Wreaths Across America

Thanks to the Yuba-Sutter Veterans Stand Down we are celebrating our 3rd year of participation in the national program "Wreaths Across America". The official time and date for the laying of the wreaths at our local cemeteries is December 15 at 9:00 a.m.

Yuba Sutter Veterans Stand

Down will be helping our local Yuba Sutter participating cemeteries to Remember and Honor our veterans by laying Remembrance wreaths on the graves of our country's fallen heroes; as we REMEMBER the Fallen. . . HONOR those who Serve. . . TEACH our children the value of Freedom.

The goal locally and nationally is to place a wreath on each hero's grave. We have Veterans Day, Memorial Day and Pearl Harbor Remembrance Day; but our service men and women sacrifice 365 days a year for our freedoms. There is no better time than the holiday season to show our appreciation.

James Marler Distinguished Service Award

In 61 years as a Farm Bureau member, Sutter County farmer James Marler has served in numerous leadership roles in county and statewide organizations. His dedication to volunteer efforts on behalf of agriculture led to his receipt of the California Farm Bureau Federation Distinguished Service Award, presented December 5, 2018 during the 100th CFBF Annual Meeting in San Diego.

A walnut grower and former rice farmer from Meridian who has been a member of the Yuba-Sutter Farm Bureau Board of Directors for 43 years, Marler has served as county Farm Bureau president and represented Butte, Nevada, Sutter and Yuba counties on the CFBF Board of Directors from 1997 until 2003.

"Jim Marler personifies the dedication to service that makes Farm Bureau successful," CFBF President Jamie Johansson said. "Along with his service on county and state boards of directors, Jim has served on numerous committees reviewing Farm Bureau policies, to assure our organization continues to represent the best interests of our members."

The Yuba-Sutter Farm Bureau, which nominated Marler

for the award, described him as "the first to volunteer himself for a job; he's not afraid to join a new committee to understand what's going on, and is the first one to represent Yuba-Sutter agriculture at local events."

The Distinguished Service Award has been presented annually since 1953 to dedicated Farm Bureau volunteers from California. In addition to the award to Marler, CFBF presented the Distinguished Service Award to former California Farm Bureau President Paul Wenger.

Cow Farts a Blessing

by Lou Binninger

Only in socialist countries or socialist states like California can you have massive natural resources, pay the highest prices in the country for them and have a shortage at the same time.

California has some of the greatest oil and natural gas supplies in the nation, but forbids the extraction and then PG and E charges 60% more than the national average for utilities. In addition, our tax dollars are subsidizing solar and wind turbine companies because these less efficient sources of energy are not profitable. So, taxpayers pay twice due to the hysterical belief in the junk science called Global Warming or Climate Change.

Sacramento socialists in 2016 saved us all from dairy cow farts corrupting the climate. This category of gases is called "short-lived pollutants" because passing gas thankfully comes to pass rather speedily. And everyone said, "Thank you Jesus."

"This bill curbs these dangerous pollutants and thereby protects public health and slows climate change," Governor Jerry Brown said in a statement.

The law requires ranchers to reduce methane emissions from manure to 40 percent below their 2013 levels by 2030, with the help of $50 million from the state's fee charged to polluters, known as cap-and-trade. The money extorted from businesses will help a handful of ranchers buy dairy digesters, which use methane from manure to generate energy that's sold to electrical utilities.

The legislation also allows the Air Resources Board (ARB) to regulate cow flatulence (cow farts) if there's viable technology to reduce it. There are ARB experts now skilled in preventing the sky from falling, so the day of lassoing farts is definitely in sight. We got this.

However just when you are convinced God overlooked the

Perez and America's Pulpits

by Lou Binninger

Democrat National Committee (DNC) Chairman Thomas Perez thinks Republicans have an unfair advantage by what is spoken from the pulpits of America. Democrat political momentum is being undermined by preachers according to the DNC leader.

"We need to build a bigger orchestra," Perez says. "They've had a big orchestra for some time and they've got the megaphones to amplify it, whether it's Sinclair at a local level or Fox at a national level. I've learned this from the outreach we've done at the DNC. 'Why aren't we penetrating?' I ask and I had someone in Northwestern Wisconsin tell me, 'You know what, for most of the people I know, their principal sources of information are Fox News, their NRA newsletter, and the pulpit on Sunday.'"

The chairman's remarks were not based on any scientific data but on hearsay. As church attendance is shrinking and churches are closing it is debatable just how much influence religious organizations really have on politics or the culture, whether liberal or conservative. In a typical election, as many Christian people abstain as vote.

