NYWD Investigation Results

by John Mistler

Brownsville, Ca.

After five months of investigation of the North Yuba Water District (NYWD); the conclusions were that "the investigation did not find credible evidence of an intentional omission of facts, misrepresentation, or fabrication of data that would alter the eligibility of the grant application."

For five months there were weekly accusations from the Yuba Water Alliance, a local group of citizens, not all NYWD customers, whose contact person is Alton Wright, painting a picture of corruption and fraud on the part of the NYWD Board and the General Manager, Jeff Maupin,

Some of the e-mail headlines: "Do they really believe it's right to lie on applications and defraud taxpayers?" "Once again, someone at NYWD is lying" "NYWD's never-ending negligence is now a public safety issue."

The actual findings of the investigation by the State Water Resources Control Board, Office of Enforcement (Fraud, Waste, and Abuse Prevention Unit are:

"The investigation did not find credible evidence of an intentional omission of facts, misrepresentation, or fabrication of data that would alter the eligibility of the grant application. The Quit Claim relationship between NYWD and SFWPA was provided in the application. Reliable aluminum data showing exceedances of the MCL in the ditch water was provided by the NYWD in their application, and that data was not treated by the DFA as significant in ranking the application. The DFA acknowledged the benefit to irrigation water customers as well as to domestic users in their evaluation of the application prepared by Northstar and Mr. Maupin on behalf of the NYWD. The grant application was reviewed, in accordance with the DFA's standard practice, in a 19-step process documented in the application assessment package. The application package provided by NYWD was compliant with State Water Board requirements, and as a result the Forbestown Ditch Planning Project was determined to be eligible for funding."

The entire investigation can be seen on eterritorial.com September 9, 2019 issue

County Wins Even by Losing

by Lou Binninger

In 2018, County Administrator (CAO) Robert Bendorf and the Yuba County Supervisors made a determination to seek a 1% sales tax increase to "save public safety." The scheme to sell the increase as a public safety tax but then put it on the ballot as a general fund tax has undermined the credibility of the Board of Supervisors and the county administration.

The supervisors' excuse that they would put this measure on the ballot and "let the people decide" was a "heads I win and tails you lose" ploy. They played the citizens and/or they followed their CAO's deceptive lead.

The entire media campaign from multiple fliers designed to instill fear, public safety town hall meetings, fire and law enforcement themed signs, the sheriff chairing the campaign committee and the ballot ordinance itself shouted public safety is suffering, there is not enough money and we guarantee the money will go for public safety.

Bottom line, it was another "give us more" campaign touted with guarantees but it was all a mirage.

Up until the 1990s county general funds were sufficient to take care of law enforcement and fire needs. Then after the jail expansion in the early 1990s Sheriff Gary Tindel contracted out beds to the federal government and millions of dollars came to the county annually. The excess revenues over costs were a cash cow that supervisors had control over. The monies were fungible, produced by law enforcement, but could be directed anywhere in the county by supervisors and they were.

In the late 1990s and early 2000s, supervisors saw more money than ever before and began to raise salaries, even retroactively to the date of hire. That spiked salaries and pensions tremendously. In union negotiations supervisors would even pay the employee share of pension contributions (In the private sector, employees normally pay for their own pensions.)

The Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) money began to be known as ICE "Crack" around the sheriff's department making an analogy to the addictive quality of the drug "Crack" cocaine. County administration was living above its means, salaries and pensions had been spiked, supervisors' salaries were doubled, ICE and sheriff's funding diverted for other uses and then the 2006-7 housing crash occurred.

County leaders so overcommitted the budget that it was now a disaster. The final straw would have been losing the ICE contract which today brings in over $6 million a year and

by Lou Binninger

Each year the state legislature passes more than 900 laws by finding something new the citizens are doing wrong. We started with the Ten Commandments but now have thousands of laws in the "Golden State" to keep us in check?

The most egregious law breakers are those that make them. In fact, law makers live like they are above the law.

The Freedom of Information Act instructs government to provide requested documents in 10 days but it took months for Yuba County to produce the initial costs of the Measure K campaign. In fact, using the public's money for a campaign to convince people that they should pay more taxes is illegal but it was done by Yuba County Supervisors anyway.

