Scrambling for Shots

California Vaccine Chaos Amid Mixed Messaging

California ranks 43rd among states in the proportion of people it has immunized, according to CDC data. MPG file photo

By Barbara Feder Ostrov and Ana B. Ibarra, CALMatters

The chaos and confusion many Californians experienced this week in their search for a COVID-19 vaccine only intensified as Gov. Gavin Newsom revealed that the state would not receive an additional supply of doses it was counting on to accelerate vaccination.

Newsom said he, like other governors, expected about 50 million doses to be released from storage by the feds in the next few days. "And then we read, as everybody else, that they have reneged or ... are unable to deliver on that," he said at a news conference unveiling a new mass vaccination site at Dodger Stadium.

The governor said he does expect there to be enough vaccine for Californians who already have received their first shot and need the required second dose. But the state needs to verify the supply it will be given, he said.

Federal officials had promised states an expanded supply of vaccine and demanded they start vaccinating people 65 and older and those with documented preexisting conditions to speed the slow pace of immunizations nationwide.

But a national stockpile of vaccines held back for necessary second doses appears to have been depleted, meaning that states won't get the amount of vaccine they were counting on to dramatically ramp up mass vaccination campaigns, according to a Washington Post report Friday.

Newsom last week announced an audacious goal of immunizing 1 million people in 10 days, under mounting political pressure over the state's slow vaccine rollout. But at least 450,000 people would need to receive shots today to fulfill that goal. The state is on pace to achieve it, Newsom said, adding that there is a lag in the state's data reporting.

California has used about 30% of the doses it has been allocated from the federal government while Texas has used about 55%, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. California ranks 43rd among states in the proportion of people it has immunized.

On Wednesday, following hastily-announced federal guidance, Newsom said that anyone 65 and older could now be immunized – broadening a complicated priority system that previously reserved doses for health workers and nursing home residents.

Seniors 65+ Now Eligible to Receive COVID Vaccine

By California Department of Public Health

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - In order to increase the pace of COVID-19 vaccine distribution to those at greatest risk, the state is prioritizing individuals 65 and older to receive the vaccine as demand subsides among health care workers.

"There is no higher priority than efficiently and equitably distributing these vaccines as quickly as possible to those who face the gravest consequences," said Governor Gavin Newsom. "Individuals 65 and older are now the next group eligible to start receiving vaccines. To those not yet eligible for vaccines, your turn is coming. We are doing everything we can to bring more vaccine into the state."

Those in Phase 1A – health care workers and long-term care residents – remain the highest priority to receive vaccines. Demand for the vaccines continues to far exceed supply.

"With our hospitals crowded and ICUs full, we need to focus on vaccinating Californians who are at highest risk of becoming hospitalized to alleviate stress on our health care facilities," said Dr. Tomás Aragón, Director of the California Department of Public Health and State Public Health Officer. "Prioritizing individuals age 65 and older will reduce hospitalizations and save lives."

Following a bipartisan letter from nine governors including Governor Newsom on January 8, the CDC announced changes yesterday to its vaccine plan including making more of the coronavirus vaccine supply available to all states. Along with the increase in vaccine supply, the federal government encouraged states to expand the pool of those eligible to receive the vaccine to individuals 65 and older.

The Governor also announced a new system to let people know if they are eligible to receive a vaccine, and if not yet eligible, to register for a notification via email or text when they are eligible. That system is expected to launch next week. A second phase of that system will help counties, cities and others run mass vaccination events. This will include a way for eligible members of the public to schedule their vaccination appointments at those events. Community vaccination events are only

NHTSA: Drunk Driving Deaths Reach Lowest Level Since 1982

From the California Office of Traffic Safety

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Alcohol-impaired driving deaths reached the lowest point in the U.S. since 1982, according to recently released data by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

There were 36,096 traffic deaths in 2019, down 2% from 36,935 deaths in 2018, despite an increase in vehicles miles traveled.

The annual 2019 traffic fatality data from the Fatality Analysis Reporting System (FARS) showed additional declines in pedestrian, bicyclist and passenger deaths.

California was part of the national trend, and saw a 5% decrease in fatalities (3,606) in 2019 compared to 2018.

