Yuba County Looks at Marijuana Pros and Cons

by John Mistler

Marysville, Ca.

The Yuba County Board of Supervisors formed an Ad Hoc committee to look into the pros and cons of commercial cannabis grows. Supervisors Bradford and Leahy are the two members that make up the committee. Supervisor Bradford said that their goal is to investigate how other counties have dealt with the issue and what kind of problems they have had. The intent is that the committee will be finished in 3 to 6 months and bring back to the board facts about the commercial growing of Marijuana. The two Supervisors agreed that while the public has voted down marijuana grows at every chance the votes have been very close and they believe the voters are split on their view of commercial cannabis grows.

The hour and a half meeting heard from both sides of the issue. Both sides agreed that the illegal un-regulated grows were the source of fear and environmental damage. The pro cannabis people took the position that 80% of the illegal grows would not be able to meet the regulation requirements. Those opposed to cannabis grows asked that the committee be dissolved and felt that the committee was pushing for commercial grows.

Both sides of the is-

Illegal Marijuana Cultivation and Possession for Sale Case

On Tuesday 1/16/18 just after 7:00am, Yuba County Sheriff Deputies executed a search warrant in the 400 block of Laurellen Rd (District 10) in Marysville at an illegal marijuana growing operation in a large warehouse on the property. The warehouse had been converted to a large indoor grow operation where approximately 2,300 marijuana plants were located. One suspect was located at the residence and was identified as Xiao Wang, a 33 year old man from New York. He was cited for 11358H&S Illegal Cultivation of Cannabis; and 11359H&S Illegal Possession of Cannabis for Sale.

sue requested that future meetings be a combination of some day meetings and some evening meetings.

Dems Punk Blacks Again

by Lou Binninger

The only reason that Democrats want to give amnesty to millions of low-skilled poorly educated foreigners is to insure future control of the voting booth. Democrat leadership does not care how these people will fare, if they'll learn English or whether they'll be good neighbors.

Liberals are fine with immigrants freeloading on taxpayers. In fact, that is preferable so politicians can take credit for what freebies (Pelosi Crackers) the newcomers receive.

The big losers with open borders are low-skilled and poorly educated black Americans. In fact, blacks are already losers on another liberal ploy, minimum wage laws that shrink opportunities for beginning workers.

Those who flunked math and critical thinking believe politicians that tout minimum wage as a right and beneficial. This is nonsense. Politicians take money from unions to increase minimum wages to eliminate nonunion competition. Wage minimums make the poor poorer.

The rush of 1.5 million legal and illegal immigrants annually has oppressed blacks economically according to two 2008 studies.

Cornell University's Vernon Briggs Jr. described in his 2004 testimony before the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights how mass immigration to the U.S. led to black Americans being replaced as the largest minority group

Ehrlich's Snake Oil

by Lou Binninger

This is the 50th anniversary since Bing Professor of Population Studies at Stanford University, Paul Ehrlich and wife Anne wrote "The Population Bomb." The book sold millions making Ehrlich an environmentalist god. He collected prizes and awards and achieved a life of academic luxury, now 85 years of age and still on the taxpayer's dime. Ehrlich's gibberish deceived millions.

Serving global warming nonsense, carbon dioxide lies and population panic as science have made students less intelligent. They ace the test but acquire the brain flu. Remember, for liberals it doesn't need to make sense, just sound amazing.

Ehrlich boldly lost his mind. He predicted imminent mass starvation, in the 1970s and 1980s. Hundreds of millions would die from lack of food in spite of any immediate rescue efforts. It was too late to prevent catastrophic losses.

Ehrlich also said life expectancy in the U.S. by 1980 would fall to 42 years. People on average made it to 73.61 that year.

Ocean levels were to rise by 250 feet. Ehrlich went all in warning about a "high water event" if the polar ice-caps started to melt. Philanthropist businessman billionaire Dan Pena asks why the brightest tight-fisted bankers would loan on coastal properties if they really believed Ehrlich, Al Gore, and Obama's apocalyptic predictions. Pena says he's just sorry he didn't think of the Inconvenient Truth scam before Gore did. Gore and Ehrlich made millions.