The free speech clauses of the Federal and State Constitutions prohibit the use of governmentally compelled monetary contributions (including taxes) to support or oppose political campaigns since "Such contributions are a form of speech, and compelled speech offends the First Amendment." Smith v. U.C. Regents (1993) 4 Cal.4th 843, 852.

And, the "Use of the public treasury to mount an election campaign which attempts to influence the resolution of issues which our Constitution leaves to the 'free election' of the people (see Const., art. II, § 2) ... presents a serious threat to the integrity of the electoral process." Stanson v. Mott (1976) 17 Cal.3d 206, 218.

Yuba County has been spending money furiously for legal fees, public relations and campaign paraphernalia now for 2 years to trip-up voters. There really is no one to hold them accountable. The district attorney who is supposed to be impartial and prosecuting wrong doing was an advocate of the campaign.

Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Books & More is planning their annual vacation closing starting October 23 and running for two weeks, re-opening Nov. 6. Yvonne and crew will be taking a much-needed change of venue. We will be observing Halloween, however, with our annual book give-away as our "Treat" Halloween evening.

The Brownsville Farmer's Market has almost completed its first year at Ponderosa Park. It was a big move and the organizers wondered how the move in location would work. It has been going now since May and all is going well. There are only three more market sessions left for this year, though. If you have not made it to the market yet, or even if you have, please come on by and get some locally grown produce, check out the home baked goods, take a look at the crafts and more. There are melons, peaches, tomatoes, blueberries and many more foods to choose from. A hot lunch is available and often there is some music in the afternoon. There are children's activities planned. The last day is October 5, so plan on stopping by.

Monday, September 23, is the first day of Autumn. At last the hot days of summer will slowly be replaced with the cool, crisp days of Autumn. The scent of early morning woodstove fires, leaves gently drifting to the ground, dew on the grass and the honk of geese making their way south. I'm already pulling out my jeans, sweatshirts, flannels and boots.

If you're expecting out of town visitors or just looking for something fun to do on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon, try the North Sierra Wine Trail. There are fourteen exceptional wineries along the trail that weaves its way through Live Oak, Oroville, Bangor, Oregon House and Dobbins. Pack your picnic basket, load up the gang and head out for a beautiful drive and a day of wine tasting. For winery locations, hours of operation, etc. check out www.northsierrawinetrail.com. Please remember to bring along a designated driver.

Look Back in Time – In 1898 F. G. Kelly was conducting evening classes in German and Latin at New York Flat (people from around the world were there).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Associations use prescribed fires to manage land

The use of controlled fires to prevent wildfires and meet other land management goals has dwindled in California--but there's new interest among landowners and public agencies in reviving the practice. The first

"prescribed burn association" in the West formed in Humboldt County last year, and new associations are being created in other Northern California regions. The associations allow landowners to pool resources to manage controlled burns.

Dogs detect plant-

disease bacteria in citrus groves

Dogs trained to detect bacteria that cause a fatal plant disease found signs of the bacteria in Ventura County citrus groves, and farmers have begun removing trees as a result. The detector dogs check citrus trees for the bacterium that causes HLB, which has killed trees at Southern California residences but has not been found in a commercial grove. After the dogs alerted to more than 200 trees, farmers agreed to remove the trees as a precaution.

UC helps residents combat citrus threat

To prevent the citrus disease HLB from spreading, University of California specialists recommend Southern California homeowners remove citrus trees within two miles of known HLB infections. UC created a web app so residents can enter an address and see how close they are to confirmed HLB outbreaks.

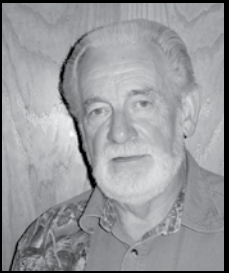

CRITIC'S CORNER
by Matt Woolery
It Chapter Two
Starring: Jessica Chastain, James McAvoy, and Bill Hader. Rated: R, Runtime: 2 hours, 49 minutes.

A group of adults are reminded of an oath they swore as children, to come back to their home town and fight a recurring evil that preys on innocent victims. Feeding on their fears as well as their flesh. It Chapter Two, earns three out of five, Cheeky Knife Monkeys. The story meanders along at a measured pace and echoes, It Chapter One, in several ways except with more finality. The acting is well done with the kids coming back to add to their performance value. The special effects fit perfectly with psionic attacks and psychotic slashers. This is not a great movie, but it is an entertaining one. Not a waste of money if you catch the early showing for $6.75. Stephen King, fans will not be disappointed or maybe they will, who knows what goes on in their twisted minds?

