YUBA-SUTTER REGION, CA (MPG) - Dressed in his usual office attire, which we mere mortals might recognize as a space suit, SR-71 pilot Brian Shul deftly coaxed the throttles forward... the titanium hinge in his left pinkie performing as the surgeons had promised 12 years earlier. The 107-foot-long jet rolled across the vastness of Beale AFB until arriving at its single runway... the nose of the Cold War spy plane swinging onto course, confirming its precise position by checking the position of up to 32 tri-ethyl-borane into each engine, awakening the beasts that would eventually propel Brian and his Reconnaissance Systems Officer (RSO) Walter Watson, to 90,000 feet at a velocity over 3 times the speed of sound. Although faster than a speeding bullet, Brian promised there was no red cape under his spacesuit. I wasn't so sure. Our first meeting was across a table at a 1991 book show in Los Angeles. 'Sanctuary State' Governor Upset Migrants Were Sent Here for Sanctuary

By Katy Grimes, California Globe

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - California's sanctuary state Governor Gavin Newsom and Attorney General Rob Bonta were quick to blame Florida Governor Ron DeSantis for Friday's migrant flight into Sacramento, and then accused Florida of "state-sanctioned kidnapping" for transporting migrants from the Texas border to a Sacramento church. However, when he was still Lieutenant Governor, Newsom proudly declared and reaffirmed California's sanctuary state status after the Trump Justice Department threatened to charge state or local officials who enforced sanctuary policies protecting illegal immigrants.

So which is it Gov. Newsom - is California a Sanctuary State which welcomes illegal immigrants and releases them from custody? Or are you sending them back in disgust? MPG file photo

As California Lieutenant Governor, Newsom issued a warning to the Trump administration a Tweet. "Let me be clear, @realDonaldTrump: California is a sanctuary state. We believe in the power of diversity. We have defied and resisted the xenophobic, hateful policies of your administration at every turn. We will do it again." And he posted a video on Facebook saying, "California will remain a sanctuary state, and your attempt to intimidate will not stop us." So which is it Gov. Newsom - is California a Sanctuary State which welcomes illegal immigrants and releases them from custody? Or are you sending them back in disgust? Is all of this bravado and bluster grandstanding for future Democrat voters? Newsom is clearly running for President, and Bonta has announced he wants to be the next California Governor. As for the two flights into Sacramento, there still is uncertainty if Gov.

ARREST LOGS UPDATED DAILY

'Sanctuary State' Governor Upset Migrants Were Sent Here for Sanctuary

Ron DeSantis is actually behind the flights. Thus far, all reports about the illegal immigrant planes appear to be speculation, and DeSantis is mum.

Governors DeSantis and Greg Abbott (Texas) have sent planes with illegal immigrants to sanctuary cities Chicago, New York, and Martha's Vineyard to share in the housing and care of the migrants they claim to want sanctuary for.

Democrat President Joe Biden has called this movement of mostly Latin American migrants "playing politics with people's lives" and said it is inhumane, especially in areas such as New York City, which have services brought to the brink already because of the migrant influx, the Globe reported Monday.

However, officials from Texas and Florida, including DeSantis, have fired back that "every community in America should be sharing in the burdens."

The federal government has also sent secret flights full of illegal immigrants into Westchester, New York in the middle of the night, stirring controversy of their own:

Leaked video shows migrants being transported on secret charter flights under the cover of night from southern border states to Westchester, New York.

"The government is betraying the American people," a federal contractor told a Westchester County police officer in a conversation recorded on the officer's body camera on the tarmac of a Westchester airport on Aug. 13, 2021.

Westchester Police Sgt. Michael Hamborsky asked the contractor hired to transport migrants around the country why: "You know why. Because if this gets out, the government is betraying the American people," the contractor said.

Gov. Newsom and Sacramento Mayor Darrell Steinberg turned on the rhetoric claiming, 'Human trafficking is not only despicable; it's a felony. I urge authorities to investigate how 16 vulnerable people were lured from El Paso, to Sacramento.' "Is there anything more cruel than using scared human beings to score cheap political points?"