However, the fatality data from last year comes after reported increases in risky driving behaviors in 2020 during the COVID-19 pandemic, and subsequent increase in the fatality rate during the first half of 2020.

According to NHTSA, 16,650 people died on roads from January through June 2020, a 2% drop from the same period in 2019, but traffic volume also dropped much more. As a result, more people died per mile traveled during the first half of 2020, 1.25 per 100 million miles, the highest rate since 2008.

"It is encouraging and promising news any time there are fewer lives lost on our roads," OTS Director Barbara Rooney said. "But we remain cautiously optimistic while we continue to work on moving the needle in the right direction."

One possible cause for the spike in the fatality rate is that open roads may have tempted speeders, leading to more severe crashes, NHTSA noted.

Between Sept. 1 and Oct. 31, 2020, California Highway Patrol officers issued 4,851 citations for speeding in excess of 100 miles per hour, a 93% increase when compared to the same period last year.

NHTSA also released a special supplementary report for the first half of 2020 on monthly traffic deaths and fatality rates, which showed a projected increase in the number of deaths occurring in rural areas, among younger people 16 to 24 years old, as well as passengers in older vehicles that were at least 10 years old.

"2020 is hopefully an anomaly, but it's important that we practice what is tried and true, embrace technology as a tool to reduce injuries and deaths, and establish a culture that values safe driving," Director Rooney said. ★

About that Vaccine

Commentary
by Lou Binninger

Medical doctors have been fired and censored for questioning Tony Fauci's devious handling of the Wuhan Flu. Their inexpensive effective remedies for early treatment have been maligned and banned.

Meanwhile, Imperial College of London epidemiologist Neil Ferguson's horribly inaccurate model of the so-called epidemic is tragically laughable. Ferguson is the guy promoting socialist distancing and other preventive measures.

Now, the world is told there are three to five vaccines though there have been no animal trials and just the beginning of human testing. Nonetheless, the vaccines have been declared "safe and effective." Essentially, anyone willing to take the vaccine is now the 'guinea pig.'

Today, vaccines have never been more controversial, but to criticize Big Pharma now in bed with Big Government can get you killed, professionally ruined or incarcerated. Many researchers are criticizing the need for and the use of the Covid vaccines.

Mark Twain said the trouble with the world is not that people know too little, it's that they know so many things that just aren't so.

In 1847, the Hungarian physician Ignaz Semmelweis made a break-through discovery: handwashing would prevent infections. Dr. Semmelweis was then kicked out of his hospital, put in an insane asylum and died in mysterious circumstances two weeks later because he had the audacity to suggest that doctors should wash their hands after an autopsy and before delivering a baby.

In the 1980's, Australian Dr. Barry Marshall showed that Helicobacter Pylori was causing many peptic ulcers, challenging decades of medical doctrine holding that ulcers were caused primarily by stress, spicy foods, and too much acid. He was mocked by his colleagues at the University of Western Australia (UWA) until he was awarded the Nobel Prize. Now, UWA celebrates that it all happened there.

Here are some headlines of this vaccine concocted not for polio or small pox but for the Wuhan Flu that more than 99% already recover from.

"Ten Dead in Germany Within 4 Days of Covid-19 Vaccine Inoculation;" "55 People Died in US After Receiving COVID-19 Vaccine;" "Norway Officials 'Not Alarmed' by Deaths of 23 Elderly People After COVID Vaccine;" "Johns Hopkins Scientist: 'A Medical Certainty' Pfizer Vaccine Caused Death of Florida Doctor;" "WHO: No Guarantee COVID Vaccines Will Prevent People From Being Infected;" "Tip of the Iceberg? Thousands of COVID Vaccine Injuries and 13 U.S. Deaths Reported in December Alone."

Do you remember the Gulf War Syndrome afflicting American soldiers whether they deployed or not? Malcolm Hooper in the United Kingdom is one of the many scientists who've uncovered very concerning information about the role of vaccine adjuvants connected to this illness.

People taking any vaccines today have no financial recourse with the pharmaceutical industry should there be death or harm. The National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986 and further amendments in 1987 gave immunity to vaccine manufacturers. In 2005, the Public Readiness and Emergency Preparedness Act again protected Big Pharma from liability.

