Music Festival for All Ages

COLOMA, CA (MPG) - The south fork of the American River winds throughout the Coloma-Lotus Valley where the Gold Discovery State Park is located. In 1849, gold was discovered, which began the great migration to California.

Over the last century, much has changed in the valley. Gold is no longer the valley's principle draw. In recent times, white-water sports on the river have become world-renowned.

As summer moves to fall, a recent addition to the community gives reason for visitors to return to the valley. The Coloma-Lotus community will become the host to the American River Music Festival from September 18th-21st. Now in its ninth year, it has become one of the premiere roots music festivals in Northern California.

The hub of the Festival is the Main Stage festivities at Henningsen-Lotus Park, located on the banks of the South Fork of the American River. One couldn't ask for a nicer location. We're talking all green grass, lots of shade, a great swimming beach, fun kids activities, an artisan market, fresh food and beverages, and much more. The main stage operates from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and afterward, the festivities continue throughout the Coloma-Lotus community.

The American River Music Festival brings some of the best roots music performing artists to the valley. The Infamous Stringdusters, Nicki Bluhm and the Gramblers, Dangermuffin, Shook Twins, David Luning, and Songs of the Fall are just a few of the artists who will be appearing onstage this year. The festivities include dances, revivals, and jamming within the fest's campgrounds.

Become a part of the Community Spirit of the Coloma-Lotus Valley and celebrate roots music at its best. Come as a stranger, leave as part of the live music family.

Stand Up Placer Awarded $15,000

PLACER COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Blue Shield of California Foundation announced a grant of $15,000 to Stand Up Placer to strengthen their capacity to provide critical services and shelter for survivors of domestic violence in Placer County. These core operating funds offer the flexibility to respond to changes and challenges as they arise so that vital community organizations like Stand Up Placer can continue to reach many of the most vulnerable Californians.

"It is a privilege to partner with and support California's network of domestic violence service providers, including Stand Up Placer," said Peter Long, president and CEO of Blue Shield of California Foundation. "Their role in the community is absolutely essential, and we are committed to ensuring they have the resources they need to continue serving domestic violence survivors and their families."

The foundation understands the importance of unrestricted core operating funds, which can help domestic violence agencies cover important organizational costs during a time when public resources remain scarce.

"It is an honor to be awarded this grant and to be recognized for the work Stand Up Placer does every day to serve thousands of survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault in Placer County," said Michelle Coleman, executive director of Stand Up Placer.

This funding is part of a group of grants designed to empower California's domestic service providers and help them continue to make a difference in the lives of thousands of women, children, and families across the state. Join Stand Up Placer and stand up against domestic and sexual violence. Visit www.standup-placer.org for more information.

Enjoy a Classic: Theodora Goes Wild

AUBURN, CA (MPG) - The Silver Screen Classic Movie Series continues on Saturday, September 5th with a naughty screwball comedy from 1936 called Theodora Goes Wild. Theodora, an author in a small town, anonymously publishes sexy yarns that everyone in town privately loves but publicly denounces. Michael—the interloper, the illustrator, the out-of-towner—schemes to expose the skeleton in his closet, he does a lot of snorting and the laughs are tripled. "Delightful," said Leonard Maltin of this movie. "Lots of funny twists in this engaging farce."

This movie is shown at 1 p.m., 4 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. in the Beecher Room of the Auburn Library, 350 Nevada St. in Auburn. The cost to attend is free.

Many more classic movies will be shown at the library this year. On October 3rd, Silver Screen will show Alfred Hitchcock's classic Strangers on a Train, an adventure-mystery about two strangers who meet on a train. For a full list of upcoming films, see auburnsilverscreen.com.

expose Theodora, and he's convinced that the townspeople's reactions will prove to her that she needs to leave town (with him, of course).

But what's good for the goose is good for the gander. Shouldn't he accept similar behavior from her? When she

Dispute Leads to Pursuit, Accident

COLFAX, CA (MPG) - A verbal dispute ended in a short vehicle pursuit and a traffic accident on the afternoon of August 20th.

The Placer County Sheriff's Office was called to a verbal dispute at a residence in Colfax at 3:10 p.m., where it was reported that a male had been causing a disturbance. The man had left the home in his car with a female passenger before deputies arrived at the home.

