Hometown Christmas Yuba Feather Museum

Wondering if we're going to be able to get into the holiday spirit with the warm, dry weather we have been having? Well, Hometown Christmas at the Yuba Feather Museum's Gold Trader Flat will start you yearning for hot cocoa and mistletoe no matter what the weather brings. Whether we're green or snowy, there will be plenty of twinkling lights and homespun delights at this year's Hometown Christmas. Come and join in the festivities on Saturday, November 24, in the picturesque mountain village of Forbestown, the home of the Yuba Feather Historical Association's gold rush interpretive village. 19096 New York Flat Road, Forbestown, California

Starting at 10:00 A.M. until 6:00 P.M., the streets of the town will magically turn into an old time street fair with vendors of handmade delights for all ages. The Mercantile will be filled with homespun toys of a mountain childhood and handmade ornaments to decorate your hearth and tree. Boy Scout Troop 6400 will be selling their beautiful Christmas greenery. Wander the streets of Gold Trader Flat along with folks in 19th century dress while you start your holiday shopping in a delightful, country atmosphere to the accompaniment of mountain music and carolers. Over a dozen vendors of unique goods, from the folksy homespun to expert artistry, will give you a good start on your holiday gift and entertainment list.

There is nothing like the mountain air on a brisk winter day to work up an appetite. Your hunger will be quenched by the hearty offerings of the Gold Trader Flat Pantry and delectable treats from our guest vendors. Culinary offerings will include our great-tasting hotdogs, hamburgers, chili, and nachos. YFHA will be selling homemade baked goods to eat right away or to take home to relieve your own holiday work load. Visit the manger with its live animals and watch for Father Christmas to visit with candy canes for the kids. Inside the lobby of the Liberty Hotel, the beautiful Victorian Tea Room will offer a genteel respite with hot wassail and cheery holiday tunes. As the sun goes down the streets of Gold Trader Flat will glow and twinkle with holiday lights – a truly magical sight – and the holiday spirit of peace and goodwill will touch everyone's heart.

Check the weather reports and come dressed appropriately. Forbestown enjoys a mountain climate and the nights are chilly once the sun goes down. In consideration of the safety of visitors to the mountains, the event may be cancelled or ended early in event of severe weather. If there are any concerns, call the Museum at 530/675-1025.

Admission to the Yuba Feather Museum and Gold Trader Flat is always free. Donations and proceeds from our events go towards helping support the exhibits, archives and interpretive village. These are supported entirely through private memberships in the Yuba Feather Historical Association (YFHA) and donations and maintained by volunteers for the benefit of the community. Membership and volunteer information will be available at the entrance for those interested. YFHA is welcomes newcomers and all those interested in Gold Rush history. Ask any of our volunteers how to become involved.

The Cost of Neglect

by Lou Binninger

Looney Governor Jerry Brown blamed the rash of apocalyptic-level forest fires on Global Warming deniers. His nonsensical and rash comments will not be missed.

Many will remember him for endangering Californians by ignoring the infrastructure needs of the state. Oroville Dam's maintenance had been slipshod since its completion in 1968. Flakey inspections by state agencies risked the lives of hundreds of thousands of North State dwellers during the heavy rains and spillway collapse in February 2017.

The failure will cost taxpayers more than $1 billion to repair. No one has estimated the hundreds of millions it cost 180,000 people to evacuate and lose business and employment income.

Also in February 2017 the 315 foot Pfeiffer Canyon Bridge collapsed on Hwy 1 near Big Sur cutting off traffic and commerce along the North Coast. The new span took $21.7 million to install but thankfully the work was completed in just 8 months. Many of the state's cumbersome rules were waived to perform the removal and rebuild. Typically, the state would take years to complete such a project.

Brown's response to questions about cause and accountability in the spillway debacle was basically "stuff breaks and then you fix it." He arrogantly directed the flagrant diverting of billions in maintenance dollars from caring for taxpayers' safety and transportation needs to freebies for illegals. In fact taxpayers are "free-loaders" in Brown's world.

Rights Ignored Are Rights Lost

by Lou Binninger

Have you noticed your government growing and becoming a bean up your nose at every turn? It wasn't supposed to be that way.

Are you aware that instead of people, their liberty and their pursuit of happiness being the heart of the nation the government is now on the throne? It chooses what the laws are, which ones it will follow and directs your coming and going.

The Constitutional guarantees of free enterprise, private property and individual liberty are being undermined by government bureaucrats and nongovernment forces. They call it Sustainable Development. Thomas Lovejoy, a science adviser for the Department of the Interior said, "We will map the whole nation... determine development for the whole country and regulate it all."

Under the false and concocted notion that there is an Environmental Armageddon coming bureaucrats and leftist groups want to change our economic system, our representative form of government and restrict our individual rights.

