Non-Profits Recognized

For efforts during wild fires of October

John Mistler representing the Foothill Lions, Marjorie Corey and Brenda Rightmyer. Yankee Hill Fire Safe Council, Carol Dower, Sandy Bourasa, Dewey Harvey of Feather Falls Grange and Senator Jim Nielsen.

Sacramento, Ca.
On Friday February 16, 2018 the California State Legislature publicly recognized the people and organizations that made immeasurable contributions during and after the devastating wild fires of October 2017. That included the leaders in each of the counties of Nevada, Butte, Lake, Yuba, and Sonoma along with the state firefighters.

In addition to the government leaders of each county the legislature recognized the non-profit organizations of the Foothill Lions in Yuba County, Feather Falls Grange in Butte County and Yankee Hill Fire

Safe Council of Nevada County.

The resolutions were presented to each of the organizations by Senator Jim Nielsen and Assemblyman James Gallagher on the floor of the Senate. The resolutions recognized the damage to property and lives during an unprecedented fire storm driven by winds up to 70 miles per hour. The resolutions also recognized the successful efforts of the non-profits to raise money for those affected by the fires, gather needed supplies, food and clothing and help in the information to begin rebuilding.

The Foothill Lions Club is located on the edge of the fire line and was helpful as an immediate gathering location. Within days it became a central location for FEMA to gather information that those affected would need to move forward.

Learn the Sales Tax Shuffle

by Lou Binninger

In 2014, the City of Marysville initiated a campaign to raise the sales tax rate to 8.5% for 10 years. It failed by 75 votes. The council, unable to service debt on a lame decision to speculate on property, blamed the shortage of funds on police and fire. City Hall launched a second identical tax measure in 2016 which passed on June 4 by 209 votes.

Both pitches promised the funds though not legally restricted would be used for police and fire. That was a lie. A citizens committee was to keep the council honest.

As soon as funds began to flow raises were given to employees, not restricted to emergency services. The other day City Manager Marti Brown in an interview with radio personality John Black mentioned that maybe some of the funds could go to parks. Yes, parks are terrible, but the money wasn't for that.

Opponents of the sales tax increase argued that as personnel and council members come and go the new cash flow will be just that, and have nothing to do with police and fire. We are already there in Marysville. People are forgetting the emergency services tax lullaby.

Now, the Yuba County Supervisors just spent $30,000 of taxpayers' money for a survey of 556 voters to convince citizens to raise sales taxes by 1%. It's for police and fire they say.

Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association says, "Local governments also frequently hire expensive consultants (at taxpayer expense) to tell them the best way to pass a sales tax. These consultants sometimes advise local officials not to publicize the sales tax election to the entire community, but to target only their supporters. This means running a stealth election, communicating only with known tax supporters."

Black History and Africa

by Lou Binninger

This is Black History Month. It was deemed so in 1976 but got its real start when Carter G. Woodson, scholar, historian, and educator, created "Negro History Week" in 1926. February was chosen because it marked the birthdays of black abolitionist Frederick Douglass and President Abraham Lincoln.

Depending on who's talking black people are today enjoying the bounty of America or are cursed here. Black economist Walter Williams says "Americans should be proud of the tremendous gains made since emancipation. Black Americans, as a group, have made the greatest gains, over some of the highest hurdles, in a shorter span of time than any other racial group in mankind's history."

Williams says that "if American black income is totaled and thought of us as a separate nation along with its own gross domestic product, black Americans would rank among the world's 20 richest nations."

Then there are key national leaders. Colin Powell directed the world's most powerful military and Barack Obama the nation. Clarence Thomas is a world-class Supreme Court jurist. Ben Carson is a renowned neuro-surgeon. Blacks routinely are picked for the President's cabinet, sundry legislative seats and to be mayors of our largest cities.

A few black Americans are among the world's richest and most famous personalities. There is a multitude of black millionaires.

Black intellectual, educator and author Thomas Sowell and Williams both contend that neither former slave nor slave owner would have dreamed that such changes and advances were possible in 150 years. It is a tribute to the Constitution and Americans that worked and fought to make the needed changes to conform the nation to the grand document. It should not be

Faces of The Internment

On February 19, 1942 President Roosevelt ordered Japanese Americans to internment camps. The U.S. government then began relocating Japanese-Americans living in coastal Pacific areas to internment camps in remote areas of several states. This came 10 weeks after the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor in Hawaii.

Of the 127,000 Japanese-Americans, mostly U.S. citizens, 112,000 lived on the West Coast and about 80,000 were second generation U.S. citizens

Pictures of local Japanese sent to internment camps in 1942 continues through the month of February at Yuba Sutter Arts Council 624 E St in Marysville.