However, recent presidential elections were slight exceptions according to Barna Research when 61 percent of evangelicals, followed by notional Christians (59 percent), and born again non-evangelical Christians (58 percent) cast ballots. During the 2012 elections, 59 percent of the evangelicals voted, while born again non-evangelical Christians came out in slightly higher proportion (60 percent). Only 55 percent of the notional Christians had voted that year.

Not all church goers vote Republican either. Blacks in church

Farm Bureau Outlines Priorities

Describing Farm Bureau as an organization "that wants to go beyond making a statement by being determined to make a difference," California Farm Bureau Federation President Jamie Johansson outlined priorities for CFBF during its 100th Annual Meeting in San Diego today.

One area of ongoing emphasis will be in water policy, Johansson said, noting that Farm Bureau is prepared "to continue defending water rights and shaping water policy in 2019." "The strength of our water policy is the commitment to the idea that to meet California's water needs, we do not need to sacrifice the water needs of one region over another farm community," he said.

CFBF will remain actively engaged in policy discussions involving other natural resources, Johansson pledged, pointing out that California's scourge of wildfires has demonstrated that "if we do not manage our resources, they quickly become liabilities."

He said Farm Bureau would continue to fight back against expanding government regulation that hampers agriculture.

"That's what ties us together at Farm Bureau," Johansson said. "It's the understanding that what's bad for an almond farmer is bad for a rice farmer."

Despite the difficulties, he said, "the opportunities have never been greater to farm and be in agriculture," thanks to innovation and access to markets.

"What we have to do as Farm Bureau is to show this state that what we do best is create wealth" that benefits everyone involved in agriculture, including farm employees and people who work in transportation, marketing and other jobs, Johansson said, noting that "with water, sunlight, seed, good soil and some knowledge, you can grow something and you can sell it."

Farm Bureau members today are much like their predecessors who founded the organization in 1919, he said, in their insistence "to make things better."

"The success of Farm Bureau is as a volunteer gathering of individuals who understand that just like on our farms and ranches, actions speak louder than words," Johansson said.

Yuba County Receives Grant

for Child Passenger Safety Education Training

A $50,000 grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) will fund child passenger safety education and training programs aimed at helping parents and caretakers make sure their child is riding safely. The grant covers the 2019 federal fiscal year, which is Oct. 1, 2018 to Sept. 30, 2019.

Funding from OTS will go toward a variety of activities to promote occupant safety and decrease injuries and deaths due to improper use of car seats, boosters or seat belts:

- Child seat safety check-ups/inspections
- Child safety seat education classes and 1-on-1 appointments
- Child Passenger Safety (CPS) technician training and recertification training
- Distribute child safety seats to families in need
- Conduct safety seat usage surveys
- Promote safety seat recycling and importance of discarding used and expired car seats

A nationwide survey conducted by the National Highway Traffic Safety found that two out of three car seats are misused. Car crashes remain the leading cause of death for children, and car seats save lives by reducing the risk of injury or death.

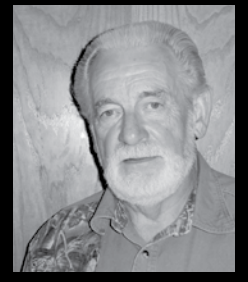

"Children are our future and it is important that parents and caretakers keep children safe by using the right car seat, and installing it correctly," OTS Director Rhonda Craft said. "Funding for child passenger safety education and training is critical to ensuring children are as safe as possible in vehicles."

Funding for this child passenger safety program was provided by a grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety, through the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for more than 75 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

The holiday season is upon us and the stores are loaded with goodies, the traffic is horrendous and the nights have been cold. The big Day will be here before you know it and it is still not too late to find a gift for the guy or gal in your family or friendly circle who loves the world of fishing. Small items such as spinners, spoons and that kind of stuff does good as a stocking stuffer along with the candy and other gifts we always find in our stockings.

We checked with our weather source and he advises to expect cooler temperatures with some rain in the future, probably later on this week. He also told me that he expects a tough winter ahead with freezing conditions down on the valley floor. Might be a good time to cover the exposed pipes around your yard or at least have the foam pipe insulation ready to apply.

We hear from the Delta. Striped Bass were active last week with small fish all over the area near Martinez. Most fish were catch and release. Large stripers were caught on the Sacramento Side of the Delta with fish ranging from keepers to over 20 pounds. Sturgeon is being sighted near Pittsburg and just about all over the Delta. Pittsburg is a good area to sturgeon fish when it is windy.

We have a report of Shasta Lake. Winter fishing in this reservoir is in full swing at this time. The lake is still fishable with its tributaries being cloudy since the last rains.

The recent storms dropped enough snow in the high country to make upper elevation lakes inaccessible. Best bet is to call ahead to save a trip for nothing.

