Beware COVID Scams

Scammers are selling unapproved COVID-19 antibody tests, which can give inaccurate results. In doing so, they are also collecting personal information, such as Social Security numbers and dates of birth. Photo credit Covid Test © Bihlmayerm | Dreamstime.com

USDA Special Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The US Food and Drug Administration is warning people of fraudulent coronavirus tests, vaccines, and treatments as the pandemic continues. According to the Centers for Disease Control, since the arrival of the Omicron variant, the increase of testing for COVID-19 has become a concern. Scarcity often leads to potential scams for a product that doesn't exist, the compromise of personal identifiable information, or the increase of deceptive advertising. The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) issued a warning earlier this year about potential fraud related to the antibody tests.

Scammers are selling unapproved COVID-19 antibody tests, which can give inaccurate results. In doing so, they are also collecting personal information, such as Social Security numbers and dates of birth. They may also be stealing health insurance or Medicare information that can be used in future schemes. Robocalls are sent out to consumers directing them to a website that looks like a clinic or medical supply company offering COVID-19 tests. These tests allegedly identify if a person has been infected with coronavirus – even if they've recovered. Some even promise results in 10 minutes. However, to receive a test, a credit card or a form needs to be completed with personal information.

In some cases, the test involves an easy at-home testing kit. Other times, the tests are allegedly offered through a clinic. But in all versions, the person or website selling the test is short on details. They aren't willing or able to provide any information about how the test works, where it is sourced, and what laboratory processes it. Don't fall for it! These tests are not US Food and Drug Administration approved and will not give accurate results. In fact, requestors may never even receive an actual test kit. Either way, scammers will have made off with the money and personal information. In a new twist, Newsweek reports

Hyatt Powerplant at Oroville Dam Resumes Operation

Department of Water Resource Press Release

OROVILLE, CA (MPG) - The Department of Water Resources (DWR) today announced hydropower generation has resumed at the Hyatt Powerplant at Oroville Dam in Butte County. The powerplant was taken offline August 5 due to historic low lake levels driven by the state's ongoing severe drought conditions. Recent storms have boosted lake levels and provided colder water in the reservoir to allow operations to resume. Currently, the powerplant is utilizing one generating unit to produce electricity and supply it to the state's electrical grid managed by the California Independent System Operator. Outflows from the plant and generation will initially remain low due to reduced agricultural demands and improved delta salinity conditions. DWR anticipates an average outflow of about 900 cubic feet per second which will generate approximately 30 megawatts of power. As lake levels rise and demands increase, additional units will be brought back online. "This is a significant milestone as California sees some relief from drought conditions," said

DWR Director Karla Nemeth. "Providing clean hydropower to the state energy grid allows DWR to assist in meeting the state's clean energy goals." DWR completed major maintenance activities while the powerplant was offline to ensure the plant maintains its reliability and is available for water deliveries and power generation. DWR continues to manage Lake Oroville to balance storage needs with requirements for Delta outflows, water quality, and public health and safety requirements in an effort to conserve as much storage as possible in the event of another dry year. Nielsen Cautions on Projected Surplus

Office of Senator
Jim Nielsen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Jim Nielsen, R-Red Bluff, issued the following statement in response to Governor Newsom's proposed 2022-23 State Budget: "Governor Newsom needs to wake up on water storage. There is an urgent need to fully-fund and immediately build large above-ground water storage projects like Sites Reservoir, and his proposed budget falls billions of dollars short. Groundwater recharge and conservation, while important, simply aren't enough. "As the state continues to face devastating wildfires that destroy lives, property and wildlife, the governor's budget proposes $1.2 billion for forest health and fire prevention. Republicans have advocated for these efforts for decades. I'm glad that the Governor is slowly coming around on prevention, though much more needs to be done. "Dangerous people are not in custody and the people of California don't feel safe. This budget proposal takes a few steps but doesn't sufficiently address the need to support law enforcement. "The state budget has a $21 billion surplus, so there's no reason to not provide enough money to fund these critical priorities." Watch Senator Nielsen's video clips: <https://vimeo.com/663401256/813c-222bcf> Visit nielsen.cssrc.us/ to the Senate Republican's letter to Governor Newsom outlining their critical budget priorities. Fauci Undermined Trump, Misled Americans; 'I Was Stunned at What I Saw,' – Dr. Scott Atlas

Commentary
by Lou Binninger

Dr. Scott Atlas had a Covid policy box seat as a member of President Donald Trump's Coronavirus Task Force. Now, after being silenced on social media he's telling his story in a new book, "A Plague Upon Our House: My Fight at the Trump White House to Stop COVID from Destroying America."

Prior to joining the Trump's Task Force Doctor Atlas was an American radiologist, political commentator, and health care policy advisor. He was the Robert Wesson Senior Fellow in health care policy at Stanford University's Hoover Institution, a conservative think tank.

During the United States presidential campaigns of 2008, 2012, and 2016, Atlas was a Senior Advisor for Health Care to several candidates. From 1998 to 2012 he was a professor and chief of neuroradiology at the Stanford University Medical Center.