Sox Sign Northern Colorado Pitcher

Marysville, Ca. The Yuba-Sutter Gold Sox are proud to announce the signing of RHP, Caden Maher, out of the University of Northern Colorado. "Our roster is continuing to expand with great players. I'm excited to see how our team looks this summer. Caden will surprise a lot of people this summer as he is a great addition to our pitching crop," said VP/GM Michael Mink. Maher is currently a RS sophomore at the University of Northern Colorado, where he is majoring in Criminal Justice. He made 7 appearances as a freshman and had a team low 2.70 ERA in 6.2 innings pitched. He was team captain during his senior year in high school and lettered 3 times while making the 2nd Team All CIF Southern Division. He also posted an impressive 1.39 ERA with 43 strikeouts. He's been playing baseball since he was 4 years old and before each game, he has to listen to the Dark Side of the Moon album by Pink Floyd in its entirety.

Mora Added to Pitching Staff

The Gold Sox pitching staff continues to strengthen as the 2018 season starts to crawl closer. The latest signee, Angel Mora, comes to the team from the Academy of Art University. "We're excited to have a powerful arm like Angel coming to the team," said VP/GM Michael Mink.

pionship (CCCAA). During this season, he hit .309 with 9 doubles and 28 RBIs, earning him a spot on the Second Team All SCC Conference.

At El Camino College, Mora helped the Warriors complete a 40-11 record in the 2016 season, leading them to the finals of the California Community College Athletic Association Baseball State Cham-

Mora has been playing baseball since he was 5 years old and his favorite sports hero is Alex Rodriguez. "I'm ready to get this season on the road, I'm ready to compete and show the fans what I'm made of," said Mora.

Ceremony Blessing the Village and Yuba River

The public is invited to join the Tsi Akim tribe for a Blessing Ceremony performed by the Tibetan Monks of Gaden Shartse Monastery at the historic fishing village on the Yuba River on Sunday, February 25, 2018. The blessing is for success of the Fishing Village land and river and for harmony among the all people. The ceremony will begin at 10:00 a.m., event hours 10:00 a.m. to noon. Tour the Village and enjoy lunch hosted by the tribe during the event. The village is located in the Sycamore Ranch Park and Campground, 5390 Highway 20, Browns Valley, Ca.

This Blessing Ceremony is a joint fundraising effort for the Kulu Village and the Tibetan Monks. A $20.00 donation would be greatly appreciated.

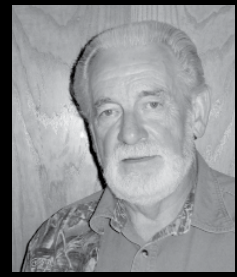

The Tsi-Akim Maidu are indigenous American Indians who are dedicated to the preservation and perpetuation of their people's language, culture, history and heritage. The purpose of the village is to educate tribal members and the non-Indian community of their tribal history and culture.

The Sacred Earth and Healing Arts of Tibet Tour has been visiting the United States since 1989 with a two-fold mission; to be of service to the world by helping spread peace, compassion, and tolerance through cultural exchange, interfaith dialogue and Buddhist teachings; and to raise funds that provide for education, medical needs housing and building maintenance for the monks at Gaden Shartse Monastery located in a Tibetan Refugee Settlement in South India.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

This time of year we are always discussing the fish which move up river to spawn. This includes salmon, steelhead, striped bass, shad and others. These runs certainly get one heck of a lot of anglers excited but there are fish which live here year round in the waters of the foothills and valleys of Northern California.

Catfish swim in all waters in the North State, as well as in the South, and are good fighters and excellent food fare. In fact, many folks prefer a catfish fillet for dinner over other fish.

A long time ago my Grandfather and Uncle would go out into the Sutter Buttes and bring home a half dozen or so dead jack rabbits. (Jack rabbits were so common back then it was easy to see a hundred or more in a single morning). After field dressing the animals and both ingredients and carcass are left out in the sun for a week or so, they were placed in a gunny sack, along with several large rocks, and thrown into local ditches, streams and bypasses. After several days we would go fishing for catfish close by the chum. Some very large fish were caught with this method, which by the way is illegal now.

Stink baits have been used for catfish for a long time. This concoction used to be home made and everyone had his or her own recipe. Nowadays you can purchase all different kinds of catfish bait at the local sporting goods store, but some of us still prefer our own mixture and we all know good catfish bait must stink. Another reason to make your own bait is no one has it.

We highly recommend if you decide to make your own catfish bait that you do it away from the house and never mix up a concoction in the kitchen. In fact, the containers you use should be ones that will not be used for anything else. Most stink baits have a base of melted cheese mixed with some kind of meat and spices. Garlic is a favorite. I know of several anglers who used to poke holes in canned dog food and drop it in the water. Again, I believe this is illegal today.

Finally, the bait must be of the consistency to melt away underwater which will get the smell to the fish and draw them to the area. Baits can be placed inside cheesecloth or dip a sponge into the mess. The other important thing to consider of the bait must stay on the hook.

