Are Public Pensions Fair

by Lou Binninger

How much should a worker collect in retirement? You shouldn't care if it's not your money. If someone worked harder, invested smarter, lived frugally, then they may be much better off than others when dialing work back.

When it comes to retirement in the private sector, you set-aside some of your earnings each month in savings, mutual funds or some kind of investment that will increase in value. When retiring you hope for sufficient monies to meet your needs.

The idea of course is that you should not have the expenses in your 60s and beyond that you had in your child-rearing and home-buying years. Most private sector workers supplement their savings with a social security check. They adjust to how much or how little they have. That's life.

When it comes to government employees should you care or even have a say as a taxpayer in how much they collect in retirement. Again, if their contribution to their own fund did well then who should care? However, that's where the government pension system goes off the logic rails. Private sector workers are also paying the pensions of public employees.

Not only does the government employee not pay all the funds of their own pension but they are guaranteed a defined amount per month upon retirement regardless of how the investments fare. That's pension nirvana. And it is on the backs of future taxpayers to pay more and more taxes and be responsible for loans to cover deficits created by the guarantees of politicians to future retirees.

Politicians are beholden to those unions bosses and union employees to get elected rather than to the taxpayers who actually pay the pension bills. When there are labor negotiations with union representatives the taxpayer does not have a seat at the table nor do citizens vote on any salaries of any workers or elected officials in the county or jurisdiction.

Last year, the California Public Employees' Retirement System (CalPERS) issued 30,969 pension checks of $100,000 or more on an annualized basis, according to TransparentCalifornia.com.

The 2018 data reveals that CalPERS is currently paying over $23 billion annually in pension benefits, 17 percent of which will go towards those receiving annualized pensions of $100,000 or more.

The growing number of $100K-plus pensions reflects an increase in newer retirees who benefited from the pension enhancements passed in 1999 and 2001. As noted by reporter Ed Mendel of Calpensions.com, union controlled CalPERS lobbied the legislature for these enhancements by falsely claiming that they would not cost "a dime of additional taxpayer money."

These enhancements are part of the reason that governments in this state are actually bankrupt and are using short-term borrowing and local tax increases to postpone going into receivership. The truth is that the state pension system is nonsensical, unaffordable and corrupt.

The average 2018 annualized pension for general retirees was (state - $63,057, local $74,599) and for police/fire (state - $74,599, local $108,320). Since you citizens are paying for it how does it feel?

If employees invested in their own retirement fund, when they retired the taxpayer would have no liability for them, but that is not how it works. Yuba County is short a shocking $147 million to cover what they owe to employees via CalPERS. And, the County needs to prepare for a 64% increase in pension costs over the next 5-6 years. That debt or liability is coming out of the general fund affecting all services.

If you had to come up with a 64% increase in your house or car payment, for health insurance would not cost "a dime of ad-

Celebrating Springtime, Gals and Gold

at the Empire Mine

by Courtney Ferguson

Tea Garden ladies: Complimentary cups of tea will be served in the special Tea Garden – with live music nearby. Photo by Richard Bannister

"We're calling this new celebration Springtime at Empire Mine," announced State Park Interpreter Jenna Randar, "and for the first time, we're hosting it the day before Mother's Day on Saturday, May 11th when folks may be more available to come and enjoy the Park."

The gardens should be glorious, and visitors are welcome to pack a lunch and picnic on the grassy knolls near the stately trees. Food, drinks and treats will be for sale by local vendors. "It's a day that focuses on women," Randar explained. "Complimentary cups of tea will be served in the special Tea Garden, and that's become a popular addition over the last few years. Of course, our Living History docents will be dressed in beautiful, turn-of-the-century attire – a bit reminiscent of Downton Abbey."

The event will also feature lots of live music from local artists such as Heather Mac-Adam, Celtic Joy, Back Porch Swing, Tad and Diane Kitada, and saxophonist Tim Profitt, plus magician Bruce Gauthier. All-girl band the Heifer Belles will be playing outside Empire Cottage from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Children will enjoy a variety of activities. The Potting Bench, for example, is a favorite with youngsters, where they can make little, living gifts moms will treasure. Just behind the 1905 Clubhouse, there will be Lincoln Logs, coloring tables, and instead of hobby horses, hobby mules will be on hand. "Since mules played such a key part in Empire's history, it's only fitting," Randar added.

The Mine Yard, with its busy

Blacksmith Shop and Mine Shaft, will be buzzing with activity, giving visitors a chance to experience at least some of what life was like during Empire's heady days of prosperity. The Gift Shop, with its treasure trove of selections for all budgets, will be open as well.

"Everyone's invited," Randar confirmed. "Our volunteers and staff have put so much creativity and extra effort into making this event memorable it's both exciting and heartwarming." Special activities will take place from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Regular admission fees apply: $7 for those 17 and over and $3 for ages 6-16. Admission is FREE for children under 6 – and parking is FREE. Well-behaved dogs on leashes are welcome, too, making it a day for every single member of the family to enjoy. Phone the Visitor Center on (530) 273-8522 or visit <http://www.empireremine.org> for further details.

Green Outside Red Inside

by Lou Binninger

Faux holiday Earth Day 2019 has gladly come to pass like the school student's dreaded stop at his least favorite class and most boring teacher. Self-absorbed lefties praised one another for their 'voice' in saving the planet. Oh, please!

They can't cure their own cold or constipation but they have the answer for a contrived crisis on earth. God laughs in the heavens at such arrogance and ignorance.

The environmental movement's anointed ones (Al Gore, Alexandria Ocasio Cortez and actors) get an exemption from Gaia to travel by personal jets to adorn big Earth Day events while living as 1%ers, owning multiple homes, some 10,000 feet and more in size.

They get a pass for conspicuous consumption because they are the liberal aristocracy. Lefty VIPs get to mess over the planet to tell the rest of us how horrible we are for counting the blessings of fossil fuel. OMG I think I teared up right there.

The pompous left acts as if recycling and conservation somehow began with them. Conspicuous consumption is noted among Americans of all political flavors today but incompetent land and forest management, so-called 'green energy' nonsense and climate-change fear – mongering have been owned by liberal politicians.

While ignorant sky-is-falling devotees lose sleep over melting ice caps preventing polar bears from copulating, few take the time to see whether the propaganda they swallowed was true. They don't get out much. They hear stupid and repeat stupid.

