Cleanup at the River

YUBA-SUTTER, CA (MPG) - For the past two weekends, volunteers from multiple non-profits, members of the community, law enforcement agencies and local businesses have been hard at work cleaning up the river-bottoms in the Marysville area.

The cleanup events have been a yearly undertaking, but this year's haul was quite impressive. The result of the extensive cleanup was 126 dump slips. Among the televisions, old stoves, refrigerators, and other refuse collected from the area between North Beale road and Stimpson Lane, were 145 vehicles. Of those vehicles recovered, 19 had been reported stolen.

Volunteers from SAYlove, 530 Recovery and Everything Off-Road, Yuba County Code Enforcement, Yuba-Sutter CHP, Sunsweet and concerned community members labored for hours on Saturday and Sunday, August 29th and 30th only to return to the job again September 5th and 6th. The massive effort saw volunteers picking garbage up by hand, using safety precautions and PPE of course, and loading truck after truck with the rubbish. Sarb Thiara graciously donated the use of his flatbed semi-trucks, excavators, forklifts and dozers to load some of the heavier items, including the vehicles, for removal. According to Money Dhami, one of the volunteers on site during the mass effort, vehicles and other metals were sent to Empire Steel in Yuba Sutter for

Yuba County Public Works Awarded for Storm Damage Repair

By Rachel Rosenbaum, Yuba County

YUBA COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Significant roadwork repairing damage from the historic 2017 storms has been awarded one of the Projects of the Year by the Sacramento Chapter of American Public Works Association.

Over $9 million of repairs to foothill roads was completed last fall after the wettest winter in nearly a century brought significant damage to foothill roads by way of slipouts – where parts of embankments and roadways slipped down the hillsides. Repairs included retaining walls and soldier pile walls to establish new foundations for rebuilding the embankments. Backfill included imported tire derived aggregate which diverted hundreds of thousands of used tires from the landfill. The tire derived aggregate will allow future rainwater to more easily shed through the embankment, preventing future slipouts.

“I could not be more proud of the hard working Public Works staff, and they are extremely deserving of this award,” Public Works Director Mike Lee said. “The innovativeness of this design and the tremendously heavy workload they have masterfully accomplished over the past couple years is unprecedented.”

The project – within the Disaster or Emergency Construction/Repair category – demonstrates excellent management, administration, design, sustainability, construction, community relations, and a strong alliance among the managing agency and the designer, contractor and construction management team who worked together, APWA said in a news release last month. A video of the award-winning projects will be shown online next month.

In February, Yuba County's Public Works team was also recognized by The League of California Cities, County Engineers Association of California (CEAC) and California State Association of Counties with the “Efficient and Sustainable Road Maintenance, Construction and Reconstruction Project” for the “Tomorrow's Paving Today” project.

That project accomplished four years' worth of road repairs in a single summer: 70 miles of roadway representing 15 percent of the County's entire network of paved roads. That project also saved $4 million in taxpayer dollars in the process by working with Yuba Water Agency to get advanced funding leveraged against future gas tax funds.

Robbins Water to Go Private

By Lou Binninger

Golden State Water Company (GSWC) has been courting the Sutter County Supervisors for years to win the right to serve proposed developments in South Sutter County. Every year around the holidays GSWC would purchase hundreds of turkeys to donate to residents and give the politicians the credit and the photo-op.

It is finally paying-off as supervisors gave away their Robbins community water system for $1,000 to GSWC. The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), a corrupt government agency beholden to utilities, must approve the hand-over.

The Robbins system is in need of water purity improvements, has been costing the county money and serves less than 400 residents with 93 service connections. The county faces deadlines to come into compliance.

Yuba-Sutter Counties is generally served with municipal water services, monopolies run by government with rates influenced by voter input. The exception is Marysville served by California Water Service (CWS), a private water monopoly. The water costs in Marysville can be 3-times higher than the surrounding communities like Yuba City, Linda and Olivehurst who have municipal systems.

The expensive CWS service has caused most owners and tenants to forgo watering outside to save hundreds of dollars per month. Dead shrubs and brown grass stand-out when driving through the Marysville.

