Homeless to Secure

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG)

- Those experiencing homelessness often live with a multitude of personal challenges, such as an unforeseen loss of a home or family member or adjusting to the material conditions of life on the street. Some may have histories of trauma, including sexual, psychological, or physical abuse which make the transition back to a life of permanent housing almost insurmountable. Breaking through the barrier of “wanting to get off the street,” is the most difficult and first step on their journey to permanent housing.

“Regardless of their history, I am here as a resource and judgement free friend to help them get off the street when they are ready,” says HART Navigator Toni

Morgan. “The best we can do for some of our community’s unhoused caught up in addiction or interpersonal conflict is be ready and willing to help when they make the decision to try and get off the street. Everyone’s on a different path.”

Jeremy, was homeless and an addict for 5 years. He lost a child to a rare condition, and couldn’t think of a way forward, so he turned to a fix and the street.

Early 2021 ago his mother died—he hit rock bottom. Jeremy had no support system and not much to live for. He shared, “Once I recognized that everyone in my life was afraid of me, I knew I needed to get off the street.”

San Juan High Alumni Plans All-Class Picnic

By Thomas J. Sullivan

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA

(MPG) - Members of the San Juan High School Alumni Association (SJAA) are calling for their fellow Spartans, near and far, to join them for the 2021 San Juan All-Class Reunion Picnic, Saturday, Oct. 2 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The picnic will be held at the west end of Rusch Park, near the corner of Rosswood Drive and Antelope Road.

Members of the SJAA are also checking in with their fellow SJHS alums who may be planning to attend the picnic and who may be willing to volunteer to help with the event. Volunteers are needed to greet and register fellow alumni and oversee the program schedule, said Larry Fritz, ’73 San Juan High grad and SJAA board vice president.

Set-up begins with the Antelope Road gate opening at 10 am. Chairs and tables will be provided under the shade of the old oak trees. Snacks and beverages will be available. Guests are invited to bring their own picnic lunch, Fritz said.

The popular annual event features an antique Model T Ford show, the historic San Juan Unified School Bus, live music, classic cars, and tours of the historic Rusch home, courtesy of the Citrus Heights Historical Society, Fritz said. A drop-off area with a free shuttle service to the Rusch Park parking lot will be provided to alumni guests.

“It’s an excellent opportunity to connect with your fellow San Juan classmates you haven’t seen in a while, and to help support our student scholarship fund,” Fritz said. “At the end of the day, we’ll pose for a keepsake group photo.”

“The main reason to join the San Juan Alumni Association is to stay in touch or reconnect with classmates,” Fritz said. The SJAA publishes a quarterly newsletter with information about the school, alums and upcoming reunions.

The San Juan Alumni Association, a 501(c)3 nonprofit with about 800 active members was founded in 1980. The class of 1929 had $500 left over from their 50th reunion and awarded their left-over money to two graduates in the form of scholarships.

“Joining the association is also a way for alums to support current San Juan High School students,” he said. The association is also open to those who may not have graduated from San Juan High. These “affiliate members” either work at, have relatives who attended or have other connections with San Juan High.

Since 1980, the SJAA has awarded about $450,000 in scholarships to about 250

San Juan graduates. Every year the San Juan Alumni Association (SJAA) gives out Student Scholarships to a select group of graduating seniors to support them attending college. In addition, the SJAA also supports the teachers, coaches and administrators of San Juan High School with various fund-raising efforts for campus projects during the school year.

The current SJAA budget allows funding for seven student scholarships at $2,000 each, for a total of $14,000. Individual classes or families also donate amounts to award scholarships named in honor of persons or groups above and beyond the amount from the SJAA.

“So far, we have only collected about $5K toward the Spring, 2021 SJAA general scholarship fund,” so we’re encouraging recent fellow alumni to join the SJAA and

More California School Workers Desperately Needed

By Debra Dingman

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)

- The children in the state of California have gone back to school but are suffering from not enough school workers to help them get safely across streets, be monitored on playgrounds, served their school lunches, or have their schools cleaned by custodians.

