

Whiteaker Termination Proceeds

by Lou Binninger

Tuesday, February 13, 2018, at 3pm Yuba City Unified School District board members will again consider assault charges brought against physical education teacher and former coach Jim Whiteaker.

Last week, local attorney Michael Trezza filed a claim for $500,000 in damages with the district alleging that Jim Whiteaker engaged in sexual misconduct with female students.

The current victim indicates she was in her physical education class on January 16 when Whiteaker “approached her without her knowledge and grabbed her buttocks.” Whiteaker said, “I’ve been teaching for 26 years; I’ve never had to face any allegations like this in the past. I don’t believe I should be terminated on these conditions.”

Whiteaker says that he mistook students playing around for them fighting and intervened. He denies grabbing the girl’s buttocks.

Others at the school say Whiteaker has a reputation for edgy behavior and for being a bully. A former school employee reported Whiteaker’s improper contact with female students to former principal Martin Ramirez numerous times along with former Athletic Director Joel Seaman and nothing was done.

A former student and current district employee indicated Whiteaker touched her breast in 1997 and on another occasion did not intervene as a male student held her against the wall and “gave her a hickey.” She said Whiteaker laughed. A student aid in his physical education class she did not report either incident. She said she was humiliated and indicated Whiteaker was known among students as a “perv” and a “creep.”

The Trezza claim tells of another student and her mother reporting to school authorities and to police in October 2014 that Whiteaker videotaped the 15-year-old girl while she was participating in his physical education class. Whiteaker allegedly filmed the girl’s buttocks and her body from the waist down, and admitted doing so when confronted by the girl and her mother.

The mother was refused a copy of the police report since the officer did not fully investigate the incident choosing instead to file an information report. Yuba City Police told the mother that they do not have to provide copies of information reports to the public. However, the district did give a copy of their file to the mother.

Gabe Foster expressed alarm at the previous board meeting that in his wife’s 1998 case, an investigation was done, a district report filed, but there was no description of any action taken for Whiteaker touching his wife’s breasts on two separate occasions when she was a senior.

The Trezza claim states that despite “red flags” from teachers, parents and students, the district failed to take action against Whiteaker or thoroughly investigate reports of inappropriate behavior.

The current victim says when she reported her incident to another physical education teacher he refused to report it since he did not see it. The claim describes the teacher saying that men Whiteaker’s age “like to play around like that.” Trezza argues that the teacher violated the law by not reporting the incident.

Other victims have contacted this paper or other noted victims but have yet to provide the details of their stories.

The school district has asked all victims to contact Lora Broad at 530-822-7601 and email at lbroad@ycusd.org. Lt Jim Runyen asked victims to contact Yuba City Police at 530-822-4661 or at 1545 Poole Blvd, Yuba City. Michael Trezza is asking victims to reach him at michaeltrezzalaw@att.net or 530-673-5637.

Not Your Parents’ Democrats

by Lou Binninger

Being raised in a blended family by one republican and one democrat parent, they would have been in shock watching the State of the Union (SOTU) speech. The rudeness, disrespect and arrogance of democrat leaders would have been interpreted not as being anti-republican or anti-Trump, but anti-American.

Blue collar survivors of the Depression and World War II, laboring 6-days-a-week as small business owners, my parents were always current on the bills and avoided welfare and unemployment like a disease. They weren’t churched, but behaved themselves.

Witnessing the democrats’ petulant display of hatred at what Americans once considered common ground was like learning your spouse is an adulterer. Mom would have slapped that democrat SOTU smirk from my face. There were no “time-outs” in our household.

Last week, a Portland, Oregon jury found a 48-year-old Mexican illegal alien guilty of raping a 9-year-old girl in Sanctuary Clackamas County. However, democrats sat irritated as Trump proclaimed improvements in border security and the need for a merit-based immigration system. That means no gang members, terrorists, perverts, criminals or traffickers of narcotics and humans.

Democrats weren’t comfortable with honoring the American flag, the National Anthem or our police and military. Watching so-called leaders despising those charged with our safety is nauseating. Chants of USA chased open borders advocates out of the auditorium like light sending cockroaches back into the darkness.

Though the opioid epidemic is killing thousands of Americans of all flavors democrats weren’t happy to prevent senseless deaths. Leftie politicians like death, dead babies, dead black youth and dead dopers. The most dangerous turf in the black community is a black woman’s womb courtesy of the jack-ass party.

Democrats mocked and despised hundreds of companies giving $1000-$2000 bonuses to millions of employees. Companies returning to manufacture here and bringing hundreds of billions of dollars back home couldn’t crack a democrat smile. Do they pray for a stock market crash? Do they dream of taking over the means of production?

Democrats hated and lied about the tax cut. They keep harping on the poor not getting any cut knowing the poor pay no income taxes. Class warfare-touting democrats love the hate-the-rich rhetoric. They fail to mention the rich pay most of all income taxes in America. The tax cut is huge and will lead to an economic boon.

The Congressional Black Caucus looked like fools when Trump celebrated the lowest black and Hispanic unemployment rate in history. An increase of 2.4 million jobs was a nonstarter for them. Fewer blacks dependent on a Sugar Daddy government means less money for race hustler politicians and a smaller swamp. Their true colors were on display -- hand-out green and socialist red.