Visiting Ground Zero of Butte County's Historic Camp Fire "Paradise Lost"

by John Fleming

Butte County, Ca

Five days after 50 mile-per-hour winds pushed a wildfire up the canyons into the ridgetop towns of Paradise and Magalia, the Territorial Dispatch toured the downtowns, home to nearly 40,000 residents just last week. On this day, tow trucks are moving the melted remnants of vehicles that are abandoned on sides of major boulevards and streets as some drivers pulled over and ran for their lives. Tree companies are cutting and removing debris from roadways, power lines and important access points throughout the community. Utility companies are assessing extensive damage that has destroyed transmission and communication lines, transformer substations, and the infrastructure that serves a community.

This was also the day that forensic teams with cadaver dogs and coroners began poring over the addresses where senior centers, apartment buildings, and mobile home parks are located. The death toll, currently at 48, will rise as special units evaluate the outstanding listing of missing individuals.

The streets are busy with Sheriff's deputies, CHP patrols, and incoming National Guard units to help secure vacant neighborhoods and prevent looting. The canyons are busy with convict crews and dozens of firefighting companies from throughout California and neighboring states to help prevent additional destruction to what has already become the most damaging wildfire in California history based on a number of metrics, primarily the number of homes and businesses confirmed to have been destroyed or damaged. Although CalFire is estimating full containment by November 30, it will likely be much longer to repair the power and communication grid for large sections of this ridgetop community in Butte County.

The scope and extent of the damage is complete in some arreas, and hit and miss in others. Property owners and insurance companies will be studying the reasons why one building was destroyed while another stands beside it unscathed based on defensible space, building materials, terrain, and other variables. The Intermediate School in Paradise is fine, the Elementary School leveled. Paradise High School's internal core buildings are standing while surrounding structures are gone.

Based on reconstruction following the Cascade Fire in Yuba County in October 2017, replacement homes and commercial buildings probably will not be in place before 2020. In the meantime, a database has been set up on CalFire's page to update the fire's statistics daily, and to provide feedback to property owners who are still under mandatory evacuation at http://fire.ca.gov/current_incidents/incidentdetails/Index/2277.

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

The quilt show is over one more time; all went well. Several people went home happy after winning many door prizes or raffle prizes. The winner of the opportunity quilt, Abundance of Pinwheels, was Jean Hansen who traveled quite a distance to attend our show. Quilters who won the vote for Favorites in the large quilt category were: Gina Ellis, Bonnie Talbot and Betsy Battershell. Winners for small quilts were Leslie Collins, Bonnie Talbot and Mouse Norris. Other winners of favorites were Norma Lipelt, Leslie Collins, JoJo Pesek, Cathy Shepherd and Dianne Ball. A great time was had by all, so put the first weekend in November on your calendar for next year.

Thanksgiving is this Thursday, November 22. You barely have your turkey dinner dishes washed and put away when the annual rush for Christmas bargains begins. As we all know Friday is Black Friday and the stores are flooded with bargains, sales and shoppers. Saturday is Shop Local and Small Business Day. This helps the small businesses, owned by your friends and neighbors in your local community, and in most cases can be the most prosperous time of year for them. So when planning your Christmas shopping lists, please don't forget the small/local businesses.

Friday, November 30th is the Annual Tree Lighting held at the Foothill Fire Department on Willow Glen Rd. in Brownsville. Santa will be there with a sack full of candy canes and ready to hear your Christmas wishes. There will be caroling, hot beverages, and Christmas treats galore. Come and mingle with your friends and neighbors and enjoy some Christmas cheer. The event starts at 6:30 pm and is sponsored by the Foothill Fire Fighters Association.

Look Back in Time – In 1927 a radio set was being installed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Cooney in Forbestown (now that the ATT tower is installed in Brownsville, we are waiting for it to go on-line so we can get some reception).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon. Christine and Yvonne

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

Collins Lake, last weekend, proved to also be smoky with wind Saturday night strong enough to shake the RV. We went prepared to fish, but with the smoke and the wind we never wetted a line. The reservoir was down over thirty feet. On Monday morning it was beautiful up there but we had to pack up and head home.

Several nice fish were caught by others, both rainbow trout and a very large nine pound three quarter ounce catfish which was caught by Dr. David Bradley in Elmer Cove fishing from the bank. The trout reportedly caught by others which were checked in at the store ranged in size from 4 1/2 to 5 pounds.

The lake was almost empty of boats the entire three days with anglers fishing off and on from shore in the open areas and near the dam.

As usual this time of year there are lots of reservoirs which have dropped their water capacity considerably. We certainly hope the rains come and fill them back up this winter. Speaking of the weather, our weather source tells us to expect some rain on Thanksgiving Day and continuing into Friday and possibly the weekend.

We also have reports of striped bass showing in the Sacramento River down in the deep channel area.

Closing thought: "Exercise not only changes your body, it changes your mind, attitude and your mood."

The Cost of Neglect

Now, let's talk fire. While local fire departments inspect businesses for fire risks and alert property owners to clean-up grass and brush in open areas, state and federal forests have been purposely allowed to become overgrown, laden with millions of dead trees and thick grasses and brush.