The person who called in the disturbance said the man was Jason Singer, 40, and it was determined that he was a wanted parolee-at-large and was listed as armed and dangerous. A deputy observed Singer's vehicle enter westbound Interstate 80 and Singer pulled over. Before the deputy made contact with him, Singer drove off. He drove erratically and at high speeds, passing cars on the inside shoulder and in excess of 110 mph. One mile into the pursuit, Singer crashed his car into trees as he attempted to take the West Paoli Road off-ramp. A tree fell onto a power line, causing a dangerous situation as the power line was suspended over the car. The car was leaking gas and both occupants were trapped inside, 40 feet down an embankment. PG&E employees deactivated the power line and rendered the area safe for rescuers to enter.

The female was able to climb out of the car, but the male had to be extricated by fire personnel. Both were airlifted to Sutter Roseville Medical Center. The female was treated and released and Singer remains hospitalized with non-life-threatening injuries.

The female told deputies that Singer struck her in the head with his fists prior to the pursuit and took her against her will. Once released from the hospital, Singer will be booked at the Placer County Jail and charged with felonies to include domestic violence, kidnapping, false imprisonment, evading law enforcement which resulted in injury, and violation of parole.

See Steel Magnolias at Blacktop Comedy

ROCKLIN, CA (MPG) - The Alternative Arts Collective (TAAC), incorporated in September 2010, is celebrating its fifth anniversary with a production of Steel Magnolias in collaboration with Blacktop Comedy in Rocklin. TAAC Artistic Director, David Blue Garrison, first directed Steel Magnolias in 2007 for his high school senior project. The show was a request of his mother and it quickly became a favorite of Garrison's.

The story is about six southern women and the close bonds they have created while getting their hair done in a converted garage salon. There is a lot of laughter, snark, and tears. The play is based on the true story of the playwright's mother and sister. Inside the cover of the script, it states, "The women in this play are witty, intelligent, and above all, real characters."

"I know this is a strange show choice for TAAC, but the dialogue is fast-paced and witty. It's capable of evoking some big laughs," said Garrison. "Most people think of Steel Magnolias as a happy-go-lucky comedy, but it actually covers some deep and dark subjects."

TAAC's anniversary also coincides with TAAC's Executive Director, Hazel Stream, leaving Sacramento to move to Indiana. Stream, who has been TAAC's fairy godmother, mother hen to its players, and a beloved fixture in the Sacramento theatre community, wanted Steel Magnolias to be her final play with the company.

The show will run for six performances, opening September 4th and closing September 12th. Opening and closing nights will be gala nights, including hors d'oeuvres, wine/beverages, and a prize drawing. The donated prizes total nearly $1,000 in value, and include such items as a one-night stay at the Embassy Suites in Old Sacramento or a one-night stay at the Citizen Hotel with dinner for

Furnace Tune-Ups Save Time and Money

AUBURN, CA (MPG) - When you think of September, you probably don't think of your furnace. But A & P Heating and Cooling is insistent that it's the perfect time to think about a furnace tune-up.

When cold weather arrives, an ill-working or failed furnace can cause undue stress on the family and the pocketbook. This is also the time when a little repair, when left undetected or addressed, has the chance to become a catastrophically expensive repair or replacement.

"I have seen it happen that way thousands of times over the course of my career," said Steve Carruth of A & P Heating and Cooling. "It is no fun for any of us to have to deal with that kind of stress. As a technician, it is also hard for us to be the deliverer of bad news. Believe me, it's not fun."

A & P recommends people be proactive and have their furnace looked at early in the fall. If there are concerns detected and found early in the season, there will still be time to prepare to budget for repairs or a replacement. The average life of a furnace is between 12-15 years, mostly due to the internal corrosion that takes place in any gas or propane-burning furnace.

Now is also the time when HVAC equipment manufacturers are offering great incentives or rebates for replacement. A homeowner can save substantial money compared to what it costs during the winter. The Energy Star people of the Environmental Protection Agency, Sacramento Municipal Utility District, and Pacific Gas and Electric all have articles on their websites that support the need for early inspection, detection, and tune-up.

"The month of September marks the beginning of fall. Sometime in mid to late fall, your furnace is likely to be called into action to keep you warm and comfortable," said Carruth. "It's also the time when every good heating and air conditioning company is busy, which means you might have to wait to be warm or pay too much to be comfortable."

