California Reopens

Things you need to know about COVID-19

California is opening, for now. Everyone hopes that the worst days of this virus are behind us. Photo courtesy Ketut-Subiyanto

By Ana B. Ibarra, CALMatters.org

Fifteen months after Californians faced their first COVID-19 stay-at-home order, most mandates will be lifted on Tuesday. And what a journey it's been – just months ago, hospitals were overwhelmed with severely sick people seeking scarce beds.

But while California's outlook is brighter, COVID-19 remains a very real threat. Even though the state's infection rate and hospitalizations are at an all-time low, the pandemic isn't over. People are still dying from COVID-19, just at lower rates than six months ago.

Restrictions like physical distancing and mask-wearing offered some protection to people who have not yet been vaccinated, and now that most of those are going away, infections are expected to start rising, said Dr. Kirsten Bibbins-Domingo, an epidemiologist at University of California, San Francisco.

As of Friday, (June 11) 54.6% of eligible Californians – everyone 12 and older – have been fully vaccinated. Another 11% have received one dose.

But as vaccine demand fades, public health officials worry how new infections will play out among those not yet protected. Will the state see another uptick in cases? Who is vulnerable and where?

Here are six things you should know about where infections, deaths and vaccinations stand today.

At the peak of the pandemic, 17% of people in California tested for COVID-19 were infected. For about a month now, it's been under 1%.

Last week, California recorded between 792 to 1,136 new infections every day. That's comparable to the early days of the pandemic last spring.

Hospitalizations also have been on a downward trend for several months. As of Friday, 1,263 people statewide were hospitalized with COVID-19 and another 261 were in intensive care. During the mid-January peak, more than 22,000 infected people were hospitalized and more than 4,800 were in ICUs.

It's a new record low: Hospitalizations are now less than half what they were in mid-October, when around 3,000 infected people were hospitalized, according to the 14-day average.

At one point in the winter, nearly

Regional
United Way
Events
Returning to
"Near Normal"

Yuba-Sutter-Colusa
United Way

YUBA-SUTTER REGION, CA (MPG) - With the pandemic easing and California "opening," Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way has announced the return of three events this Summer and Fall!

The 11th Community Resource Fair returns on Saturday, August 21 from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at a new location – Sam Brannan Park – on Gray Avenue in Yuba City next to Gray Avenue School. There's no charge to attend or exhibit. The fair connects residents with no-cost and low-cost programs and services provided by non-profit and governmental organizations. The last Fair, in 2019, featured 70 exhibitors and drew a crowd of about 600, who enjoyed a free lunch and dozens of prize drawings. Exhibitors need to register ASAP by calling Terry at (530) 743-1847.

The 6th Golden Autumn Wine Festival kicks off the Fall season at the beautiful apple orchard at Bishop's Pumpkin Farm on Sunday, September 19 from 11:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The event features tasting samples from about a dozen regional wineries. Wine purchases available from most exhibitors. Food also available for purchase. Tickets will go on sale around August 1 through Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way's website and through the Bishop's Pumpkin Farm website. More information coming soon!

The 9th Halloween-themed Spooktacular River Run is set for Saturday, October 30 at Gauche Park in Yuba City. The officially timed 5k/10k event generally draws about 250 runners traversing the Feather River levees. Awards given and a continental breakfast available. Entry forms available beginning in September.

"It's such a relief to see life returning to a mostly normal status and for non-profit organizations to be able to once again raise much needed funding to carry out their programs and services to assist tens-of-thousands of residents," said Bob Harlan, Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way.

"Naturally, should the status of the pandemic change, safety measures will be taken in line with any state requirements," Harlan said.

In addition to the three returning events listed above, YSC United Way

Grant Awarded to Yuba County Nonprofit Focused on Creating Defensible Space

Communications

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - This wildfire season, mobilizing Californians to protect their homes, businesses, communities, and the environment from wildfire is more important than ever. The work of local California Fire Safe Councils (FSCs) is critical to strengthening the safety and preparedness of local communities during the 2021 wildfire season.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) continues its strong support of local FSCs and non-profit organizations that are focused on reducing the threat of wildfires in its communities, with $2 million in grants for projects scheduled in 2021. Of that, $20,000 of that will go to the Yuba Watershed Protection & Fire Safe Council to support a defensible space assistance program.

"With our Community Wildfire Safety Program, we focus on reducing wildfire risk by meeting and exceeding state vegetation safety standards, continuing to harden our electric grid with stronger power lines and poles and by integrating new tools and technologies. But we can't do it all alone. We need to work together and enable each other to prepare for this wildfire season, which is why the work of the local Fire Safe Councils is so essential," said Peter Kenny, PG&E interim vice president of vegetation management.

Since 2014, PG&E has provided $17 million in grant funding to support local FSCs in their efforts to improve fire safety in communities. Typical FSC projects include reducing fuel, creating fuel breaks, and improving fire evacuation routes and emergency access roads.

The Yuba Watershed Protection & Fire Safe Council will use the funds to support the Yuba Foothills Special Needs Defensible Space Assistance Program of 2021, which helps residents unable to afford or perform the work themselves to create a defensible space on their properties.

"We are thrilled to partner with PG&E again to bring this vital community service to residents, ahead of what has the potential to be a particularly challenging wildfire season," said, Steve Andrews, executive director for YWPFSC.

For more information on the YWPFSC defensible space assistance program, visit <https://www.yubafire-safe.org>.

"PG&E's vegetation management team members located in Yuba County have a close working relationship with Steve and his team," said Joanne Drummond, supervisor for PG&E's Vegetation Management Programs in the Sierra Division. "We work with the local Fire Safe Councils and other organizations to target areas of fire concern and provide our regional vegetation work schedules all with the goal of reducing fire risk in the communities we serve." ★

What Happens to the Home and Economy When Women Leave the Workforce?

Commentary
by Andi Simon

The pandemic-induced recession forced many women to drop out of the workforce, with research showing they were much more likely than men to give up jobs so they could take care of children when schools went online.

The consequences of these decisions may go beyond each individual, though.

“They could have large repercussions for the economy, the home, and society as a whole, says Andi Simon (www.andi-simon.com), a corporate anthropologist, founder of Simon Associates Management Consultants, and author of the upcoming book Rethink: Smashing the Myths of Women in Business.

Some ramifications of this 2020 exodus from the workforce for women could include:

A drop in consumer spending. When one spouse loses a job, whatever the reason might be, it means an immediate and sudden drop in income for that household. “The impact on household earnings will lead to reduced spending,” Simon says. “That will have ripple effects throughout the economy.”

An impact on women’s careers and advancement. Eventually, many of these women will no doubt go back to work, but how

“The impact on household earnings will lead to reduced spending,” Simon says. “That will have ripple effects throughout the economy.” Image by Googlerankfaster from Pixabay well they will be able to just pick up their careers where they left off could be another matter, Simon says. “Will they have lost ground in the line for promotions to men who didn’t take any time away from work?” she asks. “Also, depending on how slow the recovery is, rejoining the workforce might not be that quick and easy.”