FISHIN' TALK
by Boots Johnson
Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

Some leaves have fallen and nights have been a bit cooler. The next five or six days will be pleasant without the hot afternoons. This is a sure sign Fall is just around the corner.

October is the month to catch the big trout along with their smaller cousins. This time of year and into October trout in the streams, rivers and creeks of the Golden State are feeding heavily in preparation for the coming days and night of winter. The food supply has reduced due to most of the insect hatches being over and done with. Don't get me wrong.....there are still insects in the water, but fewer can be had for a trout to feed on.

It always pays to know the water, to be able to read the signs. Only in this way can you catch lots of trout and also have a chance at hooking into the big trout which live in streams and rivers. The fish will hold in certain parts of the water, usually where the current is a bit slower. This can be caused by underwater obstacles such as boulders, submerged tree branches or roots and stumps. A natural dam created by debris and logs will always hold trout in the pond created by same. Look for a change in the water surface such as a swirl or "V" shaped area. Always observe across the stream to find where the fast water meets the slower water. Look for it and you will find it...a change in the surface. Remember that when the fast white water slows and turns green or blue this is where to find a trout willing and able to end up in your creel.

Presentation is also important. By this I mean dropping that fly or gob of red worms above the spot you figure the trout are holding and let the natural current flow deliver the bait makes it look more natural and will not spook the trout. The worse thing a person can do is plop the bait right on top of the trout. Let the current present you're offering. This also goes for cut banks where trout like to hide.

Never, ever let your shadow be seen on the water and when you approach a good spot to fish walk quietly because your vibrations caused by heavy walking will be felt by the trout. I have actually crawled to a stream and flipped my line into the water. Silly? No, not if it catches fish and I have caught hundreds of feisty rainbows, browns and brook trout in the streams, creeks and rivers of the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Boot's fishing tip of the week: "When trout fishing in the high country never wear bright colors but always greys and browns."

At the same time, UC master gardeners recommend alternative fruit trees to replace citrus trees in the affected areas.

Project intends to aid salmon, sturgeon

A fish habitat project north of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta will proceed, according to an announcement Tuesday from a federal agency. The U.S. Bureau of Reclamation says it will work with the state Department of Water Resources on a project to improve fish passage in the Yolo Bypass. The project is intended to allow salmon and sturgeon to move more easily to the Sacramento River during the winter season.

County Wins Even by Losing

funds a much bigger jail operation than needed for just local inmates. However, the county can't live without it.

Supervisors had diverted monies from public safety and now were short. From the housing crash to the 2019-20 budget though revenues increased, the costs of pensions and health insurance devoured revenues due to financial guarantees made in high times. The unfunded pension liability had now become a threat to all county services.

Although Measure K advocates celebrated their devious triumph of 53% at the polls Superior Court Judge Stephen Berrier invalidated the measure saying it needed the higher win margin (2/3s of vote) being a special tax versus a general tax.

The additional 1% tax began being charged in April 2019 while the court fight over K proceeded. And, though Berrier agreed with the plaintiffs (opponents of the tax) Yuba County is appealing the ruling. The tax (millions of dollars) will continue to be collected which the average person believes should never have been assessed in the first place while the measure was being legally contested.

Should Measure K be invalidated upon appeal the money will still go to Yuba County coffers. Citizens and their monies have been entrapped by this illegal tax and it is to the government's advantage to stretch out the appeal process because the jurisdiction benefits in the end win or lose.

Hundreds of thousands of tax dollars were illegally squandered paying for a campaign to deceptively convince voters to assess themselves more taxes. This is in violation of people's freedom of speech according to both the Federal and State Constitution. Citizens paid for the campaign against them, paid the tax, paid the county's hired attorneys and will lose the taxes assessed even if they win the case against Measure K.

The 2019-20 budget has now been passed with additional funding going to public safety without a cent of Measure K tax. So why was Measure K needed?

If you ever wondered why the founding fathers hated and feared big government this is why.