"The American people need to know the level of incompetence, the lack of rigor, the lack of critical thinking. I was stunned at what I saw," Atlas says of his time at the White House. "We had bureaucrats in charge of the policy and that policy was the restrictions and lockdowns. And it failed."

Atlas blames Dr. Deborah Birx, White House coronavirus response coordinator; Dr. Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases; and Dr. Robert Redfield, now former director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Atlas says, "Everyone is aware that science itself has become contaminated with politics, has become really distorted from the actual scientific process itself. That the process of science and finding scientific truths depends upon the free exchange of ideas."

As soon as Atlas arrived at the White House he came under personal attack not because of his data but because he came to serve the President, and the President's haters targeted Atlas. "I was stunned at it. I was naive to the politics. And the reason I know it was political, first of all, they never criticized or refuted any of the data. They just simply accused me in a distorted way of saying these preposterous things."

The data, Martin Kulldorff (Harvard Epidemiologist), Jay Battacharya (Stanford Professor Medicine), John Ioannidis (Stanford Epidemiologist) and Atlas all explained the minimal risks to children, cautioned not to close schools, that lockdowns / masks and social distancing are useless, counterproductive and harmful. Redfield, Birx and Fauci would sit silently with no back-up data, and with their minds made up.

"We had bureaucrats in charge of the policy and that policy was the restrictions in lockdown. And it failed. It failed by the data to stop the spread of the infection. It failed to protect the elderly and stop them from dying. And it destroyed millions and millions of families, including the children who were sacrificed, and I'm talking about particularly low-income families."

"This was an egregious immoral application of public health, because when you're a public health leader, you are not supposed to say I'm going to stop this one infection at all costs, without regard for all of public health."

"But it also inflicted massive harm because you have to remember, we shut down a lot of medical care. It wasn't just cosmetic surgery or something like that, that was shut down. We had 650,000 people with cancer on chemotherapy. Half of them skipped their chemo just during the spring of 2020 out of fear. We had 85% of living organ transplants did not get done compared to the previous year. We had two thirds of cancer screenings did not get done. These people still have cancer."

"They're going to come back with widespread, what's called metastatic disease. A lot of them are going to die. We had massive increases in drug abuse, in spousal abuse, in child abuse. 300,000 cases of child abuse were not detected during the spring of 2020, because, why, schools were closed and schools are the number one agency recognizing when child abuse occurs. So this was a massive harm and the harm, again, all the losses, we are almost on the verge of destroying a younger generation, by the way, we have a massive rise in anxiety disorder, in depressive disorder."

"One out of four college students in 2020 in the United States thought of killing himself. We had tripling of medical visits to doctors by teenagers for self-harm in the United States compared to the previous year. What does that mean? That means these are kids putting out cigarettes on their skin, slashing their wrists out of the isolation. It's the lockdowns that did this. It's the isolation. It's not the virus. The isolation was caused by the grossly wrong public health advice. And this is going to take decades to solve."

Serial Chico Robber Arraigned in Butte County Superior Court

Butte County
District Attorney's Office

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - A Chico man was arraigned in Butte County Superior Court on charges of committing a string of nine gas and liquor market robberies on the west side of Chico over the last three weeks. Robert Allen Studdard, III, age 23, was charged by the Butte County District Attorney's Office with nine counts of second-degree robbery and one count of resisting police.

District Attorney Mike Ramsey said Studdard was arrested almost immediately after his last robbery on New Year's Eve around 9:50 a.m. by Chico Police officers, who had been dispatched by an alert CPD 911 dispatch operator. Ramsey said the operator had her suspicions aroused after an anonymous cellphone caller reported a "man with a gun" at a Chico market on Mangrove Avenue. Suspecting a ruse to draw police resources away from an impending west side robbery, the dispatcher sent additional officers to a west Chico gas station market that Studdard had robbed before. Studdard was captured as he was running from a robbery committed moments before at that market.

Ramsey said the investigation of Studdard's string of robberies started in late December when Chico Police responded to a report of an armed robbery that had just occurred at a west Chico gas station. While investigating that robbery, the clerk told police that someone believed to be the same individual had robbed the station several days earlier, but no one had called 911. Police were able to determine through surveillance cameras that the suspect appeared to be the same person in both robberies. Over the next few days, several more businesses were robbed by what appeared to be the same person. Recognizing the pattern and the danger to the community, Chico Police immediately tasked its Violence Suppression Unit (VSU) with catching the robber.

Ramsey said over the Christmas weekend, investigators from several different agencies worked together to try to locate the suspect and stop the string of dangerous crimes. Ramsey said that detectives were able to identify Studdard as the likely suspect after viewing surveillance from the different businesses that had been victimized. While the robber wore a mask and gloves in an attempt to hide his identity, Ramsey said investigators were able to identify several unique physical characteristics such as tattoos on the robber that led them to suspect Studdard. As the investigation progressed, Ramsey said a clear pattern emerged of how Studdard committed the robberies. In each case, he carried what appeared to be a black pistol and a distinctive backpack. Studdard would enter the business, approach the clerk, and would then force them to empty the register. Studdard would then flee on a bicycle.

