Commentary by Lou Binninger

If Governor Newsom is now the dictator of nearly 40 million Californians why is there a need for expensive and redundant Boards of Supervisors and City Councils? Local politicians took an oath to defend the Constitution / Bill Of Rights from enemies both foreign and domestic but they are instead puppets for Lard Hair's repeated law-breaking and violation of our God-given rights.

Newsom as Mayor of San Francisco began to perform marriage ceremonies for same-sex couples. Regardless of your political or sexual persuasion it was against the law. He declared California a Sanctuary State for illegal aliens, resisted Federal border security and gave illegals health insurance and now proposes Wuhan Flu cash payments, all against the law.

Our tax dollars set aside by referendum for road repairs were re-deployed by Lard Hair for trains and buses. Then he threatened to withhold all road dollars unless communities had enough low-income housing. He is a liar and cannot be trusted.

Regulations, laws and rights are nothing to the dictator who wants to rule a nation-state versus one of the United States. He sees himself as a political Pope. California and the United States have Constitutions but his decrees supersede them.

Some governors say we have rights except where there is a crisis. America has been through plenty of turmoil, but when did we ditch our rights for a dictatorship?

The diagnostic "model" for the Wuhan Flu portrays the common virus like the Bubonic Plague. Is this laughable fraud sufficient to nullify the Bill of Rights? Are these mad scientists the best we can get and are they afflicted with a liberal agenda? Is this the same group that predicted the end of the world in 12 years?

Local authorities have arrested and fined pastors / churchgoers, dismantled playgrounds, stopped fishing and the buying of garden seeds, forbidden swimming, and being at the beach. L.A. businesses attempting to stay open are threatened by the mayor with their utilities being shut-off. Can you take the

Supplemental Security Income Recipients Will Receive Automatic Economic Impact Payments

By David A. Tucker II, Internal Revenue Service

WASHINGTON, DC (MPG) - The Internal Revenue Service, working in partnership with the Treasury Department and the Social Security Administration, announced today that recipients of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) will automatically receive automatic Economic Impact Payments.

SSI recipients will receive a $1,200 Economic Impact Payment with no further action needed on their part. The IRS projects the payments for this group will go out no later than early May.

Moving SSI recipients into the automatic payment category follows weeks of extensive cooperative work between SSA, Treasury, IRS as well as the Bureau of Fiscal Services.

"Since SSI recipients typically aren't required to file tax returns, the IRS had to work extensively with these other government agencies to determine a way to quickly and accurately deliver Economic Impact Payments to this group," said IRS Commissioner Chuck Rettig. "Additional programming work remains, but this step simplifies the process for SSI recipients to quickly and easily receive these $1,200 payments automatically. We appreciate the assistance of SSA and the Bureau of Fiscal Services in this effort."

No action needed by most taxpayers

Earlier this month, the IRS took a similar action to ensure those receiving Social Security retirement or disability benefits and Railroad Retirement benefits can receive automatic payments of $1,200. While these groups receive Forms 1099, many in this group don't typically file tax returns. People in these groups are expected to see the automatic $1,200 payments later this month.

Eligible taxpayers who filed tax returns for 2019 or 2018 will also receive the payments automatically. About 80 million payments are hitting bank accounts this week.

For benefit recipients with dependents, extra step needed to claim $500 for children

The law provides eligible taxpayers with qualifying children under age 17 to receive an extra $500. For taxpayers who filed tax returns in 2018 or 2019, the child payments will be automatic.

However, many benefit recipients typically aren't required to file tax returns. If they have children who qualify, an extra step is needed to add $500 per child onto their automatic payment of $1,200 if they didn't file a tax return in 2018 or 2019.

For those who receive Social Security retirement or disability benefits (SSDI), Railroad Retirement benefits or SSI and have a qualifying child, they can quickly register by visiting special tool available only on IRS.gov and provide their information in the Non-Filers section. By quickly taking steps to enter information on the IRS website about them and their qualifying children, they can receive the $500 per dependent child payment in addition to their $1,200 individual payment. If beneficiaries in these groups do not provide their information to the IRS soon, they will have to wait until later to receive their $500 per qualifying child.

The Treasury Department, not the Social Security Administration, will make these automatic payments to SSI recipients. Recipients will generally receive the automatic payments by direct deposit, Direct Express debit card, or by paper check, just as they would normally receive their SSI benefits.

For those with dependents who use Direct Express debit cards, additional information

Drive-in Church Services Now Permitted

Center for American Liberty Special Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - As a result of the Center for American Liberty's lawsuit (@Liberty_Ctr) and request for a temporary restraining order, drive-in religious services are now permitted in California during the COVID crisis.

This policy change, reflected in announcements from the two counties sued in our lawsuit, comes hours after Governor Newsom and Attorney General Becerra filed their brief in response to our TRO filed on Tuesday.

In their response, Governor Newsom and AG Becerra explain that because cars are "technology," drive-in church services are permitted under the state's shelter-in-place rule.

Subsequently, Riverside County released its final amended Order which references the Governor and Attorney General's opposition brief to our TRO.

The Order states - "the State confirmed that in-person services are prohibited but clarified that "...drive-in worship services are permitted under the existing Executive Order, which expressly allows 'faith based services that are provided through...other technology.'"