Ironically, on July 1, 2013 a $152.33 additional "fire tax" was levied per building on over 800,000 rural property owners for fuel reduction activities to lessen the risk of wild-fire to communities and evacuation routes. Other activities included defensible space inspections, fire prevention engineering, emergency evacuation planning, fire prevention education, fire hazard severity mapping, implementation of the State and local Fire Plans and fire-related law enforcement activities such as arson investigation. That was the pitch.

By June 2015, $300 million had been collected with $43 million remaining unspent for prevention. In the devastating Valley and Butte fires of 2015, it was state not federal-responsibility lands that made up more than 80 percent of the areas destroyed.

When thinking about Green House Gases (GHG) the state does not consider forest fires a factor. However research for an article "Pollution: It's Spreading Like Wildfire" noted that a single Alaskan wildfire emitted more carbon monoxide (CO) pollution than all human caused pollution from "tailpipes and smokestacks in the United States" during the same period. To the state bad forest management does not equal a human cause of GHG. Maybe God gets the blame.

"That single (Alaskan) fire emitted 6,600 times more CO during the 3 months it burned than all the pollution ExxonMobil, one of the top five corporate polluters, emitted during an entire year" according to researcher and author Zachary Gerber.

Gerber says the worst wildfire year on record in California was 2017 as 1,266,224 acres burned. According to the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) those fires emitted more than 1 billion pounds of PM 2.5. PM 2.5 are particles 2.5 micrometers in diameter or smaller that have a damaging effect on health.

In comparison, the EPA estimates that California drivers in 2017 created 22 million pounds of PM 2.5 or just 2% of the fires' output during the same time period. And the state doesn't want to look at the impact of criminal forest management? Gerber estimates that it would take 50 years of California driving emissions to equal one of its wildfire emission events.

Do the liberal environmentalist groups really care about animals? Many biologists, land managers, ranchers and others believe wildfires are the greatest threat to species. The Arizona Bear Wallow Fire in 2011 is estimated to have killed at least 1.5 million vertebrate animals. Using the same survey methods 3.5 million animals perished in the fires of California in 2017.

Lefties are really quiet about pollution and flora and fauna destruction from fires in neglected forests. It just doesn't fit their agenda.

When Smokey the Bear said "Only you can prevent forest fires" people thought about not being careless with matches. However, the human spark is not the biggest cause of most acres burned. Lightning-ignited fires destroy 1.5 times what human-caused fires ruin. Fuel, rather than the spark is the variable causing these massive devastation events.

Since the 1970s, horrific fires have increased while logging and grazing have been severely curtailed. More fuel, more and bigger fires. How many senseless deaths, towns leveled, millions of animals killed and massive pollution created before the insanity stops?

Many Californians are happy to see Governor Neglect move on.

Grant to CHP Addresses Dangerous Driving

SACRAMENTO, Calif. - To decrease deaths and injuries caused by speed and aggressive driving, two of California's main contributors in traffic collisions, the California Highway Patrol (CHP) has begun a year-long, grant-funded education and enforcement campaign.

The primary goal of the Regulate Aggressive Driving and Reduce Speed (RADARS) III grant is to reduce the number of collisions where speed, improper turning, and driving on the wrong side of the road are the primary factors leading to death or injury. This grant will enable the CHP to provide more enforcement and education to motorists about the dangers of aggressive driving.

"Speed is the number one cause of traffic collisions in California," CHP Commissioner Warren Stanley said. "With this grant, the California Highway Patrol will strive to change this dangerous behavior through increased enforcement and education."

In Federal Fiscal Year 2015-2016, speed was a factor in approximately 45 percent of all fatal and injury collisions in the state. That year, more than 36,000 speed-related collisions resulted in the death of more than 370 people and the injury of nearly 53,000 people.

Street racing and sideshows, an increasing problem now spreading to major traffic arteries, are also addressed through the RADARS III grant. An active public awareness campaign and enhanced enforcement, which will deploy additional officers to provide more patrols to affected areas, will focus on the expanding problem.

Funding for this program was provided by a grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety through the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The Seventh Annual Donation Station

Yuba City, Ca.
This year the Donation Station raised $3,815 which will help victims of the Camp Fire in Butte County.

In normal years the donations are given to Pastor Ron Braiser of the A Hand Up Ministry or the River Bottoms Church for help with the homeless in our area. David Holycross said that the homeless in the area really need the help but so do the fire victims.

The Holycross 7th Annual Donation Station and Chili Cook-Off took place on November 14 and 15 in the Holycross parking lot on Bridge Street in Yuba City. The annual event has become a regular community event with people bringing a variety of donations to the Chili Cook-Off.

Gold Sox will Cease Operations

Looking for new owner

Marysville, Ca.
CSH International announced today that the Yuba Sutter Gold Sox will cease operations on November 30th after spending the last three seasons as a member of the Great West League (GWL) unless a new ownership group led by Vice-President / General Manager Michael Mink can be formed.