Meet Jennie Carter

by Carol Withington

Although her maiden name and early life remain unknown, there is one thing that is evident—Jennie Carter would one day emerge as one of the "foremost African-American journalist in the nation". And, just think, this remarkable woman lived just up the hill in Nevada City.

Following her marriage, at the age of 37 to Dennis Drummond Carter on August 29, 1866, she quickly settled down to domestic life in her new home—but not for long. By June 1867, the San Francisco "Elevator" began publishing articles by this talented author who wrote under the name of "Ann J. Trask" and later, "Semper Fidelis". In addition, Carter wrote her letters for her columns from a fictional community she called "Mud Hill".

Carter initially wrote for children only, but soon after she broadened her topics to include California and national politics, women's rights and suffrage; temperance, morality and many other social issues. Along the way, her husband, a Nevada County pioneer, who was regarded among California's "black elite" constantly supported her efforts as a writer.

For seven years, the "Elevator", one of the nation's premier black weekly newspapers, printed Carter's essays, columns and poems. And it was not uncommon that Carter would write of her daily domestic tasks such as canning, cleaning, sewing, cooking and caring for her large garden with "ironic humor".

One of Carter's funniest accounts is that in awaiting a visit from a woman identified as "Mrs. E.B." from Marysville. Who was she and why all the fuss to prepare for her anticipated arrival. This mystery may be solved in the June edition.

Local Eatery Raises Funds For Community School Supplies

Linda, Ca. It is that time of year again, school is almost out and the hot Summer is upon us. That means in just three short months, parents will once again be required to purchase school supplies for each of their children. In 2018 the average cost of supplying one child with the needed items and associated costs of attending public school went up yet again. On average an elementary aged child could expect to pay approximately $637.00 throughout the school year, while a middle school aged child was closer to $941.00. If your child is in high school, you can expect the cost to reach nearly $1500.00 for the school year. One local eatery is hoping to alleviate some of those costs for local parents who are struggling with these rising numbers by aiding in the purchase of "back to school" supplies. Bottom's Up a new restaurant and bar located in Linda, has taken it upon themselves to raise funds for low income families with "Operation Back To School". The event, which will take place May 4th, 2019 will feature professional boxers, MMA fighters and various other celebrities. In addition to regular sales, the owners of Bot-tom's up will be raffling off televisions, signed boxing gloves and more. A portion of these proceeds will be given directly to low income families within our community. Two time world boxing champion – Paulie Malignaggi and UFC Hall Of Famer – Stephan Bonnar will be joined by a host of other athletes and celebrities to help raise money for "Operation Back To School". The event will take place at the Bottom's Up Grand Opening starting at 12pm. Bottom's Up is located at 1672 Hammonton Smartsville Rd. Suite A in Linda, CA.

Gold Sox and Bears Against Domestic Violence

The Marysville Gold Sox and Yuba City Bears have partnered with Casa de Esperanza this season to help increase awareness and provide support for victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, child abuse, and human trafficking.

In order to help victims of domestic abuse, the Marysville Gold Sox and Yuba City Bears are asking fans to bring in any unused blankets or stuffed animals in exchange for free general admission tickets to the game. "When a child is taken out of an abusive situation, the best thing that can help them recover is a stuffed animal" says VP/GM Michael Mink. Casa de Esperanza is a leader in the violence prevention field, and has engaged in many key policy initiatives and programs that have made an enormous impact. They have also been recognized by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services for their research and help in communities across the world. "Casa de Esperanza is excited about spending our summers with the Gold Sox and Bears," said Casa de Esperanza Executive Director Marsha Krouse-Taylor. "It is indeed a pleasure to work with sport heroes in taking a stand against domestic violence, sexual assault, child abuse, and human trafficking."

"This has been a personal goal for myself and to be able to help locally has been a great blessing. Baseball is a great game that not only gives excitement to fans, it can make a very positive impact in the community to help in various areas" says Gold Sox and Bears VP/GM Michael Mink.

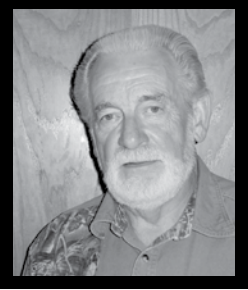

TICKETS

Single-game tickets and season tickets are on sale now. To purchase tickets, fans can go online at goldsox.com or yubacitybears.com, over the phone at 530.741.3600, or at our office at 429 10th Street in Marysville.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

Limits of Striped bass are being caught within an hour anywhere on the Feather River. The river is full of striper and boats. The fish are averaging two to three pounds with larger fish and shakers in the mix. Keep in mind these fish run in schools so if you get no action in one spot move to another. Find the schools and hold onto your fishing pole. We suggest sticking close to shore.

Paradise Lake, which was closed after the fire, is now open. Hours are 5 A.M. to sunset Friday through Monday. As in the past no gasoline powered boats are allowed.

We hear from Lake Berryessa. Bass are on the move here to their spawning grounds. Fish are being taken near the banks and on the surface. The bass are fat and sassy and are a kick to catch. Patience is a virtue here.

A report from Lake Davis tells us the lake is still full of broken up ice and slush. Expect this body of water to bust wide open when the ice thaws.

Englebright Reservoir has been a good choice since the recent trout plant. Keep in mind there are other fish in this reservoir including some nice sized crappie and bass.

With water temperatures around 64 degrees the bass at Lake Oroville are on the move, hungry and will soon go into spawning mode. Keep this reservoir on your must do list.

The Sacramento River is still running high which has put a damper on the striped bass run. Sturgeon are also reported to be in the system.

As April comes to an end many anglers think about shad. It appears this year the shad will be mixed in with the striped bass run. Expect the shad to be in local rivers soon.

We certainly hope all of those trout anglers who fished streams and river for the opening weekend had success and perhaps a fish story or two to tell.

Closing thought: "People whose first instinct is to smile when you make contact with them are some of earth's greatest treasures."

Forbestown & Friends

Event Cancelled

Unfortunately after many meetings, much thought and a call out for volunteers at no avail we at FAC have made a decision to cancel Forbestown Daze for 2019. The decision came from lack of volunteers. There is an article on Yuba Vision called KEEP TRADITIONS ALIVE that might help explain the cancellation. We cannot begin to tell you how much we have appreciated the support, energy and participation the community has given over the years,

Speaking of FAC volunteers one of ours was lost in a tragic accident, 27 year old Ashley Conklin. Ashley has lived in Forbestown her whole life and will be sorely missed by all. She leaves behind two beautiful children. She was also known to be pretty handy working on Cars.

