to the local community.

The Gold Sox will kick off their season on June 18th and play a 28 game, all home schedule. Games, which for the 1st week will not be

New Amended Order Aligns with State Guidance

By Rachel Rosenbaum, Yuba County

YUBA-SUTTER COUNTIES, CA (MPG) - Starting Friday, June 12, more businesses are permitted to re-open with appropriate precautions under new guidance from the California Department of Public Health. Yuba-Sutter Health Officer Dr. Phuong Luu issued an amended Public Health Order to align with the State, and so residents can see, in one place, all the businesses that are permitted to operate at this point.

“With proper COVID-19 protocols in place to ensure the safety of patrons and staff, I am confident we can safely reopen more sectors within the community,” Dr. Luu said. “That said, without a vaccine, COVID-19 is still here and an ongoing threat. We all must follow the proper tenets of social distancing, wearing facial coverings, practicing good hand hygiene, and staying home when sick, in order to minimize spread of the virus- especially to those who are most vulnerable to more severe symptoms.”

The sectors permitted to reopen last Friday include bars/wineries, family entertainment centers like bowling alleys and arcades, gyms/fitness centers, hotels, and zoos/indoor museums. The State of California has not yet permitted the reopening of nail salons, tattoo shops, live performance theaters, theme parks and festivals. In-person K-12 schooling in Yuba-Sutter is permitted to begin at the start of the new school year, in mid-August.

New cases are increasing but fall within two distinct themes: among family/household clusters, and within previous “essential” workplaces that have remained open throughout the pandemic. Hospitalizations also fall within two prominent categories: people who delayed testing, and those who already tested positive but delayed seeking care because of their uninsured status.

Residents should know that insurance should not be a barrier to seeking care for COVID-19, especially if symptoms worsen. Businesses that reopen, especially those that have remained open throughout the past three months, should adhere to the protocols in place including temperature checks and symptoms screening of employees, maintaining social distancing and adhering to facial

Public or Private, July 4th Fireworks will be Different

Cash-strapped non-profits are hoping for brisk business with so few professional displays being staged this season. Photo by David Dickstein

By David Dickstein

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - This is the first in a two-part series covering how the Sacramento Valley will celebrate Independence Day with traditional fireworks in an untraditional year. Watch for our annual fireworks buyers guide in the next issue.

Between California’s months-long shelter-in-place order and other “don’ts” issued by governments of all levels during the coronavirus pandemic, citizens might feel that they’re living in the home of the brave, but not so much the land of the free.

That sentiment could make this coming Independence Day the most important one since the first.

“I don’t disagree with that,” said John Kelly, vice president of TNT Fireworks, the nation’s largest reseller of perhaps the most recognizable symbol of the Fourth of July after Old Glory. “People are feeling constrained in response to the coronavirus crisis. Social distancing has gone on since winter, and for those who have suffered through the loss of loved ones and jobs, this ordeal has been an especially painful journey.”

One way humans cope through crisis is by sharing happy and entertaining physical experiences, even in the era of social distancing. It’s no surprise, then, that Kelly, part of a consumer industry hoping to salvage a season, proclaimed that “celebrating America’s birthday with fireworks is about as happy and entertaining as it gets.”

Bought for therapeutic or patriotic purposes, consumer fireworks sold by non-profit organizations out of temporary stands in Sacramento County and other areas where legal will be how many Americans get their bang-boom on for the nation’s 244th birthday. The reason is scant few of the 16,000 public fireworks displays typically staged in country on the Fourth of July are expected to go forward, according to the American Pyrotechnics Association.

“There have been widespread cancellations of Independence Day parades, concerts and fireworks displays nationwide,” said APA Executive Director Julie Heckman. “Due to social distancing mandates related to COVID-19, the skies will be dark above the vast majority of cities, towns and municipalities.”

Giving a rare green light to skies of red, white and blue are the cities of Yuba City and Elk Grove, and the Folsom Chamber of Commerce. The Bi-County Fireworks Show will wow residents of Yuba City and Marysville on the Fourth. The Folsom display, taking place on July 3 above Folsom Ranch, makes up for the cancellation

News Outlook

By Josh F.W. Cook

It seems as if we are recovering from the shortage of toilet paper. I still have not found a logical rationale for why we, as a herd, all decided that we had to have extra toilet paper in March. From March 15 through the entire month of April, toilet paper was a scarce commodity; it seems now as if that issue has been resolved. Starting last week, the odd product to become scarce was fire extinguishers. Sometimes, it is bewildering when you look at which industries seem to get a boost in times of trouble and distress. A survey of the businesses that offer home storage or shelf-stable food shows they are all sold out. I am glad I have my year supply and my year supply of personal protection apparatus (see 2nd amendment). If you want to be more prepared for emergency situations, take time to plan and prepare.

