The West is Burning

California struggles to find help fighting its wildfires

By Julie Cart, CalMatters

California's wildfire resources are the envy of the world: It owns the most extensive fleet of firefighting aircraft, and the largest and best-equipped crews.

Yet, already this year, CalFire can't keep up with the fire siege hitting the state, whipped by a barrage of lightning strikes, an historic heat wave and plenty of brush and buildings poised to burn. Harried state officials readily admit there are not enough firefighters to fill every need.

The state faces an unprecedented crisis: The number and intensity of Northern California's fires so early in the season means that Western states are still fighting fires and have little aid to spare to send to California.

"We are still burning. New Mexico is still burning. Colorado and Nevada are asking for resources. There's just not a good word to put on this fire season. We are working in a new world," said Tiffany Davila, public affairs officer with the Arizona Department of Forestry and Fire Management.

With more than 7,000 fires already started in California, and more than 1.6 million acres burned, the pace is well ahead of what is expected for this time of year.

Climate change has redefined what fire experts held true. There is no longer such a thing as "normal" when it comes to defining fire season and fire behavior. The season now lasts two and a half months longer, starting earlier and lingering into late fall. California's most deadly conflagration, the Camp Fire, ignited in November of 2018.

Historically, California's most dangerous fires have come later in the year, in September and October. By then, the worst fires are over in neighboring states so they could be counted on to send help.

The fire service has a long tradition of mutual aid, often encompassing

Chico State
Clears Dorms,
Cancels Classes

By Seti Long

CHICO, CA (MPG) - Days into the start of Chico State University's Fall Semester, reports of positive reports of COVID19 among students began to surface. Students had returned to the university on August 24th, some lodging in campus dorms and attending the few in-person instruction classes being held on campus, while others attended virtual courses.

On Wednesday, August 26th, the Butte County Department of Public Health warned of a spike in COVID19 infections associated with college age persons, and that over 15 new COVID cases among people the ages of 18-24 had been identified in an apartment complex near the Chico State University Campus.

Then, Sunday, August 20th, just a week after instruction began, University President Gayle Hutchinson ordered the closure of campus dorms and the cancellation of in-person instruction due to the "alarming" increase in cases and concern for student safety. Hutchinson stated that "Nearly every on-campus residence hall has been impacted by at least one positive case and there's concern that numbers will only increase." An update released by the University the following day states that they had learned of an additional nine new COVID cases involving students who spent time in Tehama Hall, Mechoopda Hall, Wildcat Recreation Center, and the Sim Center. These recent incidents bring the total number of cases on campus since the beginning of August to 36 (not all currently active).

Students currently living in residence halls have been given until Sunday, September 6th to find alternate housing. Hutchinson has been quoted to write, "Simply put, we need students out of the residence halls as quickly as possible for their own safety... Unfortunately, with COVID-19, exposure to even a small number of individuals has serious consequences in terms of community spread...". The limited number of in-person classes being held will continue virtually for the remainder of the fall semester.

Chico State has been and will continue to work closely with the Butte County Department of Health and with infected individuals to enact contact-tracing procedures. Individuals that believe they may have been

New Warning Systems for Cross Traffic Installed

By Gilbert Mohtes-Chan, Caltrans

YUBA COUNTY, CA (MPG) - In a continued effort to boost motorist safety, Caltrans has installed advanced warning systems that alert motorists to cross traffic ahead at two intersections on State Highway 70 north of Marysville.

Motorists approaching the intersections of Highway 70 at Saddleback Drive and Highway 70 at Ramirez Road will see solar-powered roadside amber beacons flashing when there is a vehicle waiting to enter the highway from the side street. The highly visible blinking lights are triggered after a vehicle on the county road activates an underground sensor.

A study conducted by the Minnesota Department of Transportation found these intersection warning systems featuring flashing beacons and cross traffic ahead signs reduced speeds on the main highway by an average of 4.5 mph.

"For the past year and a half, Caltrans has worked with the California Highway Patrol and local partners to implement a series of safety measures along the Highway 70 corridor between Marysville and Oroville," said Amarjeet S. Benipal, Caltrans District 3 Director. "The new intersection warning system upholds our commitment to help motorists arrive safely to their destinations."

Yuba County Supervisor Randy Fletcher pointed out the corridor's importance to local residents. "Highway 70 is an important transportation and economic artery for Yuba County residents and farmers. I'd like to thank Caltrans for continuing to work with us to make our roads safer," Fletcher said.

"As motorists travel safely into Marysville, we will be ready to allow them to reach their destinations efficiently and effectively as possible," said Marysville Mayor Ricky Samayoa. "We are working with Caltrans to ensure we are not the traffic bottleneck for drivers traveling between Sacramento and the northern Sacramento Valley."

Other safety measures implemented on the corridor since 2019 include:

(1) Establishment of a

Daylight Headlight Section requiring drivers to turn on their headlights during daytime hours; (2) Installation of radar speed feedback signs that display the travel speed of motorists. Studies indicate drivers exceeding the speed limit will slow down 80 percent of the time after seeing how fast they're driving displayed on the signs; (3) Installation of three additional signs alerting motorists that passing lanes are ahead between Cox Lane and Central House Road. (4) Construction of additional rumble strips and the replacement of 4-inch pavement striping with 6-inch wide striping on a 9-mile segment of Highway 70 from Laurellen to the Yuba-Butte county line.

