The Great Race Coming to Grass Valley on June 24

Grass Valley, CA.

On Monday, June 24, 2019 downtown Grass Valley will travel back in time as over 120 vintage road racers will rumble down East Main then onto Mill Street in the only stop for the Great Race in the Sacramento area.

The Great Race is a one-of-a-kind event held each year at a different location/route in the U.S. In 2019 the Great Race will begin in Riverside, CA on Saturday, June 22 and end in Tacoma, WA on Sunday, June 30. The race will stop for lunch in Grass Valley on Monday, June 24, with the first car coming into town at approximately 12pm, and the final car leaving at approximately 3pm.

A time-speed endurance rally for vintage cars 1974 and older, the Great Race began in 1983 as a means of celebrating classic cars and the American landscape with entrants vying for prize money. The 2019 Great Race prize purse is $150,000. Teams and cars from Japan, England, Germany, Canada and every corner of the United States will be participating in their vintage automobiles dating back as far as 1916.

“There are more than 500 people just in our entourage from all around the world taking part in this incredible adventure,” director Jeff Stumb said.

To celebrate this historic race, Nevada County Habitat for Humanity and Grass Valley Downtown Association have partnered to hold a downtown rally where people can get an up-close experience of these vintage road machines. The event begins at 11am and ends at 4pm. Portions of Main and Mill Street will be closed to create a lunchtime pit stop for racers, while also accommodating a classic car show by the local Roamin’ Angels car club. Making this event possible are sponsors Douglas Automotive, RCD Engineering and Owens Estate and Wealth Strategies Group.

“When the Great Race pulls into a city it becomes an instant festival,” Stumb said. “Last year we had a couple of overnight stops with more than 10,000 spectators on our way to having 250,000 people see the Great Race during the event.”

The event is an excellent opportunity to witness cars dating back as far as the early 1900’s in peak operation as they enter and exit the staging area in historic downtown Grass Valley, creating a unique aural and visual spectacle. A 1916 Hudson Pikes Peak Hillclimber, a 1916 Chevrolet Phaeton, a 1917 Peerless Racer and a chain-driven 1918 American LaFrance Speedster are the oldest cars scheduled to be in the 2019 Great Race.

Nevada County Habitat for Humanity became involved through board member Bill Croker. Croker is a 10-year veteran of the Great Race, and will be competing with his 1936 Packard. Three race teams from Grass Valley are entered into the race – the most ever from a town of its size. Joining Croker will be Den Reinholdt in his 1937 Packard, and Robert Brocke will be heading a high school team driving a 1972 Datsun. Each team is raising money for the Habitat mission by accepting mileage pledges from supporters.

Joint Eagle Scout Court of Honor Held

On Sunday, June 9th, a joint Eagle Scout Court of Honor was held by Troop 6400 sponsored by the Dobbins Oregon House Improvement Foundation and Troop 21 sponsored by the Marysville Elks Lodge. Five young men were honored for their achievement of the coveted rank of Eagle Scout. Only about 3% of those who join the Boy Scouts of America ever reach this plateau. The Butte Area District Chair, Martha Duran, convened the Court of Honor. Other dignitaries that participated were Bruce Dewey, program director and Dale Rohlfing, Asst Commissioner, and District Executive, Randee Lally. The event was organized by the Eagle Scout’s former leader, Michelle Stewart and the master of ceremonies was retired scout master Pete Hammontre. About fifty friends, family and members of scouting attended to pay homage to these fine young men and their spectacular accomplishments. We wish them well on their continued journey in life knowing that they will make a very positive difference in the world though which they pass.

Don’t Mess With The Sheriff

by Lou Binninger

California liberal legislators want to create citizen committees to rule over and supervise sheriffs elected in the state’s 58 counties. The ultimate goal is to see sheriffs appointed like Chiefs of Police, rather than elected.

Sacramento democrat Kevin McCarty’s Assembly Bill 1185 would establish citizen oversight boards for elected sheriffs in each county and even an Inspector General to investigate complaints involving law enforcement. The oversight panel and the Inspector General could come to be by a decision of the Board of Supervisors or by an election if AB 1185 becomes law.

The bill narrowly passed the Assembly. If it is approved by the Senate and signed by Gov. Gavin Newsom the Constitutional independence of the elected sheriff would be undermined.

The bill’s introduction states, “Existing law establishes the office of the sheriff in each county to preserve peace, and authorizes the sheriff to sponsor, supervise, or participate in any project of crime prevention, rehabilitation of persons previously convicted of crime, or the suppression of delinquency. Existing law requires a Board of Supervisors (BOS) to supervise the official conduct of all county officers and ensure that they faithfully perform their duties.”

AB 1185 would add a new level of governance over the sheriff.

The current requirement of the BOS to “supervise the official conduct of elected officials” etc. is a puzzler. Exactly what would the BOS do to address ethical, moral or legal failure by an elected official?

The Sutter County BOS claimed they could do nothing after former District Attorney (DA) Carl Adams had a moral failure with an escort whom he granted immunity in a murder trial and then lied to a Yuba City Police Investigator about it. The DA’s office was said to be a sexually charged environment where one employee sued for sexual harassment and prevailed.

The Sutter County BOS then sided with troubled District Attorney Amanda Hopper in her mission to slander and fire investigator Jason Parker even after a Sacramento Administrative Law Judge agreed with Parker that he should get his job back.

The Sutter County BOS has also done nothing publically to ad-

No Fathers Not Slavery the Problem

by Lou Binninger

When certain black-Americans blame their unemployment, lack of success, educational underachievement and incarceration on events happening to Africans in the 18th and 19th centuries, can anyone think of other ethnic groups suffering injustice and then later generations getting a free pass by society?

How about the children of Israel or Jews that have suffered worldwide with more than 6 million of their people killed during WWII. Furthermore, for thousands of years they were enslaved, persecuted and exterminated.

They asked to return to their homeland of Israel following WWII, it was granted them, and the place was a disaster. Though they were and are regularly threatened with annihilation they complain not, but have caused their desert home to bloom and thrive.

African slaves were bought to the 13 Colonies and throughout the Americas for farm labor and held “against their will.” Land in Liberia was purchased by the U.S. and an offer made to freed slaves to return to Africa. Very few did. Today, Africans want to move to America.