Teachers are also in demand. There are 25,413 jobs currently available according to EdJoin.com, the site for schools to post positions available where a whopping 3,362 were listed just in Los Angeles alone. There are 1,376 in Sacramento, 827 in San Joaquin County, 1,361 in Santa Clara and 681 in Sonoma just to name a few. Locally, there are 465 positions in Solano and another 266 in its next-door neighbor, Yolo County.

“Teachers don’t get their lunch breaks because they are doing yard duty. They don’t have assistants in the classroom. They are getting completely stressed. There aren’t enough aids to help with special needs children and it is just chaos,” said one Sacramento school employee who asked not to be identified. “We need people to come work with the children.”

The times have created a perfect opportunity for retirees and seniors—those who have long experienced age discrimination, to come out for a few hours a day and really help the future generations.

These are no low-paying jobs either. A Crossing Guard starts in Vacaville at $15.92 to $20.37 an hour. A Playground Monitor for seven hours a week can make between $14 and $16.63 an hour. That is a whopping $420 a month of a second income or ‘fun’ money for a retiree.

Do you like working outside? A “Groundsperson” starts between $16 and $20 per hour. Do you like working in a kitchen? Food Assistants start at $14 per hour. These positions are often part-time but for those who want to work more, they can lead into full-time positions.

To address some of the teacher shortages, Governor Gavin Newsom signed the TK-12 Education Trailer Bill (AB 130) at the end of July creating new pathways for aspiring teachers to demonstrate they have the subject matter and basic skills knowledge necessary to begin teacher preparation.

Part of the 2021-22 State Budget agreement, California expanded the choices available to teacher candidates by permitting, for the first time, relevant collegiate-level coursework to be used to meet

Commemorating 9/11 National Day of Service

JustServe.org News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - September 11, 2001 - A day that could be remembered solely for the tragedy and the disbelief we experienced together as a nation, yet so individually through our television screens, over and over again as the images replayed. Yet, there were also the helpers, those who brought unity, love and even song on the Capital steps in the wake of the billowing dust, ash and loss. There were the helpers.

Born out of the tragedy of Sept. 11, David Paine and others made a decision. A decision on what they would remember and what they would do. Of who they would be and who they would become because of that day.

“We wanted to make sure the terrorists didn’t have the last word in forever defining for generations how America would remember and observe 9/11,” said Paine, co-founder of MyGoodDeed and the 9/11 National Day of Service and Remembrance. “We wanted instead to honor the victims and those who rose in service by keeping alive the spirit of unity and service that arose in the immediate aftermath of the September 11 attacks.”

In 2011, in observance of the 10th anniversary of the September 11 attacks, MyGoodDeed joined with other national service organizations in helping to organize what was then considered to be the largest day of charitable service in U.S. history, with more than 30 million Americans participating.

In 2021 that initiative to do good in the face of tragedy continues in our own communities in various forms of charitable service, including volunteering, donations to charities, and simple good deeds. A hero is the one who sees a need, and fills it for their neighbor. Just because it needed to be done. Just to serve.

Nelson Mandela stated “Sometimes, it falls upon a generation to be great. You can be that great generation. Let your greatness blossom.” This generation, this one right now in 2021, right here in Orangevale, Fair Oaks, Citrus Heights, Folsom, Antelope, Sacramento. This is the generation that can bloom right out of the challenges wrought in 2020 and into 2021. As we unite, build, rebuild, heal, lift, serve - together.

Paine’s good friend Jay Winuk lost his younger brother Glenn J. Winuk, an attorney at Holland & Knight LLP, and a volunteer firefighter affiliated with the Jericho Fire Department, in the rescue efforts when the South Tower of the Trade Center collapsed. He remembers his brother by how he answered the call to help.

Grassroots Americans in their own communities can answer a similar call to again step up, again and again committing to respond when they see a need. Even if it’s inconvenient. Even if it requires forgiveness. To bring unity and healing by serving.

There are those who see and do. There are those who see and want to do, but don’t know how. And there are organizations for nearly every need. If you know where to look. Organizations like JustServe.org and HandsOn Sacramento (www.handsonsacto.org) bring those who want to help to those who need the help, by hosting a network of community organizations and service opportunities on their websites.

As the communities of the greater Sacramento Area, will we stand up to just serve, to just lift, to just unite and build a greater community, a greater tomorrow. Will you?

