Special YWA Release

YUBA COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Yuba Water Agency has received a distinguished contribution award from the California Association of Science Educators (CASE) for its Yuba River watershed curriculum project. The project is the cornerstone of the agency's broader watershed education program, which aims to promote stewardship and awareness of the region's water and natural resources.

"We're honored to receive this recognition and grateful for the many partners who have helped shape our education program into what it is today," said Willie Whittlesey, Yuba Water's general manager. "We hope these efforts will expand opportunities for Yuba County students and inspire them, instilling a life-long appreciation for the incredible natural resources we have in our backyard." The agency's curriculum development project began in 2020 with an inaugural cohort of 45 teachers who received training on the Yuba River watershed and how to create lessons that meet California Next Generation Science Standards. Teachers then worked in smaller, grade-level groups to develop more than 175 Yuba River-focused lessons in science and other subject areas covering all K-12 grades and several community college lessons. "This award is really for all the

Yuba College Special Release

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Dr. Tawny Dotson, Yuba College President, recently completed the Aspen Rising Fellowship, a prestigious, selective, and intensive program focused on transformational college leadership, cultural change, and collective action partnerships.

"Being selected to participate in the Aspen Presidential Fellowship was an honor of a lifetime," Dotson said. "Over the course of the past 15 months I have been amongst the nation's best community college leader's past, present, and future. Every lesson I've learned has been and will continue to be applied to my work at Yuba College."

Dotson said Aspen Rising taught her how to focus on what's going to drive and increase a students' ability to access, continue, graduate, and find transfer or employment. She said her students deserve the very best which was her motivation for participating in the program.

Dr. Mary Rittling, Dotson's fellowship mentor, said when she was first assigned Dotson, she knew by the end of the initial conversation that she was a dynamic person and a great fit for the program.

"She (Dotson) became a college president at the most difficult time. Everything she conceived the position would be like changed because of COVID," Rittling said. "She thought beyond the

Magill Memorial Bench Set to Be Installed in DC

By Seti Long

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - After a great outpouring of community support, the Magill family is preparing to make a special trek back to Washington DC, where they lost their daughter in a tragic attack.

Margery Magill, a Yuba-Sutter native, was killed in August of 2019, while she was walking a dog in Washington DC's Wangari Park.

A bench in her memory was built at Wheatland Union High School out of steel. The bench recently got a purple powder coating and clear coat, generously donated by Sanchez Powder Coating of Yuba City, and is now complete. Margery's father, Jeff Magill, says that building it has been a community effort and that much of the labor and materials have been donated. Magill intends to fly out to DC for the fall workday at Wangari Gardens, the park where he lost his daughter, on October 23rd to help install the memorial Bench.

Margery was just 27 years old when she lost her life. A memorial scholarship has been set up in her honor. If you would like to donate to the Margery Magill Scholarship Fund, please visit Mechanics Bank or contact Jeff Magill directly at 530-306-0822. ★

State Lawmakers Choose Style Over Security for Capitol Annex Project

Commentary
by Michael Leighton

If we’ve learned anything from the January 6 insurrection, it’s that we can’t take security for granted. Unfortunately, it seems state lawmakers do not share that same sentiment. Why? Because they’re planning to build a new glass Capitol building with multiple weak spots, in stark contrast to all other state Capitols.

As a former Marine, current architect, and long-time Californian, I have concerns.

While there’s quite some irony that the convoluted Capitol Annex Project is destined to end with a “crystal palace,” that’s not where my concerns lie. They lie in the fact that no legislator or architect involved in the project discussed how an all-glass exterior poses security risks for state employees.

In these turbulent times when we are routinely reading news reports of attacks on our schools and government buildings, many in the architectural profession choose to increase our facilities’ security capacities to ensure the safety of our children and government workers. If it were up to us and security were the primary goal of the facility, we would put the buildings in an underground silo with only one entrance and exit. Considering most people would balk at all state facilities being built underground, we as architects must strike a balance between a fortress and a primarily glass structure with numerous access points, the latter of which is what is being proposed for the new Capitol Annex.

Short of cladding the structure in ballistic glazing, which is cost prohibitive, a glass exterior provides ample opportunity for foul play. Without any exterior walls, like the current granite and plaster walls of the Capitol and Annex buildings which block small arms rounds, the occupants near the exterior are unable to take cover from possible gun fire. In addition, all-glass walls would disclose the internal movement of law enforcement, such as escorting a high-ranking State leader to safety, as any efforts inside the building would be exposed to the attacker’s view outside the building.