Though multiple presidents including democrats supported recognizing Jerusalem as the capital of Israel democrats were cranky about Trump actually taking action to move our embassy there. God even agrees with Trump.

Remember President Obama saying he had no strategy to address the terrorist “JV team” ISIS? The same great American military under different leadership in one year stopped this insane Muslim scourge. Democrats are despondent about that.

Trump wanting to protect the lives of all Americans including the unborn infuriates. Democrats support killing small people before they can have a say, particularly infants of color. The democrats’ latest stand against banning abortions before the 20-week mark sets the US apart in the world.

Out of more than 195 nations US joins North Korea, China, Vietnam, Singapore, the Netherlands, and Canada to permit abortion on-demand past 20-weeks. Other familiar countries take a different approach to killing babies some banning it and others going Abortion-Lite—Greece: up to 12 weeks —Austria: 12 weeks — Germany: 12 weeks — France: 12 weeks — Italy: 12 weeks — Spain: 14 weeks — South Korea: illegal — Ireland: illegal — Poland: illegal — Sweden: 18 weeks —Norway: 12 weeks — Denmark: 12 wks.

At 20 weeks, unborn babies have a beating heart, eyes that can see light, ears that can hear sound and eyebrows. They can sleep and awaken in the womb, make faces, suck their thumb, swallow and feel pain. But the democrats’ and two republicans’ vote to kill was reminiscent of Seinfeld’s Soup Nazi, “No life (soup) for you!”

The SOTU opened eyes. This isn’t your parents’ Democrat Party.

Snowpack Below Average Despite Gains

Sacramento, Ca.
Despite moderate January precipitation in the Sierra Nevada after an historically dry December, today’s Department of Water Resources (DWR) manual snow survey east of Sacramento found little snowpack there, two months into what is typically California’s wettest three months.

Measurements at Phillips Station revealed a snow water equivalent (SWE) of 2.6 inches, 14 percent of the early-February average at Phillips as measured there since 1964. SWE is the depth of water that theoretically would result if the entire snowpack melted instantaneously.

“California experiences the most variable weather in the nation,” said DWR Director Karla Nemeth. “It’s vital that water conservation efforts remain consistent regardless of the year’s precipitation.”

More telling than a survey at a single location like Phillips are DWR’s electronic readings today from 103 stations scattered throughout the Sierra. Measurements indicate the SWE of the northern Sierra snowpack is 4.6 inches, 27 percent of the multi-decade average for today’s date. The central and southern Sierra readings are 5.8 inches (30 percent of average) and 3.8 inches (25 percent of average) respectively. Statewide, the snowpack’s SWE is 4.9 inches, or 27 percent of the Feb. 1 average.

“The snow survey today shows water content far below average for this time of year,” said Frank Gehrke, chief of the California Cooperative Snow Surveys Program who conducted today’s survey at Phillips. “Today’s measurements indicate an anemic snowpack to date, but there is still the possibility of a wet February and March.”

On average, the snowpack supplies about 30 percent of California’s water needs as it melts in the spring and early summer. The greater the snowpack water content, the greater the likelihood California’s reservoirs will receive ample runoff as the snowpack melts to meet the state’s water demand in the summer and fall.

Shawn Rainbarger – Trout Fisherman Extraordinaire

The Rooster Tails Fishing Club monthly breakfast will be held at the Auburn Elks Lodge at 195 Pine Street in Auburn on February 16th. This free event is open to club members, spouses, and non-member guests. Doors to the Lodge open at 7:00 a.m. to share fresh brewed coffee. A fantastic $15 wide-selection buffet breakfast is served at 8:00 am followed at 9:00 am with the guest speaker, a third generation fisherman and fishing prodigy, Shawn Rainbarger, owner of Shaun's Fishing Guide Service. Shawn will share his expertise of trout fishing learned from countless hours with his grand dad, Everett Holt, who was a fishing guide and instilled in him a life-long love of fishing.

Novice as well as experienced trout anglers, especially those fishing spring fishing derbies and tournaments, are encouraged to attend Shawn's trout seminar. He will be covering the latest tackle rigging and strategies for locating feeding spring trout. In addition, the Rooster Tails will have on display the latest trout lures for attendees to review.

After 23 years in the steel industry and only in his early forties, Shawn took the major step of taking his success as a talented fisherman to become a full-time fishing guide. Shawn's transition from angler to a professional fishing guide is a story in itself having to comply with strict state requirements including acquiring insurance, learning CPR/First Aid, investing in quality tackle and the purchase of his fully rigged twenty-two-foot Boulton Sea Skiff. He spent thousands of dollars to equip his guide boat with comfortable seating, the latest electronics and multiple down-riggers to make it ready to put his clients onto fish.

Shawn and his family live in Nevada City. To find out more about Shawn's Fishing Guide Service visit his web site at www.shauguide-service.net. Shawn provides a 20% discount to veteran clients and is a supporter of the Purple Heart Anglers group which has helped nearly 2,000 wounded veterans heal by taking them fishing.