So, US taxpayers give billions in grants to Big Pharma to develop vaccines, pay to get vaccinated and then manufacturers have no product liability. That is a perverse incentive for bad medicine.

Liability claims are submitted to the federal government for payment by taxpayers. Good luck with that. Many Vietnam veterans' Agent Orange claims for causing cancer were ignored and rejected for decades until after most of those afflicted died.

American medical care used to be guided by the patient's informed consent. Those interested in the vaccine should read not only the data describing ingredients but do research on the terms and codes. You may be shocked with what you find. Products from aborted babies and monkeys, mercury, nano-metals, and adjuvants like aluminum. Nano-technology or bio-chips may be added so humans can be electronically tracked but this likely will not even appear on the label.

The vaccine is supposed to make a permanent change to your DNA and could damage your auto-immune system. Thousands of medical specialists worldwide warn against taking the vaccine.

The Health Officer says "some" local medical professionals are refusing the vaccine. The statistic for "some" isn't posted.

Teachers Union, Newsom Partner to Keep Schools Closed in Cease and Desist Letter

By Curtis Grima,
Office of Assemblyman
James Gallagher

YUBA CITY, CA (MPG) - Last week, the Yuba City Unified School District governing Board of Trustees voted to resume in-person instruction on a hybrid schedule. Three days after the vote, the California Teachers Association sent a cease and desist letter demanding that the District rescind its plan to begin in-person instruction for Grades 6-12 on February 1, 2021 citing the Governor's framework as prohibiting the opening of schools.

"The Governor got big headlines recently after claiming to be in favor of re-opening California schools. But despite all the bluster and political maneuvering, Newsom's hard line rules keeping schools closed appear to remain in place and are being exploited by the powerful California Teachers Association," said Assemblyman James Gallagher (R-Yuba City).

Gallagher continued, "It's an inside job. The Governor talks publicly about re-opening schools but his policies actively prevent them from opening. And his allies in the CTA work in conjunction with those policies to keep them closed. That is what is really going on. What's happening in my neighborhood school district is indicative of what is happening throughout California."

Californians are rightfully concerned with this pattern of fumbling and inept leadership during COVID-19:

Newsom promised he would fix the EDD so that out of work Californians could receive financial help, but the backlog of claims continues. Meanwhile, ABC30 reports that the amount of unemployment funds stolen from California taxpayers in 2020 may total more than $8 billion – four times higher than estimated just one month ago.

Newsom promised he would have a plan for the rollout of vaccines. Yet, California lags far behind the rest of the country in COVID vaccinations and new bureaucratic rules have delayed teachers and support staff from getting access to the vaccine. The Sacramento Bee reported recently that four weeks after vaccine distribution began, California has administered just 891,000 of its first 3.4 million shots, or barely 26%.

Newsom promised back in March that he would marshal and coordinate volunteers, nursing students, and retired healthcare workers to help provide emergency staffing. But last week, the AP reported that only 14 health professionals who signed up for the Governor's Health Corps program are actually working in the field.

Assemblyman James Gallagher represents the 3rd Assembly District, which encompasses all of Glenn, Sutter, Tehama and Yuba counties as well as portions of Butte and Colusa counties. ★

Appreciation: Each donor receives an in-hand Winter Classic T-shirt while supplies last.

COVID-19 Antibody Testing
Each blood donation is tested for COVID-19 antibodies which helps determine if donors can donate convalescent plasma, a promising treatment for hospital patients battling COVID-19 today.

Even those who have not been diagnosed with COVID-19 can help. When donors give blood or platelets, they are informed of their antibody status; if positive, Vitalant produces convalescent plasma from the donation. These donors can then give a convalescent plasma donation in the future to help even more COVID-19 patients. Learn more at vitalant.org/covidfree.

one way for eligible Californians to receive their vaccines. When available, the public can also go to their doctor or pharmacy to receive the vaccine.