As we saw from the January 6 attack, the ability to immediately seek effective cover saves lives while law enforcement tries to get the situation in hand.

Outside of the all-glass concerns, lawmakers are also planning to wrap the proposed Annex basement with a parking garage on three sides. This, too, poses security risks. Not only from vehicular laden bombs, but from aerosol toxic agents which could be released into the building through the parking garage, agents such as those used in the 1995 Tokyo subway attacks.

The proposed Capitol Annex would include new glass features with multiple weak spots surrounding the Capitol building. Image provided by Perry Communications Group, Inc.

If you look at State Capitols around the country, you’ll find some similarities – they’re sturdy, tough buildings made out of materials such as marble, sandstone, granite, or brick. Why? Because the architects involved in each Capitol’s creation knew that a state’s legislative hub needs to be regal, functional and, most importantly, safe. Even today, the California State Capitol stands firmly with its Neo-Classical style; why would we weaken her by attaching a delicate glass building to the back?

Clearly, our lawmakers have forgotten about the 2001 incident where a semi-truck rammed into the south steps of the Capitol causing a large fire and $13.5 million in damages. And, we know that the cost of the repairs from the January 6 attack has already exceeded $1 million, primarily from busted doors and smashed windows – could you imagine how bad the damage would have been if the U.S. Capitol were made of glass instead of stone, marble, and iron?

California’s lawmakers are choosing a trendy design over the safety of staff and the millions of visitors who tour the Capitol each year.

It’s time to stop this wasteful, and now, dangerous project.

Michael Leighton is a California architect, former Marine, and the third Marine in history selected to attend the Army Special Forces Qualification Course; graduating with specialties in weapons and demolitions. He also spent six years in Northern Virginia as the manager of a large, highly classified security contract for a government agency. ★

PREPARING FOR A PUBLIC SAFETY POWER SHUTOFF

During severe weather, high winds could cause tree branches or debris to contact electric lines and start fires. That’s why PG&E may need to turn off power during severe weather to help prevent wildfires. This is called a Public Safety Power Shutoff (PSPS). While turning off the power helps prevent wildfires, we know it can be disruptive. We are working year-round to improve PSPS events for our customers and communities.

HERE ARE 5 WAYS TO PREPARE FOR A PSPS:

Make sure PG&E can reach you before a PSPS by updating your contact information at pge.com/mywildfirealerts.

1

Pack or restock your family’s emergency kit including food, water, batteries, radio and a first aid kit.

2

Make preparations for anyone in your family who depends on electricity for medical needs.

3

Practice manually opening your garage door.

4

Ensure any backup power sources are ready and safe to operate.

For translated support in over 200 languages, please contact PG&E at 866-743-6589.

Will New Measures Fix California's Colleges?

By Dan Walters
CALMatters

As California's population swelled in the post-World War II era, thanks to a flood of newcomers from other states and the postwar baby boom, it had a major impact on the state's colleges.

New Californians, many of them veterans seeking education under the GI bill, and, eventually, the baby boomers sought college degrees as tickets to prosperous futures. Meanwhile, the state's economy needed educated workers as it evolved from agriculture and other resource-based sectors into manufacturing, logistics and technology.

There was, however, little or no logic to how the University of California, state colleges (later universities) and an expanding array of locally governed community colleges met the demand. Each segment, and often each college, decided which students would be admitted and what courses would be offered.

As the collegiate chaos worsened, Gov. Pat Brown, elected in 1958, proposed that the three be folded into a single higher education system, as other states were doing. However, his proposal didn't sit well with those running the schools and the upshot was a compromise called the "Master Plan for Higher Education."

Adopted in 1960, the plan sought to define each segment's role, minimize competition for students and money, and make movement of students from one level to another seamless.

The University of California would take in the brightest 12.5% of high school graduates, conduct research and award doctorate degrees in a variety of fields. State colleges would admit the top 33% of high school grads, train professionals such as teachers and engineers and award master's degrees. Community colleges would handle anyone else "capable of benefiting from instruction," award two-year associate degrees and prepare students for transfers into four-year schools.

That was the theory, anyway, and it kind of worked for a decade or two, but began to fall apart for many reasons — demographic, economic, financial and political — and has largely existed on paper during the last few decades.

