Goldfields Levee Construction

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - The Three Rivers Levee Improvement Authority (TRLIA) is kicking off construction of a new levee that, once completed this year, will cap off a highly successful, $500 million program to reduce flood risk for an area previously devastated by flooding, most notably in 1986 and 1997. The new 2.5-mile long levee, which will tie into the previously improved Upper Yuba River levee, is designed to prevent water from the Goldfields from inundating the communities of Linda, Olivehurst, Arboga and Plumas Lake and comply with state requirements for 200-year flood protection.

In 2004, TRLIA embarked on ambitious program to improve 29 miles of Reclamation District 784 levees along the Yuba, Feather and Bear Rivers and the Western Interceptor Canal to reduce flood risk and address increasingly strict state and federal regulations for flood protection. The bulk of the program was finished by 2012 when TRLIA completed an extension of the Upper Yuba River levee from Simpson Lane to the Goldfields. Since that time, TRLIA has improved the Western Pacific Interceptor Canal to meet the new State 200-flood control criteria, and has been working on the engineering, design, land acquisition and environmental permitting for the new 2.5-mile long Goldfields levee.

The majority of the project funding, 85 percent, is being paid for by the Department of Water Resources using statewide bond funding. The remaining local cost share comes from a combination of funding from local developers and proceeds of a joint Yuba County and Yuba County Water Agency bond sale.

“We are deeply appreciative of the funding support provided by the state and local community. Our experience with flooding taught us that the unimaginable can and does happen,” said TRLIA Board Chair and Yuba County Supervisor Andy Vasquez. “We’ve been relentless in our efforts to improve these levees over the past 16 years so that we can avoid a repeat of the 1986 and 1997 flood events. As a result, we have one of the best levee systems in California.”

Resolution to End
Governor’s
Emergency
Powers Announced

By Joshua Hoover,
Office of Assemblyman
Kevin Kiley

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Under Section 8629 of the California Emergency Services Act, the Legislature has authority to terminate the Governor’s emergency powers. Assemblymembers Kevin Kiley (R-Rocklin) and James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) are introducing an Assembly Concurrent Resolution to exercise this statutory prerogative.

A “State of Emergency” in California is a legal term describing not merely conditions of extreme peril, but also the inadequacy of state and local institutions to combat the threat within the constraints of the State Constitution.

“This Resolution is meant to restore a proper balance between the legislative and executive branches,” said Assemblyman Kiley. “To the extent the Governor retains extraordinary powers, they should be limited in scope in coordination with the Legislature, which has authority to terminate those powers altogether.”

Since proclaiming a State of Emergency on March 4, Governor Newsom has issued 39 Executive Orders, unilaterally changing 200 laws spanning most sections of the California code. This includes creating new voting laws for an election six months away and overhauling Workers’ Compensation rules.

“We must take action to restore representative, constitutional government,” Assemblyman Gallagher said. “The Governor has clearly overstepped his authority, from arbitrarily changing state laws, to using state agencies to threaten small business outside of their legal jurisdiction, to spending money outside the scope of legislative authorization. It is incumbent upon the Legislature to restore the balance of powers.”

The nonpartisan Legislative Analyst, in a report Sunday on the Governor’s May Revision, was “very troubled” by the authority the Governor seeks to take away from the Legislature. The report concludes: “we urge the Legislature to jealously guard its constitutional role and authority.”

“The Emergency Services Act was designed to grant extraordinary powers to a Governor under conditions of extreme peril,” Assemblyman Kiley said. “It was not meant to give a single person the ability to remake all of California law indefinitely. An open-ended state of emergency, with boundless powers vested in a chief executive, is incompatible with democratic government.” ★

Commissioner Lara Expands Order for Insurance Companies to Partially Refund Premiums

California Department of Insurance

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Insurance Commissioner Ricardo Lara issued a Bulletin extending his previous order requiring insurance companies to return partial insurance premiums to consumers and businesses and provide much-needed financial relief amid the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. The Department of Insurance will review all premium adjustments to ensure they are fair and adequate and reflect policyholders’ reduced risk.

The Bulletin now includes the month of May, having already included the months of March and April, covering at least six different insurance lines: private passenger automobile, commercial automobile, workers’ compensation, commercial multi-peril, commercial liability, medical malpractice, and any other insurance line where the risk of loss has fallen substantially as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Commissioner’s Bulletin 2020-4 requires insurance companies to provide an adjustment to the premium in the form of a premium credit, reduction, return of premium, or other appropriate adjustment as soon as possible, and no later than August 11, 2020. For most if not all consumers, this will be a percentage of the premium – not 100 percent – and the Department of Insurance will validate each insurance company’s plan so that refunds are adequate and reflect the reduced risk.

