Farewell, ARCO!

Kings Organization and Fans Say Goodbye to the 'Old Barn'

SACRAMENTO CA (MPG) - ARCO Arena, Power Balance Pavilion, and Sleep Train Arena are three names that were synonymous with the home of the Sacramento Kings for 28 years.

ARCO Arena officially closed Saturday in Natomas for good, as members of the Kings organization and fans said their final farewells to a building that opened in 1988 and meant so much to a city for so long.

"This is a shining example that in Sacramento there was a time when we were at the top of the basketball world and this is where you had to come to see the 'Greatest Show on Court,' so that gives us hope," said Doug Christie, who played shooting guard in Sacramento from 2000 to 2005. "This building is different than Golden 1 (Center). Golden 1 has things to walk around and see. But here, there was 17,000 people already sitting in their seat. When we came out of that tunnel it was energy, if you didn't have it, they gave it to you."

Christie, now an assistant coach with the Kings, Vlade Divac and Brad Miller were the former Kings players in attendance Saturday. Olympic gold medalist Ruthie Bolton made an appearance to represent the Monarchs, the former WNBA team that won a championship for Sacramento in 2005 before disbanding in 2009.

"This was the venue (where) the fans were the soul, and we were the show," Christie said. "That mix is something that you don't find. We were white-hot before Miami. We were beautiful basketball before Golden State. The only thing we didn't do is put a ring on it. I told (Kings' owner) Vivek (Ranadivé) when we were

Feathers To Farm Chicken Rehoming Program

Sutter Animal Services Authority News

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - The Sutter Animal Services Authority announces the Feathers to Farms Chicken Rehoming Program, a local effort to relocate feral roosters, hens, and chicks to healthy, suitable rural homes. The goal of the program is to minimize the feral chicken population in highly inhabited areas of Yuba City, reducing the overall population of feral chickens to healthy, manageable numbers in business districts that have experienced the negative impacts of overpopulation and free-feeding, thereby improving economic development and supporting businesses. Chickens will be humanely collected and taken to Sutter Animal Services Authority for health checks. Once the fowl are deemed healthy and adoptable, they will be placed for adoption/rehoming.

Due to public dumping and breeding in the wild, feral chickens are classified as a wild animal population that is not a protected species. "Too many times our beloved Yuba City chickens are struck by vehicles and succumb to injuries they would not face if they were living in suitable rural environments," said Megan Anderson, Manager of Sutter Animal

Services Authority. "This is an animal rescue and preservation effort with an end goal to relocate feral fowl to area farms and ranches where livestock thrive, reducing the population with a compassionate humane approach," finished Anderson.

Dozens of area businesses are impacted by the overpopulation of feral chickens in the identified area including restaurants, professional offices, grocers, gyms, coffee shops, automotive dealers, and hotels. "We love our chickens but they deserve to be in a better environment than they are currently in," said Berenice Benitez, General Manager of Hampton Inn & Suites in Yuba City.

Grocers and restaurants have reported a sharp increase in pest activity that can be directly attributed to free feeding. While free-feeding is illegal in the City of Yuba City, area residents "free feed" the feral population by visiting the overpopulated areas and leaving chicken feed on the ground just feet away from restaurants and grocers. While the chickens eat, so do rodents, creating a growing issue for nearby food-based businesses. "Our property, which houses a food service establishment, has experienced first-hand the devastating impacts of free-feeding the feral chicken population," stated Randy Bacchus, Property Manager for Gallelli Real Estate. "From a business perspective, it's refreshing to see local leaders prioritizing the business community while mitigating the issue in a way that we can all support," said Bacchus. ★

Lake Management Clean-up at Ellis Lake

By Dan Flores, Director of Community Services, City of Marysville

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - During the next three weeks, the City of Marysville is implementing a two-phase project to improve water quality in Ellis Lake.

The lake water has developed high levels of phosphorus that feed harmful green algae blooms which negatively impacts the entire Ellis Lake ecosystem. The lake has also experienced a steady increase of the invasive fish species Cyprinus carpio. Their destructive nature stirs up lake sediment which causes the lake to experience high levels of phosphorus.

The two-phase clean-up process began March 21st through March 25th at which time the invasive fish species will be removed from the lake. The second phase of the process will consist of the application of a phosphorus locking technology Phoslock® which will take place April 4th to 7th.

Phoslock is a modified clay technology the specifically inactivates (locks) available forms of phosphorus in the water column. Phoslock is certified for use in drinking water and poses negligible risk to the aquatic environment.

Phoslock has been successfully and safely applied to inactivate phosphorus in hundreds of ponds, lakes and reservoirs in over 20 countries.

City Manager Jim Schaad looks forward to the process being complete. "With Spring just around the corner, Marysville residents and visitors deserve a clean, safe lake environment and this process should deliver that," said Schaad.