As Nicholas Vardy notes in his essay for the Oxford Club, Ehrlich's predictions ignored the fact that human ingenuity has always overcome crises that once seemed inescapable. Obama and his 'brilliant' Secretary of Energy Steven Chu got an 'F' here as well.

Ehrlich's promised mass-starvation in "overpopulated" countries like India was undermined by American agronomist Norman Borlaug. Borlaug's experiments with crop mutations dramatically increased productivity, enabling India and its neighbors to feed their people and

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

Spring is just around the corner but you do not need to wait with baited breath for good fishing. Some of the biggest black bass have been caught in February and March each year. Smallmouth can be found in local rivers, streams and drainage ditches which empty into Valley Rivers. As far as the ditches and creeks are concerned largemouth bass are also swimming in these waters. Of course the conversations around the water cooler or the local pub is about the spotted bass at Bullard's Bar reservoir. This body of water has been producing some huge spots and some determined angler will more than likely pull another record fish out of the reservoir soon.

Local trout anglers, the ones who are diehard stream people are gearing up for another great year with the opening taking place the end of April. I have several fly rods and even have one I have never taken out of the case. This rod is a beauty and was purchased by an old friend. Many years ago Dave was in the United States Air Force and was stationed at Beale Air Force Base. His job was refueling the SR 71. Dave knew how much I loved fly fishing and I received a call advising he was headed to Spain and wanted to know if he wanted me to have him bring back some fishing gear. Of course I jumped at the chance. He kept his word, but he even did so much more. That fly rod was flown aboard the SR 71 and he presented me with a certificate stating this fact. Maybe someday I will set up that beautiful rod and cast a fly or two in one of my favorite trout streams.

On another stream and on another opening weekend back in the 1980's we headed up to the high country to fish for the elusive brook trout. Upon arrival we noted fresh jeep tracks in the trail and sure enough there was a jeep parked at the end of the road.

We fished awhile, caught many and were resting beside the creek when a fellow approached. He asked us if we had had any luck and when my fishing buddy opened his wicker creel the guy's mouth fell wide open. Apparently he was fishing the stream in a way that was not producing fish. After discussing the issue with him I advised what he was doing wrong.

When we returned to the 4 x 4 a note was attached to the windshield wiper. It was a paper napkin and said the following. "Thanks for your help and advice....I caught my limit."

The moral to this story is just because there is an angler or two in front of you does not mean he knows how to fish the stream. I have found this true so many times in many different streams and creeks in the high country.

Closing thought: "With the new year underway I suggest you include a child in your fishing plans. After all, they are the future of the sport and getting them involved at a young age hopefully will last a lifetime."

"Poetry Out Loud" Competition is Underway in Sutter and Yuba Counties

From l-r Jocelyn Flores-Sutter, Charlie Diamond-Yuba, and Grace Burks-Butte, each of their county's champions respectively, with Senator Jim Nielsen.

Marysville, Ca.
At Yuba Sutter Arts,
the literary arts are high
on our list of priorities.
So for the ninth year, we will once again sponsor the annual Poetry
Out Loud competition in conjunction with the California Arts Council
and the National Endowment for the Arts.

There's still plenty of time for our local high school English, Speech, Theatre and all teachers
to encourage students to participate. In the past, some very creative English teachers have even told their students
that they will award extra credit points or even accept student participation in the Poetry Out Loud competition in lieu of an assignment. This may help energize students and get them excited about memorizing
a poem!

The structure of Poetry Out Loud is similar to a spelling bee. Yuba Sutter Arts works with local teachers, but students may compete independently regardless of whether or not Poetry
Out Loud is part of the curriculum. All currently enrolled students
in grades 9-12 are eligible. All poems must be selected from the Poetry Out Loud print or online anthology, which is updated every year.
Visit www.poetryout-loud.org for the current list of over 900 poems
and more information
about the competition.
Only versions of poems
from the official anthology may be used in the contest.