With no competition, private water companies are a cash cow for stockholders and employees. The CPUC approves rate increases while the utility takes care of the CPUC and its corrupt administrative judges.

Ojai, CA once had GSWC, but the water was very expensive and the system full of problems according to a July 18, 2018 Santa Barbara Independent article. A ballot measure in 2013 to pass a $60 million bond to buy-out GSWC and repair the leaky system succeeded with 87.5% of voters approving. The system was then turned over to a municipal water district to manage.

Water rates initially dropped 65%. The switch has saved the 2,950 customers a collective $3 million per year.

Court appeal documents state that GSWC charged more than double Ojai's two municipal providers: Casitas and Ventura River Water District. For all the money it got, GSWC left a water system that was “decrepit, in very, very bad shape,” said Russ Baggerly, a member of the groundwater agency board and the Casitas water district.

On Nov. 4, 2014, Claremont, CA voters overwhelmingly backed a bond known as Measure W, allowing that city to borrow as much as $135 million to acquire their water system from GSWC via eminent domain. However, after years of court fights

Legislature Ignores Fire Insurance Crisis

By Dan Walters
CAL Matters

As wildfires of record magnitude swept through Northern California last week, destroying thousands of homes and other structures, the Legislature closed its 2020 session without doing something about the fire insurance crisis that afflicts fire-prone areas.

It ranks near the top of a long list of legislative failures this year, right up there with housing shortages and police reforms.

Insurers have sustained massive losses, tens of billions of dollars, from wildfires in recent years and are increasingly reluctant to continue coverage in fire-prone communities, even threatening to quit the market if they cannot increase premiums enough to cover projected future liabilities. Often, homeowners can only buy coverage through the state's FAIR plan, which is bare-bones and expensive.

The ultimate solution would be to stop building and rebuilding homes in the "wildland-urban interface" – essentially the outer suburbs of major metropolitan areas – where the risk of catastrophic losses is highest. However, for the foreseeable future, much of California's population will continue to live in those communities, such as Sonoma and Napa counties, the Sierra foothills and the mountain ranges ringing Los Angeles.

We need a new approach. A truly comprehensive solution would be layers of coverage, beginning with a basic statewide policy financed by mandatory fees on all residential property, adjusted by region. The statewide policy would be backed by reinsurance from the global market and, by covering the first layer of fire losses, would make private insurers more willing to offer additional layers.

The national flood insurance program more or less takes that approach. Homeowners in designated flood-prone areas must buy it, but it has limits, so they can purchase supplemental insurance to fill the gap between coverage and loss.

The insurance industry itself took a stab at a solution this year with legislation, Assembly Bill 2167, allowing insurers to include the cost of reinsurance in their rates, as well as allowing them to base premiums on calculations of future losses – two aspects banned by current law.

The shorthand for what insurers proposed is a "market assistance plan" that would make insuring homes in fire-prone areas less risky.

However, AB 2167 drew fierce opposition from consumer groups, saying it undermined Proposition 103, the 1988 law that imposed direct regulation on premiums by an elected insurance commissioner. And the current commissioner, Ricardo Lara, joined the opposition.

"In an era where climate change is contributing to more severe and frequent wildfires, homeowners need more protection – not less," Lara wrote in an op-ed article. "COVID-19 might be the Legislature's primary focus, but we cannot let the insurance industry use it to gut important consumer protections that have existed for decades."

Last December, after several years of wildfires, Lara barred insurers from refusing to renew policies in ZIP codes where fires were common, but that order expires in a few months and cannot be renewed.

Although rural counties endorsed AB 2167, the opposition prevailed. In its last incarnation, the bill merely ordered a study by Lara's Department of Insurance – the time-dishonored way politicians duck tough issues. But even that version died without a vote when the legislative session ended.

Obviously, the crisis will not solve itself. Insurers are facing many more billions of dollars in losses from this summer's fires – and the traditional autumn fire season hasn't even begun. When Lara's order expires, we probably will see insurers refuse to renew policies in the wildland-urban interface or even pull out of California altogether.

The status quo may be unsustainable, but the men and women in the Legislature can't be bothered to change it.