Boot's fishing tip of the week: "If you winter fish just remember the water is super cold and the fish are sluggish, so troll or retrieve your lure or bait more slowly than usual."

CRITIC'S CORNER by Matt Woolery

Ralph Breaks the Internet

Featuring the Voices of: John C. Reilly, Sarah Silverman, & Gal Gadot. Rated: PG, Runtime: 1 hours 52 minutes.

Ralph and Vanellope, set out on a quest to find a replacement part for Vanellope's game. They traverse the digital landscape to find the part and then a way to pay for it. Delving deep into the Darkweb and ascending to the heights of the Disney castle the Digital Duo bring out the laughs as they find more than what they bargained for on their journey, quest, thing.

Ralph Breaks the Internet, earns four out of five, Unboxing Puns Monkeys. This is a fun movie with fun characters and some very well crafted jokes. Even in a theater with crying babies it keeps you entertained. The voice acting is nicely done and the animation is very good as well. This movie can be enjoyed by everyone of all ages.

Valley Truck and Tractor Celebration

by Rod Hisken

Valley Truck and Tractor celebrated their 70th anniversary of business at the Colusa Casino with a Christmas employee dinner on December 1st 2018.

I felt pleased and honored to be a guest and to show a couple of tractors from my collection that seemed appropriate for the occasion.

The business opened in 1948 in Marysville on 1st and D in a large two story building which no longer exists. They started with about 8 to 10 employees. The original vision of Henry Miller Sr. of a family owned business that was involved with the community remains in place today. As the logos on John Deere publications point out as important, "The Dream Lives On".

One of the tractors I took was a 1948 Farmall AV that was owned by David Osumi. This tractor has cultivated miles of tomato rows in our Yuba Sutter Basin. It was probably one of the first tractors that Henry sold. It certainly was the first tractor David bought after he and his family returned from their internment experience during World War II. The tractor when acquired was missing parts, no useable tires, and covered with pigeon droppings arose to a thing of beauty today. Such was the spirit of the Osumi Family. The tractor was restored by a young man locally, Lucas Skinner. I met Lucas when he was going to Wheatland High School. He went on and is now working as an engineer for a local farm equipment company. It is fitting that the values of work ethic and innovation are high on the list for John Deere and Valley Truck and Tractor.

The second tractor was a 1946 John Deere Model A that was delivered to the Colusa agency on December 6th, 1946. This A is special to me because at about the 11 o'clock position on the steering wheel there is a thumb imprint from somebody who sat on it for many hours looking over his right shoulder monitoring a piece of equipment. The John Deere A and B entrenched the company as a leader in the tractor market and became classics. They are a great part on our heritage and drew people out of the Casino to hear it run and generated big grins. "Nothing runs like a Deere" is well known around the globe and exemplifies that value of a product is more lasting than price.

Valley Truck and Tractor started as an International Harvester Dealer and became a John Deere Dealer in 1985 by buying out the local dealer, Inland Tractor.

1948 Farmall AV

I loaded my tractors and headed home after the celebration and on the long drive home I was asking "Why is it that the only American owned tractor company is still in existence"? Why is it that a local company stays in business for 70 years and grows to about 170 employees and becomes one of the largest dealers in California.

The answers became evident as the miles rolled by. During a presentation by John Miller the CEO of Valley Truck and Tractor, he announced that Colusa Casino and Valley Truck and Tractor had made a joint agreement to make a significant donation for relief in Paradise fire to be managed by the Sierra Central Credit Union, TLK Foundation Campfire Relief where 100 percent of the money goes directly to the victims.

John Deere is in a process consolidating and chooses their dealers with great care. Henry Sr. was a Founder of Peach Tree Country Club, served on the Board of Rideout Hospital, and was active on the Marysville Rotary Club. Donations to local nonprofits are too numerous to mention. That heritage has been carried on by John, his son, who has also served on the Rideout Board, Marysville Rotary, Yuba City Mayor, City Council, and is the past president of the local chapter of the Farwest Equipment Dealers Association.

Henry Jr. still farms almonds on the North side of the Sutter Buttes, and relishes the smell of freshly turned earth and works in an active support role at Valley Truck and Tractor Co.

The little family owned business has grown from a limited space operation on 1st and D in Marysville to owning the agencies in Elk Grove, Robbins, Woodland, Gridley, Dixon, Willows, Chico, Colusa and Yuba City and serves the Sacramento Valley.

One of the things that struck me during the ceremony was the degree that the employees were honored. Three had spent their entire professional lives with the company. Several had worked more than ten years and even the new employees were recognized. I served as an administrator for nearly 30 years and it took too long for me to really trust my co-workers and act in such a manner, however belief in the staff creates a power that goes beyond just work. A tour of their new facility demonstrates a well-equipped multi-media classroom, a current technology ability, the ability to monitor products in the field, a knowledgeable service staff and plans into the future.