Current projections from the State Government anticipate a relatively prolonged recovery period, with job levels not recovering until after 2024. These conditions consequently would be similar to the slow recovery just experienced by the state from the recession that began in 2008. The critical difference is that energy is starting at a much higher price point and will continue to grow higher as additional components on tap in the regulatory programs continue to come into play. For households, these higher costs will continue to command a higher relative share of incomes than other states, both from direct payments for gasoline and utilities, and for other goods and services as the energy costs are incorporated into prices for everyday purchases. Recovery will be more challenging as the energy-related components in the cost of living continue to rise, especially if job markets are slow to recover as projected and growth in household incomes remains behind the increase of the expenses. For employers, these higher prices apply directly to the costs of operation. They mean currently constrained cash flow resources going to regulation-driven costs rather than a resumption of prior job levels (credit: CA Center for Jobs and the Economy). In most other parts of the US, the current lower energy prices will help accelerate some sort of transition and recovery. In California, sadly they predict costs will continue to rise and have the opposite effect. We need some low-cost Yuba Water Agency Power. Lower power costs would help us recover sooner. The laws have changed, and how power is delivered is changing as well. Somewhere in the calculations and planning, someone should find a way to cut energy costs in half. The technology exists, we need Government policies to catch up.

In May, California had the 2nd highest gasoline price among the states and DC, behind only Hawaii. Californians paid $1.29 a gallon more than consumers in Mississippi, the state with the lowest price.

***
It is hot, and people will be heading to the rivers. Just a word of advice: if you know someone and they don't know how to swim, get them trained. We lose at least one person a year to drowning. Be a good friend, help people be safe this Summer.

Nevada County Concert Band Update and Virtual 4th of July

The Nevada County Concert Band will have a virtual celebration this 4th of July and eagerly awaits to perform live. Photo: Nevada County Concert Band

Dear Friends and Members of Nevada County Concert Band,

Now that shuttered places and activities are beginning to reopen, we're all wondering how soon we'll be able to "Strike up the Band." The answer is ... we don't know. Like other local performing arts groups, our season is currently on hold, and we have no plans to hold rehearsals or concerts before August 1, at the earliest.

As much as we want to make music again, NCCB's highest priority is to protect the health and well-being of our members, our audience, and this wonderful community we belong to. We don't know when the band will be able to get back together. We don't know what our rehearsals and concerts will look like. But in these uncertain times, there's one thing we know for sure: We'll be back!

NCCB carries on a proud Nevada County tradition of community concert bands dating back to the Gold Rush.

That long history includes wars, pandemics, natural disasters, and tough economic times. Music has always survived. So will NCCB.

Although the Nevada County July 4th celebration has been cancelled this year, we'll still be participating virtually! What would Independence Day be without "The Stars and Stripes Forever?"

We miss you! We eagerly await the day we can once again share and enjoy the gift of music with those who mean so much to us!

Non-profit donations to support the Nevada County Concert Band are gratefully accepted. For more information, visit the band's website at <http://nccb.org/> and check out our growing collection of YouTube videos.

of a fireworks-sparked pro rodeo held every Fourth of July weekend. Further south, Elk Grove has approved an aerial show for July 4. Instead of setting off fireworks over Elk Grove Regional Park and the 22,000 or so gathered there, the staging area will be at an undisclosed location so that residents can watch from their homes.

Yuba City, Folsom and Elk Grove are lighting up, but from Rancho Cordova and Sacramento to South Lake Tahoe and Davis, aerial displays have been grounded to the disappointment of pyro fans and the detriment of pyro producers.

"The business is on life support. We are down 90 percent in sales and shows," said James Souza, CEO of industry bellwether Pyro Spectaculars, which does have the Elk Grove gig. "Everyone wants a show but is not going to commit due to the state's public gathering policy."

At press time, hope was being held out for a show to go on in a smattering of other locations awaiting health data on the staged reopening approach. Even with favorable figures, putting on a professional firework display still might not be possible given the short fuse. "The business is on life support. At press time, hope was being held out for the show to go on in a smattering of locations awaiting health data on the staged reopening approach. Even with favorable figures, putting on a professional firework display still might not be possible given the short fuse.

"All the more reason for the general public to stock up on consumer fireworks and plan a backyard or neighborhood celebration – of course, abiding by social distancing guidelines," said the APA's Heckman.

Many of the nearly 33 jurisdictions in Sacramento, Placer, Yolo and Yuba counties warn to consumer fireworks had left existing laws as-is at press time, while others may enact a one-year moratorium on sales that has no impact on use. Best to check with your local fire department before lighting. A list of "open" communities can be found at <http://ca-fireworks.presskit247.com>.

For most of the state including Sacramento County, June 28 starts a potentially big week for non-profits that could be more cash-strapped than usual.