In 1975 and thereafter millions of democracy-loving Vietnamese were killed, put in re-education camps or drowned trying to float their way to freedom. Most of the tens of thousands of refugees in Hong Kong were forcefully repatriated to Vietnam to be treated as traitors by the communists.

A quick review of the hundreds of millions of dead representing hundreds of ethnic groups suffering persecution (in Soviet Union, China, North Korea, Laos, Cambodia, Vietnam, Myanmar, Africa and elsewhere) may offer perspective to American blacks wanting reparations, entitlements etc.

There is no evidence that slavery, 150 plus years ago, is still affecting blacks today. The true culprit is the modern welfare state and the War of Poverty launched in the 1960’s by Democrat President Lyndon Johnson. Welfare, not slavery caused the black family to fail quickly. Economists have known this all along but the slavery excuse must live – on.

Black economist Walter Williams says, “The No. 1 problem among blacks is the effects stemming from a very weak family structure. Children from fatherless homes are likelier to drop out of high school, die by suicide, have behavioral disorders, join gangs, commit crimes and end up in prison. They are also likelier to live in poverty-stricken households. But is the weak black family a legacy of slavery?”

In 1960, only 22 percent of black children were raised in sin-

Disaster Preparedness For Your Pets

by Belinda Newton DVM

Melinda Newton, DVM is a veterinary practitioner and free-lance writer located in Northern California. Dr. Newton works with AnimalSave in Grass Valley in their spay and neuter clinic, and assists with other community outreach activities. To schedule an appointment for your dog, cat, or rabbit please call AnimalSave at 530-477-1706.

When the call comes to get out, have you prepared to take your pets with you? Natural disaster is a risk no matter where you've made your home in northern California: flooding in the valley, fire in the hills, and an earthquake anytime.

There is growing recognition that our pets, such as cats and dogs, are considered members of the family and need to be included in a disaster preparedness program. After you've reviewed the numerous guidelines available to keep the humans in your family safe, consider these practical suggestions to protect the furry members of your family.

Microchip

The risk of getting separated from your dog or cat during a crisis is high. All it takes is an open car door and a cat that can't be found, or a dog that slips its collar and runs. Taking the time to implant a small microchip, about the size of a grain of rice, into the pet's scruff can make the difference between reuniting with your pet, or not.

One common misconception about microchips is that anyone with a microchip scanner will have your personal information. This is not true! When an animal with a microchip is scanned a unique number of 10-15 digits appears on the scanner screen. The number is reported to the microchip database, where the number and contact information can be matched. The microchip databases will only release contact information to certain organizations such as shelters, which will reconnect you with your pet. This is why it's so important to periodically check your pet's microchip contact information in the database. The information is only as good as the last time you updated it.

Current photos

The latest selfie pic with your cat, showing off its gorgeous eyes is great for posting on social media, but not so great for finding them in the chaos after a disaster. Take a few quick pictures in good lighting of your pet from each side, including the front. If there are any unique distinguishing marks, take pictures of those too. Keep the pictures in a safe location that will be accessible if you are away from home, such as an online cloud storage or a social media account.

Pack a Go-bag

A bag with your essentials is ready to go, but what do your pets need?

Pack important paperwork including a copy of the latest vaccines, rabies certificate, proof of license, and copy of their microchip number. If your pets are on any long-term medications that are not perishable, discuss including an extra week's supply in the bag with your veterinarian. You may also want to discuss whether it is appropriate to include any oral sedatives in the bag that might help your pet feel less stressed during and after an evacuation.

Include an extra collar and leash for each dog, and a water bowl. For cats, a good safety precaution is to keep collapsed cardboard carriers for each cat in your vehicle or underneath your go bag. Cats are safest when they are contained. They can easily escape from your arms and be difficult to retrieve in a stressful situation. In an emergency, pillowcases can be used to transport a cat to a vehicle or other contained location if a carrier is not available.

Remember that items such as pet food are often easy to obtain once you are in a safe place. For this reason I suggest not keeping food in the go-bag because it takes up unnecessary space, weight, and is a pest risk. However, if your pet is on a special diet because of a medical condition, consider packing a can of the appropriate food with a can opener.

Preparation and Training

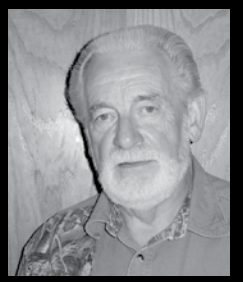

Remember, there are likely many animal lovers who will be in your same situation, and it may be crowded at shelter locations. Under stress, dogs and cats can behave unpredictably. The priority to is to keep all animals and humans safe. Keeping pets on leash and in carriers and kennels is the best way to ensure there are no accidents. All dogs should be able to wear a secure collar or harness if needed. Adjust these tight enough so a dog cannot back or twist its way out. Kennel training your dog will significantly lessen their stress if they need to be boarded or kept in a kennel at a shelter.

Not all recommendations may be appropriate for your specific situation, and it's important to always follow first-responder's instructions. Remember, you can't keep your pets safe if you don't first keep yourself safe. If your situation is complicated, with multiple animals and complex needs, consider evacuating or asking for help earlier than mandated. With thoughtful preparation and a plan in place, pet owners will greatly increase the chances that all family members, both human and furry, will escape whatever Mother Nature has in store next.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

If you are looking for some fun try the striped bass fishing in the Feather River. Cut bait is the name of the game and you can catch fish under 18 inches all day long with a keeper or two. Be gentle when you remove the hook so as to not injure the small stripers. These hard fighting fish are the ones we will enjoy next year.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife hit Nevada County last week. Catchable trout were planted in both Fuller Lake and Scotts Flat Reservoir. Fuller is one of my favorite places to fly fish. This small lake, which is located off of State Route 20 on the road to Bowman Reservoir. The lake is accessible by small boat, a float tube or kayak.

We will be at Lake Tahoe next week and will be fishing for Mackinaw Lake trout. These fish run large in Lake Tahoe but the average fish caught is in the 3 to 6 pound range and can be found down to over three hundred feet deep.