Closing thought: "Peace is not the absence of conflict, but the ability to cope with conflict by peaceful means." Ronald Reagan

by Matt Woolery

Hostiles

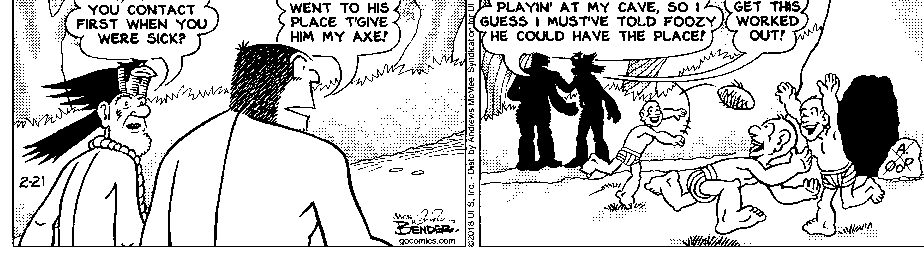

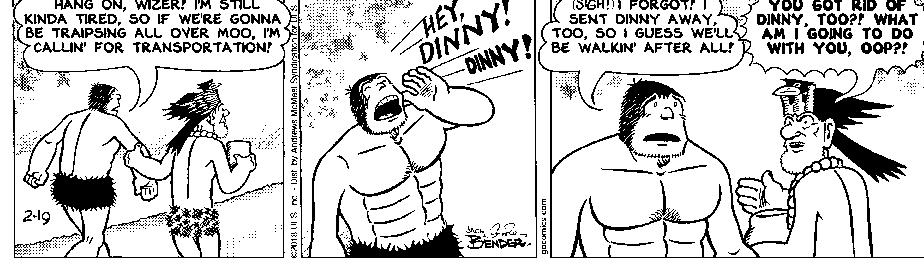

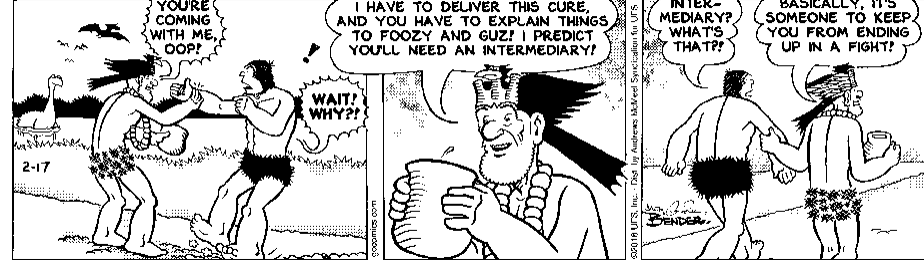

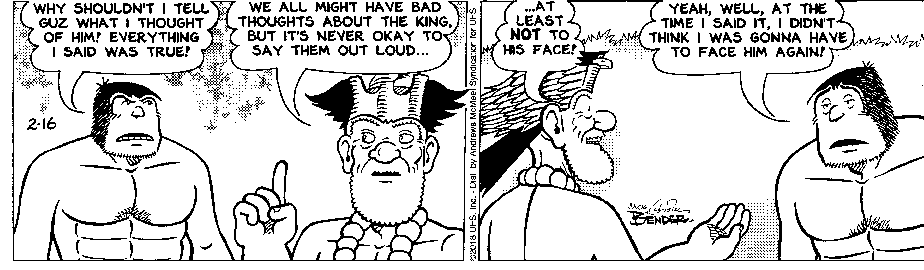

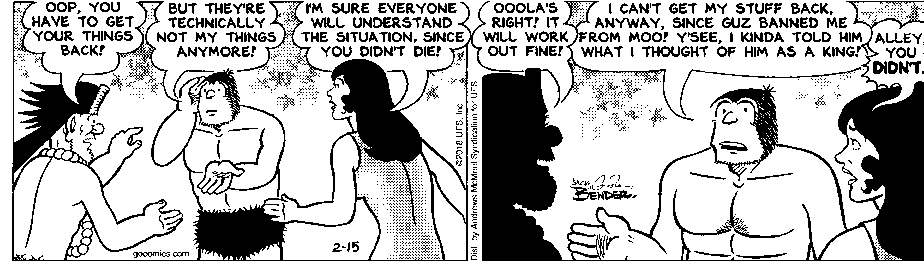

Starring: Christian Bale, Wes Studi, and Rosamund Pike.

Rated: R, Runtime: 134 minutes.

Set in the late 1800's a cavalry officer in New Mexico is given a mission to transport a freed native chief to his homeland of Bear Valley, Montana. The two had fought in the same battles on opposite sides and as can be imagined, that leads to an awkward journey.

The beginning rides in with true horrific fashion. The savagery depicted on the screen is chilling. To see the brutality of man laid bare is an unsettling experience. The story moves in a slow arc of pain, loss, and desperation all the while a blossoming hope that the bonds that are forged between folk during times of adversity strengthens their resolve and drives them ever onward. The actors did an amazing job and Rosamund Pike performed her heart out.