Periodically, politicians and educators have toyed with the idea of overhauling the master plan, but in higher education, as with other public programs, inertia reigns. Those who wield authority, however flawed, are generally unwilling to risk it via systemic change.

Occasionally, the Legislature has tinkered with aspects of the plan but the three sectors have steadily become more competitive and the theoretically seamless pathway for students to climb through the systems has often been choked. The state universities sought, with some success, to penetrate UC's monopoly on doctorate degrees and the community colleges, likewise, gained the experimental ability to offer four-year degrees in a few fields.

Last week, Gov. Gavin Newsom signed a sheaf of higher education bills, some of which purport to shore up master plan weaknesses.

"We're turning commitments into reality by ensuring that our students have more access to high-quality educational opportunities, creating a change of course for generations to come and bolstering California's innovation economy," Newsom said. "Californians have thrived at our world class universities for decades, but not everyone has had similar access. Today that's changing."

The most important measures, Assembly Bill 928 and AB 1111, are aimed at making it easier for students to begin higher education in low-cost community colleges and transfer into UC and the state university systems by eliminating petty curricular conflicts.

Another important one, AB 927, extends the experimental ability of community colleges to award baccalaureate degrees in technical fields that the four-year colleges have shunned.

We don't know whether the package will improve California's lagging ability to provide the highly trained workforce that its economy needs. But it's a commendable, long-overdue effort.

Gut Feelings

How much the U.S. government owes is called the National Debt and to no one's surprise, it grows larger by the day.

Actually by the second.

For a sobering look as to just how fast and how much, check out the website www.usdebtclock.org.

Our debt is about to hit 29 trillion. This is what we spend (and are spending) that we do not take in from taxes and other revenue sources.

That stunning figure does not include our unfunded liabilities, which are debts we are on the hook for but are not yet due (like an end of the month payment at mid-month).

Unfunded liabilities can only be estimated and by estimation, they stand at 157 trillion by that same U.S. debt clock. Other figures tossed about double that. Like I said, it depends on how one figures it.

It took about 200 years for the U.S. to amass its first trillion in debt. Now we borrow that much debt every year. That is the power of compounding. It can help you when saving money but bite you in the you-know-where if you are on the borrowing end.

Just how much is a trillion?

Measured in time, 1000 seconds is about 17 minutes. Sit down for a million seconds and you can resume standing up in 11.5 days.

Repeat the same exercise for a trillion seconds and you wouldn't be there anymore, and probably neither would anything else. A trillion seconds ticks off in 31,688 years.

Imagine that.

Well actually, I can't.

But the over spenders can. Or maybe they can't. Because if they could, maybe they wouldn't spend that much.

Think again.

The current spending figures for the CoVid bailout is about 3.5 trillion dollars. Measured at a dollar a day it stands at about 110,908 years.

This does not include another 1.9 trillion in additional spending proposed in the next bill from Washington.

Do we want it to pass?

Guess that is a matter of opinion right? (And no, I am not giving mine).

Considering the amounts, we can assume it is a foregone conclusion the U.S. will never pay off its debt. With 29 trillion on the hook, it's literally impossible. Too bad for those creditors, which by the way includes American taxpayers.

Reminding everyone about the additional unfunded liabilities, (that figure again is 157 trillion), in years that amounts to "E", also known as error, as that is what my calculator says when I attempt to arrive at a total.

I'm not real good at carrying zeros so hence the reason I list an "E" as an answer. Whatever my calculator says, it basically should say "N" for never.

With a number so large, does it really matter how much we owe?

In the words of Former Vice President, "deficits don't matter".

My opinion is that "deficits don't matter, until they do".

If deficits don't matter, why have deficits brought countless countries to their knees at the moment they did matter?

Better said, deficits don't matter, until they are large enough, then they will.

The question then becomes how large can the U.S. deficit become before the "it matters" moment arrives.

No one knows. What we do know is that moment will arrive eventually. It approaches nearer and nearer with every dollar we spend.

What will happen when the "it matters" moment arrives?

We have countless examples throughout history to draw from:

Inflation gradually accelerates long before the "moment" arrives. Rapidly accelerating inflation will be the next canary in the coalmine. Next will follow rising interest rates, first purposely raised by the monetary authorities, then they will rise on their own uncontrollably. The public bond market will start to convulse and bond auctions (the public markets where debt is sold) will begin to fail. This occurs because interest rates are rising so fast, debt buyers will not commit funds to a fixed interest rate product because rates are rising too fast. The final straw will be lack of confidence in the currency in question, and then, basically, all hell breaks loose.