Law Makers and Law Breakers

People were shocked that the County Supervisors were able to vote to appeal Judge Stephen Berrier's ruling against Measure K so quickly and in secret. The county attorney had begun putting the item on the meeting agenda to comply with the Brown Act so the Supervisors could address a defeat when it came. The Brown Act was created to keep the people's business in the open rather than being done behind closed doors. Since Measure K had been a very public debate and a measure put on the ballot by the board why did they meet in closed session following the judge's ruling? It was inappropriate and unethical.

The people had a right to hear and be heard by the board about the appeal of Measure K. There had been hundreds of thousands of their tax dollars flitted away, a public campaign and vote, and an open court proceeding. Social media had been alive with debate for months. What had to be kept confidential?

Now, some supervisors are blocking people from communicating with them via social media about Measure K. That is also against the law for elected officials. In Knight First Amendment Inst. at Columbia Univ. v. Trump, 928 F.3d 226, 230 (2d Cir. 2019), it was decided just months ago by the Federal Appellate Court that "the First Amendment does not permit a public official who utilizes a social media account for all manner of official purposes to exclude persons from an otherwise-open online dialogue because they expressed views with which the official disagrees."

The Appellate Court found the blocking unconstitutional, even though President Trump opened the account as a personal account before his presidency and would retain personal control over account after his presidency.

So, Supervisors Bradford and Fletcher along with any others utilizing blocking to censor speech of their constituents is illegal.

Finally, though not illegal, hypocrisy by county officials is troubling. The county administrator was quoted in the Appeal Democrat saying "It's unfortunate that out-of-town organizations and an ex-politician felt they had to twist the purpose of Measure K in order to undo the will of our voters."

Plaintiff Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association is the most highly respected public service nonprofit in the state helping people stay in their homes and protect their rights. And law firm Bell, McAndrews and Hilltack, LLP of Sacramento (representing Measure K opponents) is regarded as top election law experts in the state.

The county already had staff attorneys but hired a Nevada County law firm to defend Measure K and used an "award winning ballot measure consulting firm" from Oakland, CA. to snook-er the voters. In fact, the CAO doesn't even live in the community. Who actually "twisted the purpose of Measure K" is in the eye of the beholder and the courts.

Was the Bendorf's noted "ex-politician" John Mistler? Mistler served four years on the Yuba County Board of Supervisors, but most of his life he earned an honorable living doing carpentry, being a manager at Montgomery Wards, being a volunteer firefighter and owning the Territorial Dispatch newspaper.

Sociology, not science.

Ever since stock markets existed, people have tried to find the Holy Grail as to predicting what a particular stock or index would do, how much and in which direction it would go and when would it go there.

There are technical analysts who might stare at a chart of price movements over a particular period of time and draw from that a conclusion as to future movements. Some tout seasonal tendencies for movements such as stocks fall in the fall, or "sell stocks in May and go away" as the saying goes, then buy them back in November. There is one for presidential cycles, who wins the Super bowl and even one based on the length of women's skirts. The various prognostications obviously run the gamut from highly technical to ludicrous. Heck, I knew a woman who would shake some wooded cubes with symbols on them that only she understood and depending on the shake, would then buy or sell a certain security. Talk about leaving your money to chance! Hey, that reminds me of another game called gambling.

Actually the Wall Street Journal gained notoriety for the "dart board" test. It went along the lines that a monkey with box of darts tossing them at the Journals' stock ticker pages could make more money than most professional money managers. The WSJ had their employees play the monkeys and hurl the darts. The contest has been held 100 times and the pro's lead by a score of 61 to 39 (Investorhome.com).

The returns in percentages are higher than the numerical score so don't hire a group of monkeys and go out and buy some darts. But the difference between the two groups is embarrassingly smaller than one would have thought.

Other popular theories are the Santa Claus rally and the January effect. The bearded fat man in the red suit theory assumes people in the festive mood of holiday season would buy stocks based on how good they felt during this time of year. The time period affected would be the last week of December to the first two trading days of January of the New Year.

Another theory is the January effect. This is based on the idea that year end stock selling to harvest tax losses versus gains meant (Santa Claus effect put aside now) that more stocks than usual would be sold in December improve a better tax situation and then in January all that money would come flooding back into the markets.

Needless to say if any of these were foolproof the word would be out and the house would rig the game against such methods. Alas we see no such rules set by the authorities forbidding investors from betting their hard earned savings based on such silliness which tells us none of these theories hold much water.