Governor Newsom has aggressively led the state to increase the pace of vaccine administration. He laid out the goal of 1 million additional vaccines administered by the end of this week. At the direction of the Governor, the state has tackled the problem with a multi-pronged approach, including: Increasing the number of people who can provide vaccinations by more than 100,000 health care professionals. Last Monday, added 36,000 dentists to the pool of health care providers who can administer the COVID-19 vaccines. The state has already received anecdotal reports of dentists actively administering vaccines after completing the required COVID-19 training. This expansion comes on the heels of a similar waiver in late December allowing pharmacy technicians overseen by licensed pharmacists to administer COVID-19 vaccines. There are 69,000 pharmacy technicians in California. Directing Resources, Driving Commitment. The Governor's office has convened meetings with leaders across the public and private health care system and received commitments to cooperatively accelerate the pace of vaccine administration.

The Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Hello everyone! It's good to be back and ready to start a new year. I am finally back on my feet and feeling perky again. My appendix made the decision to burst which put me in the hospital for a week. I want to thank the first responders, doctors, nurses and aides for the care and attention I received from the time the 911 call was answered through my stay at Adventist Health Rideout Hospital. God Bless you all!! (Christine Mills)

Hopefully, we are in the last wave of Covid. It is important to keep diligent, however, with our habits. We see that the Thrift Store, Rays and Mercantile are open with their regular hours. Books & More is attempting to be open most of the time, but both Joyce and Yvonne are health-compromised so they are being very careful. The store will be open during the middle of the day (10-2) with masks and social distancing from Wednesday to Saturday and hope for the best.

As we begin to look forward to the decline of Covid, with vaccinations and taking care, it is time to look at the social gatherings we have missed over the past months. Is it possible, or even probable, that Hill Top Gang will resume breakfasts and will Stone Soup be able to start up again. Both of these gatherings have been missed. And yet, both of these activities require a great deal of volunteer time and effort. During this past year several regular volunteers have left us, moved, retired or are just not able to carry on. Is there a younger group willing to carry the flag?

Look Back in Time – In 1913 the first mail to reach LaPorte in ten days was delivered. Eveline Bustillos, age 16, carried it 25 miles on snowshoes (girls were tough). And In 1920 the Challenge sleigh met the Marysville stage at Rackerby. (there was 6 ft. of snow in Challenge) The horses were exhausted and the sleigh will try to get back to Challenge tomorrow (come up Hansonville Hill in snow?)

health systems weren't at all ready for an onslaught of potentially 6 million seniors. Not all adopted the state's recommendation, creating a patchwork of access that Californians are now trying to decipher.

Reports of glitches mounted as counties launched dozens of different online platforms for appointment sign-ups and waiting lists. Tiny Inyo County, with about 18,000 residents, had to ask people to sign up with just a Google form.

Californians across the state reported finding every appointment taken online and voiced their outrage on social media. They held on phone lines for hours. Their bewilderment and frustration only grew as they learned that some vaccination sites would only accept people 75 and older, while some would accept those 65 and above. And some still would only immunize health workers because they didn't have enough doses for everyone.

"Any rollout like this is bound to run into snags, but this level of problems is concerning," said Dorit Rubinstein Reiss, professor and vaccine expert at UC Hastings College of Law. "Every day we wait, thousands of people are at risk of dying."

The state's public health agency reported 42,655 new cases and 637 deaths as a more infectious "U.K." coronavirus variant spreads across California and nationwide. About 32 cases of the variant have been reported in California, more than any other state, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

California continues its winter surge – the worst since the pandemic started. About 13% of tests are coming back positive, although hospitalizations are beginning to decrease slightly, according to the latest state data.

Leah Russin, co-founder of the advocacy group Vaccinate California, empathized with local public health officials who, she said, have been asked to roll out mass vaccination campaigns at the same time as they're battling the worst surge of the pandemic. But Californians deserve better, she said.

"It feels like some decisions have been made that haven't been thoroughly explained and they may increase inequity or confusion. Neither of those things are good at a time when we're fighting against extraordinary mistrust of government," said Leah Russin, co-founder of Vaccinate California.

"We have to be exceedingly transparent and do it fast, without mistakes. I know I'm asking us to be amazing, but we have to be." ★

Young Adults Living Alone Report Anxiety, Depression During Pandemic

By U.S. Census Bureau

WASHINGTON, DC (MPG) - Younger adults living alone were more likely than older adults living alone to report symptoms of both anxiety and depression in recent weeks, according to new U.S. Census Bureau data.