Caltrans District 3 is responsible for maintaining and operating 4,385 lane miles in 11 Sacramento Valley and Northern Sierra counties. Caltrans provides construction updates for real-time traffic; visit Caltrans' QuickMap at quickmap.dot.ca.gov/ or download the QuickMap app from the App Store or Google Play.

News Outlook

By Josh F.W. Cook

Be aware, friends - the Yuba and Sutter County clerks will be mailing you ballots in October. Election Day is not in November; that is how it was in days gone by. Now there is voting for a month, and election day is election month.

Supervisor Andy Vasquez, the longest-serving and most senior Supervisor in Yuba County Government, reports someone burned down the radio station from which he has held his regular Saturday community update radio program. I think he has taken it personally. It is one thing for a person to call and and “flame” Andy for his opinions and positions on the issues; it is another thing (criminal) to burn down the building. An investigation is ongoing, but this type of anti-free speech type violence seems to be increasing in our world, and it is not a good thing.

Live Oak City Council got together and banned handing out drug needles this month. It seems like a logical thing to do. Assemblyman Jamie Gallagher, Bob Gallagher's Grandkid, seems to have seen how the activist types in Sacramento were going to be pushing this pro-needle handout idea and warned his friends in local government. Several cities have taken the preemptive step of letting the state and non-profit groups involved in the drug addiction industrial complex that Yuba/Sutter does not cater to such.

A move is afoot to save the Sutter Statue. Sutter Health Corporation took down their statue of John Sutter to appease a small angry mob of demonstrators and have hidden the John Sutter Statue somewhere. I think they were surprised when a small group of happy Sutter County residents asked if they could put Sutter on display in the County named after him. Maybe they could put Sutter in the town of Sutter, next to Sutter High School in Sutter County. Then again, Sutter Street in Yuba City would be good as well.

Speaking of Health care systems ... Ours is better than Sutter, and Adventist Rideout hospital was started by a woman, Phebe Rideout. (Yuba County also elected the first woman Sheriff in California, Virginia Black). As the Marysville Daily Appeal pointed out in a 1907 article about a remarkable woman from a notable pioneer California family was about to donate her family's 4,000 square foot “mansion” for a hospital: “Marysville is in need of a hospital. There is now no place where sick and injured can be taken for treatment, and the expense and delay consequent upon sending patients to Sacramento or other places where hospitals are maintained is too great for safety...” said she. In the 1907 Daily Appeal article, it was noted Mrs. Phebe Rideout was to give to the City of Marysville her residence at the southeast corner of Fifth and E streets to be used as a public hospital. That system grew for one house to something much bigger and merged with the Adventist Healthcare System out of financial necessity. The Adventists have been pouring money into the place to improve it and strengthen it for the last several years. It is a big deal for the Yuba/Sutter community to have a world-class hospital, and we keep doctors here in our area.

Los Angeles and San Francisco Democrats are becoming aware that Yuba County produces better political operatives - like Bill Wong and now Shery Yang Wonnacot. Shery last week was introduced to the world as the new Director of Communications for the California Democratic Party (America's Biggest Democrat Party). Bill Wong has no fancy title, he has been in charge of stealing legislative seats from Republicans for the last decade, and there are not that many left to steal; he is notoriously effective. From a historical perspective, they are not the first politically astute Asians with ties to the Marysville area. Local Lon Hatamiya was a high ranking Democrat government operative for decades. They are the latest dots connected in an American story of Asian political struggle and victory, which started in the 1800s in California. So much of our community has history (or a very colorful story) that if we understood it - all of this would explain a lot about why things are the way they are; and how we have shaped our world view.

The Center Celebrates 20 Years with a Virtual Gala

By Melissa Clark,
The Center for the Arts

GRASS VALLEY, CA (MPG) - Join The Center for the Arts as they celebrate their 20th Anniversary with Gin & Jazz, a Virtual Gala. Their annual gala is a benefit for the nonprofit performing arts organization and their biggest fundraiser of the year. The online auction supports the expansion of their arts education offerings, and the improvement of their broadcasting capabilities. Community partners have come together to donate auction items, and to help The Center provide VIP ticket buyers with dinner and gift bags which will be available for curbside pickup the day of the event. Anyone can attend with a pay-what-you-can community ticket to participate in the auctions, the virtual red carpet, and the zoom dance party featuring music from the ultimate dance band, Pop Rocks.

Gin & Jazz presents a unique opportunity to dress up, have fun, and support the arts. The online experience is sure to be different than the in-person galas of the past, but after having success with their recent Annual Meeting that took place via Zoom, the team at The Center is confident that guests will appreciate the community spirit and enjoy the interactive elements. Everyone is encouraged to dress up and join the simultaneous Zoom meeting for their chance to show off their red carpet looks, share their excitement during the live auction, and be featured in the online dance party during the Pop Rocks performance.

While they had hoped to host guests in their brand new state-of-the-art theater, they are pivoting with pride as they invite the entire community to experience the celebration online as they demonstrate the very broadcast capabilities they are developing. “It's really a gift that as we celebrate 20 years, we are pushed to adopt new tools to keep us moving forward, stay true to our mission, and to honor our commitments. Even through a pandemic we are able to bring art, culture and education to our community. That's what it's all about, and that's what we are both celebrating and working hard to keep alive.” Melissa Clark, Marketing Manager.