We have reports of shad swimming in just about all rivers in the Sacramento Valley. These cousins of the tarpon are cooperation, as usual, with anglers anxious to try their luck at catching these fish who put up one heck of a fight for their size.

Kokanee Salmon, which are found in many reservoirs throughout the state, are on the bite with Stampede Reservoir and Bullard's Bar Reservoir producing fish on a regular basis.

We are told the Thermal to After bay at Oroville recreational area is not producing any fish due to the cold water being pumped from the bottom of Oroville Reservoir on its way down the Feather River.

Access to Gold Lake and the region around it should be open by the time the Dispatch hits the streets. Gold Lake is still almost covered with snow. This is a real surprise to many since it is mid-June.

Access roads to Jackson Meadows Lake above Truckee is still closed at this time and there is an abundance of snow here which means it is not known when the lake will be accessible.

Many anglers who went to Hat Creek recently have been disappointed at the size of the trout they are catching. Bait fishermen are not doing much as far as size of fish goes with most pan size, but the fly anglers are scoring with bigger fish at this time.

Here it is the middle of June and the It is amazing what a wet year can do for fishing. Who knows..... we just might see an early salmon run.

Closing thought: "There are friends in life and there are friends for life....."

Northern California Military Veterans

Enjoy 2019 PGA Championship Experience

While Brooks Koepka took home the coveted Wanamaker Trophy as the 2019 PGA Champion, four military Veterans with disabilities from Northern California, including Mike Kopacz, a U.S. Soldier from Marysville, enjoyed a special experience during PGA Championship week.

After traveling 3,000 miles across the country, the Veterans representing the Northern California PGA Section, arrived at Bethpage State Park, Long Island, NY on Monday, May 13th to participate in the PGA HOPE Secretary's Cup, a spirited 9-hole golf competition for military Veterans that served as the kick-off to 2019 PGA Championship week.

The 4th Annual Secretary's Cup featured 12 teams competing in a scramble format on Bethpage State Park's composite Red and Blue layout. Each team consisted of 1 PGA Professional & 4 military Veterans living with physical or cognitive challenges including PTSD, TBI and amputees, among others.

Team Northern California was led by Bob Epperly, PGA Professional at Antelope Green Golf Course (Antelope, CA) and a military Veteran himself. In fact, Bob has been involved in PGA HOPE programming since its inception, and has been instrumental in launching and growing PGA HOPE programming Northern California Section. Epperly was joined by Gerry Skinner, U.S. Marine Corps; Valerie Grist, U.S. Air Force; Leavy Canalin, U.S. Air Force and Mike Kopacz, U.S. Army. In addition to the Northern California PGA Section, teams represented the Gateway, New Jersey, Metropolitan, Carolinas, Philadelphia and Western New York PGA Sections.

The participating military Veterans have all graduated the PGA HOPE (Helping Our Patriots Everywhere) program. PGA HOPE, the flagship military program of the Northern California PGA Foundation, the charitable foundation of the NCPGA, introduces golf to Veterans with disabilities to enhance their physical, mental, social and emotional well-being.

Golf has become a therapeutic part of the rehabilitation process for many Veterans with disabilities, as the PGA HOPE program features a 6-8 week instructional golf clinic, followed by a graduation, and on-course golfing opportunities. Today, PGA HOPE programs are currently being offered at over 90 locations in the U.S., positively impacting more than 2,000 Veterans annually. PGA HOPE programming is fully funded by NCPGA Foundation and offered at NO COST for military Veterans. The Northern California PGA Section is home to one of the most prolific PGA HOPE programs in the nation with 9 locations positively impacting more than 600 Veterans.

Former New York Mets 7-Time All-Star 3B, David Wright, who is the Honorary Ambassador of the 2019 PGA Championship, was on hand to congratulate the winning team.

With the 2020 PGA Championship coming to TPC Harding Park, the Secretary's Cup is sure to be a highlight of PGA Championship week, as the NCPGA Section prepares to host the event.

Tariff or Tax Credit

In a recent article from Money and Markets entitled “Fed: Tariffs Will Cost Average Family $831 More in 2019”, the argument was made that after the latest increase from 10% to 25% on $200 billion in tariffs on Chinese goods, the average U.S. family will pay $831 more a year for the same goods they bought last year. What the article didn’t include was the next round of tariffs on Mexican goods. Also not factored in is the rising costs of goods and services as a general result of inflation here in the United States. Indeed no one needs to remind you of the sudden increase is gasoline which pushed close to four dollars or more per gallon in recent months. This also means the approximate 6000 other things made out of petroleum will also likely go up in price.

The average American family is having a hard enough time making ends meet and the challenging effects of increasing prices undoubtedly put more strain on some families.

Tariffs are fees put on incoming goods coming from countries outside the U.S. under the auspices of protecting the American business counterpart of whatever it is you’re applying the tariff to, and/or punishing the other country for some egregious act or violation, as the case may be.

Tariffs are not new and usually there are tariffs on a variety of imports at any one time. To the degree we are seeing them now however is something of a rarity historically.

Because the price of something in the market place is somewhat arrived at by the sum of all prices of the item with slight variances off the average price to account for local demand and conveyance, raise the price of any one major supplier of something and the price of that something will rise. Since tariff money goes to into government coffers and the consumer ends up paying the higher price, tariffs are generally believed to be ultimately paid by the consumer.

I have made the argument in a previous article that should protection of U.S. companies selling into any market where imports are sold competitively, a tax CREDIT to the U.S. company would serve the same purpose. Although tariffs raise the price of a good to the consumer and therefore make a domestic made good that much cheaper in comparison, a tax credit would enable the U.S. company to sell its product cheaper and thus better compete with the import just the same. The difference being the average cost of the good would decrease thereby lowering the cost of the item to the consumer.

I don’t hear the argument for tax credits anywhere in the media and that’s baffling. Both a tariff and a tax credit accomplish the same thing which is to punish the importer and give an advantage to the domestic producer.

As to who pays the tariff and where the money ends up is quite different thing. In the case of the tariff Washington gets the money that the consumer pays in the price increase. In the case of a tax credit the consumer would pay less for the good and therefore have more money left over to spend on other things. In the latter, the economy would also benefit from higher consumer spending which came from the consumer having more money to spend because of the savings.