The Household Pulse Survey provides insight into the mental health and well-being of adults living alone during the Coronavirus pandemic. The survey asks two questions related to symptoms of anxiety, and two questions about symptoms of depression.

Phase 3 of the survey collects data over two-week intervals, and this article relies on publicly available data collected from Oct. 28 through

Nov. 9, a time period in which the Census Bureau sent invitations to 1,035,752 households and received a total of 58,729 responses.

Those between ages 18 and 29 and 30 and 44 reported higher rates of anxiety and depression. The age groups were not statistically different from each other on either measure. ★

'A Terrorist Is a Terrorist': House Homeland Security Chair Wants Ted Cruz and Josh Hawley on the No-Fly List | 11 Jan 2021 | The chair of the U.S. House Committee on Homeland Security wants GOP Senators Ted Cruz and Josh Hawley placed on the federal "No Fly" list due to the "actions they participated in" last Wednesday, when the attack on the U.S. Capitol occurred. Homeland Security Committee Chair Rep. Bennie Thompson (D-Miss.) raised the issue during a Monday morning appearance on SiriusXM's The Joe Madison Show. "There's no question about it," Thompson said in response to a question about subjecting the rioters to the infamous domestic air travel ban. "First of all, these folks, in my opinion, can be classified as domestic terrorists because of the actions they participated in on Wednesday. Now under normal circumstances international terrorists are out on no-fly lists. These are domestic terrorists-same thing. A terrorist is a terrorist, no matter who you are."

YOUR ONE MINUTE NEWS DIGEST

by Don Rae

- What else? "War" headlines blossom in the mainstream media concerning the incident in the nation's capital. Think about how other unfortunate events have been covered by the so-called press. Rioting in the cities has been referred to as "peaceful." Setting fires in public buildings is "peaceful." Looting of businesses is "peaceful." Beating up people in the streets is "peaceful." No "war scare" headlines and photos. But when the same happens to the offices of our political class, it is sedition and the perps need to be held accountable to the fullest extent of the law. Lock them up and throw away the key. Hypocrites.
- You might recall that Obama, one of Jeremiah Wright's regular parishioners, didn't just push Wright to the back of the bus, he threw him under the bus.
- The insanity defense is accepted in our courts. Now the snowflakes are promoting the "poverty" defense. Government is now your enemy as elected officials in at least one major U.S. city plan to pass a law that "will allow thieves to sell items they steal if they do it to earn money for basic needs and will allow trespassers to set up camp on private property when it is to obtain adequate shelter." Are you ready to defend your property?
- So a poor snowflake recently sent a letter to the editor excoriating Trump and suggesting that someone count the silverware. Convenient memory lapse on the poor woman's suggestion. She forgot that this was asked of Hilary when she left the White House.
- Stephen Frank tells us "Dr. Harald Schmidt, a supposed expert on ethics and health policy at the University of Pennsylvania, told the New York Times that essential workers, not the elderly, should be the first to receive COVID-19 vaccines. His reason? "Older populations are whiter," he told the publication. "Society is structured in a way that enables them to live longer. Instead of giving additional health benefits to those who already had more of them, we can start to level the playing field a bit. To be clear, the term "level the playing field" means allowing people to die because of the color of their skin."

- The brain dead Newsom sent his gun-toting goons to close down hair salons. But he only suggests that his supporters in Hollywood "pause" their production. Why hasn't he ripped up their permits to operate? Why hasn't he arrested them for creating a health hazard? Simple. These snowflakes support him with money and group-think. He is a hypocrite. So is Garcetti, who takes the same tack as Newsom. His e-mail to Hollywood states "Although music, TV and film productions are allowed to operate, we ask you to strongly consider pausing work for a few weeks during this catastrophic surge in COVID cases." How corrupt. He closes restaurants but allows his Hollywood donors to stay in business.
- Try to understand this. New Orleans Pelicans head coach Stan Van Gundy said white people are "racist" and need to change to help African Americans. "We're the ones that are racist," Van Gundy told ESPN's The Undeclared in an interview. "It's a white person's problem that affects people of color, and so we're the ones who have to change." As reported by Stephen Frank "Obviously this guy has mental and emotional problems." Yet, black players seem to be okay as they are led by an open racist. Consider the same black players hate all cops, white or black, for being cops. Are you comfortable supporting the NBA?
- The National Football League (NFL) has chosen to honor a gunman (who was killed while shooting at police) by allowing players to wear his name on their helmets. The NFL allows million dollar a year players to put the gunman's name on their helmets. Why would you watch adult athletes who will not stand for the National Anthem but honor killers? Folks watching NFL football this season is down by about 30%. ★

