California Mask Mandate for Schools to End

Ending the mask mandate in schools comes almost exactly two years after the state first shut down schools in many districts in March 2020. Photo courtesy Pixabay

By Joe Hong, CalMatters.org

All students and staff, regardless of vaccination status, will no longer be required to wear a mask indoors at schools and childcare facilities starting March 12.

Gov. Gavin Newsom and California state health officials issued the order on Monday, nearly a month after they lifted the mandate for vaccinated people gathering in restaurants and other indoor spaces.

"This feels like the right time," said Dr. Mark Ghaly, California secretary of Health and Human Services. "I've been pleased with how the data has come down, and it is the right time to transition from the requirement to a strong recommendation."

Ghaly said on Feb. 14 that he would provide updated guidance for schools as early as Monday, depending on the public health data. In the past two weeks COVID-19 case rates dropped by two-thirds and hospitalizations, both adult and pediatric, were cut in half.

Ghaly also said he expects rates to decline further during these final two weeks of the school mask mandate. By March 12, California's COVID-19 metrics should resemble those in states like New York and Connecticut that have already started allowing students and school staff to unmask indoors. California parents, however, say they want the mask mandate gone now.

"I think the masks should be optional tomorrow on March 1st," said Megan Bacigalupi, an Oakland parent who leads the group CA Parent Power. "I don't understand the rationale of a further delay of another two weeks."

Ending the mask mandate in schools comes almost exactly two years after the state first shut down schools in many districts in March 2020. Parents and students across California have been demanding the step be taken sooner. A handful of districts across California already lifted their mask mandates.

"It seems like politics and the (California Teachers Association) are holding up my son's chance of getting back to a normal school year," said Scott Davison, a San Diego County parent. "I'm frustrated. I should be happier, but we've been fighting for months."

But a recent poll found that 61% of parents with school-age children support school mask mandates. Lisa Gardiner, a spokesperson for the California Teachers Association,

Kiley Responds to Newsom Extending School Mask Mandate

Office of Assemblyman
Kevin Kiley

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Assemblyman Kevin Kiley (R-Rocklin) released the following statement in response to Governor Newsom's announcement that the statewide school mask mandate will continue until March 12, 2022:

"There is absolutely no basis for continuing the statewide school mask mandate another day. That's why almost every other state has moved on. Rather than finally acknowledge evidence and common sense, the Governor has chosen to give California kids another two weeks of pointless misery."

"This is the same Governor who kept schools closed longer than any state in the country. It's the same Governor who tried to stop students from enrolling in high-performing charter schools soon after COVID began. Young people in California will pay a lasting price for Gavin Newsom's indecent school policies."

"It's no wonder that dozens of school districts across the state have completely tuned the Governor out. They are doing what is right for their kids."

"The Governor is also refusing to give up his emergency powers and continuing the State of Emergency in violation of the plain text of the Emergency Services Act. The Legislature must act to stop this lawlessness, end the emergency, and let the people of California move on with their lives."

While California students wait until March 12, one day ago Gov. Kathy Hochel of New York announced that students would no longer need to mask starting Wednesday, March 2. ★

Time to Tickle Your Funny Bone

Yuba Sutter Arts and Culture

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Do you remember the comedy show "Tickle Your Funny Bone" at the Burrows Theater on Marysville back in January of 2020? Those were the good old pre-COVID days. The show was a sell out and if you were lucky enough to have gotten a ticket you know it was a fun-filled night of great entertainment.

Comedy shows are here to stay thanks to Stoney Meagher and Blue Dream Productions. Stoney has kept local audiences rolling in the aisles at a variety of local venues, but this will be his first main stage comedy show at the Sutter Theater Center for the Arts in Yuba City.

The show will feature seven different comedians including headliner Johnny Taylor. Johnny is an American stand-up comedian, writer, actor, and podcaster from Sacramento. He has released two comedy albums and a charity single on Stand Up! Records.

His debut, 2014's Tangled Up in Plaid, reached No. 7 on the iTunes comedy chart. His 2018 follow up album and video Bummin' with the Devil reached

No. 1 on both the Amazon and iTunes comedy charts. Rounding out the talent line up are comedians Sinn Rella, Sam Mallett, JayC, Dillon Collins, Rudy G and Stoney Meagher, aka Brothers of Other Mothers.