Their Youth Arts Education programs serve over 7,500 students annually, and now more than ever local youth need access to adapted creative learning experiences. However, without ticket sales from in-person events, it is becoming increasingly difficult to sustain these important programs. Last year's Cirque au Centre raised a record setting $136,000 for The Center and its cultural and educational programming. They've brought in Auctioneer Greg Quiroga to help them meet this year's fundraising goals in hopes of securing another year of youth arts and community programming.

The Center for the Arts celebrates 20 years with their first-ever virtual gala. Saturday, September 12 from 6:00 - 8:00 p.m. guests will enjoy the broadcasted musical performances by Le Jazz Hot and Pop Rocks and the online auction with Auctioneer Greg Quiroga. VIP tickets include dinner and a gift bag, donation-based community tickets are also available. Visit thecenterforthearts.org or call 530-274-8384 for tickets and information. ★ local and county fire crews lending a hand when needed. But the strain of managing multiple, large fires that have ignited in Northern California means casting a wide net for help.

“We are using every possible resource, every conceivable asset,” Gov. Gavin Newsom said Wednesday.

The state secured a federal major disaster declaration, freeing up additional funds and some equipment. At least two C-130 air tankers have been dispatched, from the California Air National Guard and also from Wyoming's guard.

California has sent out calls for aid to all 50 states, with crews and equipment from at least seven Western states currently working dozens of major fires. Personnel from Arizona, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Texas, Utah and Washington are assisting California crews. Kansas is also sending crews.

Help also is expected from Canadian and Australian firefighters, who are California's traditional wildfire allies. Those appeals are made through the state Office of Emergency Services, which did not respond to CalMatters' requests for information.

Australia's New South Wales Rural Fire Service, the world's largest volunteer firefighting force, said Thursday that it will send 55 personnel to California, in part to reciprocate for mutual aid assistance CalFire sent last year.

In Arizona, which is second to California in acres burned this year, fire bosses have had two strike teams and crews in the Golden State for a month. During catastrophic fires in California's wine country two years ago, as many as 300 Arizona firefighters were on the front lines.

Now, with unprecedented late-season fires raging, Arizona fire authorities are in a bind.

“We just sent two crews to Colorado and had to call them to turn them around,” Davila said. “The problem we all are facing is the lack of resources – everyone is still busy. Usually by now we would be dialing down to the end of our season and would have crews to spare.”

It often falls to federal fire bosses at the National Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho, to balance the needs of everybody. With the national fire preparedness set at Level 5, the highest alert, multi-agency fire managers meet every morning at a sprawling complex in Boise. They produce a national situation report and use it to triage fire emergencies around the country and assign priorities for sending resources.

California usually tops the list.

“There are 6,400 federal firefighters, half are on fires in California,” said Stanton Florea, a spokesman for the Forest Service in Boise. “Fires in the U.S. typically start in the Southwest, shift to other parts of the country then end up in California. It's unusual that these large fires are occurring this early. There is competition for resources.”

Staffing wildfires in California is never straightforward. Current fires are being managed by CalFire, the U.S. Forest Service, the National Park Service and the federal Bureau of Land Management. Tribal crews operate out of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Determining where crews and equipment are best used is a logistical nightmare, a puzzle board of moving pieces. Even though large fires aren't yet igniting in Southern California, the urge to shift crews north is tempered by the concern that such deployments leave southern regions vulnerable should fires break out. It can take days or longer to move fire equipment and crews.

“As (fire) containment goes up, we can move people around, but we are spread so thin,” said Lynette Round, a CalFire spokeswoman. In addition to its duties as wildland firefighters, the agency's employees also go out on non-fire emergencies. “We responded to 15,000 emergencies in the last 10 days,” Round said.

CalFire has added to its ranks by bringing back retirees, calling employees back from vacations and bringing online 858 new fire personnel funded through the state budget process. Inmate crews, which the agency has come to rely on, are scarce because of virus-related early prison releases.

To make matters worse, the pandemic has restricted the free movement of some firefighters. Davila said that some departments are reluctant to send crews to other jurisdictions for fear that either they would lose firefighters to the virus or restrictive quarantine procedures.

Another factor that bedevils fire authorities is the longstanding state and federal mandate for what they call “aggressive initial attack,” hitting new fires hard to keep them from spreading.

A June memo from the U.S. Forest Service Chief stressed the policy and put it in the pandemic context, as a strategy to put fires out quickly to limit crews' exposure to COVID-19 while in the field.

That has meant crews are busy on almost every fire, even those that might be observed and allowed to burn.

To Timothy Ingalsbee, executive director of the Oregon-based group Firefighters United for Safety, Ethics and Ecology, it's a misguided approach.

“It's not humanly possible to put out all fires,” he said. “We need to focus on the fires that really matter, to save lives and homes, and shift resources to them. The future is to safely manage wildfires, to steer them. You don't need hundreds of firefighters to do that.”

with the multiple crises confronting the state and nation.

Placement of Campaign Signs Face Restrictions along State Highways

By Gilbert Mohtes-Chan,
Caltrans

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - With the 2020 general election season gearing up, political candidates and campaign workers for either an office or a ballot measure are reminded about a state law governing the placement of “Temporary Political Signs” within view of a state highway.