The holidays can become expensive, and most people certainly don't need an unexpected expense to hit them during this time. The pain of an unexpected expense can halt vacation plans, trips, and other activities. This is the season when everyone wants to enjoy the holidays by getting together with family and friends; it is not the ideal time to think about a furnace issue if you can avoid it.

A & P is trying to keep customers from this fate by recommending a "prove it to you" tune-up. A "prove it to you" tune-up is how A & P distinguishes themselves within the heating industry. They have certified and trained craftspeople who can perform a tune-up and show you the before and after results. They can show you the results in real time while the unit is functioning. They can prove that the performance of the furnace is improved by using some of the leading test meters in the industry right before your eyes. The use of these tools and the training costs involved to properly understand what is taking place within the furnace are what most heating and cooling companies are not willing to invest in. "The test meter alone costs well over $1,200 per tech," said Carruth.

"I have been in this industry for over 40 years now," continued Carruth. "It is sad for me to say this, but it seems that the larger heating and air conditioning leaders and companies are just trying to train upcoming HVAC technicians to become great salespeople instead of teaching how to provide great service. Great service is done by teaching technical fundamentals of real life heating and air conditioning skill sets. Most technicians in the field have a larger sales book than tool bag."

While A & P performs testing and tune-ups, if they do happen to find issues of concern, they will give you rock-solid and credible repair or replacement costs that will keep you on track to have an enjoyable winter and holiday season.

A & P states that another overwhelming concern of theirs is hearing about companies who condemn the heat exchangers within a gas furnace without proper diagnostics. The heat exchanger is where the gas fire resides within a metal cavity that gets up to 2,200 degrees. The blower or fan unit blows air over the outside of the heated metal. "We get so many calls to perform our free second opinion from people who think that are being taken advantage of or who were stricken with fear from a misguided and improperly trained technician during the fall and winter months," said Carruth.

If a homeowner does happen to be told that they have a breach, crack, or hole in their heat exchanger, Carruth said, "Make them prove it to you! They can prove it to you by disassembling the furnace and removing the heat exchanger from it. Put it in full view of everyone. It will be obvious if it is or isn't ruined. Just make sure that you ask if they know how to put it back together before they get started." If they are confident of a ruined heat exchanger, they should be willing to do this at no additional cost to you. It usually takes about one and a half hours or so to do this type of inspection.

If you cannot clearly see if you have a ruined heat exchanger, you can call A & P for a free second opinion. The biggest misconception is that a hole, crack, or breached heat exchanger will fill the house with carbon monoxide. That may happen, though it is rare. The real concern is that a heat exchanger breach will allow pressurized air to blow back the flame into the heater and controls section and could start to overheat and melt the wiring and the controls. It could even create a fire in some vintage units.

A & P Heating and Cooling do not consider themselves to be the typical heating and air company because they don't do fancy gimmicks. They train craftspeople the "old way" by performing testing and then verifying results—plain and simple testing, adjusting, and verification that yields great results.

A & P Heating and Cooling Inc. has been a Sacramento-based company since 1953 and serves the Sacramento region. Steve Carruth is the general manager of A & P Heating and Cooling Inc. and has 43 years of experience in the heating, cooling, plumbing, engineering, design, ventilation, training, sales, and indoor air quality business within the Sacramento and Northern California regions. ★

Holy Smokes!
Guess what I just learned?

That's right! This makes your furnace wear out before it should! Why are we talking about this now?

BEING PROACTIVE PAYS OFF!

The month of September marks the beginning of the fall season. Cold weather is going to be here soon. This is the time when you will be starting your heater for the first time of the year. Many of you know that familiar "burning smell" when the unit first comes on or will see the burnt dust along your white ceilings at the air vents. (This can't be good... YUCK!)

That first cold day is when you will need that furnace the most! If it is not ready to function, it could become a real problem for you and your family. It is nearly impossible to schedule a quick repair or a checkup when you need it the most.

Here is where being proactive pays off, call the expert craftspeople at A and P Heating and Cooling Inc., to schedule a PRESEASON furnace tune up and get a full safety and health evaluation included at the same time. This takes up to 1 ½ hour- 2 hours in order for us to be completely thorough. This is a $178 value that we are offering to you for our cost of $74.67! (Yup...we sharpened our pencil to get this cost to you).