Whereas residents of other states can also let the sparks fly on New Year's, if not year-round, celebrating the anniversary of our country's fervent declaration of independence from Great Britain in 1776 is the occasion for which California consumers can legally light fireworks, and only the state-approved "safe and sane" variety.

Depending on ordinances in effect at the time, law-abiding revelers and sellers may need to wear masks and separate households by at least six feet during the show. Except for rules around personal protection equipment and distancing, buying fireworks may not be all that different from non-pandemic years.

"Key guidelines that will need to be met are already built in," said Kelly of TNT, which has its Northern California regional offices in Sacramento. "We're already selling out of stands where the volunteer salespeople and customers are separated by wood panels and chicken wire. Buyers don't touch product until purchase."

Phantom Fireworks, the state's second-largest fireworks reseller, is confident that patriotism, community support, a hunger for outdoor family amusement and the most favorable day of the week for a Fourth of July will outweigh any inconveniences associated with compliance.

"A weekend Independence Day is always great for fundraising, but with the fourth falling on a Saturday, that's even better," said Linda Hass-Kreman, Phantom's West Coast operations manager based in Sacramento. "A Saturday July Fourth means many among the workforce have that Friday off as a corporate holiday and the next day off as well being a Sunday. I think society is so ready to have fun outside the home, enjoying something separately, but together, that we're going to have one of the most special and successful fireworks seasons ever."

It's not as if the country doesn't have experience dealing with pandemics at this time of year. Smallpox, measles and other diseases had wary colonists shutting themselves in their houses at the time future president John Adams correctly predicted that the first Independence Day would be celebrated with "bonfires and illuminations."

Two and a half centuries later, American history will repeat itself when patriotic citizens ooh and aah to star-spangled fireworks under pandemic conditions.

"Fireworks are the most widely anticipated tradition of celebrating our nation's independence," Heckman said. "Americans are ready to celebrate and looking for something to do after being cooped up for so long, and many of us still are in parts of the country." ★

ing Talk" for the local Territorial Dispatch newspaper for approximately 30 years until his death. During the 1980's Dan would phone in fishing reports on locations to the Saturday morning radio fishing program in Sacramento.

Pastor Chris Madson officiated at a graveside service on June 9th at the Sutter Cemetery. Military Honors were held with the United States Navy Honor Guard.

Yuba Water Agency Commits Funding to Levee Improvements and Conservation Projects

By Bonnie Dickson, Yuba Water Agency

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - Yuba Water Agency's Board of Directors committed $785,000 for levee improvements, water conservation and other Yuba County water projects in support of its core mission areas of flood risk reduction and sustainable water supply management.

Yuba Water awarded two levee improvement grants to Reclamation Districts 784 and 2103, which maintain levees along the Yuba, Feather and Bear rivers in Yuba County. A $650,000 grant for RD 784 will fund the replacement of a critical storm drain pipe along the Horseshoe levee area near Dry Creek. An $80,000 grant for RD 2103 will cover the cost of evaluating the Grasshopper Slough Levee in southern Yuba County in an effort to secure Federal Emergency Management Agency accreditation. If accredited, the change will significantly reduce flood insurance premium costs for a specific area of homes in Wheatland currently considered to be in a special flood hazard zone.

Additionally, Yuba Water approved a $50,000 grant to replace manual toilets, sinks and dispensers in Yuba County's facilities as part of its water conservation program.

The agency also renewed its commitment of $5,000 to District 10's Wild Duck Egg Salvage Program, which rescues wild duck eggs from flooded rice fields before they're destroyed by heavy farm equipment during harvest. Farmers flood the fields rather than burn them because of the harm burning does to air quality. As an added benefit, the flooded areas create waterfowl habitat. During its 27 years of operation, the program has rescued more than 38,000 duck eggs and educated the public about waterfowl habitat in the region, including its significance as part of the Pacific Flyway.

The board also recognized General Manager Curt Aikens for 22 years of service to the agency. Aikens will step down as general manager next month and focus on special projects ahead of his January 2021 retirement.

"The agency would not be where it is today without Curt's leadership," said Randy Fletcher, the agency's board chairman. Fellow board members echoed Fletcher's praise of Aikens, commending him for his trailblazing natural resource management and his creation of a culture of partnership and innovation at the agency.