San Bernardino County's press release states, "The state has declared that drive-in worship services are allowed 'as long as the individuals engaged in such services abide by physical distancing guidelines and refrain from direct and indirect physical touching of others.'"

"This is heartening progress for our clients, and all Californians" said Chief Executive Officer of the Center for American Liberty, Harmeet K. Dhillon (@pnjaban). "But while this is a step in the right direction, it is still not enough."

"The state is still holding houses of worship to a different standard," Dhillon said. "AG Barr's statement on Tuesday was clear, states cannot have two sets of restrictions - those that apply to churches and the more relaxed standards that apply to other entities. The State's orders still do not define worship as an essential activity that permits travel in California, even while at the same time the state is now saying drive-in worship is permissible. The orders are riddled with contradictory and confusing language."

"Even after these policy changes, houses of worship are still very limited in their permissible activities," Dhillon said. "Many of these activities provide immeasurable societal good,

News Outlook

By Josh F.W. Cook

This week I have nothing more effectual to proffer than the message offered by Chaplain Brigadier General Kenneth “Ed” Brandt - Chief Chaplain, Army National Guard

Hello, elbow bump, and so long handshake! Welcome, “social distancing,” and floor markers indicating where to stand to maintain six feet of physical separation from each other! We now live with face masks and elastic gloves. Small group ministry is now the optimal social gathering! Every house of worship is truly a multi-site operation! Sofas are now the pews in our at-home sanctuaries.

Going out to eat is now grab and go! And we now love Amazon same-day delivery more than ever, even though it may take a couple of days! The same is happening in Chaplain ministry. Virtual pastoral care is replacing the casual office walk-by. Chaplains are becoming more video savvy and telegenic. Strong Bonds and Suicide Prevention training are offered online, and living our call fiercely is lighting our imaginations on fire, to be creative, caring, and encouraging. With over 22,000 members of the National Guard activated, including 113 Chaplain Corps members providing Religious and Spiritual Support, the National Guard is fully engaged in the 50 states, the territories of Guam, the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. And in the midst of this service, members of the National Guard are personally experiencing COVID-19’s callous cessation of life. From the death of a Soldier in the NJ National Guard to a Soldier losing a parent, to Service Members testing positive and being quarantined, this virus is touching our people in very personal ways. Our work of ministry is needed now more than ever. Weary mobilized Soldiers with tired spirits can use an encouraging word; and people appreciate encouragement even when it is delivered via digital and electronic engagement. The Psalmist writes, “Be of good courage...” (Ps. 31.24), and “The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength in whom I trust...” (Ps. 18.2). Words of hope are essential to getting to the other side and beyond these challenging times! In 1918, Rev. Francis Grimké, who was pastor at Fifteenth Street Presbyterian Church, Washington, DC, preached a sermon entitled, “Some Reflections Growing Out of the Recent Epidemic of Influenza that Afflicted Our City.” During that time in our Nation’s history, houses of worship shut down, Marines came to DC and provided support, and death rates soared. In that sermon, Grimké noted, “Over the whole land it has thrown a gloom, and has stricken down such large numbers that it has been difficult to care for them properly, overcrowding all our hospitals - and it has proven fatal in so many cases that it has been difficult at times to get coffins enough in which to place the dead, and to dig graves fast enough in which to bury them.” As Grimké faced what we face 100 years later, he noted the following:1. “I have been impressed with the ease with which large portions of the population may be wiped out in spite of the skill of man...” 2. “... it has brought home to us as never before what the church (and other religious communities) really meant to us.” 3. “While it lasted, I kept the thought of death and of eternity constantly before the people.” 4. “... it is of the blessedness of religion, of the sense of security which a true, living, working faith...gives one in the midst of life’s perils.” Rev. Grimké concluded by saying, “If...we find that we did not get out of our religion very much help, in bracing us up under the strain through which we have been passing, then we know that there is something wrong; either we have no faith at all, or it is very weak, and therefore that we need to give a little more attention to our spiritual condition than we have been giving. We ought to come out of this epidemic more determined than ever to run with patience the race that is set before us.” We speak differently in our conversations and our sermons today. Yet the message remains the same: We must encourage one another in our faith, as we hope together and work together in community to get to the other side.”

be it delivering food to the elderly, hosting addiction support groups, providing spiritual comfort and counseling for Californians in crisis, and so many other essential services.”

On Tuesday, United States Attorney General William P. Barr issued a statement condemning restrictions on houses of worship that are not applied “evenhandedly” to all businesses.

“We intend to pursue this case until all Californians are restored the full free exercise of religion guaranteed to all Americans under the Constitution,” Dhillon said.

Investigation of Child Abuse Case Involves a Three-Year-Old Child

Butte County Sheriff’s Office

OROVILLE, CA (MPG) - Butte County Sheriff’s Office (BCSO) deputies were dispatched to assist CAL FIRE with a medical call involving a three-year-old child. Deputies arrived at the intersection of Oroville-Bangor Highway and Swedes Flat Road and contacted CAL FIRE personnel and Joseph Webb of Bangor, 42. Webb told deputies his three-year-old step-child had ingested methamphetamine water. Deputies determined Webb resided with Alisha Crandell of Bangor, 38, in the 300 block of North Stoney Oaks Loop, Bangor.