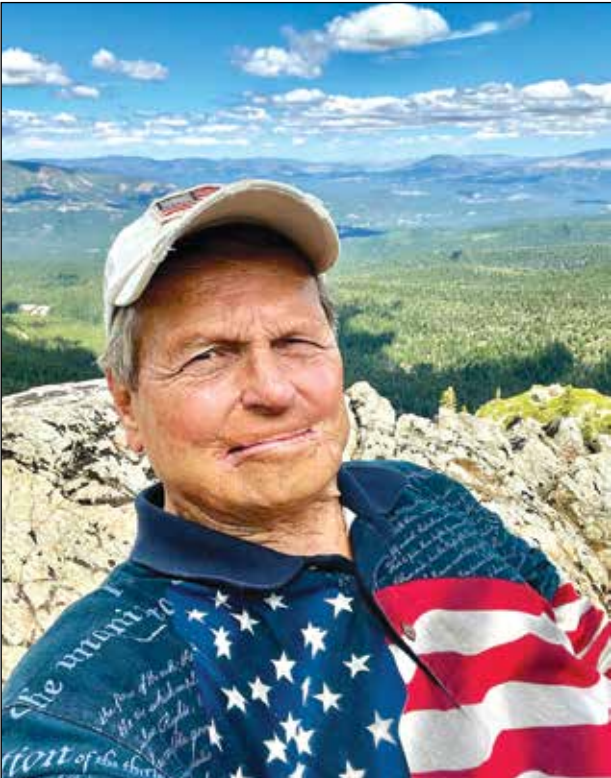

Both Steinberg and Newsom support open borders, and illegal immigration.

And it isn't human trafficking or kidnapping to take illegals from a non-sanctuary state to a sanctuary state that claims to welcome them.

Rich with irony, Gov. Newsom has been releasing dangerous felons from state prisons, most of whom reoffend or end up living on the streets, addicted to meth and/or heroin.

Perhaps the most ironic Tweet summed up their hypocrisy best: "Lol yes you are not worried about them coming across the desert and risking their lives but put them on a private jet and send them to your cities, now that's a travesty." ★ eager to meet the man described on the inside book flap:

Severely burned in the wreckage after being shot down during the Vietnam conflict; Medevac'd with little chance of survival; Was told he would never fly again; Spent one year in military hospitals, enduring 15 major operations, before returning to active flying status; Passed the astronaut physical required to fly the SR-71 spy plane, with one of the highest recorded scores ever.

"Hey, you're the guy from San Diego! What did you think of the book?" I looked him in the eye while shaking his scarred and contorted hand, taking in the totality of his horrific burn injuries. "Why don't you come to our hotel tonight and join us for dinner? We'll meet by the pool around 6."

I arrived at the appointed hour, strolled out to the pool area but did not see Brian. "Oh, there you are!" came the soon-to-be-familiar voice from behind me. Brian was sunbathing on a chaise lounge, wearing only swim trunks. "The sun feels so good on my scar tissue, I just had to lay out for a few minutes." I looked down in awe at the scarecrow-like patchwork of skin grafts crisscrossing his entire body, from head to toe... evidence of those 15 trips under the scalp. And a little switch flicked off inside of me... "Good Lord. If HE's okay with this...? What the heck is MY problem?" And that was the last thought I ever had about Brian's "Hi-Viz" exterior. I reached down, took his hand, and pulled him upright. "I hope you're not wearing that to the Spaghetti Factory!"

In the following years, Brian would come to my museum numerous times for book signings... and I would return the favor by following him around the country, helping him in his airshow booth. He ended up flying with both the Air Force Thunderbirds and the Navy's Blue Angels, to produce books on their teams.

And later, after the mysterious SR-71 was somewhat declassified, he wrote a 4th book with his RSO, Walter, detailing their missions over Libya for President Reagan... and "giving away some secrets" about the Blackbird.

I must now bookend our 30+ year friendship between that story of my first look at the Sled Driver... and my last glimpse... on his way out the door to give his inspirational talk to a group in Reno last month.

I swear he was tucking in something red under his shirt.

It's Not A Joint Venture,
It's A Marriage

Dear Dave,

When my wife and I got married, she had about $70,000 in savings and I had a lot of debt. We bought some property from her parents to build a home on, and she made a 20% down payment on the land from her savings. We've paid off some debt, and she has more in savings now. But I feel guilty and it seems unfair to ask her to pay on our debt with her savings since most of it is debt I brought into the marriage. How do you feel about this?

— Sonny

Dear Sonny,

This question tells me you're a good guy with a good heart. But let me ask you a thing or two. When your wife gets sick, is it unfair for you to take care of her? You didn't cause it. It's not your fault. Of course, it's not unfair. I'm not mad at you, buddy. I'm just throwing your own logic right back at you.

Maybe these next lines will sound familiar: for richer or for poorer, in sickness and in health. The old "Book of Common Prayer" continues the vows and says, "Unto thee, all my worldly goods I pledge." This is called oneness. It's called unity. And it's what a good marriage should be about.