Let us be that be that greater generation that not only remembers the responders of 9/11, but also sees and remembers their neighbors right at hand, remembers and sees the difficulties of the past two years with an eye of understanding, and remembers the times they have been lifted, so they can lift another. SJUSD Superintendent’s Message: Supporting Our Afghan Community

Kent Kern, Superintendent

Kent Kern, Superintendent

Dear San Juan Unified community,

I am devastated to learn about the horrific events currently occurring in Afghanistan and cannot even begin to imagine what the Afghan people are going through. Basic human rights are being violated and no one deserves to have these rights taken away.

A significant portion of our San Juan Unified community, including students, families and staff members, have family ties and connections to Afghanistan. I want to let those that are personally being affected by these events know that we are here to support them in any way that we can.

Counseling is available to students and staff who may need extra support or simply someone to talk to.

Please contact your school front office or counseling department if you’d like to request counseling support. Additionally, below are a few resources that may be helpful as we have conversations over the next few days.

Mental Health Resources; District Services & Care Solace Referral Service; Helping Children Cope with Emergencies; Supporting Children’s Mental Health.

Thank you for being a part of our community and for supporting one another during these difficult times.

Huntington’s disease (HD) is a fatal genetic disorder that causes the progressive breakdown of nerve cells in the brain. It deteriorates a person’s physical and mental abilities during their prime working years and has no cure. Every child of a parent with HD has a 50/50 chance of inheriting the faulty gene. Today, there are approximately 41,000 symptomatic Americans and more than 200,000 at-risk of inheriting the disease. The symptoms of HD are described as having ALS, Parkinson’s and Alzheimer’s - simultaneously.

The Huntington’s Disease Society of America is the premier nonprofit organization dedicated to improving the lives of everyone affected by HD. From community services and education to advocacy and research, HDSA is the world’s leader in providing help for today and hope for tomorrow for people with HD and their families. HDSA was founded in 1967 by Marjorie Guthrie, the wife of legendary folk singer Woody Guthrie. Woody died from HD complications when he was only 55 years old, but the Guthrie family legacy lives on at HDSA to this day.

Public Comment Sought for Auburn Boulevard Gateway

Auburn Gateway Option-2. Image provided by City of Citrus Heights

By Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - A new online survey, open through October 1 to Citrus Heights residents, seeks public comment on three potential designs for a new “gateway” arch over Auburn Blvd. just south of Whyte Ave.

Construction of the gateway arch is considered the centerpiece of the Auburn Boulevard Phase 2 project which envisions a fully revitalized boulevard from Sylvan Corners to Interstate 80.

Some $23 million in largely grant-funded improvements are planned for Auburn Boulevard, from Rusch Park to the Roseville border. The project has received the final $9 million grant from the Sacramento Area Council of Governments (SACOG), and has been allocated $14 million in non-general funds, which included $8 million from prior grants, according to city engineer Leslie Bloomquist.

In the brief survey, residents of Citrus Heights are invited to comment and then choose one of three designs options which will contribute to create a new identity for the entrance to the city from Roseville.

Bloomquist described the project in a video interview broadcast by the city on Sept. 5th. Results of the gateway arch design survey will be presented to the City Council sometime in October, with final approval the design to be voted by the council, Bloomquist said.

The second phase of the Auburn Boulevard Complete Streets project was initially slated to begin construction this year, but was moved back to early 2023, Bloomquist said.

The Auburn Boulevard Project is considered one of the City’s largest public works projects. General street improvements in this second phase are similar to those in the first phase of the Auburn Boulevard project which was approved in 2005.

Phase I of the Project accomplished a complete update of the corridor from Sylvan Corners to Rusch Park in 2014. The completion of Phase 2 of the project will further update the roadway with enhanced amenities for all pedestrians, bicyclists, and motorists north to Orlando Avenue in Roseville.

The city has contracted with Bennett Engineering Services, Inc. to complete the design of Phase 2 from Grand Oaks Boulevard to Whyte Avenue which includes undergrounding overhead utilities, construction of new sidewalks, storm drain facilities, and upgrades to traffic signal equipment.

A new traffic signal south of Whyte Avenue designed to assist with traffic flow in and out of the Big Lots shopping center south of Interstate 80 is also planned.