When the currency has its "Mexican Peso" moment, you can imagine how life will be. Usually governments will then attempt to make a new currency, or get a bailout from somebody. In the case of the U.S., the question becomes is any one entity big enough to bail out the largest economy on the planet?

Let's not go there.

Biden Admin to Send the Taliban Millions in US Dollars After Arming Them With $83 Billion in US Military Weapons | 10 Oct 2021 | Joe Biden supplied the Taliban and their accomplices with several years' worth of US armaments. Rather than destroying the equipment before leaving the country, Joe Biden decided to leave the nearly $85 billion worth of US military equipment to the Taliban. As The Gateway Pundit reported on Sunday -- Joe Biden left 300 times more guns than those passed to the Mexican cartels in Obama's Fast and Furious program. The big story might be the pallets of c-sh the Taliban have been posting videos of pallets of weapons and stacks of $100 bills they have seized. Now the Biden administration is going to send the Taliban millions in "humanitarian aid."

Southwest employee speaks out on canceled flights: 'source says nearly 50% of Southwest Pilots remain unvaccinated' | 10 Oct 2021 | Southwest Airlines canceled more than 1,000 flights on Sunday as employees continue to react to the company's decision to impose vaccine mandates. Earlier this week, employees learned they would be required to be vaccinated by December 8 or face termination. Reports circulating on social media suggest disgruntled employees responded to the mandate with a #sickout. Speaking on condition of anonymity, an employee for Southwest said, "The pilots are very upset. There is no organized sick out, but many employees are very disgruntled." The pushback began Friday when a reported three out of 35 employees showed up for work at the Jacksonville center. According to the source, "almost every flight out of Orlando was cancelled," as employees protested the new mandate. The source went on to suggest that the Biden administration was in touch with several airlines over the past week and "threatened all CEOs" to enforce vaccine mandates.

Frontline doctor claims 100 to 200 members of Congress treated with Ivermectin | 10 Oct 2021 | Dr. Pierre Kory of Frontline Doctors recently tweeted the following: "Between 100-200 United States Congress Members (plus many of their staffers & family members) with COVID...were treated by a colleague over the past 15 months with Ivermectin & the I-MASK+ protocol at FLCCC Alliance. None have gone to hospital."

Federal investigators secretly started using 'keyboard warrants' and asked Google to provide govt with users' search terms | 5 Oct 2021 | The U.S. government is reportedly secretly issuing warrants for Google to provide user data on anyone typing in certain search terms, raising fears that innocent online users could get caught up in serious crime investigations at a greater frequency than previously thought. In an attempt to track down [alleged] criminals, federal investigators have started using new "keyword warrants" and used them to ask Google to provide them information on anyone who searched a victim's name or their address during a particular year, an accidentally unsealed court document that Forbes found shows. Google has to respond to thousands of warrant orders each year, but the keyword warrants are a relatively new strategy used by the government and are controversial.

AG Garland's son-in-law's company issues 'resource' claiming Trump supporters are White supremacists | 9 Oct 2021 | An education [sic] company co-founded by Attorney General Merrick Garland's son-in-law issued a "resource" for teachers this year that claims supporters of former President Donald Trump are White supremacists. The educational workshop released by Panorama Education, co-founded by Alexander "Xan" Tanner, the group's president, revolves around "systemic racism" and includes an article as a resource that states the Ku Klux Klan and attendees of Trump's rallies are both "examples of white supremacy."

Federal Workers, U.S. Service Members Sue Biden Admin Over Vaccine Mandates | 2 Oct 2021 | A group of federal workers, including several members of the military, are suing the Biden administration over a pair of mandates directing all federal workers and military service members to get vaccinated against COVID-19. "Americans have remained idle for far too long as our nation's elected officials continue to satisfy their voracious appetites for power," says the lawsuit, filed by a group of plaintiffs including four Air Force officers and a Secret Service agent, according to The Washington Post. Ten plaintiffs filed a suit in the U.S. District Court in Washington on September 23, seeking for the judge to place an injunction on Joe Biden's vaccine mandates that cover all federal workers and contractors, as well as all members of the U.S. military. ★

California budget includes $5.2 billion for emergency drought relief

California's state budget will allocate $5.2 billion over three years to fund drought-relief projects. The money is intended to secure water supplies and implement the 2014 Sustainable Groundwater Management Act. The funding will also go to a state water efficiency program as well as to the Healthy Soils program. That effort is intended to improve carbon sequestration in the soil and build up organic matter to help retain water.