Do you get what I'm saying, Sonny? The two of you are in this together. This is not a business partnership or joint venture. It's a man and a woman pledging themselves, and all they have and are, to each other. I understand your feelings, but if you're not careful, that kind of guilt will stand in the way of you two creating a successful marriage—both financially and emotionally.

When you got married, the "me" and "mine" became "we" and "ours." You got all her stuff, the good and bad, and she got all of yours. Now it's time for you to work as a team to make the bad stuff go away and the good things even better. What's fair (and what's right) is to combine all of your income, all of your assets and all of your liabilities.

I know it's uncomfortable, but you've got to choose courage. Ask her to go all in on this with you and attack your debt together. Work toward making your dreams come true together as one.

That's what's fair, and that's what's best when you're married.

— Dave

Farm Bureau President Urges
Congress to Address Fire Risks

California Farm Bureau President Jamie Johansson is calling for increasing the pace and scale of forest management, including employing livestock grazing and prescribed burns to reduce dangerous fuels and protect communities and the environment. On May 23, Johansson testified in Washington, D.C., before a federal lands subcommittee of the House Committee on Natural Resources. He told the panel, "Given the extensive number of wildfire related impacts in California, California Farm Bureau has a vested interest in quality and quantity of forest management activities."

Winter Storms May Have Increased
Risks of Tree Pathogens

Atmospheric rivers that swept across the state this year have created conditions for plant pathogens that haven't been seen for decades in California. Florent Trouillas, a plant pathologist at the University of California, Davis, said he is getting more calls from growers and farm advisors concerned about potential crop damage. Recent tests in an orchard showed the presence of Phytophthora syringae, a pathogen that can affect almond crops but is rarely seen in California. Researchers are working to diagnose fruit and nut crop ailments that could be enhanced by wet weather.

Farm Bureau: Small Farmer
Need Help After Storms

The California Farm Bureau is calling on the state to improve mechanisms for disbursing disaster relief payments for damages suffered in devastating 2023 storms. Testifying before a joint informational hearing of the California Assembly Agriculture Committee and the Assembly Emergency Management Committee, Farm Bureau Administrator Jim Houston said the storm impacts have been especially hard on small farmers, including many that may lack insurance. "There is no good mechanism for people to recover their losses," Houston said at the May 23 hearing.

Researchers: Lab-Grown Meat May Be
Worse For Environment Than Retail Beef

Researchers at the University of California, Davis, have found that lab-grown or "cultivated" meat's environmental impact is likely to be significantly higher than retail beef. Researchers conducted a life-cycle assessment of energy needed and greenhouse gases emitted in all stages of production compared with beef. Based on current and near-term production methods, they concluded that lab-grown meat will be worse for the environment and more expensive than conventional beef production. ★

Newsom’s Expansive Health Care Promises to Californians Remain Elusive

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Five years ago, while running for governor, Gavin Newsom pledged to transform California’s medical care to a single-payer system similar to those in Canada and western Europe.

Newsom backed single-payer legislation, which had passed the state Senate, saying there was “no reason to wait around.”

“I’m tired of politicians saying they support single-payer but that it’s too soon, too expensive or someone else’s problem,” Newsom said.

His position helped solidify support for Newsom among the proposal’s progressive advocates as he dueled with a fellow Democrat, Antonio Villaraigosa.

The bill stalled in the Assembly, and after winning the election, Newsom began edging away from the single-payer concept, citing difficult barriers. One is persuading the federal government to give California the $200-plus billion it spends on Californians’ health care – about half the state’s total medical expenditures.

Newsom segued into pursuing universal health care, meaning all of the nearly 40 million Californians would have some sort of coverage, and came close last year.

At the time, “About 3 million Californians reported being uninsured in spring 2022,” a report from the Public Policy Institute of California notes, citing census data. “Nearly seven in 10 (68%) are Latino, about 38% are noncitizens and 80% have low or moderate incomes (below 400% of the federal poverty line).”

Some of the gap was closed in the 2022-23 budget, drawing on what seemed to be a nearly $100 billion budget surplus, by extending Medi-Cal coverage to undocumented immigrants otherwise ineligible for federally subsidized insurance.

“Beginning no later than January 1, 2024, Medi-Cal will be available to all income-eligible Californians,” the final 2022-23 budget declared.

The expansion of Medi-Cal – California’s version of the federal Medicaid program – was made easier during the COVID-19 pandemic when federal authorities relaxed eligibility requirements. This year, enrollment topped 15 million, or nearly 40% of the state’s population.