"Comedy is wide open as far as topics the comedians work with including politics, people, relationships and everyday situations," said Stoney. "I love to find the right comics with the right material for each venue and give the audience a great experience," he added.

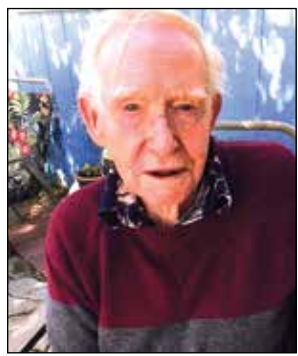

The show at the Sutter Theater will be a step up with some comedians not seen locally, but who are part of the Sacramento to Chico comedy circuit. Often the performances are as therapeutic for the comedians as they are for the audience. The shows can be a real stress reliever for all involved.

Prophecy Fulfilled

Commentary
by Dick Marquette

About seventy five years ago...somewhere on the back streets of Honolulu...I was having my "Fortune Told"...no kiddin! By a real honest to gosh gypsy woman!

She had motioned my buddy's and me to a dimly lit stairway squeezed tightly between a large pool hall and bar. We wanted to do the whole town...everything.

Although a bit apprehensive about "Stairway Prophecies", I was intrigued by the green and red gaily dressed woman with her rings of silver, painted face and the ever present "Tarot Deck" she fingered with expertise. The scene took me back a few years.

As a child in the 30's I had witnessed the bands of gypsies that came through town in wagons and later cars. They used "tarot cards" which there is no origin that can be established beyond a doubt. I knew there were 78 cards in a tarot deck. My mother had a deck and could tell fortunes by them...but that too was long ago.

At any rate I was given "my fortune" for two dollars which I figured could go towards a down payment on a crystal ball, which any self-respecting gypsy should have. I was told that "this night will be remembered for the rest of your life and you will soon receive bad news!" I shucked it all off as fun and entertainment with a cold deck (stacked). As the evening wore on we met a navy nurse and a wave out to one of the finer restaurants and then night clubbing. Later we became sorta disoriented down town and one of the girls started climbing one of the street lights to see where we were. She said it was like climbing a mast aboard ship to look for land! That was when all the women wore dresses too! Somehow we got back to our ships and it was a night I would never forget.

What happened the next day was even more surprising? I received a telegram from the States saying there was a death in the family...a strange prophecy!

But, one of the oldest prophecies in our nation came about as a result of the Battle of Tippecanoe, which was fought on November 7, 1811 just outside of the city of Lafayette, Indiana. The Chief of the Shawnee Nation was then Chief Tecumseh. When Tecumseh was away to Canada, William Henry Harrison led his troops into the Indian Territory resulting in the bloody, but almost meaningless battles of Tippecanoe. It was in the year 1813 that newly appointed supreme commander of the Army of the Northwest, Harrison sought out and killed Tecumseh at the Canadian Battle of the Thames. His reputation as an Indian fighter and hero was solidified.

Chief Tecumseh's own brother was the medicine man and religious rites person and was known as the "prophet" of the people. He was a one eyed brilliant Indian who was a self taught astrologer with accurate predictions that was a source of advice to the entire Shawnee Nation. It was the prophet's cave (still in existence today) that is a result of the Battle of Tippecanoe. An incredible curse was put on the white man. The prophet's curse was directed at U.S. leaders. In 1820 the prophecy found his promise in the stars, Jupiter and Saturn, as they are now known, in conjunction. He conceived the curse and prophesied that the next two stars met and for 150 years thereafter at the meeting of these two stars or conjunctions, the U.S. Leader would die while leading his people just as his brother had died while Chief of the Shawnee.