Hostiles, earns five out of five, Run for the Ridge Monkeys. This is a brutal and well told story that is wonderfully acted and produced. I will never watch it again if I can help it, however watching it just once reminds one of the value of life and how easily it can slip away.

Marysville, Ca. Yuba Sutter Arts hosted its two county Poetry Out Loud competitions recently with Yuba County students competing on Tuesday, February 6th and Sutter County students competing on Thursday, February 8th at the Burrows Center for the Arts in Marysville. Over 50 students participated with the winners chosen by a distinguished panel of judges.

The Yuba County winners are First Place - Seraphim Fuhrer, Second Place - Ethan Barmettler and Third Place - Brielle Finch. The Yuba County winners are all students at the Marysville Charter Academy for the Arts.

The Sutter County winners are First Place - Giselle Soto, Yuba City High School, Second Place - Mirette Ochsner, Visions in Education Charter and Emily Dominguez, Yuba City High School.

Judging was based on physical presence, voice and articulation, dramatic appropriateness, level of complexity, evidence of understanding and overall performance.

Yuba Sutter Arts has been conducting the Poetry Out Loud competition locally for nine years. The program was founded by the National Endowment for the Arts in 2005. Students select poems from the Poetry Out Loud online anthology of over 900 poems. Poetry Out Loud is a national program that encourages students to learn about great poetry through memorization and recitation. It helps students master public speaking skills, build self-confidence, and learn about literary history and contemporary life. Poetry Out Loud has grown over the years to include more than 3 million students and 50,000 teachers from 10,000 schools in every state, Washington, DC, the US Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

County winners will compete over two days at the California Poetry Out Loud State Finals in Sacramento on March 18 and 19. At the state level, one winner will be selected to represent California in the national competition. The California State winner receives a $200 cash prize and an all-expenses paid trip to Washington, D.C. in April to compete at the National Finals for college scholarship funds.

Food and Farm News

Agriculture secretary visits California

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue visits farms in the Central Valley Wednesday during the second day of a three-day visit to California. Perdue has scheduled visits to two fruit packinghouses, a dairy, an almond processing plant and other facilities. On Tuesday, the secretary conducted a town hall meeting at the World Ag Expo in Tulare, during which he answered questions about farm policy, research priorities and other topics.

Unusual winter weather affects crops

Warm, dry winter weather affects operations on California farms and ranches. Farmers say warmer-than-average temperatures in recent weeks have pushed some crops vulnerable to frost when colder weather resumes. The lack of rain in the Central Valley has encouraged some farmers to irrigate trees and vines earlier than they typically would.

State continues to lead in vegetable production

Heavy rains in California last spring contributed to reduced vegetable production in California, according to an annual report issued Tuesday by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The report showed total vegetable production in the state down 11 percent, compared to the previous year--though harvests of crops such as cauliflower, sweet corn and romaine lettuce increased. California accounted for 57 percent of the nation's vegetable production last year.

Bottling in glass helps dairy farms compete

Milk in glass bottles has become a niche market for several California dairy farms. The farms say bottling in glass gives them an opportunity to sell their own milk and help it stand out in the marketplace. In some cases, the farms distinguish themselves with flavored milks as well. One Stanislaus County dairy bottles milk in flavors including orange cream, root beer and cotton candy.

Learn the Sales Tax Shuffle

“Since it is illegal for local officials to use public resources (including public tax funds) to urge a vote for or against a ballot measure, consultants frequently counsel sales tax supporters on the best way to wage ‘information’ or ‘education’ campaigns. This often means putting up signs or sending out material stating all the ‘good things’ a sales tax would do, but stopping just short of telling people how to vote. These tactics sometimes occur even before a tax is officially placed on the ballot.”

Cities and counties use scare tactics explaining this is the only alternative to save law enforcement and fire. They use “It’s only” campaigns. “It’s only a few cents a day or a few dollars a month more for police and fire.” They make it sound trivial. However, many people will pay more than $1,000 in additional taxes a year. The poor of the county will be hit the hardest.

The truth that won’t be told is that supervisors misspent funds designated for emergency services, overpromised on salary and pensions and now want a bigger bucket to bail-out a leaking boat.

This is a budgetary shell game. A sales tax measure is put on the ballot to fund a politically popular purpose (emergency services), and if the tax passes, it would enable local government to free up money from the general fund that can then be spent on the pet projects or programs of local politicians.

The Appeal Democrat will support the tax increase since the paper owes the county for getting their legal advertising. Businesses needing a favor from the county will contribute campaign funds as will employee unions that want their pensions funded by taxpayers.

Sacramento employee unions paid for Measure U, the half-cent sales tax voters approved in 2012 to “restore public safety services.” The union will likely fund the tax renewal campaign as well.

The League of California Cities reported this month that pension costs are expected to jump by at least 50% by 2024-25. It is unsustainable. Rather than stopping the insanity the league is advising all cities or in this case counties to launch local tax measures.