“With the vast majority of Californians still under ‘stay at home’ orders, the risk of accident and loss remains low for many lines of insurance and their premiums should reflect that,” said Commissioner Lara. “While I appreciate companies that have already taken action to return premiums, the Department of Insurance will be checking that the reductions are adequate and consumers and businesses are not shortchanged.”

On March 18, Commissioner Lara issued a Notice, calling on all admitted and non-admitted insurance companies to provide their policyholders with a 60-day grace period to pay their premiums. With the deadline for this grace period fast approaching, Commissioner Lara today issued a second Notice requesting insurance companies to work with their policyholders who may be struggling financially to allow them an additional 60-days, effectively extending the grace period until July 14, 2020. After July 14, 2020, insurers are encouraged to work with their individual policyholders who have been acutely impacted by COVID-19 and are still unable to timely pay their premiums.

“Consumers who have lost their jobs or businesses due to this crisis deserve flexibility in paying their premiums, just like any other,” said Commissioner Lara. “I am asking insurance companies to be mindful of the revenue stream Californians have consistently provided to insurers over the years, stand with their customers in this crisis and extend grace periods an additional 60 days.”

Commissioner Lara is also requesting that all insurance agents, brokers, and other licensees who accept premium payments on behalf of insurers take steps to ensure that customers have the ability to make prompt insurance payments, if and where possible. This includes alternate methods of payment, such as online payments, to eliminate the need for in-person payment methods in order to protect the health and safety of both workers and customers. ★

News Outlook

By Josh F.W. Cook

The people of the Amish faith are famous for coming together to have a barn raising; it is a way of helping new families get started as the entire community comes together and builds a barn and then they have a meal and a party. Pretty straightforward, easy to understand and describe.

Trying to figure out what just happened in Yuba/Sutter when The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints invited the other churches to drop in and tear their church apart is somewhat hard to describe. Kind of like an interfaith Pick-a-Part. The church building and lighted baseball fields on Butte House Road are soon to fall to the wrecking ball to make way for a massive new multi-story Temple. The local church leaders while contemplating what to do with the building thought spreading out the parts of their church to others in the community was a better idea than just sending it off to a developing nation as a humanitarian project. So they set up a schedule and made a list of things of value in the church and invited churches in the area to come with hammers, crowbars, saws, and trucks to pick parts for repurposing. The program included a sound system, five pianos, sinks, drinking fountains, cupboards, plates, silverware, gravy boats, salt and pepper shakers, chairs, tables, outdoor benches, easels, basketball backboards, the entire wooden gym floor, doors, sliding room dividers, desks, carpets, dishwasher, lighting fixtures, flag holders, carved woodwork from the dais, stage curtains, and counters for serving food. The happy part pickers included Bethel AME, Saint Andrew Presbyterian Church, Calvary Christian Center, Adventure Church, Five30 Center (The Bridge Church), Glad Tidings, Saint Vincent DePaul (Catholics), New Beginnings Wesleyan Church, First Lutheran Church of Marysville, Twin Cities Rescue Mission, and Marysville Faith Lutheran Church. Habitat for Humanity (which is not a church) - took the doors and hinges to use in houses that will be volunteer-built for families in the coming years. How much the stuff was worth in dollars no one has counted, as knowing the amount might cloud the issue, and this is the issue - in an era of divisiveness, contention, anger, spite, malice, and stress, a bunch of church people put aside their differences and joined in a common project.

The various parts of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints church structure will now be parts of another faith tradition building. However much money was not wasted will be repurposed by good people to serve others for many years to come. It may well be that some people on that list of churches were very concerned that according to their theological particulars - the masked person loading the truck, using a crowbar, or unscrewing hinges right next to them may well be going to their version of hell in the afterlife. This is a good thing; if you have not worked alongside someone you disagree with lately, you should consider the excellent example of these people and try it. Yuba/Sutter is full of inter-faithy cooperation. Some people believe that the strong presence and friendships with non-Christian traditions like Bok Kai, Sikhs and Hindus, cause the Christians in Yuba/Sutter to be on their best behavior. I don't know if that is the reason, but it is apparent that there is some magic in the community that unites diverse people in doing good in a way not evident in other places. The building is stripped out; construction starts soon.

May the 12th was a busy day at the Government Center. The Yuba County Board of Supervisors was in session. Most notable on the action agenda was Amendment # 1 for the Services Agreement with WSP USA, Inc. for the Rice's Crossing Road - Oregon Creek Bridge project. This contract amendment increased the contract by $48,433, bringing the total to $253,802. This bridge project is part of the federally funded Highway Bridge Program (HBP) and is funded 100%, with no local funding match required. The existing bridge along Rice's Crossing Road is structurally deficient, functionally obsolete, and needs replacement says the expert report. Good news for those who live on Rice's Crossing neighborhood.