FRIDAY» JUNE 19, 2020 » TERRITORIAL DISPATCH 3

YOUR ONE MINUTE NEWS DIGEST

by Don Rae

- Trash the John Sutter statue in Sacramento. What's next? Bulldoze Sutter's Fort? How about the Sutter County name? What about any other facility named Sutter? How insane are these snowflakes?
- The Democrats have been in charge of most of the big cities in America for decades. Yet they blame Trump for everything possible. Wake up America. Shout out the "blamers".
- TRILIA is gearing up to build the Goldfields' levee. Whoopie. Only 10 plus years after the Territorial Dispatch pointed out the lack of protection for Plumas Lake from Yuba River flooding. Just think, neighbors, sometime in the dim, dark future, there will be flood protection.
- Now "they" want to change the names of Fort Bragg and Fort Hood, among many others even though the names were awarded as a part of national reconciliation and a unification of all Americans North and South. Are we to go back to the Civil War? That seems to be what the snowflakes want. Do you agree?
- Live in San Francisco? Better firmly exercise your 2nd amendment rights. The San Francisco police are not going to respond to your 911 call for help in a wide variety of dangerous situations. You are on your own. Good luck.
- Celebrities have the right to their opinion, including allocating some $20 million for bail for looters. But when they allocate zip for looting victims, it makes you wonder.
- Remember your history. In 1964, in the US Senate, the Democrats held the longest filibuster in history; 75 days. Why? To prevent the passage of the Civil Rights Act.
- Why do we have a Congress? During the next 30-day month they will actually only work one day. There remains a Chinese threat to freedom, the virus still needs Federal assistance, jobs need to be created.

Still, San Fran Nan is only going to have votes on one day. Then they will take the whole month of August off?

- San Francisco has been ruled by radical Leftists since the mid 1960's. Still many are claiming the city has racist housing policies. If so, the Leftists put them in place. Why isn't the media proclaiming that the Left is racist?
- Read AP dispatches with a healthy grain of salt. The New Associated Press Guidelines tell editors not to use the word "Looting" In writing about people stealing things from stores across the country. What should they say? "Giving stuff a forever home"?
- History exists. It is not for you or me to like or dislike. It is vital for us to learn from it, even if it offends. If it does, so much the better. Why? So we will not repeat it. It is not yours to destroy, debunk or modify. History belongs to all of us to educate each new generation.
- Churches are limited to 25% of capacity. Yet "protesters" can include thousands with no separation between people. Why haven't the snowflake mayors and governors arrested any of the protesters?
- If you live in Los Angeles, Seattle, Minneapolis, New York or many other Democratic-controlled cities, you might see a food shortage, supply shortage and lack of toilet paper. Why? Because truckers view these cities as war zones, not significantly different than the Middle East. Would you drive a truckload of toilet paper into these cities aware the police will do little or nothing to stop persons trying to steal the truck or its contents? A survey of truckers showed a vast majority would refuse loads to cities with disbanded or defunded police departments. A typical response included "if something was to happen and you have to take matters into your own hands you risk being prosecuted for protecting yourself." ★

The Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Books & More is close to being completely moved. What a huge challenge! It took a village to get the whole operation moved. So many helpers we cannot list their names. Everything from building shelves to bring dinner to Yvonne and Joyce. About a million books were carried and rearranged. We hunted for used shelves on line and had volunteers pick them up in Chico, Marysville, Yuba City and beyond. Many worked in the community garden which is still in progress. We hope to make this spot a gathering place for selling/trading books, having small meetings/workshops, using internet, doing homework and more. The consignment room will have tie dye and other clothing, jewelry, craft items, greeting cards, work from local artists and other interesting things. We have scheduled a writer's workshop, some art workshops, and a book club. Come by and see our progress.

Time to think about our local Saturday Farmer's Market. Opening day is June 20 selling produce and more from 9 :00 to 1:00. The Brownsville Farmer's Market has moved locations back to its old spot, behind the Fire Station. This is a certified farmer's market, a great place to get produce for the week. There will also be crafts, artisan art and jewelry. We hope to offer bread, baked goods, quiche, jellies and olive oil. New and returning vendors are welcome. For more information call or text 530 933-9506.

A Peddler's Fair is scheduled for Saturday, July 4, "Independence Day", in Beautiful "Downtown" Brownsville in the Brownsville Mercantile and Tony's Smoke Shop parking lots. As always, vendors are welcome to set up for free. If nothing to sell, come on over, between 9 am and 4 pm, and browse the many booths filled with crafts, wood work, and other fine treasures. Booth set up starts at 7:30am.

Look Back in Time - In 1915 Frank Silva brought a nice string of trout for the guests at Woodleaf (no food inspection back then).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

We have lived in the area surrounding Happy Park bordered by Lincoln, S. Walton, Bogue and Sanborn Roads in Southern Sutter County for 20 years. Annexed by Yuba City 18-19 years ago, we expected the same treatment as other city citizens. WRONG. After annexation, over 18 years ago, I contacted the Yuba City Police Department asking when we could expect Yuba City Police patrols and presence. I was informed patrols would begin 'soon'. I want to commend the Sutter County Sheriff's Department. You have done a great job with the available resources. The Sutter County population has doubled since 1970. An increase in Sutter County deputies, negligible. Instead of taking responsibility for policing the newly annexed area, Yuba City dumped us on the overworked and understaffed sheriff's department.