At the peak of his criminal spree, Ramsey said Studdard robbed multiple businesses within a 24-hour period. One particular gas station in Chico was robbed on four separate occasions within a period of several days. Once police identified Studdard as the prime suspect, Chico detectives were able to focus their efforts on areas Studdard was known to frequent but were initially unable to locate him as he was transient and moved around the city frequently.

Ramsey said when officers found Studdard running from his last gas station robbery, they ordered him to stop but he continued running, discarding items of clothing in an attempt to change his appearance. Officers quickly found and arrested Studdard at gunpoint. On Studdard's person, they found a large amount of money he had just stolen from the gas station, as well as a realistic-looking replica firearm in his pocket. Studdard was also wearing some of the same clothing from other robberies. A search warrant at Studdard's tent in the area of 9th and Hazel revealed other clothing captured on surveillance tapes during those robberies, as well as stolen property, including serialized lottery tickets, traced back to several of the robberies.

At the arraignment, Superior Court Judge Lucena ordered Studdard held without bail, citing the danger to the community. The judge continued the case to Thursday for further arraignment. Ramsey said Studdard faces up to 13 years in state prison. ★

Should State Provide Health Care to Everyone?

By Dan Walters
CALMatters

On paper, having one state agency as the exclusive purveyor of health care for 40 million Californians would seem to make sense, replacing dozens of federal, state and private systems and their often bewildering financial and managerial peculiarities.

Centralized health care seems to work fairly well in other developed countries, such as Canada and the United Kingdom, with per capita costs somewhat lower than those in the United States.

The notion has been kicking around in California political circles for years and at one point, the state Senate passed a single-payer bill, although it stalled in the Assembly for lack of a financing mechanism.

The idea resurfaced last week with the introduction of two measures. One to create the framework for such a system in California, the other to ask voters to levy tens of billions of dollars in new taxes, mostly on affluent taxpayers and businesses, to pay for it.

"There are countless studies that tell us a single-payer healthcare system is the fiscally sound thing to do, the smarter healthcare policy to follow, and a moral imperative if we care about human life," the proposal's chief author, Assemblyman Ash Kalra, said.

"What we're trying to do is get rid of these dozens of buckets of funding – whether it's private insurance, whether it's employer, whether it's Medi-Cal – put it into one bucket," the San Jose Democrat added.

Kalra has obtained support from a fairly large group of his legislative colleagues and apparently has conceptual backing from Gov. Gavin Newsom, who pledged to work for a single-payer system during his 2018 campaign.

"Doing nothing is not inaction," Kalra said of promises not kept. "It is, in fact, the cruelest of actions while millions suffer under our watch."

The constitutional amendment needing voter support would impose a new excise tax on businesses equal to 2.3% of any annual gross receipts in excess of $2 million, plus a payroll tax of 1.25% of total annual wages on employers with 50 or more workers, another payroll tax on employers tied to workers earning more than $49,900 a year, and graduated increases in personal income taxes on affluent taxpayers.

Estimates of revenues from the new taxes vary but would, it's assumed, top $150 billion a year. Sponsors say the taxes would be offset by eliminating what employers and individuals now pay out of pocket for health care.

Even with overwhelming Democratic majorities in both legislative houses, it may be difficult to advance the two companion measures, since they will face very stiff opposition from private employer groups such as the California Chamber of Commerce and much, if not most, of the current health care industry.

There are, moreover, some serious practical hurdles. The federal government now pays about half of the state's medical care tab, which approaches a half-trillion dollars a year, through Medicare, Medi-Cal, Obamacare and systems serving federal employees, and civil service and military retirees. The proposal assumes that the feds would, in effect, turn over all of that money, well over $200 billion a year, to the state.

It also assumes that unions, including those of government workers, would also be willing to throw their health care money into the pot, meaning their often lavish benefits would be equalized with the rest of the state's residents.

The biggest hurdle, however, may be convincing Californians that a state government riddled with managerial messes such as the Employment Development Department, the Department of Motor Vehicles, the bullet train project and countless failed technology initiatives should be trusted with something as important as medical care.

Gallagher on Governor's State Budget

Office of Assemblyman
James Gallagher

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Assemblyman James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) issued the following statement in response to the release of Governor Gavin Newsom's 2022-2023 state budget:

"Governor Newsom's budget, in typical fashion, throws more taxpayer money at issues without substantive reforms or appropriate oversight.

A prime example of this is his $255 million proposal for law enforcement grants to deter retail theft while not reforming soft on crime policies like Proposition 47 that would actually disincentivize crime. More money will make zero difference if criminals are arrested and immediately released.

Similarly, the Governor identified homelessness as an 'existential threat', and we continue pouring billions of dollars to address this problem while not changing the policies that increase the cost of housing and that prevent mentally ill individuals from getting the treatment they need.