The 30 year old, 200+ members Rooster Tails Fishing Club of Northern California, Inc. is a non-profit organization that meets the third Friday of each month to educate, entertain, and enhance fishing experience. Unlike many bass and fly fishing clubs that concentrate on very specific types of fishing, the Rooster Tails Fishing Club provides a balanced mix of fishing techniques presented by fishing experts targeting a variety of fish species on multiple types of waters. For more information contact Jim, Club Chairman, 530-887-0479, or visit the club's web site at www.roostertailsfishingclub.org.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

Collins Lake near Browns Valley will be planting their spring caged trout starting on February 12th. Fish have been taken in the last week with limits expected any time now. If it is bass you are after we recommend fishing near the dam. This area has been producing nice bass the last week or so.

We have reports of sturgeon showing up in the Sacramento River. The hot spots on the river are Knights Landing and Verona. These two areas usually produce fish on a regular basis but once the word gets out the boats show up in large numbers. Let's face the facts.....there are not enough sturgeon in comparison to the number of boats in the river.

The spotted bass at Bullard's Bar Reservoir are now in the pre-spawning mode. Records have been broken in this lake three years during this time of year. Expect lots of activity, but the chance for a big fish is at Bullard's.

Striped bass are still moving into the north side of the Delta which means the spring run is about to happen. Best bet on the main Sacramento River is cut bait or pile worms. In Suisun Bay area just about any type of bait is producing some sturgeon. We suggest a combination of baits be offered for the big boys.

We advise you check before you head up in the high country. Things should be clearing up now after the recent storms, but some reservoirs, including Stampede, Lake Tahoe and Jackson Meadows, were either snowed in or adverse weather made it difficult to fish this past week.

There is an old saying that you have to be in the right spot at the right time to score big on whatever type of fish you are after. However, we believe scouting ahead as well as checking conditions is a big part of catching a limit of fish. I have fished lakes and reservoirs which only held fish in certain areas. The rest of the water was a waste of time. Knowing this fact will eliminate the need to spend countless hours finding the fish. We also firmly believe your eyes, ears and nose works great finding, seeing, smelling and hearing active fish.

Closing thought: "A bad attitude is like a flat tire.....you cannot go anywhere until you change it."

Marysville, Ca.
Remember the “A Day in the Life of Yuba-Sutter” photography project from October of 2015 and the book that was published the following year? On October 23rd and 24th, 2015, nearly 100 local photographers set out across Yuba and Sutter counties to capture the life of our community during a 24 hour period. The best 150 or so of these photographs, in color and black-and-white, were featured in a book aptly titled, A Day in the Life of Yuba-Sutter. There was also an accompanying art gallery showing of many of the photos at Yuba Sutter Arts in Marysville.

South Yuba County Rotary once again invites you to participate in its project newly titled, Another Day in the Life of Yuba-Sutter. This is not a competition, but rather an all-inclusive, community involvement photography project intended to create a commemorative book about where we live. All are welcome to participate including professionals, smart-phone-amateurs and everyone in between. The only rule is that you shoot all images within Yuba and Sutter counties and during the designated time period. This time, we’re stretching the window just a bit. Photographers may begin on Friday, March 16 at 12 noon and take photos until 6:00pm on Saturday, March 17. The project is designed to cover parts of two days so photographers may capture images at work, at Friday evening and Saturday sporting events as well as other activities, events and places. It’s a big weekend with the Bok Kai Parade and Festival and the start of St. Patrick’s Day festivities.

We invite photographers to shoot whatever strikes their fancy during the designated 30 hour time period. We want to see the springtime beauty of Yuba-Sutter, interesting aspects of our region’s infrastructure, businesses, agricultural heritage, any special events or fundraisers occurring on that day and most importantly, people; people in everyday situations, posed or candid, people at work, people from all walks of life. We want to bare the soul of our community and show it off to the world.

You may shoot as many images as you like, but only submit your ten favorites. We will once again publish the photographs in an 11”x14” hardbound book. It is guaranteed that at least one of your images will appear in the book.

Yuba Sutter Arts will again host a showing of the images at its art gallery in Marysville during June with a public reception commemorating the opening of the show. Please join us for what promises to be a memorable project with a long shelf life. Share your vision, your artistry and insights into the community.

A Labor of Love

by Sharon Sawtelle and Greta Ochsner

It was the summer of 1960 and Eunice Gibbons was busy preparing. Her two oldest daughters were getting married just a month apart—one in July and the other in August. When it came time to consider the wedding dresses, there was no doubt that Eunice would sew them. She had sewn clothes for her family for years, but these dresses would be particularly special. Her daughter Kay (Gibbons) Savage was married first; in a dress that Eunice designed taking ideas from three different patterns. After that it was time to start on Sharon's dress. This dress, made from silk organza and peau de soie fabrics, had a classic 1950's style: a fitted top, full skirt, sheer sleeves and buttons—Forty-eight covered buttons. Aunt Hattie made the trip from Oklahoma to California a little early to help Eunice finish covering each button by hand. The dress was finally finished on August 19th 1960, just as Sharon Gibbons walked out the door to marry Gene Sawtelle in her families' backyard garden.

