Dr. Millie Jefferson – American Hero

by Lou Binninger

Since February is Black History Month many may not know about Dr. Mildred Faye Jefferson (April 6, 1927 – October 15, 2010.)

Born in Pittsburg, Texas, Jefferson was the only child of Millard and Guthrie Jefferson, a Methodist minister, and a school teacher. Mildred was raised in Carthage, Texas. At a young age, "Millie" followed the town doctor around while he made house calls leading to her interest in medicine.

Mildred was bright, an outlier for the eugenics movement and evolutionists that believed Blacks to be a separate less-evolved inferior race.

She graduated from the segregated public high school in Carthage at age 15 and then moved on to Texas College, a historically black school in Tyler, Texas, affiliated with the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church. She graduated at age 18, which was too young to enter medical school. She enrolled at Tufts University where she received a master's degree in biology. Jefferson then attended Harvard Medical School.

Mildred was the first black woman to graduate from Harvard Medical School, the first woman to graduate in surgery from Harvard and the first woman to become a member of the Boston Surgical Society.

She is known for and despised by liberals for her opposition to the legalization of abortion and her work with and serving as President of the National Right to Life Committee "National Right to Life Committee.

Jefferson was driven by a deep commitment to a Judeo-Christ-

FPPC, Bla, Bla, Bla

by Lou Binninger

If you are looking for a well-run California agency they are harder to find than Charles Darwin's missing link. You need to pack lunch, dinner and your meds to get through the Department of Motor Vehicles wait. DMV is so incompetent that it registered thousands of people ineligible to vote. Although the DMV director quit don't expect improvement from Deep State workers.

How about the Department of Water Resources (DWR)? Do you realize contractors are still working on the Oroville Dam? If it wasn't for Butte County Sheriff Honea taking command, downstream residents would have been clueless about evacuating after the spillway breach occurred on February 7, 2017. The DWR acted like "Keystone Cops" during the crisis after decades of negligence, incompetence and "Band-Aid-Style" or "Blind-Eye" maintenance.

Costs to repair the Oroville Dam spillway are now estimated at $1.1 billion — a $455-million increase from initial estimates says the DWR.

The spiking costs are blamed on design changes that have been made over the last 18 months and damage to the facility that was far more extensive than initially presumed. The neglected dam was doomed.

How about the Fair Political Practices Commission (FPPC)? This is a sibling of the corrupt California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) that protects utility monopolies. The FPPC is supposed to enforce political campaign laws.

Galena West has been director of the Enforcement Division since June 2015. The FPPC website states that "Under West's leadership, the Enforcement Division set a record year in 2015, with 333 cases resulting in .....over $700,000 in fines. And for the first time in its history, West's team successfully prosecuted a case of first impression concerning contributions made by a foreign source against a local initiative, which resulted in one of the most significant fines in recent years. This case was successfully prosecuted by the FPPC after federal regulators were unable to act. This not only resulted in a $61,500 fine, but more importantly sent a strong message that under West's leadership the Enforcement Division will not shy away from difficult cases and is prepared to aggressively prosecute such activity."

Yuba Water Agency Transfers Property Tax to Yuba County

Marysville, Ca.

Yuba Water Agency approved the transfer of its property tax revenue, which totals approximately $500,000 per year, to Yuba County, where the funds can be used in ways that can more broadly impact the lives of Yuba County's residents who need it most.

These funds will be added to the county's general fund, where they can be used for a much broader array of services than the water agency is legally authorized to spend money on.

"We are limited by state law as to how we can spend our revenues," said Yuba Water Agency Board Chairman Brent Hastey. "Our expenditures must be tied to our legal authorizations which cover reducing flood risk, ensuring a sustainable water supply, hydropower generation, fish habitat enhancement, recreation at New Bullards Bar and related purposes."

For decades, the agency has received a small portion of property tax revenue to help with the cost of business outside of power and reservoir operations, which were previously paid by PG&E.

The property tax revenues were a consistent, important part of Yuba Water Agency revenues until 2016. That year, Yuba Water Agency's power purchase agreement contract with PG&E expired and the water agency began receiving the revenue from the sale of that power generation, but also took on the responsibility for the associated expenses. That property tax funding is now only about one percent of the agency's annual revenue.

"We want this money to continue working to improve Yuba County," said Randy Fletcher, Yuba Water Agency vice-chairman and Yuba County supervisor for District 5. "Because the county has an array of services it provides, that tax revenue can be put to use in a way that will more directly impact the lives of Yuba County residents, through services and programs the water agency is not legally able to pay for. We hope transferring this tax revenue to the county will strengthen the county's financial position, and allow the people of Yuba County who need it the most to receive improved services."

Before the transfer of property tax revenue to Yuba County can proceed, the county is required to hold another public hearing, adopt a resolution of its own and file it with the auditor to appropriately adjust the tax revenue allocation.

The Yuba Water Agency Board of Directors unanimously agreed to transfer the property tax revenue with the condition that the transfer would expire after 10 years, so that the agency would have the ability in the future to reconsider it, in case its financial position changes in the future.

What's in a Name

by Carol Withington

In my possession are two commemorative postmarks and stamps from a small community in Plumas County. One is stamped Beckwith, dated 1908--the other is Beckwourth, dated 1970. Although the Beckwith post office opened in 1870, it was not until 1932 that the name was officially changed to Beckwourth. And to add to the confusion, the spelling of Beckwith is listed in the 1894 Great Register of Plumas County. This definitely was an error.

Named for the famous African-American mountain man, explorer, trapper and scout, some records reveal that James Pierson Beckwourth was born into slavery as James Beckwith in 1798. Let's not forget still another moniker--"Bloody Arm" because of his skill as a fighter.

According to Rudolph Lapp's "Blacks in Gold Rush California", when gold was discovered in 1849, Beckwourth guided several groups of migrants to California. It was while exploring the Pit River Valley in 1851 that Beckwourth discovered the pass that now bears his name. It soon after became the major overland wagon routes to the upper Sacramento Valley.