While I appreciate the continued investments in wildfire prevention, we need to speed up the scale and pace of treatment to meet the state goal of treating 500,000 acres per year. Doing this requires substantive reforms like streamlining CEQA and investing in facilities, like biomass, to ensure processing capacity. Reforestation without actually doing the work of removing dead and dying trees in the burn scars just creates fuel for the next fire. We must promote policies that remove barriers for both the state and private landowners to do this work.

This Governor continues to define success on how much we are spending, instead of the results we are actually achieving."

that scammers appeared at a testing site in Florida and conducted fake tests to people standing in line, as a ruse to get their personal information.

How to avoid fake coronavirus tests and related scams

Want a test? Talk to your doctor. Reach out to your healthcare provider. They can help figure out if the test will be covered by insurance and where to find a legitimate clinic. If you don't have a primary care physician, check out the official website of your local health department for more information on testing availability.

Research before buying. Scammers put pressure on people to buy or commit without giving them time to do further research. Before agreeing to anything, investigate first. Research any claims the company makes. Start with searching BBB.org to see they are BBB Accredited, have good reviews, and if there are complaints or scam reports associated with their business name. In addition, review the warnings on FBI, Federal Trade Commission, Attorney General's office, and BBB ScamTracker.

Understand all options: The Center for Disease Control and Prevention has a detailed guide to testing for COVID-19. Understand the different tests available.

Never share your personal information with strangers. Only make purchases and share your personal information with people and companies you know and trust. Be wary of anyone approaching you in line; ask for credentials if necessary. If you suspect your personal information has been compromised, report it to identitytheft.gov

Check claims of FDA approval. Per the FBI, "Not all COVID-19 antibody tests have been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), and their efficacy has not been determined." Check the FDA website for a list of approved tests and testing companies.

Nevada Resident Arrested for Sexual Abuse of a Child

Butte County Sheriff's Office Press Release

OROVILLE, CA (MPG) - In December of 2020, Butte County Sheriff's Office detectives were contacted by a victim who reported continuous December 28, 2021, sexual abuse that occurred over several years. Detectives identified the suspect as Morgan McDowell, age 40, of Fernley, Nevada. McDowell was previously a resident of Oroville.

During the investigation detectives interviewed multiple individuals in California and Nevada. Detectives located evidence that gave them cause to believe McDowell sexually abused the victim for several years.

After reviewing the evidence obtained during the investigation, the Butte County District Attorney's Office filed a criminal complaint against McDowell charging McDowell with the following felonies: Two counts of sexual penetration with a victim under the age of 14, one count of sexual penetration with a victim under the age of 16, five counts of sexual penetration with a victim under the age of 18, and two counts of oral copulation with a victim under the age of 18. A warrant was recently issued for McDowell's arrest.

On the evening of December 15, 2021, McDowell was arrested by U.S. Marshals in Nevada. The Sheriff's Office is asking anyone with additional information about this investigation to contact Detective Mary Barker at 530-538-7671. ★

Senate Candidate Mark Meuser to Speak at Tea Party Patriots

Feather River Tea Party Patriots

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - The Feather River Tea Party Patriots announced U.S. Senate Candidate Mark Meuser will be the Guest Speaker at their Monday, January 17, 2022, meeting.

Mark Meuser, a Walnut Creek constitutional and election law attorney with Harmett Dhillon's Law Group, is running for U.S. Senate to replace Alejandro "Alex" Padilla, a Gavin Newsom appointee. The Senate seat, currently held by Padilla, boasts a dismal voting record. He was one of 11 "nay" votes on S1605, the military spending bill, which passed the Senate 88-11. Otherwise, Padilla's votes generally followed the radical "Destroy America" Democrat Party Line.

Mark will share his thoughts on taking back the Senate and his priorities supporting California solutions. He will discuss restoring elections to the people, not those who count the votes. His views on Voter ID and the concept of 1-vote for 1-person to protect fairness in elections – what a concept!

California has an appointed Democrat U.S. Senator who as California Secretary of State, had decided not to participate in the Federal Election Integrity Commission study of elections. Padilla refused to check 800,000 illegal aliens on the DMV drivers' licenses list and delete them from the voters list to prevent them from registering to vote. This is a Democrat that refused to provide honest elections for Californians.

There is no membership requirement to attend and everyone is welcome. Doors open at 6:00 pm; meeting begins promptly at 6:30 pm. Come early to register, socialize with like-minded patriots, and get a good seat.

The meeting will be Monday, January 17, 2022, at the Crossroads Community Church, 445 B Street, Yuba City.

Assemblyman Kevin Kiley Introduces Bill to Repeal Prop. 47

From the office of Kevin Kiley Assembly Member Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)

- Assemblymembers Kevin Kiley (R-Rocklin), James Gallagher (R-Yuba City), and Jim Patterson (R-Fresno), along with 11 coauthors, introduced Assembly Bill 1599 to repeal Proposition 47, the ballot initiative that reclassified a number of felony theft offenses as misdemeanors.