A reduction in demand for family-related industries. When both spouses work outside the home, couples often need to make use of services that developed or grew because one adult – usually the woman – wasn’t around to take care of certain household duties. For households where a mother is now back in the home, that has changed. “They no longer need to pay someone for childcare services,” Simon says. “In addition, the need for house-cleaning services is likely to drop.”

Changes to retail markets. A woman who stays home with the kids has different needs than a woman who commutes to an office each day, and those differences could be reflected in the world of retail, Simon says. Just as an example, there could be a drop in demand for makeup. Sales of business attire for women may plummet – or at least take a hit as more casual, comfortable clothes become more important wardrobe necessities. Restaurants could continue to struggle as people eat out less and cook at home more.

Entrepreneurial urges could shift to home businesses. Some women could still keep their career mindsets and try to establish their own businesses run from their homes, Simons says. But she cautions that there are questions about just what those businesses might be since some potential areas – such as marketing, consulting, and business coaching – have seen a downshift in demand for their services. “That leaves you to wonder just how viable setting up a home business might be,” Simon says.

Despite all those concerns, some good can come out of this period as well for women who want a better life both personally and professionally, Simon says.

“If you’ve not been satisfied with your career and your life, this could be an opportunity to rethink and rewrite your personal story,” she says. “You need to imagine what you want to become, focus on how to make that possible, and then begin to take steps to make it happen.”

Dahle Opposes Tax Increases and Costly Regulation on Businesses

By Eric Brahms,
Office of Assemblywoman
Megan Dahle

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On June 3, 2021, Assemblywoman Megan Dahle (R-Bieber) and other Assembly Republicans were successful in stopping legislation advanced by the majority party in Sacramento that would have imposed a costly excise tax on firearms, and several bills proposing more burdensome environmental regulation and red tape on businesses.

“Despite the fact that California is ranked one of the worst states to do business in the nation and we have one of the highest costs of living, the super majority in Sacramento continues to push forward legislation that would make matters worse.” Said Dahle. “Even in the wake of an international pandemic when our businesses are hanging on by a thread, the majority party continues to push forward bills that aggravate these issues. I have, and will continue, to oppose legislation that makes it harder for businesses to survive in our state, and tax increases on our already over-taxed constituents. For now we have stopped these bills, but we must remain vigilant to stave off further attempts by the majority party that will only make life more expensive for Californians.”

The following bills were successfully stopped on the Assembly floor: AB 1395 would have imposed more misguided environmental regulations that are unachievable. AB 1223 would impose an excise tax on firearms and ammunition. AB 1371 would ban the use of certain packaging materials by small and large online retailers, dramatically increasing the cost to businesses and consumer prices. ★

California Reopens World-Class Music Returns to Tiny Camptonville

two dozen counties had fewer than 10 available ICU beds. In many cases, hospitals had to turn away patients or transfer them to hospitals hundreds of miles away.

The tragedies, however, remain. Fifty-five more people were added Friday to California’s pandemic death toll, which now includes 62,593 people.

In the past few weeks, California has recorded among the lowest numbers in daily COVID-19 deaths, with numbers similar to April 2020.

About two-thirds of eligible residents have received at least one dose of the vaccine. And as the governor likes to remind us, California has administered almost 16 million more doses than the next most populous state, Texas.

State health officials don’t set a vaccination goal for herd or community immunity, since children under 12 – 15% of the population – cannot yet be vaccinated and previously infected people may already be protected.

But experts say that 70% to 85% of the total population must be fully vaccinated to reach large-scale protection against the virus.

The state tracks vaccination progress for those eligible by county. As of last week, Marin County led with 75% vaccinated among its 12 and older population. Lassen County ranked last with 22%. The top six counties with the highest percentage of vaccinated populations are in the Bay Area.

Experts say another wave of infections is possible. But they add that it probably won’t be as severe as the past surges, when labs were overwhelmed with tests and hospitals exceeded their capacity.

Dr. Mark Ghaly, the state’s health and human services secretary, said he expects to see outbreaks, especially in counties with lower vaccination rates. “It’s at those moments of an outbreak that we need to be ready to vaccinate additional people,” he said.

About 56.5% of Black residents and 55% of Latinos have not been immunized, compared to 38% of white residents and 15.5% of Asian Americans, according to the state’s vaccination breakdown.

That means the groups that were harmed the most by the virus are still facing the most risk. Mistrust in the health system and vaccine hesitancy are barriers, but experts say access issues, like the inability to take time off work and lack of transportation are likely the bigger issue.

A significant portion of California’s seniors – about 1.5 million of them – have not yet been vaccinated, despite being among the most vulnerable to the virus. Seniors make up almost 16% of the state’s population, but 73% of COVID-related deaths. Still, 22% of them have not been vaccinated.

People 65 and older have been eligible for shots since mid-January, although the first few weeks were riddled with confusion and supply issues.

Many seniors may be facing access issues. If they don’t drive, they likely rely on family members’ schedules. If they are ill or homebound, they might be waiting for public health departments and providers to come to them.

Experts say it also will be important to see how infections play out among kids, many who will be heading back to the classroom soon for the first time in a long time. About 34% of children ages 12 through 17 have received at least one dose.

Vaccines for the approximate 6 million children in California younger than 12 years may not be available well until the fall. Last month, Pfizer said it expects to seek emergency use authorization from the Food and Drug Administration for its vaccine for kids 2 to 11 years old in September.

Ghaly said there are two reasons people may need booster shots – waning immunity and the need for additional protection because of a more dangerous variant.

“I pray that it is very unlikely that it’s the variant problem,” Ghaly said. But if needed, California is ready to re-up mass-vaccination efforts, he said.

Like with many other diseases, immunity from vaccination can decrease eventually, but because COVID-19 is new, it’s unclear how long protection will last.

Sarah Cahill

Jesse Golden, Camptonville Community Center Advocates

CAMPTONVILLE, CA (MPG) - In the tiny unincorporated town of Camptonville, a world-class music series returns this summer, curated by renowned musician Terry Riley.

On Saturday June 26, Sarah Cahill, nationally acclaimed New Music pianist, will perform compositions by Terry Riley on his own Kingsbury upright piano, in addition to works by Elisabeth Jacquet de la Guerre, Margaret Bonds, Emahoy Tsegué-Marywam Guèbrou and Meredith Monk.

The concert takes place at the Camptonville Community Center, a former Masonic hall now being renovated by the community. Doors open at 5:30 pm, and the concert begins at 6 p.m.; late arrivals will be seated at program intervals. Community health guidelines will be observed.

Terry Riley is an American composer and performing musician best known as a pioneer of the minimalist school of composition. Influenced by jazz and Indian classical music, his music became notable for its innovative use of repetition, tape music techniques, and delay systems. Since 2017, Riley has curated the Sri Moonshine Music Series, bringing world-renowned musicians to perform at Camptonville’s Community Center.