The child was transported to Oroville Hospital and then was flown by helicopter to a hospital in the Sacramento area. Initial tests conducted by medical staff indicated the child had ingested methamphetamine. The child is currently receiving medical care at the Sacramento area hospital.

Deputies determined Webb, Crandell, and their children were residing in a travel trailer at the aforementioned property. Detectives and deputies responded to Webb’s residence and contacted several people to include Crandell and Anita Morgan of Bangor, 49, and two children. Morgan was contacted in a stolen vehicle and was placed under arrest for felony vehicle theft. The overall condition of the property was deplorable.

A search warrant was obtained for the property and detectives interviewed Webb and Crandell. Webb and Crandell both admitted their three-year-old child ingested methamphetamine water that Webb and Crandell had removed from their “water bong,” which Webb and Crandell were using to smoke methamphetamine.

After the child ingested the methamphetamine, Webb admitted he did not immediately summon medical aid. Instead Webb and Crandell spent approximately 15 minutes attempting to get the child to vomit. The child eventually began having what Webb described as a seizure. Webb then placed the child in a pond located on his property. Webb told detectives he was attempting to “cool down” the child. After removing the child from the pond, Webb then summoned medical aid. All three children were detained by detectives.

During a search of the property detectives from the Felony Investigations Unit and the Butte Interagency Narcotics Task Force located numerous evidence items to include methamphetamine pipes and methamphetamine “water bongs.” Webb and Crandell were both placed under arrest for three felony counts of child endangerment. Webb and Crandell’s bail was set at $500,000. Their arraignment in Butte County Superior Court was set for April 20, 2020.

The Sheriff’s Office is asking anyone with additional information to contact Detective Brian Mollath or Detective Tristan Harper at 530-538-7671. ★

Double Fatality Collision on SR-99 South of Hutchinson Road

California Highway Patrol Press Release

YUBA SUTTER COUNTIES, CA (MPG) - At approximately 4:40am on April 18th, Adele L. Vershaw was driving a Dodge Caravan with one Juvenile passenger on SR-99 northbound approaching Hutchinson Road at an undetermined speed. Olivia V. Garcia was driving a Jeep-Liberty southbound SR-99 south of Hutchinson Road at 65 miles per hour. For an undetermined reason, Vershaw allowed her vehicle to drift from the northbound lanes of SR-99, across the center median and both southbound lanes, and then onto the right shoulder of southbound SR-99. As the Dodge Caravan left the roadway and entered the dirt/gravel shoulder, Vershaw made a sharp turning movement to the right forcing her vehicle to cross back into the southbound lanes of SR-99 and directly into the path of the Jeep Liberty. Both vehicles collided head on resulting in a double fatality in the Dodge Caravan. Garcia was transported to Rideout Emergency room by Bi-County Ambulance for her major injuries.

Personnel from the Sutter County Sheriff’s Department, Sutter County Fire Department, Yuba City Fire Department, and Cal Trans assisted CHP officers at the scene.

Drugs and alcohol were not a contributing factor in this collision. This collision is still under investigation. ★

Economic Damage that has yet to be Realized but Expected to be Historic.

Covid-19 certainly has lived up to expectations, at least on the effect it has had on global stock markets, world governments and the entire population of the earth for that matter.

A global shutdown of businesses, a halt to human travel and even personal interaction, more government stimulus than has ever been used before, and economic damage that has yet to be realized but expected to be historic.

The news is materializing fast and furious and certainly news medias and analysts are burning the midnight candle to the nub trying to keep up with it all, this analyst included.

Speaking of keeping up, the government is initiating round two of the Paycheck Protection Plan (PPP). The first round of several hundred billion was eaten up by applicants within days. Likely the fund running out of money was a surprise to many. How fast it went was another eye opening event, one of the many surprises that the Corona event has brought upon us. Protests were immediate and pronounced that more was needed and quickly.

The Feds have allocated 454 billion to re-inflate financial assets. That amount will be leveraged up to 4.5 trillion through financial mechanisms to complicated to explain here. Just think of it as similar the TARP program of 2008 fame (Troubled Asset Relief Program).

Some will call it what the "Five Minute Forecast" newsletter calls it, a corporate welfare slush fund, while others will label these programs as absolutely necessary to keep our economy from imploding from within (again).

Billions more are being sprayed everywhere by more than a dozen programs Federal programs designed to liquefy the system. The word "spray" pretty much gives an accurate visual to the reader.

China Gross Domestic Product (GDP) has shrunk for the first time since 1992. No surprise there and likely many nations GDP will follow suit.

Jobless claims rose north of 22 million here in the U.S. and while the velocity of filings actually fell last week compared to the initial rush of applicants since the shutdowns, the numbers of those filing is staggering. The total number when all is said and done will border on unbelievable if current rates continue.

The shutdown harbors immense costs to businesses both small and large. Mom and pop stores everywhere are bleeding red and it is estimated 25% of small business will not survive (CNBC). Other almost insurmountable problems specific to particular industries run the gamut from having to park thousands of complex airliners which require vast amounts of daily maintenance as they sit idle to food stuffs having to be destroyed as restaurants sit idle test imaginations as to how bad this really is and how can some businesses possibly cope. Many will not be able to.