Had occasion to host friends from out of the area and took them to eat at the Silver Dollar Saloon in Marysville. It remains an iconic establishment in the community, and the Bison burger was top notch. I would say the best Bison burger in America, and you can quote me. I highly recommend it as you reacquaint yourself with the dining out experience.

period. As a result, the majority of properties in Linda, Olivehurst, Arboga and Plumas Lake will remain in a FEMA low-to-moderate risk flood zone through 2034. During that period, property owners will maintain eligibility for lowest-cost flood insurance and be free of any building restrictions. Reclamation District 784 operates and maintains the levees with assessments paid by properties that benefit from improved flood protection.

"The start of the Goldfields levee project is an opportunity to reflect on all we've accomplished to date," said TRLIA's longtime Executive Director Paul Brunner. "By getting a jump start on levee improvements in 2004, we were primed and ready to secure available state bond funding for flood risk reduction when it became available in 2007. TRLIA's work has directly improved the rivers' passage of flood waters and added expansive ecological areas by expanding the floodways for both the Bear and Feather Rivers. This work has changed the future for Yuba County and provides unparalleled flood protection for residents in the Reclamation District 784 service area."

TRLIA has, and continues to partner closely with Yuba County, Reclamation District 784, the Yuba Water Agency, the California Department of Water Resources, the Central Valley Flood Protection Board, FEMA and the US Army Corps of Engineers on its levee improvement program. For more information, please contact TRLIA Executive Director Paul Brunner at (530) 749-5679.

Levees are designed to reduce the risks associated with flood events. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) requires that levees meet design, construction and operation and maintenance standards to protect against a 100-year flood event, or a storm that has a one percent chance of happening in any given year. In California, the state goes one step further in requiring that levees in urban areas protect against a 200-year flood event, or a storm that has a one-half percent chance of happening in any given year.

TRLIA, a joint powers authority of Yuba County and Reclamation District 784, was formed in 2004 to finance and construct levee improvements to meaningfully reduce flood risk and ward off FEMA-imposed regulations for properties in high-risk flood zones. These include mandatory, higher-cost flood insurance and building restrictions that can result in complete moratoriums on new and replacement construction. TRLIA embarked on a four-phase program resulting in approximately $500 million in levee improvements, approximately 60 percent of which is being paid for by the state. The local share is largely being covered through a prior bond sale by Yuba County and Yuba Water Agency, for which Yuba Water Agency continues to pay approximately $5.5 million per year in bond debt. ★

John David Jacobson July 24, 1930 – May 6, 2020

John David Jacobson passed away peacefully, May 6, 2020, at his home in Meridian, Idaho, while in the loving care of his dear wife, Phyllis.

John was born in La Point, Utah, on July 24, 1930, and lived most of his life in northern California, a place he deeply loved. He was the fourth child of David Wells Jacobson and Leola Dickson and grew up in a large farming family in Orland, California.

John married his high school sweetheart and love of his life, Phyllis June Green, in Orland on July 26, 1952, and they were later sealed in the Oakland Temple. They were married for 67 years.

John and Phyllis started their young family while he served his country as a draftsman in the Navy during the Korean War. While raising their five children, they lived in Sacramento for 12 years where they made friends they stayed close to for the remainder of their lives, a pattern that would repeat wherever they lived.

They then lived 25 years in San Jose, California, where John worked as CEO of a transport company he and his brothers owned. John and Phyllis were an active couple who loved to travel and camp. They pulled their camper trailer all over the country, seeing new places and visiting friends and family. John loved riding motorcycles with his sons, and for years he and Phyllis were part of a touring group dressed head to toe in leather.

After retirement, John and Phyllis moved to Brownsville, California. There they made many new friends and enjoyed a happy life working on their home and serving in the community, where John was a Director for the Brownsville Water Board. John often enjoyed fishing on nearby Collins Lake.

John will be remembered as a kind and generous person who loved people. Whether helping a stranger fix their car or a neighbor build a fence, John was known to be selfless with his time and many talents. He was a problem solver and a person that others knew they could rely on. In addition to being a caring father, he was close to and showed great interest in his grandchildren and their pursuits and was actively involved in their lives.

John also had a great sense of humor and was fun to be around. He loved a good prank and enjoyed good-natured teasing.

More than anything, John was a spiritual man who loved his Savior Jesus Christ and tried to follow Him. He was a devout member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and he and Phyllis served three church missions in their retirement years. They also supported numerous other missionaries and received much joy and satisfaction serving others. He was an honest and generous person who would forgive a debt rather than have someone feel bad they could not pay.

John is survived by his wife, Phyllis; his brothers Larry, Mack, and Gary and sisters Reva and Annette; and his five children: Linda (Alan), Penelope, David (Shelly), Sheri, and Robert (Moana); 14 grandchildren; and 15 great-grandchildren, soon to be 17. He is preceded in death by his brother Wells Jr. and sister Marie.

John treasured his friends and family and for that he will be dearly missed. He often said that he had lived a wonderful life.