A Rotation Out of the High Flying Stocks

In my August 10 th Money Matters article entitled "A major shift may soon be upon us" I suggested the possibility of a rotation out of the high flying stocks of the last four months and into other sectors.

Specifically from that article "there may be a surprise and viscous backlash on those companies whose stocks have exploded during the shutdown that could slam in reverse the mindset and shopping list of investors"

With late last weeks hammering of the indexes some stocks actually rose but they were far and few between and may not have included those high flying internet favorites. Although the article premise was rotation into a new list of stocks based on an announcement of a vaccine, apparently the rapid progress the nation is taking to reopen economy may have started this rotation without an actual vaccine announcement.

I have several theories as to why this rotation occurred and may continue to occur. Some of those high flyers have flown so high investors just don't buy the possibility they may go even higher. Valuations may just be getting too rich. Not to say these "stock rockets" can't continue to rise. They could. It's impossible to forecast anything where markets are concerned. But at some point stocks usually don't keep going up in the proverbial straight line.

Investors may be saying enough is enough and therefore looking for the next sector to rise. Or they may simply be looking for better value elsewhere.

That said, the selloff was wide spread, fast and furious. But there were some jewels to found in the carnage. Some financials survived and some even gained ground. Certain cyclical stocks may have also held their ground as well.

With a handful of stock indicators approaching all-time highs and some indexes even exceeding previous milestones, the disconnect between Wall Street and Main Street just seems to getting more ridiculous. I don't know if ridiculous is the right word, but the ferocity of the stock recovery since the CoVid event has indeed taken many analysts and investors alike by surprise and continues to do so.

With Labor Day behind us, the elections in front of us, no new stimulus/rescue agreement reached by Washington, CoVid nowhere near contained and a confirmed vaccine yet to be announced, the question becomes can this market continue to ignore the possibility of severe economic damage from the shutdown?

This analyst has maintained since the shutdown began that unemployment claims would exceed 50 million, 25% of small businesses will permanently disappear and many bankruptcies will blanket the economic landscape. Adding to the carnage will be the seldom discussed outcome due to the rent/eviction moratorium. The fact that many landlords are your average every day Americans, it may mean that many mom and pop landlords will follow their tenants into insolvency. They simply may not be able to withstand the lack of rent due them yet put on hold because of the government edict. It's safe to say some rents will never be paid yet costs to the landlords have no such moratoriums. The bills will have to be paid as usual and some may not be able to weather the economic setback.

Will the economy fully recover?

It's a difficult assessment with many considerations. When the nation does reopen, many businesses will operate with fewer employees, having learned to streamline their operations through the lessons of the shutdowns. Many businesses won't ever reopen.

Inflation, which is always present and seems to be increasing in certain areas, may gain more traction due to all the recent monetary stimulus which increases the money supply, which can lead to higher general prices.

With societal considerations on the increase, a hotly contested election and a nation more polarized than ever, the sell off last week may just be a blip on the radar screen or possibly the start of something more sinister.

Where investors flee to next is yet to be seen, but in my opinion, the big fall in many stocks last week has the possibility of being the start of something bigger. My original premise of a surprising rotation of funds remains.

Caltrans Rescheduled around the Clock Traffic Control on Highway 20

By Gilbert Mohtes-Chan, Caltrans

SUTTER COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Caltrans announced a contractor has postponed plans to start around the clock one-way traffic control on State Highway 20 west of Yuba City.

Construction crews are now tentatively scheduled to conduct one-way traffic control between Acacia Avenue and Humphrey Road from 9 p.m. Friday, September 11 through 6 a.m. Friday, September 18. Motorists are advised to seek alternative routes to avoid congestion in the area.

The schedule change is due to recent lightning strikes that caused damage to an asphalt plant used by the contractor.

Next month's lane restrictions will allow crews to realign the roadway to connect to a newly constructed bridge spanning the Wadsworth Canal.

The highway work is part of a $37.7 million project funded in part by Senate Bill 1 (SB 1), the Road Repair and Accountability Act of 2017, to restore nearly 12 lane miles of pavement between Lytle Road and the Sutter Bypass, widen the shoulders and replace the Wadsworth Canal Bridge.