Sure, perhaps some statistics might lean one way or another as statistics are rarely in perfect balance but the bottom line is none of these or any other methods or systems, manmade or computer generated can predict the ups and downs of markets, although there are Charlatans' out there that would try and convince you otherwise.

The reason is the same as to why a degree in Economics is a Bachelor of Arts and not Bachelor of Sciences degree. It's because the stock markets are said to be a study of human sociology and not a study of science. Science, like math, has definite truths, absolute cause and effects, and irrefutable conclusions given a certain set of circumstances. The movement of markets however, is just the sum of all the beliefs of all the millions of investors in it at any given time. And that my friend is sociology, not science.

Tell me what hundreds of millions of people will do at any given day in the market as a whole and the stock market will be your oyster. But then again, that's not quite possible is it?

WE WON! Measure K Overturned

by John Mistler

The Yuba County Board of Supervisors once again sold out the citizens of Yuba County. The board immediately chose to appeal the judge's decision, subjecting the citizens to the illegal tax.

Even with the judge's ruling last week the county will continue collecting invalid tax during the appeal process. Thousands of Yuba County citizens will continue paying the unlawful tax. After the appeal process the county will receive whatever is left over in the trust account. It is to the benefit of the swamp to drag out the process and rob as many citizens as they can before they lose completely. While there is a process for taxpayers to seek refunds, only taxpayers who have documented expenditures of $5,000 or more may seek such refunds. All other taxpayers are deprived of the opportunity to seek any refund or other relief.

The swamp believes the supporters of No on Measure K are going against the will of the people. It is clear that the Yuba County Swamp believes it is ok to lie to the voters promising them security and after the election saying they will put the money in the general fund, it was never about fire and safety, it was about paying public employee retirement.

This is a classic case of "justice delayed is justice denied." Yuba County taxpayers should not be forced to endure a plainly illegal tax. These are tax burdens that some county residents and voters can't afford.

Is the Alliance and the Vision the Same?

The North Yuba Water Alliance, controls the Yuba Vision Blog and the website North Yuba Water Alliance. I believe that both are controlled by Alton Wright. He sends out press releases from The North Yuba Water Alliance to his Yuba Vision Blogs as facts. Then he anonymously replies with his opinion signing off as Yuba Vision.

A couple of weeks ago he sent out a flyer that showed the North Yuba Water District didn't have their facts correct and that his facts were correct. At a meeting of the North Yuba Water District his facts were corrected by the district. This type of public deception should not be allowed but it goes on. I believe that Wright was behind the North Yuba Water Alliance request for a very nasty investigation creating havoc for the North Yuba Water Directors. The investigation cleared the water district from any wrong doing. Instead of an apology the North Yuba Water Alliance said, "All is not over."

Wright or whoever is stirring this up does not have expertise or knowledge, but believe they are smarter than the engineers, and staff at the North Yuba Water District.

Lastly the Alliance and Vision are always promoting Director Dr. Flohr and how badly she is treated by the all male board. I think the doctor brings good questions and thoughts, most of the time, to the board. The fact that she has a lawsuit against the board may account for a less than harmonious relationship.

NYWD Director Flohr and the "Alliance"

Just two weeks ago, I addressed the efforts of Director Flohr, assisted by the North Yuba Water "Alliance", to stop any progress on improving/upgrading our water system. On September 9, 2019 these two obstructionist received some very bad news from the State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB). The Flohr and "Alliance" fabricated and baseless complaints against our Water District (North Yuba Water District) and the $500,000 Grant we were to receive for Water Improvements was found without merit. The SWRCB found that our Water District was in full compliance with the Grant Application. The "Alliance" has already released unsolicited emails stating it does not agree with the SWRCB and vows to continue their own investigation. Why are they so against our Water District improving and conserving our water system?

For the past several months, the "Alliance" has released numerous statements alleging our Water District as being involved in fraud, lying and never ending negligence. The "Alliance" was betting on a roll of the dice and a different outcome on the SWRCB investigation. Up rolls snake eyes, they lost. It should also be noted that all of the "Alliance" allegations and postings never have an author's signature. Another roll of the dice and a resulting snake eyes. I recently received an unsolicited email from Alton Wright, where he made it clear that he is a Manager of both the North Yuba Water Alliance and Yuba Vision Sites. Any questions related to the actions of these sites could be directed to him.