"After an extensive review of current and future financial data, it became clear that, despite significant investments in team that we were unlikely to produce a sustainable return relative to the required investment following the folding of the GWL and without a reasonable ballpark lease. While we hope that local investors will step up to keep the Gold Sox on the field in 2019, we are extremely grateful to everyone who has invested their time, support, and made significant financial and emotional commitments to the team over the past few seasons. We are also grateful to the hundreds outstanding student athletes and dedicated coaches who have played for us, many of whom have gone on to professional careers and completed their degrees," said CSH International in a statement.

The Gold Sox, a summer collegiate team, had previously been a part of the California Collegiate League (2003-04) and Horizon Air Summer Series (2005-2015) prior to joining the GWL in 2016. Notable recent alumni of the program include future big leaguers Dallas Braden, Tommy Everidge, Anthony Bass, Curtis Partch, Brock Stassi and Max Stassi.

"My ownership group has done everything they have promised to this community and leaves the team in great standing. We have worked very hard to improve Colusa Casino Stadium without the subsidy of tax dollars which is remarkable in this day and age of sports and I am saddened to see them move on if a new ownership group can't be formed. I wish CSH International the best and the opportunity the gave myself and my daughter" said Mink.

During the three seasons in the GWL, nearly 110,000 fans came out to see the Gold Sox (and the Bears play ball) including 40,989 in 2016. A "Save the Sox in 2019" initiative has been launched by Mink, as he hopes that along with new partners, the team will be able to play in 2019.

The team will be having a closeout sale on November 30 at the team's clubhouse located at 1431 C Street (the office is located north of the stadium, enter into fenced parking lot and the front office door is located at the rear of the parking lot) from 10:00 AM to 7:00 pm. Items such as uniforms, hats, t-shirts, baseball/office/food & beverage equipment will be available for purchase.

Interested investors should contact GoldSox Vice-President / General Manager Michael Mink at michael@goldsox.com or at 530-741-3600.

The 68th Annual Marysville Christmas Parade will be held on Saturday, December 1, 2018. The parade will start at 5:00pm at the corner of 6th and D Streets in Historic Downtown Marysville.

Fantastic Beasts: The Crimes of Grindelwald
Starring: Eddie Redmayne, Katherine Waterston, and Dan Fogler. Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 2 hours, 14 minutes.

Newt Scamander, returns to England and attempts to get his restriction for international travel lifted. During which time Grindelwald makes his escape and renews his plot to change the world. Newt is recruited to counter Grindelwald's attempts to recruit a powerful ally.

The story is splayed broadly across the wizarding world, with many new and old characters making appearances as well as new fantastic beasts. Some of the story arches of the character are just plain odd and don't seem to make much sense just now. Fortunately there is another movie in the works to tie up loose ends. The production value is good. There are some gradient issues that pop up as the digital cameras pan too fast and the details of the shot blur. The acting is pretty good, however Johnny Depp could have spent a little more time on voice acting his character. There was considerable slurring of words than one would expect from a wizard that must pronounce words clearly to cast spells.

Fantastic Beasts: The Crimes of Grindelwald, earns four out of five, Cat Riding Monkeys. This is an interesting film that thankfully doesn't have a book to compare it to. There is enough to keep things entertaining and keep the spark of wizard fandom alive.

Exit Strategy

With the Dow falling hard over the last few weeks and the S & P 500 now below its 50 day moving average for the third time seven years, investors find themselves wringing their hands in fear and frustration. 2011 and 2015 marked the last time the S & P fell under the 50 day average indicator and in those two years the correction continued for months.

The 50 day moving average is one of many technical indicators analysts might consider when trying to forecast where and when markets may move and the 50 day average is considered by some a serious indicator of possible things to come.

No one can forecast market direction and the 50 day indicator, like all indicators, is not without its detractors and skeptics.

But if an indicator isn't reliable, why use it?

The answer to that question may be a simple one. Because none of the indicators or market theories are foolproof so this one might be as

Congress to renew farm bill discussions

Farmers and their advocates hope the current lame-duck session of Congress will lead to a final agreement on new federal farm legislation. A House-Senate conference committee has been unable so far to settle on a compromise bill, and the previous bill expired at the end of September. The farm bill establishes policies on conservation, research, nutrition and a variety of other agricultural and food programs.

Fresh California turkeys to be in high demand

People in the poultry business say shoppers who want to have fresh, California-grown turkey for the holidays should reserve them ahead of time. Whole-body turkeys from California typically become scarce by the end of the holiday season. The California Poultry Federation says the state's turkey production may be slightly larger than last year. But California farmers produce only about a third of the turkeys on the market for the holidays.

