Keeping It Going

California is still in a State of Emergency?

Gov. Gavin Newsom discusses the next phase of the state's COVID-19 response at a press conference in Fontana on Feb. 17, 2022. The press conference took place in one of many warehouses where PPE supplies are stored. Photo by Alisha Jucevic for CalMatters

By Alexei Koseff, CALMatters.org

For weeks, Gov. Gavin Newsom teased that California would soon enter a new phase of its response to the coronavirus pandemic, one in which the state shifted its perspective to how to deal with an endemic disease that will likely be a regular part of our lives.

But when that moment arrived Thursday, (February 17) Newsom made clear that the new strategy did not mean the fight was over. His long-awaited announcement came with no eulogy to the pandemic, no lifting of additional health restrictions and, despite growing calls from conservative critics, no end to the state of emergency that began nearly two years ago.

During a press conference at a San Bernardino County warehouse where his administration stores personal protective equipment, Newsom said early rhetoric envisioning a war against the virus was misguided. He could not offer a final destination for the battle, he said, only a direction in which the state would keep moving.

"We have all come to understand what was not understood at the beginning of this crisis – that there is not an end date, that there is not a moment where we declare victory," Newsom said.

What Californians did get from the governor was an acronym, SMARTER, for the state's priorities as it prepares for a future that may include more variants and surges.

It's a reflection of the tricky political dance awaiting Newsom as people increasingly seem done with a virus that is not yet done with them.

A poll released this week by the Los Angeles Times and the UC Berkeley Institute of Governmental Studies found that, by a margin of two to one, California voters believe the coronavirus situation is improving.

Yet even as the rate of new cases has fallen precipitously from the peak of the omicron surge, down about 90% from a month ago, it is still at roughly the same level as the height of the delta wave last summer.

Clean Projects to Beautify Public Spaces

By Kevin Murphy, Caltrans

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - As part of Gov. Gavin Newsom's landmark $1.1 billion Clean California initiative, Caltrans is awarding $312 million for 126 beautification projects along the state highway system – including seven in District 3 in Butte, Glenn, Sacramento, and Yuba counties.

Designed to foster cultural connections and civic pride, the projects are expected to generate 3,600 jobs as part of the multiyear initiative led by Caltrans to remove trash and beautify community gateways and public areas along highways, streets, and roads while creating thousands of jobs for Californians. 98 percent of the projects will benefit historically underserved or excluded communities.

"Caltrans partnered with communities throughout California to identify and develop projects that meet the specific needs of each individual region while also enhancing and beautifying public spaces," said Caltrans Director Toks Omishakin. "By working together, we are better able to restore public pride in our communities and help change the habits that create litter in the first place."

Developed in close collaboration with tribal and local governments, non-profits and businesses, the 126 state beautification projects include art installations, green space, and proposals that improve safety and promote community connections. Construction on initial projects begins in April 2022. A full list of projects can be found here.

Governor Newsom made the announcement on Friday in San Francisco, at the site of a Clean California project that will include a tree nursery, dog park, and other features.

Projects located in District 3 include:

- Downtown Sacramento Landmarks Project (City of Sacramento/ Sacramento County): This $5.8 million project will improve and upgrade sections of Interstate 5 (I-5) and State Route 51 (Business 80) including the "Boat Section" of I-5 between Capitol Mall and U Street and the "Marconi Curve" on Business 80 at Marconi Avenue. Enhancements will include the installation of materials with aesthetic designs, public art, and fencing. The estimated start date is October 2022 with an expected completion date of September 2023.

Mick himself has said, "This is my dream band; a group of gifted musicians I have long admired and never thought I would be able to assemble into a band. And, man, do we have a great time when we play." And so does the audience. As Bill Champlin, long time member of the band Chicago has said, "There are harmonica players who play music and musicians who play harmonica. Mick is in the latter category."