Weather or unexpected events may delay or prolong the work. Caltrans advises motorists to "Be Work Zone Alert." The department will issue construction updates on Twitter @CaltransDist3 and on Facebook at CaltransDistrict3. For real-time traffic, click on Caltrans' QuickMap quickmap.dot.ca.gov/ or download the QuickMap app from the App Store or Google Play. ★

Potential Site for Future Water Education Center Identified

Yuba Water Agency Release

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Riverfront land just outside of Marysville may be the future home of Yuba Water Agency’s planned Watershed Experience Center.

On September 1, 2020 the board of directors voted to move forward with preliminary environmental work to determine the feasibility of developing a new water education center at Hammon Grove Park, on land currently owned by the U.S. Bureau of Land Management.

Hammon Grove Park is located on Highway 20, just east of Marysville Road, and is adjacent to Sycamore Ranch, a park owned and operated by Yuba County. Yuba County also has a current lease with BLM for public access and recreation at Hammon Grove, amenities that would be preserved if Yuba Water builds the facility there.

“This is a great location with incredible river access and some of the best viewing for salmon spawning in this region,” said Yuba Water Agency Vice Chairman Brent Haste. “If this works out, it will allow us to keep costs down and put as much investment as possible into the facility, which I truly believe will be a game-changer for Yuba County.”

If it is determined that the land is a good location for building the Watershed Experience Center, Yuba Water could enter into a long-term lease with BLM, while simultaneously pursuing a land transfer, which is known to take several years to execute.

The early environmental studies are estimated to cost less than $50,000.

In April, Yuba Water hired DLR Group to facilitate a master planning process to help develop the vision and determine the size and scope of the facility. That process is underway now, although it has slowed due to the pandemic.

The board also today received an update on a related water education curriculum development project that is currently underway. Over the summer, a team of 45 teachers received special training about the Yuba River watershed and how to create lessons that meet Next Generation Science Standards. They then worked in groups of three or four to develop more than 175 Yuba River-focused lessons, in science and many other subject areas covering all K-12 grades and some community college courses.

The teachers will spend the next few months testing the lessons with their own classrooms, and making adjustments as needed, before all of the curriculum will be given to Yuba County school districts for wide-spread implementation.

This project is a huge collaborative effort between Yuba Water and its many education partners, including all five school districts, the Yuba County Office of Education, Yuba Community College District, South Yuba River Citizens League and the Yuba River Endowment.

“As an educational member of this powerful and impressive collaborative, it is clear that no one is as smart as all of us,” said Francisco Reveles, Yuba County Superintendent of Schools. “Indeed, our efforts have underscored an implicit spirit and belief that Yuba County deserves nothing but the best. From my perspective, this is exactly how I have come to view and respect all our partners represented by this collaborative.”

disposal after VIN numbers had been checked to establish if the vehicle had been stolen.

While the river tends to be a haven for area homeless, the heavy accumulation is not attributed solely to the homeless encampments around which much is found. In an interview with the Appeal Democrat, property owner in the Yuba-Sutter area, Greg Bock, said that much of it comes from “opportunity criminals who are making money hand over fist”. He continues, “We have people chopping vehicles, stealing...” and dumping the leftovers in the area. And sadly, the recreation area is a magnet for drug paraphernalia and is constantly the site of dumped vehicles.

Regardless, the community is doing its part to help keep it clean so it can be enjoyed by all. Of all the willing volunteers and organizations present at the event, Dhami says, “Everybody comes together whenever there’s the need.” ★

Claremont surrendered to stay with GSWC. The main complaint of residents was exorbitant rates.

In 2008, Felton, CA, (1400 residents) purchased their water system from California American Water after years of spiking rates and being poorly maintained. Today, their rates have increased along with the costs to pay back the bonds to buy-out Cal-AM. However, the projections to stay with the private utility were far higher and the increases at adjacent water systems have been much greater than Felton’s.

Food & Water Watch studied the effects of water-system privatization and has helped communities turn – or return – to public control. In a 2009 report that examined nearly 5,000 water utilities and 1,900 sewer utilities, the organization found that the private entities – which have an obligation to shareholders – charge up to 80 percent more for water and 100 percent more for sewer services. In Yuba-Sutter it is worse than what the survey revealed.