Meanwhile to the anger of many, the stock market is up some 25% off its March lows, the exact number is sure to change by the time you read this. A now classis shot of CNBC anchor Jim Cramer, host of Mad Money, shows the background shot of a headline stating "Dow has best week since 1938" while the foreground banner states "16 million Americans have lost jobs in the past three weeks".

It's hard to argue with the outcry arising from the now infamous clip and many CEO's and VP's of large corporations have since been asked about it publicly. Most if not all agree with the irony of the happenstance of the photo capture. Some Wall Street analysts have taken the tact that stock markets always look ahead while unemployment figures are backwards looking. Nonetheless its indeed disturbing no matter what the reasoning.

In conclusion, who knows what will transpire in the days and weeks to come. Protests are arising nationwide to end the shutdown as businesses continue to hemorrhage losses due to inactivity. The pressure is mounting on Washington to put even more pressure on the states to lift stay-at-home-orders while others call for continued vigilance due to the ongoing threat of contagion and a possible second wave if we get too complacent too quickly.

The economic environment will be forever altered due to the Corona event. There is little doubt so will the world at large be changed forever.

Keep on Truckin': Suspend AB 5

Commentary
by Senator John Moorlach

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - 'It's absurd to effectively ban "gig" workers while millions are trying to figure out how to make a living from home'

With most Californians hibernating in their homes for "social distancing," trucking has become even more important. Independent truckers bring us our food, water, medical supplies, clothing and, when available, the most essential commodity: toilet paper.

Which is why my Senate Bill 990 is absolutely crucial and ought to be passed when the California Legislature returns to Sacramento. When amended, it would suspend until January 2022 the severe restrictions on independent workers imposed by Assembly Bill 5 from last year. AB 5 restricts the freedom to work in many fields: translators, transcribers, writers, dancers and teachers, among many others.

There are too many businesses opportunities that do not fit in the "employer/employee" box. Especially independent truckers who work for multiple companies throughout the year, using their vehicles and time.

Independent truckers are truly essential because, if food is not delivered, people go hungry. If the medicines don't go to hospitals, patients may die.

Trucking is one of the few industries recruiting more people, for obvious reasons. Despite the health crisis, independent truckers continue climbing into the cab of their individually owned 18-wheelers every day to make sure the routine, everyday items we take for granted are delivered. No drivers, no deliveries. No deliveries, no store shelves stocked with products.

One official who just doesn't get this is California Attorney General Xavier Becerra. He's continuing his legal actions against independent truckers Gig workers need similar flexibility. ... And independent truckers need the freedom to keep on truckin'.

SB 990 gives Californians room to debate AB 5, while keeping the economy rolling down the Interstate Highway. ★

Let's Find a Reasoned, Scientific Approach for Lifting Restrictions

By James Gallagher

We all know the question everyone is asking: When is this nightmare going to be over?

Over the course of the past few weeks, I have been insistently discussing this with state and local officials. After asking the tough questions and deciphering the information, I wanted to share with the public what I have discovered as clearly as possible.

A lot of the discussion is around "predictive modeling." These 'models' are being used to estimate how many cases we will have and when the spread of the virus will peak. These estimates are important because they are being used to make decisions of how best to bolster our health facilities and how restrictive the stay at home orders should be.

The problem is that the models are really best estimates and they differ greatly depending upon assumptions and inputs made. For instance, the University of Washington IHME model shows that California will have a need for 470 ICU beds statewide. This estimate is well below our current capacity of ICU beds, which is a good thing. This model also shows cases of coronavirus peaking this week, and then declining.

However, state modeling done by the CA Department of Public Health (CDPH) is projecting a much greater number of ICU beds needed through the month of May. But their range is also all over the map. For instance, for Butte County the 25th quartile of the modeling shows 18 ICU beds needed – and the 75th quartile shows a need for 407 ICU beds! The median number of beds needed is 99. The difference in the "range" of this model is so wide as to almost tell us nothing. To make things even more convoluted, the state says this model will continue to change.

Some respected public health doctors say that we should be looking closer at what is actually happening on the ground. These include Dr. Jeffrey Klausner, an epidemiology specialist at the UCLA Fielding School of Public Health and Dr. Rajiv Bhatia, a physician and health scientist who earned his MD at the Stanford University School of Medicine. They say it would be better to base decisions using real time trends in hospitalization data, rather than predictive modeling.

I can tell you that as of Friday, there are no confirmed COVID-19 patients in an ICU bed in the six-county Assembly District I represent. Acute hospital admissions are down about 40% at Rideout in Marysville. The Enloe daily census is hovering around 135, which is far below normal. These figures also call into question the accuracy of the state's modeling projections.

I agree there is risk to opening up too early, but there is also risk of opening too late. It is not a "safe" bet to stay locked down. In addition to the economic havoc, there are increases in cases of domestic violence, child abuse, suicide, etc. Lost jobs and poverty are linked to health declines, drug addiction, and death.