Signage will be deployed around the perimeter of the lake to inform visitors that the Lake is undergoing an improvement process.

The City of Marysville has engaged the services of HDR and Aquatechnex to manage the clean-up for Ellis Lake. ★ standing here, ‘It’s gonna happen, it will. And when it does, right on the bottom down there, just put ARCO because that would be so very fitting.’”

Ranadivé, who kept the team from moving out of Sacramento in 2013, and former owner Gregg Lukenbill, who brought the franchise to the 916 in 1985, each spoke Saturday morning about the former home known to many as the “Old Barn.”

“I know this is a bittersweet moment for everyone because there is some amazing memories,” Ranadivé said. “I describe this place as a communal fireplace. The firepit is the arena, the players are the fire, they lit that fire. The fans huddled around that communal fireplace and it’s been an amazing fireplace. So, thanks to all of you for the memories.”

Also in attendance for the farewell were politicians, Sacramento Mayor Darrell Steinberg and Vice Mayor Angelique Ashby, as well as former Kings coach and broadcaster Jerry Reynolds.

“This is very emotional because there isn’t a Sacramentan who hasn’t been part of this community for decades who doesn’t have incredible memories of experiences here at, I know it’s Sleep Train, ARCO Arena. It’s what it is, ARCO Arena,” Steinberg said. “The memories, even the painful ones, are all good.”

The “Farewell to ARCO Arena” event was open to season ticket holders starting at noon Saturday and to the public from 2-6 P.M. Fans had the opportunity to walk through the old arena, take photos and write farewell messages that will remain on the site.

The Kings also gave away an abundance of free boxes of team memorabilia like jerseys and signed basketballs that were stored over the years at ARCO, to those who were willing to brave the long line. The event was one last get-together for Kings fans at the place they called home for many years.

It is well documented that Sacramento has struggled for many years on the court, as the current team is 25-48 and close to missing the playoffs for what would be an NBA record 16th consecutive season. However, the Kings’ best years in Sacramento so far were at ARCO, including nine playoff appearances, eight consecutive from 1998 to 2006, and a trip to the 2002 Western Conference Finals.

In 2013, the arena set a Guinness World Record for loudest indoor sports roar at 126 decibels.

“I truly appreciate the soul of this building,” Christie said. “I never knew that wood, metal and plastic could make such a sound. But it was a sound that I will never forget.”

Off the court, ARCO hosted concerts, high school and college sports, WWE, MMA, Disney on Ice and so much more.

After fighting for years to keep their team in town, Kings fans were rewarded in 2016 with the Golden 1 Center. Now, the space in Natomas that they once called home will be demolished in the coming months to make way for a new medical center and hospital.

“One of the epic moments of my life was to be able to stand here, and I’ll just repeat what I said, I said, ‘This is your team, and it is here to stay,’ Ranadivé said. “This is a place that has been giving for years and years so I’m really happy that that tradition of giving is going to continue as we open a world-class hospital over here so it’s going to keep giving to the community.

“As bitter as it is, it’s also sweet because we have a beautiful new arena downtown. As great as the past has been, the future is going to be even better.”

Out to Pasture, A Play About and In Support of Women

Story by David Read, Yuba Sutter Arts

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - When something or someone is put out to pasture, it usually means they have outlived their usefulness like when they are forced to leave a job because of old age.

The new play Out to Pasture tackles this issue head on from a woman's perspective. The play, written by Michelle Carter, is directed by Jenny Connors and stars Alison Gilbreath with Erik Dahl.

Out to Pasture introduces us to Jennifer, a professional, wife, daughter, and mother, as she approaches her 50th birthday. Jennifer is trying to maintain her social-life, love-life and sanity while coming to terms with turning 50. Out to Pasture explores the humorous and raw moments of grappling with physical changes, a changing identity, jobs, kids, aging parents, and society's stereotypes. At turns thought-provoking and hilarious, Out to Pasture is relatable for all genders and strikes a chord with women of any age.

Out to Pasture started as a monologue written by Michelle Carter for her friend, Alison Gilbreath, a local actress, director, and instructor based at Sutter Street Theatre in Folsom. When Jenny Connors, Founder and President of Women's Theatre Collective, saw a video of the original Out to Pasture monologue on Facebook, and she reached out to Alison about producing a full-length show. Michelle, Alison, and Jenny collaborated to create an honest, revealing, and entertaining piece. The original monologue as well as the full-length play received overwhelmingly positive responses when it premiered in 2021. The original "Out to Pasture" monologue was a finalist in the Monologues & Poetry International Film Fest.

The play is being presented as a joint fundraiser for the Jenna McKaye Foundation and the Women's Theatre Collective. Jenna, a Yuba-Sutter resident, is a survivor of human trafficking with an incredible life story she now shares with groups throughout the U.S. She trains hospital staff, law enforcement and other professionals how to identify sex and labor trafficking victims and respond with victim centered care. She started the Jenna McKaye Foundation to engage in a broader advocacy training model.