The scheduled construction of Auburn Boulevard Phase 2 involves more than 50 right-of-way land purchases by the city and enables the undergrounding of all public utilities along the boulevard. The city anticipates completing property acquisitions by 2022 with construction expected to begin in late 2022 or early 2023.

SMUD will pay for the undergrounding of its utility lines. Additional work includes improving the roadway, upgrading sidewalks and bike lanes, and installing a new traffic signal.

“We want to welcome residents and visitors to Citrus Heights and build placemaking around the corridor,” said City of Citrus Heights Principal Civil Engineer Hunter Young. “We are also looking to balance the aesthetic of the boulevard improvements with elements like safety, longevity, maintenance costs, and more.”

The public is invited to take the gateway arch survey online at CH-Info.net. To learn more about the overall Auburn Blvd. Compete Streets Project, visit <https://www.citrusheights.net/1127/>. ★

Some 14,000 Nurses Reach Tentative Agreement with Dignity Health

CNA/NNOC Press Release

OAKLAND, CA (MPG) - Registered nurses at Dignity Health facilities reached a tentative agreement on a four-year contract, announced California Nurses Association (CNA) and National Nurses Organizing Committee (NNOC). The agreement covers more than 14,000 RN members in California and Nevada, represented by CNA/NNOC.

The tentative agreement features stronger infectious disease prevention measures for nurses and patients. “As we face yet another surge of Covid-19 patients filling up our hospitals, we are proud to have achieved additional health and safety protections for our RNs and patients,” said CNA/NNOC President Sandy Reding, RN negotiator.

Over the next few weeks, more than 14,000 RN members across California and Nevada will vote on the tentative agreement that includes greater economic security and health care benefits to improve staffing. “We are hopeful that with the greater economic and health care gains we can recruit new nurses and retain experienced RNs to better protect our patients’ safety,” said Kathy Dennis, RN negotiator and CNA board member.

Agreement highlights include:

Health and safety provisions to ensure nurses get the highest level of personal protective equipment, including when caring for patients suspected of having Covid. Nurse participation in the Pandemic Task Force;

Comprehensive workplace violence prevention language which involves the union’s input and recommendations;

Investment in education: Increased tuition reimbursement for education so nurses can continue expanding their knowledge and skills;

Economic gains and health benefit provisions to help retain and recruit experienced nurses, including no takeaways for pensions or retiree health.

The agreement includes a 13.5 percent wage increase over four years;

Equity and inclusion provisions, including agreement to fight racial injustice and health care disparities within the community, a commitment to a workplace free from racism and unlawful discrimination, and expanding implicit and unconscious bias training;

Shared vision on health care: Dignity Health agrees with the union that health care is a human right and that everyone should have access to quality health care; that we must end racial and ethnic disparities in health-care outcomes, promote the delivery of culturally competent care and the diversity of our health care work force; and have a commitment to the community.

The California Nurses Association and National Nurses Organizing Committee is affiliated with National Nurses United, the largest and fastest-growing union and professional association of registered nurses in the United States with more than 175,000 members nationwide. ★

A Morning Like No Other – Ground Zero at 20 Years

Commentary
by Paul V. Scholl

After a long night of late work well into the morning, I was in a deep sleep. The repeating ring of the telephone awakened me. I received an alarming telephone call from a close friend frantically trying to get my attention. She said “just get up and turn on the TV. You won’t believe what is happening”. She was absolutely right.

As I sat there on my white leather couch in my small rental home in Roseville, tuned in as the world was tuned it, to the disaster in New York as it unfolded live for everyone to see. We were all New Yorkers that day.

I had previously lived in Manhattan. After returning to California, I traveled to New York City often to teach classes at The Learning Exchange and spiritual training centers as a part of my ministry. I also met with many clients as a spiritual life coach each visit. Through these visits I became friends with so many great people who lived in The City. I stayed at their homes, got to know their families, learned about their lives, loves, and fears. Many of them worked in the immediate area of the Twin Towers.

As I sat there watching the towers fall along with the rest of the world, I had no idea if any of those friends or members of their families were being crushed under the weight of that destruction. It was a personal anguish and horror felt by millions simultaneously. It was a grief embedded forever. And we as a nation vowed to never forget.