Beckwourth eventually settled in a small valley at the mouth of the pass near Portola. Over the years, he raised cattle and attempted to promote a wagon road through his pass to Marysville. However, the community did not accept his efforts for financial aid. In fact, a frustrated Beckwourth sent a letter to the "Marysville Herald" in August 1853 which read--"I intend to start today to the forks of the road at the sink of the Humboldt, to induce emigrants to travel this road--although the citizens of Marysville do not think it worthwhile to pay me for my trouble, or even pay me the amount I have paid out to get the road though it is more to their advantage than to mine."

There are many stories about this adventurous individual. Some come from Beckwourth himself. For along with his many skills, he also had the ability to "spin a good yarn". However, it is doubtless he ever told anyone about his strange encounter in Shasta County while visiting his friend--James La-Tour. This will be featured in that March edition. By the way, La-Tour is now spelled Latour. Oh well, what's in a name.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

The storm, which is underway at this writing, is expected to muddy up local rivers which will slow down the steelhead fishing and improve the sturgeon migration up stream. Anglers, who fish local reservoirs, will no doubt run into murky water as muddy streams, creeks, runoff and rivers enter these bodies of water.

Up in the high country at Lake Tahoe the Mackinaw lake trout are being taken on a regular basis. However, the weather up there is downright cold with snow on the ground which keeps many of us away from the action. Lake Davis, at this time is all ice. The reservoir froze over a while back. Stampede Reservoir is closed due to snow on the roads which has not been plowed. The access gate to Webber Lake has been closed and locked for the winter season.

Back in the valley Bullard's Bar Reservoir is up around 15 feet and rising. Englebright Reservoir, also known to us old folks as The Narrows, received a plant of rainbow trout last week. Lake Oroville continues to rise and the water has been cold and dirty. Collins Lake is still slow fishing at this time.

We decided to contact our weather source. He advised to expect on and off rain in the valley and snow in the mountains for the next month. He says to expect colder weather to hang around a spell.

Closing thought: "Now is a good time to get the fishing gear checked out and replace what is necessary."

Glass

Starring: James McAvoy, Bruce Willis, and Samuel L. Jackson. Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 2 hours 9 minutes.

Glass, is the third movie in a trilogy that no one knew was a trilogy. A vigilante uses his extraordinary powers to rescue a group of girls that have been kidnaped and take them off their kidnappers' menu. For his efforts he is placed in a psych ward and ends up in group therapy with his new found nemesis and his founder. Their therapist tries to convince them that their abilities are a delusion.

Glass, earns three out of five, Table Throwing Monkeys, The writing is good and the acting is better. James McAvoy does a great job sliding from one character to the next. The flow of the film is a bit odd as if M. Night Shyamalan had a great idea, but couldn't quite get it to come out how he wanted. I can relate with him on this. Glass, is one of the best movies M. Night Shyamalan has ever done. It is not a waste of money to see on the big screen. The movie will be on much firmer ground if you see, Unbreakable, and, Split, before going to see this.

tian ethic and what she felt was her own profession's betrayal of pre-born life. She felt the 1973 Supreme Court's Doe and Roe decisions gave doctors a license that could compromise their mandate to refrain from killing.

Dr. Jefferson said, "U.S. Supreme Court Justices don't have to see the impact or consequences of their decisions but then without consulting us they want us to carry out these socially destructive missions and I say no and I am not willing to give up the role of doctor as healer to become the new social executioner."

Jefferson saw a connection between the Supreme Court Dred Scott decision, slavery and abortion. She said, "In 1857, the U.S. Supreme Court looked at the slave, Dred Scott, and came up with the wrong decision, declaring the slave as 'property' and not a 'citizen' under the U.S. Constitution. The slave's life was still protected."

"In 1973, the U.S. Supreme Court got it wrong again and handed down decisions on abortion which declared 'open season' on unborn children throughout the full nine months of pregnancy. After 44 million abortions (before 2010), most people have not noticed that the population descended from the U.S. African slaves, comprising around 12% of the population, make up about 35% of the abortion population. This means that more Americans of African descent died in the abortion chambers than have died in all the years of slavery and lynchings."

Black activist and author Walter B. Hoye II says, "Our best estimates..... is that the current cumulative number of abortions from 1967 through June of this year (2015) is 59.4 million, of which an estimated 20,350,000 are Black American abortions.

Considering that the total current Black American population is about 42,000,000, the 20,350,000 Black American abortions are equal to 48.45% of the current Black American population. If not for abortion, the total Black American population would be approximately 62,350,000, or 48% greater than it is today.

Jefferson knew liberals wanted to eliminate the Black people through sterilization and abortion. Eugenics advocate and Planned Parenthood founder Margaret Sanger said, "We do not want word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population, if it ever occurs to any of their more rebellious members." (Woman's Body, Woman's Right: A Social History of Birth Control in America, by Linda Gordon). Sanger referred to Blacks, immigrants and the poor as "human weeds" and "reckless breeders" who never should have been born. (Margaret Sanger, Pivot of Civilization).

President Ronald Reagan credited Millie with educating him and changing his view on abortion to pro-life after he signed pro-abortion legislation as Governor of California. It's a shame that the good doctor and orator Mildred Fay Jefferson is despised by race hustlers, Black Lives Matter and all the other race agenda groups.

Yuba Sutter Arts and Sutter Performing Arts Association Collaborative Programs Raise Funding for Both Organizations

Marysville, Ca

The Sutter Performing Arts Association (SPAA) has been working to bring a world-class theater to Yuba-Sutter for over ten years. Since 1981, Yuba Sutter Arts has been working to support all aspects of art in the community. For four years, the two organizations have been working together to support each other in their different but aligned goals of increasing arts awareness and arts opportunities for both artists and the community at large.

As an example, the recent "Applause-Home for the Holidays" series of performances at the Burrows Theater at Yuba Sutter Arts netted $4,000 or $2,000 for each organization thanks to the generous support of the talented pool of local entertainers, sponsors and patrons who spent part of their holiday season enjoying the cabaret-style shows.

Yuba Sutter Arts and SPAA have also worked together to place fine artists in its Theater Gallery. The Gallery is directly adjacent to the Sutter Theater entrance and is another fundraising component for the remodel of the theater.

"Terri Tomlinson and her team have made remarkable progress and are so close to opening the 299-seat black box modular theater space," said David Read, Yuba Sutter Arts Executive Director. "We are hopeful that with upcoming fundraisers this spring and a major capital campaign push this year, the Sutter Theater will again reign supreme on Plumas Street as the key entertainment corridor in Yuba-Sutter," he added.