Pistachio harvest nears robust 1 billion pounds

Pistachios are called an alternate-bearing crop because they produce heavier yields one year and lighter yields the next. This was supposed to be an "off" year for California orchards. But the harvest has been robust. It is expected to meet or exceed 1 billion pounds. That's just below 2020's high-yield year total of 1.05 billion pounds. Pistachios rank fourth among California's agricultural commodities, behind milk, almonds and grapes.

California rice plantings drop by 21% in 2021

Rice plantings in California are at the lowest level since 1992. Farmers are expected to harvest 405,000 acres this year. That's down 21% from 2020. Medium-grain rice remains the dominant variety grown in California, with much of that coming from the Sacramento Valley. All told, California accounts for nearly 70% of the U.S. medium- and short-grain rice supply.

USDA earmarks $100 million to support loans for meat and poultry processing

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is allocating another $100 million in funding to promote community and private-sector lending to expand meat and poultry processing. The effort seeks to safeguard the food supply chain, which suffered serious disruptions during the pandemic. Overall, the Biden administration's Build Back Better Initiative plans to invest $4 billion to strengthen the food chain and promote competition. ★

“Hi there! My name is Roscoe and I am a long-term resident here at Yuba County Animal Care Services. I’ve had a pretty rough start at life, so far. I’ve been a habitual stray landing me at the shelter several times, and then I was taken from my owner due to some severe injuries I sustained. Thanks to the really nice people here, they saved me, and I am all healed up and ready to find my forever home!! I have been cooped up for so long that I get so excited when people walk past my kennel. Many people think I’m too much and don’t want to take me home. I am trying really hard to be a good boy, but I’ve never had the opportunity to be with a family willing to teach me. I sometimes get scared of other dogs, but with slow introductions and patience, I can do pretty well with them! I love to play outside with the staff here. I like to ligations secured by the Deed of Trust and has declared all sums secured thereby immediately due and payable, and has caused a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be executed. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the County where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916)939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearch-Terms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2100286827 Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916)939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearch-Terms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2100286827 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. Stone Soup has been out of commission a good bit these last several months and looking forward to starting up again. Part of the closure was due to Covid, but another part is that those of us who have worked this program for the past few years want a bit of time off, a break. So we are going to try starting up again on Oct. 21 and will be looking for some help from new volunteers. We will begin serving on the first and third Thursdays of each month (except for Thanksgiving) through the rest of the year. We would like some of the new volunteers to shadow us and learn the routines. If all goes well, in January we will start up again every week. Hopefully, Covid will not grow any stronger and we can add some new workers. Come by Books & More in Brownsville if you need any further information.

October 16 is Octoberfest from 11:00 am – 7:00 pm at the Medical Center grounds on Willow Glen Rd in Brownsville. There will be live music, vendors, games, food, beverages and more. Come in lederhosen or a dirndl and enter the costume contest. No one under 21 allowed. No ID no entrance! No exceptions! Entrance fee is $10.00. Wir sehen uns dort ("See you there" in German)

Marysville Art Club New Release

The Marysville Art Club opened its doors for the first time since the pandemic. On October 5th it was a gathering of a group of 50 plus people.

Yes! we ate, we gossiped, we laughed, danced and even sang together. We talked about a new "Open Art Class" that soon will be offered. A "Bunco" game will be forming and we welcomed 10 new members.

Sadly we had to address the issue of our continued fundraising efforts to put a fence around our building to protect its history and protect it from being damaged from intruders. A big shout to the Friends or the Preservation of Yuba County for the donation towards the Fence Fund.

I am guessing we had about 10 different varieties of healthy salads served for lunch, and many delicious pies served for dessert.

Entertaining us with a short drama recital and showing us voice techniques where the "Creative Flow Institute" of Marysville who recently open their studio in the Historic District on Fourth Street.