Certainly the vision statements of the company of care in dealer selection, strong work ethic, quality, commitment to value, and an eye on innovation exist at Valley Truck and Tractor.

John Deere in the mid 1800's took that extra step and polished the tines on pitch forks, innovated a steel plow from a saw blade that let the soil slide off, and looked to value in his products. Did he ever imagine his efforts would lead to a worldwide producer of farm and construction products?

So, What are the Odds?

The pot at the end of the rainbow known as the Lottery is everybody's ship they hope will come in to their port. Built on previous lottery models, current game versions just keep getting bigger and bigger with more ways to play and in more places to play it.

Playing a two dollar lottery once a week sets you back $104 bucks with somewhere in a 1 in 37 chance of at least winning something. Unfortunately, those least able to afford to play are the majority of its players.

The most notable and recent news making item in the world of the lottery was the megabillion dollar jackpot in the Mega-Millions lottery of 1.6 billion.

Seems like a lot of money and indeed it is. With a 1 in 300 million chance of winning, playing it seems idiotic but the hook is the payoff is so grand, who wouldn't shell out a few bucks to be the richest guy in the room.

Lottery winners can take a onetime lump sum payout which is a much smaller lump after the state and Feds take their cuts in taxes. The other option is an annuity which pays out over many years. Probably a smarter way to go given the history of more than a few past lottery winners. And by "past" I mean literally.

We know of at least 11 lottery winners that are no longer celebrating their good fortune. In fact they're no longer celebrating anything. They're dead.

One guy was shot in a robbery. He was a good guy apparently, donating a ton of money to charity. His killers weren't so nice. They shot him reportedly in front of his kids while looking for their undeserved part of the money one day.

Cyanide took another shortly after his initial good luck struck him. Bad luck obviously was waiting in the wings. Either that or some nasty relatives. Likely not a suicide so say the police. His estate got the money in short order. Hummm.....

A concrete slab was found over the body of another. Another not so probable "suicide".

After continuing to take welfare checks after winning a cool million, another "lucky" winner overdosed on cocaine. Party on Garth.

Two more were stabbed death, one was shot by somebody, two did the ultimate deed themselves and more than a few ended up broke and penniless.

Not to say there aren't winners living happily ever after mind you. I'm sure there are.

But the responsibility of untold thousands, millions or even billions magically and suddenly appearing one day in your bank account without so much more as lifting a finger to fork over a buck to the buy the ticket can have the possibility of being hazardous to one's health, if not life itself.

It's probably better to make your money the old fashion way: earn it, and leave the luck of the draw to others.

In reality and statistically, you'll probably not win anyway. But one can hope!

Then again, maybe not.

Cow Farts a Blessing

problem of farts and global survival, agrobiologist and scientific researcher Dr. Albrecht Glatzle, author of over 100 scientific papers and two textbooks, publishes research showing "there is no scientific evidence, whatsoever, that domestic livestock could represent a risk for the Earth's climate" and the "warming potential of anthropogenic GHG [greenhouse gas] emissions has been exaggerated."

Glatzle writes, "Our key conclusion is there is no need for anthropogenic emissions of greenhouse gases (GHGs), and even less so for livestock-born emissions, to explain climate change. Climate has always been changing, and even the present warming is most likely driven by natural factors." That seems logical. The seasons change in Yuba-Sutter Counties.

Glatzle continues, "The warming potential of anthropogenic GHG emissions has been exaggerated, and the beneficial impacts of man-made CO2 emissions for nature, agriculture, and global food security have been systematically suppressed, ignored, or at least downplayed by the IPCC (Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change) and other UN (United Nations) agencies.

Furthermore, we expose important methodological deficiencies in IPCC and FAO (Food Agriculture Organization) instructions and applications for the quantification of the manmade part of non-CO2-GHG emissions from agroecosystems.

Finally, we could not find a clear domestic livestock fingerprint (or hoof print-author added), neither in the geographical methane distribution nor in the historical evolution of mean atmospheric methane concentration." "Between 1990 and 2005, the world cattle population rose by more than 100 million head (according to FAO statistics). During this time, atmospheric methane concentration stabilized completely. These empirical observations show that livestock is not a significant player in the global methane budget," said Glatzle's research abstract.

Genesis 1:25 says God made cattle and it was a good idea. So, having cows around shouldn't ruin our lives. Dr. Albrecht Glatzle's research is backing-up God 100%. Cow manure and cow farts complement the Earth's cycle of life.

You can't make a good decision without good information. The state legislature has been making bad laws based on environmental lies for decades and 40 million residents are suffering for it.