Come see Out to Pasture on March 26 at 7pm or March 27 at 2pm at the Sutter Theater Center for the Arts, 754 Plumas Street, Yuba City. Doors open one hour before showtime. Tickets are $20 and are available at yubasutterarts.org. Please review the YSAC COVID policy prior to attending any events.

Yuba Sutter Branch of AAUW Brings Back 8th Grade Girls STEM Conference

By Miriam Root, AAUW

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - After a two-year hiatus, the 8th Grade Girls STEM conference is returning.

On Monday, March 28, 2022, 489 8th grade girls from 17 schools in the Yuba-Sutter area will descend upon Yuba College in Marysville to learn more about the opportunities in the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) professions. The Marysville/Yuba City branch of AAUW began offering the conference in 1985.

The committee has been working diligently with the local middle schools to get students enrolled and securing speakers, presenters and facilitators. Currently there are 17 different fields of study that the girls will be able to choose from including agriculture, criminology, forensics science, finance, health careers, and civil engineering, just to name a few.

The keynote speaker for the morning will be inspirational local leader, Preet Didbal, former mayor of Yuba City. She was elected in 2014 and was the first Sikh female mayor in the United States.

At the conclusion of the half day conference, students have the option of taking a tour of the Yuba College campus. Most students take advantage of this opportunity where they can hear directly from current Yuba College students about what the college experience is like.

The Marysville-Yuba City AAUW Branch was founded in 1955 and currently has 87 members. Activities are linked to the AAUW National Mission Statement: to advance gender equality for women and girls through research, education, and advocacy.

AAUW is open to college or university graduates (including men) with an Associate, Baccalaureate, or higher degree. Affiliate memberships are available for students and non-graduates. ★

Yuba Water Agency Press Release

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Yuba Water Agency Board Director Brent Hastey was honored on March 15, 2022, by the Association of California Water Agencies for his distinguished and dedicated service to ACWA, the country's largest statewide coalition of public water agencies.

"Yuba Water is a premier leader in coming up with solutions that affect the entire state, and Brent is an extension of that," said ACWA Executive Director Dave Eggerton, who presented the award to Hastey. "He is a tremendous asset to the California water community and one of the finest leaders in the water business and local government."

Hastey was recognized for his leadership and contributions to ACWA from 2016 to 2021. He was elected as ACWA's vice president in 2016 and president in 2018, and he served as immediate past president in 2020, each two-year terms, and all positions he held while simultaneously serving on Yuba Water's Board of Directors. Hastey first joined the agency's board in 1993 as a Yuba County supervisor, a position he held through 2001. He returned to Yuba Water's board in 2014 as an elected representative of south Yuba County and served as chairman of the board from 2017 to 2019.

As ACWA president, Hastey advocated strongly for voluntary agreements as a comprehensive and collaborative approach to resolving challenges within the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta and San Francisco Bay. He was also actively involved in promoting safe drinking water solutions for disadvantaged communities across the state and increasing the pace and scale of ecologically-sound forest restoration to reduce catastrophic wildfire risks in key California watersheds and promote healthier, more resilient forests. Hastey also helped establish ACWA's first dedicated agriculture committee.

"My work with ACWA couldn't have happened without the support of Yuba Water's board," Hastey said. "It was an opportunity of a lifetime, and I look forward to what's ahead for ACWA and its members."

ACWA planned to recognize Hastey last year but postponed the award due to COVID-19 restrictions.

ACWA's mission is to provide comprehensive leadership, advocacy and resources for California public water agencies to ensure a reliable, high-quality water supply in an environmentally sustainable and fiscally responsible manner. Collectively, ACWA's members are responsible for 90 percent of the water delivered to California cities, farms and businesses. ★

California Farmers are Investing in Renewable Energy

California farmers may hold the key to the Golden State’s renewable energy future. Farmers have invested in solar power and other renewable energy technologies near vineyards, row crops and atop walnut dryers. Eight percent of California farms currently have onsite renewable energy systems. Meanwhile, a project is underway to place solar panels over some San Joaquin Valley irrigation canals to generate power, conserve farmland and reduce water evaporation.

War in Ukraine Clouds Market for Sunflower Seeds

Growers in California are beginning plantings of sunflowers this month amid major uncertainty over the impacts the Russian invasion of Ukraine will have on markets for seeds and sunflower oil. Russia and Ukraine are the world’s top two producers of sunflowers, owning 55% of global acreage. As a result, the sunflower market is now heated, but it’s uncertain whether California growers can meet demand while dealing with drought, water shortages and limited milling capacity.