Under his “California Blueprint,” universal health care is still Newsom’s professed goal. However, at the moment, coverage appears to be shrinking, and with the state facing chronic budget deficits, reaching it before Newsom’s governorship ends would be difficult, if not impossible.

The federal government’s “continuous enrollment” pandemic policy is expiring and hundreds of thousands of Californians who benefited from it will once again have to prove their eligibility.

Newsom’s revised 2023-24 budget, unveiled last month, projects that Medi-Cal enrollment will decline by more than a million people, still more than a third of the state’s population but moving away from the universal coverage Newsom has sought as a single-payer substitute.

Single-payer advocates are, unsurprisingly, annoyed by Newsom’s failure to deliver on his 2018 promise. They gave him some heat when he appeared at last month’s state Democratic Party convention.

Covering all Californians would be expensive. Medi-Cal coverage costs federal and state governments about $10,000 per enrollee. No one knows precisely how many Californians still lack coverage today but 2 million is as good a number as any, and including that many more in Medi-Cal could potentially cost another $20 billion a year.

Meanwhile, single-payer advocates haven’t given up. Last week, the California Senate passed Senate Bill 770, aimed at implementing a plan for single-payer coverage developed by the Healthy California for All Commission, which Newsom created in 2019.

The bill would direct state agencies to begin talks with federal officials about participating in a California single-payer system.

“It’s time we made real progress toward eliminating the inequities and injustices of our fractured healthcare system,” a co-author of the bill, state Sen. Scott Wiener, a San Francisco Democrat, said.

As Newsom finally learned, it’s much easier said than done.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for more than 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. ★

(((BECAUSE MONEY MATTERS!)))

Marc Cuniberti hosts “Money Matters” on KVMR 89.5 FM Thursdays at Noon.
Visit his website at www.moneymanagementradio.com

The Tug Rope of Economic Policy

Readers of Money Matters will know that to curb our inflation problem, the Federal Reserve has to withdraw liquidity from the financial system. In plain English, because trillions of dollars were flooded into every town, city and state to mitigate the economic damages from the CoVid shutdowns, we now see all those dollars chasing up the price of everything from airline travel to zoo admissions and all things in between.

It’s an accepted fact that when central bankers print a lot of money, inflation is sure to follow. Just think Mexican Peso.

So now the Fed is using its monetary tools to sop up dollars, dampen consumer demand and put the brakes on the economy which will hopefully slow the rapid ascent of prices.

The Fed tools include raising interest rates, removing money from the banking system, tightening down on its credit facilities, and convincing Washington to cut back its spending.

Raising interest rates from near zero to close to 5% in a years’ time and by using their other monetary tools, the Fed has started to see some improvement. Inflation rates have cooled, the stock market has pulled back some, and the economy is indeed slowing.

Even with its progress, the Fed is fighting other things that have occurred which is making their job more difficult.

Washington has no intention of shutting off the free money spigot, and has tossed another five trillion or so into the streets of America in the last 12 months. Washington’s lack of fiscal responsibility must have Fed Chief Jerome Powell pulling his hair out. While he’s trying to remove money from the system, Washington is putting it back in.

We are also realizing money from the generous Covid payments that went to every Tom, Dick, Mary and Harry were lavish, and consumers have been spending their massive savings built up during the Covid event. Being shut in, there were few places to spend all that free money, and now that the fiasco of the shutdowns are gone (thank goodness), people are out and about and in the mood to spend. And they are spending.

Compounding the Feds efforts is the recent rash of bank failures.

Realizing a single bank failure could cause panic in the banking system in general, the Fed had to fire up the printing presses once again to the tune of about 300 billion (that we know of) to bail out the banks.

Some of that money, as it always seems to, found its way into the stock market.

The stock market is the playground of the financial system. Give a bank a few billion, and like a kid flush with cash going to the candy store, the banks can’t wait to plow at least some of it into Wall Street to relish the sweet taste of quick profits. Sickening I know.

First Washington fights the Feds efforts by giving away even more trillions and now Powell himself is forced to fire up the presses to save some careless banks.

It no wonder the stock market has been running the last few months.

Is it a coincidence that the latest rally in the stock market coincided with the Fed bailing out the banks?

I have always said there is no such thing as coincidence where Wall Street is concerned. There are only people that know things before you do, and then make money from it.

I will stand by my prediction that inflation is here to stay and won’t go away anytime soon. The reason is simple and history confirms it.

When the Feds raise interest rates, they have a history of breaking something. In fact, it is said the Feds raise rates UNTIL they finally do break something.