Section 5405.3 of the State Outdoor Advertising Act allows an exemption for the placement of “Temporary Political Signs” along certain state highways. However, these signs are not to be placed within the state right of way. In addition, signs cannot be visible within 660 feet from the edge of the right of way of a classified “landscaped freeway.”

In Caltrans District 3, there are 76 miles of roadway in the 11-county Sacramento Valley and Sierra Region that fall under the “landscaped freeway” classification, which covers ornamental planting covering at least a 1,000-foot-long continuous stretch of state right of way.

highway, candidates MUST file a Statement of Responsibility form with Caltrans’ Outdoor Advertising Program in Sacramento.

A temporary political sign meets the following criteria: (1) Encourages a vote in a scheduled election; (2) Is placed no sooner than 90 days prior to the scheduled election and is removed within 10 days after that election; (3) Is no larger than 32 square feet; (4) Has a statement of responsibility form filed with Caltrans certifying a person who will be responsible for removing the signs?

State law directs Caltrans to remove unauthorized temporary political signs and bill the responsible party for their removal.

For more information or copy of the form “Statement of Responsibility” for temporary political signs, please visit: <https://dot.ca.gov/programs/traffic-operations/oda/political-signs>

A completed Statement of Responsibility must be submitted to: Caltrans Division of Traffic Operations, Outdoor Advertising Program, P.O. Box 942874, MS-36 Sacramento, CA 94274-0001.

PREPARING FOR A PUBLIC SAFETY POWER SHUTOFF

Public Safety Power Shutoff (PSPS) is a statewide effort to prevent wildfires by proactively turning off power to communities when severe winds and dry weather conditions are forecast. While turning off the power helps prevent wildfires, we also know it will disrupt lives and cause hardship for our customers. That's why PG&E does not make this decision lightly and will only call a PSPS to help keep customers and communities safe.

HERE ARE 5 WAYS TO PREPARE FOR A PSPS:

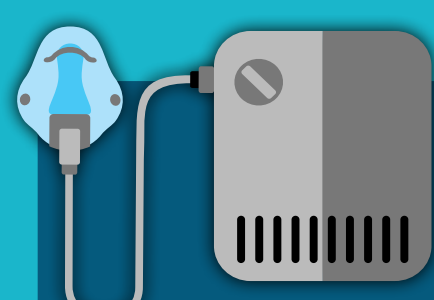

Make sure PG&E can reach you before a PSPS by updating your contact information at pge.com/mywildfirealerts.

Pack or restock your family's emergency kit including food, water, batteries, masks, radio and a first aid kit.

2

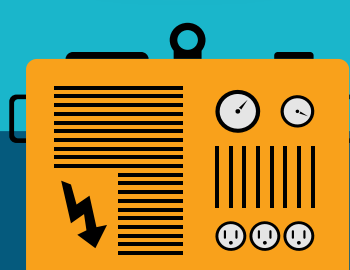

Make preparations for anyone in your family who depends on electricity for medical needs.

3

Practice manually opening your garage door (if you have a garage).

4

Ensure any backup power sources are ready and safe to operate.

YOUR ONE MINUTE NEWS DIGEST

by Don Rae

- Bill Gates and those who claim that the corona virus is tied to climate change have made it clear that this whole lockdown is not entirely a health issue, but a control matter. They are nothing more than power-hungry snowflakes. They must be removed from the public discourse or America is gone.
- BLM is so concerned about flavored cigarettes and related tobacco products that it advertises vociferously against a bill related to the subject. However, at the same time, BLM supports Planned Parenthood which aborts lots of back babies. Hypocrites.
- California is self destructing with its reliance on “Green Energy”. What will California become when 100% green energy becomes a reality? Huge costs to all Californians and blackouts forever. What a crock.
- After encouraging looting, arson and all other manner of criminal behavior, the Seattle Police Chief takes a hike. She should be indicted for being an accessory before the fact. She should not be allowed to get away with walking off the stage.
- So Garamendi is okay with arson, looting and other dastardly crimes. He then should be held culpable for the behavior such thinking has wrought.
- The usual suspects are claiming Harris is a moderate. This is the same Harris who wanted the Wuhan Chinese Virus term made into a hate crime. How moderate is that?
- Ever take a hard look at Hollywood productions? Did you notice that the story line almost always has the hero solving problems with a weapon or explosion? Think of the message being foisted on our children, Kill your opponent or blow them up.
- Wonderful.
- The Wisconsin incident is a total farce egged on by Democratic politicians who deserve to be charged with felonies and stripped of office. Police officers have the right to protect themselves and a duty to protect the public. If the perp is resisting arrest, carrying a knife and possibly reaching for a gun, then that person should face the unhappy consequences of his or her actions. Those who ignore those facts should also be held accountable, Self defense is a basic god-given right and can't be taken away by a stupid snowflake.
- Our nation is in terrible turmoil. It brings to mind Lincoln's inaugural address in 1861. He said “we are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies though passions may have been strained, it must not break down our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave, to every living heart and hearthstone, all over this great land, will yet swell the chorus of the union when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature.” Consider this Americans. When you go to the polls, use your better judgment and vote to continue America.
- Democrat opinion writers characterized the Republican Convention as filled with “ghoulish clowns.” After the petty politicizing of the Democratic convention, it is certainly hypocritical of the snowflakes to cast any aspersions on their opponents.
- Apparently some California politicians are dead set on destroying the state by any means possible. All green energy by 2045? Might as well pack up and leave the State. ★

We Owe Gray Davis an Apology

Commentary by Lou Binninger

No fan of Governor Gray Davis, it was still a shock when he was petitioned to be recalled and then actually voted out October 7, 2003! There was plenty wrong with the state then, utility and pension plan corruption, the spiking of motor vehicle fees, and a huge raise for state correctional officers to get Davis re-elected. Davis was the first California Governor to be recalled and the second in US history.