Food and Farm News

Rural regions prepare for power shutoffs

As utilities begin shutting off power in an effort to prevent wildfires, California farmers, ranchers and rural residents plan for ways to manage the power loss. Some say they may invest in generators to maintain water pumps for livestock and crops, plus produce-cooling equipment and other facilities. Farmers say they understand the rationale for the shutoffs and hope they succeed, and that power interruptions will be as short as possible.

Late-spring storms leave damage in their wake

Onions, tomatoes, cherries and cotton are among the crops damaged by late-spring storms in the Central Valley. Farmers, pest control advisers and agricultural commissioners say the crops suffered damage from hail or from plant diseases linked to the wet weather. Observers say the crop losses may be significant for individual farmers but not widespread enough to lead to disaster declarations in most cases.

Farm, food groups seek approval of trade agreement

Urging Congress to pass a pending trade agreement, a coalition of more than 900 farm and food organizations said the agreement would help U.S. agriculture while providing high-quality, safe food at affordable prices. In a letter to House and Senate leaders, the groups requested "swift ratification" of the U.S.-Mexico-Canada Agreement. The letter's signers included the California Farm Bureau Federation and more than three-dozen other California groups.

Nurseries track plant trends to plan greenhouse space

Tracking trends in houseplants allows Southern California nurseries to fulfill customer demand. Nursery owners say social media can help drive demand for houseplants, and note that some plants that became trendy in the 1970s are now enjoying a comeback. Keeping up with the trends requires foresight, because in some cases plants need close to a year in the greenhouse before they’re ready for sale.

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

The Foothill Volunteer Firefighters Ass. is planning their fourth annual community fireworks and barbecue event on July 4 at the firehouse in Brownsville. A raffle is being planned to help raise money to use to provide assistance to fire fighters in case of illness, accident or accidental death. If you can help this cause by donating an item, please contact Michaelle Fox at michaelle530@gmail.com or stop by the firehouse. Hope to see you there on July 4 enjoying the food and the fireworks.

The Old West Trio is planning a concert at Lucero's winery on July 7 at 4 pm. Seating is limited so one might want to call for a reservation: Lucero's Winery 632-5076. The winery is located at 10654 Texas Hill in Dobbins. The cost for the concert is $20 with a hot dog dinner available for an added cost. Sounds like fun.

Have you been to the Farmer's Market yet? It is held every Saturday from 9 – 3 at Ponderosa Park in Brownsville. The choice of fresh vegetables will be increasing soon as our summer season is about here. The extras (hot lunch, a kids spot, craft items, as well as foods) are available, too. Several special events are planned for the afternoons.

The Stone Soup's Community Workshops are being planned for the next month or so. These workshops are held at Ponderosa Community Center on Thursdays after lunch (about 12:45 or so). On June 20 there will be a presentation by the Fire Safe council helping us be prepared. On July 4 Rand Collins will tell us Two Patriotic Tales, one about the Star Spangled Banner and the other about an unknown hero of the Revolutionary War. On July 18 a lawyer will give us more information on the pros and cons of having a trust and considering reverse mortgages. Come by and have lunch at noon or stop by after lunch and join us in a workshop.

There is a new happening at Foothill Fitness in Brownsville. Dustin Goodwin is offering a Woman's Self Defense class every 2nd Saturday of the month from 6 – 8 pm. This could save your life and costs only $5.00. He has other classes, too, each Tuesday and Thursday evening. A kid's class runs from 5 – 6 and an adult class from 6:15 to 7:15. Come by and check it out.

Bookstore Boosters started the summer season with a newsletter, new art/craft workshops and a new raffle. This season's raffle will be held on August 24; that will begin the new fall season. Come by and see the items to be raffled and maybe buy some tickets. These activities help the bookstore in many ways: increase the number of people who come in, have a room to hold small meetings, and pay our bills.

Thanks to all who donated blood in June. There were enough people to stay on the list of spots to donate blood in the future.

Don't Mess With The Sheriff

dress the Yuba City Unified School District's dismissal of long-time teacher Jim Whiteaker for repeated improper contact with female students. Whiteaker is on the BOS and now is employed at Yuba County Office of Education teaching students.

The Sacramento Bee editorial board came out strongly in favor of curbing the independence of sheriffs and notes numerous abuses by sheriffs in various counties. The Bee cites trouble with sheriffs in Sacramento (Scott Jones), Fresno (Margaret Mims), LA (Lee Baca and Alex Villanueva) and even Trinity County (Bruce Haney).

The Bee says, "The power of the county sheriff is so unusual and prone to abuse that some sheriffs don't even do the job once they're elected. An investigation by The Sacramento Bee in 2018 found that Trinity County Sheriff Bruce Haney didn't even reside in his own county, let alone California. He lived on 53 acres in Lebanon, Oregon. On 'medical leave,' Haney collected $9,000 per month in salary while feuding with that county's board of supervisors, who had no way to hold Haney accountable."

No normal person wants a corrupt or lawless sheriff. However, others believe that an elected strongly independent sheriff is needed to defend the Constitution when boards, councils and committees have been politicized or proven impotent. And, if intolerable problems arise, then there is an election every four years or even a recall election option in extreme cases.

Many sheriffs rebuffed the Obama – Biden gun control moves by reaffirming their oath to defend the Constitution for their county. This is a current issue in California as many jurisdictions are declaring to be a 'Second Amendment Sanctuary' city or county to uphold the Constitution regarding gun rights. And other sheriffs are rejecting the state's ideas about protecting illegal aliens and not cooperating with federal authorities.

Sadly, the elected sheriff of Clark County, Nevada sided with the federal authorities in a land grab from the Bundy Family that nearly ended in armed conflict. The sheriff could have ordered the feds to stand-down. The media and the government made the Bundy's out to be backward rebels but the feds lost in court and were reprimanded for abuse of power.

We need honest law enforcement leaders with a back bone to withstand state and federal authorities that make-up rules to suit their agenda. The deep state and corruption throughout our government are resistant to a myriad of inspectors and commissions. Keep the elected sheriff with no citizens committee.

gle-parent families. Fifty years later, more than 70 percent of black children were raised in single-parent families. Did slavery cause the increase in single-parent black families after 1960?