Eunice's work that summer was not forgotten. Fifty-eight years later she's looking forward to seeing another great-granddaughter wear the dress she made for Sharon so many summers ago.

After Sharon's wedding, the dress was kept in a cedar chest- well preserved until Sharon's daughter, Jenette (Sawtelle) Ochsner wore it to her own wedding, 28 years later. A few years after that, the dress was lent to a close family friend, Stephanie Bender, who married Paul Bender in Yuba City in 1989. In January 2016, Jenette's oldest daughter Elsa (Ochsner) De Jong wore the dress to her wedding. She was Eunice's first great-granddaughter to wear it.

During the summer of 2018, Eunice Gibbons will celebrate her 99th birthday She now lives with her daughter Sharon and son-in-law Gene. She enjoys visiting with her daughters, Kay and Sharon, as well as the numerous grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren who stop in to see her. She likes telling stories, keeping her room tidy, going out for dinner, and attending First Reformed Church, where she is a member. She also likes hearing about the preparations for another summer wedding. This June, Eunice's great-granddaughter, Greta Ochsner will be married in her families' backyard- the 5th person and 3rd generation to wear Sharon's wedding dress. Eunice Gibbons plans to attend the wedding, but is thankful she finished sewing the dress 58 years ahead of time.

"Melt Up"

In recent months, undoubtedly due to the seemingly relentless rise in stocks, the term "melt up" has appeared in many a financial commentary. Indeed the term appeared years ago by some prognosticators who predicted the trillions of dollars created by global central bankers to facilitate the myriad of bailouts required (arguably) to stabilize the world markets after the 2008/9 crisis would eventually find its way into the stock market, driving prices to previously unheard of levels.

With the widely followed Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) soaring from the mid 6,000's where it stood during the 08' banking crisis to over 25,000 where it stands this week, an argument could be made this close to quadrupling of the DJIA could be nothing else but the proverbial "melt-up".

From Investorwords.com, the melt up is defined as:

"A dramatic upturn of certain stocks occurring when investors unexpectedly purchase these stocks and drive their price up without any specific reason, logic or improvement in economic conditions. A melt up reflects a mass mentality where it appears that investors do not want to miss out on making a possible profit. This is usually followed by a meltdown".

Obviously the melt up portion of the equation is quite an enjoyable ride experience by most investors as they see portfolio values rising almost daily. What could be simpler right?

Such increases in stock valuations and their subsequent effect on investor perception of their new worth could also lead to the often touted "wealth effect". This wealth effect is based on the belief that with rising stock portfolios come rising optimism on behalf of investors and they will subsequently spend more, boosting asset prices even farther as companies reap the rewards of such spending. And around and around we go, upwards and onwards to the carefree life resembling the "Roaring 20's", a period in U.S. history that is said to be one of lavish spending brought on by the relentless rise in their markets between 1920 and 1929. During that time the nation's wealth reportedly more than doubled, only to fall victim to the great stock market crash of 1929.

Of course, the wealth effect is thought to kick in reverse when the opposite happens, mainly the stock market melts down. Such a thing happened in 1929 and has happened at various other times in history, not the least of which being our own crisis in 2008/09, when consumer spending fell off the proverbial cliff, to put it mildly.

This is not to say, as Investorwords.com puts it that "this is usually followed by a meltdown" is cause for concern.

After all, this is an opinion only, and as we know, no one, no matter who it is, can predict market direction, no way, no how. Obviously markets rise and fall as a matter of fact and historically speaking, but who's to say this market can't quadruple again before correcting, if it corrects at all?

Most analysts and investor alike would likely concur a market fall is in the cards, but when and by how much is an unknown fact to all. Should a minor correction or corrections happen along the way, such corrections are viewed by some as a healthy and normal pattern of markets in general.

The fact remains although manias, boom and bust cycles and "irrational exuberance" as Fed Chief Alan Greenspan once quipped in response to the dot com run up, may appear as excessive to some, markets don't follow scrips nor give a hoot about what anybody thinks might happen.

I have always said markets will reflect reality eventually but their day to day movements are only the perception of all the millions of investors in it on any given day. That said, the term melt up is only a term made up by some to describe what they perceive as an irrational movement over a given time period.

As in all debates however, there are others on the opposite side of the analytic spectrum that might say the drastic movements in the markets are only a sign of a healthy and booming economy. Although the rise in the market is indeed remarkable, there is no absolute law of markets that say it can't continue, and by how long, nobody really knows.

As in all things however and as the Boy Scouts say, hope for the best but prepare for the worst. That way, no matter what happens, at least you have a chance at not becoming another in a long line of investors who just hoped for the best, and did nothing else.

CRITIC'S CORNER

by Matt Woolery

12 Strong

Starring: Chris Hemsworth, Michael Shannon, and Michael Peña.

Rated: R, Runtime: 130 minutes.

After the attack on the World Trade Center towers in 2001 a team of Green Berets are sent into Afghanistan. Their mission is to establish a foothold for further troop movement as well as to cripple the further efforts of Al Qaeda and the Taliban to advance jihad against their infidels.