The presence of a commercial theater on this scale will enable SPAA to draw world class acts to the area. It will also provide a showcase for the many talented local actors, singers, dancers, musicians and a variety of ensembles from within the community. The black box theater will also be available for rentals for private events.

Film Planned to Shoot in Yuba Sutter

The troubled sister of a special needs person learns the true meaning of family when her mission to rob her drug dealer doesn't go as planned. That's the twisting plot of an action-comedy movie, "Molly Robber," set to be filmed in Yuba City.

The movie is co-written and produced by Yuba-Sutter native and New York University student Austin Hall. Local shooting is scheduled for March 15-March 24.

"I grew up here. I love this place. It has a certain uniqueness that no one has really capitalized on through film," Hall said.

Hall has wanted to be involved in the film industry since he was a child. When he was six he would visit Hollywood Video regularly with his grandmother and rent Jackie Chan movies, which he fell in love with.

"I would watch them and hope that one day I would be able make a film just as awesome," Hall said.

He began to study film and theater in high school and then went to NYU where he will graduate in May with a bachelor's degree in film and television production.

"Molly Robber" is scheduled to be filmed solely in Yuba-Sutter and will include actor Barry Bostwick, who's best known for his roles in "The Rocky Picture Horror Show," "The Incredibles 2," and the sitcom "Spin City."

Although there will be professional actors on set, Hall said they want to have as many Yuba-Sutter residents involved as possible. They are currently casting locally for additional roles in the film. They plan to put some proceeds from the film back into the community.

"We're working with a number of charities: Fractured Atlas, NYU Sustainability, The Carbon Fund, and the California Wildfire Relief Fund – to not only make this a film a reality but to help give back to the community who has given so much to me," Hall said.

Although they have received grants to film "Molly Robber," they hope to find additional sponsorship from local businesses and residents who would like to help put Yuba-Sutter on the film entertainment map.

For more information on sponsoring or auditioning for a role in "Molly Robber" email Mollyrobberfilm@gmail.com.

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

week of Feb. 6th. You can stuff a bag with many items for $3.00, what a bargain. Come help support our volunteer fire department.

On February 9 a group of parents from Yuba Feather school are having a fund raiser in front of Books & More. They are raising money to send students to the science program at Shady Creek. This is a week long camp that used to be held at Woodleaf and is a great program. They will be selling Valentine goodies and other items. If any of our flea market people would like to set up a booth that Saturday, that would be great. How about some local crafters setting up a booth; hope the weather is great.

Bob & Jim's Breakfast & Burgers can take care of all your catering needs. They can provide a wide array of menu items (not just burgers and sandwiches). Call Jim at 530-675-9181 or 530-675-2219 to discuss menu, pricing, etc. Brownsville Mercantile is opening a mini florist shop starting February 6th. They will be offering potted plants, fresh cut flowers, balloons and more. The Valentine's Day flower arrangements will be available starting February 12. Stop in and check it out. They are located on Willow Glen Rd. in Brownsville.

Look Back in Time – In 1912 Joseph Rose made a big strike at the Twentieth Century Wonder Mine in Rackerby, paying $5,000 per ton (wonder what the tonnage price is now).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Hiring Process for a New Yuba City Manager

Yuba City, Ca. With the impending departure of Steve Kroeger as our City Manager in February, many are wondering who will serve as the next City Manager. The City Council met in closed session to discuss the process of hiring a new City Manager. Since Mr. Kroeger is leaving the position in the coming weeks, the City Council decided to first appoint an interim City Manager. To ensure a timely process, the City Council established a subcommittee made up of Mayor Shon Harris and Councilmember Marc Boomgaarden to lead this effort. The City Council will be holding a special closed session meeting on January 31, 2019 to finalize details to ensure an interim City Manager is appointed as quickly as possible.

Once a contract with an interim City Manager is finalized, the City Council will begin a nationwide search to identify qualified candidates to fill the role of City Manager. Mayor Shon Harris stated, "Yuba City is financially stable and is known as one of the best run Cities in Northern California. I have no doubt we will have numerous candidates to interview as we consider a person to appoint as City Manager of our great City."

CHP "Start Smart" Program

California has the second highest fatality rate nationwide, involving drivers between the ages of 15-20. To help combat this growing problem, the California Highway Patrol (CHP) is conducting classes for teens and their parents. This is a program specifically geared toward reducing collisions and injuries involving teen drivers. This innovative program is called "Start Smart," Driving Smart to Stay Safe.

WHO:
Teens age 15-20 and their parents.

WHAT:
To raise awareness regarding the consequences of a poor choice when mixed with the decision to drive a motor vehicle. Attendees will hear personal testimony from someone directly affected by a tragic collision.

WHEN:
6:30 p.m., March 6, 2019. Please call to reserve a seat.

WHERE:
Yuba Sutter CHP office
1619 Poole Boulevard, Yuba City, CA 95993

WHY:
To save the lives and prevent injuries to teen drivers.

This class has been held bi-monthly for the past 14 years at the Yuba Sutter CHP Office. We are reaching out to the community and encouraging anyone interested in participating to call the Yuba Sutter CHP office and enroll. The class is free, takes 2 hours, and is guaranteed to leave a lasting impression on everyone in attendance. It has been said many times, this is the most important 2 hours a teen and parent can spend together to learn about the dangers of driving.

Food and Farm News

More snow could help projects deliver more water

When state surveys return to the Sierra Nevada Thursday, they'll find much more snow--a situation that encourages farmers. The Sierra snowpack now stands at about 105 percent of average, up from 70 percent at the start of the month. Farmers say they hope winter storms continue, and that improved rain and snow will lead to better water supplies. State and federal water projects delivered supplies of 35 and 50 percent last year.

Grape growers respond to losses from wildfire smoke

Smoke from wildfires caused millions of dollars in losses for winegrape growers last year, and they're taking steps in response. Research represents one step, as specialists seek more information on how wildfire smoke affects grapes and wine. About three-quarters of the state's vineyards are covered by crop insurance, and a grape growers organization encourages more farmers to enroll. And a disaster bill in Congress could include relief for farmers with smoke-damaged grapes.