Purple sweet potatoes gain popularity

It's still a specialty crop, but you're more likely to see purple sweet potatoes on the market this year. A company that grows the purple potatoes says it has increased production steadily the past few years. The sweet potatoes gain their purple color because they're rich in plant pigments that serve as antioxidants with disease-preventing properties. University researchers are working on additional purple varieties that could grow well in California.

Rural population decline reverses

More people are moving to rural counties, reversing a trend of population decline that began in 2010, according to a recent report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The increase in net migration to rural areas coincides with decreased unemployment, rising income levels and declining poverty. However, the trend toward "graying" in rural counties continues, as they attract retirees but lose new labor force entrants.

American Red Cross Takes Over Shelter Operations at Fairgrounds

Yuba and Sutter Counties work with organization for a smooth transition

One week after Emergency Management and Health and Human Services workers from Yuba and Sutter counties established the evacuation shelter at the fairgrounds in Yuba City, day-to-day operations were handed over to the American Red Cross Thursday evening.

American Red Cross workers began arriving at the Yuba-Sutter Fairgrounds shelter site Thursday afternoon to coordinate with staff from both counties and ensure a smooth transition. The Salvation Army will continue to provide all meals at the shelter.

At the beginning of this week, county officials were hopeful of relocating evacuees to shelters in Butte County, putting them closer to the recovery resources being established there, including the Local Assistance Center that opened today. However, on Wednesday Gov. Jerry Brown issued an executive order that included a requirement to keep all existing shelters in operation.

On Thursday, the Red Cross notified Yuba and Sutter Counties that the 137-year-old organization would be taking over all operations. The Red Cross is the designated sheltering organization of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

“The bi-county team did a superb job of quickly setting up the shelter and caring for all of the fire evacuees who ended up here,” said Sutter County Administrator Scott Mitnick. “They provided a safe, secure, and caring environment for hundreds of people who lost everything. This past week has been a reflection of Yuba-Sutter at its best.”

The Yuba-Sutter Fairgrounds shelter was established and staffed November 8, when it became clear the magnitude of the Camp Fire would displace an unprecedented number of people. By Saturday, more than 350 evacuees filled the fairground's Main Exhibit Hall and RV camping sites, which at the time made it the largest shelter operation set up for Camp Fire evacuees.

“The operation we mobilized over a week ago was much more than just cots and meals,” said Yuba County Administrator Robert Bendorf. “The Health and Human Services team and our Emergency Managers understood the horribly dire situation that evacuees escaped and worked tirelessly around the clock to address every need.”

Although Yuba and Sutter counties are no longer operating the fairgrounds shelter, officials said they stand ready to assist, if needed.

OPINIONS

About It!

By Charlie McNiff

The caravanS... that's plural, folks, with a capital “S”...coming from Honduras, Guatemala and El Salvador primarily, has ballooned up to around 12,000 people with their intention of touching a singular foot on United States soil...thereby giving them a “right” to gain asylum in this country.

There or even some lawyers from “Open Border” organizations in this country that have been responsible for organizing these caravans. And some of those have the audacity of suing the United States government on grounds that this “class action” group has the constitutional (?) right to have asylum in this country. How crazy is this? They are from a separate country. They have absolutely no constitutional rights from the U.S. Only citizens of the United States has constitutional rights.

At this writing, November 15th, the early arrivals to the border of California number about 1000...and the count will continue to multiply as days become weeks...and months.

Why California?...Well, Gee Whiz, that is where the real promised land is located. Over 33% of the welfare recipients in the United States live in the (Great?) State of California. All kinds of Free Stuff.

The “community organizers”...or more aptly named “illegal organizers” of the invading hordes will be helping those tens of thousands how to get on the welfare rolls.

Yes, Matilda, the working word is “invading.”

Each caravan, four at last count, has been led at the front of the pack by one of their group carrying the fluttering flag of the country they came from... be it Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala or whatever Central American country they originated from. That, to me, is hoisting allegiance to their OWN country but wanting to get into the U.S. for the “free stuff”...albeit a considerable amount of them would be looking for work ... here again illegally.

This “bum rush” of people cannot be allowed. It is a blatant tactic by the far left with their Open Border mentality to undermine the political structure of this country.

If this “bum rush” tactic is allowed to happen, you would be inviting the far left to unleash the torrential storms of mobocracy to chip away at the pillars of our democracy...such as considering a person innocent before being proven guilty...that could create a downward spiral of law and order in society as we know it.

The lefties tried to get their foot in the door during the Senate Judicial Committee Hearings by trying to proclaim Judge Brett Kavanaugh GUILTY without a single shred of evidence to back up the falsified claims.

The ANTIFA THUGS would be given license to inflame mobs to loot, pillage, destruct, fire stores and automobiles, etc., etc. You thought the Ferguson and Baltimore riots were bad?...Think again... those riots would seem like pre-schoolers playing in a sandbox compared to the thuggery that would ensue.

Legal immigration?... KEEP BRINGIN' IT ON!