We have a lot of traffic concerns in this area, e.g. illegally parked motorhomes, trailers, vehicles with flat tires parked for months and months at a time on city streets and a crap load of people speeding and running stop signs. I would like to point-out, the sheriff's department's primary duties are not writing parking tickets and we don't expect them to do that, they have much more important duties, protecting us. We do, however, expect Yuba City, who has a traffic division, to do the above. Since living here we have come close to being "t-boned" dozens of times by speeding drivers running stop signs. Lately vehicles are racing from stop sign to stop sign. Now, some jackass riding a motocross bike, no helmet, running stop signs has been riding at high speeds in broad daylight, across Happy Park while children are playing in the park. Hey, I get it, I was young once. I did my fair share of stupid things, but I never endangered innocent children at play in a park.

Hey Yuba City, do you know why people are doing these things? BECAUSE THEY CAN; there is no one to stop them. You annex tracts of land with no plans as to how you are going to provide services for the newly minted citizens. You borrow millions to build a community pool, GAP, not knowing how to pay for it. You closed GAP and dismantled money generating organizations which paid you to use the pool. Were you dropped on your heads at birth? Nice going Einsteins!

Wild Swings Up and Down

There have been crazier markets than the ones we have now but more and more analysts and trading professionals are fessing up this one is starting to top them all. The quickest fall from an all-time new high to not only an official correction (down 10%) but an all-out bear market designation (down 20%) occurred during the March downturn, only to be followed by an historic and blistering recovery which placed the Dow within a healthy spitting distance of that all time high two months later.

Wild swings up and down (but mostly up) have investors and professional money managers looking over their shoulders for the Archangel or the devil himself, depending on which way their portfolio swung that day.

June 11th witnessed an 1861 point hammering of the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA), down 7% from the day before. The next day the DJIA ricocheted up 477 points.

Whoa. Professional traders love the volatility which can bring fast profits. Day traders have come out of the wood work, some shut in from the CoVid-19 event and some flush with cash from stimulus and unemployment checks. Indeed, trading volume is heavy and theories abound as to what comes next. Meanwhile those not akin to these casinos like markets and/or just trying to save for retirement may find the violent ups and downs not at all conducive to a full night's sleep.

What is confusing everyone including the heavy weight professionals like Warren Buffet, David Tepper and other gigantic hedge fund managers is the speed of the March fall and the subsequent lightning fast recovery. Few if any forecasted such wild and violent swings, and the speed of the recovery in light of the obvious ailing economy was and is still an unexpected turn of events.

Explanations and theories as to why markets are moving so violently include investors are eager to buy stocks at bargain prices, the Fed is throwing trillions into the economic feeding troughs of corporate America and that trillions more are going directly to consumers.

This analyst, and many of my peers, attribute much of the markets recovery to the Federal Reserves' willingness to go "all in" to avoid a catastrophic collapse due to the CoVid 19 shutdown. With trillions going to support debt assets like corporate bonds, trillions more to consumers and business owners and even more trillions in Quantitative Easing (Feds buying Treasury, mortgage and other public and private debt), the amount of money being injected everywhere means some of it is bound to find its way into the stock market, and it has.

That's not to say the disconnect between the market and the economy makes total sense. Indeed, the argument could be made the Fed is doing what is always has done in recent decades: throw money at corporate America in the hopes that fewer corporations will be vaporized in bankruptcy, others will be able to access the debt markets in order to survive, and that some of that money will trickle down to workers.

In contrast to the 2008/09 crisis, this time around more money is being shuttled into the hands of consumers and small businesses through liberalized unemployment programs and a variety of loan and CARE programs.

This is not to say the all clear can be given. There are many realities that may dampen the exuberance that investors may have succumbed to in the recent market run up.

With last week's Dow 1800-point hammering, stock participants may be rethinking just how bad (or good) the economy may be coming out the other side of the shutdown. Indeed, we may find we emerge from the CoVid shutdown funk only to see a spike in new cases due to what some call premature reopening, mass protest gatherings due to the recent racial issues, or a lackadaisical attitude toward the virus itself.

Other considerations would also have to include the damage done to the economy will be much worse than expected, will last longer than expected and some damage done will never be undone. The business landscape may be permanently altered which will require some sort of adaptation or rethinking of how business should be conducted. This shift in business methodology may incur significant transitional costs which will take time to unwind because of the resource and monetary reallocation that in itself could cause more economic damage.