All on Welfare Now

Commentary by Lou Binninger

Former drug user, welfare queen and now syndicated black columnist Star Parker wrote an article last week, “We Are All on Welfare Now.”

She writes, “Back when I was on means-tested welfare programs, the rules were ‘Don’t work. Don’t save. Don’t get married, and my rich uncle in Washington would reach into someone else’s pocket and provide me security and stability on his government plantation.’”

Liberals, now more properly called socialists, have strived for nearly 200 years at convincing folks to let the government run their lives and support them. When that wasn’t working fast enough, shouting plague in the world’s theater, shutting down the economy, clearing the streets and institutions, and sending relief checks got it done in 8 weeks. Shazzam!

We’re all on welfare now.

Most Americans followed the main stream media’s Covid mantra right over the cliff surrendering their Constitutional rights. Little bureaucrats carried out their mindless mission not because it was right but because that’s what they were told to win the big prize, retirement. We owe an apology for putting German officers on trial in WWII. They were just doing what they were told.

Last week, a restaurant host informed a friend that a mask was mandatory. The friend planned to eat and asked how that was possible with a mask. The zombie employee said he would provide a free mask if my friend would display it till the food arrived. When government is driving the bus, stupid makes sense.

Dr. Phuong Luu, Yuba-Sutter Counties’ Health Officer makes complete sense if you remove the word “health” from her title. You would never visit her for your medical needs. That is not her job.

She is a bureaucrat repeating state dogma that will make you ill and in some cases kill you. Hundreds of doctors and specialists nationally with far higher medical training than Dr. Ratched have gone public to say that wearing masks, social distancing and staying homebound is nonsensical, extremely unhealthy and will compromise your immune system.

Why then would Dr. Luu say these things? A $300,000 plus salary may tweak her judgement a tad; she does what she’s told; is full of fear or she’s mental. What we do know is that her work is not beneficial to Yuba-Sutter’s well-being.

When the true facts come out, leaving schools, churches and businesses open and encouraging people to use caution if they felt ill would have brought similar and maybe better outcomes than what we have today. Some nations used the open approach and are doing just fine.

However now, America’s health officials are scrambling to cook the coroner books defrauding the American people by spiking the Covid death count. This may reduce the chance of random hangings of those responsible for making people sick, die, drug/alcohol relapse, overdose, beat their partner, be depressed, end their life and divorce.

Meanwhile, Marysville City Council could not resist dishing out $75,000 from the general fund to a few favored businesses. When your hand is in the till it is always easier to be generous with other people’s money. Councilmember Stephanie McKenzie is the only one who did not surrender her wits when taking the oath of office. She opposed the loan program and for good reasons.

Maysville needs a snorkel to survive its debt. It already takes an extra 1% sales tax and still is struggling. McKenzie said the city should not be in the banking business. That wasn’t its role or responsibility in the community.

She suggested the city look for others ways to help all businesses not just those 5 or 6 favored with loans. She said the city could defer receiving business licenses fees due in July and delay monthly sewage fees. The city could also waive encroachment permits allowing establishments to increase capacity by serving food and beverages on the sidewalk or in parking lots outdoor café-style.

Yuba County could have stopped illegally taking $10,000 each day in additional sales taxes via Measure K. Marysville, Yuba City, Sutter and Yuba County could have reduced or cancelled many of their fees.

Counties and cities could have worked together to hire outside attorneys to protect the businesses against punishment from the state for remaining open.

The business community would like to know if the city and county have its back when a lawless state department or government official is causing trouble. Or, are businesses just appreciated when they send in their taxes and fees?

$5 Million Allocated for Lead Testing in California Child Care Centers

State Water Resources Control Board

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The State Water Resources Control Board has executed an agreement to provide approximately $5 million in grant funds for testing and remediation of lead in drinking water at licensed Child Care Centers.

The passage of Assembly Bill 2370 in 2018 requires that all licensed child care centers constructed before Jan. 1, 2010 test their drinking water for lead and do so within a three-year window. Subsequent testing every five years after the date of the first test is also required. The testing requirement does not apply when services are provided in the home of the caregiver.

Lead is a naturally occurring toxic metal used in many products and found throughout the environment including air, soil and water. Children are particularly susceptible to lead exposure. Lead can slow down growth and development, harm a child’s nervous system and impact brain development. Studies have found that even small amounts of lead exposure can make it difficult for children to learn, pay attention and succeed in school. Children under six years old are most at risk, particularly infants.

The California Department of Social Services regulates licensed child care centers and plans to issue directives to centers in early 2020 regarding the requirements for testing and remediation. Once issued, that information will be posted on the CDSS Provider Information Notices page.

A second 2018 bill, Senate Bill 862, appropriates $5 million from the General Fund to the SWRCB and prioritizes centers serving infants and preschoolers. The bill gave highest priority for centers that serve infants, those that operate only one center and those with a majority of children receiving subsidized care. ★

The Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Such sad news The Yuba Feather Museum will not open this summer. There has been too little time to work on displays that require cooperative groups working. Also it would be impossible to clean, wipe down surfaces. We hope you really miss visiting this treasure and plan to support it especially hard when it can reopen.