The spotlight must be turned up on Director Flohr. In addition to her being opposed to a one half million dollar Grant from the SWRCB, she recently, as a director on the North Yuba Water District Board voted against applying for a $225,725.00 Grant from the Yuba County Water Agency. Keep in mind a Grant is not a loan and a similar Grant was recently given to the Browns Valley Irrigation District from the Yuba County Water Agency. Why would Director Flohr vote against requesting additional funds to improve our water supply and quality?

In my opinion the North Yuba Water "Alliance" has conducted a baseless and false campaign against the good name of our Water District (North Yuba Water District), the District Manager and some District customers. The Alliance owes the North Yuba Water District a full and complete apology.

Also, in my opinion, Director Flohr has gone far beyond just a difference in opinions in her North Yuba Water District Board actions, she has become a destructive force in our communities, she should resign her position as a Board Director.

THINK About It!

By Charlie McNiff

The BIG FLY in the Ointment?

You can count the fingers on both hands (and maybe a couple of toes) for the number of people schooled in honest investigative reporting of the news of the day... particularly in the murky waters of Washington, D.C. Swamp and one of those to stand out as one of the earliest warriors in the small band of patriots in Tom Fitton, President of Judicial Watch.

Remember it Tom Fitton's Judicial Watch that broke open the Benghazi cover-up scandal under the then Secretary of State Hillary Clinton during President Obama's first four years in office. The following is just part of Fitton's investigative efforts that took his findings to judicial court to obtain information that Congressman Mark Meadows and Jim Jordan of the Republican Conservative Caucus have said, "We could never get information that Tom has uncovered by going through the court systems.

Rememeber, one of Hillary's sarcastic comments while being questioned by a Congressional Committee..."Does it REALLY make a difference?" Yes, Madam Secretary, it did matter a helluva lot... four Americans died that included Ambassador to Libya, a foreign service officer and two independent contractors whose job it was to protect he Embassy and you... and others high in government, that included President Obama tried to cover it up with a fabled video.

Following is a sprinkling of Judicial Watch's work:

Will Rod Rosenstein Ever Be Questioned About His Role in SpyGate Targeting of President Trump?

September 11, 2019

Judicial Watch announced that it filed a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) lawsuit against the U.S. Department of Justice for all records of communication of former FBI Deputy Director Andrew McCabe, the Office of the Attorney General Jeff Sessions, or the Office of Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein discussing the 25th Amendment or presidential fitness. Additionally, the lawsuit seeks all recordings made by any official in the Office of the Attorney General or Deputy Attorney General of meetings in the Executive Office of the President or Vice President. The suit was filed after the Justice Department failed to respond to three separate FOIA requests dated September 21, 2018 (Judicial Watch v. U.S. Department of Justice (No. 1:19-cv-00388)). The lawsuit seeks all written and audio/visual records of any FBI/DOJ discussions regarding the 25th Amendment and plans to secretly record President Trump in the Oval Office.

Rosenstein Coup Plan Involved Wearing A Wire, Invoking 25th Amendment, Appointing Special Counsel

Judicial Watch reports new documents reveal the Department of Justice made an effort to craft a response following then-Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein's 25th Amendment report.

TOM FITTON, JUDICIAL WATCH: This is the first official confirmation based on government documents that discussions took place or allegations that it took place. There was some testimony about it.

But here you have Rod Rosenstein and his team tried to craft a response, a non-denial denial to the allegations. When you look at the materials you see Rosenstein saying, "Hey, we're hopeful, we're successful in preventing people from talking about it." They changed the statement from a categorical denial -- Rod Rosenstein's direct statement -- from a categorical denial that discussions of the 25th Amendment did not take place to a less categorical denial.

So you have this confirmation that (a) they were talking about the 25th Amendment, (b) he was sarcastically talking about wearing a wire with the president of the United States, and you have to remember that those coup discussions involved three topics: (1) wearing a wire, (2) invoking the 25th Amendment, (3) and appointing a special counsel. And we know the special counsel was appointed. All part of the same scheme.

Rod Rosenstein plotted Trump coup, Judicial Watch says ...

Former Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein acknowledged he discussed with the FBI of wearing a wire when talking to President Trump but insisted the comment was in jest amid tumultuous times at the Justice Department.