Resist Germ Phobia

Commentary by Lou Binninger

As more people are convinced of being 'punked' by government with the Corona Cold there will be acts of resistance. Many citizens are still reeling from being bombarded with junk Corona science, media double-speak and the complicity of local officials declaring the cold to be a plague. The Yuba-Sutter Supervisors and the County Health Officer are still jerking people around violating their Constitutional rights.

By illegally mandating the isolation of healthy people, social-distancing and masks, the state has proven for the first time in history that the Constitution can be discarded and Americans can be driven by fear to do anything they are told. The mandates are nothing but symbols of submission providing no protection from the illness.

Former Yuba County Health Officer Nichole Quick resigned last week from her Orange County Health position as Sheriff Don Barnes refused to enforce the state's order and angry protesters arrived in front of her home. Some supervisors wanted face covering rules relaxed but Quick was acting more like an employee of the state than her County.

Orange County has had large demonstrations resisting Newsom's illegal closure rules. Newsom retaliated by opening all California beaches except Orange County's. If you doubted the legitimacy of quarantine and venue closures to save lives this political payback should get your attention.

The First Amendment right of assembly to redress grievances with government has been suspended unless the gatherings agree with Newsom. The First Amendment was written to address out-of-control government. The requirement to obtain a permit to peaceably assemble is unconstitutional.

Yuba-Sutter officials that profess ignorance or political impotence to justify not confronting tyranny violate their oath of office. Health Officer Luu advised closed businesses on the verge of bankruptcy to consult attorneys when reopening. How can small operators damaged by her order afford an attorney? Whose side is the county on? Why wouldn't the county hire attorneys to assist businesses?

As Governor Newsom repeatedly ignored the Constitution and the separation of government's powers he has alienated even many of his own party's legislators. Finally, someone decided to do something about him.

Assembly members James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) and Kevin Kiley (R-Rocklin) requested a temporary restraining order against Newsom's executive decree for a statewide vote by mail. Sutter County Superior Court Judge Perry Parker granted the order and scheduled a June 26 hearing for the state to show why the Governor's executive order does not violate the Constitution.

However, who else will resist the Governor's many dictator-like actions, all justified by a highly questionable emergency?

Everyone can do something to get Yuba-Sutter back to normal. Open your business. The government has done its best to scare people to death. Tell its representatives to go to hell. They are stealing your freedom and destroying your health.

Howard Hughes died of heart failure in 1976. He was a billionaire and aviator in his youth but his later life was dominated by his obsessive phobia and fear of germs. His last 20 years were consumed by the fear that led him to become a recluse.

Hughes's mother was obsessively worried about her young son's exposure to germs, terrified that he would 'catch' polio, a major health threat at the time. His mother checked him every day for diseases and was paranoid about what he ate.

How many 'Hughes' and 'Hughes' mothers' has the government now created?

The Health Officer would do us a favor by reporting how many people died or are mentally damaged by traumatizing them with germ phobia propaganda or forbidding them to attend addiction support groups. How many died from suicide, overdoses and alcohol poisoning, or suffered from relapses and domestic violence? What about the damage done by keeping healthy kids cooped-up for months or cancelling surgeries?

Have these actions saved even one life? Are they honest enough to report on the 'psychological operation' that they orchestrated?

Social Security Matters

When Should We Claim Our Benefits?

By Russell Gloor,
AMAC Certified Social
Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: We served overseas for several years, not earning many quarters for Social Security. However, we have made sure that we paid in over time so we can receive a benefit, but it will not amount to much. For the past several years now, we have been back in the US, earning some professional salaries. Now it looks like at full retirement age my husband will get $1147/month, and I will get $1026/month. I was born in 1957 and my husband in 1956. Question #1: For the most financial benefit, when should we each start collecting SS (either now or at full retirement age)? And question #2: Will our amounts change because we are married and both collecting? Signed: Overseas Worker

Dear Overseas Worker: To answer your second question first, no, your benefit amounts will not change because you are married and both collecting. Based upon the numbers you provided, neither of you will be eligible for a “spousal boost” from the other because your benefit amounts at your FRA are too similar, so maximizing your individual benefits should be your goal.

As for your other question, when you should start collecting depends upon a number of factors, including your financial needs and, importantly, your expected longevity. Both of you can get the maximum benefit available to you by waiting until you are 70 years old to claim, but that only makes sense if you are in good health and expect at least average longevity (about 84 for a man and 87 for a woman).

If you claim benefits before you reach your full retirement age (66 ½ for you and 66 plus 4 months for your husband), those benefits will be cut. If you collect now, your benefit would be cut by about 27% and your husband's by about 22% (based upon your respective years of birth). Further, if you claim before your full retirement ages and continue to work, you'll be subject to Social Security's earnings test, which limits the amount you can earn before they take back some of your benefits (the 2020 earnings limit is $18,240; if you exceed that they'll take back half of anything you earn over the limit). The earnings limit changes annually but goes away at your FRA.