Cabbage Harvest Accelerates in Time for Holiday

With St. Patrick’s Day celebrated on March 17, California farmers are harvesting leafy greens fit for the holiday—cabbage. The crop has remained a reliable staple in California agriculture. In 2019, the most recent year with statewide figures, farmers harvested 14,500 acres of cabbage worth $212 million. This year, growers in Ventura County and the Imperial Valley are reporting robust harvests of green, red and savoy cabbage, as the winter vegetable season nears its conclusion.

Competition Seeks to Provide Funding for Agricultural Innovation

The American Farm Bureau Federation is looking for the next generation of agriculture innovators. In partnership with Farm Credit, the AFBF is seeking applications for the 2023 Farm Bureau Innovation Challenge. The national business competition offers startup funds for businesses developing innovative solutions to challenges faced by America’s farmers, ranchers and rural communities. Last year’s winners included a venture creating a robot to improve safety for grain bins. ★

Time to dig in the dirt. Let’s hope the weather stays Spring-like. Summer will come soon enough and we sure could use a bit more rain.

North Yuba Water District March 2022 Update

It’s time for an update on what has been happening with the troubled North Yuba Water District in the foothills of Yuba County. Last summer, the District hired consultants Provost & Pritchard to research water markets outside of the District’s service area in Yuba County. It turns out that, due to the 2005 water sharing agreement with South Feather Water and Power in Butte County, North Yuba cannot sell water without South Feather agreeing. South Feather does not agree.

During its February 4 meeting, General Manager Maupin, NYWD Legal Council Michael Vergara, and Provost & Pritchard consultant Dan Flory were assigned the job of negotiating to sell water to Byron-Bethany Irrigation District located in Contra Costa County. Michael Vergara, from the law firm Somach Simmons & Dunn, is also legal counsel to Byron-Bethany. Potentially, this could create a conflict of interest for Mr. Vergara as he would be negotiating the deal for both sides.

Back in June of 2021, North Yuba filed a lawsuit against South Feather for breach of contract. By breaking the agreement with South Feather the District could sell water. Meanwhile, at the January 22 board meeting, the District appointed John Brueggeman to fill the Division 2 seat left vacant by the resignation of Fred Mitchell in October of 2021.

At the March 4 Special Meeting, the secretly prepared update to a new Irrigation Policy was presented and voted on. Missing his third meeting in a row, Director Brueggeman was not present to vote. If a Director misses three consecutive meetings, they are deemed to have resigned. The District has sixty days from Mr. Brueggeman’s resignation to appoint a new Director. It is not known why the District is not advertising for this vacant position.

Director Donnie Ferguson did not participate in the meeting leaving only three directors to vote on the Policy. This included Gary Hawthorne, Doug Neilson, and Ginger Hughes. The vote was 3 to 0 to accept the new Policy. There are indications that Ferguson was watching the meeting incognito. The new irrigation policy has a number of irregularities and illegalities. For example, the revised Policy gives priority to users with the smaller amounts of water. This is against State Law. Additional legal action is likely to be forthcoming challenging this Policy. It is not known why the these three directors would vote for a Policy that was illegal

In January, another newsletter was produced by the District’s publicist Crystal Martin. The North Yuba Water District’s General Manager Jeff Maupin has made Ms. Martin a “litigation consultant”. As such, due to attorney-client privilege, Ms. Martin is not subject to disclosure as to how much she is being paid. Ms. Martin is not an attorney. Ms. Martin is Bob Bagley’s campaign manager.

On March 16, South Feather produce a letter stating that “Yes, SFWPA has sufficient raw water to deliver 24 CFS at SF-14. This equals 47.6 acre feet per day.” This means that, despite that District might claim there is no water, irrigation water would be available. The District can divert water from the Forbestown Ditch, into Costa Creek, and then to the Brownsville diversion point that provides water to the Oregon House and Dobbins area. You can read South Feather’s letter at: foothillwatercoalition.org/records/links/03-16-22.sfwpa-water-offer.html

Nielsen Applauds Possibility of $2.2 Billion for Sites Reservoir

Office of Senator Jim Nielsen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On Thursday, March 17, the United States

Environmental Protection Agency formally invited the Sites Project Authority to apply for a Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (WIFIA) program loan.

“This is good news, especially after Senate Democrats recently killed my legislation – Senate Bill 890 – that would have helped fully fund Sites Reservoir,” said Nielsen.

In total, Sites will be eligible for up to $2.2 billion in low-interest loans, which accounts for 49 percent of the project’s cost.

Although the WIFIA program is primarily used for wastewater and drinking water systems, the America’s Water Infrastructure Act of 2018 directed the EPA and Reclamation to work towards opening the program to some Reclamation water projects as well.