Now for some good news

FAC has decided to put on two smaller summer events. On June 15th we will have a Summer Kick Off party. It will include food, drinks, games and music. As the date draws near we will have more details.

In August with the help of the Elevation Church and Pastor Franky we will have A Summer Close Out Party. It will have most of the same events as the Summer Kick Off. At that time the Elevation Church will be having their annual handout of backpacks for back to school.

BUNCO BUNCO BUNCO Game on!

The flyer is out and on social media. On May 11th Saturday Night at 5pm. A fast moving dice game all luck no skill. This is great way to meet with friends new and old. $5.00 buy in $5 Dinner menu, pulled pork sandwiches, salad and a drink soda or water. Pretty good deal. At the end of the night prizes will be awarded. We are hoping that this can become a monthly event. It will be held at the Forbestown Community Center on New York Flat road.

What has 50+ screaming kids and 2000+ eggs and is over in 5 minutes? You guessed it Forbestown annual Easter egg hunt. On April 20th. What a sight to behold little tiny kids running and falling. Big kids running into the forest with sacks, baskets, and buckets. I am pretty sure everyone got some goodies.

From the egg hunt I proceeded over to the 17th Annual Bake Sale at Oregon House Store. Where I came across three lovely ladies very busy pitching A large assortment of baked goods. I picked up this one loaf of sourdough bread it must have weighed 3 pounds it looked delicious. With the help of two strong men who were willing to get up at dawn they did the set up and tear down in the afternoon. How often do you hear strong men and Bake sale in the same venue. Thanks guys.

Another thing that was going at the same time that made the Bake Sale a huge success was a Motorcycle Poker run in the parking lot. The organizers may help us with our Toy Run this year you heard it we are planning a Toy Run for November. Collecting toys will help us with the toys given out when Santa Comes to town. We should have all the details and advertising done by the end of May.

Park Clean Up

The date is May 4th Saturday starts at 9am. Bring gloves, rakes and shovels if you have them. We will be raking up pine needles and trimming low lying branches.

As always, our meetings are open to all who live in Yuba/Butte County. We have an agenda but with new people and new ideas it some times is more like a think tank. So please come join us, the next Meeting is May 9th at 6:30.

Food and Farm News

Illegal dumping scars farmland

Old mattresses, tires, sofas, appliances, household trash--all that and more gets dumped illegally on California farms. Some farmers say they have trash discarded on their property as often as weekly. Prosecutions for illegal dumping are rare. One Sutter County farmer has taken action by founding a grassroots citizens group to clear illegal dump sites. The group removed 72,000 pounds of trash in its first two cleanup days.

Blueberry season builds to annual peak

California-grown blueberries will soon begin reaching market in larger volumes, and farmers say they expect their crop to recover from the frost-damaged production of a year ago. As with many other crops, blueberry harvest has been delayed by cool, rainy weather earlier in the year. Peak season for California blueberries typically arrives in mid-May, and farmers say they expect to have plenty of fruit available.

Rising fuel prices affect farmers

As retail diesel fuel prices have climbed back to $4 a gallon, California farmers look for ways to adjust. Fuel prices tend to rise seasonally, but average diesel prices in the state stand about 18 cents a gallon higher than a year ago. That means farmers face higher costs to run equipment, and could also see prices rise for hauling crops or livestock to market. Some farmers say they may operate equipment less frequently in response to fuel costs.

USDA seeks student ideas to cut food waste

With a contest called "Ace the Waste," the U.S.

Department of Agriculture solicits ideas from students on how to reduce food waste. The USDA announced the first-ever contest Tuesday for students aged 11 to 18. The contest will offer prizes for ideas to prevent food waste, recover excess food to feed people, recycle food scraps to keep them out of landfills, and to raise awareness of the issue.

TRANSIT FARES TO INCREASE JULY 1ST

Marysville, Ca. Following a public hearing at their April 18th meeting, the Yuba-Sutter Transit Board of Directors adopted a new systemwide fare structure that will become effective on Monday, July 1, 2019. The new structure will include fare increases and fare policy changes for all of Yuba-Sutter Transit's local, rural and intercity commuter services. While cash fares will increase on all services, most passengers will be able to avoid or substantially lessen the impact of these increases by changing fare media from cash to pass or by taking advantage of the local fixed route daily cap by placing cash value on a Connect Card electronic fare card.

Cash Fares	Basic	Discount*	Daily Cap*
Local Fixed Routes	$1.50 ($1.00)	$0.75 ($0.50)	$3.00 ($3.00)
Dial-A-Ride (DAR)	Not Available	$3.00 ($2.00)	Not Available
Weekday Evening DAR	$4.00 ($3.00)	$2.00 ($1.50)	Not Available
Sacramento Commuter	$4.50 ($4.00)	Not Available	Not Available
Sacramento Midday	$4.50 ($4.00)	$2.25 ($2.00)	Not Available
Rural Routes	$3.00 ($2.00)	$1.50 ($1.00)	Not Available

Monthly Pass Fares*	Basic	Discount*	Notes
Local Fixed Routes	$30 ($30)	$15 ($15)	Discount Pass $5 thru 3/2020
Dial-A-Ride (DAR)	Not Available	Not Available
Weekday Evening DAR	Not Available	Not Available
Sacramento Commuter	$135 ($128)	Not Available	15 Day Break Even Basis
Sacramento Midday	$135 ($128)	Not Available	15 Day Break Even Basis

* Discount fares are available where applicable to eligible seniors (age 65 and over), youth (age 5 – 18) or persons with disabilities. The local fixed route daily cap and all monthly passes are available only with a Connect Card electronic fare card.

The purpose of the increase is to help assure that Yuba-Sutter Transit will continue to meet minimum state requirements for the percentage of operating costs that must be recovered from passenger fares. Local fixed route cash fares have been unchanged since 1993, Dial-A-Ride fares were last increased in 2004 and Sacramento fares were last increased in 2010. Even with the increase, Yuba-Sutter Transit's local cash fares will still be among the lowest in the region while the cost of monthly passes will easily remain the lowest in the region. At the same time, a number of recent and pending fleet, service, and program improvements will further enhance these services including the replacement and upgrade of more than half the fleet from July 2018 through December 2019; the recent addition of free on-board Wi-Fi service for the local fixed route and Sacramento services; the pending introduction of a systemwide passenger friendly automatic vehicle location system; and, a host of bus stop enhancements early this summer.