Sutter County engineer Guadalupe Rivera says Robbins residents will remain on a $70 flat rate for a 12-month grace period and then be metered. The average customer using 10,472 gallons will see their bill reduced by $11. That would compare with what Cal Water is charging Marysville residents before the additional four fees (Water Revenue Adjustment Mechanism (WRAM), CPUC Fee, Other Charges, and Public Purpose Programs). These fees add another $10-$20 to the bill. GSWC will now be eligible for state tax dollars as grants to repair the Robbins water system.

VA: "Be There" Campaign

By Will Martin,
VA Northern California Health Care System

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - September is Suicide Prevention Month and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) wants to remind Veterans and their loved ones through the Be There campaign that small actions can make a big difference to Veterans experiencing difficult times.

During this and every month the Sacramento VA Medical Center and the entire VA NorCal Health Care System remain committed to spreading awareness of suicide prevention to Veterans and their supporters and connecting them to the resources they need.

“Veterans who access VA mental health services are much less likely to experience suicide than those who choose to struggle alone,” said VA NorCal Director David Stockwell. “It’s imperative, then, that Veteran caregivers and other supporters connect Veterans with VA health care so we can get these men and women the help they deserve.”

Be There suggests several simple actions that can help make a difference for a Veteran to include:

Learning about the warning signs of suicide, found on the Veterans Crisis Line website; Watching the free S.A.V.E. training video to learn how to respond with care and compassion if someone indicates they are having thoughts of suicide; Contacting VA’s Coaching Into Care program where a licensed psychologist or social worker will provide loved ones with guidance for motivating Veterans to seek support; Sharing stories of hope and recovery from VA’s Make the Connection; Reaching out to the Veterans in your life to show them you care by sending a check-in text, cook them dinner or simply asking, “How are you?”; Northern California Veterans and their caregivers can get local support by contacting the VA NorCal Suicide Prevention Program Manager at 530-531-1408.

For more information and resources visit BeThereForVeterans.com.

If you or someone you know is having thoughts of suicide, contact the Veterans Crisis Line to receive free, confidential support and crisis intervention available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Call 1-800-273-8255 and Press 1, text to 838255, or chat online at VeteransCrisisLine.net/Chat.

YOUR ONE MINUTE NEWS DIGEST

by Don Rae

- How dishonest can the Democrats be? Now they are claiming that the street violence is Trump's fault. In Democrat-controlled parts of the country and for months the Democrats have egged on the anarchists, arsonists, looters and murders. And they now claim the result of their behavior is Trump's fault?
- Who let the District of Columbia political class out of their cages? Destroy the Washington Monument? The Jefferson Memorial? Let arrested rioters, arsonists and looters off the hook? Rename the Alexander Bell School? And who knows what else is on their childish agenda. Absolute insanity.
- Democrats just can't get over the 2016 election. Now they are concentrating on assailing Mike Pompeo for what they consider to be dastardly crimes. Why? In order to get at Trump to remove him from office. Give it up, snowflakes. All you are doing in making fools out of yourselves.
- In the first half of 2020, nearly 5 million or so Americans bought firearms. Why? Just watch the news every night. There is bound to be a lot of self defense being engaged in if matters continue as they have recently. The Democrats need to be held accountable for this disaster. The carnage will be astronomical. And Americans needs to use their God-given right of self defense in response.
- The California legislature simply can't help itself. Now it is voting to require private businesses to have a race and sex balance in their officers and boards of directors. And following closely behind is a measure to pay reparations to Blacks. In both cases chaos will erupt as government tries to operate private business and the public will revolt fiercely against reparations.
- It bears repeating as good people are allowing it to happen. The Sacramento Mayor, a lame-brained Democrat has allowed the police to back off from dealing appropriately with the usual anarchist behavior in downtown Sacramento. Result? What else? More arson, looting and so on. When will Democrats wise up? There're worse than a matador trying to throw a bull by the tail. It doesn't work.
- Many schools are adopting lesson plans claiming that America is founded on racism. Really? And many teachers are maneuvering to keep parents from listening to their lessons. When have parents voted their tax dollars to be used to promote leftist ideology and, to cap it off, not be able to hear what their children are being taught? Have you checked your school's curriculum lately?
- Here's a legitimate thought. Any politician who adds anything to a stimulus bill which is not related directly to the pandemic is no better than a looter during a "peaceful" protest. And the childish beat goes on. Are the snowflakes really trapped in their 6th grade mindset? The dumb as a fence post characters have shut down the country, impoverished millions of hard-working Americans, caused businesses by the thousands to fail over a virus with a reported 99.96% & survival rate (of course be careful of statistics, they are tricky) and the Democrats continue to demand the universal masks and other protections for everyone but themselves.
- Just a simple reminder of the state of journalism and local government. A few months ago, a local radio station was the victim of an arsonist. Have you heard or seen anything in the local media or from the Fire and Sheriff's departments about it? Nope. Absolute black out. Why because the victim radio station does not follow the leftist line put out locally in the media and government. The arsonist gets a pass because he or she hit the only local conservative radio station. Not only a shame, but a crime.
- Of course climate caused the lightening fires. What else (even Smokey the Bear is disproven). The climate change bugaboo crops up to explain everything. Folks, climate change is normal and occurs naturally no matter what we do or don't do. So, snowflakes, try to come up with something unique.
- What businesses are doing super well in today's pandemic economy? Easy to see, isn't it? Sign makers. Outfits which place slogans on tee-shirts. You don't hear a lot of complaints from those industries. ★