From the first scene to the last, this story is riveting. The memory of the Twin Towers falling reinvigorates the fervor of protecting our country and sets the tone perfectly. The action of this squad and the adversity they overcame to achieve their objectives is inspiring. The showing of the humanity of all characters adds depth and weight to this film. The actors involved in this film did an amazing job. Chris Hemsworth does a great job as well as Michael Peña. Fahim Fazli, performed perfectly playing the bad guy. He gave a performance that embodied that which should be despised in human nature. A blind following of an ideal that kills any man, woman, or child that threatens its power or hold over people. The production value was very well done. The amount of skill and training the horses show in this film are a testament to how marvelous of an animal they are.

12 Strong, earns four out of five, Horse Riding Monkeys. As war movies go, this is a good one. This is a great movie that tells the story that was hidden from us in the beginning of the war on terror. 12 Strong, gives us the opportunity to honor and celebrate the courage and dedication of the men that answered the call of our country and the families that loved them and let them go.

We want to wish a Happy Birthday to all of our February birthday readers. You share your birthday month with Abraham Lincoln on the 12th and George Washington on the 22nd. We hope you will have many more happy and healthy birthdays to come.

Look Back in Time – In 1902 The Gold Bank Mine started running again and it was music to the citizens of Forbestown. The miners were happy on payday (when the mine or our government shuts down, it is a worry to us all).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Sierra snowpack remains low
The Sierra Nevada snowpack has improved ever-so slightly in January, according to automatic sensors, but manual surveyors who visit the Sierra Thursday will still find far-below-average levels. Sensor readings show the statewide snowpack at about 30 percent of average, up from about one-quarter of average at the start of the month. But most aboveground reservoirs remain at or above average storage levels, due to the wet winter a year ago.

Dairy digesters to be dedicated Celebrations scheduled for Friday will mark the opening of three dairy digester projects in Kern County. Digesters capture methane and other gas created from dairy waste, and convert the gas into electricity and vehicle fuel. The California Department of Food and Agriculture, which provides grants to encourage digester development, says the systems help to reduce greenhouse-gas emissions.

Processing tomato acreage to increase
More tomatoes may be produced on California farms this year, according to a preliminary government estimate. The report says processors plan to contract with farmers to grow 12 million tons of tomatoes for use in sauce, ketchup and other products. That would be up 4 percent from last year's contract volumes. Processing-tomato acreage had dropped to low levels a year ago, as processors sought to balance supply and demand.

Direct purchasing may affect produce buying patterns
People who shop directly with farmers at roadside stands or farmers markets tend to spend more money on fruits and vegetables: That's the finding of a U.S. Department of Agriculture study. Analyzing data from shopper surveys, USDA concluded that Americans shop at direct-to-customer outlets relatively infrequently, and that encouraging people to shop at farmers markets and other direct outlets could increase overall fruit and vegetable purchases.

OPINION

THINK ABOUT IT by Charlie McNiff

It seems that Foggy Bottom Washington D.C. has gone into Warp Drive with the shenanigans of some of the top officials in the Justice Department and the FBI.

And how about the WOW State of the Union address by President Trump.

By the time you read this the Territorial will have gone to press (Monday). The 4-page Surveillance Memo from the U.S. House of Representatives Intelligence Committee will undoubtedly have been released by President Trump by that time.

In the words of Donald Trump, Jr. regarding the Boots and Suits in the FBI he said, "The Boots on the ground know about problems with a few of the Suits on the 7th floor." ... more detailed commentary next issue.

After the State of the Union address, Britt Hume commented, "Most of the time, the Democrats looked stone-faced as if they had just lost their dog." ... more on the address next issue.

Because of time restraints of deadlines we're going to go over some notes from the last few months...Think about the jottings below.

● The Dow Stock Market has been steadily rising since it marked 18,332 the day after Trump was elected President on Nov. 8, 2016. In late January, 2018, 14 months later it had reached 26,000. The Stock Market Value rose from 5 Trillion Dollars in October 2017 to 8 Trillion Dollars in late January, 2018...coinciding with 2.4 Million new jobs in Trump's first year in office.

● 276 companies have given $1,000 bonuses to over 2 million workers since President Trump's new Tax Plan took effect. House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi said, "People have to be happy with crumbs." In the 2009 Obama Stimulus Package she crowed about people getting $40 checks. Well, Nance, it looks like your side was Real Crummy.

● 1.4 Million pages of testimony on the Mueller investigation into "Russian Collusion"...and not one piece of evidence of Trump involvement.

● How soon we forget...former FBI Director James Comey showed up to Hillary's Non-Election Nite Party (he didn't stay too long). Hmmm...one of the lawyers hired by Comey after he was fired by President Trump was the lawyer professor from Columbia University who leaked the bogus "go easy on General Flynn" to the New York Times.

● Because of the new tax law, 350 Billion Dollars in taxes could result from Trillions of dollars being brought back into the U.S.

● Maxine Waters (Mad Max...Impeach 45...) Los Angeles congresswoman has a 4.5 Million Dollar mansion on a $174,000 yearly salary plus benies...and she, by the way, does not even live in her district.