Sarah Cahill, hailed as “a sterling pianist and an intrepid illuminator of the classical avant-garde” by the New York Times and “a brilliant and charismatic advocate for modern and contemporary composers” by Time Out New York, has commissioned and premiered over sixty compositions for solo piano. Composers who have dedicated works to Cahill include John Adams, Terry Riley, Frederic Rzewski, Pauline Oliveros, Julia Wolfe, Yoko Ono, Annea Lockwood, and Ingram Marshall. Keyboard Magazine writes, “Through her inspired interpretation of works across the 20th and 21st centuries, Cahill has been instrumental in bringing to life the music of many of our greatest living composers.” She was named a 2018 Champion of New Music, awarded by the American Composers Forum (ACF).

The 2021 series lineup, in addition to Cahill, will feature a July concert with Gyan Riley and Peppino D’Augustino, and an August concert with Thollem.

Tickets ($25) ($20 for Community Center members) for the Cahill concert are available at www.brownpapertickets.com/event/5140692. The Camptonville Community Center is located at 15333 Cleveland Avenue in Camptonville, 25 miles north of Nevada City, California on Highway 49, and can be reached at cvillecommunitycenter@gmail.com, or at 530-288-5016. ★

PG&E is Fully Opening ‘Standard’ Family Campsites at all 38 Campgrounds

By Paul Moreno, PG&E

CHICO, CA (MPG) - After a partial opening, more campsites are available at PG&E’s 38 campgrounds, with all standard family campsites to be re-opened by July 11.

Starting this week, more campsites can be reserved at www.pge.com/recreation.

Some PG&E campgrounds offer reservations in addition to first come first serve camping.

Large-group campsites and group day-use areas will remain closed due to COVID-19 precautions, except for sites at Kidd Lake and Bear Valley campgrounds in Placer County.

PG&E’s day-use areas that offer picnic areas, boat ramps and roadside rest areas will also be fully opened with restrooms and trash collection, except for certain group day use areas.

The camping season runs until about the end of September for most PG&E campgrounds.

From the Pit River country in the Cascade Range, to the King’s River region in the southern Sierra Nevada, PG&E’s recreational facilities have been available for the public to enjoy for many decades.

Locations such as Lake Almanor, Lake Spaulding and Lake Britton are engineered to create clean energy through a large hydroelectric system. These sites also feature PG&E campgrounds and picnic areas.

Most of the lakes offer fishing, swimming and boating. Please obey signage and don’t cross buoy rope lines as these areas are not safe.

Critically dry conditions in California are affecting lakes and reservoirs throughout the state. Please be aware that this will likely impact PG&E recreation facilities, especially later in the season. Lower lake and reservoir levels can expose previously unseen hazards or bring them closer to the surface, so PG&E urges more caution when recreating in water. Lower water levels may also necessitate the closure of some facilities.

For updates and information about PG&E facilities, visit www.pge.com/recreation. ★

Sign Up for the Yuba-Sutter Youth Mariachi Orchestra!

Get a chance to show off your own unique voice with the Yuba-Sutter Youth Mariachi Orchestra. Photo: Yuba Sutter Arts and Culture

Yuba Sutter Arts and Culture

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG)

- Yuba Sutter Arts and Culture in collaboration with the Alliance for Hispanic Advancement is very pleased to announce their newest youth performing arts program, the Yuba-Sutter Youth Mariachi Orchestra. This is a new ensemble being formed this summer and leading into the fall school semester. The program will be open to all high school age students with or without prior musical experience. This program is being offered to the community for free including instruction and instruments at no cost to all members of the community.

The orchestra will be made up of violins, trumpets, guitars including a higher pitched guitar called a vihuela and an acoustic bass guitar called a guitarrón, and all players will also have the opportunity to take turns singing lead and doing backup vocals. Once the orchestra is ready for prime time, performers will be outfitted with traditional charro outfits.

The lead instructor for the program will be professional musician, Miguel Figueroa, who leads the Sacramento-based Mariachi Los Gallos orchestra and has been teaching mariachi for many years. Miguel will be joined by two teaching assistants to provide personalized instruction for students. In addition to teaching the artistry of mariachi performance, Miguel also likes to show students how they can begin to make money performing once they reach a reasonable level of competency. It becomes more like a CTE program for young people or maybe it is CAE, Career Arts Education for young musicians.

“We are so please to be able to offer this wonderful new musical arts program for our local youth,” said Vera Correa, Alliance for Hispanic Advancement Board Member. “This will allow us to feature and celebrate an important part of the amazing cultural diversity that makes our community so strong and wonderful,” she added.

The history of mariachi dates to the 18th century and evolved over time in the countryside of various regions of western Mexico. Modifications of the music over the years included influences from other musical genres, the addition of trumpets and the use of charro outfits by mariachi musicians. The musical style began to take on national prominence in Mexico during the first half of the 20th century, with its promotion at presidential inaugurations and on the radio in the 1920s. There are many mariachi styles, but they include rancheras, corridos, cumbias, boleros, ballads, marches, polkas and waltzes. Most of the lyrics are about machismo, love, betrayal, death, politics, revolutionary heroes, and country life. The origin of the word is disputed, but it may come from the name of the wood used to make the dance platform or the indigenous people’s name for a certain tree.

Once the YSAC theaters are open fully, an inaugural concert will be performed featuring the brand new, Mariachi Yuba-Sutter! If you have any questions about the Youth Mariachi Orchestra or to register your student, please write to shawntay@yubasutterarts.org or call Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture at 530-742-2787. ★

Elder Abuse on the Rise in Yuba County

By Kathleen Newton,
Northwest Media
Consultants

YUBA COUNTY, CA (MPG) - “Elder abuse is something people don’t talk about very much,” notes Elena Salazar, a social worker supervisor with Sutter County Health and Human Services. “But it is a real issue here and it is growing as our population ages.”

According to officials in Yuba and Sutter counties, elder abuse is a serious issue that promises to get worse in the future. In particular, financial abuse and self-neglect dominate the more than 900 elder abuse cases the two counties handle annually.

June is National Elder Abuse Awareness Month and local officials are speaking out about the problem. “I think sometimes we focus on other types of crimes and don’t talk about abuse of the elderly,” said Salazar.

“The fact is that the populations most vulnerable to abuse are children and the elderly,” she added. “Children can be removed from dangerous situations, but there is no foster home or safe harbor for the elderly. Some may be placed in nursing homes, but a lot of those places don’t have available beds. So, if there are no family members to care for them, there are very few options.”

Salazar said self-neglect is the most common case she sees in Sutter County, followed by financial abuse. Jason Roper, a program manager with Yuba County Health and Human Services, said both types dominate his county’s caseload, as well.

To spot financial abuse, look for sudden changes in the older person’s financial situation, such as: Suspicious changes in wills or powers of attorney; Financial activity the person couldn’t have done herself; Bills not being paid; Significant withdrawals or unusual purchases. MPG file photo

“About 38% of our cases involve financial exploitation and another 21% are cases of neglect,” Roper said. “On the criminal side, the number one type of financial abuse is adult children caring for their parents, which includes mental and physical abuse.”