California's Technology Woes Deepen

By Dan Walters
CALMatters

While doing his stretch in solitary confinement as lieutenant governor of California, Gavin Newsom wrote a book entitled "Citizenville: How to Take the Town Square Digital and Reinvent Government."

In the book, published in 2013, Newsom sang the praises of digital technology and its potential for making government and its services more transparent, more efficient and more responsive.

A half-decade later, Newsom succeeded Jerry Brown in the governorship and thus management of a state government that had been struggling, with little success, to implement the technological nirvana he envisioned.

Since then, it's become even more evident that despite being the cradle of the digital revolution that has utterly transformed how humankind lives and works, California's government just can't make technology work well. In fact, its tech failures have gone the other way, making services even less reliable.

We've seen two spectacular examples in the first two years of Newsom's governorship, meltdowns at the Department of Motor Vehicles and the Employment Development Department. The DMV fiasco was annoying, but the one at EDD has serious human consequences, delaying or denying cash benefits to those suddenly thrown out of work by COVID-19 shutdowns while allowing billions of dollars to be squandered on fraudulent claims.

Just this month, there was another. Software meant to hasten the distribution and application of vaccinations against COVID-19 stumbled, contributing to California's subpar rollout of lifesaving inoculations against the dread disease and thus possibly adding to the pandemic's already horrendous death toll.

Asked about the vaccination tech failures as he rolled out his new state budget last week, Newsom responded, rather lamely, "We have a lot of work to do in bringing California into the digital age."

No kidding. A day before Newsom's budget announcement, the state auditor's office gave California's sorry efforts to implement technology another black mark on its most ambitious project, Financial Information System for California (FISCal), meant to become a centralized repository of financial data.

The FISCal project began 15 years ago and Auditor Elaine Howle has been a frequent critic of its years of delay in implementation, ever-increasing costs and ever-changing parameters.

In her latest report, Howle says those issues are still not resolved and not having a workable financial reporting system in place threatens some adverse consequences.

"State agencies using FISCal still struggle to complete required financial reports on time," she told Newsom and legislative leaders. "Consequently, the state released its annual audited financial statements months late for the second year in a row. A late release of critical financial information increases the risk to the state of a lower credit rating, which could result in increased costs to taxpayers."

Howle is especially critical of what she describes as deceptive information on what adopting FISCal will actually cost in relationship to what it will presumably accomplish when it is completed. As costs climb — the most recent estimate is $1 billion — the tasks to be performed have shrunken in apparent hopes that a half-baked system can be declared finished.

Faced with a sorry record on tech implementation, Newsom created an Office of Digital Innovation and charged it with making his lofty visions of "digital transformation and results-oriented government" a reality.

Newsom's new budget refers obliquely to the DMV and EDD disasters by saying, "The events of 2020 highlighted the urgent need to modernize government services in an online environment." He proposes to spend even more money on technology in the hope that it will ultimately pay off in better services at less cost.

At the moment, however, he's trying to make water run uphill.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for nearly 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. ★

There are Two Types of Policy Responses a Government can Implement to Address Changes in the Economy

There are two types of policy responses a government can implement to address changes in the economy. They are fiscal and monetary policy.

Fiscal policy refers to the taxing and spending policies of the federal government and includes raising or lowering federal taxes and fees, usually implemented by the Internal Revenue Service or Treasury Department. Spending programs include things like improving infrastructure, stimulus programs to both individual and local governments and businesses, and other type of programs the government undertakes with representative permission. Fiscal policies are usually funded by the Treasury Department, a branch of the federal government.