We are Sacramento's "real" trades and service people. Our technicians can actually show you the before and after efficiency and operation of your furnace to prove that you got a real tune up and not just a checkup sales pitch like most other companies do.

To schedule your furnace (or cooling) tune up and to receive the safety and health evaluation for $74.67.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)
Cupid is strong in the Aries aspect this week, with the cherub opening romantic possibilities for single Lambs, and strengthening ties 'twixt loving pairs already in a caring relationship.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)
Your dramatic flair might make things more interesting as you recount an event to your colleagues. But be careful not to exaggerate reality to the point that facts and fancy combine to form fiction.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)
You love to talk, and this week you should get lots of chances to share your thoughts with people who will not only pay attention to what you have to say, but will want to hear more.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)
The pattern of recent changes could begin to shift from mostly workplace-related events to more personal matters. Continue to keep an open mind as you prepare to deal with them.

LEO (July 23 to August 22)
An opportunity for work-related travel could be just what the Terrific Tabby needs to get a new perspective on a balky situation. The trip also could prove to be personally rewarding.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22)
You might want to suggest resolving an old disagreement before it can affect a matter expected to come up for discussion. It's always best to start with a clean slate.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)
The week favors combining dollops of creativity and practicality to work out both professional and personal problems. A longtime friend could have something of note to suggest.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)
Some surprising facts could come to light if you decide to probe deeper into an "opportunity" than you might usually do. What you'll learn could determine what you'll earn.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)
Someone close to you might seek your counsel. Hear him/her out, but hold the line at giving actual advice until you get credible answers to all your questions.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19)
What seems to be an overwhelming workplace project can be dealt with quite well if you handle one category at a time. Things will soon begin to fall into place.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18)
A personal matter might need more of your time than you had expected. Try to prioritize between your many outside commitments and your domestic responsibilities.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20)
A developing situation still needs more time to grow, and more time to study before you can plunge in and make some attention-getting waves. Patience is best for wise Pisceans.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a gift for organization that would make you a fine archivist. (Are you listening out there, Library of Congress?)

During World War II, money was smuggled into German POW camps using Monopoly games -- the real stuff was stashed in among the fake cash.

The story that's been adapted to film more than any other is the fairy tale "Cinderella."

Before he became famous in his eponymous sitcom, Jerry Seinfeld appeared on the TV show "Benson" -- he played the governor's speechwriter. He didn't last long, though; he was fired after just three episodes.

The Garden Bug
Colchicum

This bulb blooms from August to September; its common name is "autumn crocus." It likes sunny or partly shady areas. Be warned: this plant contains colchicine, which is very toxic. Many human deaths have been reported from ingesting this plant, as it can be mistaken for wild garlic. Deer, rabbit and other wild creatures will avoid this plant.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

Blake Lively in "The Age of Adaline"

"The Age of Adaline" (PG-13) - Adaline Bowman (Blake Lively) survives a strange car accident while driving one night in 1938. A Very Authoritative Narrator tells us that due to some science-magic whatever, Adaline stopped aging, preserving her elegant blond 29-year-old form for all time. Tragic, I know.

After some years, Addy's unaging beauty draws suspicion, so she changes identities every decade to keep her immortality a secret -- she's kinda selfish. This keeps her from getting too close to anyone, or falling in love, until she falls in love with a guy whose father (Harrison Ford) recognizes her as the lost love of his youth.

The film goes for that dreamy, timeless, starlit moody look, and achieves it across different time periods. It all looks good, but the story feels undercooked. Things limp along at times, and the ending feels a little off-kilter.

"Cyber-Seniors" (PG) - How do you get a senior citizen from knowing nothing about the computers to deftly hustling Facebook friends to check out their latest Youtube video? Very patiently. That's one lesson in this charming documentary about a group of retirees paired with teen volunteers who teach them how to use the Internet. When one senior posts her own cooking video to YouTube, it starts a contest among the old folks to see who can get the most "hits" online.

While at first, the cluelessness of the old folks is played for laughs, the real focus of the story comes from the new connections made and possibilities opened up. It's not meant to be an instructional film, but it does teach us a lot about the generational gap: It sure is deep, but not too wide to cross.