New service brochures reflecting the new fare structure will be available in June. Contact Yuba-Sutter Transit at info@yubasuttertransit.com or at (530) 634-6880 for more information.

Discover Malakoff! Upper Humbug Trails with Chris Ward

Discover Malakoff!
Upper Humbug Trails
with Chris Ward

Nevada City, Ca.

The Friends of North Bloomfield & Malakoff Diggins and California State Parks Sierra Gold sector have scheduled a very special Discover Malakoff! hike Saturday, May 11, from 11AM-2-PM. The goal of the Discover Malakoff! events and activities is to ignite interest and support for the wide spectrum of resources and activities available to the public at Malakoff Diggins State Historic Park.

The family-friendly guided 4-mile loop hike is considered moderate in difficulty, with less than 1,000' total elevation gain.

Chris Ward*, author of Cemeteries of the Western Sierra, will guide the custom loop of Malakoff Diggins SHP trails, regaling hikers with stories and snippets of history, from the pre-history of the first inhabitants, the gold-mining era, and post-mining occupations, to the modern day. We will learn about Native American, Chinese, and French cultural influences to this landscape, and discover the beauty of spring in the foothills, with wildflowers, waterfalls, and birdsong.

Hikers are advised to bring camera, picnic lunch, water bottle, and dress in layers, to accommodate the changeable spring weather. Sturdy shoes are a must. Long-sleeved shirts and long pants are recommended, to protect from the occasional brush with poison oak and the emerging mosquitos. Bring a small backpack to store unused items.

Children 10 and above can handle the hike with the support of a parent/guardian. Due to some tree fall across the trail from this winter's storms, some trail sections have not been completely cleared; therefore, brief sojourns off-trail will happen.

"I think the hike offers a healthful and familiar walk, yet will also provide some new insights with the addition of an uncommon forested route to ponder and enjoy" observes hike leader Chris Ward.

Please leave your dogs at home for this event.

Note: Accessing the park from Highway 49 and Tyler Foote Road is recommended, as the shortest route via North Bloomfield Road is very rough, and unpaved from Edwards Crossing.

Registration This event is limited to the first 30 participants and requires pre-registration RSVP. A waitlist will be maintained.

Avengers: Endgame

Starring: Robert Downey, Jr., Chris Evans and Mark Ruffalo. Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 3 hours, 1 minute.

After the dust off of Avengers: Infinity War, The Avengers assemble for one last go at Thanos. Their path is long and straight, short and winding with a touch of yesterday in it. Will they find victory at the end or yet another bite of bitter defeat? I ain't gonna tell.

Avengers: Endgame, earns, four out of five, Simulcast Code Monkeys. This is a fun movie that tell a huge story in three hours. The beginning seems a tad slow and choppy, but turns out to be a drum beat that is slowly growing fast as the movie progresses. The story is good and works well with a convoluted script. The acting is great, there are some nicely nuanced performances and a few clunky scenes that detract from the performances. If you haven't seen this movie yet then judging by the number of showings it has had and the lines I have seen at the theater, you may be the only one. It certainly is worth a trip to see on the big screen. So go out and watch it and don't forget where you put your gloves.

The Three Monkeys, posing as Regressives (spawned by Hard Left Progressives) keep screaming "There is No Crisis at the Border, None, Nada." Keep it up "Estupidos," and you will enjoy the same fate as phrased by the astute Louisiana Congressman Kennedy, "You can't fix Stupid, but you can vote them out of office." Yuma Border State of Emergency

According to AZ Central, news media source 4-16-19, in part, Yuma Mayor Doug Nicholls issued a proclamation of emergency saying the continued mass release of migrants directly into his border community had become an "imminent threat" to life and property in the area.

The city lacks the resources it needs to handle the migrants, he said.

Yuma is the first border city in the U.S. to declare a state of emergency as part of its response to the latest surge in the number of migrant families reaching the U.S.-Mexico border to seek asylum.

"Today is a day that we had talked about three weeks ago, hoping never to get to," Nicholls said at a news conference on Tuesday.

With a "heavy heart," the mayor said he signed the document as a means to seek resources and to protect residents and vulnerable migrants.

"... the mass release of migrant families from federal detention facilities into the City of Yuma without provisions for adequate food, water, shelter and medical care threatens to cause injury, damage and suffering to persons and property located in the City of Yuma, Yuma County, Arizona as well as causing a humanitarian crisis," the proclamation read.

The emergency proclamation was a plea for federal and state assistance.

"The transportation network is just insufficient to keep up with demand," Nicholls said. "and the backlog of people staying at the shelter has created this capacity issue."

When migrants are released into the community with a notice to appear in court, the relative they will be staying with is responsible for purchasing their bus or flight ticket to their location.

The Yuma area, with a population of 200,000 people, has limited bus routes and transportation options compared with larger cities like Phoenix and Tucson.

And since migrant families are also released in those cities, migrants in Yuma often struggle to purchase their tickets. So they end up staying at the shelter longer, according to Capt. Jeffrey Breazeale, who operates the temporary shelter for the Salvation Army.

In signing the declaration, Nicholls said he hopes to draw national attention to the plight of local communities struggling with a federal issue, adding that he's talking to officials in other border cities and calling on them to issue similar emergency declarations.

The mayor added that he talked to Arizona Gov. Doug Ducey, who signaled his support for the declaration.

White House Press Release 4-18-19

The current situation at the southern border presents a border security and humanitarian crisis that threatens core national security interests and constitutes a national emergency.

President Donald J. Trump has warned repeatedly that our border is being overwhelmed and, as the numbers show, that is exactly what is happening.

United States Customs and Border Protection (CBP) engaged in more than 100,000 border enforcement actions in March – the most for one month in more than a decade.

Total enforcement actions were 516 percent higher than in March 2017.

Border Patrol apprehensions for this fiscal year, through March, have exceeded the entire fiscal year totals for 2017, 2015, 2012, and 2011.

Border Patrol apprehensions increased 38 percent from February to March.

An unsustainable number of alien families and children are arriving at the border; these migrants cannot be promptly removed and require extensive care and resources.