There will be an outdoor Peddler’s Fair on Saturday, May 23 from 9 am – 4 pm in the parking lots of Books & More and Brownsville Mercantile, both located on Willow Glen Rd. in Brownsville. Booth space is free so bring your goods and sell, sell, sell. If you need to get out of the house and take in some fresh air, stop on by and see what treasures are to be found. Crafters and peddlers will be displaying their wares. A live band will be entertaining.

A Community Yard Cleanup Day is scheduled for Saturday, May 30 from 8 – 12 in the Foothill Fire parking lot. There will be dumpsters available. You must have a proof of residence in order to dump your trash. This event is free to all foothill residents.

Look Back in Time – In 1909 the Bellevue Mine in LaPorte was working rich gravel at $75 a car with 40 men working there (I need to take a ride to LaPorte soon).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon. ~Christine and Yvonne

Musk plans to "immediately" move Tesla HQ and future company projects from the Bay Area to Texas or Nevada. This announcement came after Alameda County prevented Musk from reopening his factory last week. Tesla employs some 37,000 employees and supports thousands more through its suppliers. Gonzalez responded to Musk with a vile, three-word message: "F*ck Elon Musk." America Has Lost 594,300 Clean Energy Jobs; 850,000 Expected by June 30

By Alex Frank, Hastings Group

WASHINGTON, DC (MPG) - Nearly 600,000 U.S. clean energy workers have lost their jobs since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic after 447,208 new workers filed unemployment claims in April – tripling the claims filed in March. That's according to a new analysis of unemployment data released by E2 (Environmental Entrepreneurs), the American Council on Renewable Energy (ACORE), E4TheFuture, and BW Research Partnership.

The analysis of Department of Labor data found that 594,347 workers in clean energy occupations, representing 17.8% of the industry's workforce, filed for unemployment benefits in April and March. The number of jobs lost is more than double the number of clean energy jobs created since 2017. Before March, clean energy had been one of the U.S. economy's biggest and fastest-growing employment sectors, growing 10.4% since 2015 to 3.4 million jobs at the end of 2019. That made clean energy by far the biggest employer of workers in all energy occupations, employing nearly three times as many people as the fossil fuel industry.

In the coming months, the analysis projects that job losses will continue to rise unless Congress and the Trump administration take quick and substantive action to support the clean energy industry and its workers. If nothing is done, the report forecasts that 850,000 clean energy workers will have filed for unemployment by June 30.

A loss of that magnitude would mean that one out of every four clean energy workers employed at the start of 2020 will have lost their jobs in just six months.

Industries Hit Hardest

According to the unemployment data analysis, energy efficiency lost more jobs than any other clean energy sector for the second consecutive month in April. The energy efficiency sector accounted for nearly 70% of all clean energy job losses in April, with more than 310,000 energy efficiency workers filing for unemployment.

Renewable energy lost nearly 13% of its workforce, with more than 71,800 unemployment filings in April. There are now nearly 100,000 renewable energy workers out of work since March. If trends continue, more than one out of every five renewable energy workers will soon be jobless.

Both the clean grid and storage sector and the clean vehicles sector lost 14% of their workforces in April, losing 54,700 jobs combined. In total, those sectors have lost 26,200 and 46,500 jobs, respectively.

The clean fuels sector lost the largest percentage of its workforce among all clean energy industries, losing 10,400 jobs in April, or 26% of its workforce. Since March, the sector has lost 12,500 jobs or more than one-third of its workforce.

States and Localities Hit Across Country

California continues to be the hardest hit state in terms of total job losses, losing 77,900 jobs in April alone and more than 100,000 since the crisis began. Texas, Michigan, Florida, and Georgia also had a high total of clean energy unemployment filings in April, with each state experiencing more than 22,000 job losses. An additional 23 other states had at least 5,000 clean energy unemployment filings, according to the new analysis.

While Kentucky, Hawaii, and Louisiana all saw job losses exceed 25% of their clean energy workforces, no state was hit harder in terms of total number and share of its clean energy workforce than Georgia. In addition to suffering the fifth most total job losses, the state lost 31% of its clean energy workforce — the highest percentage of any state and double the national average of 15%.

Local Economies Hit

April's edition of the analysis expanded to include losses by metropolitan areas and counties. By total job losses, five counties lost more than 5,000 clean energy jobs in April alone, including Los Angeles County, Calif.; King County, Wash.; Harris County, Texas; San Diego County, Calif.; and Cook County, Ill. As a share of their workforces, California and Georgia counties suffered the most, with four counties in each state losing at least 23% of their clean energy jobs.