The United States of America has been the most welcoming country in the world for those that want to come here...legally. In the past 17 years there have been over Seven Million Four Hundred Seventy Thousand legal immigrants (through ports of entry) that were openly embraced by the United States from four specific areas to trod on U.S. soil and go through the process of becoming citizens. According to the Sources

Center for Immigration Studies, those 7,478,000 people came from Mexico (4,050,0777), Caribbean (1,130,330), Central America (1,181,830) and South America (1,117,620).

Whoa Nellie... there was also 214,282 from Canada not included in that four area mix.

All told, Worldwide, the figure is over THIRTEEN MILLION EIGHT HUNDRED FIFTY SEVEN THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED NINETY TWO (13,857,492).

Don't Bawl and Bellow about the United States as being a racist country. Far from it.

And that doesn't even consider the over TWENTY MILLION (20,000,000) OR MORE illegals that have dismissed our laws with a Ho-Hum attitude and consider themselves as victims.

Shame on those that have set up sanctuary cities, which permit criminals to be deported countless times only to re-enter the country illegally over and over again. Only to commit more crimes that include robbery, rape and even murder. That is not a society of freedom loving people where the norm used to be where you didn't have to lock your doors at night, or be fearful of walking the streets at night, or be afraid of bullies (like ANTIFA) that get their kicks out of terrorizing people. So let us take care of this problem and restructure our immigration laws that adhere to our bill of rights and sense of civility. When we cease to be a sovereign nation with enforceable borders this country would eventually descend into a bottomless pit of despair akin to the very few elite lordling over the working poor (middle class long gone).

Who would want to live in a world like that... oh yeah, I guess the elites would.

More of the Same?

Recently there was a propane leak in challenge. The residents received a code red phone call to evacuate. The propane tanks are quite large and have leaked in the past (in the early 1990's) the residents were evacuated then also. After the incident I sent an email to Supervisor Randy Fletcher. Mr. Fletcher responded to my email and stated that he was contacting the code enforcement office and to email him next week he would have further information for me. So I followed up with another email a week later. I received no response. If this problem continues eventually the town will be blown up with the people in it. Mr. Fletcher does not seem very concerned with this problem; after all it is not happening where he lives. Now that he has been re-elected we can continue with no efforts from Mr. Fletcher to help with important issues that affect our community.

Laura Olsen
Challenge, Ca.

Ps. what would have happened if the propane tanks did explode? Would it have been like the horrible devastation in Paradise? Yes, it would of caused a large wildfire on top of an explosion.

Over $700,000 in Safety Upgrades to Bullards Bar Dam

Marysville, Ca.

Yuba Water Agency has completed a $701,440 project to overhaul and upgrade the spillway gate drive mechanisms at New Bullards Bar Dam, ensuring reliable operation well into the future.

All three of the spillway gates operate within specification and have been released for full operational duty.

“The previous motors were more than 50 years old and were near the end of their serviceable life,” said Aaron Esselman, mechanical hydro engineer for Yuba Water Agency. “We have a robust spillway hoist system that is in full compliance with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission standards.”

The following components were refurbished, replaced or modified:

- Hoist motors were replaced
- All three gearboxes were fully refurbished and all internal wear elements were replaced
- The original braking

system was overhauled with all new components

- All of the spillway control wiring was replaced
- A new motor control center was installed
- Modern motor protection relays were installed
- A redundant motor brake was installed
- All of the controls were replaced

The entire project was completely assessed and installed by Yuba Water Agency employees, which also provided useful data retention that will help drive future improvements.

“The recently completed improvements completely what is really a very well-maintained dam,” said Yuba Water Agency Chief Dam Safety Engineer Tim Truong. “There have been a series of recent physical inspections and comprehensive evaluations - both in-house and from third parties - which show that New Bullards Bar Dam and spillway are in satisfactory condition. That’s great news as we prepare to enter flood season.”

Safety is Yuba Water Agency’s number one priority, which is the reason the agency has invested approximately $9 million in dam and spillway work in just over a decade, including strengthening the radial spillway gates, installing new gate cables, grouting and drain cleaning.

The agency is now planning to spend an estimated $160 million to install a secondary spillway at the dam, further enhancing dam safety and significantly reducing flood risk for the people of Yuba and Sutter counties.

Yuba Water Agency continuously invests in the spillway and infrastructure at New Bullards Bar Dam to further reduce the risk of flooding, improve overall dam safety and to ensure a reliable supply of water for the benefit of farmers and ranchers and the 80 percent of Yuba County residents who rely on groundwater.

Farm Bureau Established Disaster Relief Fund

To assist farms, ranches and rural communities hurt by wildfires, floods and other natural disasters, the California Farm Bureau Federation has established a Farm and Rural Disaster Fund. Created under the California Bountiful Foundation—a charitable foundation established by CFBF—the fund will collect monetary contributions to aid communities affected by natural disasters.