Sheriff Scott Jones Signs the Taxpayer Protection Pledge

Scott Jones

Sheriff Scott Jones for US Congress

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County Sheriff Scott Jones announced that he signed Americans for Tax Reform's "Taxpayer Protection Pledge," a pledge to oppose all new tax increases when elected to Congress. "As Sheriff, I took a solemn pledge to protect and serve my community. It is with that same commitment that I sign the Taxpayer Protection Pledge to oppose all tax increases. Especially at a time with record high inflation, Americans, and especially Californians, are overtaxed and are often an afterthought when Congress decides where to spend their hard-earned tax dollars. I firmly believe that Americans should keep more of their own money, not send more and more to Washington politicians who continue to spend with impunity," said Sheriff Jones. Sheriff Jones accomplished a strong record of leadership at the Sacramento County Sheriff's Office, stewarding the Department's recovery from the worst financial crisis of its history, becoming a regional leader in the fight against gangs, and hiring a record number of women, minorities, and veterans. As one of the foremost experts on law enforcement in California, Sheriff Jones has been an advocate for investing in public safety and a vocal opponent of the 'Defund the Improvements include creating dry creek beds and rock outcroppings, adding non-irrigated plants, and installing transportation art and sculptures. The estimated start date is May 2022 with an expected completion date of June 2023.

- Marysville On-ramp Beautification Project (City of Marysville/Yuba County): This project will improve and upgrade the southbound on-ramp of SR-70 from 1st Street and F Street. The estimated start date is July 2022 with an expected completion date of December 2022.

- Orland Interchange Beautification Project (City of Orland/Glenn County): This $2.7 million project will improve and upgrade the I-5 and State Route 32 interchange. Enhancements will include sculpture artwork, slope paving, and the installation of inert landscape materials. The estimated start date is July 2022 with an expected completion date of December 2022.

In addition to these awards for Clean California projects along the state right-of-way, the Governor in December announced the availability of almost $300 million in grants to cities and counties for local projects that will clean and beautify neighborhood streets, parks, and transit centers throughout California. Caltrans will review the project proposals from cities, counties, transit agencies, tribal governments, and other governmental entities and announce grant recipients on March 1. The Governor's California Blueprint proposes an additional $100 million to fund additional local Clean California grants.

Over three years, Clean California will remove an additional 1.2 million cubic yards, or 21,000 tons, of trash from the state system alone – enough to fill the Rose Bowl three times over. The initiative has already resulted in 6,300 tons of litter removed from the State Highway System and, to date, Caltrans has hired 528 new team members, including 428 maintenance workers who collect litter and perform maintenance duties like graffiti removal. ★

Marysville Police Department Press Release

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - A suspect has been arrested for allegedly making criminal threats involving hate speech. The suspect has been identified as 53-year-old Todd Andrew Tyler of Browns Valley, CA. On February 20, 2022, Marysville Police Officer(s) took a report from two victims. The victims are coaches for the Marysville Joint Unified School District. By Dan Flores, City of Marysville MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - A large fire occurring in October 2020 at the Hollywood Trailer Park was the catalyst to transform the notorious homeless “camp” into a beautiful flower garden for all community members to enjoy. It has not been a project without challenges though, but a partnership of community organizations and individuals persevered to a stunning outcome.

The fire left behind significant hazardous materials and burned vegetation but resources from the Yuba Water Agency, Yuba County, Recology and the City of Marysville, along with a band of community members, joined forces to clean up and beautify the area. The project was led by Marysville Fire Chief Ron Karlen, firefighters from the Marysville Fire Department and City Councilmember Dominique Belza.

With seed materials and expertise donated by Botanica Landscape, the group transformed the area into a clean and usable space. The ground was prepared for planting on the two plots at the entrance to where the trailer park had previously been. The seeds were planted, along with the plan for local rains to provide germination and watering for spring blooms in 2021. When Mother Nature didn't cooperate with the needed rains, water was brought in to coax their growth. Unfortunately though, the blooms didn't appear.

The seeds had laid dormant and with the bountiful rains in late October and November of 2021, the seed life process began. The unseasonably warm days we've experienced this month has caused the seeds to sprout into a beautiful botanical garden.

“You can only grasp the magnitude in person as you look out over the garden and see its beauty,” Chief Karlen stated. “This is a Beauty and the Beast story. We took a problem area, cleaned it up, transformed it and now the community can safely enjoy the riverfront area in all its splendor,” he continued.

As a special kickoff, the City of Marysville invites local photographers and the community to experience this beautiful transformation and take photos among the blooming wildflowers.

The levee gate will be open from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. this Saturday, February 19th as the City of Marysville shares this experience with the community. ★

“We are moving past the crisis phase into a phase where we will work to live with this virus and we will maintain a readiness posture,” Newsom said.