"After years of failed policies and leadership, California is now experiencing an unprecedented surge in crime," Assemblyman Kiley said. "When you pass laws to legalize bad behavior and have prosecutors who fail to hold people accountable, this is the end result. It is time to end the failed experiment of Prop. 47 and give voters the opportunity to restore consequences and accountability to our criminal justice system."

In a recent column, George Skelton with the LA Times argued in support of Kiley's proposal, stating, "Proposition 47 should be returned to the voters and exchanged for a product that works better for everyone, including merchants."

While Governor Newsom has stated that "we will not walk back" policies like Prop. 47, the law has received bipartisan criticism including a Democratic legislator who decried the "epidemic of theft caused by Proposition 47 that over promised and under delivered."

Assemblyman Kevin Kiley represents the 6th Assembly District, which includes the Sacramento, Placer, and El Dorado County communities of Cameron Park, El Dorado Hills, Fair Oaks, Folsom, Granite Bay, Lincoln, Loomis, Orangevale, Penryn, Rocklin, Roseville, and Sheridan. ★

49 States Have Transparent Spending Reports

Commentary by Marc Ang

As we approach the end of 2021, California's problems have become an embarrassing example of failure in management from the supply chain crisis to high rates of COVID despite draconian measures up and down the state on masks and vaccines. However, one topic that hardly got mentioned this year was the lack of transparency around California's spending. As of today, California remains the only state in the Union that does not have transparent spending reports.

Adam Andrzejewski, founder of Open the Books, hopes to change this through his lawsuit against California Controller Betty Yee. Article 1, Section 9 of the US Constitution, states that "a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time." Adam believes that with the age of the Internet, there should be no excuse to not be transparent. "Transparency is transformation. Transparency revolutionizes US public policy and politics."

Controller Yee has refused to provide a copy of line-item vendor payments. In a Sacramento Supreme Court, the organization is waiting for the judge's order, who has been "thoughtful and diligent", according to Adam. "Open The Books" files 40,000 Freedom of Information Act requests per year and they have made line-by-line spending since 2001 for 49 of the 50 states, transparent on their website. California is the lone holdout.

Adam believes Yee's arguments are weak. Yee has not disclosed and refuses to disclose even a single expenditure from last year. She rejected our requests, saying incredibly, that she can't 'locate any of the 50 million bills she paid last year.' In addition, she argued that the public interest served by not disclosing the line-by-line California checkbook to the people outweighs the public interest in disclosure. Says Adam, "they're basically telling you, 'Go away, you pesky citizen. We know better than you. We are going to keep it hidden for your own benefit.' And we fundamentally reject that."

Adam's confidence that the books in California will eventually be opened is not without precedent. In 2012, they sued the Republican comptroller in Illinois who claimed the state "doesn't have a magical checkbook. And we reminded her the state doesn't have magical taxpayers either. Within nine months, we opened up seven years' worth of line-by-line spending. In 2018, we sued the Republican state auditor in Wyoming, Cynthia Cloud. She claimed that it would take years to produce a single year of state spending. When the new state auditor came in, within the first 30 days on the job, she opened up six years' worth of line-by-line spending."

In California, Adam expects to "fight tooth and nail. We expect to get a favorable order that starts the process of opening the books, and we fully expect the controller to appeal it. There's an interesting PR twist that won't serve the controller well. When Yee appeals that order to writ of mandamus, she's filing suit against the superior court judge who has ordered her to open the books. So, she's basically suing the judge in the appeals court, to keep the checkbook hidden and we like the optics of that."

Controller candidate Lanhee Chen is also using the need for transparency as his primary reason for running for office. He has now launched his campaign to provide an alternative to Yee. Chen told me in an exclusive interview, "We don't actually know how $300 billion in the state gets spent. If you've used Excel before, we should be able to figure that out of the state of California. Even in Illinois, where past governors are in prison, they have transparency that we don't have here in California. It's unacceptable."

Why should national taxpayers be interested in this California suit? $320 billion was spent last year in California. A third of the money came from outside of California, went through Washington DC through Congress and then came back to California.

California is not the only offender of some of the most egregious spending in the United States. Open The Books was the organization that did the federal spending calculations on the haphazard pullout in Afghanistan, finding that $83 billion was spent over 20 years, with expensive military equipment left behind. Some compelling visuals included the Blackhawk helicopter being flown around by the Taliban. That cost taxpayers $21.3 million. There were also 200 airplanes delivered to the Afghan national security forces and a 7,500-member Afghan Air Force. None of this heavy investment was sustainable.

Interestingly, Adam's organization used data that was proactively captured ahead of time, as well as government audit reports. Likely because of the embarrassment, some previously available government data has now been removed. "We launched this [Afghanistan audit] in my column at Forbes. Within a couple of hours of the launch, the State Department gave guidance to the Government Accountability Office and the Special Inspector General for Afghan reconstruction, to rip down the audit reports that our reporting was based on. However, we had proactively downloaded those audit reports. They erased them from the internet almost immediately. We reposted them with our branding. When the Washington Post, for instance, linked to that report, it went to our website, which was the only spot on the internet [to find this data]." WaPo used Open the Book's data to fact check politicians talking about equipment left behind, also linking to their website's analysis.