How History Can Repeat Itself

Commentary by Carolyn Harwood Bergam

The current situation in Ukraine caused me to reflect on an event that happened to me 59 years and five months ago on “October 22, 1962”. I was a 16-year-old American girl living in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba! I can remember it like yesterday! My father was stationed in Gtmo Bay Cuba as a Chief Petty Officer with the US Coast Guard. He was an Instructor/Ship Rider with the Navy Fleet Training Group in Cuba. He was the code breaker for the Old Soviet Code: CRIPTO and was the only Coast Guardsman on the Island at that time. Only the Coast Guardsmen worked in International Waters.

Suddenly we were facing, and living, “The Cuban Missile Crisis.” We were very close to World War III. President John F. Kennedy had seen the U-2 photos showing all the missiles from Russia, built up on the Island of Cuba. Our President John F. Kennedy was facing not one Dictator but two; Russian President Nikita Khrushchev, and Cuban Dictator Fidel Castro. President Kennedy, stood very “firm”, and said to the world and to Nikita Khrushchev and Fidel Castro, to take “All the Missiles out of Cuba at Once!” It was a dangerous time because it was 90 miles from Florida. The large number of missiles were all “Weapons of Mass Destruction”

All civilians had to evacuate ASAP. We had 15 minutes to pack and say goodbye to our father. My brother and I boarded a US Navy ship, the Upshur, along with 1,700 wives, children and teachers.

I remember how frightened we were. Once we were on the ship and out to sea, President John F. Kennedy came over the loud speaker to tell us all, “how brave we were to leave our fathers and husbands behind.” Suddenly we all realized how serious it was and we all started to cry.

We had to go through Cuban territory to get back to the USA. We were on the ship for three days and nights. We left in 80 degrees weather and I had sandals and sundress on. No toilet items were available for the 1700 evacuates on the ship. In the states the temperature was 30 degrees. Since I was one of the older teenagers I had to help the mothers and children. We had only 11 crew members to take the ship to the US with 1700 evacuates. On the day before we docked in Little Creek, Virginia they dropped wool blankets from a helicopter. That was so we could keep as warm as possible.

Now I see the Ukrainian people trying to leave their homes, not knowing what is going to happen to them next.

I was surprised President Joe Biden did not stand up to Vladimir Putin like President John F. Kennedy stood up to Khrushchev and Castro. I personally think President Joe Biden looked weak against Vladimir Putin.

Our country depends on oil and gas and now is not the time to stop producing our own. We need to drill for oil and gas so that we don’t have to depend on Dictators. Our country cannot back down from any dictator. We have not in the past, so why now? We want to be strong and look strong.

I have been fortunate enough to have had the opportunity to travel with the United States Military as a child and also as a wife for a total of 45 years. I am forever grateful to have had those opportunities. We have to expect the unexpected, it makes us stronger and wiser and I am very grateful to have gained that knowledge in my lifetime. ★

How Will Newsom’s Gas Price Relief Promise Work?

By Dan Walters
CALMatters.org

It’s time once again for some fun with numbers, in this case data surrounding the sharp spike in gas prices.

Although the recent uptick in fuel prices varies from community to community and even station to station, a good estimate of the increase, perhaps a bit conservative, is $1 per gallon. It’s mostly due to global oil markets reacting to the Russian invasion of Ukraine and efforts to punish Russian President Vladimir Putin with economic sanctions.

Last week in his State of the State address, Gov. Gavin Newsom dropped his previous proposal to offset the gas price increase with a very small “pause” in a scheduled state gas tax increase.

“Now, it’s clear we must go further,” Newsom said. “That’s why, working with legislative leadership, I’ll be submitting a proposal to put money back in the pockets of Californians to address rising gas prices.”

That was it — no details, just a vague promise. While we await some indication of what Newsom intends, let’s put a buck-a-gallon price increase in numerical perspective:

—Californians own and drive 29 million automobiles and light trucks, such as pickups and SUVs;

—Each year, they rack up 330 billion miles of automotive travel, an average of about 11,000 miles per vehicle;

—Motorists burn 15 billion gallons of gasoline each year, which averages out to 517 gallons of fuel for each vehicle (43 gallons per month) and an average of 21 miles to the gallon;

—Therefore, on average Californians are paying an extra $43 per month to drive, if one assumes the price increase has been $1 per gallon.

Higher costs for refueling their cars can certainly be painful to those in lower income brackets or those, such as long-distance commuters, who are running up high mileage counts. But unto itself, $43 a month shouldn’t be a critical issue for many Californians.

That said, we tend to focus on sharp price increases in everyday commodities, such as gasoline, as an indicator of high inflation. It’s a squeaky wheel in political terms — and politicians feel compelled to grease the wheel or face a popular backlash.

So what can Newsom and legislators do to offset higher gas prices in this election year?

The tax increase pause Newsom originally proposed would have cost about $500 million or a $17 annual savings per vehicle, hardly worth doing.

However, fully offsetting the jump could be a major hit on the state budget. At $1 per gallon, it would require the state to rebate about $15 billion to motorists for a full year — almost exactly what the prison system costs — or just over $500 per vehicle.