"Beyond the Mask" (PG) - An English mercenary, Will (Andrew Cheney), working for the British East India company, gets backstabbed by his employer and reinvents himself as a masked vigilante, seeking revenge against his enemies who have relocated to the American colonies just before the revolution. He teams up with an annoying Benjamin Franklin, who spouts popular Benjamin Franklin sayings because that's how he talked, I guess. Will falls in love with a nice lady (Kara Kilmer) and starts to learn that the key to redemption isn't vengeance, but good faith and Christianity. He still gets his vengeance, though.

"American Heist" (R) --Frankie (Adrien Brody) served time for a crime that he and his younger brother, James (Hayden Christensen), messed up. A free man again, Frankie gets together with his old robbery pals (Tory Kittle and rapper Akon) and pulls James in as a driver on their next job. James is trying to make a real living and patch things up with his girl (Jordana Brewster), but Frankie reels him in with guilt, and James botches yet another robbery. The two brothers are then forced to help with an even bigger, heist-ier heist. Is this the One Last Job that leads to a better life? Getting the answer might not be as exciting as you think.

Revision Made to Water Connection Charges

AUBURN, CA (MPG) - At its August 20th meeting, the Placer County Water Agency (PCWA) Board of Directors approved a resolution that effectively changes the way capacity charges for residential water connections will be assessed. With the change, water connection charges will now be based on lot size as opposed to meter size. The revision takes effect on October 5th, 2015.

"The current method for assessing the water connection charge based on meter size is no longer appropriate based on residential fire system requirements and other factors," PCWA General Manager Einar Maisch said. "Working with business interests and municipalities in the region, we developed a method that offers greater equity and is financially favorable for current, denser land development trends."

In revising the policy, PCWA evaluated data from several years of residential water use that shows a strong correlation between lot size and water demand. The revised method of assessing capacity charges is more equitable and considered favorable by all parties involved. Included in the method is a variance option for larger lots having unique circumstances, such as alternate supplies of water that tend to exist in the rural portions of PCWA's service area.

"I applaud staff for developing an equitable way to address water connection charges," PCWA Director Robert Dugan said. "This creates much-needed certainty for our customers going forward."

Prior to approval, the plan was reviewed with interested parties outside of PCWA, including a peer review consultant. The method was found to be appropriate and equitable.

In other news, PCWA Deputy Director of Technical Services, Tony Firenzi, provided a drought update. PCWA treated water customers conserved 38% in July compared to the base year of 2013, exceeding the state mandated conservation rate of 32%. Untreated water conservation in July was down by 27% compared to 2013. August conservation for treated water was at approximately 37% as of August 18th.

Information on PCWA board meetings may be obtained through the Clerk to the Board at (530) 823-4850 or (800) 464-0030. For drought updates and water conservation information, see www.pcwa.net.

Chamber Supports the Resilient Federal Forest Act

AUBURN, CA (MPG) - The Board of Directors of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce voted to support H.R. 2647, the Resilient Federal Forests Act of 2015. The act is to provide public, private, and community partners more effective tools to proactively prevent catastrophic fires and to help ensure the safety of residents, firefighters, and Auburn-area businesses.

"The recent death of Michael Hallenbeck, a 21-year-old U.S. Forest Service firefighter from Shingle Springs, in the El Dorado National Forest, is a tragic reminder that our poorly conceived federal laws are creating larger and more destructive catastrophic fires," said Kevin Hanley, CEO of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce.

Currently, the federal government is responsible for managing over 400,000 forest lands in Placer County and only a small percentage of these acres are properly managed through the removal of dry brush and unhealthy trees.

Lengthy environmental reviews and litigation have prevented the U.S. Forest Service from permitting sufficient private sector timber harvesting as the national average for timber harvest has decreased from 10-12 billion board feet from 1950-1990 to only three billion board feet today. "Every year, funds dedicated to proactive management of the federal forests are raided to pay for escalating fire-fighting costs, so the federal government falls behind and the problem just gets bigger," said Hanley.

H.R. 2647 would allow the U.S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management to expedite a forest project of 5,000 acres or less with a categorical exemption from the National Environmental Policy Act if the project is (1) developed through a collaborative process; (2) is proposed by a resources advisory committee; and (3) is covered by a community wildfire protection plan. The bill provides for an environmental assessment for a salvage operation or reforestation activity proposed to be conducted on National Forest System lands or public lands impacted by a large-scale catastrophic event, which shall be completed within three months after the event. Any plaintiffs challenging a forest management activity developed through a collaborative process or proposed by a resource advisory committee shall be required to post a bond and would forfeit the bond if the lawsuit is not successful.