Then there is the impact to health care. Many doctors have had to close down their regular practices. Hospitals have cut themselves to only essential emergency medical services. This has cost them millions of dollars in revenue. They will not be able to sustain this hit for a long period of time. Our rural hospitals are especially struggling and may not recover. And we cannot get through this crisis without a sustainable healthcare network.

There remains no consensus in the public health world for how exactly we should open up our economy.

Dr. Klausner and Dr. Bhatia have recommended opening up rural areas like ours that have a low number of cases and hospitalizations. Their strategy would ramp up restrictions only if we see higher hospitalization rates or if testing indicates a spread of the virus. The Governor and CDPH appear to favor a slower phased process of opening up.

No matter what, the implications of this pandemic and our response will be with us for years to come. So it's important that we get this right.

Bottom line: we need a reasoned, scientific approach to opening up that balances the real public health threats on both sides of the stay at home orders. In order to do that, we need to be making decisions with good data. ★ mask off for sex?

Set Us Free or Step Aside

To stop skaters, San Clemente dumped 37 tons of sand across a beautiful skate park built with community-raised funds. Why not bomb roads leading to beaches and rivers. How about ankle monitors that go off when escaping home?

Citizens needing to frequent county government offices are forced to wear masks. The worthless masks and 6-ft spacing will be long-remembered for their Nazi-like compliance by fear-filled followers.

What people need is a strong immune system, not a mask, space or a vaccine. Anxiety, stress and fear compromise immune systems. But that is just what the government instigated -- mass paranoia and panic.

If local 'leaders' lack the 'Spauldings' to set the counties' free and reject the state's totalitarian rule then they should step-aside. Is the excuse for lock-down to be compliant with some regulation or mandate that trumps the Bill of Rights? Maybe it's the potential of a loss of funding.

It is rumored that Sutter County may be begging the Governor for freedom. Screw him. Just make the declaration and then send Dr. Phuong 'You Flunked' Luu back to Elk Grove where she belongs.

In a few months when the fraud, lies and corruption are exposed, those in local control will say, "Well, we made the best decision with what we knew at the time. We were just following what the state said to do." That's exactly what the Nazi SS henchmen said following WWII.

We need smarter people and leaders with a backbone. If Pope Lard Hair can go rogue on the federal government then a county can do the same with a lawless state.

It is sobering how the Jews were coaxed by Nazi lies in an emergency to board trains with whatever they could carry. They went peacefully obeying the government just like Californians went for one nutso requirement after another because of a hyped 'national crisis.'

If Yuba-Sutter were told to take a backpack and board a bus or train for rooms in Sacramento "until the danger passed" most everyone would have blindly done it. It is shocking. We are in trouble right now and it isn't the Wuhan Flu.

Most are Americans by citizenship but have no Founding Fathers' DNA. They sacrificed their birthright.

Our freedom and liberty are more precious than state control. Millions of Americans have suffered and died for the freedom which many have now gladly surrendered.

Most all have capitulated to a grossly exaggerated pandemic or in other words a 'dem' panic devised to seize more control of people. You have no rights that you are unwilling to fight for. Don't deceive yourself.

Worried About Your Immune System? Try These 5 Natural Remedies

Commentary by Ashley Pontius

Body aches, fever, chills and nasal congestion, common symptoms of the flu, can stop you in your tracks, leaving you bedridden for days.

"Complications arising from these illnesses can become serious," says Dr. Suhyun An (www.drshyunan.com), an expert on regenerative medicine and co-author of Demystifying Stem Cells: A Real-Life Approach To Regenerative Medicine.

Dr. An says there are ways to prevent the symptoms from reaching that serious point. To feel better and get back on your feet, she recommends numerous natural cold and flu remedies to alleviate your symptoms:

Vitamin C. Some studies indicate that Vitamin C can shorten the lifespan of a cold and boost your immune system. "The best way to get it is through your diet; the fresher the food, the better," Dr. An says. "Oranges, limes, lemons, grapefruits, leafy greens, and bell peppers are all good sources of vitamin C. Be careful with supplements because they can lead to upset stomach and kidney stones."

Honey. Honey has natural antiviral and antimicrobial properties. "Drinking honey in tea with lemon can ease sore throat pain," Dr. An says. "Research suggests that honey is an effective cough suppressant, too. Honey often contains Clostridium bacteria, so never give honey to a child younger than 1-year-old because infants' immune systems aren't able to fight them off."

Chicken Soup. This popular cold and flu remedy helps because hot liquids reduce mucus buildup and keep you hydrated. "Chicken soup, in particular, has anti-inflammatory properties, which help reduce a cold's unpleasant side effects," Dr. An says. "Keep some in the freezer or even canned for flu season. It's quick to prepare that way and soothing to eat."

Aromas. "When you have congestion from the flu, applying camphor or menthol salve around your nose can help break up mucus," Dr. An says. "Aromatherapy oils, such as peppermint and eucalyptus, can have a similar effect. Also, vapor rub can reduce cold symptoms, especially in children older than 2 years. It helps open air passages to combat congestion, reduce coughing, and improve sleep. It's a good alternative to over-the-counter cold medicines in young children because of unwanted side effects."

Probiotics. These are friendly bacteria and yeast found in the body, some foods, and supplements. "They can help keep your gut and immune system healthy, and they may reduce your chance of getting sick with an upper respiratory infection," Dr. An says. "For a delicious and nutritious source of helpful bacteria, include probiotic yogurt in your diet."