Sixty-four percent of all border enforcement actions in March were directed to unaccompanied alien children and family units.

More than 75,000 migrants were apprehended or deemed inadmissible at the border in February, a disturbing upward trend from monthly totals late last year.

The overwhelming surge of migrants has created a system-wide meltdown as resources and personnel at the border are being stretched completely beyond their capacity.

The Secretary of Homeland Security has directed immigration agencies to return the maximum possible number of aliens each day to Mexico to await immigration proceedings.

Hundreds of aliens can now wait in Mexico while their immigration cases are adjudicated.

The Administration secured the first-ever agreement with Northern Triangle countries to help stop caravans. The broken immigration system is driving more and more unaccompanied alien children and families to make the dangerous trek to our border.

In the past, illegal immigration across our southern border was primarily committed by single adult males from Mexico who could be quickly removed, but now most are families and minors from Central America.

Currently, we cannot promptly return unaccompanied alien children who arrive at our border from countries other than Mexico and Canada from flooding across our border and to combat human smuggling and trafficking.

A settlement agreement and subsequent court rulings have effectively forced the Government to release aliens traveling with a minor after approximately 20 days.

Our asylum laws need to be tightened in order to prevent rampant abuse of the system while protecting legitimate asylum seekers.

Columnist's comment: "Yes, Harriet, there is definitely a Crisis at the Border."

Sutter County Taxpayers Association Joins Opposition to ACA 1

by Patricia Miller, President, Sutter County Taxpayers Association

The Sutter County Taxpayers Association has joined a coalition of taxpayer and business groups in opposing Assembly Constitutional Amendment 1 which would make it easier for local governments to increase local taxes to be earmarked for public infrastructure and housing by lowering the voter threshold to 55% of the electorate, instead of the two-thirds vote required under current law.

According to the California Taxpayers Association, the measure would allow local governments to increase parcel taxes, sales/use taxes and Mello-Roos with a 55 percent vote instead of the two-thirds vote currently required under the State Constitution if the tax proceeds are earmarked for public infrastructure or defined affordable housing.

ACA 1 would erode Proposition 13 safeguards passed by the voters four decades ago to provide a check and balance to local government taxing authority and to ensure a greater representative voice for those who would be taxed.

SCTA president Pat Miller urges taxpaying citizens to contact their legislators to strongly oppose ACA 1 which attacks our Proposition 13 protections.

Yuba Water Agency Wins Project of the Year Award

Sacramento, Ca.

A project to maintain dam safety and increase reservoir capacity by removing and hauling away sediment from upstream of one of Yuba Water Agency's diversion dams is the winner of the 2018 American Society of Civil Engineers, Sacramento Section Outstanding Construction Project of the Year award.

In less than two months, the agency removed approximately 12,000 cubic yards of sediment from behind Log Cabin Dam, which is located in the Yuba County foothills in the remote community of Camptonville. The sediment buildup was a result of previous winters' storms and heavy flows in the creek.

In addition to working in steep terrain, the project also required careful cooperation with the California Department of Fish and Wildlife and all of the agencies involved to rescue and relocate foothill yellow-legged frogs, fish, and other aquatic vertebrates using the waterway. To do this, water was diverted from the creek to bypass the dam, and then a road was constructed to gain access to where the sediment had built up.

"It was challenging to bypass the water in this remote location because we had to do it without any interruption in flows to maintain habitat downstream," said Yuba Water Agency Chief Dam Safety Engineer Tim Truong. "It could not have been done without the support, communication, and coordination between all the agencies, consultants, and the contractor."

After successfully diverting the water away from the dam, the sediment was excavated and allowed to dry at a temporary location before it was then loaded into trucks and transported to a final stockpile near Yuba Water Agency's New Bullards Bar Dam and Reservoir.

The Log Cabin Sediment Removal Project was completed without any injuries to workers, while successfully rescuing and relocating wildlife, and maintaining flows to avoid harming downstream habitat.

Sutter County Sheriff's Deputies Receive 9 Percent Pay Increase

Sutter County sheriff's deputies received a 9 percent pay increase over three years in bargaining completed earlier this year.

Instead of permanent pay increases that would increase the County's pension burden, most other county employees received one-time payments equaling three percent of salary over a two-year period that will not require pension contributions from the County or increase pension payouts.

"The Board is pleased to be able to focus on the salary of the sheriff's deputies, so the County can retain quality law enforcement officers and remain competitive in hiring," said Sutter County Board of Supervisors Chairman Mat Conant. "Public safety is a Board priority."

"At the same time, we are dealing with a period of escalating pension costs, and the one-time payments to other bargaining groups, which do not require pension contributions or increase our pension costs in any way, were a good compromise in bargaining," Conant said.

With evidence other law enforcement agencies in the region have an advantage in hiring, the Board approved salary increases of 3 percent in each of three fiscal years for deputies, sergeants, and investigators in the District Attorney's Office.

Correctional officers, dispatchers, and other non-management Sheriff's Office personnel received a 3 percent one-time payment that will not impact pension costs in this fiscal year. They will receive a two percent salary increase in Fiscal Year 2019-2020 which begins July 1, and another one percent pay increase on July 1, 2020.

None of the other bargaining units, including the largest group of general employees, firefighters, confidential employees, and management employees received a permanent pay increase. Instead, the Board approved "non-pensionable" payments equaling three percent of salary over two fiscal years. The payments do not increase the salary range on the position allocation schedule, and thus are not a permanent commitment by the County.

On April 9, the Board approved one-time payments totaling three percent over two fiscal years for the elected offices of Sheriff-Coroner, Clerk-Recorder, Treasurer, Auditor, Assessor, and District Attorney. These payments will not require pension contributions or increase pension pay outs.

The Board of Supervisors has yet to consider an ordinance approving one-time payments of three percent over two fiscal years for the Board members. The Sutter County Board of Supervisors is one of the lowest paid in California, but the Board has declined opportunities in the past decade to increase its compensation.

- The Democrats Plan: Impeachment in search of a reason.

- The Democrats continually insist they are compassionate. Yet they stand by in their gated mansions while thousands sleep in the streets.

- The selfish privileged actress in the college cheating scandal may be allowed to spend her eventual jail time at home. A prime example of a double standard for the "rich and famous."

- Cal Expo hosts a marijuana sell-fest. Hundreds stagger around blowing smoke and getting high. Then they all jump in their cars and play chicken on the streets. Definitely a politician's method to make the rest of us feel safe.