And when they break something, they have to back off the inflation battle and start lowering rates and printing money again to un-break what they broke.

Indeed, they have already broke a few banks, and opened the money spigots in response.

Next up, they will probably break something else before they are forced to lower rates again.

And when they do that, they will print up even more money and hammer down rates once again. And I predict they will do that before inflation has a chance to recede to a meaningful level.

Which means I hope you have stocked up on aspirin, because besides the headaches you’re going to get, a new bottle of aspirin by that time is going to cost you twenty bucks or more.

The Brownsville Bailinick & Beyond

The Grand Opening of Mountains Top Coffee Shop in Brownsville will hold its grand opening on June 9. Although it has been opening in stages, the final inspection went well and they are ready to open officially. Come on in and check it out.

Flag Day is June 14. Let’s all be thankful that we have the old red, white and blue and the freedoms they stand for. There are many times when we think that this is not the best country to live in, but we do have choices of religions, locations, professions and more. If we each gave out a kind word or two each day, considered the needs of others at times, and did a bit to better each community, our country would be even greater. It is hard to understand the incredible anger that cause so many multiple shootings. To open an automatic gun into a crowd is not anger toward any one person but a very internal anger at their own lives. There is a great need more mental care.

Now that we have had a little Blackberry Winter (always a cold spell about the last of May), we can begin to think of summer. The tomatoes and squash can be planted. The Farmer’s Market will begin to have produce, and the lakes and rivers will be calling. Don’t forget, though, that the waters come from melted snow! Have fun but be careful.

Father’s Day is coming up soon, June 18. Hill Top Gang will be serving their great breakfast at the community center on Ponderosa Way from 8 – 11. So many choices and all for helping pay for the medical transit. Hope to see you there. Then that afternoon there will be an ice cream social at Yuba Feather Museum in Forbestown. What a great place to meet with friends and family, visit the museum and village as well as enjoy a scoop or two of ice cream (donated by Collins Lake). Weather looks good.

Stone Soup is still going strong, after about seven years with some trial and error. There is a great lunch served every Thursday at noon: homemade soups, salad bar, bread and a dessert. This is held in the community center in Brownsville, too. This is not a program making money for any reason except to keep going. We ask for a $3.00 or more donation and that pays the rent on the building, some electricity for the refrigerator, and the bread and salad makings. The Stone Soup Group donates the soups and desserts, taking turns each week. If you feel like joining the group, making a soup or dessert, just check in with someone with a name tag and volunteer. We will appreciate the help.

Look Back in Time – In 1913 there were 327 autos in Butte County; one person in every 100 owned a “Joy Carriage”; now many people have two “autos” or some vehicle.

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon. ~ Yvonne ★

YUBA COUNTY PET OF THE WEEK

Meet Miss Darla

This week Yuba County Animal Care Services is presenting a very shy, sweet lovable girl to our community for pet of the week.

We have been promising her a coming out party for quite some time now and this is her week!!

Darla is a 4 month old pit bull mix (A198596). She is all things dainty and sweet. She is very shy when you first meet her and in the kennel she does get scared, but she wants to ensure the amazing people in our community that she is really just a sweetheart. Darla has explained that she would do well in all varieties of homes; meaning homes with small children, homes with older children, or no kids she is not picky she just wants a cozy bed, maybe a couch and a human to give her all the love she can handle. Some training on down to 5245 Feather River Blvd or give us a call like your kind of girl come at 530.741.6478. ★

Darla is waiting for his forever home. Come and meet me today!

Harvest Festival Resumption

A resumption of the Harvest Festival for the Yuba Foothills is planned for Saturday, September 30, and on Sunday the following day at the Alcouffe Community Center. If you are a vendor and wish to participate, please contact Paul McGovern at: paulmcgovern11@gmail.com

Water Flows

On Monday, a few friends gathered at the end of the O3 irrigation ditch and celebrated the water flowing again. Our County Supervisor Jon Messick made time to be there. The water will be flowing until mid-October and for the foreseeable future.

<https://foothillwatercoalition.org/images/O3-celebration.jpg>

Manzanita Lane Emergency Egress

There is a renewed effort to create a functional emergency exit for people on La Salle Way, Citron Way, Manzanita Lane, and then to Rice's Crossing Rd. A short presentation was made at the Fire Safe Council meeting on Wednesday. County Supervisor Messick was there as was the County OES Representative.

Over the years, there has been much controversy over who is responsible for improving the road as the County says it has no right of way. However, Public Works has allocated funding to begin the process of surveying and then deeding the County a right-of-way so improvements can be made.