The trick will be to make rebates large enough to have some positive psychological response from California motorists but small enough to avoid a major budget impact.

Would $100 per car — enough, perhaps for one 20-gallon fillup — sufficiently impress Californians that their politicians’ hearts are in the right place? Even that relatively small amount would cost the state budget about $3 billion.

Rebates of any size would be relatively easy to distribute if done on a per-vehicle basis, since the state already has data on vehicle ownership.

It would become infinitely more complex to focus relief for those who are feeling price increases most keenly, such as low-income motorists or super commuters. That could become a bureaucratic nightmare on a par with the dysfunctional Employment Development Department.

The rebate promise is now on the agenda and it will be a very interesting situation to monitor.

Inflation and Energy Prices

The latest statistics out from the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta shows U.S. growth at a meager 0.5%. With the official definition of “recession” being two quarters of negative economic growth, the current reading is concerning. The official measurement at quarter end will be published in about three weeks, so we will know more around the beginning of March, but the estimates put out by the Atlanta Fed tends to be fairly accurate.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) recently put out a statistic that real incomes year over year have increased 5.1%, a healthy increase to be sure. The increase however, doesn’t factor in current inflation figures, which is estimated by some to be about 7%, with some analysts stating its closer to 10%. Whatever the true inflation statistic is, it’s the highest in 40 years.

Discretionary purchases, things people choose to buy versus what they must buy, will certainly go down, but what about non-discretionary purchases like gasoline or food?

The price of a gallon of gas has risen on average 45%, from an average price of $2.76 a gallon to $4.01. That may sound low to us Californians, where I pay close to six bucks a gallon for premium, but the national average is a bit lower no thanks to a variety of public agencies here in the golden state. New York also has similar gas prices to ours. The surge in prices may not be over, with some analyst forecasting seven dollars or higher are in the cards. Just in the last month gas prices have jumped 17%.

The increase is so devastating to consumers and the economy in general, Washington has figuratively started the “drill baby drill” catcalls throughout the ivory halls.

What a difference a war makes.

At current prices, Americans are on average going to have to shell out an extra $2,000.00 a year to drive to and fro. Amplifying the unfortunate, the move away from oil dependence has come just at the wrong time.

With regulatory pressure on oil companies and where they can drill increasing, many oil producing facilities have shut down. These shutdowns come on top of what was already a global energy shortfall for a variety for reasons, which include the green movement, the CoVid shutdowns, labor shortages and supply problems.

With Russia having huge oil reserves and manufacturing facilities which are now off limits due to the Ukrainian conflict, a perfect storm may be brewing to bring about even more inflation. Keep in mind, much of what is consumed by the world is oil based. The list of things made from oil or oil derivatives is too long to list here, but odds are you use more things made from oil than not.

With the price of oil skyrocketing at a blistering pace, and inflation contagion about to run rampant all through the manufacturing complexes of the world, the cost of most everything is probably about ready to explode.

Can we count on companies increasing oil and gas production to meet the shortages?

Hardly.

Restarting oil and gas manufacturing is not like turning on a light bulb. It takes months and millions of dollars to bring a previously mothballed refinery or oil producing complex back on line.

Even if it could be done, oil companies are hesitant to do so in fear of being shut down again by Washington once the crisis passes.

All in all, it’s a complete mess and about to get messier. There are those that are saying the U.S. should move even faster now towards clean energy, and that may be a valid point, but to make a significant dent in the current supply/demand/pricing problem caused by the many factors, the truth is right now, we just don’t have the time.

Kyiv, Ukraine, stands motionless and empty after the news of the Russian invasion in February 2022.

American Living in Kyiv Recalls Escaping Ukraine: ‘It’s Surreal’

Man recounts arduous journey, from hearing the first missile hit Kyiv to escaping across the Romanian border

JACKSON ELLIOTT

The first thing David heard about Russia’s war on Ukraine was the explosion near his apartment in Kyiv.

David, an American who asked not to use his full name, has lived in Ukraine on and off since 2015. After COVID-19 travel restrictions ended, he visited Kyiv again.

At about 4 a.m. on Feb. 24, a resonant “kaboom” woke him, he told The Epoch Times. He knew instantly that it had to be a Russian missile.

“It woke me up. And that was the first,” he said. “It was so loud that I was like, ‘Okay, we’ve got a war on our hands.’”

To David and other Ukrainians, Russia’s missiles and invasion came as a shock. Russia President Vladimir Putin had never done anything like this in Ukraine before, he said.

“Everybody said, ‘There’s no way Putin’s going to do this. This is insane,’” he said. “He bluffs, but it’s only to negotiate. He never goes all the way.”

A Ukrainian baby who received formula and diapers sent by Baptist missionary Todd Gallagher.