Attempted Axe-Murderer in Court

Butte County District Attorney

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - A Chico man, accused of attempting to murder another man with an axe blow to the chest, was in Butte County Superior Court where a judge found sufficient evidence to send his case to jury trial.

District Attorney Mike Ramsey said Matthew Dorenzo, 37, of Chico, was held to answer after a preliminary hearing before Judge Stephen Benson. Dorenzo had been charged with Attempted Murder with an Axe Causing Great Bodily Injury and Criminal Threats. Additionally, Dorenzo is charged with having a prior Assault with a Deadly Weapon as a prior strike offense for which he served prison time. Dorenzo is facing life in prison on the new attempted murder charge.

Dorenzo, 37, of Chico, was held to answer after a preliminary hearing before Judge Stephen Benson. Dorenzo had been charged with Attempted Murder with an Axe Causing Great Bodily Injury and Criminal Threats. Additionally, Dorenzo is charged with having a prior Assault with a Deadly Weapon as a prior strike offense for which he served prison time. Dorenzo is facing life in prison on the new attempted murder charge.

Ramsey said on May 22, 2020 the 39-year-old victim of Dorenzo's attack was camping with several members of his family in the Butte Meadows area of Butte County, when another group of individuals (approximately 15 with multiple unrelated families) including Dorenzo, asked if they could camp nearby, across a creek. As the night progressed, Dorenzo's group began partying and was loud enough that the victim and a friend approached the group and asked them to be quiet.

Ramsey said Dorenzo, who had been drinking, grabbed an axe and yelled that he was a gang member and had been previously convicted of assault. Dorenzo also threatened to kill the victim. Dorenzo then crossed the creek and hit the victim in the chest with the axe blade. The victim fell back with the axe still in his chest.

The victim removed the axe from his chest and Dorenzo helped the victim up, but then threw the victim into the creek. A melee between the two camping groups then ensued, which was only stopped when the victim's grandmother fired a .22 caliber rifle into the air.

Ramsey said the victim's wife rushed him to Enloe Hospital for treatment of his wound. The wound was over four inches in length and two inches in width, and deep enough that it struck bone. As the surgeon aptly stated, she was surprised the victim was still alive.

The judge scheduled Dorenzo for further arraignment and jury trial setting on his charges on October 14, 2020. Dorenzo in the meantime remains free on a $1,000,000 bail bond he posted approximately a month after his arrest. ★

WHY NOT TWICE THE WATER FOR 1/5 THE COST?