According to the 1938 Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences, that year 11 percent of black children were born to unwed mothers. Today about 75 percent of black children are born to unwed mothers. Is that a delayed response to slavery? The black family was stronger the first 100 years after slavery than during what will be the second 100 years according to Economics Professor Williams.

At one time, almost all black families were poor, regardless of whether one or both parents were present. Today, around 30 percent of blacks are poor. However, two-parent black families are rarely poor. Only 8 percent of black married-couple families live in poverty. Among black families in which both the husband and wife work full time, the poverty rate is under 5 percent. Poverty in black families headed by single women is 37 percent. The welfare state, not slavery or racism has doomed black families.

Are blacks lazy? In every census from 1890 to 1954, blacks were either just as active as or more so than whites in the labor market. During that earlier period, black teen unemployment was equal to or less than white teen unemployment. As early as 1900, the duration of black unemployment was 15 percent shorter than that of whites; today it's about 30 percent longer. Labor laws and regulations promoted by liberals and their unions that cut off the bottom rungs of the economic ladder and encourage racial discrimination are the problem.

Labor unions have a long history of discrimination against blacks. Frederick Douglass described this in his 1874 essay titled "The Folly, Tyranny, and Wickedness of Labor Unions," and Booker T. Washington did so in his 1913 essay titled "The Negro and the Labor Unions." However, today's black politicians and hucksters blindly give support to labor laws pushed by unions and white liberal organizations.

Many black 12th-graders' science skills are at the level of whites in the sixth grade. They write and do math about as well as white seventh and eighth-graders. So, an employer hiring or a college admitting the typical black high school graduate is in effect hiring or admitting an eighth-grader. Don't be surprised by the deficient outcomes from lousy union schools.

Liberal politicians, civil rights leaders and academics who assert that every problem confronting blacks is a result of slavery and discrimination perpetuate the lie and the delusion. The truth sets people free.

DOUBLE FEATURE

Dark Phoenix

Starring: James McAvoy, Michael Fassbender, and Jennifer Lawrence. Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 1 hr, 53 mins.

John Wick: Chapter 3 – Parabellum

Starring: Keanu Reeves, Halle Berry, and Ian McShane. Rated: R, Runtime: 2 hrs, 11 mins.

Dark Phoenix, is the latest in a new revised time line of the X-Men series. Here an alien power is absorbed by a powerful mutant and she struggles to control it. Meanwhile her friends fail to respect her boundaries and things go badly. Feelings are hurt and lack of good communication skills lead to rage fights and only a threat from the outside can remind them of their friendship and bring them together to save the world.

Dark Phoenix, earns three out of five, Lava Veined Monkeys. Much better than I expected and some good character growth along with dampening of some pride makes a decent story. The acting is great, and Sophia Turner does and excellent job showing the inner turmoil of her character. The effects are great. Not a waste of money if you happen to find yourself in a dark theater watching it.

John Wick

An assassin gets put on a kill list, because he broke a rule by killing someone in the wrong place. Broken Jaw, Stab, Eye Stab, Pounding Skull Stab, Head Shot, Head Shot times a thousand, Hit by a car, Fall, Dog Bite, Stab, Stab, and Big Fall.

John Wick: Chapter 3 – Parabellum, earns two out of five, OH My God That's a Brutal Way to Kill Someone Monkeys. If you've seen the first one or two, this is much the same. The story is a bit better, but not worth paying money to see on the big screen.

OPINIONS

Helping Build a Brighter Future for Yuba County

by Curt Aikens

In the 1950s, our county leaders had the incredible vision and fortitude to conceive and construct a series of dams and hydroelectric plants for the betterment of Yuba County. This was an incredibly bold mission for such a small, poor county to take on to reduce flood risk and secure our water supply reliability for the future. I am proud to say that Yuba Water Agency has continued its tradition of taking and implementing bold actions for the benefit of the people of Yuba County.

June 4 marked Yuba Water Agency's 60th anniversary. I truly believe this anniversary represents an impressive six decades of actively fulfilling our missions of reducing flood risk, generating carbon-free energy, supporting recreation opportunities at New Bullards Bar Reservoir, providing reliable water supplies to local irrigation districts and groundwater management programs to ensure a reliable valley groundwater aquifer, which is the sole source of water for 80 percent of Yuba County residents.

We've worked hard with our local community, state and federal agencies, Congress and many others to positively impact Yuba County. Through our planning with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and our support of the Three Rivers Levee Improvement Authority and the Marysville Levee District, the urban areas of our county are on the verge of being one of the best protected urban areas at risk of flooding in the region.

Several of our major accomplishments include:

- Construction of New Bullards Bar Dam and Reservoir
- Implementation of the Lower Yuba River Accord
- Leadership, planning and funding of urban levee improvements
- Funding of the Feather River Setback Levee
- Sustainable groundwater management

While we have accomplished a lot, there is much more to do. We are focused on ensuring that our current and future projects, programs and investments have a direct impact on those who live and work in Yuba County.

As a requirement of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, we must renew our license that permits us to use public water for energy generation, which is estimated to cost $230 million over the term of the license. The license allows us to continue operating the project, generating and selling power, and it includes requirements designed to ensure safety, and to protect and enhance environmental resources and recreation.

While there have been incredible improvements in urban flood protection, a similar effort is needed for the rural levees in the years ahead.

To further reduce the risk of flooding, enhance dam safety and provide climate resiliency for Yuba and Sutter counties, we are moving forward with the permitting and design of an estimated $160 million secondary spillway at New Bullards Bar Dam (that's an early cost estimate). This new spillway will allow us to release more water from the reservoir, in advance of large, threatening storm events, freeing up space in the reservoir to hold back peak flows when the biggest part of the storm arrives. It will also enhance dam safety by providing a second, independent spillway that by itself can handle a major storm event like 1997.

In the meantime, where we can find a connection to our missions, we're investing in the community through forest resiliency efforts to improve water supply and quality, while reducing fire risk in the foothills. We are additionally partnering in residential water conservation programs for low income households, to help them improve water conservation, which will save money on water bills, and in grants for first responders to improve public safety, just to name a few.