Marysville Peach Festival

The annual Marysville Peach Festival is scheduled for Friday, July 14, 4 pm to 10 pm and Saturday, July 15, 10 am to 10 pm. The promoter of the Festival would like to have a representation of the Yuba Foothills at the event. Arrangements for this are in progress. Thousands of people from all over Northern California will be coming and this is an opportune time to showcase the Yuba Foothills.

Visitor Guide

A visitor guide to the Yuba Foothills is in the process of being compiled. This high quality 12-page full color production will list businesses in the Yuba Foothills including overnight accommodations. ★

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916)939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearch-Terms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2300288354 Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916)939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearch-Terms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2300288354 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagee, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. Grant Opportunities Available for Wildfire Safety and Preparedness

PG&E News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - On June 1, 2023, Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) and the California Fire Foundation (CFF) announced grant opportunities for California-based fire departments and community-based organizations focused on wildfire safety and preparedness. The grant program continues a successful partnership between PG&E and CFF. Applications must be submitted by 11:59 p.m. on June 30, 2023, through the CFF website. Award notification will begin July 31, 2023.

PG&E and The PG&E Corporation Foundation (PG&E Foundation) are providing a total of $1.4 million to CFF’s Wildfire Safety and Preparedness Program (WSPP). Joining forces for the sixth consecutive year, the program’s objective is to raise public awareness about wildfire safety and deliver resources to underserved communities in high fire-risk areas. It includes a grant program that last year awarded 66 local fire departments and community groups $730,000 in funding.

Since 2018, CFF, which administers and manages the WSPP, has awarded 265 grants to fire departments and community organizations statewide, focusing its efforts in Northern and Central California. Funding targets communities identified as having extreme or elevated fire risk as identified by the California Public Utilities Commission.

“While the unprecedented storms of this past winter helped lift the majority of California out of the decades-long drought, the unfortunate flip side is the increased potential for a later but more robust wildfire season,” said Rick Martinez, Executive Director of the California Fire Foundation. “The Wildfire Safety and Preparedness Program is a partnership with PG&E that was created to address the increasing wildfire risk. Our collaboration over the last six years has played an important role in helping local communities mitigate their wildfire risks and enhance the public’s safety.”

“PG&E and the California Fire Foundation share the same goal of ensuring that our hometowns are doing everything possible to prevent wildfires from starting. Local fire departments, agencies and community groups play such a key role in prioritizing and executing the projects that protect communities and in raising awareness about wildfire safety. We’re grateful for our ongoing partnership with the CFF as it provides real-time benefits such as defensible space and fuel-reduction programs as well as crucial awareness to customers in underserved communities,” said Mark Quinlan, PG&E’s Senior Vice President of Wildfire & Emergency Operations.

How the Grants Help Communities

From 2018 to the present, PG&E and the PG&E Foundation have provided $7.4 million in total support for fire safety awareness through the WSPP. The charitable contribution is shareholder-funded, not paid for by PG&E customers.

Since 2018, WSPP has funded: Specialized fire equipment and personal protective equipment; Defensible space and vegetation management efforts; Fuel/hazard reduction programs; Fire prevention and emergency preparedness education, including senior citizen wildfire preparedness programs; Fire safety outreach campaigns, including 12,000 multi-lingual brochures targeting under-resourced communities in English, Spanish, Chinese, Hmong, and Vietnamese; Partnerships with community groups in high fire-risk areas to distribute fire-safety information.

The WSPP develops and distributes in-language fire-safety messaging targeting Spanish, Chinese, Hmong, and Vietnamese communities. These efforts include a comprehensive media campaign consisting of outdoor billboards and in-language television, radio, and digital ads.

The California Fire Foundation, a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization, aids firefighters, their families, and the communities they protect. CFF’s Firefighters on Your Side program, also supported by PG&E, provides multi-lingual, culturally relevant fire safety messaging in both digital and print forms to assist the public in staying safe. ★

Former Yuba County Deputy Acquitted of Excessive Force Charge

Yuba County DA News Release

YUBA COUNTY, CA (MPG) - A jury acquitted former Yuba County Sheriff’s Deputy Henry Abe on Thursday, May 25, 2023, of a misdemeanor assault by a public officer. The charge stemmed from an incident that occurred on February 14, 2022, when Abe was called to a residence on Forty Mile Road for a burglary in progress. The responding deputies had body-worn cameras that captured the incident.