Open The Books also exposed Mayor Bill DeBlasio's wasteful spending when he announced his presidential run last year. Working with the New York Times, they found out that DeBlasio's $36 million rat extermination campaign was a gross failure and citizens saw more rats than ever. The headline was that the rats outfoxed the NYC bureaucrats. Working with CNBC's show American Greed, Open the Books was featured heavily in the hour segment, where they were featured six different times, talking about how Congress writes the rules, the rules are lax and legal but unethical behavior results.

One of the biggest stories of 2021, besides the staggering costs of US military gear left behind in Afghanistan, was their investigation published in January. This was on the highest compensated federal employee in the land, Dr. Anthony Fauci. "When we launched our story, many people had questions like how a director of a sub agency of a sub agency out earn the President of the United States, or four-star generals of the United States military with millions of men and women in America under their command, and 4.3 million federal employees? This year and past years, he was number one. In 2019, he made $417,000. This year, he made $434,000. Many people don't know that his wife also makes a lot of money at the National Institutes of Health. She's actually the common ethics czar at the NIH. So, if Fauci is greenlighting gain of function experiments, she's approving that. She makes more than Nancy Pelosi makes. Pelosi makes $223,500, a speaker of the house, Anthony Fauci's wife makes $232,000.

We filed additional Freedom of Information Act requests for his job contract with all amendments, changes and vendors, his conflict of interest, financial disclosures, his job description, and the royalties from pharmaceutical customers if any, because that could be a potential conflict of interest during the pandemic. I wrote to Fauci directly. He was aware of our Freedom of Information Act request but did nothing about it. We partnered with the Legal Eagles, Judicial Watch, and sued them last month in federal court, so we expect to get that record."

Open The Books also highlighted their audit on the Cares Act. The Paycheck Protection Program money, supposed to relieve American businesses, went to about 400 companies domestically that were controlled or heavily invested in by the Chinese Communist Party. "So, this was PPP for the CCP."

"In September, Joe Biden called a press conference, where he announced his vaccine mandate on private companies of 100 or more employees, an arbitrary number. We found the enforcement mechanism in the Social Infrastructure Act. On page 168, they were going to use the regulatory state, OSHA, to increase the fines by tenfold up to $700,000 per willful instance. They want to bankrupt private sector companies that don't follow the rules. And thank God, the federal courts stepped in to stop this."

Open The Books' objectives for 2022 include completing their Genome Project, named after the medicines mapping the human genome and ushering in a new era of medical reforms and technologies. Adam wants to see this transparency on all states' spending, with everyone posting every dime online in real time, which is their mission.

"It's not enough to open the books, you've got to audit the books or audit to make national news. Last year we did 42 investigations and audits and published them. This year, we'll complete 300. Next year, our objective is to do 500. I encourage everybody to go to our 'Waste of the Day' column. We publish a daily example of waste, fraud, corruption, and taxpayer abuse. It is also syndicated by Sinclair which is a Fortune 500 broadcast company with 190 ABC, NBC, CBS, and Fox affiliates across the country. So that's our objective in 2022: hold them accountable. There are no apparent terms about waste, fraud, corruption, and taxpayer abuse right now. We're on a war footing and are serious about shining a white-hot spotlight on all of it, the entire government complex."

Another Covid Year

The year 2020 set an historical precedent as to the economic damage to the world economies due to the policies enacted in response to the COVID-19 outbreak.

This time last year we had high hopes that the year 2021 would be so much better than 2020. It was not to be. Slow on the uptake once the vaccines were finally available, the virus had no such plans of going away quietly into the night. It adapted into multiple variants that are still raging to this day. In fact, the month of December of this year witnessed the highest number of new Covid cases ever recorded.

So much for the shut downs, masks, social distancing, and all the other policies enacted in the attempt to stave off the spread. Covid is spreading faster than ever. We should consider, it being a microscopic virus that has one goal in its tiny life, which is to reproduce and survive on a molecular level, it will probably be with us forever no matter what we do. My opinion of course.

Since the beginning, this analyst has advocated against economic shut downs because quite simply, I have always maintained this virus couldn't be stopped no matter what was done. Some might argue, looking back over the last 24 months or so, this claim may be correct.

Some would say that the reason the virus persists is the lack of mask and vaccinations by the total population. However, to assume that everyone on the planet would mask up and accept vaccinations would be akin to claiming we could stop illegitimate births by asking everyone to stop having intimate relations. That certainly would be an unrealistic expectation and an impossible goal, and obviously, our policy responses to Covid may have been just as futile.