While he overwhelmingly beat back a recall last year by leaning on his forceful response to the pandemic, enthusiasm appears to be waning for the governor’s approach. The L.A. Times poll found voters were nearly evenly split on his handling of the coronavirus, with 39% of respondents giving Newsom excellent or good marks and 40% giving him a poor or very poor rating.

That tension is concentrated in a fight over the state of emergency that Newsom declared on March 4, 2020, giving his administration broader authority to address the pandemic. He has issued dozens of executive orders under those powers, some of which remain in effect.

Earlier Thursday, before Newsom rolled out his plan, state Senate President Pro Tem Toni Atkins announced that a Senate committee would consider a resolution to end the state of emergency at a hearing on March 15.

Republican legislators gloated. They point to the ongoing emergency as a symbol of what they regard as Newsom’s overbearing and dictatorial approach to the pandemic. In recent weeks, they have repeatedly and unsuccessfully tried to bring up the resolution, which has sat on the shelf for more than a year, for a vote on the Senate floor.

“It’s been 715 DAYS since Newsom began his one-man rule. He has completely side stepped the checks and balances put in place to bring accountability to government,” Senate Republican Leader Scott Wilk of Lancaster tweeted Thursday. “It’s time to bring an end to this madness.”

But their effort is unlikely to go far. In the same statement announcing the hearing, Atkins, a San Diego Democrat, defended Newsom’s emergency powers, noting that many states of emergency in California for wildfires and other natural disasters continue for years to assist with recovery and seeking federal aid.

A representative for Atkins said the hearing would give Democrats a platform to lay out what the state would lose by ending the emergency and what would not change – namely, a mask mandate for schools that Republicans have railed against, which was issued under a separate public health law.

“I understand we are all tired of living life in an emergency,” Atkins said, “but ending the emergency must be done responsibly to ensure there are no unintended consequences so we can continue to meet the need of our state’s residents in an unpredictable future.”

Dr. Mark Ghaly, Newsom’s secretary of health and human services, made a similar argument in a call with reporters. He said the state continues to rely on emergency orders to manage the coronavirus, including a waiver that let medical facilities staff up with temporary workers during the omicron surge.

The document laying out Newsom’s SMARTER plan pointed to other provisions that have allowed the administration to use state fairgrounds as testing sites and sidestep the normal procurement process to more quickly buy millions of home test kits for schools.

“As we move out of the mindset of an emergency, we need to make sure the tools that help us manage an emergency well are available,” Ghaly said. “These are the tools that have allowed us to protect Californians in quite an incredible way. We are still using them today.”

Newsom did not directly address the criticism over the state of emergency during his press conference. But in an interview with the New York Times, he said “his goal was to unwind the state of emergency as soon as possible.”

Congressman Doug LaMalfa is a fourth-generation rice farmer and lifelong Northern California resident who has served in Congress since 2013, previously served in the California State Senate from 2010-2012, and in the State Assembly from 2002-2010. Congressman LaMalfa currently represents all or part of 11 counties including the counties of Placer, Nevada, Plumas, and Sierra that will be included in the new Congressional District 3, in which Sheriff Scott Jones is running for election.

“Sheriff Scott Jones is hands down the best candidate in the new 3rd Congressional District. He has been a conservative champion taking action to protect individual liberty against government overreach. He’s taken a stand and led the fight against illegal immigration and crime. From pushing back against rioters and ensuring those who break the law are held accountable Sheriff Jones is what we need more of in Congress- someone who fights. I know both Republicans, and I strongly endorse Scott Jones for

CDC Admits PCR Tests Were Used to Harvest People’s DNA Without Consent | 18 Feb 2022 | If you’ve gotten a Covid test, there’s a chance your DNA has been harvested without your consent. Following a worrisome tweet from the CDC on Wednesday, another widely criticized so-called “conspiracy theory” has become reality: Covid-19 PCR tests have been forwarded to laboratories for mapping “genomic sequencing” without consent. The procedure of genomic sequencing is used to examine the genetic makeup of viruses. In summary, if you consented to a PCR nose swab, your genetic material may have been transmitted to a facility outside of the United States and utilized for reasons you were unaware of. The CDC noted in the film “its [PCR tests] being used by scientists all over the world to track the emergence of SARS-CoV-2 variants.”