His acknowledgment is contained in a series of emails exchanged in 2018 in response to a New York Times story. The September 2018 story was apparently sourced to fired Deputy FBI Director Andrew McCabe, a fierce enemy of the president's and now Democratic Party backer.

The emails were obtained under the Freedom of Information Act by Judicial Watch, a conservative investigative non-profit.

Judicial Watch President Tom Fitton said the emails stand as more evidence that the FBI mounted a coup to try to bring down Mr. Trump.

"It is remarkable that Judicial Watch has done more to investigate the DOJ/FBI's discussions about overthrowing President Trump than the DOJ or Congress," Mr. Fitton also said on Wednesday, September 11th, "These documents essentially confirm the coup discussions about wearing a wire when speaking with President Trump and plans to remove him under the 25th Amendment."

Charlie's Comments: Is Rosenstein trying to cover his rump? We'll see, upcoming Congressional and Senate hearings will fill out the story.

Ref: "Rest of the Story"

In the article "Rest of the Story" Mr. Wickman is not correct. He presumes that because he says it his version is true. Is he saying it's ok to lie in order to get a grant? Is that how he wants taxpayer funding spent? Director Flohr fabricated nothing. She presented facts. The truth is visible. Unbiased people will discern the facts for themselves.

HJTA Wins Lawsuit to Stop Use of Public Funds for Campaigns

The Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association and retired state Senator and Judge Quentin L. Kopp prevailed Monday (26) in a lawsuit to invalidate Senate Bill 1107, a 2016 California law that would have allowed political campaigns to be financed with taxpayer dollars.

“California voters passed Proposition 73 partly to prohibit taxpayer dollars from being used as political slush funds,” said Jon Coupal, President of HJTA. “If politicians want to change that, they have to take the issue back to the voters.”

In a unanimous decision, the Third District Court of Appeal ruled that voters outlawed public funding of political campaigns when they adopted Proposition 73, co-authored by Kopp, in 1988.

Proposition 73 provided, “No public officer shall expend and no candidate shall accept any public moneys for the purpose of seeking elective office.” Senate Bill 1107 would have provided instead that “a candidate may expend or accept public moneys for the purpose of seeking elective office.” The Legislature, in passing Senate Bill 1107, included a finding that the bill furthered the purposes of Proposition 73. The Court of Appeal rejected that finding.

Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association opposed SB 1107 and consistently opposes public funding of campaigns.

HJTA and Kopp are represented by Charles H. Bell, Jr., a leading California political law attorney with the firm of Bell, McAndrews and Hiltachk; Anthony T. (Tom) Caso, with the Center for Constitutional Jurisprudence; and Allen Dickerson, with the Center for Competitive Politics.

U.S. D.O. Justice Agrees That CalSavers Program is Illegal

Friday September 13, 2019 the United States Department of Justice filed a “Statement of Interest” in the U.S. District Court agreeing with the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association (HJTA) in its legal action against California’s so-called “CalSavers” program. Originally called “Secure Choice,” CalSavers is a state-run retirement plan for private-sector employees. HJTA contends that it is an illegal program that leaves taxpayers, businesses and private sector employees exposed to unnecessary costs and risks.

“We are very pleased that the United States Department of Justice agrees with our core position that the program is facially invalid under the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA).” said HJTA president Jon Coupal.

He added, “There is no need for this program. Private employees already have access to Social Security which is backed by the Full Faith and Credit of the federal government. Moreover, individual retirement accounts (IRAs) are easy to set up. Given the poor performance of CalPERS and CalSTRS, both in terms of investment performance and governance, why would we give state politicians and bureaucrats access to another pension program?”

The case is currently pending in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of California.

View Wild Chinook Salmon on the Yuba River

Registration is open for the South Yuba River Citizens League’s (SYRCL) 2019 Salmon Expeditions. Join SYRCL’s River Science staff, trained naturalists, and river guides from H2O Adventures for a float trip down the Lower Yuba to see spawning salmon. The day on a raft includes opportunities to learn about the Yuba River ecosystem, how mining has impacted the river, and how SYRCL is working to protect salmon. View one of SYRCL’s restoration projects at Hammon Bar and explore the Yuba Goldfields.