"Colds and the flu are threats to us every year, but they don't have to get us down for long," Dr. An says. "Natural home remedies can reduce symptoms so you can be more comfortable and get the rest you need to get better faster."

Dr. Suhyun An (www.drshyunan.com) is the clinic director at Campbell Medical Group in Houston and an expert on regenerative medicine. She is co-author of Demystifying Stem Cells: A Real-Life Approach To Regenerative Medicine and travels the nation speaking on those topics. Dr. An received a BS in Biochemistry and Biophysical Science from the University of Houston, graduated cum laude from Parker College of Chiropractic, and got her master's in nursing science from Samford University. ★

YOUR ONE MINUTE NEWS DIGEST

by Don Rae

- Taiwan informed the World Health Organization very early in the current virus crisis. The WHO ignored the information and early warning because China doesn't recognize Taiwan and the WHO is guided by China. Think of what the current crisis might have looked like if Taiwan had been listened to.
- In the midst of the current Covid-19 crisis Elizabeth Warren (Pocahontas) demands that all voting be done by mail. She's suggesting a policy which is an extension of the old "vote early, vote often" adage of the ballot-stuffing Democrats. This is from a Democrat whose party could not even count the votes in the Iowa caucuses. Voter ID is the only way to conduct honest elections.
- Stuck in the house and looking for entertainment? So what do we get on cable TV? More repetitive commercials. Soon we will have cable with 100% commercials and will be paying more than $100 a month to watch pitch people. Something isn't right about this picture.
- California is out of its mind. The "authorities" send cops to close down religious services on Palm Sunday. They arrested a lone surfer for social distancing in the ocean. At the same time they are releasing thousands of criminals, including 19 murderers, back on the streets. At the same time they close up many gun stores as non-essential while allowing liquor stores to remain open as essential. Do we not have logical people in government?
- We are using more disposable hard-surface cleaning and personal wipes to clean and sanitize during the pandemic. INDA, the Association of the Nonwoven Fabrics Industry and the Responsible Flushing Alliance (RFA) have launched the #FlushSmart campaign to inform us on what can – and can't be – flushed. Seems like every campaign designed to tell us what to do by government and bureaucrats just costs more tax money and tells everyone what most of us have known since childhood: toilet paper is flushable; most other things are not. These include baby wipes, disinfecting wipes, hand and face wipes, feminine care products, paper towels and other products not labeled as "flushable". Keep our sewers safe.
- The land bridge from Siberia to North America allowed animals and humans to pass from west to east some 10,000 or so years ago. The seas have since inundated this land and salt water covers the land. All this before the industrial revolution created the internal combustion engine and other necessary implements for our way of life. Natural climate change has been with us for uncountable years and will be with us for the indefinite future.

- Coronavirus computer models are all over the map. Very similar situation as climate change. "Experts" need to be taken with a big grain of salt.
- Oxfam, a major European charity makes noise about coronavirus setting back the fight against poverty in poor countries by some 30 years. Since Oxfam has been collecting charitable donations for decades, why hasn't there been major progress already? Perhaps a new business model where success is actually achievable should be designed instead of the current model where executive salaries, business office rents and the like are the primary recipient of donations. Such reversal of direction would be wonderful.
- With the press committed to 24/7 reporting on the coronavirus and its many ramifications, other stories get lost in the shuffle. As gun stores are deemed non essential and liquor stores are deemed essential, let's review gun control historically. In 1929, the then Soviet Union established gun control resulting in about 20 million being unable to defend themselves who were then rounded up and exterminated. In 1911 Turkey established gun control. From 1915 to 1917 some 1.5 million Armenians, unable to defend themselves were rounded up and exterminated. Germany instituted gun control in 1938 and you will recall that 13 million Jews and other "undesirables" were rounded up and exterminated. China established gun control in 1935. Shortly thereafter some 20 million were exterminated. Guatemala established gun control in 1964. Thereafter 100K Mayans were rounded up and killed. Uganda followed suit in 1970 and some 300K Christians were eliminated. Cambodia did the same in 1956 and from 1975 to 1977 a class of educated people was eliminated. On the other hand, Switzerland issues a gun to every household and trains every adult in the use of a rifle. That country has the lowest gun-related crime of any country. And you don't hear of its citizens being rounded up and exterminated. ★

Social Security Matters

Social Security for Children and Younger Wife

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I am 59. My wife is 48 and has been a stay at home mom for 15 years. We have children aged 13, 10, and 5. I know it makes sense to delay the start of benefits, but I understand that it's more complicated when small children are involved. Does it make sense for me to begin receiving benefits at 62 so I can also collect more for the children? Signed: Older Father

Dear Older Father: Yes, the issue is more complicated when children are involved. Here's why: If you claim your own Social Security (SS) at age 62, your minor children would be able to receive child benefits, and your wife would also be able to receive "child-in-care" benefits, even though she is not yet age-eligible for regular spouse benefits. Usually, a minor child is entitled to 50% of the parent's full retirement age (FRA) SS amount, and a younger care-giving wife is entitled to the same. But when there are multiple dependents collecting on the same worker's record the Family Maximum applies.