● Well over 1,000 federal regulations cancelled in first 10 months. For each new regulation there has been 22 regulations cancelled (Trump promised 2 cancelled for 1 new on the campaign trail). In 1960 there were 20,000 pages of regulations. By 2017 it had grown to 185,000 pages which, the citizenry has been promised, will be reduced significantly in due time.

● Recent report from the U.S. Department of Justice that 1 in 5 (20%) of federal prisoners are illegal aliens (the left continues to give them a supposed highfalutin title of "undocumented"). Of the 20%...22% were in for murder...18% fraud...32% money laundering...28% drug trafficking and 72% of the total for drug possession.

● 55 Million people saw their 401K's increase by 35 to 40% in Trump's first year. Yesireebob... that's consumer confidence to the nth degree. And that's not crumbs Nance...and Chuckie!

● Talk about confidence...Exxon is going to invest 50 Billion $$$ in their oil business...Apple is touting 350 Billion $$$ in new investment (and that includes bringing 240 Billion $$$ in U.S. Greenbacks coming back into the country...that will be taxed)...and hiring 20,000 new workers as well. That is real American Apple Pie you can sink your teeth into.

● Toyota is ramping up with 1.3 Billion $$$ for their new plant in Alabama...and MORE new jobs for new workers.

● Don't ya just love it!

New Direction for Yuba County

For as long as I can remember, Yuba County has had a well deserved reputation for being a difficult place to do business. You might say they were rather persnickety. If there was some leeway in interpreting a rule or regulation, the staff would generally take a more restrictive approach. Not surprisingly, this attitude took its toll on the County's prosperity. I know of one winery that would have preferred Yuba County, but ended up in Butte County because the officials in Yuba made it too difficult to get started.

But that has all changed in the last year and half. Department retirements, the departure of a particularly difficult Planning Director, has made Yuba County much more user friendly. This is in large part due the Board of Supervisors. The Board sets the tone, "Staff, please be more cooperative with the public." And it shows.

Last year, I needed an Administrative Use Permit for my Frenchtown Inn as a Bed & Breakfast and Farmstay. I found the staff helpful and supportive. Their attitude was, how can we make this happen. Recently, I submitted an application to convert a barn into a tasting room. Again, the people in the different departments were friendly and positive in support of the project.

The County still has rules and regulations, much of it in the area of health and safety. But, today, rather than getting in the way, Yuba County is more interested in assisting people with their venture.

Another Tax

Sirs I was reading the Sunday paper and on the EDITORIAL page they were touting a new tax that I guess Democrats love. It was called a safety tax that the local tax payers would pay for fire and police protection now the article said the money collected could only go to better police and fire dept. And nothing else. But as I read the article it seemed to me I just read it a few months ago and it sounded a lot like the article the AD ran when they were trying to pass the 1% sales tax for the same reason, where did that money go? Drain the swamp at home they must really think we are dumb to try and run this by the voters.

Donald Lewis
Marysville, Ca.

Editors Note: If the County puts the sales tax increase on the ballot as a regular tax increase, as Marysville did, it would require a majority 50% +1 vote, there would be no guarantee that the tax would be used for public safety needs. In fact, past history shows that both Yuba County and Marysville have not kept their promise to use the tax money for what they say it will be used for.

However; if they should choose to put the tax on the ballot as a "Special Tax" clearly defining what the tax would be used for, it would require a 2/3rds majority vote for passage.

Your One Minute News Digest

by Don Rae

- “Americans are dreamers too” – President Trump.
- The ACLU complained that Trump used the word America more than 80 times in his recent State of the Union speech. This insane organization thinks the word is divisive. Don’t the lame-brains know the title of their own organization starts with the word “American”?
- Is it any surprise that the repairs on Oroville Dam are skyrocketing, reaching nearly $1Billion? If the government is involved, money flows down the toilet, or in this case flows down a broken spillway. What’s even more disturbing about Oroville is that Moonbeam was informed in 2011 that the dam had problems. The voters, in 2014 passed a bond issue which was supposed to provide money to fix the Dam. Moonbeam did not spend a nickel to do so. So now where are we? The State doesn’t tell us the whole truth even though there are some potentially serious flaws in the repairs and more than $1Billion in claims for property and other damage are outstanding. And we expect the Democrats to come clean and do what is right?
- It appears the Democrats are more interested in non-citizens than the needs of US citizens. What about it, Garamendi?
- Why hasn’t AG Sessions been fired? He’s holding justice hostage.
- More talk floating around about improving the Yuba River. Apparently dredging is not favored because of concerns such restoration would in some way compromise the levees. Well, didn’t the engineers and planners who designed and built the levees build in protection against probable dredging? If not, it should have been considered.
- Stockton is considering handing out taxpayer money to low-income families. Why? Don’t they get enough EBT, housing allowances, medical etc.? How much more should taxpayers have to give out of the money they earn?
- The LA Times apparently feels Trump should give California more money and attention.

Why? What has California recently done to show support for the Federal Government?