Food and Farm News

California Farm Bureau Annual Meeting opens

Volunteer leaders from around California gather in San Diego this week for the 100th Annual Meeting of the California Farm Bureau Federation. About 650 farmers, ranchers and others involved in agriculture will attend seminars, hear speeches, present awards and discuss issues affecting California agriculture. At the end of the meeting, delegates will adopt policies Farm Bureau will pursue in the coming year.

Farm bill discussions near the finish line

Services for the late President George H.W. Bush will likely delay work by Congress to update federal farm policy. Congress has postponed a number of votes as it pauses to honor the late president. Leaders of House and Senate agriculture committees announced last week they had reached agreement on the new farm bill. The legislation updates policies affecting nutrition, conservation, trade, research and other federal agricultural programs.

Poinsettias remain top plant for holidays

A growing variety of holiday plants greets shoppers at California nurseries, though the traditional red poinsettia remains the No. 1 seller. Poinsettia growers say they've been offering more of the plants in nontraditional colors, such as white, pink, orange and variegated hues. Nursery owners say they've also seen growing demand for additional holiday plants such as Christmas cacti and other succulents.

UC researchers study how plants sense temperature

By identifying how plants respond to daylight and sense temperature, researchers hope ultimately to learn how to breed crops to handle changes in climate. A team of scientists at the University of California, Riverside, report they have learned more about how plants react to temperature changes. The lead researcher says the team found "the master control for temperature sensing in plants," and now plans further studies on the topic.

Perez and America's Pulpits

or not, traditionally in the high 90 percentile lean left. Hispanics historically are democrats. However, President Trump did better with both of these groups in 2016.

Perez may be seeing a pulpit pounding mirage. Most Christian pastors are spineless, afraid of their own shadows. Their chief concerns are attendance, size of offerings and being liked. National politics, capitalism vs. socialism, the Constitution or even Biblical moral principles will get little or no attention in the pulpit.

It was not always so. In 1761, during the French and Indian War, Congregational ministers in Connecticut pledged absolute loyalty and submission to the King of England. However, by the mid-1760s, after Britain began taxing the colonies, searches and seizures without cause and confiscation of guns many of these same clergy were denouncing the king and justifying non-submission.

The pulpit played a key role in encouraging dissent. The political activism of these black-robed ministers earned them the name "the black regiment." The Founders saw England's actions as a plan to take away religious liberty and re-establish the rule of the Church of England.

Most churches saw their God-given rights being undermined and the King and Parliament violating the laws of God. Church leaders were aware of Romans 13, about submission to civil authorities, but also many passages that approve resistance to ungodly authority such as Acts 5:29. It is no surprise that the watchword of the American Revolution among patriots was "No King but King Jesus."

At the bottom of the original Declaration of Independence, the Continental Congress ordered copies of the Declaration first sent not to town clerks or newspapers but to ministers, who were "required to read the same to their respective congregations, as soon as divine service is ended, in the afternoon, on the first Lord's day after they have received it."

In 1775, Lutheran Pastor John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg preached a sermon on Ecclesiastes 3:1, "To everything there is a season, a time for every purpose under heaven." Concluding the message, he declared, "There is a time to preach and a time to fight. And now is the time to fight."

Muhlenberg then removed his robe to reveal his Revolutionary Army uniform. That afternoon he led 300 men to join George Washington's troops and became Colonel of the 8th Virginia Regiment. Ministers turned the resistance into a righteous cause and served at every level in the conflict, from military chaplains, members of the legislatures, to taking up arms.

Either DNC Chairman Perez was just trash talking about churches or he is truly ignorant of American history and the deplorable state of the church today. Perez has nothing to worry about politically from this church.

Disease Rampant Amongst Migrants in Tijuana

According to the Tijuana Health Department on Thursday, Nov. 29, 2018, more than one-third of those who rode the caravan from Central America are being treated for an illness. Out of the 6,000 illegal aliens who are currently in Tijuana, 2,267 of them are ill. Diseases include respiratory infections, tuberculosis, chickenpox and other more serious conditions.

The Tijuana Health Department confirmed that there are three confirmed cases of tuberculosis, four cases of HIV/AIDS, and four separate cases of chickenpox, at least 101 have lice, multiple respiratory problems and numerous skin infections.

The department is also warning about a potential Hepatitis outbreak because the caravan riders are living in unsanitary conditions. Part of that is because thousands of the illegal aliens are being housed at the Benito Juarez Sports Complex near the San Ysidro United States-Mexico Port of Entry. The shelter is only designed to hold 1,000 people and has 35 port-a-potties for them.