Sen. Ron Johnson Introduces Bill That Would Block Federal Agencies From Interfering With Doctors’ Right to Treat Patients | 18 Feb 2022 | Republican Wisconsin Sen. Ron Johnson introduced legislation Wednesday that would block federal agencies from interfering with doctors’ rights to treat patients. The Daily Caller first obtained the legislation which was cosponsored by Republican Indiana Sen. Mike Braun and Republican Utah Sen. Mike Lee. The bill is titled the “The Right to Treat Act” and would make it so no federal agency would have the authority to regulate the practice of medicine and that no federal law, rule, regulation, or policy would restrict the distribution of FDA approved drugs or a Right to Try dr-g. Many other countries have experimented with other dr-gs to help prevent or treat COVID-19.

The Great American Patriot Project on Wednesday asked volunteers to contribute, join or support a convoy of truckers slated to travel to Washington D.C. next month. Routes for the convoys will start in Cleveland, Columbus, Ohio and Fresno, California and will end on March 6 in Washington. They will be met by a congressional welcome committee to discuss policy changes, organizers said.

Police horses trample demonstrators at Freedom Convoy protest in Ottawa By Joe Warmington | 18 Feb 2022 | Turns out the lasting image of the Freedom Convoy protest at Parliament Hill will not be bouncy castles but that of a woman with a walker being trampled by a police horse. The violence the Prime Minister has expressed concern about during the three-week protest in Ottawa didn’t unfold until Justin Trudeau’s Emergencies Act police army was sent in to disperse the crowd. The three major incidents Friday, under a form of martial law, were grotesque. Video of Toronto Police Mounted Unit officers charging into the crowd and at least one horse trampling multiple people – including an elderly woman with a walker – was disturbing. But that was not the only troubling incident. Another saw a protester behind a police line repeatedly being smashed with an officer’s rifle. And convoy organizer Benjamin Dichter also told the Toronto Sun “one of drivers had his truck windows smashed by Ottawa Police (with) guns drawn and (he was) dragged out of his vehicle by force.”

Canadian clergy rebuke Trudeau for invoking Emergencies Act, other ‘tyrannical actions’ | 18 Feb 2022 | A group of Canadian clergy sent an open letter to Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau earlier this week rebuking him for invoking the Emergencies Act to quell the Freedom Convoy and for other actions they described as “tyrannical.” “We are writing to you as representative pastors of Christian congregations from across the nation and as law-abiding citizens who respect the God-defined role of civil government and uphold the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the highest law of our land, which recognizes the supremacy of God over all human legislation,” read the letter, which was signed by 29 clergymen and remains open for other Canadians to sign.

New Zealand Threatens to Use Military Against Civilian Anti-Mandate Protesters | 17 Feb 2022 | The New Zealand Defense Force (NZDF) warned Wednesday it was poised to deploy “Defence Force assets” to Wellington to disband an anti-coronavirus vaccine mandate protest near New Zealand’s parliament building after the rally pushed into its ninth consecutive day. “An NZDF spokeswoman said discussions on the possible deployment of Defence Force assets remain ongoing, and no decisions have been made,” New Zealand’s Stuff news site reported on February 16... The New Zealand Police issued an ultimatum to anti-vaccine mandate protesters gathered outside New Zealand’s parliament building on February 15 warning them to move their motor vehicles – many of which are blocking roads around the legislative center as part of the demonstration – or face the towing and seizure of their automobiles. The rally’s participants largely ignored this demand by the police force -- which is controlled by New Zealand’s federal government -- and continued to gather by the hundreds near the parliament building’s grounds on February 16. ★

UC Davis Researchers Discover Gene That May Increase Wheat Yields

Researchers at the University California, Davis, have discovered a new gene variant in wheat that they say can increase grain yields for the essential global staple. According to research published in the journal PLOS Genetics, the gene controls the number of grains in a wheat spike and breeding it can make wheat varieties more productive. That could allow more farmers to grow more wheat without increasing land use.

Citizens Serve Notice to MJUSD and Superintendent

Commentary
by Lou Binninger

Marysville Joint Unified School trustees and Superintendent Fal Asrani were served legal notices and demand by four citizens at the February 8th, 2022 board meeting. The documents are a "Notice of Intent to File Claim Against Government Crime Policy and Fidelity CRDS 04 08 07.

The nine page document outlines numerous violations pertaining to the Superintendent's and the Trustees' oath of office and involving crimes against students and parents. The notice gave the respondents until Wednesday February, 16, 2022 to respond.

If there is no response or an unsatisfactory response then an action will be filed against the school's insurance policy. The total liability to the bondholder is $1,556,000 per claim if the noted demands are not made.