On July 9th, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 2647 by a bipartisan vote of 262-167. "If the President and the U.S. Senate do nothing to better manage our national forests, their inaction will threaten more lives, destroy wildlife and their habitats, create more pollution, unleash more carbon into the atmosphere, lower the water supply, and kill tourism and jobs in the Sierra foothills," said Hanley.

Kitty of the Week at Friends Forever Cat Sanctuary

AUBURN, CA (MPG) - Pansy is a spitfire of a kitty cat. At only 14 months old, she's very spunky and playful. Pansy has a gorgeous, fluffy, soft coat of fur. She's a medium hair, black and white tuxedo with a black chin and white whiskers. Some of her cranky behavior at the Adoption Center is because she does not like or want the other cats around.

Pansy

Breed: Domestic Medium hair
Color: Black/White
Age: 14 months Sex: Female
ID# 8360591

She is already spayed, house-trained, and up to date with shots. She is quick to purr and loves attention. Pansy would be very happy to go to a home as the only cat.

Pansy would be happiest in an active home with no small children but possibly a cat-friendly dog. Come meet Pansy at the Adoption Center located at 359 Nevada Street, Suite 101 in Auburn. We have 50+ other adults and baby kittens available for adoption at the center. For questions or more information, please call us at (530) 885-4228 or visit www.ffacs.org or www.facebook.com/ffacs. History of Trails Revisted

By Kathy Lewin

PLACER REGION, CA (MPG) - Lovers of pioneer history will want to follow the wagon ruts to Stateline, Nevada this month. The Oregon-California Trails Association (OCTA)—an organization that is dedicated to identifying and preserving as much original emigrant trail as possible from Missouri to Oregon/California—is hosting their annual convention at Harvey's on the shores of Lake Tahoe September 18th through 25th. At this year's convention, attendees will relive challenges faced by those trailblazers who forged their way west during the 1840s.

History buffs will revisit the adventures—and often the disasters—experienced by those who faced daunting challenges through the Sierra more than a one and a half centuries ago. Tales of places such as Slippery Ford and Tragedy Spring underscore the life-threatening risks posed by nature and human opposition. Pre-convention tours to Johnson's Cutoff (today's Echo Summit on US Highway 50) and the Carson River Route (on today's US Highway 88) offer a firsthand experience of the difficulties the early pioneers faced trying to coax their worn-out oxen up steep, narrow, rocky canyons, pulling their possessions in broken-down wagons.

Slate tours include famous passages such as the Truckee-Donner Route and the "fearful crossing" of Forty-Mile Desert in Nevada. There will also be tours of historical Coloma and Placerville as well as many other destinations.

The keynote speaker will be Gary Kurutz, former director of Special Collections at the California State Library and currently the executive director of the California State Library Foundation, speaking on "The Extremity of Civilization." Other scheduled speakers will illuminate the past with lively stories of harrowing adventures along the trail.

Other activities include workshops on Native American baskets and cooking on the trail, auctions, book room/author's signings, and more.

You don't need to be a member to come to this event. To get a complete list of all the activities and registration form, go to <http://www.octa-trails.org/activities/octa-2015-annual-convention>. Happy Trails! ★

Dave Says

When you sit down and commit a plan to paper, giving every dollar a name before the month begins, you're taking control of your money instead of allowing a lack of it to control you.

Start with the income you know is predictable. If this isn't possible, look back over the last several months and find the minimum amount you brought home during a month over that period of time. This will be the basis for your budget. Once you've established a baseline income, you can prioritize expenses. But remember, restaurants are not a priority!

When you start telling your money what to do ahead of time, you'll have more ability to do what's needed with what you've earned. It's empowering and energizing, and it gives you the chance to make your Total Money Makeover a reality!
—Dave

Money and behaviour

Dear Dave,
Why do you say that personal finance is 80 percent behavior? I thought money was more about math and keeping track of things.

Gerald

Dear Gerald,
Keeping your checkbook balanced and things like that are an important part of what I teach. However, behavior plays an even bigger role for several reasons. You can add, subtract, multiply and divide all day. That stuff's easy. But until you learn to control your behavior, stick to a budget and spend less than you make, you're always going to have problems with money.