At your full retirement ages, you'll be entitled to 100% of the benefits you've earned from your lifetime of working (approximately the amounts estimated now). If you can and do wait beyond your full retirement age (FRA), for each month you delay you'll earn delayed retirement credits of 2/3 of 1% per month of delay (8% per year of delay), up to age 70 when your maximum benefit is reached. As a point of information, if you wait until your full retirement age to claim, you will have collected the same amount of money at age 78 as if you had claimed at age 62; and if you wait until age 70 to claim you'll have collected the same amount of money at age 82 as if you had collected at your full retirement age. If you live at least until “average” longevity, you'll collect more in cumulative Social Security benefits by waiting.

So, when should you claim? If you're still working and earning “professional salaries”, then waiting at least until your full retirement age would be a wise choice. If you expect at least average longevity and don't need the money right away, waiting until age 70 would be a prudent strategy. But if you don't work and expect less than average longevity, then claiming at any time you need the money would be a reasonable decision. This is a choice only each of you can make.

What the Coronavirus Did to the National Debt, Your Bill Exceeds $37,726

Commentary by Harold Pease Ph.D.

In March Congress added $2.3 trillion to the national debt with the stimulus package. Most were jubilant to receive a stimulus check. But what does this mean? Just to pay this back today would cost each taxpayer $18,863 (compare U.S. Debt Clocks Nov. 2019 with April 2020).

In May the Treasury Department announced that it will borrow another $3 trillion this quarter making our total coronavirus indebtedness $5.3 trillion and thus what we owed for the smaller loan more than doubles (Matt Egan, The US is becoming the king of debt. It's a necessary risk, CNN Business). To pay both loans in August would be more than $37,726 per U.S. taxpayer.

Those who pay no federal taxes, which is about 50% of American adults, are not assessed. “The latest spending packages are estimated to be worth about 14% of the country's economy...the national debt soared above 100% of GDP” (“Coronavirus: US to borrow record $3tn as spending soars,” BBC News, May 4, 2020).

So what is a trillion dollars? To begin with a trillion is the number one followed by twelve zeros. A trillion dollars is a thousand billion and a billion is a thousand million. These numbers mean very little to the average person. who count their money in tens, twenties and hundreds.

One mathematician gave us a very practical way of evaluating our outstanding debt. One trillion one-dollar bills stacked atop each other (not end to end but flat) would reach nearly 68,000 miles into space a third of the way to the moon (See CNN News Cast, Feb. 4, 2009). If so, the debt thus far incurred by the coronavirus alone, $5.3 trillion, would reach to the moon and two-thirds back to earth.

Senator Mitch McConnell gave another illustration just as awe striking. He calculated that if we spent a million dollars every day since Jesus was born, we still would not have spent a trillion dollars – only three-fourths of a trillion dollars (Ibid).

Who will pay these two coronavirus loans? Since we never liquidate our debt – only increase and pass it on to posterity – our grandchildren yet unborn, will be saddled with this debt plus the interest on it. How can I prophesy with such certainty? The United States has not been free of debt since Warren G. Harding 98 years ago (US Debt by President by Dollar and Percentage Who Increased the U.S. Debt the Most? Depends on How You Measure It. By Kimberly Amadeo Updated November 04, 2019)?

Yes the coronavirus is a massive rogue wave that has sunk many businesses in its path but following closely behind it is a tsunami almost six times its size – the national debt – that is and will bring down this country because our children cannot pay it either. Our national debt has soared to $25.5 trillion, and with the newly announce $3 trillion loan to $28.5 trillion. Our debt in one dollar bills laid flat atop each other will now go to the moon and back almost five times.

I ask students, “Who gets to go without so that this debt can be paid?” “Go without!!!!?” That is a concept foreign to this generation!! They do not know, and neither do their parents and grandparents who laid it on their backs. When they are told that their share to liquidate this debt is not just $37,726 for a coronavirus, but $205,440 per taxpayer – due immediately, they get angry (see USDebtClock.org). Someone should have told them that government handouts are not free.

The 13th Amendment ending slavery has been rescinded, they are America's new slaves. Bondage was given them before their birth, or while they were in the womb, or before they were old enough to know what it meant to be sold into slavery. The past generation wanted nice costly programs for free and were willing to sell their children to have them. Worse, the older generation is still anxious to incur even more debt on our defenseless children and grandchildren. Are we not the most debt addicted, insensitive generation in U.S. History?

Yes these are hard times and in such adding to a national debt is said to be justified. What isn't justified is that in prosperous times, of which most of the last 70 years have been, we should, and could have, liquidated that debt. Then a $5.3 trillion debt to handle a virus could have been repaid in the next prosperous time or perhaps by the children, but not now. We have squandered our wealth in foreign endless wars, foreign aid and domestic welfare.