He noted that, although the greatest number of Yuba County abuse reports come from Marysville and Wheatland, “when abuse is reported in the foothill communities, it tends to be a lot more serious; it’s gone on a lot longer because of the isolation.”

In Sutter County, Salazar said most cases of self-neglect either involve homelessness or people who are not able to care for themselves in their own homes. “Many of them have lived in their home for decades and don’t want to leave it,” she explained.

“A lot of them won’t move because they don’t want to leave their pets behind.”

When it comes to financial abuse, “We see more abuse by people who are known to the victim than we do internet scams or over the phone,” she added. “These cases can be anything from scams, to people actually taking money out of a person’s bank account. Unfortunately, the victim is sometimes aware of the theft but won’t pursue charges against a family member.”

To deal with elder abuse by caregivers, Roper said Yuba County has 984 clients who benefit from In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS). “They have a caregiver who comes in during the day or periodically to help them continue to live independently,” he explained. “That is a great preventative measure. The caregivers are given county oversight, so there is a lot less abuse with this program.” IHSS services are also available to Sutter County residents.

Both Salazar and Roper agree that isolated individuals are at the greatest risk of becoming the victims of elder abuse. “The majority of abuse cases that I have seen were alone and isolated,” said Roper.

“It’s not just for those people living by themselves,” noted Salazar. “Even if an elder is living with family members or friends, he or she can be isolated by caregivers who want to prevent others from learning about the abuse.”

Experts stress the importance of maintaining constant contact with your elderly loved ones. “Keep calling them,” said Salazar. “Without communication, you won’t be able to see the signs of possible abuse.”

The combined population in Yuba and Sutter counties of those 65 years old or older was 25,433 in 2019. In the next 20 years, as the population grows and ages, that figure is expected to nearly triple, according to State of California projections.

“That’s why it is so important that we become more aware of the signs of elder abuse and that all of us take steps to plan for our own care as we grow older,” Salazar said.

“When you are well and you know how you want things to be handled later, get it down on paper so there will be no confusion in the future.”

Roper stressed the importance of maintaining social connections. “As you get older, it is important to know what social opportunities are available to you in the community,” he said. “If your social needs are being met, you are a lot less likely to be taken advantage of.”

Watch for these signs of elder abuse: Lack of basic amenities; Cluttered, filthy living environment; Unexplained or uncharacteristic changes in behavior; Harassment, coercion, intimidation, humiliation; Caregiver isolates elder.

To spot financial abuse, look for sudden changes in the older person’s financial situation, such as: Suspicious changes in wills or powers of attorney; Financial activity the person couldn’t have done herself; Bills not being paid; Significant withdrawals or unusual purchases.

How to report suspected cases of elder abuse

Joe Wilson of Chico Appointed Regional Vice President for PG&E

Joe Wilson

By Paul Moreno,
PG&E Press Release

SAN FRANCISCO, CA (MPG) - As part of its commitment to enhance focus on safety, security, and operational performance, PG&E announced the appointment of five Regional Vice Presidents and the appointment of Jerry L. Davis as Vice President and Chief Information Security Officer.

The announcement of the regional leaders marks a milestone in PG&E’s plan to move to a regional service model, as outlined in its Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization and its Updated Regionalization Proposal filed February 26, 2021, with the California Public Utilities Commission. PG&E had committed to appoint a regional leadership team by June 1, 2021.

“We have assembled a strong and experienced group of leaders who will live and work in the communities they serve. This will position them to better understand and address the challenges unique to their regions. In doing so, they will have the full support of PG&E’s executive leadership and the functional expertise of our 25,000 coworkers. I know they’re eager to settle in and get to work, and I’m excited to welcome them to the team,” said PG&E Corporation Chief Executive Officer Patti Poppe.

Joe Wilson of Chico is appointed to Vice President for the North Valley & Sierra Region. Wilson joined PG&E in 2012 and currently serves as Director, Community Rebuild and Resiliency Program. In this role, he has led financial planning, engineering, customer strategy, stakeholder engagement, and construction for the regional rebuilding program in Butte County, which was created in response to the impact of the Camp Fire in late 2018. Previously, he was the Regional Local Public Affairs Manager based in Sacramento, where he headed emergency response coordination with state and local agencies during wildfires, floods, and storms, and served as Liaison Officer during the North Bay, Carr, Camp Fire. He joined PG&E as a Senior Government Relations Representative in the Northern Sacramento Valley and Sierra Region after working with public utilities in Plumas County and Indian Valley. He has been active as a volunteer for civic and community organizations focused on employment, education, and economic development.

The Regional Vice

Presidents will report to Marlene Santos, Executive Vice President and Chief Customer Officer, and will be accountable for delivering high-quality performance and for ensuring the safety, availability, and reliability of regional operations. These leaders will be based in their assigned regions, enabling them to stay closely connected with local customers, business organizations, local counties and cities, and other community groups and be responsive to their concerns. Each Regional Vice President will be supported by a local team that will include a Regional Safety Director charged with monitoring and improving safety performance across their assigned regions and partnering with functional leaders to ensure consistency across the company. All Regional Vice Presidents are scheduled to assume their new roles effective June 1, with the exception of Mr. Simes, who starts July 6.

To ensure a diverse slate of candidates for these new positions, PG&E performed a competitive national search, considering both internal and external candidates. The individuals selected were identified as the best qualified based on their skills, experiences, and leadership capabilities, including a deep understanding of utility operations and demonstrated success in building strong relationships with customers and communities. ★

Cold-Water Hazards Require Caution as Spring Snowmelt Accelerates

By Paul Moreno,
Pacific Gas & Electric Company

SAN FRANCISCO, CA (MPG) - Despite the dry year, outdoor recreationists who enjoy California rivers and streams should remain aware of dangerously cold swiftly moving water. Although California’s snowpack is about half of normal, rising temperatures are accelerating the snowmelt.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) urges those who choose to venture near or in water to take extra precautions, especially around hydroelectric facilities and dams, where water flows can change rapidly. Anglers also are encouraged to take precautions as trout season has opened for most California rivers.

“Public safety is our most important responsibility. We encourage everyone recreating in or near water to plan at all times how they can quickly and safely escape in case of changing water flows and cold temperatures,” said Jan Nimick, PG&E vice president of Power Generation.

Despite the dry year, snow runoff is expected to continue into early summer. Most California rivers are fed by snowmelt, making them cold even in summer. Simple actions such as recognizing if the water is too cold or swift, knowing your limits, wearing a life jacket and simply not entering the water when conditions seem unsafe can save lives.

Below are some water safety tips:

Stay Out and Stay Alive - Stay Out of Canals and Flumes - Recreating in PG&E canals and flumes is strictly prohibited. Stay off elevated flumes and out of these water conveyances, regardless of who owns them, as they are very dangerous due to slippery sides and fast-moving cold water. Be mindful of signs and warnings. Stay out of areas that are signed as restricted, fenced off or buoy-lined.