“All too often, we’ve seen rural areas of California wracked by fires, floods and other natural disasters,” CFBF President Jamie Johansson said. “We created the Farm and Rural Disaster Fund in response to our members’ request to be able to provide aid to farms, ranches and rural communities that have suffered losses.”

Online contributions to the fund may be made online via the CFBF website at www.cfbf.com or the California Bountiful website at www.californiabountiful.com, following the Farm and Rural Disaster Fund link. People who prefer to donate by postal mail may do so by sending a check, payable to California Bountiful Foundation, to California Bountiful Foundation; Farm and Rural Disaster Fund; 2300 River Plaza Drive; Sacramento, CA 95833; Attn: Financial Services.

In addition, county Farm Bureaus have begun relief efforts specific to the Camp Fire that continues to burn in Butte County.

The Butte County

Farm Bureau and Butte Ag Foundation have created a Camp Fire Animal Agriculture Assistance Fund. The fund will accept monetary donations dedicated to feeding, housing and maintaining livestock displaced by the fire that are being cared for at the Butte County Fairgrounds. For more information, see www.butteagfoundation.org.

The Colusa County Farm Bureau has begun a children’s book drive to benefit elementary schools and families in the Paradise area. For information on how to donate new or gently used children’s books, contact the Colusa County Farm Bureau at 530-458-5130 or the Butte County Farm Bureau at 530-533-1473.

Illegal Aliens Smarter Than Socialists Running San Fran

by Stephen Frank

If you want to try to become a citizen, you lose that right if you vote in an election for President or school board. Vote and you can be deported—that, under Federal law is a felony and fraud. That may be why so few illegal aliens vote—they want to stay in this country—if their name appears on a voting role, they could be home, their real home, the next day.

“Two years ago, San Francisco voters approved a measure on its city and county ballot granting non-citizens with children the right to vote for school board candidates, thus joining a handful of communities across the nation who have approved similar measures. San Francisco is the only community in California to allow non-citizens to vote.

As a result, immigrant parents, regardless of their immigration status, were allowed to register to vote for school board candidates for the first time this year, but warnings posted by the city about possible

Immigration and Customs Enforcement repercussions and obstacles for naturalization may have deterred most non-citizen parents from signing up.

Those newly eligible to register to vote in the school board elections are immigrant parents or guardians who are legal permanent residents — those with green cards, those on temporary visas, like students or H-1B visa holders working in high tech and other fields and those in the United States without authorization. To be able to vote, they had to live in San Francisco and be the parents, guardians, or caregivers of children living in the city.”

I wonder how many ICE detained and deported illegal aliens were caught because they trusted the Democrats and registered to vote?

Proposes to Confiscate Weapons

In an opinion piece for USA Today entitled “Ban assault weapons, buy them back, go after resisters,” Swalwell proposed using $15 billion in taxpayer money to fund the confiscation of “military-style semiautomatic assault weapons” and to go after gun owners who refuse to sell their existing weapons.

“Reinstating the federal assault weapons ban that was in effect from 1994 to 2004 would prohibit manufacture and sales, but it would not affect weapons already possessed. This would leave millions of assault weapons in our communities for decades to come,” Swalwell wrote.

“Instead, we should ban possession of military-style semiautomatic assault weapons, we should buy back such weapons from all who choose to abide by the law, and we should criminally prosecute any who choose to defy it by keeping their weapons,” he continued, adding that this “would not apply to law enforcement agencies or shooting clubs.”

He argued that “gun ownership runs so deep” in America that “we don’t even know how many military-style semiautomatic rifles are in U.S. civilian hands.” But the potential 2020 presidential contender suggested the government should pay up to $1,000 for every weapon in a new ban, with an estimated $15 billion needed to buy back the 15 million weapons that he estimates are out there, adding that the government should “criminally prosecute any who choose to defy [the buyback] by keeping their weapons.”

“It’s no small sum,” the Democrat admitted. “Consider this an investment in averting carnage and heartache and loss.”

Swalwell, who is co-chair of the House Democratic Steering and Policy Committee, serves on the House Judiciary Committee and the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, also cited the teen survivors of the Parkland shooting.

“There’s something new and different about the surviving Parkland high schoolers’ demands. They dismiss the moral equivalence we’ve made for far too long regarding the Second Amendment,” he wrote. “I’ve been guilty of it myself, telling constituents and reporters that ‘we can protect the Second Amendment and protect lives.’”

Former combat veteran Joe Biggs called out Swalwell’s proposal as something that would set off a “war.”

Rights Ignored Are Rights Lost

This contrived crisis will necessitate a massive government takeover and expansion to manage you, and place restrictions on your energy and water use. This change will be carried out via planning commissions and building, plumbing and electrical codes to transform free enterprise, private property and individual choice.

The policy called Smart Growth is being introduced using federal grant money to control county and city officials. It utilizes government/developer partnerships to attract the private sector and imposes eminent domain to destroy private ownership.