Since unions have money-and-vote-hungry politicians by the short hairs they both will get exactly what they want with taxpayers once again getting screwed.

Sell Good News Buy Bad

Truth sometimes is stranger than fiction. A week back or so I penned an article called the "Melt Up" which detailed the great run up in stocks and how rare it was to see such a sustained rally. Also detailed in that article was the caveat that "this is usually followed by a meltdown". No sooner did the article hit the wires did the market start to crater and in a big way. From the high of 26,616 on the Dow January 26th of this year, last week saw wild gyrations almost daily. It culminated with a handle gripping 1,175 drop on February 5th. It has been down 1579 mid-day so I guess it could have been worse.

We can make an educated guess as to why the "downalanche" (a coined phrase of mine) started but the cause touted by some was that the Federal Reserve would raise interest rates after an economic positive unemployment number came out from the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Why good economic news causes a stock market selloff seems to be the new norm in the last decade or so is the perplexing question. Not so perplexing however say many analysts.

With the Federal Reserve coming to the rescue after the 08/09 crisis and repeating program after program to stave off periodic sell-offs, investors apparently learned a Pavlovian type of response, knee jerking the market up or down in response to not what the economic fundamentals are telling them but more as to what the Fed will do in response to it.

It all revolves around the elixir the Fed administers when it comes to monetary stimulus, which is to say how they respond to stock market falls or economic news. Historically the Fed's drop interest rates to goose an economy (or rescue one) and increase rates to cool off an economy that's running too hot.

With interest rates near zero for 8 years running, some believe the markets quadrupling since 2009 is solely due to these almost zero rates. That being the theory, raise rates and the logical conclusion would be the markets will fall and investors are acting preemptively to this belief.

It's indeed counterintuitive to think good economic statistics would trigger sell offs but the proof is in the proverbial pudding. A good unemployment number hit the wires the day the selloff began and when another bit of good news hit February 8th (jobless claims at a four year low) the market started down hard again.

In my opinion, this type of "sell the good news, buy the bad" where market direction is now more influenced by Fed monetary policy then economic fundamentals sets a dangerous precedent and a confusing picture to the average investor. The question now becomes: do you buy stocks when the economy shows signs of weakness because you believe Fed will rescue it or do you buy stocks when the economy shows signs of improvement which seems more logical?

According to the most recent market action, the former seems to hold true. But considering the logic of all of it and how we arrived at this point, who's to say one day the market's reaction to economic news will once again revert back to a saner evaluation of economic fundamentals?

Which is to say: wouldn't it make more sense to buy stocks when the economy is improving and remove the Fed from the picture all together? That would mean the Fed would have to back off trying to alter market direction and let the free market reign once again. Doesn't that seem to make more sense?

This analyst thinks so.

Live or Die Animal Disaster Planning

Part Two by Carol J. Donaldson

Initially you are on your own during an evacuation. It will be you, your family and friends evacuating your animals. It takes time for emergency personnel to get into place and get the call centers up and running. If you are on your own don't hesitate to contact your local Office of Emergency Services call center or 911 in your county if you need assistance in removing your animals. In turn they will contact the Sheriff's posse, Animal Control and the local animal disaster groups. Many agencies, rescue organizations work together to bring animals out of the disaster area or provide them food and water.

There are several excellent websites: www.ready.gov/animals; www.humanesociety.org/issues/animal_rescue/tip/pet; check FEMA's website; Yuba County Office Of Emergency Services; and the County of Sutter has an Emergency Operations Plan (very extensive). Research and put together your emergency kits and plans. Yuba County and Sutter County sites suggest if you have to leave your pet, Do Not Leave Them Tied Up. If confined in house, leave toilet seat up and toilet lid off. They have to have access to water. Make sure they have plenty. Leave a note posted to door or window with what type of pets, your contact information and your veterinarian's contact information.

It can be a decade or more between disasters, so don't let complacency settle in - at least a couple of times a year practice your evacuation drill, update with trusted neighbors, friends or family your evacuation plans; keep crates in good shape and reachable and keep copies of important records (vet, micro chip, photos, etc) up to-date.

A pet escaping during the evacuation process is heartbreaking. In his excitement or fear if he is not contained, he will leap out of the vehicle and run. Collars with ID and micro chipping can save you heartbreak, if the animal is found and scan he can be returned to you. Notify news stations, many run stories of lost pets during crisis situations. Make flyers with your pet's photo, put them up in the area he was lost; advertise and check craigslist and other web sites. If you don't find him keep posting and checking as 6 months to a year later he may appear in an ad. Check with animal rescue groups. Send photos and description to all the local veterinarians. Check with all of the animal shelters in your county as well as surrounding counties, if someone finds him and takes him out of the area they may turn him in to a neighboring shelter.