Know the Risks - Prevention is the best way to save a person from drowning. By the time a person is struggling in the water, a rescue is extremely unlikely and places the rescuer at risk. Sudden immersion in cold water can stimulate the “gasp reflex,” causing an involuntary inhalation of air or water. It can even trigger cardiac arrest, temporary paralysis, hypothermia and drowning. When faced with swift water, even the strongest swimmers can be easily overwhelmed. Cold water entering the ear canal can cause vertigo and disorientation. This can confuse swimmers, potentially causing them to venture deeper into the water. Cold water also reduces body heat 25 to 30 times faster than air does at the same temperature and causes impairment that can be fatal.

Learn About Self-Rescue Techniques - If you do fall into the water, here are some survival tips: Don’t panic. Try to control your breathing; don’t gasp. A sudden, unexpected fall into cold water causes an involuntary gasp (or torso) reflex. It takes less than one-half cup of water in a person’s lungs to drown. If you remain calm, you have a greater chance of self-rescue. If you have a boat, stay with it. It will help you stay afloat and will be seen more easily by rescuers. If it’s capsized and a portion of the craft is above water, try to climb on top. Stay afloat with the help of a life jacket, regain control of your breathing and keep your head above water in view of rescuers. If possible, remove heavy shoes. Look for ways to increase buoyancy such as by holding onto seat cushions or an ice chest. If you’re in the water with others, huddle together facing each other to help everyone stay afloat and keep warm. If you do fall into a river without a life jacket, keep your feet pointed downstream and turn onto your back. If you fall into the water with waders on, roll onto the shore. Wear a belt with waders.

Know your Limits - Swimming in open water is more difficult than in a swimming pool – people tire more quickly and can get into trouble. Many unseen obstacles can be lurking below the water’s surface - this is especially the case during spring and early summer snowmelt. Rising water can make these obstacles even more treacherous. Guided trips for inexperienced paddlers are recommended.

Wear a Coast Guard-approved Life Jacket - Conditions change quickly in open water and even the best swimmers can misjudge the water and their skills when boating or swimming.

Adult Supervision - Actively supervise children in and around open bodies of water, giving them your undivided attention. Do not assume that someone is watching them. Appoint a designated “water watcher,” taking turns with other adults. Use the buddy system and never swim alone. ★

Newsom Owes Apology for EDD’s Failings?

By Dan Walters
CALMatters

Were Gov. Gavin Newsom as humble as he often proclaims to be, he would interrupt his “California Comeback” campaign long enough to issue a personal apology to hundreds of thousands of Californians who remain mired in the managerial meltdown at the Employment Development Department.

Yes, as Newsom constantly reminds us, the threat from COVID-19 has diminished and the state’s battered economy is slowly recovering. Nevertheless, California has the nation’s second highest unemployment rate and well over a million California workers are still jobless, many of whom qualify for unemployment insurance benefits — if they can ever get their applications resolved.

Journalists who write about economic issues, including yours truly, receive steady streams of emails from frustrated claimants who can’t get their calls answered and/or have their benefits frozen for reasons that are never explained.

A lengthy message from “Lindsay” typifies the sad syndrome. She worked for a travel agency before being laid off last year and has been dealing with the EDD bureaucracy, or trying to deal, ever since, even after returning to parttime work. One passage:

“It wasn’t until April 22nd that I got my back pay for the previous 6 1/2 weeks I went without a dime. Mind you during this time I had lost my car insurance 2x, missed being able to celebrate Christmas or buy gifts, couldn’t pay rent or really eat. I barely take home $600 twice a month from work too.

“After the last back pay I received it wasn’t even a full week before realizing I had not received any money from EDD. I guess because I had this $1,500 in back pay that was deposited. I hadn’t really calculated the fact that I was missing 2 of my weeks that I just certified for and logged in to my (unemployment insurance) account to see that EDD had randomly disqualified me for 2 weeks of pay without any reasoning, no information sent to me or emailed, and this occurred without notifying my employer.

The problems with EDD first surfaced 14 months ago, when the economy was shutting down due to Newsom’s emergency orders, and Newsom promised to fix them. “We have to meet the moment,” he told reporters then. “We have to provide more support.”

In fact, however, the glitches continued and became steadily worse. The most recent EDD bulletin says it has a backlog of nearly 230,000 unresolved claims, a number that has been growing lately, not shrinking.

When Newsom launched his California Comeback campaign with a lavishly choreographed State of the State speech in March, he obviously meant it to blunt a recall campaign aimed at short-circuiting his political career.

He touted progress on dampening the pandemic and rebuilding the economy and closed with “Our hopeful vision of our brighter future is the basis for the decisions we make today. We place faith over fear — optimism over pessimism. The power is in our hands.”

Newsom did not, however, even mention the never-resolved crisis at EDD that he had promised to repair nearly a year earlier. The revised state budget he unveiled in May does mention it, saying blandly, “The pandemic has exposed many of EDD’s antiquated processes and outdated infrastructure, resulting in a delay or inability for many Californians to access (unemployment) benefits.”

Duh. Everybody, including Newsom, knew that more than a year ago. Subsequently, EDD managed to hand out billions of dollars to fraudsters while jobless workers like Lindsay have suffered economic stress because he didn’t make good on his promise, which is why he owes them a humble apology.

Slip in Small-Business Optimism Draws California Comment

By John Kabateck,
National Federation of Independent Businesses

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Small-business optimism hit a bump in the road in May, according to the release of the National Federation of Independent Business’ Small Business Economic Trends report, also known as the Optimism Index.

“May saw a slight pause in the recovery of small business optimism after steadily increasing each month in 2021,” said a national news release issued by NFIB. “As reported in NFIB’s monthly jobs report, a record-high 48% of owners reported unfilled job openings.”

Commenting locally, John Kabateck, NFIB California’s state director said, “This is not the type of news we would have preferred hearing heading into the vacation months in our state’s tourist-heavy economy. I think some warning lights, if not alarm bells, should be raised especially for our State Legislature. Let’s hit the pause button on the many proposals to increase regulations long enough to let the economy sort itself out – Not that I’m expecting them to do so, but California is the land of dreams.”

From NFIB Chief Economist Bill Dunkelberg - “The labor shortage is holding back growth for small businesses across the country. If small business owners could hire more workers to take care of customers, sales would be higher and getting closer to pre-COVID levels. In addition, inflation on Main Street is rampant and small business owners are uncertain about future business conditions.”

Other key findings include: Five of the 10 Index components improved, three declined, and two were unchanged. The NFIB Uncertainty Index decreased one point to 79. Job creation plans over the next three months rose to a net 27%, up six points. Owners expecting better business conditions over the next six months fell 11 points to a net negative 26%. Earnings trends over the past three months declined four points to a net negative 11%.