This year, Yuba Sutter Arts will host two separate county competitions
due to the high level of student participation
last year. Yuba County
students will compete
on Tuesday, February
6th and Sutter County
students will compete
on Thursday, February
8th. Each competition begins at 6pm and will take place on stage at the Burrows Center for the Arts in Marysville.

Yuba Sutter Arts has increased the prize
money for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners in both counties. Third place winners will receive $75, second place
winners will receive $100 and first place
winners will receive $150 and then compete at the state finals at the Capitol in Sacramento
in March. And everyone gets pizza!

Our county winners
will be treated to an unforgettable two days
at the California Poetry
Out Loud State Finals in Sacramento in March.
At the state level, one winner will be selected to represent California
in the national competition. The California
State winner receives a $200 cash prize and an all-expenses paid trip
to Washington, D.C. in April to compete at the National Finals for college scholarship funds.

Judging is based on Physical Presence, Voice and Articulation,
Dramatic Appropriateness, Level of Complexity, Evidence of Understanding and Overall Performance. Also,
students may not use
props or wear costumes
during their recitations.
Assistance with poem
selection and recitation is readily available from various qualified Yuba Sutter Arts members.
Do not hesitate to contact us for help! 530-

All participants at the competition will receive pizza, soft drinks and gift cards! We look forward to welcoming students,

the entire community to
this exciting event.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DOLORES MAE MCGUIRE CASE NO. CVPB 18-0000001

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: DO-LORES MAE MCGUIRE
A Petition for Probate has been filed by JIM A. COULTER
in the Superior Court of California, County of YUBA.

The Petition for Probate requests that JIM A. COULTER be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate.
The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate
under the Independent Administration of Estates Act.
(This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on 2/26/18 at 9:00 am in Dept.
4 located at 215 Fifth Avenue,
Suite 200, Marysville, CA
95901, Civil Division.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy
to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date
of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California
Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate,
you may file with the court
a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250.
A Request for Special Notice
form is available from the

TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If
you are considering bidding
on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction,
you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult ei-

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Stone Soup is going strong, serving great homemade soups, salad, bread and dessert each Thursday at noon at the community center in Brownsville. It is a good chance to sit and visit with new or old friends and neighbors. One can work on a jigsaw puzzle, play cards, checkers or other games after lunch. There is a small book group that meets each week from 2 to 3 discussing a book they have chosen to study. Come join us.

A Community Dinner is being held at the Loma Rica Lion's club on January 26 to benefit the Domingo and Knotts Families, victims of the wild fire. Dinner will start at 5:30 and continue until the food is gone. The menu includes Loaded Potato Soup, Chicken Paprikash and Garlic Bread for a donation of $5.00. There will be a large raffle with contributions for many local businesses.

Many thanks to Foothill Ace Hardware for contributing the value of the gift certificates bought there with proceeds from the Red Book Sale at Books & More. The money made at this sale is going to benefit some Loma Rica fire victims.

On Wednesday, Jan. 24, Yuba Feather Historical Association will hold it's quarterly membership meeting downstairs at Ponderosa Community Center. It is a potluck dinner, doors opening at 6:00, dinner starting about 6:30. Come and hear about some of the plans a-brewing at the museum.

Look Back in Time – In 1926 W. H. Joy was building cottages in Challenge for summer vacationers (no evidence now as one drives around Joy Circle).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Fish in the Classroom

For nearly 25 years, Greg and Kathleen Payne have been teaching Yuba County elementary school students about the life cycle of fish and the importance of a healthy watershed. That program got a boost today, with a grant from Yuba County Water Agency to fund new equipment for this unique, inspirational program.

As a part of the California Aquatics Education Program, commonly referred to as Fish in the Classroom, students help set up aquariums in their classrooms, receive salmon or steelhead eggs, maintain water temperatures to mimic river conditions, and observe the different life stages before releasing them into the wild.

“In doing this, the students are able to become bonded with nature and learn to understand the importance of salmon in the river, the watershed, and how their everyday lives can impact the health of the river,” said Kathleen Payne, program organizer.