Tree nurseries report continued demand for nuts

Nurseries that supply young trees to plant in new or replacement orchards say nuts remain popular among growers. Consumption of almonds and other nuts has continued to improve, and nuts offer farmers the added advantage of not needing as many employees to tend and harvest the trees once they mature. Nursery operators say they're selling more trees in containers, meaning they can be planted at different times of year other than the dormant winter season.

Study offers new insights into honeybee pest

New information about how a tiny pest attacks honeybees may offer clues for how to protect the pollinators. U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers say microscopic images of the varroa mite show that the mite appears to feed on a different part of bees than originally thought. The mites have been isolated as one cause of bee population declines. USDA says the study should help in developing new treatments to help honeybees fend off mite attacks.

Sacramento Keeps on Fooling Us

by John Coupal

run completely by the government bureaucrats at the California Air Resources Board. Taxpayer groups, small-business interests and most Republicans opposed the extension because it would further raise California's already sky-high cost of living. In addition to the cost, there was nothing in the political deal that guaranteed CARB wouldn't move forward with punishing regulations anyway.

Regrettably, the "it could have been worse" argument persuaded a handful of Republican legislators to vote for the cap-and-trade extension. And, true to form, the taxpayers' predictions have come true. CARB has adopted a regulation relating to a "price ceiling" that will increase the cost of the cap-and-trade program by an additional 60 percent. Today's gas prices and electricity costs will seem like a bargain compared to what they will be in a few short years under this new regulation.

The next example deals with the promises made regarding Senate Bill 1 in 2017, which imposed a huge increase in the car and gas tax. An effort to repeal those taxes with Proposition 6 failed at the ballot in November when the interests which benefit financially from the tax overwhelmed the repeal advocates with tens of millions of dollars in deceptive ad campaigns as well as illegal campaign activity.

The politicians who favored the tax hikes promised that money from SB 1 would be used to fix California's crumbling roads. But now, Gov. Newsom has said he would like to hold back those funds from local governments that fail to approve enough housing projects, typically high-density, transit-oriented housing projects. (sound familiar?)

If local transportation funds are held hostage until local governments genuflect to state-imposed mandates on housing, that would expressly violate the promises made to voters that the state's transportation woes would finally be addressed.

A third example of a deal about to be broken involves beverage taxes. Before the 2018 election, the American Beverage Association spent several million dollars to gather signatures for an initiative that would have required a two-thirds majority for approval of any and all new state and local taxes in California. The proposal was strongly supported by taxpayer groups and the business community at large. But the ABA made a deal with Gov. Brown to remove the initiative from the ballot in exchange for a new law that would ban state and local beverage taxes for 13 years. Although the beverage-tax ban was passed, the deal will almost surely be broken. Supporters of beverage taxes have already proposed a ballot initiative, and the law can always be changed by a new crop of legislators who never met a tax they didn't like.

There is an object lesson here. Political deals made in Sacramento are born to be broken. In light of this, it would behoove those who still believe in free enterprise, limited government and property rights to simply advocate for that which is right and decline to sit down and negotiate away our freedoms. Because all these deals have one thing in common – taxpayers always lose.

THINK About It!

By Charlie McNiff

Socialists Are Showing True Colors

Well, here we are at the beginning of another season of a whole slew of Democrats (call a lot of them Socialists) of lining up for the 2020 presidential run...I stopped counting at a little over 15 of them.

The only startling difference this time is the path to the highest office in the land has the left-leaning Democrat Party being dragged further to the Hard Left...and they are not making any bones about their intentions.

Remember the Big Hullabaloo three years ago when Hillary Clinton was campaigning against Donald Trump and somebody unearthed her comments at a South America Banker's Convention a few years prior in a speech about wanting to see Open Borders from Argentina to the Arctic Circle. The vast majority of Republicans and Independents and a sprinkling of Democrats were aghast at that very thought...of OPEN BORDERS...Perish the Thought.

But this skip-around the Mulberry bush for 2020 has a bunch of Prez Wannabe's that are unapologetically calling for a lot of socialistic policies that seem to be quite a bit further left than Bernie Sanders was.

Is it a coincidence that the Caravans from Central America started last fall...and continue to regurgitate in the additional caravans coming from that part of Central America meant to initiate some type of dialogue about Open Borders? If so, forget about it. The United States wants to stay a sovereign nation that encourages legal immigration...as we do to the tune of upwards of a million legal immigrants each year.

As to the Hard Left posturing...from this early point of campaign time there's been some bellowing about Green Energy to replace Fossil Fuels...

No Guns except for the Police and Military (that wouldn't make any difference to the criminals because they would find all the guns they would want and probably outnumber the police by 20 to 1 in firepower)...OPEN BORDERS...Y'all Come In (that would be the final nail in the coffin for the country because millions would want to flood into this land)...FREE HEALTH INSURANCE (that would abolish private health insurance companies making the Government in charge...Been there, Done that with Obama-Care)...FREE COLLEGE TUITION...ABOLISH ICE(Immigration Customs Enforcement)...and on and on. Those are some of the Hard Left's bullet points.

At least the Left Hard Liners have come out of the shadows and showed us their true colors.

How do they attain this Absolutely False Utopia? Very Simple...through Shameless Demagoguery...Webster's Dictionary: "Demagoguery...one who tries to stir up people's emotions in order to win them over and so gain power." Those who use that tactic should remember the abbreviation of TINSTAAFL translated to There Is No Such Thing As A Free Lunch...and Socialists that march to that drummer will revel in that garbage...until the money runs out.

But we digress...The first shot across the hard left bow in the 2020 Prez campaign was made by California Senator (for only 24 months) Kamala Harris when she ticked off a few of the aforementioned bullet points.

Any future Hard Lefty Prez Wannabe's are going to have to spout off with a MORE Demagogic message and it will turn out to be like watching a swarm of piranha fish chewing on each other.

For any common sense, hard working and clear thinking American, it will be a disgraceful sight to see.

Kamala Harris has already walked backwards on her comment about getting rid of private health insurance companies at a recent town hall meeting in Iowa. The big-moneyed interests blew up at her declaration and she pulled back...but CNN reported that...and Kamala scolded them for doing that...so CNN pulled back that report. It's getting real messy...already in the early going.