Yuba County OES was contacted with questions regarding how they want people to proceed in evacuating animals, at this time no answers were forthcoming. Upon receiving answers I will list them in another article.

You only have one life, your animal only has one life - don't wait until the last minute to evacuate. Have a workable plan.

THINK About It!

By Charlie McNiff

The hard left and "Fake News" commentators are starting to look like remakes of the 1930's Keystone Cops short subjects running around in circles creating confusion for themselves...and others.

We'll start off with three comments by former Speaker of the House of Representatives Newt Gingrich on Tuesday Feb.13th, 2018. (1)... "there still is no evidence of collusion with the Russians by the Trump administration and they've been at it for well over a year now" and (2)... "it was more the evidence of the Hillary Clinton campaign and the Democrat National Committee (DNC) paying Fusion GPS for collusion with Russian agents through former British spy Christopher Steele." This guy Steele is on record as being passionately ANTI-Trump and kick started the Mueller Investigation with the infamous Russian Dossier and (3)... "there is a thin layer atop the FBI and Justice that should face very serious consequences."

In the meantime, beings our local daily has not seen fit to relate a few of President Trump's executive accomplishments (over 180 in his first year) we will hear back to the last 11 days of January, 2017 and list only 12 of 15 that he signed after he was inaugurated on Jan. 20, 2017.

Most notably, those 12 executive orders are listed below:

Trans Pacific Partnership: Trump signed an executive order in January removing the U.S. from the international pact, which critics charged was a monumental compromise to American sovereignty and would take millions of jobs away from American workers.

Homeland security: Trump signed an executive order in January 2017 banning people from seven countries regarded by the Obama administration as havens for terrorism from entering the U.S. for 90 days and blocked all refugees for 120 days while the administration assessed its security process. After legal challenges, the administration issued a revised order in March, and in June the U.S. Supreme Court decided a version of the ban could go into effect.

Immigration: The DOJ resumed the criminal prosecution of first-time illegal border crossers after it had been stopped by the Obama administration.

Government reform: Trump signed an executive order in January to expedite environmental reviews of infrastructure projects, to jumpstart industry spending and investment.

Manufacturing regulations: Trump signed an executive order in January reducing regulations on manufacturers.

Regulatory reform: Trump set up task forces in every agency to remove "job killing regulations" and increase "economic opportunity." The Trump administration is on track to finish the first phase of its regulatory reform program with $645 million in net annual regulatory savings, according to an analysis by the American Action Forum (AAF). By comparison, during President Obama's years in office, more than 22,700 regulations were imposed on Americans at a cost to American consumers, businesses and workers of more than $120 billion each year. AAF called Trump's order reducing regulation and controlling regulatory costs "one of the most significant developments in regulatory policy in decades," noting it was the first time in U.S. history that the executive branch has established a regulatory budget.

Immigration: Trump

expanded deportation priorities, signing an executive order in January that includes people who "have committed acts that constitute a chargeable criminal offense," which could include anyone who entered the country illegally, leading to a significant increase in arrests.

Government reform: Trump signed an executive order Jan. 23, 2017 placing a hiring freeze on federal employees.

Regulatory reform: Shortly after his inauguration, President Trump signed an executive order mandating that for every new regulation, two regulations must be revoked. In practice, the administration has exceeded that mark, rescinding or delaying more than 860 regulations, or 22 regulations for every new one implemented.

Abortion: In January, Trump signed an order reinstating the Mexico City Policy, which defunded the International Planned Parenthood Federation and other organizations that promote foreign abortions.

President's salary: President Trump, as promised during his election campaign, has donated his salary.

Technology: After his election, Trump met with top tech leaders, including Mark Zuckerberg of Facebook, Bill Gates of Microsoft and Jeff Bezos of Amazon. According to Gates, it was "a good conversation about innovation, how it can help in health, education, the impact of foreign aid and energy, and a wide-ranging conversation about power of innovation."

That's just one-third of his first month's workload...and he's got the rest of the year to go... and he just got started!

Hard To Stop The Crazies

Sadly the more the population grows, the more crazies will be created. You can ban guns and they will make bombs. You can ban bomb making substances and they will use knives, you can ban knives and they will find a way to kill.... It is only a matter of time before a clever crazy creates a Bio-Weapon that is Air-born and 1000s or tens of thousands are killed.

The Marxist Left have caused the increase in lunatics, with their teachings that tells kids they are all victims of one sort or another...

Their Parents are evil for disciplining them and God forbid a foulmouthed mean and nasty child gets a whipping from dad or mom...

Yes, we have allowed the leftist scourge to destroy morality, and WE, have allowed them to DESTROY religious beliefs of Good and Riotousness and Honoring our Mother and Father.

WE have fallen for their Destruction of the sanctity of marriage.

WE have allowed them to weaponized Race, Sex, Speech, God and Politics against us.

WE have stood aside and allowed them to Brainwash our Children in Schools WE Pay For.

When will WE have had Enough of The Left's Destruction of America?