We're also seriously exploring several new educational activities, including a possible water education center in Yuba County, and we will be in discussions with school officials and educators to figure out the best way to educate students and the public about the Yuba River, as well as universal, watershed-based information.

Yuba Water Agency has done remarkable things for Yuba County in the last 60 years, and there is so much more that we can do in the next 60. I'm proud of our accomplishments, but I'm more excited to make an even bigger impact for the people who live and work here.

Don't Wait for God to Intervene

by Richard Crist, OMD

ways served no matter who was in power. That's what keeps the wealthy rich, and their ability too become even richer; total government control.

The wealthy have successfully hidden it from the masses up in till now. Recently, the Democratic Party has split with a very progressive faction advocating for radical social change and a Green New Deal, which will strongly benefit the working/nonworking-80% classes at the expense of the wealthy-1%.

These social programs are social reforms within capitalism, not socialism; socialism is an entire economic system. The Republican Party and Democratic leadership, who represent the wealthy-1%, would like you to believe its socialism. They're trying to scare you into thinking that these social changes are an attempt to change from capitalism to socialism, which just isn't true. Common sense tells you it's untrue, because these social programs need a strong capitalist economy to be able to afford them.

The reason this lie is so important to them is because the wealthy are destined to pay for these programs, and they don't want to. There's another more sinister reason for the 1% to oppose these social programs. You're easier to control when you're fearful about your job and economic condition and all of these social programs will promote better, higher paying jobs, and will enhance prosperity in your life.

It's time to pull the wool from your eyes America and look at what's happening to you, it's not a pretty sight and it needs to change; now. Don't wait for God to intervene, the last time the world was this corrupt He made the "climate change," and it rained for forty days and forty nights, you know the rest of the story.

THINK About It!

By Charlie McNiff

Over Five Million Guatemalans (Mostly Illegal) Want to Migrate to the U.S.

In case you missed this eye-popping story about the survey made by the Guatemalan City newspaper, Prensa Libre, the following is an article, in part, by Daniel Horowitz, the Senior Editor of the Conservative Review on May 6, 2019...

How much is too much when it comes to illegal immigration, or even legal immigration? At what point do we finally return to the universal principle expressed by Calvin Coolidge in 1925 that "our Government owes its first duty to our own people"? Well, unless the DHS finally slams the door shut, it appears that Central America is a bottomless well waiting to be emptied out into our country, primarily through dangerous smuggling over our land border.

According to a recent survey of Guatemalans conducted by the Association for Research and Social Studies and Barometro de las Americas, 39.2 percent of Guatemalans would like to migrate, 85 percent of them to the United States. Which means that roughly 5.6 million Guatemalans (plus unknown number of kids) would like to come here, not including the close to one million who already came here in recent years. The survey was reported in a local Guatemala City paper, Prensa Libre, and was picked up by the Daily Caller.

According to the survey, taken of 1,596 Guatemalans and published last Thursday, 58 percent of respondents said they had relatives in the United States. As the Prensa Libre article notes, family reunification and "lack of employment and poverty" are why they desire to come here. It's self-evident that this has nothing to do with asylum and everything to do with economic reasons. Liberals and many faux conservative supporters of amnesty defend illegal immigration as a natural consequence of a "broken" legal immigration system, where it is impossible to come here legally. The problem with that assertion is that the period of illegal immigration has overlapped with the most protracted period of legal immigration expansion and has originated from the countries that have had a monopoly on our legal immigration. According to Pew, 50 percent of all immigrants since 1965 have come from Latin America, the primary source of illegal immigration. Specific to Central America, before the recent surge, "the number of immigrants from Central America) has grown 28-fold since 1970, from 118,000 to nearly 3.3 million in 2018 — six times faster than the overall immigrant population," according to the Center for Immigration Studies. In fact, 18 percent of El Salvador's population (over one million) is already here, if you add the immigrant population in America to those remaining in their home country.

Now, in addition to legal immigrant chain migration, we are incurring illegal immigrant chain migration from Central America, whereby illegal aliens who are already here are "sponsoring" Central American teens in their families to be smuggled here by the cartels and resettled as "unaccompanied" refugees to live with families who themselves are supposed to be deported.

The bottom line is that unless the administration begins shutting off all migration requests at the border, the record numbers we are seeing every month with take years to abate. If the same percentage of people who would like to come here from Guatemala hold that view in El Salvador and Honduras, that would be roughly 10.7 million people ready to march north under the right circumstances.

Has anyone given any consideration to the cost of such a migration, much less the cultural, social, and security problems inherent with it? At a $140,000-$150,000 price-tag per migrant, using the input and methodology of the Center for Immigration Studies' Steven Camarota to calculate the cost of illegal aliens to the American taxpayer, that would work out to be $1.5 trillion for the net fiscal cost of such a flow.

And those are just the top three countries of origin of those coming here illegally today. Migration from Nicaragua is already picking up. Is that the next shoe to drop? A number of people are coming from Cuba and Haiti in the organized caravans. Then there are numerous individuals from African countries and even the Middle East as well.

Now then, back at The Territorial...according to Reuters last week...

Under duress because of Trump's threat to impose tariffs unless Mexico stemmed a surge in migrants that has overwhelmed U.S. detention facilities and immigration courts, Mexico signed a pact last week agreeing to control the flow of people from Central America, including deploying 6,000 members of a new national guard along its border with Guatemala.

Mexico's foreign minister, Marcelo Ebrard, said Mexico also agreed to a 45-day timeline to show increased enforcement efforts were effective in reducing the people flows. If that fails, Mexico has agreed to consider a longstanding U.S. demand that Central American asylum seekers crossing through Mexico apply for refuge there, not the United States, making Mexico a "safe third country," a demand that Mexico would consider.

The vast majority of undocumented migrants arriving in the United States are from Central America, but significant numbers have also been arriving in recent months from Cuba and Haiti, via Panama, and from African countries, often via Brazil.

Unbelievable

As I was reading my Sunday APPEAL DEMOCRAT, OUR VIEW I was shocked to read they were OK with Sanctuary states and Sanctuary cities. OK EVEN THOUGH there was not a vote of the people, which is happening more often with Democrat Socialists. It seems they don't want us to vote. We voted on the death penalty; but the dictator Socialist Governor was smarter than the voters he suspended them. You don't vote in a socialist State. Then on page A7 they said Trump backs away from tariffs but they don't say Mexico did what he wanted so no tariffs. The press is so bad I don't believe half of what they report its good for covering the bottom of the bird cage.

