Heights HART web site at <http://www.citrusheightshart.org/> ★

Social Security Matters

Is My Analysis of my Wife's Social Security Correct?

By Russell Gloor,
AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am 63 and my wife is exactly 4 ½ years younger than me to the day. I plan to file for Social Security when I turn 70. My earnings history is considerably higher than my wife's. I talked with a person at the local Social Security office, and she suggested that my wife file at 62 based on her own record then convert to her spousal benefit when I file at age 70. However, from what I can tell, if she files before her FRA of 67, not only will she get less based on her own record, but she will also receive less for her spousal benefit, as well as her survivor benefit if I die before her (which is statistically likely). Is my analysis correct? Signed: Planning Ahead

Dear Planning: Your analysis is correct regarding your wife's spousal benefit while you are both living, but incorrect regarding her survivor benefit if you die first. Here's why:
If your wife takes her personal Social Security (SS) retirement benefit at age 62, she'll get 70% of what she would get if she waited until her FRA of 67 to claim. That amount is permanent (except for COLA), and it is what her

"spousal boost" will be added to when she takes her spouse benefit (when you claim). In the scenario you mention, in addition to your wife's own benefit being reduced by 30% for claiming at 62, since she will not yet have reached her FRA of 67 when she takes her spouse benefit from you her "spousal boost" will be reduced as well. So, claiming at 62 not only reduces her personal benefit it also means she'll get less than 50% of your FRA benefit amount when you claim (FRA amounts are used to compute spouse benefits, regardless of the age benefits are claimed). All of which means her spousal benefit will be considerably less.

That isn't necessarily an unacceptable strategy unless she is working, in which case she'll be subject to an earnings limit which will either reduce how much Social Security will pay her while she's working or, if her earnings are high enough, eliminate her eligibility for any benefit until she stops working. The earnings limit changes yearly but for 2022 it will be $19,560 and if that is exceeded, they will take away benefits equal to $1 for every $2 she is over the limit. There is no longer an earnings limit when your wife reaches her FRA so your wife's plans for working should be factored into her decision on when to claim.

In any case, you should look at your overall benefit opportunity as a couple to see when your wife should claim, and life expectancy should always be factored into your thinking. If your wife expects to live a long life (and does), waiting until her FRA to claim her own SS will maximize her monthly benefit (including her spouse benefit) for the rest of her life. If her life expectancy is less optimistic, claiming earlier has much merit. Just for reference, a woman your wife's age, statistically, will live to an average age of 87.

Regardless of when your wife claims her own benefit or her spousal benefit while you are both living, her benefit as your widow will not be affected. What affects her survivor benefit is her age when she claims it. If she has reached her full retirement age when she claims her widow's benefit, she'll get 100% of the benefit you were receiving when you died instead of the smaller benefit she was previously getting. If she hasn't yet reached her FRA when she claims her widow's benefit, then it will be actuarially reduced by a fraction of a percent for each month earlier than her FRA she claims it. Be aware too that even if your wife hasn't reached her FRA when you die, she can choose to delay claiming her survivor benefit until it reaches maximum at her FRA.

By County
Supervisor
Sue Frost

Through the generosity of the Citrus Heights Messenger, this column serves to provide an update about matters affecting the community of Citrus Heights.

With the rise in COVID cases across the world as a result of the omicron variant, local jurisdictions are struggling with how to properly react. Some areas like Sonoma County have now issued "shelter in place" orders, which means residents can only go to places for essential reasons, such as the grocery store or doctor's office. I strongly believe Sacramento County should not go down this path, and should do everything possible to avoid further shutdowns like the previous failed attempts.

The current rise of COVID is somewhat misleading, as the only thing the media wants to currently report on is the number of COVID cases. And while the omicron variant is extremely contagious,

Citrus Heights Community Update

Sacramento County Cannot Afford Another Lockdown

studies have shown that symptoms are less severe than other variants. The whole reason that the shutdowns happened originally were because deaths were on the rise and hospitals were being overrun, and in Sacramento County neither of these two things are happening. Thankfully, COVID related deaths have remained low, and our hospitals are not in danger of exceeding capacity.

Shutdowns do not come free, and should be avoided due to the devastating impacts they have on society. The Wellbeing Trust, a non profit working to de-stigmatize mental health issues, released a study that found 75,000 deaths during the recent national shutdowns were "deaths of despair" - which includes suicides and overdoses. And in California, nearly one in three restaurants permanently closed as a result of the most recent shutdown.