Everything changed for everyone during those hours. Terrorism had come to our shores, and those whom we had charged to protect us failed miserably. We have been paying for their failures ever since.

And for those who paid the ultimate price, giving their lives to save others inside and around the Twin Towers? And for all the First Responders who witnessed the death and destruction at the end of their fingertips and right before their own eyes? What did they get from so many after only 20 years? Many forgot.

Yes, life goes on, but as individuals we do not. Our time is limited. We are here to understand life, liberty, love, and loss. We are here to understand joy and grief. These become the web that builds our evolution, our DNA that we pass on to those who follow us. If we do not teach our emotional history to our children, good and bad, they will suffer repeating our mistakes and the feeling of betrayal from us for not forewarning them.

Enter our current day Neon Nation. Have we lost our way in one generation? Does the “Shiny thing” distract us so easily because it is too hard for us to focus on the truth and explaining it to others as our society crumbles around us?

A few months after 9/11 I traveled back to New York to offer support to any of those friends who needed it. I traveled to the site while the clean-up was still underway. I saw the scorched church and cemetery. There were still many “Missing” flyers posted to walls and lampposts. I saw the many memorials around the site. When I found one memorial that listed all of the names of those lost I read every one of them. I thank God to this day that not one of my friends was on that list.

The history of Ground Zero is complex and still unfolding. The more the years fall away the more important it is that we reveal as much as we can about that fateful morning and all that led up to it.

When someone kills your son or daughter, husband or wife, it doesn’t matter what political party they belong to. It doesn’t matter what religion they belong to. It doesn’t matter their motive. All that matters is your loved one is gone forever. Grief takes over. And no one can ever really fill that void. It never truly heals. You just learn how to manage it in the silent times, alone with your Creator.

All those who lost a loved one during those tragic days only asked one thing from us. Never Ever Forget.

On this remembrance weekend 20 years later, take a few moments in silence to share the grief and the weight of the losses experienced by so many on September 11, 2001. If only with that simple action, love will prevail. ★

Tickets on Sale for Celebration of Women’s Empowerment Gala

A Women’s Empowerment graduate speaks about her experience with homelessness at the nonprofit’s annual gala. Women’s Empowerment will hold its 20th anniversary gala on Sept. 30. Photo by Kristin Thébaud Communications.

By Kristin Thébaud, Thébaud Comm.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - As Sacramento nonprofit Women’s Empowerment celebrates its 20th anniversary year empowering women and children experiencing homelessness, community members are invited to enjoy take-out meals from local restaurants on Sept. 30 at 6:30pm for the group’s virtual gala fundraiser. The event is sponsored in part by the Poswall Family Foundation and will include a 20th anniversary video featuring graduates from the past two decades, live auction and award presentation. The annual gala is the organization’s largest fundraiser of the year, raising a fifth of the group’s budget.

Anyone can watch the virtual gala at no cost but should RSVP to receive an early look at auction items. Those who purchase a VIP ticket for $200 will receive a meal for two from their choice of Alaro Craft Brewery, Mulvaney’s B&L or Matteo’s. Meals will include starters, entrées, dessert, and wine or cocktails to enjoy at home while streaming the gala online. Those who become host partners at $1,500 can host up to 10 people, receiving meals from the restaurants, as well as a snack platter, centerpiece and more. Community members also are needed to sponsor graduates at $100 so they can attend a backyard dinner the night of the gala to safely celebrate their success together. To purchase tickets, sponsor a graduate or RSVP, visit womens-empowerment.ejoinme.org/WEGala. Ticket and sponsorship sales close Sept. 13.

“This is a night to gather our incredible community that has made it possible for two decades of women and children to overcome homelessness in the face of daunting hurdles,” said Lisa Culp, executive director, Women’s Empowerment. “As we move into our next decade of work, we carry with us a pandemic and housing crisis. We will need every resource possible to ensure we can continue as a community to support our graduates as they work to rise from homelessness amidst formidable circumstances. Community members who purchase gala tickets will help jumpstart our financial resources for the next decade.” To make a donation, visit Womens-Empowerment.org.

Celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, Women’s Empowerment provides a nine-week employment-readiness and empowerment program, paid job training, childcare and support services so women and their children can break the cycle of homelessness. Women’s Empowerment offers the most comprehensive job-readiness program in the Sacramento area designed specifically for women experiencing homelessness and their children. Eighty-two percent of graduates secure a job or enroll in school. Despite the housing crisis, 75 percent regain a safe home for themselves and their children. The award-winning organization has graduated 1,710 women and their 3,802 children. Women’s Empowerment is funded through grants and private donations from the community. ★

California Housing Plans Need an Overhaul

By Dan Walters CALMatters

For more than a half-century, California has been trying to nudge county and city governments into generating enough new housing to handle an ever-increasing demand.

The state’s chief tool has been a legal requirement that local government “general plans” include an adequate “housing element.” Every eight years, the state Department of Housing and Community Development issues regional quotas of housing needs which then are divvied up into specific city-by-city goals for zoning enough land to meet projected needs.

The allocations are very controversial, especially in suburban communities, because they run counter to the not-in-my-backyard sentiments of local residents. As housing production falls chronically short of the state’s goals, the cyclic quotas steadily increase and in recent years the state has added penalties for failure.

Obviously, the quota system hasn’t been working very well and researchers at UCLA’s Lewis Center for Regional Policy Studies have concluded that it has a “fundamental flaw” because vacant land being zoned for housing to meet the quotas is only rarely used for housing. Rather, the housing being built – which is still too little – tends to go on other property, including some previously being used for other purposes.

The study focused on what has happened in the San Francisco Bay Area vis-à-vis the housing quotas issued in the last decade for the eight-year period that will end next year.

“The median Bay Area city is on track to approve housing projects on less than 10% of the sites listed in its housing plan,” the study found. “On average, however, cities are achieving a substantial portion of their (too low) housing targets – nearly 60% for the median city – just not on the sites they had selected and presented to the state as likely or apt for development. Across the Bay Area as whole, nearly 70% of housing built during this period was on sites not listed in housing plans.”

While cities zone specific sites to meet quotas, “housing development occurs in a way that is hard to anticipate. In spite of planners’ efforts to select imminently viable sites, they do not.”

The solution, they say, is to create a more realistic set of requirements that identifies all potential sites for housing, a “change (that) may require cities to include many more sites in their housing plan.”

While a more realistic inventory might require more work – and possibly increase local angst – the UCLA team also proposes that “cities receive preemptive credit for housing they expect to be built on sites not listed in their plan.

“The credit would be tied to production on non-inventory sites during the previous period, giving cities an incentive to accommodate much-needed development when it is proposed, even if they can’t anticipate exactly where or what developers will want to build.”

“The Legislature should stop proliferating ever more detailed requirements for a site to be included in the inventory, and instead require cities to consider every parcel on which residential use is allowed,” the UCLA team suggests. “Since cities aren’t very good at picking the sites where developers want to build, the focus should shift to estimating how much housing is likely to be built during the planning period on the entire stock of residentially zoned land in a city.

This is wonky stuff, but important because of the state’s worsening housing shortage. The proposals would shift the housing quotas from an exercise in paper-shuffling into something more likely to produce real results. But implementing it would require an official admission that the current system isn’t working and a willingness to correct its “fundamental flaw.”

Beware of Price Gouging During and After Fire Evacuations

Better Business Bureau Press Release

OAKLAND, CA (MPG) - The Better Business Bureau (BBB) is reminding businesses and consumers of the California law prohibiting excessive price hikes during a state of emergency following California State Governor, Gavin Newsom’s declaration on August 18, 2021 in response to the Caldor Fire. According to CalFire, the Caldor Fire is 20% contained, has burned over 200,000 thousand acres, and has destroyed close to three thousand structures in its way causing mandatory evacuations in and around the South Lake Tahoe area.

“Local businesses may be overwhelmed with the influx of customers following recent evacuations in the South Lake Tahoe area and other communities experiencing these wildfires. We want to help businesses avoid potential problems as our community comes together to help one another in a time of need,” said Lori Wilson, President of the Golden Gate Better Business Bureau.

Industries affected by the consumer protection laws during a state of emergency include, but are not limited to, hotels and other lodging accommodations, gas stations, grocery stores, and rebuilding industries.