- The only reason not to require voter ID is to cheat in the election. Every Democrat opposes voter ID. Get the connection?
- Nadler had John Dean as his star witness in the Mueller fiasco. How stupid can one get? How about it Garamendi?
- With so many debt relief outfits advertising amazing results on TV, why are we still concerned over student loan debt?
- Brainless Newsom signed off on giving our tax dollars to pay for illegal invaders medical care. Why should we be required to pay any taxes to the State if this is how they are used?
- And he never stops. Newsom recently said we've got one house for one people in California. Really? Has he opened his own house to all his new friends? No. He is a miserable hypocrite.
- Environmentalists and their ilk are hypocrites of the first order. Take Santa Barbara as a prime example. The residents of that city hate gas, oil, lower gasoline prices and prefer people unemployed rather than be happy they have jobs in the oil industry. They demand no more coal and nuclear power. Now they are also opposed to wind turbines. Santa Barbarans are hypocrites and loonies. If they oppose these sources of energy, why do they use cars, trains, buses, and charge up their cellphones and computers? Why do they have all electric homes and cars—energized by the sources they hate? Do they plan to tear down their houses and live in mud huts?
- It has taken years, which is ridiculous. But the courts finally came down on the IRS and Lois Lerner who were found guilty of numerous charges. They finally will pay for their corrupt behavior. Did you happen to see this decision in the mainstream media? Bet not. This was the silent court decision. Keep a happy thought – this is just the start of things to come.

- The “True the Vote” v. IRS lawsuit has come to a close with a common sense ruling by U.S. District Court Judge Reggie Walton penalizing the IRS with maximum attorneys fees due to their unconstitutional discrimination against the group and their unethical behavior in the case. Hopefully the fine is paid for out of the agents’ pocket, not by taxpayer money.

- Now we are to be taxed for buying ammunition. Each time we make a purchase we will be charged $1 for an instant background check. The 2nd Amendment means nothing to the politicians we send to the State House or to Washington..

- This is how government education operates. You know, your local school where you send your children to be educated. When there is a bad teacher the school transfers them to another school or allows them to teach in another district. Instead of firing them and taking their teaching credential away, the powers that be send them elsewhere—so other students can be harmed. This is called “The Dance of the Lemons”. Do you do that with your incorrigible employees?

- AB 18 was referred last week to the Assembly appropriations committee. The bill would continue funding the California Violence Intervention and Prevention program, which issues grants of up to $500,000 to gun violence reduction programs. Gun violence reduction programs? That is “Democrat speak” for tax dollars used to “educate the public” against protecting themselves. Corruption?

- The faculty senate at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo voted to outlaw Chick fil A on campus. One professor likened the chicken sandwich to pornography. Keep in mind the professors, who are teaching our children, don't like this company because its’ president supports the traditional definition of marriage. When the Vatican's new pronouncement on there being only two sexes hits this hot-bed of a pro-gressivism campus, will the professors’ brains simply explode?

- David Coleman is the man behind Common Core. Now that he has destroyed a generation of students with dumbed down education, he is the head of the College Board, the agency that runs the SAT tests. Under Coleman, the SAT's are moving from an education standard to a society standard. In other words your personal life, money, race, nationality, parents divorced, alternate lifestyle, all count more than studying to achieve a high SAT score. Are we going to put up with this leftist crap? Billions have been spent to harm children. When is Coleman and his lemmings going to admit they failed and apologize to a generation of students lost to mediocre, at best, government education?

- Californians have the highest taxes, energy prices, and water prices, in the nation. Now, you can have the most expensive fish dinner in the history of mankind, thanks to the policies of Democrats. Cost estimates to restore the 153 miles of the river from Friant Dam to the confluence of the Merced River range from $890 million to $2 billion.

- Between 250,000 and 360,000 acre-feet of water are specifically dedicated to fish habitat on the San Joaquin. Recently 5 fish were caught in the subject area. A conservative cost estimate reveals each of the five fish caught cost taxpayers and water users $178,000,000. And each of those fish needed 50,000 acre-feet of water per year.

- Sacramento does not have enough police officers. Parks need refurbishing, streets have lots of potholes, the city is running a deficit and has to raise taxes. But, the Democrats running the city have enough money to provide legal assistance to CRIMINAL illegal aliens.

- The Sacramento City Council voted “to set aside up to $300,000 for a network of legal, educational and faith-based nonprofit groups that will help residents with immediate immigration problems and advise them how to protect children and assets if parents are deported.”

- Councilman Steve Hansen called the situation an “emergency” and targeted the money for “legal guardianships.” Mayor Steinberg went on record that “we are not a city that will exchange people's civil rights for money.” The mayor, an attorney, did not indicate which civil right was in play in the spending of taxpayer funds on illegal immigrants present in the United States illegally.

- We now know that the Assemblyman Ting effort to outlaw cash receipts and mandate ONLY digital receipts is the brain child of a firm that creates digital receipts—that is called corruption.

Butte County Fire Safe Council Non-Profit of the Year

In recognition of the hard work of the Butte County Fire Safe Council, Senator Jim Nielsen (R-Tehama) awarded the Butte County Fire Safe Council the Fourth Senate District's Non-Profit of the Year Award today at the State Capitol.

“The dedicated folks at the Butte County Fire Safe Council are so deserving of this acknowledgement,” said Senator Jim Nielsen (R-Tehama). “They work tirelessly to keep our community safe.”

Senator Nielsen added, “Each and every day, the staff and volunteers work with residents throughout our communities to raise fire safety awareness.”

Formed in 1998, the Council has a 17-member Board of Directors, nine staff and numerous volunteers. The Butte County Fire Safe Council is a community non-profit organization that provides fire safety awareness and forest health projects to residents throughout Butte County, particularly in rural, forested and woodland/chaparral areas. The organization strives to reduce wildfire damage and devastation through fuels reduction projects, voluntary home visitations, no-cost chipper program, youth outreach, and community outreach.

Projects to support Camp Fire recovery are a current priority for the organization.