People aren't able to take showers, they sleep on the floor, nobody is cleaning the bathrooms, so the conditions are there for a major infection," Carlos Betanzos, a coordinator for Ministerios Nazarenos de Compasion, an Evangelical aid group, told the Daily Mail. "We've had lung disease, flu, diarrhea, hypertension. One guy had chicken pox – but thankfully just one,"

The living conditions are unbearable, which is causing some of the caravan riders to self-deport. Around 80 self-deported on Tuesday alone. Mexican officials did deport 98 people who were involved in the border clash with the U.S. Border Patrol on Sunday. Clara Daniela, 17, and her boyfriend, Jose Hernandez, 25, fled El Salvador when Daniela's cousin was killed for not joining a gang. They brought along their one-year-old Fernando.

There are organizations here helping people who have had enough to go home. They take you on a bus and put you on a plane – it's easy," Daniela explained. "We will try to stay for now but it's becoming more and more tempting to go."

Tijuana Mayor Juan Manuel Gastelum said the city is spending $30,000 a day on these illegal aliens, something he refuses to do much longer. He said the city will continue to support the caravan riders for a few more days but after that, it must end.

"We won't compromise the resources of the residents of Tijuana," Gastelum said during a press conference. We won't raise taxes tomorrow to pay for today's problem."

Obama Used Tear Gas

According to an article by Stephen Dinan – The Washington Times – Nov. 26, 2018, in part....

"The same tear-gas agent that the Trump administration is taking heat for deploying against a border mob is actually used fairly frequently – including more than once a month during the later years of President Obama's administration, according to Homeland Security data.

U.S. Customs and Border Protection has used CS (Tear Gas) since 2010 and deployed it 26 times in fiscal 2012 and 27 times in 2013. The use dropped after that, but was still deployed three times in 2016, Mr. Obama's final full year in office.

Use of CS rose again in fiscal 2017, which was split between president's Obamaq and Trump...and reached 29 deployments in fiscal 2018 which ended two months ago, according to CBP data seen by The Washington Times.

Border authorities also use another agent pepper spray frequently – including a decade-high record of 151 instances in 2013, also under President Obama. Pepper spray, officially known as Pava Capsaicin, was used 43 times in fiscal 2018, according to CBP numbers.

Democrats complained about threats of "deadly force" against the border incursions, which saw migrants punch through fencing, and launch rocks and bottles at agents who responded to stem the intrusion.

Brandon Judd, president of the National Border Patrol Council, took umbrage at the outrage, questioning where the critics were when tear gas was deployed under President Obama.

This policy that we use was an Obama-written policy and it was used at the same port of entry," he told CNN, wondering in particular about the intense, media interest now versus then.

"The facts are, the policy written under President Obama allows us to use tear gas to disperse a crowd that was very dangerous," he told the network.

Rural Broadband Update

Senator Roger Wicker (R-Mississippi), who is set to be Chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee in the 116th Congress, is standing by his proposal to require the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to fix its broadband mapping data. Senator Wicker announced last week he would push language in an upcoming spending bill that would require the FCC to consider the concerns of senators from rural states who argue the FCC's mapping data misrepresents broadband coverage in rural America.

It is uncertain whether Congress will allow Senator Wicker's language to pass, but the FCC is likely to heed the concerns of the incoming Chairman of the Committee with direct oversight of the Commission.

Microsoft President Brad Smith announced this week that Microsoft will lead a new effort to bring broadband to rural California. Smith announced in a press release that Microsoft is expanding its "Airband Initiative" into new states, including California. Through the Airband Initiative, Microsoft partners with internet service providers leveraging a mix of innovative broadband solutions, including TV white spaces, to deliver high-speed internet coverage for rural areas. Microsoft founded the program in 2017 with the goal to bring broadband to 2 million rural Americans without internet access.

OPINIONS

NYWD Director Forguson's Final Meeting

On November 30th, Director Forguson presided over his last North Yuba Water District board meeting. The meeting was short, only thirty minutes. After the board attended to some routine agenda items, Director Forguson took a few minutes to address the board and members of the public. He warned the board that he felt closed door meetings might soon become public.

He praised the board for being, in his words, the best board the NYWD has ever had. Indeed, the NYWD has made some great accomplishments in the past two years. Debts are paid off; the accounting is in the black; the district has a new excavator; a new fleet of vehicles; some bad sections of the ditch in the Oregon House area are now piped; the engineering plans for piping the Forbestown Ditch are complete and it appears the funding is available to move this project along.

All in all, the NYWD has done a good job putting their house in order. However, for the next year at least, the availability of irrigation water is dependent on the snowpack feeding Dry Creek. Only time will tell what will happen next year, but current long range forecasts indicate a wetter and warmer than normal winter season. Warmer temperatures mean little or no snow.