Could it be Kamala has been scarfing down too many waffles at IHOP the way she has started waffling on one of her statements...or is this the start of the piranha feasting frenzy amongst fellow lefties.

Kamala pledged that she will always speak with decency and moral clarity and treat all people with dignity and respect...and will lead with integrity...and will tell the truth.

Integrity? Waffling on a public statement from one day to the next doesn't have much integrity to it...and not telling the truth to people about the prohibitive high cost of "FREE" Health Insurance and "FREE" College Tuition. Remember TINSTAAFL, Kamala, somebody's gotta pay for it...and that somebody is the American Taxpayer.

Kamala also spoke of an America where "we welcome refugees" and denounced President Trump's border wall plan as a medieval vanity project."

I guess we're not going to see you visit any of portion of the southern border where walls are already constructed...and talk with the border agents there...because they will upset your applegart and show you why walls and barriers work 90 to 95% of the time!

Nevada City, Ca. The 8th annual Nevada City Chinese Lunar New Year Festival and Parade welcomes the Year of the Boar, on Sunday, February 10, 2019, from 12:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Community Asian Theatre of the Sierra (CATS) is proud to present this family-friendly celebration, dedicated the early Chinese Gold Rush pioneers and railroad workers of the Sierra. In May 2019, Americans will celebrate the Sesquicentennial (150th Anniversary) on the completion of the Transcontinental Railroad in Promontory, Utah, where the tracks from the Union Pacific from the east and the Central Pacific from the west joined. A significant portion of the labor force was Chinese immigrants, and we will honor them at the Festival. Historian, filmmaker, and journalist Bill George (of PBS fame) will be on hand to share more about their experience. He will have DVDs and books for sale for adults and children.

The Lunar New Year Parade begins at 12:00 noon from the Chinese Monument, located at the entrance to the parking lot on Commercial Street, the site of the old Chinese Quarter. Chinese ceremonial Lion Dancers and a 72' Chinese Dragon from Eastern Ways Martial Arts of Sacramento will prance down Commercial Street, with Grass Valley Taiko drummers, school children, martial artists, and other community entries. The mini-parade will end at the Three Forks Bakery and Brewery parking lot, where the Lion Dancers and Dragon dancers will spearhead an afternoon of Asian culture and entertainment. Food would be available for sale by Kaliko's Hawaiian Kitchen and homemade deserts by Xiao Mao (Little CATS Culture Club).

CATS is pleased to honor Erin Thiem and Dan Thiem as the Grand Marshals. They are the owners of Outside Inn and Inn Town Campground in Nevada City.

Your One Minute News Digest

by Don Rae

The Santa Clara Board of Supervisors should be recalled.

- California has suffered a terrible fire season this year. Who remembers the 1910 “Year of the Fire” that spread across parts of Idaho, Montana and Washington. After two consecutive years of drought and abundant dry fuel; lightning and strong winds caused some 2500 fires which eventually merged into one. Some 3 million acres were torched. A little known fact was that a contingent of Black Soldiers was sent by the President to help fight the fire. They are credited with saving the town of Taft. “The Big Burn” unfortunately started the Forest Service’s fire suppression policy, which today is wreaking havoc in all our forests.

- It is said that some 40 million Americans are on food stamps. Of course it is not government money, it is all taxpayer money.

- Why do seniors who have paid for social security and Medicare all their working life have to pay for Medicare and Supplemental Insurance after retirement when illegal invaders get all of it free?

- No one has disputed the point. Why is PGE liable for fire-related damages when the government requires them to serve customers who build in highly flammable locales?

- When you consider all the waste of taxpayer money that government spends, it seems that just a mere fraction of it could be used to save Marysville’s Chinatown and Chinese temple. Both are a deep and important part of Marysville (and California) heritage. To let it rot or tear it down would be a tragedy.

- Oakland’s Congressional bully, Eric Swalwell is a fanatic about destroying the 2nd Amendment. He continues to spout off about getting rid of “assault rifles.” His intelligence is certified when he keeps changing the definition of the weapons he wants confiscated. In reality he wants all long guns taken away from law-abiding citizens but cares less about the guns retained by criminals who will gleefully prey on the unarmed. Perhaps he doesn’t know history and should read what happened in Germany once Hitler managed to disarm the public. How did the voters of Oakland and environs elect this numskull?

- What stone tablets came down from heaven to the mainstream media telling them that “Native American Elder Nate Phillips” was the good guy by accosting a Catholic Church and banging his ugly drum in the faces of young people? More made up news.

- Moonbeam just won’t fade away. He now tells us we are 3 minutes from midnight on the doomsday clock.

- Trump did miss his chance to clean up a good part of the swamp. He didn’t discipline the TSA personnel who called in “sick” during the recent unpleasantness. Reagan did with the Air Traffic Controllers. And guess what? The world did not come to an end.

- In the mainstream media there are story after story about athletes negotiating (and receiving) millions upon millions of dollars. All the stories are laudatory about these so-called heroes deserving all the money on earth. But if it was an executive running a company which provides goods and services to the public, then the money is evil, unwarranted and should be taxed away to nothing. Have you heard Ocasio-Cortez going after basketball players?

- Pelosi has truly got her priorities out of whack. She has sponsored a bill interfering with doctor/patient relationship and the right of parents to raise their children. Her bill would politicize the medical treatment of gender dysphasia which would clearly lead to more prosecutions against parents who refuse to aid in the sterilization of their children. Unfortunately more doctors are being forced to recommend that children take puberty blockers at age 11, cross-sex hormones at 16, and undergo “sex-reassignment” surgeries at 18. Parents who resist this stupidity could face charges of child abuse and lose custody of their children.

- Tom Brokaw has been roundly criticized for telling the truth about immigrants needing to assimilate. And he was forced to offer his abject apologies. The event shows how divisive “Celebrate Diversity” really is. Instead of E Pluribus Unum, (out of many-one) it is now going to be “out of many-chaos”

- CNN was tipped off to the Roger Stone home invasion. By whom? Who knew about the raid and spilled the beans? Why, Mueller and company, of course.

- Why haven’t Harris, Schiff, Swalwell, etc taken MS13 members into their own homes. They expect all the rest of us to treat these criminals with kid gloves and compassionate rehabilitation. On a tangential note. Newsom’s kids to go to schools with nearly 97% white student population. He shows his commitment to diversity.