The Family Maximum limits the amount of total benefits which can be received by the family to 150% to 188% of the worker's FRA benefit amount. Social Security determines the Family Maximum for each individual case with a complex formula that uses your "primary insurance amount" (or "PIA," the amount you get at your FRA). Your PIA is broken into 4 parts and a different percentage of each part is taken and summed up to arrive at your Family Maximum. Then your PIA is subtracted from the Family Maximum amount and the remainder is equally divided among your minor children and wife. Once a minor child turns 18 (or 19 if still in high school) that child no longer receives benefits and the Family Maximum is recomputed, with the new amount equally divided among the remaining dependents. When your youngest child turns 16, your wife will no longer be eligible for child-in-care benefits. But there's more to consider.

By taking your benefit at age 62, it will be cut by 30% from what it would be if you waited until your full retirement age to claim, and that reduction is permanent. Plus that reduced benefit will mean your wife's benefit as your widow, should you pre-decease her, would be less than it might otherwise be if you waited until later to claim.

Until you reach your full retirement age, you will also be subject to Social Security's "earnings test" which limits the amount of money you can earn before Social Security takes back some of your benefits. The limit for 2020 is $18,240 and if you exceed that amount, SS will take back benefits equal to half of the excess over the limit. They take back those benefits by withholding your SS until they recover what you owe because you exceeded the limit. And, if your benefits are withheld because you exceed the earnings limit, your children and wife will not get their benefits for any month(s) that your benefits are withheld. FYI, the earnings limit increases by about 2.6 times in the year you reach your FRA and no longer applies once you reach your FRA, but any dependent benefits not paid because you exceeded the earnings limit are lost and cannot be recovered.

So, as you can see, there are many things you should consider. If you will be retired from working at age 62 and don't need to worry about the earnings limit, then claiming then, along with the dependent benefits, could be a prudent choice. But if you will continue to work and earn a significant salary, you might very well find that the benefits you and your dependents lose due to the earnings limit will overshadow any advantage you might gain by filing at that time. And, you might also find that the permanent cut in your own benefit because you claimed early, along with the reduction to your wife's future survivor benefit amount, will make claiming at age 62 less attractive.

Examine your Business Needs Carefully

Dear Dave,

I own a small company, and we lease the building we operate from. As an entrepreneur, how do you know when it is time to stop leasing and buy a place of your own?

— Peter

Dear Peter,

You should only buy a building when you have solid track record of success, and a really good idea of what your building needs will be. A growing business is always a good thing, but you don't want to focus too much on real estate and not enough on generating revenue and managing that growth intelligently. You would also want to make sure you're going to be in anything you buy for a good, long while.

I'm a big fan of leasing the first few years after starting your own business. It's even better if you can work out of your home, but I understand that's not always practical. Down the road, you can choose to lease with an option to buy, or in the right situation, just buy a building.

Remember, make sure you do it all with cash. Don't add debt to the equation!

— Dave

Is It Ever Too Late?

Dear Dave,

Life insurance is one of those things I always said I would get around to buying someday, but for various reasons I just haven't done it yet. Is there ever a time when it is too late to get life insurance? — Angie

Dear Angie,

First of all, I only recommend level term life insurance. It's fairly easy to get until around age 70, depending on your overall health situation. Once you get into your seventies and beyond, however, it can be more difficult to find reasonably priced coverage.

I recommend that most people have 10 to 12 times their annual income in term life insurance. To be honest, though, you really shouldn't need life insurance if you're 70 or older. At that point, if you've saved and invested wisely over the years, you can be self-insured. By this, I mean you've got enough money in savings and investments to cover funeral expenses—plus enough for a spouse to live on comfortably after you're gone.

Don't wait any longer, Angie. Take care of this today!

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syx.com

The Feather River is low at this time. Yuba City and Boyd's boat ramps are open but we strongly suggest only small boats be launched due to the low water levels. On the Sacramento River the boat ramps at Verona, Colusa and Knights landing are closed at this time. Teasdale and Wards Landing are open, but the store and restaurant at Wards are closed.

Water temperature on the Sacramento River is rising and the fish are spawning. Fish are still being taken by anglers but the bite has slowed due to the spawn. We are told the Teasdale boat ramp is swamped with boats and trailers. Expect lots of time either launching or retrieving boats at this location.

Supervisors in Southern California have recommended that the trout season which begins the end of this month be discontinued for this year. The Board of Supervisors officially cannot close the fishing but a request was sent to Sacramento asking the Department of Fish and Wildlife to make the recommendation official due to most restaurants and other businesses being closed.

The situation at Teasdale boat Ramp reminds us of years past when striped bass derbies were held annually on the Sacramento River at Ward's Landing and Lovey's Landing locations. These popular outings were sponsored by the Telephone Pioneers, the Lions Club and other organizations. The prizes offered were huge and usually a new boat, motor and trailer were the grand prize. All the events were well organized and had outstanding turnouts but it was common for pickups, trailers and boats to be backed up waiting to launch and boats coming out were forced to stand by in the water waiting their turn to load on the trailer.