Serving the Notice is a culmination of months of parental displeasure at the decisions and direction of the Board. The document is demanding the following changes:

"Remove any and all obscene material from the school premises including virtual access; Stop coercing all forms of Covid propaganda concerning how dangerous this is to our parents and grandparents; That all children should want to save their lives by getting the vaccine and they can choose for themselves and do not need the consent of their parents to do this; End all vaccine clinics and stop promoting them to children and parents."

"Cease coercion and pushing CRT, transgender, Gay Rights week, demanding children to declare if they are transgender to participate in school activities. Halt the enforcement of policies that require universal masking without the consent of children, teachers, bus drivers, faculty or staff. Halt the enforcement and propaganda of vaccines on children, teachers, bus drivers, faculty or staff."

"Immediate resignation of Superintendent Fal Asrani and all board members that were served intent letters. We'd like to perform an audit with regards to school spending as well as the spending of ESSER funds over the past 2 years."

Those served are charged with Violating their Oath of Office; Practicing medicine without a license; Violations of Constitutional Rights and Due Process of Law; Conspiring to and Making Laws of Mandates, Orders, and Ordinances.

Numerous charges are sourced to State and Federal codes; Civil Rights and The Individuals with Disabilities Act; International Humanitarian Law; The Hague Conference on Private International Law; UN Child Protection; UNESCO Universal Bioethics Declaration; Geneva Declaration of the Rights of the Child; and The Nuremberg Code.

The document warns that the school officials will be held fully responsible and personally liable. Most public officials think they have immunity from their poor decisions. This document contends otherwise.

State and local health officer mandates regarding masks, rules restricting interaction, socialist distancing, PCR testing, and distance learning have caused a collapse in education. Scholastic scores are shameful. Parents have been banned from campus access.

Students lost a minimum of one and possible 2-years of education, athletic and cultural development due to the fraud perpetrated by the state and local political leaders. Nonsensical Covid policies abused students that are essentially immune to Covid and the teachers have a 99.8% recovery rate as well.

The annual flu is more dangerous than Covid. Studies show that students are far more likely to die traveling to school than by contracting and succumbing to Covid.

Nonetheless, the U.S. medical and teachers' union dictatorships ignore the Constitution and the law to do whatever they please. In this case the government formally abandoned students though education informally ditched students decades ago.

Market Up or Down

The question on every investors mind: Is the January stock market rout over?

A difficult question to answer, there are a variety of reasons for both sides of the argument.

On the side of the bulls who say January is in the rear view mirror and only sunny days lay ahead for the markets, the reasons include a decrease in CoVid cases as the Omicron variant seems to have done its job by spreading fast, being a milder version and providing a faster herd immunity benefit. Easy money from the Fed over the past two years may continue to juice the markets while the reopening trade continues to gather steam as consumers' tire of being at home and are apparently spending and traveling like crazy. Comparative earnings reports that looked back on the lean months of the shutdowns now show the consumer is alive and well and apparently loaded with cash. A less contentious political environment compared to the Trump years, and a new year to look forward to. The not-so-fast bear market fans who fear more crash helmets will be needed in 2022 point to the January barometer which states as goes January in the markets, so goes the rest of the year. Inflation is rampant and that will stress out consumer pocket books, while also making the FEDS cut back on bailout packages and their current greasing of the financial wheels through Quantitative Easing.

LINK HERE: (https://www.businessinsider.com/quantitative-easing#:~:text=Quantitative%20Easing%20\(QE\)%20is%20a,and%20results%20in%20economic%20growth.%20is%20a,and%20results%20in%20economic%20growth.))

Adding to the bear's argument the market is headed for more trouble is Russian saber rattling, the threat of another CoVid variant uprising and massive supply side shortages.

I have to admit, both sides present a believable argument. I don't lean one way or the other. A rare position for this analyst. Not that I don't think inflation is serious. It is. Nor do I deny FED money will find its way into the markets, as FED money always does. After all, many argue Wall Street runs Constitution Avenue and its inhabitants. I agree.

But there are indeed many currents and cross currents at work here. In fact, I can only remember a few times over my 50 years of being in the markets where so much was happening to so many. CoVid for sure is the real deal. Not so much as to its lethality, although it does possess that deadly quality, but it is a far cry from what the Black Plague did in the middle ages where no vaccines existed and medical care was akin to witch doctory.