The NYWD has much to say about what is accomplished, and an effective public relations effort is crucial to the public's perception of transparency. The NYWD may not have control over the weather but it does have control over the message it delivers to its customers and the public. Public relations matter.

Christmas, 2018 Arrivals and Departures

I chose this city to live in, many years ago. Why here you ask? Simply because Stockton is a great western railroad crossroads. Back then 3 major transcontinental railroads and 2 local roads had busy tracks here. Today a commuter railroads is based here also. Every hour of the day, trains arrive and depart our city. Let us carry over the idea of arrivals to this Christmas. This is a time in December, when folks think about the arrival of Jesus, into our world, over 2000 years ago. Jesus came humbly to us, born in a stable, in Bethlehem of Israel. Born a Jew of Mary, Judah. However the bible tells that Jesus had god, and not Joseph, as his father. Let's read it in Luke 1 vs. 27-35. Angels from its heavenly home, declared to Israel, why he came. Jesus is both my savior and yours too; he is the world's only savior from the penalty of our sin against a holy god, see Luke 2 vs. 7-12, and key v.11. Finally Jesus departure from outside of Jerusalem, back to his throne in heaven, confirms his miracle arrival of being born to the Virgin Mary, see Acts 1v.9-12. So at this season of Joy, Please consider, that god's son arrived and departed our world in ways that only an all-powerful god could do. This Christmas of 2018, I thank Jesus, my savior, for his love, grace and forgiveness, his gift to me, and available to you too.

Your One Minute News Digest

by Don Rae

of visiting San Francisco, you should consider the following. San Fran is not a safe place to visit—tens of thousands of car break-ins each year and hardly any arrests. The city passes out 4.4 million syringes for drug users. Given the number of car burglaries, how do you think the druggies get money for drugs? BART is also a guaranteed crime zone. You go, you will very likely be a crime victim.

- Here is a prime example of the “intelligent” people California decided to send or return to congress. Rep. Eric Swalwell, California Democrat, warned gun owners that any fight over firearms would be “a short one,” because the federal government has an extensive cache of nuclear weapons. So Swalwell wants to nuke Americans? How about a recall?

- One report after another for the past 50 or so years has informed us that the world will end shortly. It hasn’t, at least as far as we know. The most recent last week claimed by the century’s end thousands of humans will die from air pollution and heat; crop yields will diminish, coral reefs will disappear and sea-ice will disappear (there go the polar bears again). What makes these snowflakes so sure of themselves? Crystal balls? Ouija boards? Or a vision in their sleep?

- As George Herbert Walker Bush once said, political parties which draw lines in the sand are only there to be erased. Too bad we don’t have the same attitude today.

- Too bad the Democrats hate poor people. Now the legislature has decided to tax food even more. Why do folks elect these evil people?

- The latest gambit in the climate change parley is that all will end in about a decade or so. Perhaps the Mayans in 800 AD thought this also. A century long drought hit the Yucatan peninsula and the civilization collapsed. But, guess what folks, we’re still here and so are the descendents of the Maya.

- When the legislature can’t properly fund K-12 schools in California so they can actually graduate educated young adults, why are they proposing more money for pre-school? Every study done on the success of pre-school says it matters not. Aren’t parents supposed to be in charge of getting their young ones ready for kindergarten? Whatever happened to parents reading a bedtime story to the kiddos?

- A note to the new representative of New York. Socialism is a way to steal your stuff and give it to others. It is immoral and flat out dishonorable.

- The immigration battle is the same as the climate change divide. Fanatics have decided to destroy anyone who disagrees with their position on the issue. The mainstream press is complicit in stirring the pot to create a serious and dangerous whirlpool of hate, divisiveness and intolerance. Celebrate diversity is a powerful player in adding to the destruction of the country, and a broken education system adds to the mess. There needs to be a change in philosophy and a return to critical thinking and moderate dialog or the USA won’t be long for this world.

- The magnificent Senator Hirono from Hawaii claims Democrats are not winning enough seats because Democrats are so much smarter than the rest of the population that they can’t communicate adequately with the less brilliant masses. Really? Only the dumb think they are smarter than anyone else.

- In 1994, Rush Limbaugh quoted statistics from the Atlantic Weekly about the state of the American family. For example, after WWII some 80% of children grew up in 2-parent families. By 1980 only 50% were so raised. And the situation has deteriorated even further today. And children of single parents are six or more times likely to be poor; they are several times more likely to have emotional and behavioral problems, more likely to drop out of school early and get involved in gangs and drugs. Why are we spending the money on social programs which contribute to this horrible loss of human potential? Why are we paying teenage girls who have babies as a way to get their own money and own apartment? Current programs only provide incentives to be single parents. If the Democrats are so damn smart, why haven’t they done something positive to change the trend?