If you need to make preparations to stay at a hotel:

Know that according to California law, under Penal Code 396, 30 days after a state of emergency is declared, it is illegal for a business or other entity to sell their goods or services for more than ten percent of their regular rate. This includes hotels, motels, the sale of food items, gasoline, and any goods or services used for emergency cleanup, emergency supplies, and building materials.

More School Workers Desperately Needed

the Basic Skills and Subject Matter requirements in lieu of the California Basic Education Skills Test (CBEST) and the California Subject Examination for Teachers (CSET).

“This is a game changer for those who have dreamt of becoming a teacher only to find their paths blocked when they couldn’t pass the Basic Skills or Subject Matter entrance exams. These tests are meant to accurately measure readiness to begin teacher preparation not to be a barrier that keeps potentially great teachers from learning to teach,” said Mary Vixie Sandy, Executive Director of the Commission on Teacher Credentialing in a press statement. “We are eager to move forward with this shift in State policy. As alternatives to high-stakes testing these measures will right-size the role of testing and allow a broader and more diverse array of people to make a career out of teaching.”

The new Basic Skills flexibility creates the option for aspiring teachers to meet this requirement by completing full-credit, college-level coursework with a letter grade of B or higher in the subject areas of reading (including courses in critical thinking, literature, philosophy, reading, rhetoric, or textual analysis), writing (including courses in composition, English, rhetoric, written communications, or writing), and mathematics (including courses in geometry, mathematics, quantitative reasoning, or statistics). Courses from closely related subject areas may also be used in this manner.

Individuals may also seek approval from a California teacher preparation program to mix-and- match from among all the options permitted under current law, including the CBEST subtests. ★

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (855) 976-3916 or visit this Internet Web site https://tracker.auction.com/sb1079, using the file number assigned to this case VAC.377-356. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. For sales conducted after January 1, 2021: NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 976-3916, or visit this internet website https://tracker.auction.com/sb1079, using the file number assigned to this case VAC.377-356 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. Homeless to Secure periodically communicating with yet still avoiding the navigator and HART volunteers, Jeremy made the decision to enlist their help.

At the beginning of August, Jeremy was 90 days sober and excelling in the Grace House recovery program. Citrus Heights HART paid his rent on the recommendation from the Sacramento Self-Help Housing (SSHH) Homeless Outreach navigator. Jeremy's ready to get off the street.

For people like Jeremy, the willingness to accept help is the first and biggest step off the street. Now, it's not always hitting rock bottom that prompts this change. Sometimes it comes in the form of a loss of a family member or a simple urge to take a shower and sleep in a bed. "Whatever it is," says the navigator, "it is critical for us to be there ready to provide barrier free support."

Next, Jeremy is taking the court ordered appropriate steps to get back into the lives of his children. He also leads a homeless outreach ministry within his Grace House Recovery Program, preparing and serving 50+ meals a week to the unhoused in Citrus Heights.

There are 10 HART groups in the Sacramento region. Each works to support the unhoused in their community. If you would like to find out more about HART please visit harttogether.org or call Derek M Corea of Corea Consulting at 916-798-2435. ★

Teaching the Value of Work

Dear Dave,
What are your views on teaching children good work habits? Many of our friends don't require their kids to help out or work around the house, but we both strongly feel that instilling a strong work ethic early in life is one of the best things you can do as a parent for your children.

– Deshay
Dear Deshay,

I'm so glad you both feel that way. Our culture has made many great advances to ensure the happiness and well-being of children. But too many parents today are so centered on what their children want that they have lost perspective on what their children need. Perspective, or looking at life over time, demands that you teach children to work. Teaching a child to work is not child abuse. We teach them to work not for our benefit, but because it gives them dignity in a job well done today and the tools and character to win as adults in the future.

In my mind, children should be taught to work just like you'd teach them to bathe or brush their teeth—as a necessary life skill. An adult who has no clue how to tackle a job and finish it with pride is every bit as debilitated as an adult with body odor or green teeth. If your child graduates from high school, and his or her only skill set consists of playing video games, eating fast food and believing the world owes them something, you've set up your child to fail.