California Department of Education

Proposes New Gender Curriculum

Parents would have no ability to opt-out

The California State Board of Education is considering adopting mandatory student instruction in a radical sex and gender curriculum, under the guise of health education, which promotes transgenderism to students in elementary through high schools and encourages students to explore possible gender options (which, according to one source used in the curriculum, number at least 15).

These curriculum changes are being proposed through a revision of the “Health Education Framework for California Public Schools” which is being conducted by the California Department of Education (CDE), the Instructional Quality Commission (IQC), and the State Board of Education (SBE). The Health Education Framework is concerned with educating students on a number of actual health concerns including nutrition, exercise, dental health, and traffic safety, but also aims to teach students as young as four years old about gender identity, homosexuality, transgenderism, and other related topics.

The Revised Draft Health Education Framework is now available for public comment and a look at its contents reveals a radical leftist approach to the subject of human sexuality and a concerted effort to teach children as young as four and five years old that sexual identity is not fixed at birth but is in fact mutable.

For instance, in the section on teaching kindergarteners the curriculum advises:

“Gender socialization begins before children start school—students may believe that different norms are associated with people of particular genders by the time they enter kindergarten. While this understanding may be limited, students can still begin to challenge gender stereotypes in a way that is age appropriate. While students may not fully understand the concepts of gender expression and identity, some children in kindergarten and even younger have identified as transgender or understand they have a gender identity that is different from their sex assigned at birth... My Princess Boy by Cheryl Kilodavis is an age-appropriate book that can be used to demonstrate gender differences and inclusion.”

The book mentioned, My Princess Boy, describes a young boy who chooses to dress up in girl clothes and is accepted and loved regardless: “My Princess Boy loves his dad. His dad tells My Princess Boy how pretty he looks in a dress. His dad holds his hand and tells him to twirl.”

Another recommended book, Who Are You: The Kid’s Guide to Gender Identity teaches that there are at least 15 possible genders including “boy, girl, both, neither, trans, genderqueer, non-binary, gender fluid, transgender, gender neutral, agender, neutrois, bigender, third gender, two spirit...” and that it is impossible for anyone to determine the gender of a baby at birth.

The proposed curriculum only gets more extreme in the upper grades. In the section devoted to teaching seventh and eighth graders, the guidelines state:

“To be inclusive of all students in terms of gender identity and sexual attraction, health education teachers and other educators must be mindful of personal biases and use gender neutral language when discussing peer and romantic relationships. It is important not to assume a student’s identified gender pronoun based on sex assigned at birth or appearance. Some students may identify with the traditional masculine/feminine pronouns ‘he/she,’ ‘him/her,’ and ‘his/hers,’ while some may prefer pronouns such as ‘they,’ ‘them,’ and ‘theirs’ as a singular pronoun... In addition, the term ‘partner’ should be used in place of or in addition to ‘boyfriend/girlfriend’ or ‘husband/wife’ to avoid assumptions about gender and sexual orientation. Some students may be non-monogamous and the term ‘partner(s)’ may also be used to be more inclusive.”

The guidelines for high school students similarly mandate the teaching of gender as a spectrum, not a binary fact:

“There are an infinite number of ways an individual may identify or choose to express their individuality and sense of self, including gender. Students may not conform to the social norms of binary gender identities of male and female (e.g., gender non-binary, gender nonconforming, androgynous, genderqueer, gender fluid), and it is important to be as sensitive and responsive to students’ needs as possible. Be mindful of students’ identified gender pronouns and be aware not to make assumptions based on appearance.”

Perhaps most disturbingly of all, parents of students in California public schools will not be notified about the content of the curriculum and are denied the ability to have their children opt out of these lessons in radical gender theory.

Brenda Lebsack, a longtime public educator and member of the Orange Unified School District, who writes for EdSource.org, was the first to focus public attention on the new curriculum.

She explains:

“While parents may assume they can opt out of this instruction, as they can with sexual health education and HIV prevention, this simply is not true. Instruction about gender or sexual orientations that is implemented through the adoption of the framework is exempted from parent notification and opt out requirements (California Education Code 51932b). According to The California Safe School Coalition, state law provides that ‘instruction or materials that discuss gender, sexual orientation, or family life and do not discuss human reproductive organs and their functions’ are not subject to parental notice and opt-out laws.”

She adds, “Because the California Department of Education is inviting public comment on the draft, I urge all California residents to review the framework and provide input.”

The California State Board of Education (SBE) will make the final decision on whether to adopt this curriculum in May 2019

Pennsylvania Admits to ### 11,000 Noncitizens

Registered as Voters

By Stephen Frank

Texas found almost 100,000 people registered illegally. Pennsylvania claims only 11,000. California says there are none—yet a Judge ordered Los Angeles County to take 1.5 million off their voter rolls—with no study yet, how many of these folks voted or crooks voted for them. That is just one County.

“A top Pennsylvania lawmaker called on the state Wednesday to immediately expunge the names of 11,198 noncitizens whom the state confirmed are registered to vote, despite not being eligible.

State Rep. Daryl Metcalfe, a Republican and former chairman of a House government oversight panel, said the administration of Gov. Tom Wolf, a Democrat, belatedly acknowledged the large number of noncitizens in communications over the past two months.

“I believe that we need to take action and have those people removed immediately from the rolls,” Mr. Metcalfe told The Washington Times. “They were never eligible to vote.”

My guess is the Democrats will not take the names off the rolls—forcing folks to go to court to get an honest election.

Diana Langley Appointed

Interim Y/C Manager

During a special closed session last night, the Yuba City City Council appointed current Public Works Director Diana Langley as the City’s interim City Manager. The appointment is effective February 16, 2019. Mrs. Langley has served in a variety of positions in the City’s Public Works Department since 1996 and has served as the Public Works Director since 2013. Mayor Shon Harris stated, “On behalf of the City Council, we appreciate Diana’s willingness to step up and serve in this very important role. We have full confidence in her leadership, expertise, and dedication to our city and look forward to working with her over the next three to six months as we navigate the process of appointing a permanent City Manager. We have no doubt Diana will provide the necessary leadership to implement the Council’s direction and lead the day to day operations at the City.”