Monetary policy differs from fiscal policy in many ways. Monetary policy is undertaken by the quasi-government agency, the Federal Reserve Bank of the United States, also generically referred to as our central bank. It is run by a board of governors, headed up by a Federal Reserve Chief appointed by the President, and is a somewhat obscure agency of the Federal Government.

Monetary policy is direct manipulation of the U.S. dollar as it pertains to certain interest rates, currency creation, funding U.S. Treasury spending and many other currency (monetary) programs that exist in today's financial system. Monetary policy is accomplished by the Federal Reserve and also include such things as banking regulation and monitoring, reserve/cash requirements and a myriad of other programs and edicts that bend and twist the financial system of the world.

Think of the differences between monetary and fiscal policy as monetary policy is the river that feeds all the inhabitants that utilize it. Fiscal policy addresses the inhabitants directly.

Monetary policy keeps the money system lubricated and functioning by making sure the banking industry is sound and in good working order. This means supplying and monitoring the ebb and flow of cash and deposits as well as supplying liquidity (cash) at any time it is needed for whatever reason. The setting of the overnight interest rates on funds the banks may need to borrow also have an effect on the economy and eventually consumer credit. This is called the overnight discount rate.

Much like our river analogy above, the system (the river) is vastly more critical than the inhabitants (you and me) that utilize it. Sounds harsh but it is the way the order of importance is currently viewed and one could argue correctly so.

After all, if some consumers go under, unfortunate as that may be, it would be far more critical should the entire system collapse. Not saying I agree with the morals of it but the premise is a sound one financially speaking.

The key point in all of this is that monetary policy could be argued to be of a higher priority than fiscal policy. It is likely the reason monetary policy is usually not subject to Congressional oversight and subsequently not delayed like consumer stimulus checks are. Monetary policy is also carried out by the Federal Reserve, which is subject to some oversight but for the most part is autonomous from the political aisles of Washington.

Not so with fiscal policy. Fiscal policy, the programs that help the average Joe, like stimulus and unemployment programs, are subject to Congressional oversight, and hence the reason delays in such programs may be common.

Whether the focus on monetary and fiscal policy importance versus one another is ideal is a subject of debate. The question being is the system actually more important than the people it serves?

Moreover, since much of the financial system, which utilizes monetary programs, is comprised of the banking industry and large corporate entities, aka Wall Street, is it acceptable that those programs, for the most part, remain outside of congressional oversight and encompass literally trillions more than what flows to Main Street?

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS:

If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER:

The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.altisource.com/MortgageServices/DefaultManagement/TrusteeServices.aspx> using the file number assigned to this case 2020-01160-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction, if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (866)-960-8299, or visit this internet website <http://www.altisource.com/MortgageServices/DefaultManagement/TrusteeServices.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case 2020-01160-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

Ranch Image Wins Top Prize in Photo Contest

California Farm Bureau

The California Farm Bureau received nearly 400 entries for the 2020 Photo Contest from amateur photographers who are members of county Farm Bureaus.

Ramiro Ruiz of Salinas garnered First Place and $500 for his photo of a foreboding wildfire cloud over a lettuce field. Second Place and $250 went to Maureen LaGrande, an agriculture student at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, for a photo of her twin sister riding a horse at sunset. Marley Sollecito of Spreckels, also a Cal Poly agriculture student, received Third Place and $100 for capturing an image of her dirty boots after a long day in the field.

Six photographers earned Honorable Mentions and $50 each: Celeste Alonzo of La Quinta, Kathy Brimmer of Smartsville, Nancy Perkins of Live Oak, Lynn Sanguinetti of Jamestown, Henry Schulte of Goleta and Andie Traphagan of Ravendale.

Winners of the Budding Artists category for photographers 13 and younger were 13-year-old Laura Campagne of Clovis and 7-year-old Natalie Webb of St. Helena. Laura earned $250 for her close-up shot of the nose of her brother's goat, and Natalie received $100 for her picture of a grapevine in her hometown. The prizes were presented by the California Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom.