Closing thought: "If you need to complain about something make sure it's for a good cause." ★

Food & Farm News

Dairy Farmers Grapple with Drop in Demand

Sales of milk and dairy products to restaurants, schools and other institutions have declined rapidly during the COVID-19 pandemic, leaving dairy farmers with excess milk supplies. Farmers are being asked to slow production, find alternative buyers and, in some cases, discard milk. The drop in demand comes at the "worst time," farmers say, as warmer spring weather encourages cows to produce more.

Farmers Plant Tomatoes Amid Market Uncertainty

Tomato farmers say they're "rolling the dice" as they plant their crops amid tumultuous markets. Demand for canned tomato products has risen during the pandemic, but sales to restaurants and other food-service customers have dropped. Farmers say they're maintaining their planting plans for processing tomatoes that will be harvested this summer, and that they have also adjusted operations to accommodate new employee safety measures during the pandemic.

Scientists Work to Enhance Nutrients in Lettuce

As one of the most consumed fresh vegetables, lettuce plays an important role in American diets—and researchers say increasing nutrients in lettuce could improve health without asking people to change their dietary habits. At a Future of Lettuce Symposium, California scientists described progress in breeding lettuce higher in nutrients such as vitamin C, antioxidants and beta carotene, and lettuce that lasts longer after harvest.

U.S. Farms, Ranches Reduce Per-Unit Emissions

Greenhouse gas emissions from agriculture continue to decline, according to government data analyzed by the American Farm Bureau Federation. The AFBF analysis says agriculture accounts for less than 10% of total U.S. emissions. On a per-unit basis, methane emissions from livestock operations have declined, even as production has risen, and crop farmers have been able to grow more on fewer acres. ★

Patriots and Preachers

Commentary
by Lou Binninger

It's ironic that the church is in hiding as April 19 was Patriot's Day, the anniversary of the "shot heard round the world" (April 19, 1775). It was the day the American War for Independence began.

That day, being warned of approaching British troops Dr. Joseph Warren dispatched Paul Revere to Lexington and Concord with the news. Then, Pastor Jonas Clark alerted his male church members in Lexington that the British Army was on its way to seize the colonists' weapons and to arrest patriot leaders Sam Adams and John Hancock.

Both men were hidden in Pastor Clark's home with a dozen armed guards outside. Others (75-80) from the church were staged with muskets on Lexington Green when more than 800 British troops appeared at day break.

According to eyewitnesses, British soldiers opened fire on the militiamen without warning immediately killing eight of Pastor Clark's people. The Minutemen took cover and returned fire. These were the first shots of the Revolutionary War.

Ironically, in light of the lukewarm church today this took place on Lexington Green, which was located in the shadow of the church building where the men worshipped each Sunday. The men that were guarding Adams and Hancock escorted them out of harm's way shortly before the troops' appearance.

The heroic efforts of Pastor Clark and his brave church saved the lives of Adams and Hancock. Eight courageous men gave their lives protecting the leaders who would become two of America's great-est Founding Fathers. It is not exaggeration to say that Pastor Jonas Clark and his men are as important to the story of America's independence as any of our Founding Fathers.

The eight heroes who died that day are: Robert Munroe, Jonas Parker, Samuel Hadley, Jonathan Harrington, Jr., Isaac Muzzy, Caleb Harrington, and John Brown, all of Lexington, and Mr. Porter of Woburn.

When the British troops marched forward to cross the Concord Bridge, hundreds of colonists arrived to defend it. An intense battle ensued as the British troops were routed and then retreated to Boston. America's War for Independence had begun.

The key aspects of this historic day are often hidden by historians: 1) it was an attempted gun confiscation by the British troops that ignited America's War for Independence, and 2) it was a pastor and his congregation that accounted for most of the "Minutemen" who engaged in the initial skirmish of the Revolution.

The church was at the hub of the rebellion. Brave pastors of Colonial America were the children of the Pilgrims.

James Caldwell, John Peter Muhlenberg, Joab Houghton, and Jonas Clark among others are remembered as patriots and preachers whose inspiration, leadership and personal sacrifice led to the United State of America.

James Caldwell was called 'The Rebel High Priest' or 'The Fighting Chaplain.' The British hated Caldwell so intensely that they murdered his wife, Hannah, in her own home, as she sat with her children on her bed. Later, a fellow and then, major general. He participated in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, Monmouth, and Yorktown. He went on to serve in both the US House of Representatives and US Senate.

Joab Houghton was in the Hopewell (New Jersey) Baptist Meeting House before services when he received information regarding the battles at Lexington and Concord. He stopped people before entering the building to explain the news of the battles.

He said slowly to a somber crowd, "Men of New Jersey, the red coats are murdering our brethren of New England! Who follows me to Boston?" And every man in the audience stepped out of line, and answered, "I!" It is recorded that there was not a coward or a traitor at the old Hopewell Baptist Meeting-House that day.

When you read of the Minutemen of Lexington, those were members of Jonas Clark's church. "It would not be beyond the truth to assert that there was no person at that time and in that vicinity – not only no clergyman but no other person of whatever calling or profession, who took a firmer stand for the liberties of the country, or was more ready to perform the duties and endure the sacrifices of a patriot, than the minister of Lexington."

Does this species of clergymen still exist today or did it pass like the dinosaurs?