Nowhere are these negative shutdown impacts more evident than how they have impacted children. The United Nations Children's Fund released a report that showed the current generation of students will lose $17 trillion in lifetime earnings as a result of the learning losses suffered during the global shutdowns. The United States Department of Education also released a report that showed the pandemic has negatively affected academic growth, has deepened the impact of disparities in access and opportunity, and heightened the risk of sexual harassment, abuse, and violence.

Politicians, the media, and government agents have stoked fears to the highest level, and we cannot blame the public for being afraid. But we must fight to keep our businesses, communities and schools open - while also needing to recognize the importance of respectful debate and compassion.

$2.75 Million EDD Fraud Scheme

Sacramento County
District Attorney
Press Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - On January 6, 2022, 35-year-old Jamie Williams-Major was arrested on 166 charges related to an Employment Development Department

(EDD) fraud scheme totaling more than $2.75 million dollars. Williams-Major fraudulently filed 166 EDD claims in the names of state prison inmates and identity theft victims. To date, this is the largest EDD fraud scheme discovered in Sacramento County.

In April of 2021, Sacramento County District Attorney's Office, Sacramento County Sheriff's Office, and the Employment Development Department arrested Williams-Major and six other subjects who were state and local inmates. At that time, law enforcement believed the subjects obtained more than $250,000 in a fraudulent EDD scheme.

After law enforcement arrested Williams-Major in April, they obtained a search warrant and searched the contents of her cell phone. Law enforcement discovered the fraud was 10 times bigger than first suspected. Authorities obtained an arrest warrant for Williams-Major and arrested her in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Williams-Major was transported to Sacramento to face additional charges and will be arraigned on January 19, 2022. ★

Nielsen Cautions on Projected Surplus

Office of Senator
Jim Nielsen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Jim Nielsen, R-Red Bluff, issued the following statement in response to Governor Newsom's proposed 2022-23 State Budget:

"Governor Newsom needs to wake up on water storage. There is an urgent need to fully-fund and immediately build large above-ground water storage projects like Sites Reservoir, and his proposed budget falls billions of dollars short. Groundwater recharge and conservation, while important, simply aren't enough.

"As the state continues to face devastating wildfires that destroy lives, property and wildlife, the governor's budget proposes $1.2 billion for forest health and fire prevention. Republicans have advocated for these efforts for decades. I'm glad that the Governor is slowly coming around on prevention, though much more needs to be done.

"Dangerous people are not in custody and the people of California don't feel safe. This budget proposal takes a few steps but doesn't sufficiently address the need to support law enforcement.

"The state budget has a $21 billion surplus, so there's no reason to not provide enough money to fund these critical priorities."

A Veteran Thank Today

Youngkin Is Right on Masks

Glenn Youngkin promised to be on the side of parents as Virginia governor, and on his first day in office, he delivered. The Republican issued an executive order allowing parents to decide whether their kids will wear masks in school, and met an instant wall of resistance from Democratic-controlled counties and criticism from the White House press secretary Jen Psaki. A Washington Post headline said that Youngkin is “terrifying” people. The flak notwithstanding, his order is a sign of a growing backlash against COVID-19 restrictions that will likely only gain force as the pandemic drags on and former articles of faith, including on masking, get called into increasing doubt. Youngkin has ventured into a legally murky area. Critics believe he doesn’t have the authority to issue his order because Virginia passed a statute in early 2021 that says schools should “to the maximum extent practicable” adhere to CDC-blessed strategies for controlling spread. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is still recommending masks. The statue is vague, though, and doesn’t mention masks. Youngkin’s predecessor, Democrat Ralph Northam, felt compelled to issue an executive order specifically mandating them in K-12 schools.