Quoting, Steve Sanetti CEO and Joe Bantozzi President. "It's always so gratifying to share our successes, challenges, and new ideas when we all meet in January to kick off the new year. Last year saw a lot of serious new challenges to our industry, and emboldened gun-control advocates have certainly dropped all pretense of objectivity in their zeal to run us out of business. But it can't - and it won't - work. Ours is a constitutionally protected way of life and a lawful and wholesome driver of outdoor recreation and our economy. It provides food for both the table and the soul, and the means to protect our families and our society. The SHOT Show embodies all of these themes.

DWR Second Snow Survey This Year

(excerpts from Michael MCGough Sact. Bee)

File picture weighing water content

The Department of Water Resources conducted California's second manual snow survey of the year Thursday, January 31st, at Phillips Station, which offered some good news for the state.

DWR water resource engineer John King announced that snow water content doubled since the start of the month at the survey site near Echo Summit.

"The snow depth today is 50 inches and the snow-water equivalent is 18 inches, which results in 98 percent of average to date and 71 percent of the April 1 average at this location," King said. "This is a significant increase since the last survey, where we had just measured 25.5 inches of depth and 9 inches of snow-water equivalent."

This year's Jan. 3 survey at Phillips found snowpack below average, but well above the levels recorded at the start of 2018. Last January's first reading came in at a dismal 0.4 inches of "snow water content," as officials announced on dry grounds, wearing boots and jeans.

On Thursday, DWR officials were in snow pants and heavy jackets, stomping through the powder in snow shoes.

A statewide summary of snow-water equivalent showed California at 100 percent of normal (17.3 inches) as of Jan. 31.

"This is typically the date of maximum snow accumulation," King said. "California started 2019 with a series of cold storms which increased our statewide snow-water equivalent to 100 percent of average (to date) according to our statewide monitoring network."

The Sierra will also see a strong storm system pass through this weekend, expected to create major travel delays around Tahoe while bringing moderate to heavy precipitation across Northern California. The winter storm is expected to further boost snowpack numbers.

Manual surveys are performed at 260 snow courses measured statewide throughout California.

"This data drives decisions that are made throughout the state by water managers," DWR Chief of Hydrology and Flood Operations John Pasch said Thursday.

Pasch said snow-water measurements affect management decisions all the way through spring and summer, but is crucial in real-time during the winter. This data helps DWR determine reservoir levels needed for adequate flood storage.

"Average isn't necessarily normal," Pasch said. "We've had really wet years and some really dry years, so it really is comforting to have an average year for the Feb. 1 measurement."

FPPC, Bla, Bla, Bla

The FPPC collected $700,000 for 333 violations in 2015, a record. What? The FPPC is a total waste of time and money. That is an average of $2,100 fine per violation. In 2016, the FPPC had 311 enforcement orders imposing nearly $900,000 in fines or just $2,893 each. For 2017, there were 340 settlements and $1.1 million in fines or $3,235 each. In 2018, there were 235 settlements of $499,606 or $2,125 each.

That is chump change and no deterrent to wrong doing. Did anyone go to jail? It actually pays to break campaign laws to accomplish political objectives with a wink and a small tip for the FPPC.

The costs to fund the FPPC amount to white collar welfare. In 2017-18, FPPC's budget was $12.4 million ($11.7 million from the General Fund and $741,000 from reimbursements) and included 82.5 employee positions.

FPPC got a $567,000 budget increase in 2018-19.

If you file a complaint, though the website does not indicate this, the complainant has to investigate his own accusation and submit evidence to the FPPC. What does FPPC do? Peruse the evidence submitted and do little or nothing. The FPPC claims Galena West is an aggressive legal bulldog not avoiding the difficult cases. No, she's more like a "companion" that licks the perpetrators.

Government Code Section 8314 reads, "It is unlawful for any elected state or local officer, including any state or local appointee, employee, or consultant, to use or permit others to use public resources for a campaign activity, or personal or other purposes which are not authorized by law."

The law reflects the principle that it is unfair and undemocratic for officials to use taxpayers' money for self-serving political campaigns. However, California officials are doing exactly that with little fear of being pursued by prosecutors or the FPPC.

With Measure K (increasing sales tax), Yuba County supervisors plundered the citizenry by spending hundreds of thousands of tax dollars to groom voters via a marketing campaign to tax themselves. Then supervisors claim the abuse was consensual. And, the now retired district attorney (legal watchdog) campaigned for the tax.

It all makes sense now. The FPPC workers are squirt gun-packing cops. Yuba taxpayers were intentionally hustled from the start by their county government and marketing firms knowing the FPPC is impotent.

Build another bicycle trail with the FPPC budget.

The progress of Socialism and why

Into the third year of the Trump presidency and the animosity against him is greater than ever, at least from what I see on the major television channels and over social media. Of course I do live in the liberal state of California and Nevada County.

Seemingly the call for leaning into the socialist agenda is clearly gaining some traction, fueled by a perceived lack of compassion on behalf of the Trump administration towards immigrants if not minorities' altogether. Adding fuel to socialist's fire is the ongoing deterioration of disposal income, better described as the purchasing power of the American worker's paycheck.

In the opinion of this analyst, the move towards socialist leanings falls partly in line with the famous quote by Alexander Fraser Tytler: "A democracy is always temporary in nature; it simply cannot exist as a permanent form of government. A democracy will continue to exist up until the time that voters discover that they can vote themselves generous gifts from the public treasury".

This then couples with general ignorance of the rarely understood cause and effect of inflation.

The second part causing the socialism agenda to grow is the baffling attitude towards our borders.

The border issue is perplexing. Having unbridled and un-vetted immigration seems insane, yet with millions coming across the southern U.S. border for decades, the resistance to putting a real stop to it is fought against vehemently, or so it seems.

An argument I've seen is the numbers are dropping. With the talk of the wall, those on the left side of the political aisle are negotiating by offering more money for border security. Need I add "finally", and "what took them so long"?

Not to sound too harsh, but what is it about "illegal" that is so hard to understand?

My thinking is twofold: Nations have borders and it's usually a good idea to enforce them and most modern nations do, severely. Try crossing into China or Russia sometime or any of the other large nations throughout the planet. With many, we probably won't hear from you for a while, if ever again. Truth be told, many a civilization or economy throughout history has imploded from within by border violations of one kind or another. And if there are those that refuse to acknowledge the danger of mass and un-vetted immigration, then change the law from the "illegal" designation to legal. At least then we won't have to alter a clearly defined word like illegal to "undocumented" to satisfy some political correctness doctrine.