That said, 2021 saw both economic improvement and continuing damage as well. It can be safely said, we are nowhere near out of the woods, and a return to normalcy seems farther away now than it did last New Years Day. As we learn just how pernicious the Covid virus is, it may not be going away anytime soon, if at all. It is in this analysts opinion, that to inflict further economic damage by implementing more of the same policies that failed to curtail the spread of Covid since the beginning, may be pushing the economy closer to a breaking point.

Fortunately, capitalistic economies are the most resilient of all when it comes to their ability to continue to operate despite the repeated blows to its mechanisms. Specifically, I am talking about shut downs, crowd throttling, travel restrictions and all the other mandates and regulations implemented because of Covid.

At some point, some argue there is only so much damage a system can endure before it reaches critical mass (think the 2008/09 global banking implosion).

Others, including the powers at be, claim the economy just needs additional help, while implementing more methodologies to halt Covid once and for all, which will lead to a complete reopening of the worlds economies and subsequently a full recovery.

No one can predict just how much the systems of the world can take as it relates to more economic beat downs through egregious policy responses to the Covid Pandemic, but one thing is certain: I for one, don't want to find the limits, because that will mean we will have already exceeded them. If that day arrives, what happens next is anyones guess.

Yuba Water Agency Press Release

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - At its first meeting of the new year, Yuba Water Agency's board of directors elected the new chair and vice-chair to lead the seven-member board in 2022.

Gary Bradford will serve as chairman and Randy Fletcher will serve as vice-chairman.

Bradford is also a county supervisor representing the Plumas Lake and Wheatland areas and spent the last year serving as Yuba Water's vice-chair. He has been on the board since 2017.

Fletcher is a county supervisor representing the foothills and eastern Yuba County and has served on the Yuba Water board for seven years.

"I appreciate the trust my fellow board members are placing in me and I look forward to all of the great work that we will continue to do in the year ahead," Bradford said. "This agency has such a significant role in the future success of Yuba County, and I am truly honored to be given this opportunity."

Yuba Water Agency is a stand-alone public agency created in 1959 to serve the people of Yuba County in the areas of flood risk reduction, water supply reliability, fish habitat protection and enhancement, hydroelectric generation and recreation at New Bullards Bar Reservoir. As the owner and operator of New Bullards Bar Dam and New Colgate Powerhouse, as well as other, smaller facilities, Yuba Water reinvests its hydropower and water sales revenue into projects related to the agency missions that can improve the public safety and quality of life for the residents of Yuba County.

State Finalizes Groundwater Management Principles and Strategies

California Water Board Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Department of Water Resources and the State Water Resources Control Board issued final groundwater management principles and strategies to help protect drinking water wells from the impacts of drought.

Developed in response to Governor Gavin Newsom's drought state of emergency proclamation in April, the principles and strategies provide a framework for state actions to proactively address impacts on groundwater-dependent communities as droughts become more frequent and intense as a result of climate change.

These principles and strategies incorporate hundreds of public comments received earlier this fall, including written comments submitted to DWR and feedback at public workshops and webinars.

"Ultimately, sustainable groundwater basins will help Californians manage through drought – especially those dependent on domestic wells. But we're simply not there yet. These principles will help state agencies, local governments and communities address very real domestic well outages that are starting to occur," said DWR Director Karla Nemeth. "A big thank you to the members of the public who shared their insights with DWR. We are ready to implement."

"We are in a severe drought that, with declining groundwater levels, threatens drinking water wells and makes harmful contaminants become more concentrated in certain areas," said Joaquin Esquivel, chair of the State Water Board. "Articulating clear principles and strategies to manage groundwater, while protecting drinking water, improves the drought resilience of our rural and often disadvantaged communities, who are most burdened and impacted by deteriorating conditions."

The final principles and strategies provide a shared policy framework of near-term drought response and long-term resilience actions by state agencies for those that rely on groundwater for drinking water. The strategies build upon existing programs and newly enacted laws, such as the 2021 drought planning legislation (Senate Bill 552), the implementation of the Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (SGMA), and the Safe and Affordable Drinking Water Fund for Equity and Resilience (SAFER). Following these principles will result in increased coordination and engagement with non-government organizations, Tribes, water agencies, groundwater sustainability agencies, and other local entities to ensure state resources and action support state and local needs. California is committed to increasing the frequency of forecasting data and tools, such as the recently released California's Groundwater Live website, which supports data-informed decision-making and helps prioritize funding for emergency and long-term projects to support communities with drought resilience.

The framework prioritizes protection of public health and safety, as well as preparation and mitigation for the effects of drought conditions over the long term. Six principles describe how to address drinking well water impacts, and include strategies to achieve drinking water resiliency, integrate equity, identify underlying challenges, use best available data, build trusted relationships, and implement lasting solutions.

For more information and to find the final documents in both English and Spanish, please visit the Drinking Water Wells Principles webpage. To learn more about current drought conditions and the state's response, as well as dry well resources, visit drought.ca.gov. ★

California Agriculture Exports Plummet Due to Clogged Ports

California farmers lost $2.1 billion in export sales between May and September due to supply chain disruptions, including congested ports. That's according to a new study from the University of California, Davis. It estimated that containerized agricultural exports dropped by 17% in the five-month period alone. Tree nuts saw the sharpest trade declines, with estimated losses of $520 million. Wine exports were down by $250 million.