However, considering the bleak state of California today, if Gavin Newsom is not recalled the citizens owe Davis an apology.

Recall proponents have until November 17 to submit 1,495,709 verifiable signatures but are hoping to present 2 million knowing that many will be disqualified. This campaign is a volunteer effort and they rarely succeed. But these are unprecedented times.

Newsom says he has five big objectives: “1) increase funding for public education, 2) protect and secure Californians' health and health care, 3) improve water, roads, and bridges, 4) address the challenges of housing affordability and homelessness, and 5) prepare for the threats of wildfires.”

California public education is among the lowest performing in the country and is basically a union welfare and retirement fund for teachers. Unions protect bad teachers and disruptive students and they crush any attempts at better alternatives such as charter schools. Newsom is impotent on education.

As for California's need for “secure” health care, Newsom has done nothing to eliminate limits on the number of nursing graduates at California's colleges and universities. He basically has extended the Obamacare expensive coverages. Meanwhile he's willing to spend hundreds of millions to provide free health care to illegal aliens, while millions of working Californians cannot afford insurance.

Citizens are repeatedly taxed to “improve water, roads, and bridges.” Newsom then takes the money to waste billions on “High Speed Rail” rather than improving the infrastructure Californians need and use. Newsom funds thousands of surplus Caltrans workers, the department responsible for making road improvements. State audits reveal billions are wasted.

Newsom has done nothing to reform CEQA, California's bottleneck Environmental Quality Act, which buries road projects in bureaucracy and courts for years, costing additional billions. Nothing is accomplished. ★

California gets the national loser trophy for “housing affordability and homelessness.” Newsom's gift is gab, not getting problems solved. The process of building new suburbs and infrastructure needs to be deregulated. Instead, since regulations have made it impossible for developers to sell affordable homes and still make a profit, Newsom has deceived voters into passing tens of billions of dollars in bonds. These billions are used to pay Newsom's friends, who are building “affordable” housing at an average cost well in excess of $500,000 per unit. He's a crook.

How about those homeless? Economist Walter Williams says that whatever you want more of – fund it. California has done just that by the hundreds of millions of dollars. Rather than providing cost-effective shelters in low-cost areas, arrest and direct addicts into rehabs, Newsom and Democrat mayors allow the homeless to take over downtown areas and choice neighborhoods throughout the state.

Tens of thousands of homeless squatters live lawless, openly consume hard drugs, steal for their habits, and harass working residents. The lawless need to be detained and their problems addressed once sober.

Never shy to sue, Newsom could challenge the laws and court rulings that prevent the state from helping the homeless? Why just accept them? Instead he wants to build “supportive housing” on expensive real estate. Newsom's performance on California's homeless crisis reveals his liberal incompetence gene. Liberal solutions make problems worse.

Finally, Newsom wants to “prepare for wildfires” which he blames on the climate. Hahahaha. Newsom has never admitted that forestry mismanagement is the reason for catastrophic wildfires, or that the droughts have occurred in cycles for centuries in this state? Wisdom is to prepare for drought not change the climate.

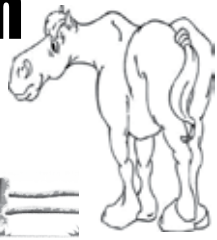

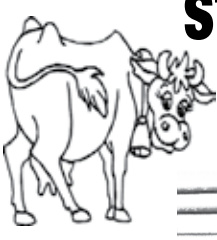

Why isn't the timber industry returning to harvest diseased and dead trees and thin mature trees in exchange for clearing brush? That would cost taxpayers nothing and create jobs. Can't Newsom admit that most of the stress on the forests is because the trees have become too dense preventing healthy trees from getting enough nutrients?

There is plenty more to say of Newsom's acts of incompetence including shutting down the state for a faux pandemic. Sign the recall petition by going to recallgavin2020.org. You can print, then sign and mail the petition. Or you can locate your county's Recall Gavin Facebook page on the website to find a signing location. ★

Farmers, Ranchers Assess Wildfire Damage

Wildfires that have burned swaths of Northern and Central California have scorched rangeland and damaged or threatened crops and livestock throughout the region. Smoke and ash from the fires have also slowed harvests and led to concerns about potential impacts to crops. County agricultural officials and local farm groups have distributed N95 respirators to farmers and farm employees, due to poor air quality caused by the fires.

Congressional Letter Seeks On-Farm Protective Gear

Twenty-five members of Congress from California asked the White House Tuesday to make more N95 respirators available to farmers and their employees. The masks are required for outside work when air quality worsens during wildfires. The bipartisan request asked the White House Coronavirus Task Force to work with state and local authorities to ensure farmers and farm employees have “priority access to the protective gear they need to do their essential work.”