Calli-Jane DeAnda, Executive Director, traveled to the State Capitol to accept the award. They were presented with a Senate Resolution at a formal ceremony and honored at a celebratory luncheon.

North Valley Community Foundation Nonprofit of the Year

Sacramento, Ca.

Assembly Member James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) today honored the North Valley Community Foundation as the Third Assembly District 2019 Nonprofit of the Year. The North Valley Community Foundation was honored during a special Assembly ceremony at the State Capitol for its dedication to aiding communities across the North State.

The North Valley Community Foundation has been in existence for more than 20 years, with an overarching goal of reducing suffering in the world. That took on new meaning Nov. 8, when the Camp Fire devastated Paradise, Magalia, Concow and other Butte County foothill communities. In the six months after the fire, the NVCF has raised more than $55 million. It has distributed more than $14 million in grants so far, and is now focused on long-term community recovery through the Butte Strong Fund, a partnership with Sierra Nevada Brewing Co. and Aaron Rodgers.

“The North Valley Community Foundation has been instrumental in helping communities recover from the Camp Fire,” said Gallagher. “When the fire started in November, the North Valley Community Foundation immediately took action to assist those in need. This level of involvement has remained consistent for seven months now, with no signs of stopping until the impacted communities are back on their feet. I am proud to have the opportunity to honor such a dedicated and influential organization.”

California Nonprofits Day, now in its fourth year, was formally recognized by Assembly Concurrent Resolution 62, authored by the chair of the Assembly Select Committee on the Non-profit Sector, Assemblywoman Monique Limón (Santa Barbara), who will speak at the celebration luncheon. Senator Holly Mitchell will keynote the luncheon. The day is organized by Assemblymember Limón and CalNonprofits.

“It is a tremendous honor to be recognized by Assemblyman James Gallagher for our role in the massive recovery efforts undertaken by so many following the devastating Camp Fire,” said Alexa Benson-Valavanis,

President and CEO of North Valley Community Foundation. “We know this work is far from finished and we are committed to dedicating our efforts and resources to the recovery effort, no matter how long it takes. We are humbled by the support of Assemblyman Gallagher in these efforts and look forward to working together to promote healing and recovery in our communities.”

Sirens in the Yuba Foothills

by John Mistler

Oregon House, Ca.

On Wednesday, June 12, 2019 the Yuba Fire Safe Council held their monthly meeting at the Alcouffe Center.

One of the items on the agenda was from the Early Warning System Committee. Residents of the Foothills had asked that "early warning sirens" be considered for notifications of fires. Pete Hammontre a member of the committee gave a presentation on what their research had provided.

Using Dobbins and Oregon House as an example the research showed that the price for that area alone was $11,000,000. The sirens were not practical for the foothill terrain and the decibels needed to project the sirens would permanently cause deafness to anyone near the siren.

The sirens are historically used in the mid west where the terrain is flatter and they are a warning for tornadoes. When the siren goes off the people know to go to their basements. In the case of fires people need to know there is a fire , where it is and which way to evacuate. Sirens in the mid west are raised to a height that eliminates the possibility of permanent hearing loss.

The committee is continuing to explore ways of better communication for early warnings. On Thursday June 20th at 10:30 a.m. there will be a meeting at the Brownsville Community Center on Ponderosa Way to discuss Fire Preparedness.

Masons and Shriners present bikes and helmets to students

Corinthian Hammon-ton Masonic Lodge #9 of Free and Accepted Masons organized the presentation of bikes and helmets to 42 stu-dents at three schools in Yuba and Sutter Coun-ties on the last day of class at Feather Falls Elementary in Challenge, Browns Valley Elementary in Browns Valley and Central Gaither in Sutter County.

The Lodge has been presenting bikes to stu-dents for nearly twenty years in support of our educational programs. This year the donations were provided by local Masons and members of the Central Sacramento

Valley Shrine Club.

The schools selected the students on the ba-sis of most improved boy and girl in each class.

Presenting the bikes were Larry Witcher, Jeff Davidson, Ruben Gomez, Thomas Sauerhoefer, John Leeder, Jerry Paine and Joe Goss.

Lifting of Truck Weight Limit to Ease Marysville Truck Traffic

Marysville, Ca. Yuba County Board of Supervisors took the first step in lifting truck weight restrictions on Tuesday for three roads that serve to connect Hwy 70 north of Marys-ville to Hwy 20 near Hallwood. The move is expected to slightly ease the number of trucks traveling through down-town Marysville.

Yuba County Pub-lic Works Director Mike Lee said Woodruff Lane, Mathews Lane and Ramirez Road have been under a county-imposed 22-ton weight restriction for many years, be-cause of the deteriorat-ing conditions of those roads. The restriction was put in place to slow further deterioration along the routes.

Last year, Yuba Coun-ty secured federal funds to repair the roads and make them, once again, suitable for trucks haul-ing heavy loads. The work was completed in November of last year.

"We are excited to rec-ommend this to the Board of Supervisors, because of the benefits to truck-ing commerce and the City of Marysville," Lee said. "By allowing loaded trucks to once again use these roads, the City of Marysville will see a re-duction in truck traffic, and truckers will be able to shorten their hauls by about 14 miles."

Removal of the weight limit is being done through a change in a county ordinance. A second reading of the ordinance will take place later in June and, once finalized, truck weight limit restrictions would be lifted effective at the end of July.

Are Public Safety Power Shutoffs the New Norm?

by John Mistler

Marysville, Ca. Mr. Moreno was asked if the Public Safety Power Shutoffs, PSPS, was the new norm or a temporary fix until other measures (ie brush and tree clear-ing) can be completed?

Paul Moreno of P

G & E said, "Our Public Safety Power Shutoffs are no replacement for other measures. We are boosting our inspec-tions, pruning greater distances between trees and power lines, hard-ening our electric grid with covered wire and non-wood poles, ex-panding our network of weather stations and re-mote high-def cameras, and installing more grid technology that can fur-ther reduce the footprint of a PSPS event.

As we expand our use of covered wire and non-wood poles, this will help reduce the need for PSPS in certain situa-tions. These are largely weather and fire condi-tion driven, so if fire con-ditions improve that will help too."