I can say we did have a healthy correction in the Nasdaq technology stocks, a minor correction in the Dow, Russell and S&P markets and global equities also suffered. Not to say it can't go lower. It can, but having a correction in the rear view mirror is better than having an irrational exuberant market that has plowed ever higher with no correction. Corrections, when they end, can lead to rallies, and rallies can lead to recovered losses and stock market gains. Something all investors wish for.

Since I don't know which way markets will go for sure, and no one else does either, its best to tread carefully, invest slowly but steadily, have protection stops in place which are predetermined sell points on some or all your securities, and don't believe everything the buy and hold crowd tells you.

And never forget famous investor Warren Buffett's two basic rules:

Rule #1: Never lose money.

Rule #2: Don't forget rule one.

In conclusion, although investor portfolios may have suffered severe setbacks in a rather brutal start to 2022, at some point the market may begin again its journey into the stratosphere in a grand melt-up from an inflationary inferno, a term I will certainly explain in the next Money Matters.

Trust-Busting Big Tech

Commentary
by James D. Veltmeyer, MD

The Sherman Antitrust Act was passed by Congress in 1890. This legislation was a response to the rapid rise of economic and financial monopolies which sprouted up across America after the Civil War. The massive industrialization of America which took place after the war led to the rise of a class of so-called “Robber Barons” who may have used the capitalist system to their advantage but who were, in fact, the antithesis of a competitive free market system.

By the 1880s and 1890s, astute observers and writers like Ida Tarbell were portraying the rise of monopolies and trusts in the United States as a giant octopus strangling the nation. This multi-armed cephalopod consisted of the oil trust, rubber trust, sugar trust, railroad trust and others who were using a variety of anti-competitive measures to force their smaller rivals out of business.

Chief among the “robber barons” was John D. Rockefeller, founder of Standard Oil. A powerful and ruthless monopolist, Rockefeller expanded his company by buying out his competitors, using its sheer size and reach to extort lower shipping rates from the railroads, and quickly moving to seize control of almost all refining, distribution, and marketing throughout the embryonic oil industry. Standard Oil eventually acquired control of almost 90% of the nation’s oil production.

The Sherman Antitrust Act sought to outlaw all combinations and conspiracies in restraint of trade between states or with foreign countries. This prohibition extended not just to formal cartels but also to any agreement to fix prices, limit industrial output, share markets, or exclude competition. In 1914, Congress passed additional legislation to limit monopolies in the U.S. One of these bills was the Clayton Antitrust Act and the other established the Federal Trade Commission with the power to investigate possible violations of antitrust legislation and issue orders forbidding anti-competitive practices.

The Sherman Act gave the U.S. Justice Department the power to prosecute the trusts through the federal courts. In 1909, the Justice Department went after Rockefeller and Standard Oil. Two years later, the Supreme Court ruled that Standard Oil was an illegal monopoly “in unreasonable restraint of inter state commerce” and decreed ominously that: “For the safety of the Republic, we now decree that this dangerous conspiracy must be ended by November 15, 1911.” Standard was ordered to dissolve itself and break itself into 34 independent companies.

Fast forward slightly more than a century later. America is today imprisoned and enslaved by a newer and far more nefarious kind of monopoly. Instead of a trust that monopolizes commodities, this trust monopolizes our minds and attacks with astonishing relish the Bill of Rights and, especially, the First Amendment. This monopoly is called Big Tech and is dominated by just a handful of Silicon Valley trillionaires whose combined wealth is probably more than the Gross Domestic Product of many nations on this planet. Google alone is worth $320 billion. Twitter is worth $42 billion and Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg has a personal fortune of a staggering $114 billion. It is wealth that is so staggering in its breadth and depth that it would make the Rockefeller family envious. Yet, it is a far more dangerous trust than anything John D. ever envisioned.

Information, ideas, thought, and political discourse are largely controlled by the Internet. Newspapers are dying off and far fewer people get their news from television and radio than ever before. The majority of individuals in America and indeed, across the world, get their information – the data they use to make important daily decisions like what to buy, where to invest, and who to vote for, from a handful of Internet platforms. This affords these Tech barons power and influence over society greater than those of presidents and kings. It is power that, so far, is unaccountable.