- Is Rachel Maddow real or some kind of lefty robot who missed the brain insertion station? She says that Trump should be impeached for interfering with the FBI's attempt to frame him.

- The Democrats want to spend even more of the public's money on investigations. Two years and 10s of millions isn't enough for them. They would do better to concentrate on their legislative functions to deal with real problems. But they are like kids with a video game – they solve nothing if they win.

- Ford and Kavanaugh are found on the 2018 Time Magazine list of 100 influential people. Kavanaugh belongs; he is a Supreme Court Judge. Ford does not. Then again AOC is also included. She shows that a bartender can vault to Congress in a single bound. Well, she fits right in with the remainder of the Congressional snowflakes.

- New York Mayor Bill de Blasio said its "illegal" for the federal government to send illegal aliens to sanctuary cities. Apparently it is legal for illegal invaders to be sent to any other city. Dingbat.

- Of all the plastics in the ocean, 100% come from ten rivers, flowing into the ocean—eight in Asia and two in Africa—none in America. So why all the fuss and feathers in the Congress and State Legislations? Do our elected officials simply want to kill more manufacturing and put more families on the streets?

- Our simple-minded legislators have introduced Assembly Bill 1080 and Senate Bill 54 which would require single-use plastic packaging sold or distributed in the state to be reduced or recycled by 75 percent by 2030. On or after 2030, all single-use packaging and products distributed are to be recyclable or compostable. These legislative efforts would outlaw molded containers, soft drink containers, and detergent bottles. Dingbat dolts.

- Something to think about. To teach our children to lie and cheat is not the American Way. The "rich and famous" need some lessons in civic responsibility.

- The Mainstream media constantly touts the climate change blessings of electric cars. Have you ever looked at the facts? When the CO2 footprint of production is included, electric cars reduce CO2 emissions by very little compared to gas-powered cars. The Nissan Leaf, is estimated to produce 31 metric tons of CO2 over a 90,000-mile lifetime. Over a similar lifespan, a comparable diesel car to the Nissan Leaf, the Mercedes CDI A160, is estimated to produce 34 metric tons of CO2. Propaganda is rife with disinformation about electric cars, solar panels and windmills. The earth is in constant change and has been from its inception. Nothing we can do about it.

- Another example. Electric cars require around 30,000 pounds of CO2 to produce, the equivalent of driving 80,000 miles. Gas-powered cars require just 14,000 pounds of CO2 to produce.

- In the city of Atascadero, if residents or commercial businesses overfill their recycling bins or willfully throw non-recyclables in the recycle bin they could be charged a $50 fee. Currently this coastal city has drug problems, homelessness, unaffordable housing, and high cost for water and energy. It has crime, slums, and financial problems. But what is the priority of the snowflake city council? A "garbage can police force" to make sure you do not put newspapers with bottles in a garbage can. Maybe their next move will be to make temporary housing out of the recycle toter.

- After the Yuba County Supervisors give their approval to marijuana, what is the next drug they will support? Opioids?

- The mainstream media can't help itself with huge headlines about how "anything other than what is being done now" will "help in the fight against climate change." How about doing some studies that would really help? Like dealing with the homeless, fighting diseases, etc.

- Members of the Border Patrol endanger themselves and those they chase when pursuing illegal invaders. Perhaps the damages and deaths might be reduced by a good ol' fence. What do you think?

- If you think it would be a good idea for the government to attack climate change, think of how well the government has dealt with the DMV, the high-speed rail, or the VA.

- PGE wants more money from everyone to fund wildfire prevention. In plain language we have to empty our pockets so others can live in the middle of the woods knowing that the area burns on occasion.

- Hair style is to become a protected class against which discrimination is illegal in California if the brain-dead legislators crawl out of their holes to vote. How about piercing and tattoos? Or bushy eyebrows? Or hairy ears or nose? Is there any stupidity our elected officials will not dream up? When will they finally grow into adults? Won't happen. They are politicians. They'll never be more than Munchkins (Urban dictionary definition).

- Let's imagine how far the legislators will go with the use of deadly force issue. Let's see. The police can only shoot after they are killed. That would certainly end all bad guys taking a bullet.

- The Green New Deal and everything free. Keep in mind that FDR's New Deal under the Democrats was failing badly until Hitler ginned up the 2nd World War. That event was what brought us out of the Depression, not Democrats.

- Oh, AOC, just send me all your salary, savings and any other valuable possessions so I can sit in my rocking chair and eat bonbons.

Sutter County Purchases Building to Consolidate Like Services

Taking a step to achieving one of its top priorities, the Sutter County Board of Supervisors approved the $1.1 million purchase of a 6,500 square foot building at 1190 Civic Center Boulevard, Yuba City, adjacent the County's Administrative Offices at 1160 Civic Center, near Development Services at 1130 Civic Center, and across the street from Yuba City Hall, the Sutter County Courthouse, and Sutter County Jail.

The building will house the Assessor's Office, which is currently located in 1160 Civic Center Boulevard. The Treasurer-Tax Collector's Office and the Auditor's Office, currently located in the art deco building near the levee at 463 Second Street, Yuba City, will move into 1160 Civic Center Boulevard.

The $1.1 million purchase price is lower than the $1.2 appraised value of the building, which formerly housed a financial services business. The money for the purchase comes from development impact fees. The County is expected to make $400,000 to $600,000 in improvements to the building, including meeting Americans with Disability Act requirements.

The Board previously identified as one of its goals reducing the number of buildings it owns or rents. The District Attorney's Office is slated to be moved near the courthouse on Veterans Memorial Circle where the Public Health Department is currently located. Public Health will be moved to 850 Gray Avenue along with most other Health and Human Services functions when the former retail building is renovated.

"Our goal is to reduce our footprint from more than 23 buildings scattered around Yuba City, to fewer buildings with like functions near each other," said Board of Supervisors Chair Mat Conant. "This will make it easier for residents to access County services, and it will reduce the cost of providing these services."

Escrow on 1130 Civic Center, which is being purchased from C.C.P. Property, is expected to close in April.

Sutter County Approves Conversion of Existing Ag Parking Area Into Commercial, Full-Service Truck Stop

Following a public hearing during which there was no opposition, the Sutter County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday, April 23, approved a use permit to allow a Sutter County couple to convert an existing gas station, convenience store, and agricultural truck parking operation into a general truck stop with a driver's lounge, truck washing station, truck scale, and a four-bay truck repair building and an expanded above ground fuel storage. The project also includes a coffee drive-through with service window for autos.