When Abe and other deputies arrived on scene, the suspect had been detained by neighbors in a field next to the house. A deputy placed the burglary suspect, 59-year-old Jerry Johnson, in handcuffs. Johnson, who could be heard breathing hard, asked for a moment to catch his breath, when deputies instructed him to get his feet. Abe told Johnson to get up or he would “boot” him in the ribs. Johnson replied, “boot me in the ribs,” and Abe kicked him. Johnson got to his feet and the deputies walked him to a nearby patrol vehicle. Johnson was not injured by the kick.

Abe claimed the kick was necessary because he was worried that a second suspect could be hiding nearby with a firearm. The video from the body-worn cameras, however, did not show any particular hurry or concern on the part of the deputies.

Yuba County Sheriff’s Deputy Kenny Smith testified at trial that the kick was outside of policy and not legally necessary. Smith, who teaches defensive tactics for the Sheriff’s Department, explained to the jury that even if Abe needed to hurry, he should not have kicked the handcuffed suspect when he had other options, such as standing the suspect up or dragging him from the field. A use-of-force expert hired by the defense testified that the kick was not excessive under the circumstances.

The trial, which began on Tuesday, ended Thursday afternoon with the jury finding Abe “not guilty” of the single charge.

“Kicking a handcuffed, out-of-breath suspect who wasn’t resisting is unreasonable on its face,” said Yuba County District Attorney Clint Curry. “We file charges based on the evidence, but it’s ultimately up to the jury to decide what ‘beyond a reasonable doubt’ means in each case. I respect their decision.”

Jerry Johnson was convicted by a jury in October 2022 of the residential burglary he was caught committing in this case. He was sentenced under California’s Three Strikes law to serve 25 years to life in prison. ★

Huskies are Top Dogs with Division IV NorCal Title

by Steven Bryla

SUTTER, CA (MPG) - The Sutter Huskies and Gridley Bulldogs baseball teams made it to the final game of the season as the two former Butte View League rivals squared off in the California Interscholastic Federation Division IV NorCal Championship on Saturday, June 3.

The scene last Saturday at Arata field in Sutter looked like a fair as fans of both teams were lined up on the edge of the fence from each foul pole to leave no standing room to watch the game as the Huskies won the game 10-1.

For the second consecutive time in a little over a week and a half, Sutter junior shortstop/pitcher Logan Yacavace had his longest outing of the season with a complete game, four hit and six strikeout performance.

Yacavace last pitched in the Huskies CIF Sac-Joaquin Section Division V Championship on May 23 in a 4-3 thriller that lasted 13 innings and Yacavace pitched 6.2 innings in relief to pick up the win.

Sutter (26-5-1) head coach Stewart Peterson told Messenger Publishing Group that they have always been confident with Yacavace on the mound, but he's also valuable defensively as well.

"We've used him in the closers role with one or two innings here or there, but when we called on him for the Bradshaw Christian game along with today, he was ready," Peterson said.

The unselfish Yacavace expressed to MPG the team effort throughout the entire season and added it was a perfect way for the seniors class to go out as most of the roster has played with one another for years.

Gridley (17-6) head coach Javier Solis told MPG that every game in the state playoffs was a bonus as their original goal was to win a Northern Section title as they did on May 20, in a controlled 8-0 win over West Valley.

"Now that we have been here and seen what it looks like, we have a goal for next season," Solis said.

Solis started his freshman left-handed pitcher Tanner Abbott who had a little trouble finding the zone in the first inning as he walked two before Huskies sophomore first baseman Brady Wickum opened the scoring of the game with a two-run-batted-in single to take a 2-0 lead.

Abbott got an RBI single in the third to score senior captain/outfielder Michael Ryan to cut the Sutter deficit 2-1 as it would be the only run for the Bulldogs in the game.

Ryan went 1-for-2 as he tripled in the fifth inning. Ryan, who has spent his entire high school career on the varsity level credited multiple people throughout his years as a Bulldog.

Ryan's main message to the returners next season was to show up ready to play everyday.

"With our young pitching staff, they have a chance to win every game," Ryan said.

Being mentioned as the best leader in Solis's 12-year coaching career, Ryan exemplified that as being a leader in the classroom and on the field giving it 100 % all the time.

Abbott went 2-for-2 at the plate with an RBI. On the single, Abbott rolled his ankle and it didn't translate well as he went to pitch in the bottom of the third.

No excuses were made as the Huskies slammed four straight singles as Wickum had his second single and third RBI of the day.

In previous conversations with Wickum, he expressed he has been up and down at the plate throughout the season.

"I worked on being patient," Wickum said. Wickum went 2-for-4 with three RBIs in the game.