The other part, mainly the deterioration of paychecks as part of the equation, this one is a simple misunderstanding, if I can be so bold. When the Federal Reserve prints money to fund the government, or we borrow more money to fund the government also known as running deficits, it causes inflation. Inflation causes prices to rise but wages never rise as much or as fast as everything else. That means more and more people fall behind. This reality of inflation as it relates to wages lagging general prices is not understood by the masses. The blame is instead misdirected to "corporations, the greedy rich and capitalism". More calls for help then require higher deficits, causing more pocketbook pain and the cycle only grows from there.

Unfortunately without mass education on the effects of what the socialist agenda really means and why the current system is so wrongly blamed, the quote listed above by Alexander Tytler will likely ring true at some point.

Prepare the grey paint and gruel. Your grandkids are going to need it.

This Month In Your Garden

by Cecilia M. Rice

BALD MOUNTAIN NURSERY

6195 BALD MOUNTAIN ROAD • BROWNS VALLEY, CA • 530-743-4856

With February upon us, we still have one more month of bare root season to go. If you are wanting to plant bare root fruit trees there is still time although selections will diminish as the month progresses. Bare Root Season is January and February.

Now for the other things that we need to do in February. One of the most necessary things to be done is the third and final dormant spraying in mid-February with a copper based fungicide. It is important to keep ahead of the fungal pests that might occur on fruits and nuts, as well as some vegetables and ornamentals. Rose are very susceptible to black spot, powdery mildew, and rust. Copper spray is well known for its use for curly leaf on peaches and nectarines. Once a fungal disease is started it is difficult to control because the spores produced are easily blown to neighboring plants that might become infected. Because of its variable uses, it is a good product to have on your shelf for gardening needs. You should mix it with horticultural oil or Neem Oil, to help the spray spread evenly and cling to the foliage. Neem Oil has many other good uses. It is an excellent insecticide as well as controlling some fungi, to a lesser extent than the copper spray.

February usually brings hints of spring with it. Buds for the spring blooms begin to form. I am always fascinated by looking at those bare stems on the deciduous trees and shrubs and seeing the buds form for spring blooms. All of the subtle changes are telling us that things are awakening in the plant world, and that is the time to begin fertilizing most things. Wait to fertilize until the plants have their full set of leaves. The plants won't utilize fertilizer when they are bare of leaves. If they leaf out soon following the application of fertilizer, they will utilize any fertilizer that hasn't been washed away by rain or irrigation, but the usefulness of some has been lost. So not too soon, but get on it when the signs of life show and give them a boost into spring. Use an appropriate fertilizer for the plants being fertilized. There is a basic all purpose fertilizer that can be used on most things. It is often referred to as a "balanced" fertilizer since it has almost equal amounts of the three basic elements that are in most formulas. Those three elements are N,P and K, or Nitrogen, Phosphorous and Potassium. They will frequently be seen on the front of fertilizer packages. Acid fertilizer is used on azaleas, camellias, rhododendron and gardenias, plus other things that do well in similar conditions. Other elements will have been added to the basic three to create the desired acidity. Citrus trees have a special fertilizer with nutrients needed by that species. There is an abundance of formulas available to meet the needs of differing plants, there is also an abundance of plants that do well on the basic fertilizers.

All of the seasons have a beauty of their own. Seeing the seasons change has always been one of those things I enjoy. There are also many folks who would love to see it forever balmy and not have to put up with the cold or the hot weather.

Grasses are growing and weeds will be growing right along with them. Fertilize grasses with Weed and Feed to get rid of the weeds before they become a difficult pest in the yard. Weeds can be controlled quite well in flower beds, now before they have emerged, by covering the areas with 2" of mulch. That will also help with watering chores later by reducing the frequency of watering since evaporation will be slowed.

As the weather gets warmer, be on the lookout for slugs and snails. Irregular holes in leaves are a clue that they are out and about. They also leave a slightly shiny trail behind. Use snail bait to destroy them. I have had very good luck with Sluggo – it is granular and is sprinkled in the infested areas. It is safe around pets and wildlife. I never saw the snails, just their empty shells. Snails also like beer and will be attracted to a bowl of beer cradled in a depression in the ground and will drown when they fall into it. Of course, it has to be emptied and wastes a bit of beer. Aphids are also one of the early pests that you will encounter. They produce a sweet and sticky substance that is left on the leaves. Ants are attracted to that and will farm the aphids and that compounds the problem, so look for ants at the base of a plant infested with aphids and bait for or spray them. Spring is on the way – enjoy it.

Grant to Yuba County Sheriff Department

Purchase Drone for Safety Investigations

Marysville, ca.

The Yuba County Sheriff's Department hopes to more efficiently identify criminal activity along local waterways with the help of a grant from Yuba Water Agency.

The $5,000 grant, approved today by the agency as a part of the Bill Shaw Rescue Equipment and Training Grant Program, will help the sheriff's office purchase one unmanned aerial vehicle, also commonly referred to as a drone.

The drone will be used for overflights on public lands and waterways around the agency's Yuba River Development Project, to locate illegal marijuana grows and other criminal activity, as well as to help prevent officers from being injured while investigating remote areas.

"This will directly benefit the quality and quantity of our water by helping keep harmful chemicals often used in these illegal marijuana operations out of the watershed,," said Yuba Water Agency Vice-Chairman Randy Fletcher.

"This specialized equipment will allow us to more easily access the remote areas and rugged terrain near the Yuba River and in the foothills, and will keep our officers safer while investigating suspicious activities in those areas," said Yuba County Sheriff's Sgt. Brandon Spear.

This is another local agency to benefit from Yuba Water Agency's Bill Shaw Rescue Equipment and Training Grant Program, which was created in January, 2018. These grants are designed for first responder agencies in Yuba County and will cover the one-time costs of up to $5,000 per applicant annually, associated with the purchase of rescue equipment or specialized personnel training. The grant program was the idea of, and is named after, and employee who survived a potentially life-threatening injury, and who was extremely grateful for the emergency responders who helped save him.