- The Guggenheim Museum needs a lesson on how to behave with class. When they refused a request to loan a painting to Melania for the White House, they offered instead a full-size gold toilet (supposedly an “art object”). Elite ugliness.
- Some organization called “concerned Scientists” has a supposed “Doomsday Clock” which they manipulate in order to scare the wits out of the world. Recently they moved it to 2 minutes to midnight – probably in response to today’s political atmosphere. Another Paul Erlich “Population Bomb” farce?
- The taxpayer-funded bureaucrats at the Government Accounting Office sent out federal agents posing as illegal gun buyers to prove that current gun laws don’t work. Unfortunately for the lefties, there was no illegal activity. Hear any of this on ABC, NBC, CBS, CNN or the mainstream press or the Associated Press?
- Scientists now say microwaves are responsible for huge amounts of carbon dioxide spewing into the atmosphere. Perhaps as much as almost 7 million cars. By over cooking our food, we are fueling global warming, they say. Hopefully this idiotic study is not paid by government funds.
- Moonbeam simply can’t help himself. He wants a legacy of a water tunnel. He wants a legacy of a “high-speed” train. Now he wants a legacy of putting gas stations out of business by providing $1.25 billion of our tax dollars to install electric vehicle charging stations throughout the state. Of course it is his cronies in the industry who will benefit. He wants the entire state to be the “Brown Legacy Land” – bigger than Disneyland. Can’t we find some way to get him off to his ranch sooner?
- Ian Calderon (what else, a Democrat and Assembly Leader) introduced Assembly Bill 1884, which would require restaurants to have a “straws-upon-request” only policy. The first halting step to the eventual elimination of straws in California.
- Here’s one which will scare a dog off a gut wagon. The reporters of the LA Times voted to unionize.
- And to top off the above. It was recently reported that business-related travel by the loons at UCLA reached almost 90 million miles in 2016.

Do they ever appear in the classroom.

- The Environmentalists are on their high horses again. They are protesting the Wall around some Wildlife Preserve or other. They claim all kinds of horror will be visited on plants and animals if the wall is built. If these loons would use critical thinking, they would realize that the destruction of the Wildlife Preserve will occur if it is the only place without a wall. Those seeking to cross the border would all funnel right through it. Then imagine the degradation of habitat. Just look at the Yuba River bottoms and any major city in the United States where the homeless are given free rein to destroy habitat.
- The Hawaiian button-pusher is refusing to cooperate with the investigation over why he sent a “doomsday” notice throughout the State. Why?
- Apparently two counties are fighting to have the right to Charles Manson’s body. Guess whose money is going to fight that court battle? Maybe the judge should make a Solomon’s decision and split the remains.
- There are rumors to the effect that some school children are sitting for the national anthem and pledge of allegiance and the snowflake schools are allowing this disrespect. Listen up kiddies: In both cases common protocol is to stand and respectfully participate, or at least listen. Adults – that is teachers and administrators – are employed to teach and enforce good behavior. If the adults can’t do so, then they should go back to flipping burgers.
- The State Department is considering a $600K program to address links between masculinity and violent extremism in Kenya. The basis for this ridiculous use of taxpayer money is based on a perceived problem of “ideals of masculinity” in Kenya and how they make men vulnerable to recruitment by fundamentalist
- A Pico Rivera teacher named Gregory Salcido decided to go on a profanity laced tirade against the military in front of his high school students. Unfortunately for this lame-brain, a student was smart enough to record him. The vile exposition of union-protected, leftie comments reveal again the need to clean the public schools of incompetents.
- To further the list of public schools breeding illiterates in the name of progressive politics, an on the street interview of NYU students the day before Trump’s State of the Union speech is instructive. Most of the students complained about the tenor of the speech, the content and generally badmouthed it. Did you get the point? The interview was the day before the speech was given. Dumb as fence posts and with a point of view unchanged whether or not they have heard the speech.

Alton Wright Announces his Candidacy

Yuba County Supervisor District 5

Alton Wright wants to become the next Yuba County Supervisor for the people living in District 5.

“Having lived in the foothills for nearly twenty years, and with local family roots dating back to the late 1960’s, I love the people, the beauty and the opportunity of our incredible community. I also see the long-term challenges and hear the frustrations of people who feel ignored or misunderstood by their elected leaders. This has to change. This is why I want to be the supervisor for you, the people.”

With his educational and professional background, Alton stands apart from others relying on past personal qualifications because he knows there’s a critical need to address real, everyday issues RIGHT NOW– Make the community more fire-safe, fix roads, support the needs of youth, families and seniors and fairly resolve the outdoor Cannabis challenge, as well as many others. District 5 can’t wait for the current, stagnant leadership to follow through on false promises or to see others who might be a cookie-cutter repeat of the past.

Like many of us, Alton is just a regular person: taking a load of firewood to a needy family, giving seniors vegetables grown on his sustainable farm or mentoring a young adult away from harmful drugs. He’s also the person to lead the effort to stop unfair water rate increases and to support local organizations bettering the community. This must-do attitude is the kind of supervisor he will be, whether it’s to advocate for more streamlined permitting processes, to ensure that appropriate funding is in place to support common sense law enforcement or to simply provide a fresh perspective on unsolved issues.