The Board approved the application of Balwinder and Dalbir Dhami to upgrade Dhami's Truck Stop at the southwest corner of the intersection of O'Banion Road and Highway 99, just north of the intersection of Highway 113. The Board accepted the recommendation of the Sutter County Planning Commission together with 25 conditions for approval, including drainage improvements, waste water recycling at the truck wash station, limiting noise-generating activities to the hours between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m., and a dust control plan.

One neighbor to the project, Barbara LeVake, complimented County staff and the Dhamis for working together on a quality project. The staff report exceeded 100 pages.

There will be no increase in the number of trucks allowed to park on the property at any one time (24), however commercial truckers will now be able to park on the property, not just agricultural trucks.

Yuba Sutter Arts to Host Teacher Appreciation Week Event

Marysville, Ca. Yuba Sutter Arts will host its annual celebration of our local teachers in observance of National Teacher Appreciation Week on Tuesday, May 7th starting at 4pm. Yuba-Sutter area Art, Drama, Music and English Teachers are all invited to the YSA Art Gallery, 624 E Street in Marysville to enjoy live music, a BBQ dinner and other refreshments, wine and other beverages. We will welcome all teachers and administrators and the general public who are all encouraged to attend this free event to say, "Thank You." Plan to share a story about a teacher that made a difference in your life or in the life of someone you know. Attendees will also be able to enjoy the May art gallery show, "Art to End Tobacco," featuring the work of local high school students who created art based on that prompt. "We are continuing our annual commemoration of National Teacher Appreciation Week in honor of our ongoing and deepening collaboration with English, Art, Music and Theater teachers in both counties," said David Read, YSA Executive Director. "Our Arts in Education portfolio continues to expand with more student art shows, the Scholastic Art & Writing Awards program, Jump StArts program for at risk youth, Poetry Out Loud (thanks to English teachers like Pam Sullivan) and many others," he added. National Teacher Day began as a day for honoring teachers and recognizing the lasting contributions they make to our lives. Teachers play a critical role in educating and shaping our children: the future leaders of our country. They are kind, patient, hard-working, dedicated and understanding professionals that mold our children's lives in a positive direction. We entrust our children with the teachers, and they affect their lives on a daily basis. Political and educational leaders first began discussions for a day to honor teachers as early as 1944. In 1953, Eleanor Roosevelt persuaded the 81st Congress to proclaim March 7, 1980 as the first National Teachers' Day. Teacher Appreciation Week offers the opportunity for residents to reaffirm their commitment to parent-teacher-community partnerships. While appreciation alone will not reduce the challenges teachers face, it will let them know their efforts are not going unnoticed.

Are Public Pensions Fair

ance, or school tuition what would you do? You would be downsizing and drastically changing your future. County leaders would not tell the truth of the pension catastrophe choosing instead to spend hundreds of thousands of tax dollars to deceive voters that Measure K was all about public safety. Now county-hired attorneys are defending Measure K in court saying it had nothing to do with public safety. They are liars. If Measure K was advertised as a tax increase to put-off bankruptcy for a few years due to a pension fiasco it would have never passed. Supervisors / water agency directors also kept other revenue streams on the low to not undermine their public safety scare campaign. The voters could not be trusted with transparency and the truth. Don't try this at home or at work. You may end up divorced or in jail.

Because Your Money Matters!

Marc Cuniberti hosts "Money Matters" on KVMR 89.5 FM Thursdays at noon. His website is www.moneymanagementradio.com

"A democracy is always temporary in nature; it simply cannot exist as a permanent form of government. A democracy will continue to exist up until the time that voters discover that they can vote themselves generous gifts from the public treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidates who promise the most benefits from the public treasury, with the result that every democracy will finally collapse due to loose fiscal policy, which is always followed by a dictatorship"

Alexander Fraser Tytler:

Tytler is stating here that eventually a democratic system will fail, because the populace will always vote in the majorities best interests, "best interests" being the key word here.

The reason the failure of democracy is predetermined is because of monetary inflation or money printing. By inflating the money supply (printing money) the prices of most if not all things will rise in price of whatever the currency is being printed. Think U.S. dollars here in the United States or Mexican Peso in Mexico.

Monetary inflation is always caused by the authority of the currency, basically the government of whatever country is in question. Inflation is not necessarily a bad thing except for one economic truth:

Wages always lag price increases. This means the more inflation you have, and the longer you have it, what I call the "Affordability Gap" will relentlessly widen. As prices rises, wages fall further and further behind. As the wage gap (affordability gap) continues to widen, more people "fall under the bus", meaning they have a harder and harder time making ends meet. The result is the wealth concentrates to fewer and fewer people over time.

If that wasn't bad enough, as more people find it harder to pay their bills, the calls for government assistance get louder and louder. This results in the candidates promising the most benefits getting elected while those vying for a return to a sound economic model (the cessation of printing money) get voted out.

This results in more and more elected officials towing the party line of ever increasing government assistance, which in turn results in more money printing, which results in more inflation which causes even more people to need help.

Because the cause and effect of monetary inflation is not widely understood, the very policies the masses cry for (more and more public assistance) make the situation worse.

It's a vicious cycle as well as a deceptive one. The concentration of wealth is also predicted and a natural byproduct of this process. Because wealth is in essence never destroyed, the decrease in wealth in the masses also means that wealth moves up the food chain. The more people who go broke, the more money moves up. The result is the wealth continues to concentrate in the hands of fewer and fewer people.

This happens because inflation hurts the lower incomes but actually enriches the higher incomes. Imagine a family making 30,000 with no assets seeing a 5% annual inflation rate. They see their expense rise by 5% (losing $1,800 in buying power due to the inflation) and have no way of making it up.

Now imagine an individual who has 30 million in assets (regardless of what he makes). His assets also see a 5% inflation rate. His net worth will increase six million (5% of 30 million). Whereas the family making 30K only finds it harder to pay their bills, the rich person has actually gotten a heck of lot richer.

Also remember his six million came from somewhere, and using the $1,800 in loss wages figure from above, the 6 million increase in wealth means 3,333 families went under (6 million divided by $1,800) to make this one guy richer. Now that's a fast path to the concentration of wealth!