The metro areas that lost the most clean energy jobs in April were metro areas with the largest populations and economies, including Los Angeles, New York City, and Chicago. Metro areas that were hit hardest as a share of their workforce varied more, with Cleveland, Las Vegas, New Orleans, and Pittsburgh all losing at least 18% of their clean energy jobs. ★

Things will never be the same after COVID19

So many things have transpired economically in the last two months it's a full time job and then some covering it all.

The Federal Reserve for the first time ever is backstopping the corporate bond market by buying 750 billion dollars of Exchange Traded Bond Funds (ETF), both investment grade and what is called "junk" bonds (bonds paying a higher interest rate due to the lower financial rating of the borrowing company).

Stimulus checks totaling thousands were given to all eligible U.S. adults or are in the process of going out and a new round of checks is being hotly debated in Washington.

Other stimulus programs like the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP), the CARES act, enhanced unemployment benefits, postponement of student loan payments and their interest accrual, extended sick leave benefits, relaxed restrictions on access to retirement plans and more are funneling or will be funneling more trillions into the economy and the American pocketbook.

With more programs being discussed as we speak, the amount of money being "created" or borrowed to pay for it all has reached epic proportions and will only go higher and likely much higher.

This analyst has made a host of predictions as to expected unemployment (50 million), small business failures within 12 months (25% of all small businesses), corporate bankruptcies (a continuing wave for 12 months or more with some very large ones) and the government annual deficit this year to reach six trillion and a total deficit of 30 trillion by 2022.

The damage already done to world economies is massive and still ongoing for who knows when. It's difficult to say what the world will look like in a year or two, but it's safe to say things are going to be a whole lot different from here on because of Corona.

Not only has the business landscape been drastically altered, it will likely be a different operating environment for many businesses as we emerge out of our isolation.

It goes without saying extreme hardships have been experienced but lessons are being learned on how employees can work at home rather than at central locations.

Internet giant Twitter told employees that many of them can continue to work at home after the Corona event is over. No doubt many other businesses will follow suit.

That fact coupled with the permanent exodus of many small businesses due to bankruptcy following the shutdown will mean bad things may be in store for the commercial real estate sector. Businesses that remain in commercial spaces may eagerly rush to renegotiate leases in response to falling demand and a rising glut of available alternatives. Add to that the widespread default on rent payments in general due to CoVid and the outlook could indeed spell big trouble for landlords far and wide.

The creative destruction side of Capitalism will no doubt have a field day as bankrupt businesses will be replaced by new startups with better ideas, more streamlined business plans and stronger balance sheets. Those specializing in the new "stay at home" economy and telecommuting will likely benefit, with many explosive growth stories bound to be written.

Although some positives arise from almost every situation, the obvious negatives at least for now obfuscate whatever good might arise when we come out of the other end of Corona.

With all the incentive programs to buffer consumer wallets, some are concerned the massive stimulus checks and payment programs will remove the incentive for some to return to work.

Indeed, in speaking with many business owners over the last few weeks, with unemployment bonuses making $2,404 a month the minimum check ($600 weekly bonuses on top of wage compensations), there is some concern that some will not return to jobs that pay less than that and even lean into not returning at all as long as those bonus amounts are attached.

Although slated to discontinue in July, the latest stimulus program in the house calls for the extension of the $600 weekly bonus to be extended through January 31, 2021.

In fact the proposal that extends the bonus has a plethora of additional benefits too lengthy to list them all here but here is a link: <https://www.forbes.com/sites/kellyphillipsrb/2020/05/12/massive-house-bill-includes-new-improved-stimulus-checks-expanded-jobless-benefits-and-tax-relief/#4fae9bc74f14>

With all the benefit programs enacted and more being proposed there are some that argue skyrocketing deficits will cause severe financial woes to government balance sheets. Others believe inflation will be a growing concern as the money supply expands from the trillions in giveaways. Still others fear an ever growing dependency on the government in general and hence more control over the lives of Americans will result.

What comes to my mind is the quote from the famous economist Milton Friedman:

"Nothing is more permanent than a temporary government program."

Yes, things have indeed changed.

Governor Psycho

Commentary by Lou Binninger

The Constitutional catarracts may be lifting from the sight of Californians though they may just be learning about the document that protects them. Street-wise people know we are just a skoch away from civil war. Even ignorant folks can sense something is bad wrong.

When law enforcement officers warn fellow comrades on Facebook to uphold their oath of office (defend the Constitution) versus what their mayor or governor says, lest they become a casualty, you know we are in a crisis having nothing to do with health. Officers with military combat experience in the neighborhoods of foreign nations know that local resistance can be gnarly, crippling and lethal.

A California law enforcement retiree after 25 years of honorable service said last weekend that he would empty his weapons on anyone trying to remove loved ones from his home, or forcibly try to test or vaccinate his family.