If your interested in becoming a member or making a donation towards our "Fence" please contact Charline Gondor President of the Art Club 530-218-7065. ★

Meeting ID: 828 1154 1792

The Yuba County Planning Commission will consider the following:

Minor Conditional Use Permit CUP 2021-0001 (Neel): The applicant is requesting to operate an event venue at 5816 Marysville Road (APN: 005-420-018). The project site is located on Marysville Road, roughly one mile north of HWY 20, in the community of Browns Valley. The 2030 General Plan designates the land use as Rural Community and the zoning of the property is Rural Residential, with a 5 acre minimum (RR-5).

The Planning Commission will be considering adoption of the Mitigated Negative Declaration pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act. The public comment period for the Mitigated Negative Declarations is October 15, 2021 to November 04, 2021.

Minor Conditional Use Permit CUP2021-0005 (Sharp): The applicant is requesting to operate an outdoor event venue for up to 150 guests at the Frenchtown Inn. The project site is located at 9858 Frenchtown-Dobbins Road, in the community of Oregon House (APN 060-230-024). The 2030 General Plan designates the land use as Rural Community and the zoning of the property is Rural Residential, with a 5 acre minimum (RR-5).

The Planning Commission will be considering adoption of the Mitigated Negative Declaration pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act. The public comment period for the Mitigated Negative Declarations is October 15, 2021 to November 04, 2021.

Any person wishing to testify on the above projects may attend the Planning Commission meeting by teleconference via Zoom at the prescribed time, or may submit written comments or objections to the Community Development and Services Agency at 915 8th Street, Suite 123, Marysville, CA 95901, prior to the hearing. Copies of the staff recommendations are available for inspection at the same address. If you have any questions, you may contact Vanessa Franken (CUP2021-0001) & Ciara Fisher (CUP2021-0005) at (530) 749-5470.

The Planning Commission's action on the project may be appealed by any interested person to the Board of Supervisors by filing a written appeal with the Planning Department within 10 days following the Planning Commission's final action on the project. If the Board of Supervisors is the final Approving Authority, or if the project is appealed to the Board, the Board's action is final.

If you challenge the action of the Planning Commission on this matter in court, pursuant to Government Code section 65009 you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the Public Hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the Planning Department at, or prior to the hearing.

Yuba Water Agency Receives Distinguished Contribution Award

Yuba County teachers who added one extra thing to their already very full plates last year and worked so hard to develop the new curriculum and test it out in their classrooms,” said DeDe Cordell, Yuba Water’s communications manager and lead on the curriculum project.
Yuba Water is in the process of preparing a second cohort of teachers to implement the lessons in their classes and refine the curriculum before it’s shared countywide. The curriculum is designed to pair with a planned state-of-the-art watershed experience center where students can participate in hands-on, experiential learning. The center is currently in the master planning process.

The water education program began as an idea from one of the agency’s board members, Brent Hastey, after touring a water education center in Sonoma County.
“I am overwhelmed by the idea that we are being honored for this,” said Hastey. “I remember our first meeting on this just a couple of years ago, when we pulled friends from the local education community together to help us dream about what this could be. We all got chills that day. The excitement and energy in the room was just electric. And now, we are so close to giving this gift to all the schools in Yuba County.”
The curriculum project is an ongoing collaborative effort that involves all five of Yuba County’s school districts, the Yuba County Office of Education, Yuba Community College District, South Yuba River Citizens League and the Yuba River Endowment.

Whittlesey accepted the award on behalf of the agency at CASE’s Virtual California Science Education Conference on Friday, Oct. 8.
Yuba Water is a public agency established to serve the people of Yuba County. Established by a special act of the California State Legislature in 1959, the agency’s primary missions are flood risk reduction, water supply reliability, fish habitat protection and enhancement, hydroelectric power generation and recreation at New Bullards Bar reservoir. crisis. She adjusted, adapted, stayed resilient from where we were at to where we are now, and is determined to move in a positive direction. Yuba College is lucky to have her.”
Dotson said the fellowship program came with high expectations, but the rewards of a clearer leadership framework was worth it. There, she was able to focus, hone her skills, and network with incredible leaders.
“I appreciated her thoughtfulness and the way she really evaluated the elements of the program and her role as president,” said Monica Clark, director of the Aspen Rising President’s Fellowship. “This seemed to be a timely opportunity for her, and I look forward to following her journey.”
Dotson identifies as female which makes up 36% of sitting community college presidents. As a member of a minority group of leaders, Dotson said she wants to be a part of changing that for the generations that come behind her.
“I feel responsible for allowing someone to see that leadership, motherhood and marriage are all possible simultaneously,” Dotson said. “I feel responsible for doing it well and setting an example. Most importantly, I feel responsible for now creating opportunities for other female leaders to join me.”