- In 1840 none other than William Henry Harrison was elected President he was dead one month after entering office.
- In 1860 the two stars were again in conjunction and Abraham Lincoln became President and died by an assassin's bullet.
- In 1880 again the stars were aligned and James A. Garfield was slain in office by Charles J. Guiltreau.
- In 1900 William McKinley, the newly elected President was slain by an anarchist Leon Czolgoszon on September 14, 1901.
- In 1920 Warren G. Harding was elected and died in office of mysterious causes.
- In 1940 Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected and died in office in 1945.
- In 1960 John F. Kennedy was elected and was assassinated. John F. Kennedy has written a letter regarding the curse. Which was donated to the Library of Presidential Papers.
- 150 years have since elapsed according to prophet's curse and research in several universities which specialized in old western and Indian affairs for post graduate studies, the curse is fulfilled.

What about me? Years ago I was given a container of "Joss Sticks" from the old Chinese Joss House so today (which was 25 years ago) I drew number 59 and this is what it said, A lucky number every time for one who draws fifty-nine.

My fortune: You're too easy with your friends, curb yourself and do not loan or else they'll soon have all the meat and leave you but a bone! Within a month you will hear of something of importance. (Tax Refund). You will get your wish.

denied the accusation from some parents that teachers unions delayed the lifting of the mask mandate.

“The Governor’s office engaged all school stakeholders in the conversation around a safe transition for schools-management and labor,” Gardiner wrote in a text message on Monday. “Our approach has always been grounded in science. Those who are trying to vilify educators right now want this to be about politics rather than safety and science.”

CTA president E. Toby Boyd said he supports the “optimism of Gov. Gavin Newsom and CDPH officials that declining COVID-19 cases hospitalizations allow us to see light at the end of the pandemic tunnel.” But Boyd also acknowledged that many students might not feel ready to unmask at school.

Andrew Noymer, a public health professor at the University of California, Irvine, says it’s too early to lift the mask mandate, especially because it remains unclear what thresholds the state hopes to reach by March 12.

“I can only say that the COVID rates are too high now,” he said. “But I’m not in favor of a future in which kids always go to school with masks.”

The state’s decision and timeline for making masks optional in schools arrives just days after the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention revised federal guidance on masking in schools. CDC experts said counties showing positive trends in COVID-19 cases and hospitalization rates do not need to require masking in most indoor spaces, including schools.

“I think California’s approach is smarter to treat schools differently because students for the time being have much lower vaccination rates than other demographics,” Noymer said.

In Monday’s announcement, state officials said local school districts will be able to have stricter masking rules than the state order.

San Diego Unified, the second largest district in the state, will continue enforcing its indoor mask mandate, according to school board president Richard Barrera.

“San Diego County is still in the high-risk tier, even under the CDC’s new system,” Barrera said. “When we move into the moderate-risk tier, then we’ll reassess.”

Districts like Oakland Unified and Los Angeles Unified required masking outdoors even after the state made the practice optional. Los Angeles got rid of its outdoor mask mandate last week. Officials from both districts have not yet responded to questions about how they will adjust their rules starting March 12.

State officials also said on Monday that the indoor mask mandate for unvaccinated adults will be lifted starting March 1. Masks will still be required in “high transmission settings” like public transit, emergency shelters, health care settings, correctional facilities, homeless shelters and long-term care facilities. ★

How California Mistreated its Working Families

By Dan Walters
CALMatters.org

Democratic politicians frequently and vehemently express their admiration for and support of what they call “working families,” while contending that rival Republicans lack such empathy.

Despite that political posture, the Democratic governor of California, with the implicit support of a Democrat-dominated Legislature, has imposed unnecessary misery on those they purport to value, as a new report from the Legislature’s budget analyst confirms.

When COVID-19 struck California two years ago, Gov. Gavin Newsom declared a state of emergency and ordered closure of large segments of the state’s economy to battle its spread. Almost immediately, more than two million workers were laid off as their employers complied with the orders and most applied for unemployment insurance benefits to keep themselves and their families housed and fed.

Whether the closures and resulting layoffs were justified, in terms of their pandemic-fighting effects, will be endlessly debated. Regardless, they happened and having lost their jobs by executive decree, the suddenly idled workers’ claims for benefits deserved rapid and accurate processing by Newsom’s Employment Development Department.

Instead, EDD’s pandemic operations rapidly devolved into a bureaucratic Chernobyl with immense and prolonged backlogs of claims, unresponsive handling of claimants’ inquiries, rampant fraud and, as the new report details, botched anti-fraud practices that blocked payments to those with legitimate claims.