Governor Lard Hair needs every last one of the hundreds of Highway Patrol officers around him because like all politicians he is spineless when lacking armed cover. These CHP officers stand for hours executing the governor's illegal order to violate the people's right of assembly to express their grievances. The officers need to honor their oath or seek another line of work.

The Constitution has been superseded in California by the Governor's edict that citizens must have permission to assemble. Writer of the Declaration of Independence and our 3rd President Thomas Jefferson recommended killing such tyrants.

Newsom is mentally deranged. Posters around LA show him as 'California Psycho'. Marine veteran artist Sabo plastered the streets with the mindless Governor's face. The Constitution calls Governor Psycho a domestic enemy.

Newsom is euphoric with power, taking what he wants, violating trust, sexually unfaithful, and a bully politically.

While he freed murderers, perverts and rapists he broke the financial backs of millions of moms and dads scratching and clawing to pay their bills. What kind of creep makes millions a year, goes to restaurants and shops while forbidding others the same freedom, lives in a mansion while mocking and insulting hard-working Californians as 'nonessential.'

The butt-hurt Governor now is attacking businesses that are licensed by the state. He is threatening their 'permission to work' since they are not obeying his whims. No one needs to bow before a tyrant for the right to work. Licensees should return their certification and continue operating. Their patrons will back them.

Most all occupational licenses are government money-grabs and a means to limit freedom and new competition. They violate the U.S. Constitution.

In addition to Modoc, Sutter, Yuba, Stanislaus, and (to a great extent) Kern Counties defying Gavin Newsom's lockdown, several other individual cities have as well. Riverside County hair salons, gyms, and restaurants are opening without Newsom's "OK" because Constitutional Sheriff Chad Bianco says he won't fine or arrest any business owner or pastor.

People are violating Newsom's order to not sit or sunbathe at Santa Monica Beach in LA County. Police are ignoring them.

Central Valley's Kings County encouraged all businesses to reopen. Tiny Atwater (50,000 population), in Merced County, declared itself a "sanctuary city" for small businesses. Three more SoCal tribal casinos are reopening without Newsom's permission and more than 1,000 pastors plan to start church meetings on May 31.

Newsom is committing political assault, placing a gun to people's heads or removing their means of survival to get compliance. He forfeited his mandate from the citizens and has become an object of mockery.

Sutter County Arrests 3 Suspects in Farm Equipment Theft

Sutter County Sheriff's Press Release

SUTTER COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Sutter County Sheriff's Detectives have been conducting an extensive investigation relating to the thefts of multiple high-priced pieces of farm equipment that is valued at well over $200,000. These thefts have occurred in different areas of Sutter County. Sutter County detectives and NET-5 Agents have been working these cases for several weeks. Due to the dedication and hard work of the investigators, on May 5, 2020, at approximately 1430 hours, an undercover sting occurred which led to the arrest of three suspects and the recovery of approximately $100,000 worth of farm equipment.

39-year-old Yuba City resident Matthew Lewis, 39-year-old Yuba resident Joshua Walton, and 42-year-old Yuba City resident Jatinder Chohan were all booked into the Sutter County Jail for multiple charges, including possession of stolen property, Grand Theft, Conspiracy, and Resisting Arrest. Due to the order put out by the Judicial Council of California regarding COVID-19 statewide emergency bail schedule that sets bail at $0 for most misdemeanor and lower-level felony offenses, all three suspects have been released. ★

Beyond Virtual Reality

Dr. Francisco Reveles, Yuba County Superintendent of Schools. Photo: Yuba County Office of Education

By Dr. Francisco Reveles, Yuba County Office of Education

YUBA COUNTY, CA (MPG) - I watched her very closely. My little sister, Nenita, had just scampered in through the wobbly screen door with a shopping bag bursting with Halloween candy. She was returning from a solo night excursion on All-Hallows night. Disheveled with a sheen of sweat covering her plump little face, her cheeks glistened under the glare of the bare bulb overhead. They reminded me of a couple of freshly glazed donuts. My older sister Cris and I had refused to take her on the proverbial trick-or-treating jaunt. However, my little sister would not be denied. So, on her own, she patched together a crazy looking costume and valiantly ventured into the night to face ghosts, vampires, and Frankensteins. She was only 8 years old.

I watched intently as she now poured the night's take across the bed that doubled as our family sofa methodically categorizing the sweet loot. Bite-sized Snickers, M&M's, Reese's cups, and Charleston Chews were highly valued, while miscellaneous hard candies were relegated to the lower tiers. Scanning the vast array of goodies before her, she selected only two, and quickly scooped the rest back into the shopping bag, shoved it under the bed, and went to bed. Huh?!!

What sort of 8 yr. old kid has the self-discipline to stop at only two candies? Well, my little 'sis had a plan, a vision. During the following weeks, long after other kids had exhausted their own candy stash, she would come home from school jingling with coins in her pocket.