There’s also the question of whether decisions on masking and other mitigation measures are best left to school districts. Here, it is worth noting that Youngkin’s order is different from that of his fellow Republican governors in Texas and Florida, who prohibited school districts from adopting mask mandates. Instead, Youngkin is establishing a carveout for parents from mandates, should they choose to take advantage of it. All that said, it is clearly time for mask mandates to end. The conventional wisdom on masks has gone from “don’t wear them they are useless” at the beginning of the pandemic, to “you are a terrible person if you don’t wear them” for about a year and a half, to now, “cloth masks don’t really protect anyone.” Despite Jen Psaki saying that Arlington County, which is vowing to defy Youngkin, is standing up for kids and their safety, the case for masking kids in schools is weak or nonexistent. We are an outlier on this question. The CDC recommends masking all kids age 2 and older, whereas other health authorities are considerably more nuanced. The European Centre for Disease Prevention and Control doesn’t recommend masking for schoolchildren younger than age 12, noting – correctly – that they “may have a lower tolerance to wearing masks for extended periods of time, and may fail to wear them properly.” In areas with community spread, it recommends masks for students in secondary schools, although it stipulates that they should “be seen as a complimentary measure, rather than a standalone measure to prevent transmission within schools.” The World Health Organization makes distinctions based on age. It says that kids age 5 and younger shouldn’t be required to wear masks based on the “overall interest of the child and the capacity to appropriately use a mask with minimal assistance.” It is open to the masking of 6- to 11-year-olds, so long as a wide variety of conditions are met. And it says that kids age 12 and over should mask like adults. Many European countries have avoided sweeping American-style mask mandates on school kids, and for good reason. A large-scale CDC study found no benefits from the masking of kids. Many students wear cloth masks that don’t provide much protection (even if worn and maintained properly) and no sane person should want to subject a child to an N95 all day long. Parents in Virginia who believe that masking is important can still act accordingly, and vaccines and boosters are available to provide another layer of protection. But masks remain something more than a public-health measure for many proponents – they are a signal of virtue and a pillar of pandemic orthodoxy. Youngkin’s offense, at bottom, is dissenting from this worldview, and providing options for parents who don’t share it, either. Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review. Newsom Backs Away from Single-Payer Health Care Pledge

By Dan Walters CALMatters

When he unveiled a new state budget last week, Gov. Gavin Newsom crowed about California becoming the nation’s first state to embrace universal health care coverage. His budget would accomplish that goal by extending state Medi-Cal coverage to undocumented immigrants of all ages, beginning in 2024. “I campaigned on universal health care,” Newsom said a day later. “We’re delivering that.” Not quite. While running for governor in 2018, Newsom pledged to create a single-payer system for California, making the state the sole supplier of coverage. “I’m tired of politicians saying they support single-payer but that it’s too soon, too expensive or someone else’s problem,” Newsom said during the campaign. That pledge won Newsom the support of single-payer advocates. The California Nurses Association decked out a bus that toured the state with a picture of Newsom’s face and the words: “Nurses Trust Newsom. He shares our values and fights for our patients.” However, once elected, Newsom did virtually nothing to implement the promise. Instead, as the state’s finances allowed, he extended Medi-Cal coverage incrementally to undocumented immigrants and others lacking private or public coverage. Along with mandates and subsidies from Obamacare, state actions eventually raised health coverage to 94% of Californians and Newsom’s latest extension to undocumented adults would make it, at least on paper, 100%. Newsom gets a bit testy when reporters ask him about his 2018 pledge. As he was introducing his budget this month, the state Assembly was beginning to move a single-payer bill for what’s called CalCare, and asked about it, Newsom replied, “I have not had the opportunity to review that plan, and no one has presented it to me.” “I think that the ideal system is a single-payer system,” Newsom said. “I’ve been consistent with that for well over a decade. ... The difference here is when you are in a position of responsibility, you’ve gotta apply, you’ve gotta manifest, the ideal. This is hard work. It’s one thing to say, it’s another to do. And with respect, there are many different pathways to achieve the goal.” The nurses’ union and other single-payer advocates aren’t satisfied. The San Francisco Chronicle reported union organizer Alyssa Kang told single-payer advocates on a conference call, “So we want to be absolutely clear: This is a flip-flop from a governor who said ... ‘I’m tired of politicians saying they support single payer but that it’s too soon, too expensive or someone else’s problem.’ This is absolutely unacceptable, and he cannot be allowed to have it both ways.” The differences between universal coverage and single-payer are more than semantic. The former includes a wide variety of public and private health insurance plans, many of which have coverage limits and patient co-pays, while the latter would provide unlimited benefits free of out-of-pocket costs, much like Great Britain’s National Health Service. Providing universal coverage, as Newsom defines it, is doable by spending a few additional billion dollars in the state budget. Single-payer, on the other hand, would require the federal government to give the state the $200-plus billion is now spends on Californians’ health care and the state to raise taxes more than $150 billion a year. The legislation now pending in the Assembly would create a framework but the taxes are contained in a companion constitutional amendment that would require two-thirds votes in the Legislature and voter approval. With massive opposition from employers and much of the medical industry, chances for complete approval of the package are iffy at best and it doesn’t appear that Newsom will lift a finger to help it. He’s clearly content to settle for universal coverage. Dan Walters has been a journalist for nearly 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. ★

Where Should he Park the Money?