Monetary inflation, by demanding more and more free "stuff", will eventually devastate those in the lower income brackets, the very ones calling for it. And because that bracket will get larger and larger over time, they will eventually vote themselves the "generous gifts" referred to in Tytler's quote and the cycle will progress.

Put in another way, the rich LOVE inflation, and they LOVE when there are calls for more help, because it makes them that much richer.

What those voting for more government assistance don't realize is the very thing they think will help will just do more damage.

But like a drug, monetary inflation is also addictive, for to stop using it and go back to a healthy economic model means the withdrawal will be massively painful. And it will be so for the very same people that the first go around devastated. And like a drug, we continually need more and more of it. Think minimum wage increases and how many times it's been raised. And here we go again, round and round.

As for the rich, they probably hope the masses keep calling for more assistance through more government freebies, because they love it. But don't expect the masses to understand it.

From Upton Sinclair: "It is difficult to get a man to understand something, when his salary depends on his not understanding it."

Green Outside Red Inside

Former Greenpeace co-founder Patrick Moore had harsh words for the modern environmental movement, calling global warming "the greatest scam in history" and denouncing the use of "fear and guilt" to push the message.

Moore says, "You're afraid you're killing your children because you're driving them in your SUV and emitting carbon dioxide into the atmosphere and you feel guilty for doing that. There's no stronger motivation than those two."

"This abomination that is occurring today in the climate issue is the biggest threat to the enlightenment that has occurred since Galileo. Nothing else comes close," Moore insisted, likening the contemporary environmental movement to "a toxic mix of ideology, of politics and religion."

Moore tells the truth, "CO2 is the food for life! It's not pollution."

Is it not suspicious that liberals shut down the west coast timber industry to save the spotted owl with no scientific evidence that humans were the problem? Then liberals closed thousands of miles of public terrain because of various creatures of concern.

At the same time the Obama Administration gave exemptions to wind turbine companies to chop-up tens of thousands of birds each year including Bald Eagles without a peep from the Sierra Club or the Audubon Society to produce some of the most expensive electricity in history.

The carbon footprint to produce ethanol, wind and solar power, along with electric automobiles is far greater and more costly than using hydro-electric, fossil, and nuclear power. None of these 'green' approaches could survive without taxpayers giving corporation's billions in subsidies and then consumers paying a premium for the product. This policy was never about creating better and cheaper.

Solar panels and wind turbines are making electricity significantly more expensive, a major new study by a team of economists from the University of Chicago finds.

The cost to consumers has been staggeringly high: "All in all, seven years after passage (Renewable Portfolio Standards), consumers in the 29 states had paid $125.2 billion more for electricity than they would have in the absence of the policy," they write.

Author James Delingpole wrote a book titled "Watermelons - The Green Movement's True Colors." The fruit is green outside and red inside. The green movement has zero to do with saving the earth and everything to do with central state control of property and people - or socialism / communism. It's all red inside with a green front.

If a business is not making a profit by coming up with a better product or service then if it fits the left political agenda business can receive government subsidies (welfare) and the product/service (green energy) is forced upon consumers. Then the state undermines profitable industries it does not like.

As Governor Newsom acts as if he hasn't a clue why fuel prices are high his liberals have done all they could short of sabotaging refineries to run oil companies out of California. The state has been cursed by the voodoo science-driven politicians in Sacramento.

This green movement is about a socialist deep state running the nation and has nothing to do with a pristine environment, wise resource management, and pollution. Socialism and Communism do not need to make sense or be cost effective. Their proponents spare no expense, resource or lives to achieve total dominance and control.

If "April showers bring May flowers", as they say, May should be an unusually pretty month that will put many people in the mood for gardening - seasoned and beginning gardeners. The weather is usually beautiful and so many plants have come to life with lovely green foliage and colorful blooming flowers. This year seems to me to be especially beautiful, almost as if the plants are celebrating the end of the drought which brought more rain and snow that we have seen in five years. May is usually not too hot, nor too cold - great gardening weather. Most of the colorful annuals that will give fast color such as marigolds, petunias, alyssum, lobelia, for sunny areas and pansies, begonias, and impatiens for the shady spots are now available and are easily planted from six packs. If you are not one of the impatient people who need instant gratification, they can be planted from seeds.

As the weather begins to warm in the spring, along come many insects that enjoy it as well. There are many insecticides for sale, some are "specific" and some are "all purpose" and one needs to check the label to be sure your needs are covered. Diatomaceous earth is an effective insect repellent for many crawling insects including, slugs, grasshoppers, fleas, centipedes, ants, cockroaches, earwigs and many others. It is quite inexpensive, easy to use and safe around pets and people. Mealy bugs seem to like citrus trees. If you notice small white dots on the limbs and in the crotches of the limbs, they are probably young mealy bugs. They grow slowly and look like a scale problem. They stay flat and develop a white fuzzy coating that is difficult to penetrate unless a small amount of liquid soap or horticultural oil is added to the spray. When the bugs die spray them off with a strong stream of water.

As we work our way into May we frequently encounter some hot summerlike weather, so be ready. Check your irrigation systems and/or supplies. Drip systems should be turned on so that you can see where repairs are needed. Sprinklers should be checked to be sure they have not become plugged and that they work properly. It will be time to restore basins around any trees or plants that had been cut to allow for drainage during the winter. They will be needed for deep watering again for the summer season.

Roses are setting nice buds and some beginning to bloom as I type this, so they should be in their first beautiful spring show of the season by the time this is being read. Be sure to dead-head them and fertilize them regularly to keep them blooming. Spray them with a fungicide or Neem oil at the first sign of a fungus infection (Black Spot, Powdery Mildew or Rust) because they can spread quickly and be difficult to conquer. Those first flowers are often large and beautiful. As the summer heat comes the size of the flowers usually become somewhat smaller, but still lovely.

Many people have asked if it is too late to plant a vegetable garden. It is not too late. Many people purposely wait - they feel more confident that they will avoid a late season freeze and that being a bit later is no problem since they will quickly catch up to the other gardens planted nearby.

Just a reminder - if you have camellias, keep the fallen flowers raked up. As they decompose they can harbor a fungus that can damage the plants. If you have rhododendrons that have bloomed, the flower truss should be snapped off at its base and discarded. If they are not removed the plant will spend energy making seeds and may not bloom the following year. It would be a shame to miss them.