Zuckerberg, Dorsey (and now Parag Agrawal) and company have arrogated onto themselves the power to decide what the public can read, learn, watch, and listen to. In doing so, they have made themselves Princes of the New Censorship. In recent months and years, they have censored political speech, de-platformed the President of the United States and banished physicians, scientists, and scholars who reject the Faucian narrative on COVID. Merely posting conservative ideas or thoughts on your Facebook page can land you in FB jail. Merely challenging the globalists’ COVID agenda will get your YouTube page shut down. Having a differing opinion on the genesis of the so-called “insurrection” of January 6 will see Jack Dorsey suspending your Twitter account. The tech giants even seek to manipulate the outcome of elections as they did in November 2020 where they censored and suppressed news stories about the Biden Crime Family and funded shady vote harvesting and ballot dropbox campaigns that favored Democrats in a number of states. This is called election interference and was used to persecute Donald Trump for three years of his presidency in what was an elaborate hoax cooked up by Hillary Clinton. Yet will Zuckerberg and Dorsey ever be held accountable for interfering in the 2020 election? Not likely. Ever.

The Big Tech monopolies are not held accountable because they spread their political contributions around Washington, D.C. like manure. According to CNBC: “Tech executives, rich from an 11-year bull market that’s disproportionately benefited their industry, were among the top political donors in the 2020 cycle. The vast majority of that money went to getting President Donald Trump out of office and helping Democrats take control of the Senate.” This is the primary reason most politicians of both parties refuse to take on these Silicon Valley titans. The other has to do with something called Section 230 of The Communications Decency Act of 1996.

Section 230 was inserted into the Act in an attempt to protect the Internet from legal liability in its infancy. According to its author, Oregon Sen. Ron Wyden, it contains a “sword and a shield.” The shield is the provision that says the Internet host is not liable for content posted on its site, but, rather, the content is the responsibility of the user or poster. That makes sense. However, the “sword” – which was originally intended to keep sexually explicit content and child pornography off the Internet (which, nevertheless, is still there in a disgustingly major way) – of Section 230 gives Big Tech the power to censor speech they believe their audience might find “offensive.” And, that is an awfully big sword to use against conservatives, Constitutionalists, Republicans and patriots of every shade and stripe who use Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube to engage in legitimate – if at times controversial – political speech.

Interestingly enough, one never finds Zuckerberg, Dorsey and Google de-platforming radical left views expressed by groups like BLM, Antifa, AOC or others. When was the last time you heard a prominent Democrat Party leader being censored by Big Tech? Did Maxine Waters have her Twitter account suspended when she publicly advocated physical harassment of members of the Trump Administration? Did Madonna land in Facebook jail for advocating blowing up the Trump White House? Did Chuck Schumer get shut down by YouTube for threatening Supreme Court Justices Gorsuch and Kavanaugh on the steps of the Supreme Court itself? Of course not. And, that’s because Zuckerberg, Dorsey, Agrawal and Google only go after speech they disagree with.

What should be done? Immediately, the First Amendment needs to be rediscovered and re-platformed in our society. That means using every tool of the Justice Department to go after Facebook, Twitter, and Google just as the DOJ went after Standard Oil in 1909. Next, the provision of Section 230 that allows Zuckerberg to censor political speech needs to be repealed outright. Finally, campaign finance laws must be drastically overhauled to prevent a handful of mega-giant corporations from trying to buy our elections.

What Big Tech is doing is not just monopolistic but it violates the very heart of the First Amendment and therefore violates the Constitution itself. No one should ever be allowed to control what Americans can read, think, hear, or believe no matter how many hundreds of billions in ill-begotten wealth they have amassed.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 3960 MARY AVENUE, OLIVEHURST, CA 95961 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the Note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest thereon, as provided in said Note(s), advances if any, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, estimated fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligations secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of this Notice of Trustee's Sale is estimated to be $382,705.09 (Estimated). However, prepayment premiums, accrued interest and advances will increase this figure prior to sale. Beneficiary's bid at said sale may include all or part of said amount. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept a cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the California Financial Code and authorized to do business in California, or other such funds as may be acceptable to the Trustee. In the event tender other than cash is accepted, the Trustee may withhold the issuance of the Trustee's Deed Upon Sale until funds become available to the payee or endorsee as a matter of right. The property offered for sale excludes all funds held on account by the property receiver, if applicable. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Auction.com at 800.280.2832 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Web site address www.Auction.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA05000961-19-1-FT. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Notice to Tenant NOTICE TO TENANT FOR FORECLOSURES AFTER JANUARY 1, 2021 You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