Dear Dave, Our son is 13, and he has been doing some part-time work for a friend of the family. He makes $40 to $60 a week, and he would like to begin investing the majority of what he earns. Do you have a suggestion for a good place he could put his money? – Lindsay Dear Lindsay, Well, here’s the thing. At this point in his life, the goal of this investment isn’t wealth. Number one, it’s not a lot of money. Number two, well, it’s not a lot of money. The goal is to create knowledge, reward his interest in the subject and teach him how to handle his finances when he’s an adult. I’ve got no problem with you helping him open checking or savings accounts at a local bank or credit union. There are lots of good lessons to be learned in reconciling a bank statement, and the value of spending, saving and giving. Then, you could get with a good financial pro, one with the heart of a teacher, and let him open a mutual fund for $50 a month with you as the custodian. He could learn about compound interest, how to calculate the value of his shares and other things, and all that would be a good learning exercise, too. We did these things with our kids. But keep in mind that over the course of a year – and when you’re 13, that’s an eternity – there’s not going to be a lot of action on the investing side of things. It could be kind of boring for him at times. But he’s better off to learn now that good things don’t always come with flashing lights and whistles. When it comes to wealth building, things aren’t sexy. Calif. Bill Would Allow Children 12 and Older to Be Vaccinated Without Parental Consent or Knowledge | 20 Jan 2022 | California Senate Bill 866, introduced by Sen. Scott Wiener (D-San Francisco), would permit children 12 and older to be vaccinated, including against COVID-19, without a parent’s consent or knowledge. The bill is the first to be proposed this year by a group of Democratic lawmakers that has pledged to strengthen vaccination laws and target misinformation amid the COVID-19 pandemic. Vaccine consent laws vary across the country, with Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia allowing children 11 and older to be inoculated without parental approval. If SB 866 is passed by the Legislature and signed by Newsom, the bill would go into effect Jan. 1, 2023.

US to close borders to unvaccinated Canadian, Mexican truckers on Saturday – Mandate moving ahead as planned despite pushback from industry | 20 Jan 2022 | The U.S. will close its borders to unvaccinated and partially vaccinated Canadian and Mexican truck drivers on Saturday, the Department of Homeland Security said on Thursday. “These updated travel requirements reflect the Biden-Harris Administration’s commitment to protecting public health while safely facilitating the cross-border trade and travel that is critical to our economy,” Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas said in a statement. The border COVID-19 vaccine mandates are coming into force despite pushback from the truck industry. The impact will be felt most acutely for the U.S.-Canada freight market, where around 160,000 truckers regularly cross the border – 75% of whom are Canadian. Already capacity has tightened significantly, with huge price increases in the spot market. Since millions of (untested, unvaccinated) immigrants are allowed to enter the US illegally every year, it’s obvious that the DHS cares not a whit about public health. Not to mention the fact that Biden’s TSA allows illegal immigrants to use their arrest warrants as an acceptable form of ID.

University finds novel 1984 ‘offensive and upsetting’ – Students are being warned of ‘explicit material’ awaiting them in a novel that ironically describes the dangers of censorship. | 23 Jan 2022 | The University of Northampton has issued a harsh warning over potentially “offensive and upsetting” material contained in the famous dystopia by George Orwell, 1984. The novel, which describes the dangers of totalitarian rule and censorship, is now red-flagged, as it addresses “challenging issues related to violence, gender, sexuality, class, race, abuses, sexual abuse, political ideas and offensive language.” The warning, issued to students taking a module called “Identity Under Construction,” became public following a Freedom of Information request by The Mail on Sunday.