Almond Farmers Start Harvest of Large Crop

Widespread wildfires have had an indirect effect on Northern California almond farmers as their harvest begins. Farmers say hazy skies and high humidity slow the drying of almonds that have been shaken to the ground at the start of harvest. Other than the potential delay, the smoke and haze don’t affect the crop. California farmers expect a record-sized almond harvest this year, and also anticipate large crops of pistachios and walnuts.

Dairy Marketers Assess Prospects For Autumn

Sales of milk, cheese and other dairy products typically increase during the autumn – but, of course, this is not a typical year. The usual, seasonal rise in fluid-milk sales to schools will be muted, as many schools maintain distance-learning protocols due to the pandemic. Marketers say some of that demand may shift to at-home consumption. Cheese sales may also be affected due to delays or cancellations of sporting events and other gatherings. ★

The Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Thanks to Tina Hamilton for starting The Garden Party on Facebook. The interactions have been so positive, great pictures shared, ideas and plans have us all thinking about our gardens. They would like to have a Garden Swap later this fall, trading bulbs, seeds, rhizomes, and plants. Watch for details.

Fall is on the way. School in many forms has begun, the days are getting shorter, time to check and see if you have fall clothes. Fire season is still upon us though so make sure you have an evacuation plan and a “Go” bag. Perhaps write down a plan with lists of things to do. Be ready to pack all meds, your pillow, some cash, maybe even a toothbrush. We would love to hear from those who had to evacuate last year and their ideas of needed and not needed items. Have the whole family and perhaps even a neighbor or friend in on your plan. Don’t forget the pets and other animals.

The Brownsville Dollar General construction is moving right along. If you are looking for work, the Dollar General web site is DollarGeneral.com and they are taking applications. Maybe we’ll see some of your smiling faces stocking shelves and working the cash register.

Looking for something to do this Labor Day weekend? On Saturday, September 5 there will be a Peddler’s Fair set up at the Brownsville Mercantile parking lot, on Willow Glen Rd. There will be many vendors with a wide array of treasures for your shopping pleasure. If you wish to set up a booth to sell, just come down and set up for free. Set up starts at 7:00 am and is first come first serve. The Brownsville Farmers Market is right next door in the Foothill Fire Department parking lot, and has a great selection of fruits, vegetables, breads, crafts and more. You can spend a beautiful Saturday visiting with friends and neighbors while shopping outdoors. Plentiful parking and you can walk between the two venues.

Look Back in Time – In 1933 Mae West said the secret to her curves was a diet of thick cream, pies and pastries, rich sauces and wearing a padded corset (sure wouldn’t want a corset but the rest sounds pretty good).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon

Totalitarianism from Berlin to Yuba City

Commentary by Lou Binninger

Germans have been the most aggressive at resisting the totalitarian measures (masks, social-ist distancing, closed businesses and schools, house arrest for the healthy) of the faux pandemic called Covid 19. Saturday, August 29th, organizers in Berlin hoped for a half million people but some media estimated 38,000 were in attendance. Hundreds were arrested.

Robert F Kennedy Jr. anti- vaccination campaigner, the son of assassinated US presidential candidate Robert F Kennedy and nephew of assassinated US President John F Kennedy addressed the gathering.

Kennedy told the crowd at the Victory Column that his uncle had addressed Berlin in 1963 to counter totalitarianism and that "today Berlin is again the front against totalitarianism," warning of a surveillance state and the power of 5G phone networks.

Kennedy was also in Berlin to attend a conference to talk about the pharmaceutical industry's capture and control of politicians and governments globally. To wage the resistance against Big Pharma, Children's Health Defense Europe was introduced to complement similar organizations in America. Kennedy sees Big Pharma as a threat both to people's health and democracy worldwide.

Kennedy said conference leaders were seeking people of goodwill and courage, nonconformists that recognize the public is being lied to and understand that the entire political structure is saturated with Big Pharma misinformation.

Kennedy believes we are at an 'inflection point' in human history, possibly the greatest that humanity has ever encountered. Throughout history totalitarian regimes have used the power of fear to command compliance among a population.

During the Nuremberg Trials, Nazi leader Herman Goering was asked by the prosecutor "How did you make the German people comply?" Goering responded that it's not just Germany, it works in any country, fascist, communist, monarchy or democracy. All the leaders must do is to identify something the people should be fearful of, emphasize that and humans will do whatever you want, go to the slaughter like sheep, or simply obey.

During the same economic depression that brought Nazism to Germany, in America Franklin Roosevelt said in his first inaugural remarks that "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." He understood that fear would drive America to totalitarianism.

Kennedy says globalists Anthony Fauci, Bill Gates, George Soros and others have known for years that the bio-security agenda is a tool that no totalitarian regime possessed in the past.

Hitler could point at the Jews to instill fear; ethnic groups can demonize others; historically some feared the Bolsheviks or terrorist groups. Those in fear will voluntarily give-up their human and civil rights for peace and safety and proceed cooperatively to their demise.

The fear of pandemics is the most pervasive and all-encompassing power the globalists possess. Corrupt government rulers love pandemics and crises like wars. It makes them all-powerful, able to control humans and force them to obey.