US assessing reported leak at Chinese nuclear power facility – Warning of ‘imminent radiological threat’ | 14 June 2021 | The US government has spent the past week assessing a report of a leak at a Chinese nuclear power plant, after a French company that part owns and helps operate it warned of an “imminent radiological threat,” according to US officials and documents reviewed by CNN. The warning included an accusation that the Chinese safety authority was raising the acceptable limits for radiation detection outside the Taishan Nuclear Power Plant in Guangdong province in order to avoid having to shut it down, according to a letter from the French company to the US Department of Energy obtained by CNN. While US officials have deemed the situation does not currently pose a severe safety threat to workers at the plant or Chinese public, it is unusual that a foreign company would unilaterally reach out to the American government for help when its Chinese state-owned partner is yet to acknowledge a problem exists.

The Same Suspicious SQL Software Discovered in Michigan Dominion Voting Machines Was Found in Pennsylvania Dominion Voting Machines | 13 June 2021 | A recent election assessment conducted in Pennsylvania’s Fulton County and published in February 2021, found the existence of the Microsoft SQL database on the Dominion Voting Machines in the county. According to the Fulton County report, the analysts found “no valid reason” for the software to be installed on the system. They also reported that Dominion failed to fill out the appropriate forms regarding the software. This is the same software Michigan Attorney Matthew Deperno’s expert found on the Dominion machines as was demonstrated in Michigan. The software allows anyone with privileges to simply change values in the database directly in order to change the outcome of the election leaving no trace whatsoever.

Reporter who broke story on Clinton-Lynch tarmac meeting found dead | 13 June 2021 | The journalist who broke the story about the controversial 2016 tarmac meeting between former President Bill Clinton and then-Attorney General Loretta Lynch was found dead Saturday morning, according to police. The body of 45-year-old Christopher Sign, a news anchor for ABC 33/40 in Birmingham, was discovered by Hoover police and fire personnel at around 8 a.m. following a 911 call about a person down in a residence in Alabama, according to AL.com. Hoover police Lt. Keith Czeskleba said Sign’s death is being investigated as a suicide, the report added.

Study shows hydroxychloroquine treatments increased coronavirus survival rate by almost three times | 9 June 2021 | A new study shows that the controversial drug hydroxychloroquine touted by former President Donald Trump increased the survival rate of severely ill coronavirus patients. The observational study, published by medRxiv, found that antimalarial drug hydroxychloroquine, along with azithromycin, could increase the coronavirus survival rate by as much as nearly 200% if distributed at higher doses to ventilated patients with a severe version of the illness. “We found that when the cumulative doses of two drugs, HCQ and AZM, were above a certain level, patients had a survival rate 2.9 times the other patients,” the study’s conclusion states.

CDC knew the coronavirus hospitalization rate had fallen among teens but chose to ‘cynically exploit the fears of parents in cover-up to boost vaccination rate’ – | 14 June 2021 | The CDC has been accused of deliberately misleading the public about COVID-19, after claiming that teenagers were being hospitalized in increasing numbers - when preliminary data was already showing the number was actually declining. The June 4 report showed that, in April, hospitalizations of people aged 12-17 rose to 1.3 per 100,000 people. Yet Fox News host Steve Hilton pointed out that when the report was published, the data actually showed figures had been falling. The May and June data showed that hospitalizations among the teens were starting to fall but those figures had been kept out of the report. ★

D-Day

On June 6, 1944, 160,000 Allied troops landed along a 50-mile stretch of heavily-fortified French coastline to fight Nazi Germany on the beaches of Normandy, France. More than 5,000 Ships and 13,000 aircraft supported the D-Day invasion, and by day’s end on June 6, the Allies gained a foot- hold in Normandy. “Our Liberty today is because of someone else’s courage ... June 6, 1944 reminds us of that.”

“Look at Us, Yuba-Sutter” Short Film Festival

Enter Your Own Original 13-minute Cinematic Creation

By David Read, Yuba Sutter Arts

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) -The Sundance and Cannes Film Festival are the ones most everyone has heard of, but how about a film festival for Yuba-Sutter? Yuba Sutter Arts & Culture is pleased to announce the first ever, short film festival focusing on Yuba and Sutter counties. Titled “Look at Us, Yuba-Sutter,” the festival will feature films that are 13 minutes or less in length and that have all been created locally.

So why a film festival? The cinematic arts have become more and more accessible for everyone over the years as the technology is readily available to anyone who wants to tell a story using this artistic medium. The short film format seemed like an ideal way to create a program by providing a prompt for local amateur or professional filmmakers to demonstrate their cinematic visions and then be recognized at a public event. The brainchild of City of Yuba City Councilman, Shon Harris, the idea is to focus on our community and channel the collective creativity of our residents.

“I really wanted to offer a challenge to local creative folks to come up with a cinematic way to document what makes our area so special like the people, places, events and our history,” said Shon. “Fully acted or documentary films and even way-out-there animated films are welcome, as long as they are family friendly,” he added.

There are three filmmaker categories: Student (7th – 12th grades), Amateur and Professional. Film genre categories include Animation, Documentary/Mockumentary, Scripted/Fictional, and Music Video. Cash prizes will be awarded for Best Student Film, Best Amateur Film and Best Professional Film all regardless of genre. In each case, first place winners will receive $200, second place winners will receive $100, and third place winners will receive $50. In addition, a People’s Choice Award will be given for $100 and a Judge’s Choice Award for $100. Films will be judged based on engaging and interesting stories, camera technique, understandable audio, thoughtful lighting and editing transitions and use of music to create mood. Complete Festival Guidelines can be found at yubasutterarts.org.

The deadline to enter is September 19, 2021. Go to yubasutterarts.org to download a participation form. Email your form and film in an MP4 format to abbie@yubasutterarts.org. You may also upload your film to your Google Drive with the share rights set to “anyone with the link can view”, then email the link to abbie@yubasutterarts.org.

The public Film Festival is scheduled for Saturday, October 2, 2021. The length of the Festival will be determined by the number of entries received. “Lights, camera, action!” ★

Multiple EDD Bills Get Senate’s Nod of Approval

By Jacqui Nguyen,
California Senate Republicans

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senate Republicans announce the passage of Senate Bill 39, Senate Bill 58, and Senate Bill 390 by the Senate. These bills address some of the critical lapses in security at California’s Employment Development Department that have contributed to the rampant fraud in unemployment insurance claims this last year. Senate Republicans have made it a priority to correct some of the glaring issues at the agency that resulted in billions of dollars in fraud and ensure the agency is better prepared for the next economic downturn.

These include: SB 39, authored by Republican Senator Shannon Grove, would require the EDD to cross check prison inmate records with unemployment claims to prevent benefits from going to prisoners. SB 390 would require the EDD to establish and routinely revise a recession plan to increase the department’s efficiency during an economic downturn. Republican Leader Scott Wilk, Senator Rosilicie Ochoa Bogh, Senator Brian Jones, Senator Melissa Melendez, and Senator Jim Nielsen are co-authors of SB 390. Senate Bill 58, authored by Republican Leader Wilk, would require the EDD to immediately end the practice of including full social security numbers on its most frequently mailed documents. SB 58 passed the Senate earlier this month and is in the California State Assembly awaiting consideration. SB 232, authored by Republican Senator Nielsen, would implement all of the State Auditor’s recommendations from the previous three audits of EDD. It is scheduled for a floor vote in early June.