Seven of the Huskies starters had a hit during the game along with four of them having two or more RBIs in the game.

Sutter added four more runs in the third to take a 6-1 lead. Yacavace sewed up the Gridley lineup for the rest of the game as he only gave up the triple to Ryan in the fifth.

The Huskies tacked on three more in the bottom of the fifth before junior designated hitter Rylan Giovannoni capped off the scoring with a solo home run in the sixth over the left field fence.

This was the first trip to the NorCal finals for the Huskies and Bulldogs as the format began in 2021 by the CIF.

As the season ends, turnover on both rosters begin as they both lose key pieces but Sutter and Gridley have a lot coming back next season.

While the Huskies lose four starters and the Bulldogs lose three, both squads have their primary pitching coming back.

Solis added that as much talk about the returning pitching, he is excited for another season and credits a lot of the pitching success with junior catcher Bryar McWilliams.

"He (Bryar) calls the pitches, studies batters. So, it's exciting to get another season with him," Solis said.

With both teams in different sections, the area of both towns can hope for future battles with these successful programs. ★

Sutter's Bauer Adds Hardware as 49ers Sac-Hi Sports Softball POY

Story by Steven Bryla,

SUTTER, CA (MPG) - Although the Sutter Huskies softball season ended a couple weeks ago, it doesn't stop more accolades coming to the program as junior pitcher Olivia Bauer was honored and received the award for the 2023 49ers Sac-Hi Sports North Softball Player of the Year in a ceremony on Sunday, May 28 at Sutter Health Park in Sacramento.

Bauer was named to North POY via social media on May 15, and Bauer told the Dispatch it was an honor. She later celebrated the ceremony on May 28, to receive the award with her family, friends and coaches, including Huskies head coach Stefanie Danna and assistant coach Tim.

As expected, Bauer expressed a long list of thank yous to multiple people who helped pave the way towards an amazing accomplishment. Danna's teammates were noted as big contributors towards her appreciation.

"They (the Danna's) have been with me since the beginning of my high school career; I wouldn't be where I am without them today," Bauer said.

She added her role model was former Lindhurst 2016 softball star and alumna Cassia Ruiz because she helped Bauer learn to hit left-handed in the box, love the game all around and work hard.

It translated well to this season as Bauer had her most productive offensive production in her three-year career at Sutter with a .527 batting average. She also led the Huskies roster with number of hits (49) and on base percentage (.566).

Although the POY award recognized Bauer as an individual, she is quick to give nothing but consistent credit to her teammates as well.

"They have had my back, I received plenty of congratulatory messages and reposts," Bauer said. "They have been my biggest supporters."

Sutter has been recognized in some of the local polling throughout the season to the likes of The Sacramento Bee and the 49ers Sac-Hi poll as high as number one and eighth in the most recent May 29 poll.

Bauer expressed to the Dispatch she felt that the program will get more recognition throughout the years as they are bound to go to the CIF Sac-Joaquin Section Division V semifinals their first year in the SJS.

Although local teams and the Northern Section know about the Huskies prolific program, the Sacramento region will continue to see and hear about the phenomenal program at Sutter.

Bauer added that they put in a lot of hard work day in and day out. Bauer went back to the circle primarily this season after the departure of former Sutter pitcher Riley Wickum graduated last year and told the Dispatch it was a transition stepping into her shoes.

Bauer went 23-2 with 141 innings pitched, 185 strikeouts and a 1.04 earned run average. Bauer also had 21 complete games, nine shut-outs and one perfect game that she threw on March 20 at Pleasant Valley of Chico.

Bauer added that she wasn't alone in the circle and smiled as fellow junior third baseman Makala Schamanski was brought off pitching retirement this season too as she hasn't pitched for a while.

Game day superstitions for Bauer include her hair must be the same every game, same walk-up song yearly. Her routines for warm-ups include the same number of pitches and the hard work ethic shows as she has to be at the field a half hour prior to her teammates arriving or she said she feels like she won't have a good game.

Hobbies include hiking, lifting with her GRIND:30 crew that includes playing hacky sack with teammates pregame and blasting music at the field.

Bauer added that her favorite moment of the season was the 1-0 win over East Nicolaus on May 11.

"A lot of people doubted us because they do have players with big commitments," Bauer said. "The joy of all of us screaming and hugging showed how high intensity of a game it was."

Bauer told the Dispatch her and her teammates will keep the same mindset as this season, and they will use the motivation of the exit from the semifinals this season towards next season.

Bauer heads into a summer of travel ball and will continue the grind onto her senior season with her Sutter family next season. ★