Communications technology 5G combined with vaccines and satellite surveillance gives governments total control over everyone, travel, spending, communications and beliefs. It is literally enforced obedience. You either comply or starve.

It is authoritarian management and it is occurring here. With no science to support it today we are commanded: Wear a mask. Stay in your house. Stand 6 feet apart. No fishing. Don't go to work. No church or school. No hired tutor. No sports teams, drama or music instruction. No group gatherings and hundreds of other rules.

Even the Yuba City Council loves the pandemic power to rid their meetings of public oversight and arrest people for noncompliance. A father of four attended the August 18 meeting. There was no advertised prohibition to attending the meeting. No instructions for Zoom. No signage warning the public against infecting the rulers with the faux pandemic.

The doors were open and no security outside. Not all 5 council members sported masks or were social distancing.

The man brought his teen son for a governance outing. Once inside they were informed of new anti-American socialist rules. He left to take his son home and then returned knowing something was way wrong with our government. This visit, after refusing to leave what once was a legally-mandated public meeting he was arrested and taken to the police department.

Councilmember Dave Shaw asked if the video was running as Mayor Shon Harris instructed security to remove the fellow sitting quietly in the chambers. Either the video was stopped or edited. There is no visual record of the incident. His court date is September 28.

Without the public present no one really knows what went on since everything can be photo-shopped, changed and 'doctored.' Since government has been proven habitually dishonest, trust is gone. (The US Air Force used to say "In God we trust, all others we monitor.")

Regardless of their blaming Gov. Newsom or the health officer, local officials are compliant-in and guilty-of trampling your freedoms and your livelihood. ★

Gold Called the Metal of Kings

Gold is often called the metal of kings and the description also includes silver, sometimes called its younger brother.

Gold has been used as a form of money for centuries and its only in recent times its use as money has diminished.

That's not to say it has gone away as a monetary tool. It is still stockpiled at central banks around the world and stashed away by consumers and investors alike. As a currency, it has many of the required characteristics that any sound money must have.

It is durable and can be buried in the dirt or ocean for centuries without harm. It is hard to come by. All the gold ever dug up could fit in a tennis court sized cube. It is divisible. One small ounce can be stretched into a thread miles long.

It easy to recognize and impossible to counterfeit. It is a consistent store of value as one ounce in Roman times was said to buy a suit of armor and a meal. That same ounce today can easily still buy a nice suit and a good steak.

Up until several decades ago, many investors and central bankers alike have scorned gold in lieu of paper money. Things like stocks, bonds, currencies, cyber currency (like Bitcoin) notes and debt instruments have been thought to be as good as.

Whether that statement holds true is left to individual opinion but central banks do still stockpile it and in times of monetary upset, those tendencies seem to increase.

China is rumored to have tons of gold and is adding more. Many other central banks including ours also stores copious amounts of it. The exact amounts each central bank has is somewhat of a closely guarded secret.

Although gold ownership was outlawed here in the United States in 1933, Americans were once again allowed to own it in 1974.

There are many ways to own gold and although currently running about $2,000 an ounce, it's cheaper cousin silver also possesses similar physical qualities and investor perceptions as to its usefulness and is currently under $30 an ounce. That perception being gold and silver cannot be printed by central bankers, is a hard asset recognized worldwide, cannot be traced, is easily transported and basically autonomous in its possession.

Although gold and silver prices can languish for years, when their prices do move, the moves can be fast and furious.

It is thought investors flee to gold to protect against inflation and maintain financial privacy. It can be said when currencies go bad, buy gold and silver.

How exactly does a currency "go bad"?

Think Mexican Peso. That's pretty much all you need to know.

Right now gold and silver prices are on the move again, gaining upwards of 50% to 90% in a few short months. Many analysts think this is only the beginning.

Why are prices rising?

The reasons could be many but likely include increased political and social tensions, the massive rescue programs from central banks everywhere which encompasses trillions of dollars in stimulus and rescue packages, and a virulent virus causing massive global shutdowns are but a few likely causes.

Gold and silver can be found in many forms. Old coins, current coin issues, small or large bars or generic rounds or even gold or silver jewelry is common. The most popular investor holding is one ounce coins or generic bars of different weights.

Right now the physical demand for coins is high and supplies are tight but you can find supplies if you are persistent. Small one or ten ounce bars are also a convenient way to hold these metals.

Investors can also consider gold company stocks and funds but in my opinion the reason for going this route is slightly different and investors should know the reasons for owning one or the other.

Branscum Challenges Mayor and Councilmen in City Manager Decision

From Chris Branscum for Mayor 2020

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Candidate for Marysville Mayor Chris Branscum addressed the Marysville City Council special meeting on Tuesday, August 11th and raised serious questions about events surrounding the termination of former city manager Marti Brown and the associations of the 3 who voted to terminate her on a 3 to 2 vote. He said there is a cloud overhanging the entire process that, in Marysville's best interests, needs to be cleared up and the Grand Jury is probably the best venue for that.

His comments to the City Council follow:

"I believe there is a cloud overhanging this entire process.

First: A 3-2 vote to terminate the City Manager without cause is something of a scandal in itself, especially when you consider: (a) The total dollar cost of severance pay and recruiting and other out-of-pocket costs; (b) The turmoil and distraction from other pressing business; and, (c) The loss of continuity of effort on important projects.

All due to a termination without cause on a 3-2 vote!