“Government completely failed its unemployed citizens this past year and now the governor has failed to prioritize fixing the problems in his budget. It is just heartbreaking to hear from families teetering on the edge simply because their claims are lost in some bureaucratic black hole. These issues need to be addressed and corrected as soon as possible to ensure they do not happen again,” said Senate Republican Leader Scott Wilk (R-Santa Clarita). ★

Plumas National Forest Fire Use Restrictions

Forest Service Press Release

QUINCY, CA (MPG) - Fire use restrictions are effective as of June 15, 2021, within the Plumas National Forest (public land), according to Chris Carlton, Forest Supervisor.

Fire Use Restrictions

(1) You may not build, maintain, attend, or use a fire, campfire or stove fire except in the designated recreation sites noted in Exhibit A of the PNF Forest Order #05-11-00-21-09. Note: campfires must be built within agency installed & approved fire pits within the designated recreation sites.

However, lanterns and portable stoves using gas, jellied petroleum or pressurized liquid fuel are allowed outside of designated recreation sites as long as the forest visitor has a valid California Campfire Permit, available online at: www.ready-forwildfire.org/permits/campfire-permit/.

(2) No smoking, except within an enclosed vehicle, building, designated recreation site (Exhibit A), or while stopped in an area at least 3 feet in diameter that is barren or cleared of all flammable material.

(3) No welding or operating acetylene or other torch with an open flame.

Some people may be exempt from these restrictions if they have been specifically allowed by the Forest Service via a permit or approved plan of operations or if they are a member of any Federal, State, local officer, or member of an organized rescue or firefighting force in the performance of official duty.

Persons with a Special Use Permit from the Forest Service for a recreation residence on the PNF are exempt from #1 & 2 above, while they are at their recreation residence.

Information about fire restrictions on private land (regulated by the CA Department of Forestry & Fire Protection (CAL FIRE)) may be found at: <http://www.calfire.ca.gov>

Woodcutting

Woodcutting is currently allowed within the Plumas National Forest (public land) if the daily fire indices permit. To determine if woodcutting is permitted on a given day, call (800) 847-7766 prior to cutting wood. A recorded message will notify woodcutters if the next day is hoot-owl (no cutting after 1 pm), open all day (no restrictions), or no woodcutting allowed that day.

Note: call before 4:30 pm on the day you plan to cut as the message is updated for the following day at about that time. ★

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA COUNTY OF YUBA IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF: Dulce Yanerine Ruiz Guzman, PETITIONER CASE NUMBER: CVPT 21-523. ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE FOR CHANGE OF NAME

HEARING DATE:
July 12, 2021
DEPT: 4
TIME: 9:30 A.M.

Petitioner(s) Dulce Yanerine Ruiz Guzman filed a petition with this court for a decree changing names as follows:

1) from: DULCE YANERINE RUIZ GUZMAN to: HELOISA TOLTSE-YOSEFA LAPARRA

THE COURT ORDERS that all persons interested in this matter appear before this court at the hearing indicated below to show cause, if any, why the petition for change of name should not be granted. Any person objecting to the name changes described above must file a written objection that includes the reasons for the objection at least two court days before the matter is scheduled to be heard and must appear at the hearing to show cause why the petition should not be granted. If no written objection is timely filed the court may grant the petition without a hearing.

A copy of this order to show cause shall be published at least once each week for four successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing on the petition in the following newspaper of general circulation, printed in this county: Territorial Dispatch.

DATE: June 2, 2021

ance of the Note secured by said Deed with interest thereon as provided in said Note, fees, charges and expenses of the trustee and the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself.

Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not au-tomatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien.
If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postpone-ments be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 or visit this Internet Website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case PFI-211541. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916-939-0772,
or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case PFI-211541 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale.
If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. Dated:

Drought puts More Pressure on Hay Supplies

Because parched pastures won't have enough grass to support their animals, dairy farmers and livestock ranchers need to buy more hay – and that means restricted supplies and higher prices. Organic hay has been in particularly tight supply, principally because of rising demand from organic dairy farmers whose grazing season has been cut short. One hay broker says the shortages will put farmers in "uncharted territory" as the summer progresses.

Pallet Shortages Worry Produce Shippers

Along with shortages of water and of qualified employees, farmers have also been coping with a shortage of wooden pallets. The pallets serve important functions in moving crops from field to packinghouse to customers, but they've grown scarce. Soaring lumber demand and decreased sawmill capacity have reduced availability of new pallets. So far, there's been no significant harvest disruption, though the pallet shortages may linger into next year.

Wine Business Seeks More Supply-Demand Balance

After a year that featured wildfires in growing areas and pandemic-related shifts in demand, analysts say the wine business could see more-balanced markets this year. With pandemic restrictions easing, wineries should see a rise in sales at tasting rooms, and online purchases may remain above pre-pandemic levels. Wildfires, and the smoke they cause, remain a threat to grape production, and drought may reduce yields this year.

Uc Reviews Vineyard Mechanization

Machinery now exists to do everything in a vineyard, and University of California specialists say that could help grape growers overcome chronic problems in hiring enough people. A UC review says about 90% of California winegrapes are mechanically harvested, and that other activities such as vine pruning can also be delegated to machines. But the review says the ability to mechanize depends on factors particular to each vineyard.

The Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

It sounds like Tony's Smoke Shop has many more things to sell than "smokes". Check out their raffle plan. There is some activity in the space next to Books & More. We are patiently waiting to see what is happening. Any time a new business opens up, we hope for the best.

Books & More is trying to start a book group for kids. They meet Friday mornings; pre-readers meet with Tina at 10:00 and readers (of any age) meet with Marian at 11:00. Please call for more information : 675-3275.

Have you tried the Yukon Food Co-op? There are many interesting things to check out. Kate and Connor bought Steve Halstead's auto shop and are creating at cooperative venue in which farmers, bakers and more can sell their goods. It is open Wednesdays through Saturdays from 10 – 6. Friendly people; come check it out.

Schools are out, summer is here. Sure wish we had some rain. Lakes are too low to enjoy. Now that we can have Gatherings, we sure need to be fire safe. Tina has been working hard on the small garden area next to the bookstore. We would love to have more community members involved so more food can be shared. Watering and weeding is what is needed.

If you haven't heard yet, the Mountain Fair is back and happening on August 21 & 22 at the Sutter North Medical Center grounds on Willow Glen Rd. in Brownsville.

This annual event started in 1974 and ran for about 30 years as an extremely successful and well attended event with attractions, vendor booths, food, beverages, entertainment, logging competitions, bake contest, and more. Each person will be handed a program as they enter the gate. It will be printed on newsprint as in days of old. If you wish to advertise your business, club, etc. in the program it is $50.00 for a quarter page ad. Each page will be 11 x 14 to give you an idea of the size of a quarter page. YFCS (Yuba Feather Community Services) is putting on this event and funds are used for the event. If interested, please contact Christine Mills at either irishshopgirl.12@gmail.com or call 530-675-9225. See you at the fair!