Todd Gallagher, a Baptist missionary serving in Vinnytsia, Ukraine, agreed. When he advised his church to stock up on supplies in case of war, they laughed at him.

“I wasn’t really too offended by it, but I’m like, ‘Come on, guys. We’ve got to be smarter than this,’” Gallagher said.

In preparation, he gave his Ukrainian father-in-law money to buy and store food in the church. So far, it’s been crucial to keeping the community fed, he said.

Russia’s previous invasions were always marked by a cunning ability to push the line and steal territory without starting a war, David said.

Then tanks rolled into Ukraine.

David, a former New Orleans resident, said that in many ways, the war has felt like a hurricane. He stocked up on food and water, and hunkered down. Then the Russian military smashed through the cities in its path. He described the sound of missiles hitting Kyiv.

“Everything just sort of shudders. Almost like clockwork, at 4 a.m. every morning, you’d hear explosions,” he said.

David wanted to leave, but he couldn’t travel because he’d just had major surgery. But his apartment building was fairly safe, he said. It was in the middle of a rough wall of other buildings. A Russian missile would have to be aimed directly at it to hit it.

A City Under Siege

Kyiv changed overnight, David said.

“Suddenly, there was martial law. You couldn’t go anywhere. It was like mass hysteria,” he said. “It was like a ghost town practically immediately.”

For 10 days, David waited to recover until he was well enough to travel and leave the country. Each night around 4 a.m., missiles would strike the northern side of Kyiv, he said.

Otherwise, life was strangely normal. The power and internet stayed on, people still bought groceries at stores with near-empty shelves. But some businesses were closed, and explosions echoed in the distance.

“It’s really is surreal. That’s all I can describe of it,” he said. “It was almost like a dream. I’m like, ‘What the hell just happened last week?’”

Despite the shock of the invasion, Ukrainians are willing to fight, David said.

“You can see the resolve in everyone’s eyes,” he said. “They’re absolutely stone-faced determined. There’s no one scared. Everybody’s calm. I didn’t see excitement or worry, or people wringing their hands.”

They’re motivated by memories of the cruelty of Soviet Russian rule, David said. The Soviets killed millions when they ruled Ukraine, and because they remember that history, Ukrainians are willing to fight to the death against the Russians, he said.

“Everybody has a family story about living in the USSR, and none of these are good,” David said. People either knew of kids or family members who disappeared, or their personal effects were stolen. “These people know what’s in store for them if they lose.”

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky has also been a major factor in Ukrainian morale, David said. When the president showed he was willing to stay and face death, people decided they were willing to die for him.

“They were willing to die for this man because he was willing to die for them,” David said.

“They’re fighting tooth and nail. Men and women together are doing everything that they can do to fight this war.”

Gallagher told The Epoch Times that Ukrainian militias are being equipped for war in towns across the country. Because of Ukraine’s tight cultural bonds, citizens are willing to unite and sacrifice to fight the invaders, he said.

“Those are things that have united and sparked the unity. The militias, the civilian militias, the little guerrilla units that Russia just didn’t count on are especially keeping Russia at bay,” he said.

Fleeing Invasion

On March 5, David left Kyiv in a car with a few other people. A guard on one of Kyiv’s bridges told him they were only allowing military vehicles through, but let him and his group pass anyway.

Everything just sort of shudders. Almost like clockwork, at 4 a.m. every morning, you’d hear explosions.

David, survivor

First, David stayed at an acquaintance’s house. Then he slept in a church where the windows had been blown out by a bomb blast. He heard air-raid sirens all night as the Russians bombed a nearby military base.

In the four days it took to reach the Romanian border, he had only two meals, David said. But what he got was enough.

“That water bottle made all the difference in the world,” he said.

He also recalled the moment when a man with two young children begged David to take his two children over the border.

“Here I am, a stranger, and he’s handing me his kids,” David said.

Gallagher was the one to help drive David on the final stretch across the border. Although David and his family had a chance to leave, they stayed in Romania so they could send aid into Ukraine.

The Russian invasion has left Ukraine, one of the world’s most fertile countries, without food, Gallagher said. Now, many Ukrainian families depend on donations from missionary organizations such as his church for food. That crisis is worst in the small towns.

A couple of weeks before the war, Gallagher took his family on vacation to Romania. While he was there, his car was damaged in an accident, stranding them there for a few weeks. When the war started, his family considered leaving for the United States, but they reconsidered, choosing to help war refugees.

The most needed items for Ukrainians now are food, medicine, blankets, toiletries, and diapers, he said.

Gallagher depends on donations for these crucial items, he said. All the money he collects from his church’s donation page goes toward buying supplies for the needy in Ukraine.

When David arrived at the Romanian border, a long line of Ukrainian refugees stretched for miles, he said. While some waited in cars, many others were on foot in the freezing sleet.