The only hope to stop this, is to get back to teaching kids Right and Wrong, The 10 Commandments, and realizing if you spare the rod you will probably get a spoiled and troubled child that just might be the one who creates that Bio-Weapon.

federal crime. Of course only the lefty journalists would be protected and the honest journalist would go to jail. Who elected these lame-brains?

- We're well into tax season. To refresh your memory, California has the highest sales tax rates in the country; the 8th highest corporate income tax rate in the country; and the 2nd highest gas tax rate. The term Golden State now can only be assigned to the State government hogs. Instead of Golden Bears outside the entrance to Cal Expo it should be Golden Hogs.

- Want another example of how your tax dollars are being spent by the so-called academics in the California universities? Check out the syllabus for "American Political Institutions 101," at California State University - Dominguez Hills - in beautiful downtown Carson - to be taught by Dr. Brooke Mascagni. Our good friend Stephen Frank reports she "tells students that President Donald Trump is an ignorant 'white supremacist.' Furthermore, she tasks students with determining how an 'orange reality star' could have possibly won the 2016 presidential race." Our students are being indoctrinated instead of educated.

- At the 1st anniversary of the Oroville evacuation, story after story of confusion and fear are printed, as they should. There is another story, however. Some ten minutes after receiving the reverse 911 call telling us to bail we piled into our already loaded vehicle and headed south on HWY70. There was virtually no one going south; in fact the northbound traffic toward Marysville was unexpectedly heavy. Moths to the flame? Can't figure that one out.

- Why do we hear Trump and friends being constantly called racists? Author Peter Brimlow's definition may apply, saying a racist "is someone who is winning an argument with a liberal." (Quoted in "Godless" by Ann Coulter).

- Why are Page and Strzok still employed by the taxpayers? Oh, I forgot. Neither is accused of sexual misconduct. Whoops. That can't be the reason. They are lovers working for the same agency.

- Black Lives Matter has been silent on the killing of a black American football player. Pelosi and Schumer have been quiet about it as well even though the perpetrator is an illegal alien. Did Obama or Clinton send condolences to the family? Of course not. Because their policies allowed the killer to come and remain in this country.

- One of the recently unveiled Obama portraits was painted by an "artist" who is known primarily for her depiction of a black woman holding the decapitated head of a white woman.

- The illustrious Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsberg said "sexism" was partially responsible for Hillary's defeat. What is she doing spouting off on a political matter? Such is improper at best. She should be rebuked if not removed for her bias.

- On the same subject, why hasn't Chief Justice Roberts done something appropriate with the FISA court judges? They appear to be less than competent.

- Fast food workers, janitors and hospital workers walked off their jobs in Detroit demanding a $15 minimum wage, the right to unionize and civil rights. Definitely a way to kill entry level jobs for many. And if they unionized, all their gains would go to union dues, Dumb and dumber.

- Can you believe the arrogance and stupidity of Chuck Schumer? He trotted out on the Senate floor and castigated Trump for not compromising on immigration. He seems to forget that Trump's proposal nearly tripled the number of illegal aliens from the number the Democrats demanded get citizenship. That, Chucky-boy, IS a compromise. Why can't the Democrats agree to the wall, eliminate the immigration lottery and chain immigration? Why? Because the Democrats won't compromise. Schumer is a horse's read end.

- Cyber attacks? Why doesn't the government demand safeguards in the internet and other high-tech products as they do with airbags and child bicycle helmets?

- The usual suspects came on television saying that a FISA warrant to be awarded has to present 10 pieces of evidence. Okay. What are the other 9 pieces in the warrant used to invade the privacy of the Trump folks? The dossier is out in the open for all to see and slaver over. Let's see the other 9.

- Democrats in the State are more interested in coddling illegal immigrants then taking care of American citizens. The latest example of this is SB 974, authored by Senator Ricardo Lara which would allow adult illegals to sign up for Medi-Cal. The State all ready allows children of illegals to feed at the taxpayer's trough. When will this love affair with those in the country illegally stop?

- Just a simple question. Has the County health department taken notice of the unhealthy trash and human waste found in homeless encampments? What is being done about it?

Black History and Africa

forgotten that 620,000 mostly white men waged a Civil War and died contending for and against slavery.

Yet, there are the black and white race hustlers that prey upon and keep the black population riled-up and always ready to throw-down the race card. It plays well for power politics by creating modern urban plantations of millions addicted to handouts and getting special benefits to stay there.

Liberal Charles Darwin-disciples are convinced but won't admit that blacks are intellectually inferior to whites. Therefore, blacks need social and economic handicap ramps to compete in modern America. Quotas and affirmative action rules remind blacks that they can't measure-up and are oppressed. Just one more hand-out and maybe even reparations will finally even the score though no one living today ever owned or met a slave.

Union government schools prepare blacks to drop-out and then blame them for the failure. However, private and charter schools see black students achieve excellence and qualify for college, tech school or the military.