“I don’t profess to have all the answers or solutions, but I know they are out there, within the hearts and minds of our community and we can work together to find them. I know some decisions won’t please everyone, but I will always seek input from every body affected. I will work tirelessly for the people, my neighbors, to make District 5 a better place than it is today. Let’s make Yuba County shine above all others!”

District 5 covers a vast, diverse geographic area including Strawberry Valley, Camptonville, Smartsville, Rackerby, Challenge, District 10, Hallwood, Northeastern Marysville, Loma Rica, Browns Valley, Dobbins, Oregon House, Brownsville and the southern edges of Clipper Mills and Forbestown, the neighborhood Alton lives in.

Forming the New California State

Yuba City, Ca.

The New California State movement announced Grievance 2 against the state of California was declared at 11:00 a.m. January 30, 2018, in Martinez, Contra Costa County; San Joaquin County; Riverside, Riverside County; and Yuba City, Sutter County.

New California is a new state in development by egregiously aggrieved Californians exercising their Constitutional Right to form a new state separate from the tyranny and lawlessness of the state of California.

Whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it and institute new Government. When a long train of abuses and acts to seize and hold the people’s power without legal authority and pursuing invariably the same Object that clearly demonstrates a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.

The present governor and government of California have a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of a Tyranny over the state of California.

Citizens of New California are joining together to remedy the abuse of power by the government of California and exercising their right to form a new state as authorized and set forth in Article IV, Section 3, of the United States Constitution.

Therefore the counties of New California bring forward 40 grievances against the government of California, being announced in public on Tuesday at 11:00 a.m. each week for 40 weeks. The next 38 weekly grievances for the northern counties will be read at the new Sutter County Courthouse, 1175 Civic Center Blvd., Yuba City, Tuesdays, 11:00 am-11:30 am. Concerned citizens are welcome to attend.

Declaration of Grievance 2

The United States Constitution, Article IV Section 4, states, in part:

The United States shall guarantee to every state in this union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

Grievance 2 consists of 3 parts:

Failure of the government of California to provide a republican form of government.

Failure of the government of California to protect each Citizen against invasion.

Failure of government of California to protect Citizens against domestic violence.

Area African-American Pioneers – 1848-1900

by Carol Withington

In 2011, a data base of over 520 pages listing the names of California pioneers of African descent was published by Guy Washington, program manager of the National Park Service of the Pacific West Region. In addition, an index of African American pioneer locations in California was also made available. This valuable information was gathered due to the National Underground Railroad Network to Freedom Act of 1998, which directed the National Park Service "to facilitate an international effort to commemorate and interpret the Underground Railroad and to locate and preserve sites associated with this theme of American history".

Information was gathered from a multitude of sources such as newspapers, cemeteries, the Federal census and city directories. One of the most comprehensive works utilized was from the book authored by Delilah L. Beasley whose extensive research was compiled in the 1919 publication of the Negro Trail Blazers of California. Another resource was Rudolph Lapp's book Blacks in Gold Rush California as well as the 1995 publication of local historian Lester C. Pogue's The African American Heritage of Yuba County 1849-1870. Over the following months, a series involving the lives of area African-American pioneers will be presented in order to honor those over 200 residents who chose Marysville and surrounding communities as a place to settle and begin life anew.

WESTWARD MOVEMENT

When gold was discovered at Sutter's Mill in 1848, among the huge migration of people who headed to California were African-Americans Fritz Vosburg and James Monroe Breeden who appear to be the first to arrive in Marysville followed by over two dozen pioneers who are listed as "49ers", according to Delilah Beasley.

Among those identified are: William Bailey, Texana, Major and Charles Breeden: Samuel Brown, Robert Chandler, James and Mary Churchill, Sandy Clark, John Gains, Joseph Edward Hatton, Abraham Freeman Holland, James Hubbard and William Huff. Also listed are the names of J.B. Johnson, Nimrod Jones, John Loney, James Miller, W.W. Moulton, Nathaniel Nelson, the Rev. Thomas Randolph and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Alonzo Smith.

Rounding out the area African-American 49ers include: George Symes, Sarah Thompson and her husband; Bill Vaughn and Mrs. Carpenter Williams.

According to research, many of these pioneers were primarily from the southern states with the majority from Virginia, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee--in that order. Others arrived from the southern states of Florida, Mississippi, North Carolina, Louisiana, Maryland and Texas.

The remaining states represented include: Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan and Ohio. Two arrived from Washington D.C. and a few from as far as Denmark, England and Jamaica. Unfortunately, records do not sometimes record the state of origin or the arrival year to California of some of the African-Americans.

Those who arrived in 1849 and the early 1850s found Marysville a bustling distribution center for the northern mines. It was also one of the largest cities in California with a variety of businesses and trades to accommodate its residents as well as the miners during their excursions to replenish supplies. All appeared to be welcome. One saloon even placed a sign in the window encouraging all customers "with no regard to distinction or color".

Some African-Americans were eventually able to purchase freedom for themselves or send money for family members to come to the area. However, there were others that were sent back into Southern slavery by their owners or remained slaves while in California such as Addie Taylor who will be among those highlighted in the next part of this series.