Gallagher Introduces Legislation to Help Camp Fire Recovery

Sacramento, Ca.

Assemblyman James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) has introduced legislation to ensure that areas affected by the Camp Fire can continue operations as the recovery process begins. The Camp Fire, which started in Butte County in early November, is the deadliest and most destructive fire in California state history. The fire has destroyed more than 18,000 structures and killed at least 88 people. It decimated the communities of Paradise, Concow, and Magalia. Gallagher’s legislation will help fund emergency response and local government operations as the long road to recovery begins.

“We have never seen anything like this. The town of Paradise is gone, but the community remains. We will rebuild, and right now the priority is helping those impacted by the fire. This is a marathon, not a sprint,” said Assemblyman Gallagher.

“The people of the North State and our regional economy are devastated by one of the worst disasters in our nation’s history. It is imperative that the State of California tap into its nearly $15 billion surplus to help in the recovery of our community,” added Senator Nielsen, who is co-authoring the proposals.

Gallagher introduced two bills. AB 41 will provide more state funding for activities like debris removal, emergency work, and repair of public facilities damaged by the fire. Gallagher’s other bill, AB 42, will help backfill revenues that will be lost as destroyed properties get reassessed.

“Our communities already had limited resources before the fire. This funding is critical to continue operations as we help people rebuild. We must ensure that we have sufficient funding for emergency response activities and to restore critical services and government functions like education,” said Butte County Supervisor Bill Connelly who represents the communities of Concow, Cherokee and Yankee Hill.

In Paradise, the fire destroyed about 95% of homes and businesses. 50,000 people are displaced from the town and surrounding communities. In addition to fiscal challenges, finding suitable housing to help keep people in the area will be a huge challenge in a state that already faces a housing crisis. Gallagher will also be working with stakeholders to provide regulatory relief and streamlining to increase access to interim housing.

“The people of Butte County have been devastated by the worst fire in State history. As a State we need to do everything in our power to get all the financial resources we can in order to put these communities and their residents back on their feet,” said co-author Assemblyman Brian Dahle.

“No one should be alone in a crisis.”

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

We are hoping the New Year's Extravaganza will be on your calendar. On Monday, Dec. 30 the event will start at 6 pm with a tri tip dinner and an auction. Next comes a stage show organized by Tania Ransom followed by a raffle. Last is a dance using the DJ skills of Dr. Duncan's Entertainment. Larry Duncan was fortunate enough to escape the Camp Fire with some of his equipment, more than half of his things were lost in the fire. We are hoping that this party will be fun for him as well as all of the party attendees. The funds raised at the event will be used to re-roof and repair the amphitheater. If the buildings and park at Ponderosa Community Center are not cared for it could fall apart. This center is certainly well-used by our communities and it is important to keep it repaired as needed.

The thrift store in Brownsville will be closed from Dec. 26 to January 2 as they take a well deserved break and enjoy the New Year. Books & More will be closed an additional week, until January 9.

Christine and Susan wish to thank everyone who participated in the 26th Annual Christmas in the Foothills. We appreciate any feedback, good or bad, that you can give us. We apologize for the mix up on the map. Your comments, suggestions and or ideas can be sent to christmasinthefoothills0@gmail.com.

Look Back in Time – In 1927 the newly completed banquet room of the Masonic Lodge in Forbestown was used for the first time, following their election of officers (we wonder if families of those officers are still using the Lodge).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Christine and Yvonne

United Way of Nevada County Project Warmth Collection Drive

United Way is holding a collection drive for new warm hats, gloves and socks for those in our community who are in need. Donate these much-needed items and help everyone in our community stay warm this winter. Who are those in need? The sad truth is that a great majority of those in need are families with children who are just struggling to get by. According to the Real Cost Measure study done by the United Way of California recently, 30% of Nevada County households with children face a large barrier to economic security. This collection drive will help those households and individuals stay warm during the upcoming winter months.

Now through Dec. 14th, new warm hats, gloves and socks can be dropped off at the following locations:

AAA, Walker's Office Supplies, B&CAce Home Center, the Rood Center lobby, Grass Valley City Hall, Family Resource Center, The Union, Hospice of the Foothills, the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, and also the United Way of Nevada County office.

Currently United Way of Nevada County is focusing on helping the community of Nevada County in the area of Basic Needs, including Food, Emergency Shelter and Access to Health Care. United Way of Nevada County envisions a community where all individuals and families achieve their desired potential through healthy lives, education and income stability.

If you are interested in finding out more about our collection drive, please call 274-8111 or email admin@uwnc.org. Live United this holiday season and help us keep the community warm.