The goal is to eliminate cars, force people into inefficient and costly mass transit, create clone cities with the objective to control land and manage energy use. Low income neighborhoods will be replaced by high rise housing that the original residents cannot afford. They would be forced into government housing and onto welfare. The single family home will be a memory.

Smart Growth rules would make it impossible to live on the land in rural communities, thus destroying ranching, farming and timber industries, thus removing land from the private sector. These policies forbid cleaning the forest floor and will create "rewilding."

Think about California today. Unaffordable housing, taking water from farmers, energy costs 60% higher than the national average, a wasteful bullet train to nowhere, horrible roads, and the highest poverty in the country.

Not long ago unauthorized intrusion into private property rights was strictly forbidden. Owners could take action against trespassers to secure their property. Today, that same sense of ownership and control has been lost. Government officials decide how you can use and if you can keep your property. And, nonelected regional boards are even ruling over local elected officials.

Property ownership is the most effective way to build wealth and escape poverty. Economist John Locke, whose writings influenced our Founders, said that "life and liberty are secure only so long as the right of property is secure."

Consider this quote expressing the spirit of Smart Growth. "The chaotic growth of cities will be replaced by a dynamic system of urban settlement. The region is formed by the economic interdependence of it development, from the industrial complex to the industrial region. The region has a single system of transportation, a centralized administration and a united system of education and research." This quote is from the book "The Ideal Communist City" written by Soviet Russian architect Alexei Gutnov.

New York Mayor Bill DeBlasio, an advocate of Smart Growth Sustainable Development said, "What's been hardest is the way our legal system is structured to favor private property. I think people all over this city, of every background, would like to have the city government be able to determine which building goes where, how high it will be, who gets to live in it, what the rent will be."

In 1997, Washington Supreme Court Justice Richard B. Sanders wrote "Property ... consists not merely in its ownership and possession, but in its unrestricted right of use, enjoyment, and disposal. Anything which destroys any of the elements of property to that extent destroys the property itself. The substantial value of the property lies in its use. If the right of use be denied, the value of the property is annihilated and ownership is rendered a barren right."

Pay attention. Your rights are being undermined by your friendly government official.

Holidays at Empire Mine

A two-day event that glows with good cheer

by Courtney Ferguson

"Magical moments with Santa and Mrs. Claus are a major part of the fun," said Event Chair Troy Hammer. "Our volunteers outdo themselves when it comes to lavish decorations that capture the spirit of Christmas past."

Both the 1905 Clubhouse and Empire Cottage will be all decked out in their finest. Living History docents will be wearing their authentic turn-of-the-century attire, adding a touch of Downtown Abbey-style nostalgia.

However, for the children, a visit with Santa and Mrs. Claus is the highlight. Many bring lists of all the toys and gift items they're hoping for. "Santa and Mrs. Claus are amazing," Hammer added. "They've been doing this for years, and they're masters at making every child feel special." Santa's deep-red outfit is a traditional, European style, much like Father Christmas – and very different from modern, department-store presentations. Sitting next to the beautiful Christmas tree near the fireplace, Santa and Mrs. Claus will listen patiently to each and every wish. Visitors should know that Santa and Mrs. Claus take a short lunch break early in the afternoon.

Near the Clubhouse, loveable Ray Ray the Clown and magician Peter Franchino will entertain those waiting to see Santa. Special children's activities are planned under the porch, such as coloring, Lincoln Logs, hobby-horse reindeer, and Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls. Food, drinks and snacks will also be for sale by local vendors. Roasting chestnuts will be offered on the Clubhouse courtyard.

Docents portraying historic characters (maybe renowned owners Mr. and Mrs. Bourn) will be pleased to welcome everyone to Empire Cottage, designed by acclaimed San Francisco architect Willis Polk. Live performances by Celtic Joy, Heather MacAdam, Kelly Fleming and Blended Metal Saxophones will add festive music to the mix. Visitors will also receive a complimentary Christmas cookie, served in the old-fashioned kitchen.

One-man band Gary Hinze is scheduled to perform near the Mine Shaft. Another "must" is a visit to the Blacksmith Shop. With their forges blazing and hammers clanging, the blacksmiths are never too busy to explain the important role their predecessors played in Empire's famed prosperity. Many of their hand-crafted wares will be for sale in the popular Gift Shop. With its unusual assortment of books on mining, local history, children's stories, jewelry, geological artifacts, and souvenirs, visitors are likely to find unusual gifts for all ages and budgets.

"This is an ideal event to share with family and friends," Hammer emphasized. "Besides the yuletide spirit, it's an excellent opportunity for local people to show their pride in our treasured Park." Each year around 100,000 people from all over America and all over the world discover gold history at Empire Mine State Historic Park.

This two-day event, the Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving, is hosted by Empire Mine Park Association (EMPA), the organization dedicated to helping maintain and enhance the Park since 1976. With special activities from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. each day, Holidays at Empire Mine is enjoyable for all ages – and everyone's invited, including well-behaved dogs on leashes.