Early-Season Storms Boost California Snowpack After 2 Years of Drought

California's snowpack is 160% higher than normal, according to the state Department of Water Resources' first seasonal snow survey. Early winter storms have been a blessing for California agriculture, which has faced severe water cutbacks due to historic drought. But water officials remain uncertain that this year's precipitation will be enough to replenish reservoirs to provide irrigation water through the summer. Snowmelt supplies one-third of California's water supply.

FDA Says it Wants to Simplify Water Testing for Agriculture

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration says it is proposing new rules to safeguard the food supply while also simplifying regulations and testing that govern agricultural water use. The FDA said it hopes to update the Food Safety Modernization Act, which sets standards for growing, harvesting, packing and storing fruits and vegetables. The FDA says it wants to clarify pre-harvest water testing regimens to make it easier for farmers to comply.

UC Davis Researchers Get $6.5 Million Grant for Drought-Resistant Crop Research

The University of California, Davis has been awarded a $6.5 million grant to develop ways to improve breeding pipelines for legumes and sorghum. UC Davis researchers plan to use 3-D modeling, artificial intelligence and crop genetics to help develop farm produce that is better equipped to withstand hotter temperatures and persistent droughts. The grant for the research comes from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. ★

The Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

What goals or challenges might you have set for this great year: 2022? The word “diet” seems to be a bad word. There are too many plans that did not work. So now we say “Let’s start on a healthy regime”. That includes eating more fruits and vegetables, less meat and increasing our activity level. If each of us could adopt one or two parts of this plan, we would probably benefit. Sometimes we set too high a goal, and then are very discouraged when we don’t make it. Take small steps.

Yuba Feather Historical Association plans its quarterly membership meeting on Wednesday, January 26. We gather about 6 pm at the museum in Forbestown and have a potluck dinner about 6:30. An interesting historical program will follow dinner. This is if weather permits. It is hard to know what January weather will bring.

We are hoping that Stone Soup is back on a weekly basis. If we can get enough volunteers we plan to serve soup, salad, bread and dessert every Thursday at noon. So far we are able to manage on a donation status, paying rent and buying the salad makings. Volunteers bring soup, desserts and bread. Come on and join us; lunch is fun to visit with friends and neighbors.

Convicted Felon Arrested for Attempted Murder, Domestic Violence

Yuba City Police Department

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - On Thursday January 6, 2022, at approximately 7 p.m. the Yuba City Police Department received a 911 call regarding shots fired in the 100 block of El Verano Way. When officers arrived on scene, they discovered an uninjured female adult and an adult male who had been detained by a witness. Through the investigation, the Yuba City Police Officers learned the female victim and the male suspect, 61-year-old Richard Bender from Yuba City, had been involved in a domestic argument. The female victim was sitting in her vehicle when Bender fired a single shot into the vehicle. A neighbor in the area heard the gunshot and came outside to find Bender still holding the firearm. The neighbor took the firearm from Bender and held it until the police arrived.

Officers learned Bender was a convicted felon and prohibited from owning or possessing firearms and/or ammunition. During a search of his residence, an additional firearm was located. Bender was arrested and booked into the Sutter County Jail for attempted murder, felony domestic violence, felon in possession of a firearm, and felon in possession of ammunition. The case has now been turned over to the Sutter County District Attorney’s office for prosecution. ★

In the event tender other than cash is accepted, the Trustee may withhold the issuance of the Trustee's Deed Upon Sale until funds become available to the payee or endorsee as a matter of right. The property offered for sale excludes all funds held on account by the property receiver, if applicable. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Nationwide Posting & Publication at 916.939.0772 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Website address www.nationwideposting.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA07000185-21-1. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Notice to

Tenant NOTICE TO TENANT FOR FORECLOSURES AFTER JANUARY 1, 2021 You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916.939.0772, or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case CA07000185-21-1 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF MELINDA L. JONES
Case NO. PRPB22-00001

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate or both of Melinda L. Jones.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by: WILLIE LEE JONES in the Superior Court of California, County of: Yuba

The Petition for Probate requests that (name): Willie Lee Jones be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: March 28, 2022 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 4 located at Superior Court of California, County of Yuba, 215 5th Street Ste. 200 Marysville, CA 95901.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58 (b) of the California Probate code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California Law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

YUBA COUNTY PET OF THE WEEK

Hi I'm Sable!

I'm a beautiful momma shepherd here at Yuba County ACS. I had my babies here at the shelter and now that they are all grown up, I am ready to be adopted! I'm a very special girl. I have a lot of anxiety when alone and some see me as destructive...but when I am with my person all I want to be is a lap dog.

I will do best in a home where I will get a lot of love and attention and minimal alone time. I listen very well and am food motivated. I love to lay in your lap and cuddle.

If you'd like to meet me, please give the shelter a call