The current Forbestown Ditch Piping project, being undertaken by the North Yuba Water District, is projected to cost $12 million or $258 per foot for a flow of 24 cubic feet per second.

The ditch repair approach (some pipe, lateral, flume, concrete lining, etc.) would cost $60 per foot for a flow of 50 cubic feet per second.

Why not twice the water for 1/5 the cost?

Farmers, Ranchers Deal With Aftermath Of Fires

In the wake of wildfires scorching parts of Northern California, affected farmers and ranchers work to rebuild irrigation systems and take other steps to save remaining crops and commodities. Farmers in the path of the wildfires face costs to rebuild or replace damaged structures and equipment. The fires have also burned thousands of acres of grazing land, leaving ranchers with difficult decisions about managing their livestock.

Beekeepers Struggle With Wildfire Losses

Beekeepers in the region around Vacaville say the LNU Lightning Complex fire caused severe losses that threaten their businesses and their ability to provide pollination services to almonds and other crops. In part, that's because the fires hit at a time of year when beekeepers repopulate their colonies for almond pollination the following February. The fires also damaged or destroyed bee habitat and forage.

Tomato Farmers Expect Heat To Reduce Yields Slightly

Heat waves during the growing season have reduced the size of the processing tomato crop, but crop estimators still expect the harvest to be slightly larger than last year's. Farmers say they believe the heat may reduce per-acre crop yields, but they still anticipate a good-sized supply for use in tomato products. Marketers say those products have sold well during the pandemic, as people seek foods to cook at home.

Estimators Forecast Record Walnut Harvest

As they begin their harvest this month, California walnut farmers anticipate record crops from their orchards. The U.S. Agriculture Department forecast a harvest of 780,000 tons. Walnut marketers say they're preparing to sell the larger crop. The California Walnut Board and Commission says it will encourage Americans to eat more walnuts as snacks, while working to expand export markets in Europe and Asia. ★

The Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

The community garden is coming to the end of its summer season, tomatoes are ripening, there are fewer zucchini, pumpkins are growing. Now is the time to start thinking of a fall/winter garden. What has been planted locally successfully? We are thinking of cabbage, carrots, chard. What else?

It is hard to type "9/11" without some pretty harsh memories. Not a good day for USA. However it helps to remember the horrible actions of a few do not reflect the view of most. Just like the police who don't always act for the good of many, they react negatively under pressure. We hope we can get through this negative time without too many more deaths.

The Brownsville Peddler's Fairs have been a big success and the next one is scheduled for Saturday, October 3 at the Brownsville Mercantile on Willow Glen Rd. As always, the booth space is free and first come first serve. But if you don't have anything to sell just stop on by and check out the lovely treasures. You're sure to find something you just can't live without. Booth set up starts at 7:00 am and the event goes from 9:00 am until about 3:00 pm. Come on by.

Fear Govt Not Covid PG&E Kicks-Off National Preparedness Month for Wildfire Safety

Commentary
by Lou Binninger

“Covid is extremely deadly and so contagious” until a bureaucrat says it isn’t. The Yuba City Council Chambers were Covid-free until a citizen came to the meeting uninvited. And, he refused to wear a muzzle. That made him super pernicious. The council may not be that smart but they aren’t stupid. Covid wasn’t the issue, it was all about an arbitrary council rule that violated the fellow’s Constitutional rights.

He was arrested for trespassing and resisting since he did not think the council had a right to prohibit the public from a public meeting. If you want “old school” America you’re gonna have to fight for it.

Shazzam! The next meeting the Yuba City Council decided that the Covid-risk subsided and humans could again be in their presence. It is amazing how government and Covid are so harmonious controlling and intimidating citizens.

Covid couldn’t get you outdoors but then forest fire ash rained down on a 105 degree day. Suddenly Covid wasn’t so bad in a restaurant. It was a damn miracle right there.

Covid has been the scapegoat to remove nearly every personal freedom citizens have. If you don’t obey the government it can control your ability to shop, educate your children, travel, make a living and access medical care. And, that is just touching the high points.

Citizens have already established alternative ways to get medical care, get Covid- stopping prescriptions prohibited in CA, be ill under the health department radar, shop muzzle-free and educate their children outside our communist school system.