Attention all those who love to bake! Do you have a pie, cake or cookie/bar recipe that you know "takes the prize" and wish to enter into the Mountain Fair Baking Contest? There will be two divisions, Adults (18 and over) and Juniors (12-17) You can enter one category or all three. "There will be awards for 1st, 2nd, 3rd place in each division and category and a $50.00 "Best in Contest" award for each division. For further information or request an application, contact Christine Mills at irishshopgirl.12@gmail.com or text 530-635-2114

~ Hope to see you in Brownsville soon. Christine and Yvonne

- We have been lied to by everyone who should have been protecting us. Fauci must go. Garamendi, can you come down on the people's side on this one?
- Harris is making a fool of US policy. Wherever she goes, she fails. What is she good for?
- And our Secretary of State? Winken, Blinken and Nod. What Covid origin? There is no Covid. What a dolt. As the old children's poem says, maybe Blinken should sail off in a wooden shoe one night.
- Live in fear. Be controlled by elites. Fires. Hurricanes. Gun violence, earthquakes, assaults and all manner of other horrors. Live in fear of life while the elites control your every motion and thought. Is this what we are settling for?
- Capitol police are spending huge amounts of time and our tax dollars trying to arrest more than 250 "rioters" related to the January 6 incident at the Capitol. How about spending that much time and money on real crimes, like arson, looting, assault and other despicable behavior occurring regularly in many American cities. Wouldn't that be a kick to actually have some real law and order?
- The Administration shrugs its shoulder about cyber attacks; claiming they are just part of life in the future. Just pay the ransom? You agree, Garamendi?
- Amazon proudly claims in its commercials that it is committed to zero emissions by 2040. Why bother? AOC and Al Gore say we have only 9 years left on this planet.
- Today's political elites and bureaucrats could do well to listen and absorb the words of a former Chief Engineer of the Turlock (California) Water District. In 1935 he said: "Remember above all else that we have to help the public, not tell it what we want it to do." A good motto for today.
- It appears today that being a Democrat

- means to agree with anti-American racist ideas and policies.
- Lies always and forever. Biden says his gun control proposals would not invalidate the 2nd Amendment. A lie. He says there is an epidemic of gun violence. A lie. He says his proposals will save lives. Doubtful. He says background checks are not done at gun shows. A lie. He said gun manufacturers are immune to lawsuits. A lie. They get sued all the time. Is there anything coming out of his mouth about guns which is true? Doubtful.
- West Point is teaching white supremacy, critical race theory and other bovine excrement. The Army de-segregated well before the nation did the same. The armed forces should concentrate on facing America's enemies, not each other.
- Infrastructure. Not really a hard word to interpret. But the Democrats have bastardized the word until it is unrecognizable. The infrastructure bill has climate woven in around 100 times trying to tell us that everything is related to climate change. Hopefully our legislators will wake up to reality and clean the bill up so our money will be spent on real infrastructure and not some social welfare programs.
- As we go through the legislative hassle over infrastructure, we have a corresponding "fear" study coming along side. CO2 is at the highest level in more than 4 million years. So? The world has not ended, AOC and Greta and Al Gore.
- Any law which will promote honest elections will be attacked by the Democrats. Why? Because they can't win an honest polling. They must lie and cheat in order to prevail. Their behavior is unacceptable in a Democracy. Garamendi, why aren't you promoting honesty?
- We keep getting pummeled with "gun control." One idiot shoots a gun and 320 million Americans are told by elites that they must disarm. Of course the elites have armed guards and walls. ★

The MEME Stocks are on Fire Again

The MEME stocks are on fire again. You remember these. My last article on the MEMES was the called "The Game that is Gamestop".

The MEME stocks refer to a group of stocks thought to be driven by mostly novice day traders, spurred on by the common thread of social internet bloggings.

Specifically but not limited to Reddit and WallStreetBets, visitors to these and other social media sites communicate with others on the site, and like a stampeding herd of buffalo, once they get started, the "herd" start buying the stock flavor of the day.

A new phenomenon in the world of stock trading, the MEME group is not a concerted group at all. It's just a whole bunch of people, unrelated by blood or otherwise, all moving without a single directive, but moving in masse nonetheless.

Their unstated but rumored purpose was to burn Wall Street traders who bet against certain stocks, hand them their proverbial monetary heads, and make lots of money in the process.

Called "short sellers", the understanding of the mechanics of how Wall Street traders bet against a stock can be elusive to some. To keep things simple, just know that Wall Street firms often bet against a stock, hoping it will go down, and making money in the process.

Until a few months ago, there was no one group that might compete with Wall Street. In other words, although other traders could take the opposite bet and take positions on the long side instead (betting the stock goes UP instead of down), there was no one group large enough that could legally pressure a stock in one direction or the other. Although it is illegal to be a concerted group and purposely manipulate a stock up or down, by buying or selling massive amounts, a stock could moved by larger firms.

Enter the MEME traders. Not really an organized group, the sheer numbers of readers and bloggers who had some money and attended the same social media pages would start to buy a stock that a Wall Street group or groups had bet against.

With millions of bloggers all pointed in the same direction, they started initially buying GameStop and AMC Entertainment. There have been other MEME targets as well. Driving these stocks up many times over, the losses to some professionals were massive. As their losses mount, because of the logistics of how the bet is unwound, these firms were forced to BUY the very stock they had bet would go down. This buy back is called a "short squeeze" and just drives the stock even higher. The novelty was that the MEME group was widespread, had massive buying power due to their sheer numbers, and since they were only related through the web, the laws concerning illegal stock manipulation did not apply to them.

The MEMES were semi-quiet for a few weeks, as news media and Washington regulators dabbled in discussions about the strange new concern. That was until last week, when the MEME tsunami hit again and GameStop began another ascent. Not to be undone, AMC Entertainment got top honors this time around as it rocketed upwards, climbing upwards of 30% or more in a 24 hour period, and tripling in just a few days. A handful of other stocks were also rumored to be on the hit list of the MEME's.

The Wall Street crowd, at least some of them, are starting to cry foul, while others claim the MEMES are doing nothing wrong as they are not really a group at all.

Washington loudmouths are also split on their take on the whole thing. The "for the people" claimants are cheering the MEMES on saying "stick it to Wall Street", while the money from the traders and hedge funds are bending the ears of those politicians susceptible to such things. After all, money and politics do go together on occasion.

To this analyst, it all speaks to just another sign of excessive froth and speculation in the overall markets but I must admit it's fun to watch. One reason for my amusement is there is so much money being made and lost on this circus, Wall Street pros who normally wouldn't follow a Facebook type of platform, let alone trade on it, are analyzing the momentum of these massive moves and trading on the coat tails of the MEMES, adding that much more volatility to the action. When the Wall Street trading crowd dip their toes in the proverbial waters, you know there is a lot of money going around.

No one knows whether this thing will end up in court, become a new paradigm in the markets or just fade into oblivion. One thing is for sure however, for now the MEMES have everyone's attention.