All 12 prize-winning photos will be published this week in the weekly California Farm Bureau newspaper, Ag Alert®, as well as the organization's bimonthly magazine, California Bountiful®, and will appear on the organization's websites - www.cfbf.com, www.agalert.com and www.californiabountiful.com - and social media pages.

The California Farm Bureau works to protect family farms and ranches on behalf of nearly 32,000 members statewide and as part of a nationwide network of nearly 5.6 million Farm Bureau members. ★

Statement by Assemblyman Gallagher on Governor's 2021-2022 State Budget

By Curtis Grima, Office of Assemblyman James Gallagher

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Assemblyman James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) issued the following statement in response to the release of Governor Gavin Newsom's 2021-2022 state budget:

"The Governor's Budget, like many of his long, drawn out pronouncements, is big on splash and small on substance. The small business stimulus plan allocates $1.5 billion to electric vehicle infrastructure instead of getting more dollars to struggling businesses and their employees.

$600 additional stimulus payments? How about ensuring that the unemployed can actually get their benefits? That is costing us $2.4 billion that could be spent on getting aid to those most in need or re-opening schools.

$2 billion for schools but we still aren't doing the one thing that would help them re-open: make the vaccine available to teachers and support staff immediately.

Lastly, this budget only contains $370 million for vaccine distribution when right now we are only getting 45% of existing vaccine stock into arms.

Face it: this Governor is terrible on implementation. All this while our infrastructure is literally falling apart, we can't keep the lights on and our state has been burning down due to neglected forestry management. We need greater focus on these investments."

NFIB Co-Signs Letter Asking for Suspension of Laws, Regulations

By John Kabateck, NFIB

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - NFIB California is one of 186 business associations that submitted a letter to Gov. Gavin Newsom and the California Legislature not only asking for regulatory relief but also providing active steps California's elected leaders can take toward improving the state's dismal economy.

"Our letter is more than a list of grievances," said John Kabateck, California state director for NFIB. "I like to think of it as a road map to recovery, and I'm hoping the impressive list of co-signers will command the attention of state leaders in a more concentrated way than would have been possible had any one of us tried to go it alone. I also believe that yesterday's 24-point drop in the percentage of small-business owners expecting better business conditions over the next six months is an added incentive to pay attention." Click here to see NFIB's monthly Small Business Economic Trends report (aka the Optimism Index).

"The shut downs have already devastated many small and large employers, and brought misery to millions of workers," stated the letter. "As the shut down continues indefinitely, many more of these businesses will close permanently, unable to withstand the financial losses they are suffering. ... The financial grant programs, loans, and tax relief will certainly help. However, not all employers who need assistance will be eligible and even for those who do, will not receive enough money to fully offset the costs they are facing as a result of the pandemic.

"... These closures take with them jobs, local tax revenues, and social glue from both local communities and the State. At the same time, California continues to suffer a significant exodus of employers to other states, who are seeking lower taxes, fewer regulatory burdens, more affordable housing for employees, and reduced employment litigation."

PG&E Building Underground Power Line Along Bald Rock Road in Berry Creek

By Paul Moreno, PG&E

OROVILLE, CA (MPG) - Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) has begun on construction of an underground line beneath Bald Rock Road in Berry Creek to replace overhead power lines and poles that burned in the North Complex Fire.

Motorists are advised to expect intermittent traffic delays such as one-way traffic controls now through about mid-March. The contractor will work between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Mondays to Fridays, including an occasional Saturday, but not on holidays.

PG&E's contractor started work this week in the first phase of the project, which includes about 0.4 miles of Bald Rock Road from Oro Quincy Highway to Rockefeller Road. PG&E expects to continue installation of underground lines on Bald Rock Road throughout the first six months of 2021.

PG&E chose to rebuild the power line underground rather than overhead in part because the previous location often veered from the road and crossed rough terrain, making it more difficult to access and patrol during troubleshooting for power outages.

In 2019, PG&E constructed about 1.2 miles of underground lines along Lumpkin Road in Feather Falls.

Customers impacted by wildfires who are going to rebuild or have questions are urged to contact PG&E early and apply for temporary power by visiting www.pge.com/cco or email rebuild@pge.com. ★