Dotson completed the Aspen Rising Fellowship Sept. 11.
Yuba College, located at 2088 North Beale Rd., Marysville, CA, has been providing quality education to the residents of the Yuba-Sutter area for over 85 years. The 160-acre campus opened its doors in 1962 and offers classes in over 90 programs that prepare students for a certificate, associate degree, or transfer to a four-year college. There are more than 9,000 students enrolled at Yuba College, but the college boasts a small student-to-teacher ratio. The smaller class size signifies more individual instruction attention from professors. For more information about Yuba College, please visit the website at yc.yccd.edu Yuba College has a satellite campus, Sutter County Center. It is part of a two college District which covers 4,192 square miles and all or part of eight counties. ★

Master Gardener Training Program Set

UCCE Sutter-Yuba Counties News Release

YUBA-SUTTER COUNTIES, CA (MPG) - Sutter and Yuba residents may participate in a 64-hour training program to become a UC Master Gardener volunteer through the University of California Cooperative Extension. The training classes will be held in Yuba City.
An introduction to horticulture, soils and water, weeds, insects, lawns, pests, landscape, fruit trees and disease diagnosis will be part of the curriculum. The cost of the program is $175.00 which includes three U.C. reference books.
Individuals must pass a written exam, be able to volunteer a minimum of 50 hours their first year and 25 hours thereafter. They also must be able to easily communicate by telephone and in person.

The deadline to submit applications for Sutter and Yuba County residents is Thursday, November 18, 2021. Applications and more information are available at the UCCE Sutter-Yuba Counties office, 142A Garden Highway, Yuba City or call (530) 822-7515.
Classes begin in February. A mandatory “Sutter-Yuba Master Gardener Program Introduction” is scheduled for Friday, December 3, 2021, from 3:00p.m. to 4:30p.m. Training will be every Wednesday from February 9, 2022 to May 25, 2022. ★

Arson Arrest in Fire Investigation at Former Peachtree Mall

Thomas Wright Booking Photo - Yuba County Jail 10/2/2021

Yuba County Sheriff's Department Press Release

LINDA, CA (MPG) - On Monday night 10/4/2021, Yuba County

Sheriff Detectives arrested 32-year-old transient Thomas Paul Wright for Arson, Attempted Murder, Burglary and Criminal Threats, following an investigation into the fire that destroyed the former Peachtree Mall building at 6000 Lindhurst Avenue in Linda on the morning of 10/2/2021.
Deputies removed Wright from inside the vacant mall after they arrived to the scene of the fire at approximately 5:30 a.m. Saturday. Wright was determined to have a warrant for violation of probation, and he was booked into the Yuba County Jail that morning, where he remained in custody at the time of his arrest last night.

After additional investigation, a victim came forward to report that she had been in a domestic violence confrontation with Thomas Wright inside the old mall the morning of the fire, when it escalated to Wright threatening to kill them by burning down the building. Thomas Wright then reportedly proceeded to light insulation and other materials on fire inside the building.
Wright remains in custody at the Yuba County Jail with a bail of 1 million dollars. ★

The Smoking Gun

The minutes of the North Yuba Water District May 25, 2017, Board Meeting are the smoking gun showing that County Supervisor Randy Fletcher has been an active participant in assisting the Water District to sell its water since 2017. One does not expect a public agency to betray its customers by trying to sell the water it is supposed to be providing to its users, but that is exactly what the Directors of North Yuba Water District, Gary Hawthorne, Doug Neilson, Donnie Forguson, Fred Mitchell, and Ginger Hughes, along with the assistance of Supervisor Fletcher, intend to do. As long as these directors are in office, the District will be trying to deny people their water however it can.

Meeting minutes: “President Forguson said Yuba County Supervisor Randy Fletcher has asked if the District would send General Manager Maupin to the meetings of the ACWA (Association of California Water Agencies) in Southern California later this year. It was noted that the district has no budget for travel to attend these meetings. The meetings provide opportunity for the district to keep pace with changing regulations and technologies. It also provides opportunities to meet agencies interested in possible purchases of water that could fund needed District infrastructure. It was also suggested that local meetings of the ACWA can be attended by both Mr. Maupin and a North Yuba Water District director. All present board members concurred to agendize creating a travel budget.”