Apparently, she was selling the candy at inflated prices to other students during lunch and was making a killing. Now that's capitalism, in a weird sort of way.

If there is one key aspect associated with building resilient and confident youth, it would be exposing them early to experiences that foster mental strength and self-initiative. And I'm not talking about 'virtual realities' here. To be sure, electronic media does present tremendous possibilities for learning, especially during these times of COVID-19. But viewing life and creating realities through this convenient prism, either purposefully or by default, can also isolate and absorb youth. Just think of how many times parents have had to deal with children who can't put the iPhone down at the dinner table or while attempting to engage them in the car?

Real-life experiences do not come with an 'off' or a 'refresh' button. They help youth build initiative and purpose in life. In turn, they also become more adept at dealing with rejection, risk-taking, ambiguity and stress.

One of the defining characteristics of successful youth is their ability to see opportunities where others see failure or possible loss of face. Indeed, initiative is a stronger common factor among achieving (purposeful) youth than G.P.A. or test scores, according to studies. Which brings me back to my little sister, Nenita. Her willingness to venture alone into the darkness on that Halloween night long ago reflected an entrepreneurial attitude and ability to problem-solve. And boy, did it pay off.

Entrepreneurship, broadly defined, really represents a constellation or cluster of traits that a person can bring to a given challenge. It represents a set of attitudes and dispositions.

Parents can help their children develop these capacities by encouraging them to take on challenges and healthy risks. Reading out loud, making a class presentation, or volunteering for a community event can foster this positive approach to risk-taking and help overcome timidity. Embracing challenges, rather than avoiding them, can teach a child a great deal about real-life and help build their self-confidence. ★

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syx.com

Congratulations go out to Yuba City angler Steve Mc Clain. Steve was fishing the Sacramento River last week for striped Bass when he caught a nice 8 pound striper. Kudos, Steve!

The trout fishing at Collins Lake has improved dramatically with some nice larger rainbow trout being taken both from shore and by boat. Englebright Reservoir has also has success trolling in the upper part of this body of water or around the house boats.

The human brain is an amazing device. A short thought or seeing something from the past can spark the brain to remember perfect details of an incident in a matter of seconds. Every once in a while I get a flashback of a fishing trip or just a single day on the water. Of course I remember other things besides fishing but my fishing adventures seem to pop up more than other topics.

There was a time when I could not get enough of the sport of fishing. In my younger years it was not uncommon to see me with a fishing pole in my hand and a glitter in my eye anticipating catching a huge fish. The funny part of this is it is always the big fish which attracts the attention. A person could catch a limit of fish in 20 minutes with no notice of excitement, but get the "Big One" on the end of your line and it seems the entire town population gets excited. Myself, I would rather catch lots of fish than just catch one in a single day.

It has been a very pleasant spring this year and our weather source tells us to expect more cool weather and some more rain before summer arrives.

Closing thought: Belated "Happy Mother's Day!" ★

The States approval of the certification satisfies its responsibilities under NEPA and related laws and authorities, and allows the County of Yuba to use Program Funds.

Marysville Police Arrest Rape Suspect

Marysville Police Department

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - On May 13, 2020 at about 8:00 pm, Marysville Police received emergency calls in reference to an attempted rape that had just occurred in the railroad trestle tunnel located on B Street at 17th Street. Officers responded and contacted the victim. Officers obtained information on the assault, collected physical evidence (pretzel bag discarded by suspect), and saturated the area looking for the suspect.

On May 14, 2020, Officers' were able to obtain video footage from the area that captured the assault. At about 5:00 pm, Officers used still photos from the video and began making several contracts throughout the community attempting to identify the suspect. As a result of making these contacts, a potential suspect was identified. Officers received information the suspect frequents Ellis Lake. Marysville Police personnel saturated the area and at about 7:45 pm, Marysville Police located the suspect on the lakes edge behind the Watermarke Plaza.

The suspect, 33-year-old Alfonso Ferrer, transient, Marysville CA, was detained. Ferrer was wearing the same sweat-shirts and backpack that he wore during the assault. Ferrer was also in possession of a Raiders beanie in his backpack that matched the beanie worn during the assault.

Personnel continued their investigation and Ferrer was positively identified by the victim. Personnel went to the Dollar Tree store at 14th Street at B Street as it was 3 blocks south of where the assault occurred. Personnel identified the same bag of pretzels at the store that were discarded at the scene of the assault. Personnel reviewed video footage and captured Ferrer entering the store at 7:46 pm and exiting the store at 7:51pm, after stealing the pretzels. This was approximately 9 minutes before the assault.

Based on this investigation, Ferrer was arrested for Assault with the Intent to Commit Rape, Attempted Rape, and Sexual Battery. Ferrer was booked into the Yuba County Jail.

"The citizens of Marysville can rest a little easier tonight knowing this suspect is off the street", Police Chief Christian Sachs said. ★