I had hoped with the robust Trump economy (the best in several decades) that we could get to paying back the debt. I previously published that we could survive and turn things around if we did three things: made significant cuts in our top 6 major expenditures, did not elect a big spending congress, and did not incur a big funding event. Unfortunately we made no major cuts in spending, maintained a big spending congress, and did incur a big funding event – the coronavirus.

Trump remains our only hope for rebuilding the economy because he already did it once, but chances of removing even the coronavirus portion of the national debt enslaving us is slim.

Governor's Powers Checked by the Courts

From Office of Assemblyman James Gallagher

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Great news! A State Superior Court judge granted my request for a Temporary Restraining Order against Governor Gavin Newsom.

The restraining order suspends the Governor's recent Executive Order N-67-20 regarding the conduct of elections, and further restrains him from "exercising any further legislative powers in violation of the California Constitution and applicable statute, specifically from unilaterally amending, altering, or changing existing statutory law or making new statutory law."

The Governor's Executive Order changed a variety of state election laws, including the elimination of public meetings with protected groups such as Californians with disabilities and limited English proficiency.

The order was issued in Sutter County Superior Court.

This action by the court is a victory for separation of powers. The Governor has continued to brazenly legislate by fiat without public input and without the deliberative process provided by the Legislature. The judicial branch finally gave him the check that was needed and that the Constitution requires.

Our election laws have been drafted to ensure that the rights of all people to vote are protected. They are the result of public input given in a legislative process. For the Governor to arbitrarily change these laws is wrong. This is why we acted to end this abusive practice and to restore representative government.

I want to thank Assemblyman Kevin Kiley for joining me in this effort.

It is an honor to serve you.

open to the public, will be played Thursday through Sunday. The club will then open games to the public, with limited numbers being allowed entrance to the park beginning June 25th.

The Gold Sox will host the Sierra Central-Montna Farms Summer Series, a unique 7-week baseball competition among collegiate summer baseball clubs.

Commenting on the season Gold Sox GM Tommy Lininger: "We want to thank the City of Marysville, Yuba County and Bi-County Health for working so hard to make sure our community could have the Gold Sox this summer. We worked through a plan that allows us to open the season initially without the public, but then transition into allowing the public to attend in limited numbers with extensive Covid-19 protocols."

Lininger went on to say: "We have completely changed our operation to make this summer happen. From playing all home games in the Sierra Central-Montna Farms Summer Series, to reworking our roster with primarily local players, to limiting attendance, to our five page Covid Protocols, we have done everything with the goal of having a season that is safe for the fans, employees and players. We understand and appreciate that this will be a different season from years past, but we will be able to provide much needed entertainment after this long lock down."

As the club just obtained permission to move forward, details regarding ticketing, detailed Covid-19 protocols, the Gold Sox roster and more will be released soon. Go to GoldSox.com for the most updated information. ★

BCSO Announces Arrest of Oroville Resident for Possession of Child Pornography

Dwayne Hansen of Oroville, 49

Butte County Sheriff's Office Press Release

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Butte County Sheriff's Office (BCSO) announced the arrest of Dwayne Hansen of Oroville, 49. On May 29, Butte County Sheriff's Office deputies assigned to the Marine Unit were patrolling the area of the Monument Hill Boat Launch, Oroville. Deputies located a motorhome with expired registration parked in the Monument Hill parking lot. Deputies contacted Dwayne Hansen, the individual who was living in the motorhome. A records check indicated Hansen was required to register pursuant to the Sex Offender Registration Act.

During the contact with Hansen, deputies located marijuana and methamphetamine. While searching the motorhome deputies located children's underwear. Deputies questioned Hansen about the children's underwear. Hansen told deputies he used the children's underwear while performing sexual acts. Deputies continued speaking with Hansen, at which time Hansen disclosed he had child pornography on a cell phone located inside the motorhome. After disclosing he was in possession of child pornography, Hansen stood up and attempted to run away from deputies. After a short foot pursuit, Hansen was arrested without incident.

Detectives arrived and collected Hansen's electronic devices. Detectives authored a search warrant for the electronic devices, and a forensic download of the devices was conducted pursuant to the search warrant. Detectives located numerous images of child pornography on Hansen's electronic devices.

Hansen was booked into the Butte County Jail for a felony count of possession of more than 600 images of child pornography, a felony count of possession of child pornography showing the intentional infliction of pain on minor victims for the purpose of sexual gratification or stimulation, a felony count of possession of a controlled substance, a felony count of possession of nunchakus, a misdemeanor count of resisting or delaying a peace officer, and a misdemeanor count of possession of narcotics paraphernalia. The Sheriff's Office is asking anyone with additional information to contact Detective Jason Miller at 530-538-7671. ★