Recently, a married mother took a couple days off from work, not feeling well. Now back to normal, when she called the employer to say she would return on the third day that was now impossible without asking the government and being tested. Though well, she tested positive for Covid and was threatened by “Brown Shirts” to stay at home for weeks and report anyone she had prior contact with.

She called her attorney and refused the order. The Brown Shirts then asked for the names of her children. Unfortunately she told them. The Covid Nazis have since dropped the stay-at-home order, but now her children are known to be attached to ‘uncooperative and unsafe’ parents.

After weeks of difficulty contacting a major corporation locally I drove there to see if the place actually existed. Locked doors and warning signs that the plague was around greeted me.

I rang a bell and followed instructions. A cheery guy wearing two muzzles met me in a huge empty office. “What happened here?” I asked. He said the entire office staff was working remotely and half the plant personnel (over 20) had been sent home by the Health Officer.

Were they all sick? No, a few were but anyone else near them could no longer work until the government permitted them back. Healthy people on house arrest, but that is a deception and a violation of people’s Constitutional rights.

On my recent Southwest Airline flight the pilot was an idiot, liar or both by commanding the scattered passengers to muzzle-up to obey both a California and Nevada state law. What law, when? This is manipulation and psychological games at its finest. If Covid is so deadly and contagious no person should ever be allowed in a sealed tube called a plane. There is no ‘socialist distancing’ possible there.

If the pay of politicians were halted like millions of Americans until everyone was back to ‘old’ normal this all would have passed long ago. All key players to bring in a new regime have been kept in place fully-funded. That’s why there is no panic among government workers.

In fact, they don’t even follow the same Covid-escaping rules. They can have funerals, go shopping, have group gatherings and riots, and skip wearing muzzles and social distancing. This is true socialism – everyone is equal except some are more equal than others. And the government hypocrites have even embraced medical quackery.

Did you notice the target continually moves re-defining Covid requirements to open-up? Gavin now says “Covid will be with us a long time.” I’m OK with Covid, just not Gavin being with us. The government controlling our lives so that all disease will stop is ludicrous. Live your life good days and bad and flip the government off. It’s not your friend.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

SAN FRANCISCO, CA (MPG) - September is National Preparedness Month, and Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) reminds its customers that being prepared for the unexpected, especially after the events of the last few weeks, has never been more important.

With peak wildfire season off to an early start and COVID-19 altering the dynamics of evacuations, having an emergency plan and reviewing it and sharing it with family and friends is essential. PG&E’s online Safety Action Center is a great place to start. More than 1 million Californians have used the resources at this one-stop source. The website helps ensure that customers are prepared before an emergency, with links to sign up for wildfire safety alerts and printable emergency checklists. The Safety Action Center also includes a helpful video demonstration of how to manually open an electric garage door, should you experience a power outage during an evacuation.

“We are in the heart of wildfire season, in the midst of a pandemic, and in earthquake country. We don’t need to be afraid, but we do need to be prepared,” said Rod Robinson, PG&E’s senior director of Emergency Preparedness & Response. “At PG&E, we plan for emergencies by regularly training, working closely with first responders, and tracking the weather 24/7/365. We encourage customers to also have a plan for emergencies and, above all else, stay safe.”

HOW CUSTOMERS CAN PREPARE:

Build or restock your emergency kit with flashlights, fresh batteries, first aid supplies and cash. Keep face masks and hand sanitizer in your emergency kit; Identify backup charging methods for phones and keep hard copies of emergency numbers; Plan for medical needs like medications that require refrigeration or devices that need power; Keep in mind family members who are elderly, younger children and pets; Update your contact information online or by calling PG&E at 1-866-743-6589 during normal business hours so you can receive Public Safety Power Shutoff alerts; Learn more about wildfire risk and what to do before, during and after an emergency to keep your family safe at PG&E’s Safety Action Center.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company, a subsidiary of PG&E Corporation (NYSE:PCG), is one of the largest combined natural gas and electric energy companies in the United States. Based in San Francisco, with more than 23,000 employees, the company delivers some of the nation’s cleanest energy to nearly 16 million people in Northern and Central California.