Next: Let's take a look at certain events and the behavior and association of the 3, the mayor and two councilmen, who voted to terminate the City Manager.

First: I understand from informed sources that one of the 3, a councilman, had been denied an approval from the city that he felt would have been important to property he owns and where he conducts his business, that being Stassi's 4th Ward, and that the City Manager had been involved in that denial.

Second: The denial and the councilman's reported unhappiness with the decision was closely related in time with an initiative of the mayor and the two councilmen to first deny an extension of the City Manager's contract beyond the end of this year and then the subsequent termination of the City Manager.

Third: The 3, the mayor and two councilmen, are reputed to be closely associated and are reportedly often seen together frequenting Stassi's 4th Ward, the councilman's place of business that had been denied the approval.

Fourth: The mayor and the two councilmen have been accused of violating the Brown Act. The Brown Act provides that a majority of the members of a legislative body, here the mayor and two other members of the city council, shall not, outside an authorized meeting, discuss any item of business that is within the subject matter jurisdiction of the city council.

The Fair Political Practices Commission Guide to Understanding Conflicts of Interest clearly states, "the purpose of the law (governing conflicts of interest)...is to prevent biases, actual and apparent, that result from the financial interests of the decision-makers."

What's the takeaway?

The close connection in time of all these events and the nature of these relationships supports the conclusion of the appearance of a conspiracy with roots in a conflict of interest that encompasses the mayor and two councilmen and that apparent conspiracy led to termination of the City Manager on a 3-2 vote as an act of vengeance or to make way for a more pliable decision maker.

This is the cloud overhanging this process and in the best interests of the city it needs to be cleared up. The Grand Jury is probably the best venue for that.

In real time I am providing the text of these comments to the City Clerk via email for inclusion in the record. Thank you for your attention." ★

Sutter Surgical Hospital North Valley Receives Five-star Rating

By Gary Zavoral, Sutter Health

YUBA-SUTTER REGION, CA (MPG) - Sutter Surgical Hospital North Valley became one of only 10 hospitals in California to receive a five-star rating for patient experience on the federal Hospital Compare website. The rating is the highest for hospitals and is based on the U.S. Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services' scores from surveys sent to adult patients.

A total of 266 out of 3,478 hospitals in the United States received five stars in the new ratings on the updated website from scores collected in 2019. Ratings are derived from the Hospital Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems (HCAHPS) survey, which is administered to a random sample of adult patients across all types of medical conditions between 48 hours and six weeks post-discharge.

"High quality patient care is Sutter Surgical Hospital North Valley's top priority, and this five-star rating from CMS confirms that we take every patient's experience seriously," said Dennis Sindelar, chief administrative officer for Sutter Surgical Hospital North Valley. "The rating is due to the hard work and team effort from our doctors and our entire staff."

The Hospital Compare website is at www.HospitalCompare.gov. To see how Sutter Surgical Hospital compared to the California and national averages in patient survey questions, www.medicare.gov/hospitalcompare.

Located in the heart of Yuba City, located at 455 Plumas Blvd., the award-winning hospital serves Yuba-Sutter and surrounding communities. It focuses on inpatient and outpatient surgery, and outpatient MRI scans. Skilled surgeons perform general surgery as well as procedures in gynecology, orthopedics, spine, plastic surgery, podiatry, vascular surgery, and ear, nose and throat.

AB 3262 Amendments Made Suing Small Businesses Easier

NFIB California

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - August 24 amendments proposed for Assembly Bill 3262 would only exacerbate an already bad idea, the state's largest and leading small-business association charge.

NFIB testified earlier before the Senate Judiciary Committee on its opposition to AB 3262, stating that the bill increases liability on all online marketplaces, including the small online marketplaces relied upon by many small businesses. NFIB's concern is that the bill erodes the ability of small- and medium-sized businesses from using their digital platforms.

But subsequent amendments revealed on August 24 make the bill worse by expanding the scope to cover businesses 'facilitating the placement of products into the stream of commerce.'

"Given the vague language in the bill, it is unclear which business owners will be covered under the definition of 'electronic retail marketplace' (ERM) and whether their activities constitute 'facilitating' the placement of products into the stream of commerce leading to liability," said John Kabateck, California state director for

NFIB.

In an NFIB survey of its members this week, 68% identified 'increased liability' as a significant concern for them right now. "This bill will compound their existing fears, frustrations and inability to stay afloat during the COVID crisis," said Kabateck. "AB 3262 should be rejected. The policy is harmful, the last-minute amendments are flawed, and the timing could not be worse."

Sutter County Sheriff's Office

SUTTER COUNTY, CA (MPG)

- The Sutter County Sheriff's Office is conducting an ongoing investigation into a shooting incident that occurred on Tuesday, August 25, around 10:58 AM. The incident took place in the 6600 block of Williston Road, just outside the City of Live Oak.

It has been learned that a male subject allegedly shot the victim in the leg during a dispute. The victim was transported to the local hospital for treatment and is expected to recover.

Rusty Chastain (38 years old) is a person of interest in this case and is wanted for questioning. He should be considered armed and dangerous. Any information as to his whereabouts should be reported immediately to the Sutter County Sheriff's Office at (530) 822-7307, or 911 for emergency purposes.

This investigation is ongoing, and more information will be provided as it becomes available.