The state’s oversight agencies, particularly the state auditor’s office, have steadfastly catalogued EDD’s shortcomings and the latest report, focusing on about $20 billion in fraudulent payments and EDD’s measures to battle it, comes from the Legislative Analyst’s Office.

What emerges is a tale of an agency repeatedly failing to act when necessary and then overreacting as it tries to correct its previous errors.

Embarrassed by the revelations of fraud, mostly involving special federal jobless benefits, EDD’s managers went overboard in adopting anti-fraud policies, thus denying benefits to many legitimate and qualified claimants, the LAO report declares.

At one point, it says, “EDD and (and an outside contractor) identified 1.1 million claims as potentially fraudulent. EDD stopped payments for these claims. Workers were not notified ahead of time. To reopen their accounts, workers had to verify their identity using ID.me or their accounts would be closed permanently. Ultimately, more than half of the claims (600,000) flagged as fraudulent were confirmed as legitimate.”

Thus, the “working families” that Democrats profess to treasure have been doubly and triply mistreated.

Newsom’s proposed 2022-23 budget contains funds for six contracts by outside vendors to prevent future fraud, in addition to 13 other fraud-related contracts and the LAO report questions “whether additional anti-fraud efforts are warranted at this time.”

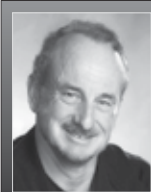

“Moving forward at this time with new, additional layers of fraud protection also would move the department further out of balance by again prioritizing fraud elimination at the expense of prompt and straightforward payments,” the report states.

One of the most irritating things about the EDD’s incredibly bad performance over the last two years is that its political overseers had plenty of warning. During the previous recession that began in 2007, the department experienced great difficulty in handling a surge of unemployment insurance claims because of antiquated tools and procedures.

However, once that recession ended, the agency reverted to its customary ministerial role and no one — in particular Newsom’s predecessor, Jerry Brown — took the proactive step of improving EDD’s capabilities before the next recession hit.

Thus, when it did hit in 2020 by Newsom’s decree, the department was overwhelmed and the shortcomings revealed in the previous recession were magnified. It’s another reminder of government’s endemic inability to look ahead and plan ahead.

War on Interest Rates

The markets continue to remain volatile, with a current downward bias being prominent since the start of the year.

Investors are likely experiencing the rare but excruciating pain of seeing balances continuing to erode, seemingly in an endless daily parade of red numbers and dropping balances appearing on their investment screens.

Much of this many say is the fault of policy makers, both in addressing the CoVid crisis and the massive amount of money creation given out to consumers and businesses alike to address it.

I would say much of what we are seeing now in the markets is not the fault of any one person but the fault of many.

This analyst has always maintained the position that the CoVid virus could not be stopped, that shutdowns did nothing but destroy many businesses and livelihoods, and that shutdowns actually prolonged the crisis by allowing a longer virus survival time which in the end caused more mutations. So far, at least on the surface, that statement seems correct.

That said, others claim shutdowns helped limit the damage that would have been much worse had we not had them. They use science as their argument. Detractors claim the scientists have been wrong so many times during the crisis that they are not to be believed.

It’s impossible to go back in time and take the opposite route we took, and then compare the results side by side. What we can discern is that the current events certainly don’t confirm the decisions world governments made were the correct ones.

the Feds will raise interest rates. The Feds have indicated that they are very concerned about the rate of inflation and will start to raise interest rates as soon as this March. Uncharacteristically, they have indicated that at least a one percent increase will be accomplished by a quick succession of smaller increases. Following the markets for as long as I have, the fact that they have mentioned one percent as a minimum should be taken seriously.

Should investors be worried? Obviously the continued erosion since the start of the year has taken a big bite out of the markets.

The markets however, historically, can on occasion, act positively to a rate increase period, once the increases are underway.

From KENSHO STATS, and as mentioned on CNBC, looking at six periods of rate increases since 1988, the results from the start of the interest rate increases event until the increases stopped, information technology stocks gained 47%, consumer discretionary (luxury nonessential items) were up 31%, financials were up 30%, industrials were up 29% and materials went up 27%.