One of the keys to being a success in personal finance is realizing work comes before play. This is a behavior issue. Let's say your car needs new brakes. You know this, and you know you have a limited amount of cash, but you still walk into a store and buy a big, fancy television instead. That is not mature behavior. As long as you behave that way, your money will always slide right out of your hands.

And this means you'll never have enough for important things like saving, investing and giving.

The best medicine

Dear Dave,

I've worked in a hospital as a nurse for 10 years. I make good money working long hours. The problem is that it seems to disappear, and I'm left trying to stretch those last few dollars to the end of the month. I know I eat out a lot. I grab quick meals between shifts and on the way home because I'm too tired to cook. I think I spend more than I should on other things, too. Do you have any tips for someone who wants to get control of their money, but has very little free time?

Amy

Dear Amy,

Sometimes the medicine that works the best tastes the worst. This is true for both physical and financial health.

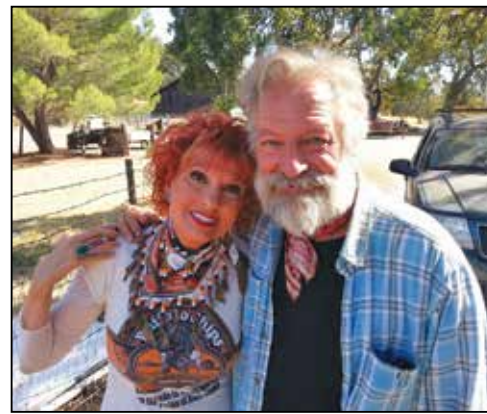

That's why, no matter how tired you are or how little free time you seem to have, you must make time do a written budget every month. This is essential, and it really doesn't take long.

POPPOFF!

with Mary Jane Popp

estranged from his daughter, his wife is dead, so what is left? I can't tell you the ending, because you have to see the story itself. I can tell you it will relate to all of us who have dealt with loss and found a resolution.

Perry is also directing this movie, and I asked him if he doesn't get a bit schizophrenic acting and directing simultaneously. He laughingly said, "It's like riding a horse and leading a horse at the same time." But he loves cowboys and westerns and added that westerns were created here in the U.S. It's a form of black and white, good versus bad. They have a purity of nature. He is less than pleased with so much—as he put it—"empty cartoon violence." It might make money for the studios, but it has no redeeming value.

I also have to add that I have never met an actor like Perry King. He has character and is so willing to share his talents with others. That was verified by many, including Bryan Kaplan who stars in the movie. It's nice to know actors like these still exist with all the nonsense we hear about in Hollywood these days.

The movie shoot will be completed by the end of September. Perry's intent is to premiere The Divide at the State Theatre in Auburn sometime next year. Guess what? That's where I broadcast from—AM-950 KAH1, the noon news, and POPPOFF Radio Show. By the way, Perry will be joining me on POPPOFF after the filming is done. I really look forward to that promise.

After decades, Perry King's dream is coming true each day. All the success, Perry. It's much deserved! ★

The Divide

It will reach into the hearts of many of us who have had regrets in our lives and who wish they could make up for it. The movie is called The Divide and is being shot in Cool, California. The Divide is the dream of veteran actor Perry King. You will recognize him for so many Hollywood movies like The Lords of Flatbush and Slaughterhouse Five, but perhaps the most recognizable names would be Detective Allen Cody from the iconic 1980s TV series Riptide and the made-for-TV movie The Cowboy and the Movie Star in 1998. It was after Cowboy that Perry decided he wanted to be his character. That's when he purchased a 500-acre cattle ranch in the Sierra Nevadas, the King Ranch. He splits his time between the craziness of La La Land and the serenity of Northern California. But he had a dream—a dream to film a western on his own land. Now his dream has become a reality as he is shooting The Divide in the heart of Gold Country known as "The Divide." So the movie is called The Divide.

The movie script was actually written to fit his ranch life. He and Janet Brown made it come together. I got to visit with Perry on the set of his production, and he told me that a successful movie must make a promise. He told me that the script should make you get involved with the story and take away something that resonates in each of us. In The Divide there are three separate people who need help and redemption, each crushed by the weight of life. Sam Kincaid, Perry's character, is in great pain. He is