‘The Final Variant Is Tyranny’: Thousands of anti-vaccine mandate protesters flaunt mask rules to descend on D.C. – A crowd of up to 20,000 gathered in Washington DC Saturday to protest ongoing vaccine mandates, including those in the Capitol. “Americans want democracy back, and this rally is a demand to get their democracy back,” keynote speaker Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., said. | 23 Jan 2022 | Thousands gathered in Washington D.C. - a city that mandates vaccines - for a “Defeat the Mandates” protest, with protesters blaring ballads by Meat Loaf... Robert F. Kennedy and Informed Consent Action Network founder Del Bigtree were among big names who addressed the rally Sunday morning. Around 20,000 people were expected to attend the demonstration. “Americans want democracy back, and this rally is a demand by Americans to get their democracy back,” Kennedy said of the rally, according to WUSA9. Kennedy compared the plight of the vaccine-adverse to that of Anne Frank on Sunday, saying, “Even in Hitler’s Germany, you could hide in the attic like Anne Frank did.”

Deloitte funded group that wants to keep homeless on subways | 22 Jan 2022 | The corporate employer of tragic subway shoving victim Michelle Go, who was allegedly killed by an unhinged vagrant, helped fund a progressive non-profit that sued to keep the homeless from being ousted from the NYC transit system. Go, 40, a senior manager at consulting conglomerate Deloitte, was killed Jan. 15 when Simon Martial, 61, allegedly pushed her in front of an oncoming train at the Times Square station. He told reporters he did it “because of God.” Deloitte Financial Advisory Services donated between 25,000 and 50,000 in 2021 to the Urban Justice Center, according to the group’s annual report. ★

WARNING-IMPORANT INFORMATION

California law provides that, for purposes of division of property upon dissolution of a marriage or domestic partnership or upon legal separation, property acquired by the parties during marriage or domestic partnership in joint form is presumed to be community property. If either party to this action should die before the jointly held community property is divided, the language in the deed that characterizes how title is held (i.e., joint tenancy, tenants in common, or community property) will be controlling, and not the community property presumption. You should consult your attorney if you want the community property presumption to be written into the recorded title to the property.

Ask Toni

MyMedicare.gov Account Is Important to Processing Medicare Claims

Toni King

Toni:
My husband recently retired from his job and because I am over 65, I needed to sign up for Medicare. I had to go to the local Social Security with the Request for Employment Information signed by my husband's HR department to sign up for Medicare Part B. I asked if I needed to do anything else and I was told I was all set. I received my new Medicare card in the mail with both Medicare Part A and B dates a few weeks later.
It was not until I went to the doctor in March and had my claim denied when I discovered that the old company insurance is still listed as primary not Medicare.
Now my nightmare begins...because the insurance company (Blue Cross/Blue Shield) said that I had to call Medicare to update Medicare's system. Medicare said it would take 10 days to update. What do I do...I have no coverage because the company insurance is still listed as primary and neither Medicare nor my Medicare Plan G will pay? Please advise what I need to do?

~Janie from Lake Charles, LA

Janie:

In the past few weeks, the Toni Says® Medicare hot line has been receiving questions such as yours from those past 65 and leaving employer group benefits who are having their Medicare claims denied. Medicare still has the employer group health plan, whether it is UHC, Cigna, Aetna, etc., as primary insurance which supersedes Medicare and the Medicare Supplement or Advantage plan applied for.
There is a process that those leaving employer group health plans whether you are the employee or the covered spouse and enrolling in Medicare should do to verify which is considered primary insurance. Also, you need to inform Medicare that Medicare should be primary, and you or your spouse are no longer covered on an employer group health plan.

The verification process to discover what is your primary Medicare insurance is below:
1. Visit <https://www.mymedicare.gov/> and register for a MyMedicare.gov account.
2. View what is in your MyMedicare.gov account and verify that your Medicare information is correct. Knowing this information, you will be able to view what Medicare is viewing while you are discussing your Medicare issues such as what Medicare plan you are using, what Medicare Part D plan you are enrolled in, Medicare claims and other Medicare issues.
3. If you see that your employer group health plan is still primary after you have enrolled in you and/or your spouse's Medicare Part B, then Medicare is requesting that one call the Medicare Benefits Recovery Center at 1-855-798-2627 and advise the agent who answers that you and/or your spouse are no longer enrolled in the employer group health plan. The change from group health insurance as primary insurance to Medicare is estimated to take 48 hours.
We are advising those on Medicare to open a www.mymedicare.gov account when enrolling in Medicare whether you are turning 65 with or without employer group health benefits. Medicare mails out the Medicare Summary Notice (MSN) every 90 days or one can view it faster via www.mymedicare.gov.