“This is an unforgettable opportunity to explore the Lower Yuba River,” says SYRCL’s River Education Manager, Rachel Lubitz. “Get outdoors, and on the water to witness the spectacular journey of wild Chinook salmon as they make their way from the ocean back to where they hatched. Participants will learn about the salmon life cycle and the impact humans have on these incredible fish.”

Salmon Raft Expeditions begin on the main stem of the Yuba River at Parks Bar, just below the Highway 20 Bridge, and end at Sycamore Ranch Park. The run is about five miles long and the trip takes approximately six hours with stops.

Interested in connecting youth with the river? SYRCL is seeking volunteer naturalists to educate youth about the watershed, salmon life cycles, ecology and human impact on the Yuba watershed. Staff and volunteer naturalists introduce students to the spectacular journey of wild Chinook salmon as they make their way from the ocean to their ancestral spawning waters. Our program’s field trips run every weekday from October 7-November 15.

Sacramento Democrats Crush Californians’ Dreams AB 5 Kills Independent Contracting and Flexible Hours

Along party lines, Sacramento Democrats ended millions of Californians’ ability to earn a living while working flexible hours that fit their schedules. Citing the support of groups that received special exemption from the legislation, Sacramento Democrats passed Assembly Bill 5, a measure to redefine the definition of “employee” and require millions of independent contractors to be classified as employees.

“California has become a hostile place to do business,” Senator Jim Nielsen (R-Tehama) said. “Tonight, the Legislature turned this hostility toward millions of independent contractors. With the exception of a few professions, Assembly Bill 5 will restrict a worker’s ability to work flexible hours that fit their needs.”

Specifically, AB 5 would codify and apply the state Supreme Court’s misguided decision in Dynamex Operations W. v. Superior Court, which prohibits independent contracting unless very restrictive conditions are met. The burden of proof is placed on employers.

Senator Nielsen added, “The quality of life will change for many families who rely on the flexibility to tend to children and/or their elderly relatives. North state residents have loudly expressed their concerns.”

Senator Nielsen’s office received 770 correspondences regarding AB 5 and only 33 supported this measure. AB 5 now moves back to the Assembly for concurrence, before heading to the Governor’s desk for his decision, and he is expected to sign it into law.

Yuba County Board Adopts 2019-2020 Budget

Marysville, Ca.

The Yuba County Board of Supervisors this week passed the final $227 million 2019-20 budget, which sets aside more funds to guard against any future downturn in the economy.

In a presentation at the September 10 Board meeting, Yuba County Administrator Robert Bendorf noted the Reserve Fund reached historical highs of $3.7 million—a $1.6 million increase from the 2018-19 budget. He said that puts reserves at 11 percent of the General Fund, exceeding the county’s policy level of 5 percent and going beyond the Board’s stated goal of 10 percent.

In addition, the budget also includes a newly-adopted $1.5 million Fund for Economic Uncertainties.

Other notable facets of the budget include:

- $250,000 in additional funds is set aside for the pension liability fund established earlier this year.
- Half a million dollars in one-time funding goes to the County Capital Improvement Fund for future technological enhancements or replacements of aging public administration and public safety legacy systems.
- Code Enforcement receives an additional $300,000 in one-time funding to help address complaints related to homelessness, blighted properties and other activities.
- Bendorf said the budget sets the stage to effectively serve Yuba County residents, having met the goals of the Board while also looking to the future of making Yuba County a thriving place to live, work, and play.

The tentative budget was adopted in June of this year, to meet mandated requirements to have a budget in place by the July 1 start to the fiscal year. The adoption of the final budget consistently occurs in September, after the county is able to get better estimates on funding sources and anticipated expenses.

The final budget now heads to the county Auditor-Controller’s Office, which will file the document with the state Controller’s Office by December 1. The final budget will be posted on the Yuba.org website shortly after this process is completed.

Large Marijuana Grow North of “Beer Can Beach”

Linda, CA – On September 4, 2019, Yuba County Sheriff’s Department and Net-5 located a large outdoor marijuana grow at the Yuba River north of what is known as “Beer Can Beach” in Linda. No suspects were located at the grow site; but a hose line leading from the river to the garden was located along with over 480 Marijuana plants. The grow site was discovered following an anonymous report from a citizen.

This is another example of illegal water diversion and environmental/fish and wildlife violation issues surrounding illegal cannabis grows in Yuba County.