NAACP and most legislative black leaders were glum knowing that blacks were going to work in record numbers last year. The charlatans were like pimps grievling the decision of their hookers to return to school and families. For race-chasers the term "black" has turned from a color or demographic group to a socialist political agenda of class warfare.

That's why when Obama or the socialist black leadership say "our people" it means black people, not Americans of all flavors. That's racist, but they get a pass. If a white referred to whites as "our people" it would be the political unforgivable sin. There is no White History Month.

Democrat California Rep. Maxine Waters attended a Nation of Islam convention where the hate group's leader, Louis Farrakhan, defended Palestinian suicide bombers. Farrakhan is an anti-Semite who calls Jews "Satanic" and says Hitler was "a very great man."

Farrakhan argues whites are inferior to blacks, but all this is ok for him to say and Maxine to hang out with him. Don't forget other Farrakhan democrat groupies like Obama, Minnesota

Rep. Keith Ellison and Indiana Rep. Andre Carson.

In fact Ellison and Carson, both Muslims, can have frequent meetings with the Muslim Brotherhood, a known terrorist organization and have no negative political repercussions. Whose side are these blacks on, not the side of the America most love.

Africa's Liberia and Sierra Leone were both established in the 1800s to offer freed slaves a place to go should they detest America or not be able to make a living. A few took advantage of it, but most died of disease or were killed in conflicts with nearby black tribal people.

Today, both nations are corrupt, poor hell holes. Those that relocated there did not return to their tribal living but established essentially an American society founded on a Judeo-Christian worldview. They started churches and sent out missionaries.

Slavery was horrible but no American descendants of slaves are clamoring to return today to African poverty and corruption. It's just the opposite.

In fact, there's not much African about African-Americans.

Fabulous Fords Part IV

BUCK BEELER

by Rod Hisken

So often we don't appreciate the basic things we have or see every day. The Yuba Sutter Basin is blessed with many attributes that are the envy of others around the world. The Colusa Farm Show always energizes me.

As I unloaded my tractors for display on Monday afternoon, I saw a young man polishing a piece of farm equipment. I walked over and complimented him on his work. He happened to be from Northern Michigan. I wished him a good visit to California. He responded in awe about our weather, soils, and variety of crops. A detail that has caused me much thought was he belonged to a tractor club Jim Escherman and I joined so we could do the Big Mac Bridge Drive in September in Michigan!

Practically next door was a local dealer that I have had great respect for many years.

Beeler Tractor had some of their equipment on display. The dealership had its roots with Howard R "Buck" Beeler.

History is not a series of dates or places, but also people and their machines who generate the woof and warp of who we become as a culture. The long time businesses that grow in our towns and cities have special people involved. Those that possess hearts of stone do not last. Those who have hearts of blood and compassion for their fellow man survive. Those businesses that place value given above money gained move on into the future.

I did not know Buck, but over the years I used their service and parts department. I particularly became a good friend of a young East Indian man in the parts department who brought his family to my farm. I sold a hard to find tire to one of their mechanics for a John Deere BO. I just learned the tractor came from a farm in Colusa was sold by the dealer in Colusa.

Buck created a culture of quality and service in his business which is verified by a review of files of letters expressing their appreciation. The letters came from a wide area to local. The handwritten letter from Susanville to the emergency repair immediately done for the Linda County Water District. Mr. Beeler's attitude of "Get them going" is still there today. Why else would a company have so many long term employees for 35 years and one who is still at the site? When the clouds were dark and the fruit was ripe, Beeler would be there.

Many of the N series tractors were sold by the network established by Harry Ferguson. After that split with Ford, the main sale sites occurred through the car dealers. Following that in our area partnerships formed and companies were established. Preceding Ford tractor dealers in this area were E M Barth and C P H. E M Barth was located on 14th St. in Marysville and that business was purchased by Buck in 1961.

A Grand Opening for the present site on Onstott occurred on February 18, 1967.

Buck was a Navy Veteran of WWII and at one time was a PGE employee. He was active in community service and was a member of the local Rotarian Club. He enjoyed playing dominos at Peach Tree and passed there. He was a somewhat young man when he was called. Buck was not a rich man but he was known for helping local farmers as best he could. He would make good deals, give discounts and accept delayed payments.

He was one of the first in our area to use two way radios on his service trucks.

He was survived by his wife Edith who carried on the business.

The present leadership of Beeler Tractor evolved from a network of past employees.

Ford tractors opened the Dearborn equipment to make equipment for the three-point hitch. Ford bought Newholland and later Versatile. As Beeler Tractor evolved, so has the array of equipment. They presently have a wide selection of agricultural products.

Buck Beeler, was a man with a great heart and one of several who helped the Yuba Sutter Basin become a world class food producer. What we leave is more important than what we take.

This 8N Ford tractor was restored at Beeler Tractor. It was delivered to the Yuba-Sutter Fair in 1999