The refugees wore winter coats, but often carried little else, David said.

According to Gallagher, the vast majority of refugees are women and children. Ukraine isn’t allowing men from 18 to 60 years old to leave unless they have at least three children. Many Ukrainians are hoping against hope for the war to end soon.

ESTATE OF GRACIELA O. PEREZ
Case NO. PRPB22-00033

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate or both of GRACIELA O. PEREZ.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by: WENDY GONZALES in the Superior Court of California, County of: Yuba

The Petition for Probate requests that (name): WENDY GONZALES be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: April 11, 2022 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 4 located at Superior Court of California, County of Yuba, 215 5th Street Ste. 200 Marysville, CA 95901.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58 (b) of the California Probate code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California Law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

COMBINED NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICENT IMPACT AND INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS

March 25, 2022
Yuba County Community Development Dept.
915 8th Street, Suite 123
Marysville, CA 95901
(530) 759-5430

This Notice shall satisfy the above-cited two separate but related procedural notification requirements.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

On or about March 25, 2022, Yuba County will submit a request to the State of California, Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) for the release of Community Development Block Grant Disaster Recovery Multifamily Housing Program funds (CDBG DR-MHP) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL93-383), as amended, to undertake a program known as The County of Yuba - Prosperity Village Rehabilitation Project. During the project period of approx. 5/1/2022 through 11/1/2023 the Prosperity Village Rehabilitation Project will utilize CDBG DR-MHP funds, in the amount of $1,666,091, for the purpose of providing financing for the rehabilitation of a 62-unit apartment complex, formerly known as the Travel Inn and Suites, into permanent affordable rental units. The Area of Consideration for this project is the unincorporated area of the County of Yuba, CA.

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

The activity proposed is categorically excluded and subject to the National Environmental Policy Act requirements under U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development regulation at 24 CFR 58.35 (a) and subject to laws and authorities at §58.5: (a)(3)(iii)(3) Rehabilitation of buildings and improvements when the following conditions are met; (ii) In the case of multifamily residential buildings: (A) Unit density is not changed more than 20 percent (B) The project does not involve changes in land use from residential to non-residential; and (C) The estimated cost of rehabilitation is less than 75 percent of the total estimated cost of replacement after rehabilitation. The County of Yuba has determined that the project will have no significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) is not required. Additional project information is contained in the Environmental Review Record (ER) on file at the Yuba County Community Development and Services Agency (CDSA) at 915 8th Street, Suite 123, Marysville, CA and may be examined or copied weekdays 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 pm.

PUBLIC COMMENTS

Any individual, group, or agency may submit written comments on the ER to Mike Lee, in his capacity as Director of Community Development and Services Agency, 915 8th Street, Suite 123, Marysville CA 95901. All comments received by April 9, 2022 will be considered by the County of Yuba Community Development and Services Agency prior to authorizing submission of a request for release of funds. Commenters should specify which part of this Notice they are addressing.

ENVIRONMENTAL CERTIFICATION

The County of Yuba certifies to the HCD that Mike Lee, in his capacity as Director of Community Development and Services Agency, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to the environmental review process and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The State approval of the certification satisfies its responsibilities under NEPA and related laws and authorities, and allows the County of Yuba to use Project funds.

OBJECTIONS TO RELEASE OF FUNDS

The State will consider objections to its release of funds and the County of Yuba's environmental certification, received by April 9, 2022, or a period of fifteen days from its receipt of the request only if they are on one of the following bases: (a) the certification was not executed by the Certifying Officer or other officer of the County approved by the State; (b) the County has omitted a step or failed to make a decision of finding required by HUD regulations at 24 CFR Part 58; (c) the grant recipient or other participants in the project have committed funds or incurred costs not authorized by 24 CFR Part 58 before approval of a release of funds by the State; or (d) another Federal agency acting pursuant to 40 CFR Part 1504 has submitted a written finding that the project is unsatisfactory from the standpoint of environmental quality. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedures (24 CFR Part 58) and shall be addressed to the California Department of Housing and Community Development, Contract Management Section, P.O. Box 95254, Sacramento, CA 94252-2054. Potential objectors should contact HCD to verify the actual last day of the objection period.

Said sale will

However, prepayment premiums, accrued interest and advances will increase this figure prior to sale. Beneficiary's bid at said sale may include all or part of said amount. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept a cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the California Financial Code and authorized to do business in California, or other such funds as may be acceptable to the Trustee. The property offered for sale excludes all funds held on account by the property receiver, if applicable. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Notice to Potential

Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Nationwide Posting & Publication at 916.939.0772 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Website www.nationwideposting.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA07000780-21-1. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Notice to Tenant NOTICE TO TENANT FOR FORECLOSURES AFTER JANUARY 1, 2021 You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916.939.0772, or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case CA07000780-21-1 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