What this indicates is that although rate increases by the Fed are initially taken very seriously by investors (there have been many instances where rate increases have initially hammered stocks) there is some historical precedent that may give some hope to investors that are now running scared.

Rate increases can lead to a rising stock market once the stigma of a rate increase has passed.

As for the Russian crisis?

In my opinion, it’s likely a nonevent, although it is moving the markets at this time.

Investors should focus more on the interest rate event, which may eventually have a positive effect on the economy and therefore the markets.

Congressman LaMalfa’s Statement on Russia’s Invasion of Ukraine

From the Office of Congressman Doug LaMalfa

WASHINGTON, D.C. (MPG) - Russia officially invaded Ukraine after months of amassing an estimated 150,000 – 190,000 troops and artillery at Ukraine’s northern, southern and eastern borders. Russia has previously demanded the U.S. and NATO bar Ukraine from joining the military alliance and pull back troops from Eastern European member states. The United States first began supplying weapons to Ukraine after the Russian annexation of Crimea in 2014. Congressman Doug LaMalfa (R – Richvale) made the following statement after the invasion:

“Partisanship needs to end at the water’s edge. America is stronger when we pull together in support of our republic. Today’s Russian invasion of Ukraine is partially the result of American weakness on the foreign stage and fallout of a flawed withdrawal in Afghanistan. Domestically, we must address our failing leadership that contributed to this crisis. America’s credibility on the world stage depends on our commitment to our principles and our allies. Internationally, I can support the Biden Administration’s plan to offer Lend/Lease advanced military aid to Ukraine to defend itself from a Russian invasion. I cannot support sending American troops in harm’s way. Giving the Ukrainians the military tools needed to defend their country is in America’s best interest. With our technological aid they can make this invasion extremely painful for Russia and hopefully prevail.”

“Further, immediate and crippling sanctions must be placed on all Russian industry, military leaders, and oligarchs. We should use our economic might to freeze their accounts and make Russian leadership feel true economic pain. A major shift in domestic policy has to accompany this foreign policy action. Biden’s appeasement of Russia on the Nord Stream 2 pipeline has given Russia power over our allies in Western Europe. We must pursue a full domestic oil production policy including new pipelines. America has the largest untapped oil supplies in the world and now is the time to use them to avert escalating international danger. We must have the capacity to export LNG (liquified natural gas) to our European allies to remove Russian threats to cut off their energy sources. We need to produce oil in such vast quantities that prices drop, robbing Russia of their primary economic driver. High oil prices hurt American consumers but also directly finance both Russian and Iranian aggression. This must be accompanied by returning to Trump era regulations that produce vibrant and strong economic activity. An economically powerful America has more diplomatic tools to stop both Russian and Chinese aggression.”

Hit-and-Run Driver Arrested for Collision with Pedestrian

Yuba City Police Department

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - On February 22, 2022, at around 10:50 pm Yuba City police officers, as well as personnel from Bi-County Ambulance and Yuba City Fire, responded to a vehicle versus a pedestrian collision at the intersection of Bridge Street and Plumas Street. When officers arrived on scene, they learned the driver of the vehicle had fled the scene without offering aid to the pedestrian. The pedestrian was provided initial care from paramedics and was transported to Adventist Rideout for additional treatment. The pedestrian sustained major, but non-life-threatening injuries.

A witness to the collision remained on scene and provided Yuba City police officers a vehicle description and description of the driver. Police officers broadcast the information of the vehicle to neighboring agencies, and the vehicle was spotted by a Sutter County Deputy in the 3000 block of Walton Avenue. Yuba City police officers responded to Walton Avenue, and with the assistance from the Sutter County Sheriff Department, ultimately found the driver of the vehicle. She was identified as 25-year-old Rachel Medlin from Grass Valley. Medlin was determined to be under the influence of illegal narcotics. She was arrested for hit-and-run causing injury, driving under the influence causing injury, and driving without a license. She was booked into the Sutter County Jail. The investigation is still on-going regarding the collision and is being investigated by the Yuba City Police Department’s traffic unit. ★

California’s Constitutional Right to Fish by Francis Coats and Karrigan Bork

Submitted by Francis Coats

The Lewis and Clark Law School Environmental Law journal has published an article by local retired attorney Francis Coats and University of California, Davis Law School professor Karrigan Bork on California’s Constitutional Right to Fish, section 25 article I of the California Constitution, which provides for a constitutional right to fish on state-owned land and on land formerly state-owned and sold or transferred after November 8, 1910. The article sees the “right to fish” provided as the right to enter upon and use land, not a prohibition on state regulation of time of day, tackle, bag limits and license requirements.