Another benefit of teaching a child the wonder of work is they may grow to lose a little respect for those who refuse to work. I'm not talking about folks who lost jobs due to unforeseen circumstances and are trying to get back on their feet, or someone who genuinely cannot work. I'm talking about folks who refuse to look for, or accept, gainful employment.

My wife and I noticed that our kids, as they grew older, didn't pursue relationships with people who didn't understand the value of work and demonstrate the character traits of mature, hardworking people. And that was wonderful news to us!

ORANGEVALE, CA (MPG)

- After months of planning, enduring months of construction, in the midst of a pandemic, and making way for the new Orangevale Library, The Last Tangle celebrated its grand re-opening in style with a ribbon cutting ceremony surrounded by community leaders, chamber members, staff, family and friends coming together to commemorate the very special occasion.

Supervisor Sue Frost presented Julie King, owner of The Last Tangle, with a proclamation from the County Board of Supervisors thanking her for “always willing to put the community first and did so when the new Orangevale Library expansion needed Julie to close and relocate her salon to make the new, larger Orangevale Library a reality for all of Orangevale.”

The special event, which was open to the public, included tours of the salon and the newly expanded library located next door. Live music played by the Beard Picker & Collar Blues made for a fun evening along with food trucks and a raffle supporting the Orangevale Honorary Mayor campaign.

“I’m so happy to share my beautiful new salon with everyone,” beamed Julie King. “The journey had its challenges, but was so worth it!”

Everyone is welcome to stop in to see the salon at 8820 Greenback Lane Suite E or the library, which is now open to the public. Julie is also looking for new stylists who are looking to join her team. For more information, call or text 916.988.7707. ★

Back-to-School Anxiety and Your Child

Commentary by Abbi Winslow

If your child has the back-to-school jitters they aren’t alone. For many children and teens, the back-to-school rush is an incredibly anxious time. And while experiencing back-to-school stress is normal, would you be able to recognize if your child was experiencing higher than normal anxiety? There is a lot you can do as a caring adult to help a child in your life minimize their school anxiety. Here are some tips to help with back-to-school anxiety:

See it, Name it.
Practice helping your child or teen name their emotions. A powerful exercise to do with your child is to sit down, name the emotion they are feeling, then have them close their eyes and find it in their body. What does anxiety look like? How does it feel? Anxiety for me lives in my chest, it is black, sticky, and makes it hard to breathe. This exercise helps your child realize that emotions are just vibrations in our bodies. Phrases like “I am feeling anxiety” can be more empowering than saying, “I have anxiety.”

Get Your Routines Down
Whether it is your first week, first month, or halfway through the semester, it is always important to reevaluate your family’s school routine. Understanding how well your routine is working starts with asking questions. Does your child have enough time to get ready? Are they worried they will miss the bus? What do they do after school? What is hard for them? Once you understand what is working in your family’s daily routines and what isn’t, you can more effectively help your child tweak their schedule. For younger children, help them by structuring the morning and first hour after school as consistently as possible. For teens, invite them to add more buffer time in their schedules or to take ownership of their appointments.

Take Away the Scary
For most of us, not just kids, we experience anxiety over the unknown. A huge way to help minimize the stress and anxiety in your child’s life is to help them to “take away the scary.” This process starts with identifying a fear your child has. This could be that they won’t have anyone to sit by during lunch, their locker won’t open, or they will fail a class. Once you have identified a fear, you can then talk through all the possibilities of that fear. If your child is worried about lunch you start with the worst outcome for them and add the phrase “and that’s okay”. If I don’t have anyone to sit by during lunch, then I will just eat by myself – and that’s okay. From there you can then brainstorm with your child additional possibilities. I could pack a lunch and eat it in the library while I read. I could go sit by someone else eating alone. I could eat alone and do homework.

By unpacking situations that your child is anxious about in this way, you help take away what is really causing them to be anxious – the unknown. Taking just one of these tips and turning it into a new tool for your child to use can make all of the difference not only this year but in the future. Teaching your child mental health skills is just as important as any other subject they will learn this year. Abbi Winslow is a certified life coach with Way Beyond Measure, a non-profit organization dedicated to teaching all ages positive mental health skills and character development. To learn more visit waybeyondmeasure.com Email us at coachverdu@waybeyondmeasure.com Call us: 479-219-4328. ★