The section was adopted by popular vote in 1910, and since that time practically all state school and indemnity lands (lands given the state by the federal government to subsidize education) sold by the state has had an express reservation of the absolute right to fish in the people on the land being transferred printed in the grant. Today, the state claims to be unable to identify the lands subject to this burden. However, from 1915 until at least the early 1930’s the state published lists of state school and indemnity lands subject to sale or lease; and, today these lands are either still owned by the state or subject to the express reservation of fishing rights. These lists are available from the California State Library. In addition, since 1921, school and indemnity lands sold have been subject to a reservation of mineral interests in the state. The state seems to keep good track of these interests as they present income or potential income. Any list of state mineral interests is effectively a list of state lands or former state lands subject to fishing rights, from 1921 forward.

The lands subject to the obligation to reserve fishing rights applies to all state-owned lands, not merely those on navigable water or even only those with fishable water.

As for lands not expressly subject to fishing rights because the state and its grantees did not provide for them expressly, it is likely that the transfers are void, with the land still belonging to the state; or, that the reservation is effective by operation of law even though it does not appear in the granting document.

In addition, in California local agencies are considered mere extensions of the state and land held by a local agency is state-owned.

The entire article may be found at law.lclark.edu/law_reviews/environmental_law/

Documentary “COVIDLAND - The Lockdown” Featured at FRTPP

By Larry Virga, Feather River Tea Party Patriots

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - The Feather River Tea Party Patriots announced they will show the documentary “COVIDLAND - The Lockdown,” an Infowars Original Series – Episode 1, at their next meeting, Monday, March 7, 2022.

If you really are serious about knowing how to restore the Republic and your freedom, you need to put some effort into knowing how our freedoms are being robbed from us by fraud, lack of full disclosure, deception, threat, duress, coercion, and intimidation every day of our lives and have been for over 100 years by the criminals who have hijacked our government, wealth, and heritage for their own gain and evil intentions.

On March 11, 2020, the World Health Organization (WHO) declared a pandemic under the pretense of a novel coronavirus that falsely claimed had a death rate of 3.4%. More than 190 member countries of the WHO imposed lockdowns, putting most of the global population under strict martial law. Unscientific lockdowns proved to be a lucrative business model for the global elite, expanding their wealth by $5 trillion dollars and adding one new billionaire every 17 hours throughout the year. Meanwhile, the World Bank says that as many as 124 million people went into “extreme poverty,” the first time to increase in decades. Were lockdowns justified? The official data for 2020 does not show a statistically relevant increase in aggregate deaths. Instead, the global population increased by 1.05%! This first episode of the Covidland series, The Lockdown, exposes the fraud behind the COVID numbers and explores the economic repercussions and human cost of lockdowns that will echo for generations.

Everyone is welcome. There is no membership requirement and no cost to attend. The meeting starts at 6:30 p.m. at Crossroads Community Church, 445 B Street, Yuba City. Doors open at 6 p.m. Come early to socialize with like-minded patriots, enjoy the refreshments, and get a good seat.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF STEPHEN MILLER Case NO. PRPB22-00023

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate or both of Stephen Miller.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by: Richard Rawlinson in the Superior Court of California, County of: Yuba

The Petition for Probate requests that (name): Richard Rawlinson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: March 21, 2022 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 4 located at Superior Court of California, County of Yuba, 215 5th Street Ste. 200 Marysville, CA 95901.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58 (b) of the California Probate code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California Law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 6734 HELEEN BART COURT, BROWNS VALLEY, CA 95918 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The property offered for sale excludes all funds held on account by the property receiver, if applicable. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Nationwide Posting & Publication at 916.939.0772 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Website address www.nationwideposting.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA07000092-21-1.