This grant will allow the program organizers to purchase new water chilling units necessary for keeping the classroom aquariums at the appropriate temperature for fish to grow. The YCWA Board of Directors unanimously approved the request, which would include additional funding in the years to come to replace the remaining chillers as they wear out.

“It’s impressive to see that the students know all of the life cycles of the fish, and to have that education at such a young age is just phenomenal,” said YCWA General Manager Curt Aikens. “We strongly support these type of programs to educate our kids on the importance of the environment.”

YCWA has supported the Fish in the Classroom program for more than 20 years by helping fund the maintenance and costs of the aquarium chillers and transportation to and from the river, when needed.

Supports statewide water management project bonds

The Yuba County Water Agency Board of Directors unanimously expressed their support for two proposed water and park bond measures that will be on statewide ballots this year.

These bonds, if approved by California’s voters, would provide critical funding for water projects including flood protection, groundwater management, watershed protection, habitat restoration and actions to improve safe drinking water supplies for communities in need.

Senate Bill No. 5, the “California Drought, Water, Parks, Coastal Protection, and Outdoor Access for All Act of 2018” is a $4 billion bond approved by the California Legislature and Governor last year to fund water and park projects, climate change preparedness, coastal protection and other projects, programs and improvements.

The National Heritage Institute’s initiative, the “State Water Supply Infrastructure, Water Conveyance, Ecosystem and Watershed Protection and Restoration, and Drinking Water Protection Act of 2018” is an $8.9 billion bond to fund a wide-range of programs including wastewater recycling, flood protection, water conservation and watershed improvements.

“Our board voted to support the two bonds because they would enable agencies like YCWA to leverage local and federal funds to cost-share essential water projects throughout California, including in Yuba County,” said YCWA Board Chairman Brent Hastey. “This is a great opportunity to fund flood protection and habitat restoration projects here at home.”

Both bond measures would additionally allow California to make significant investments in improved water resources management and infrastructure and to be better prepared for potential future droughts and floods.

The SB 5 bond measure will appear on the June 2018 statewide ballot and the National Heritage Institute’s initiative measure is targeted for the November 2018 statewide ballot.

Funding for Ellis Lake pumping station approved

The Yuba County Water Agency Board of Directors today approved a grant for the City of Marysville to fund emergency construction at Ellis Lake.

The grant, worth up to $175,000, will allow the city to perform interim repairs on the Ellis Lake storm drain pump station and a pipe that goes from the pump station, under the railroad embankment and through the levee to Jack Slough. Jack Slough is a stream located to the north of Ellis Lake and is a tributary of the Sacramento River.

The heavy winter storms in 2017 required operation of the pump system to move water out of the lake, but when activated, the pipe transferring that water showed evident signs of leakage, creating a potential for levee failure.

“This emergency repair really needs to be done before we get high water,” said Curt Aikens, YCWA general manager, as he explained the grant to the board of directors, who approved the funding unanimously.

“YCWA provides flood protection for the people who live and work in Yuba County,” said YCWA Board Chairman Brent Hastey. “It’s crucial that these repairs are done quickly to maintain the integrity of the levee and to protect the residents of Marysville.”

The interim repairs will provide the city time to develop, permit, fund and construct full repairs of the entire Ellis Lake drainage system, which is estimated to cost approximately $1 million and take a few years.

Marysville’s new city manager, Marti Brown thanked the YCWA board and staff for their support and partnership in this project. “I don’t have to tell you how critical this kind of infrastructure is in order to prevent flooding,” she said. “Having this kind of financial support is essential to our long-term success, while the city continues to rebuild its fragile budget and financial reserves.”

As Marysville prepares to award a contract for the emergency construction, YCWA’s grant will further provide a buffer for unanticipated issues and help facilitate quick repairs.

Grant to aid first responders, fire districts

The Yuba County Water Agency launched a unique grant for first responder agencies and fire districts, based on a suggestion from a severely-injured employee who wanted to help those who helped him.

The Bill Shaw Rescue Equipment and Training Grant Program is designed for first responder agencies in Yuba County and will cover the one-time costs of up to $5,000 per applicant annually, associated with the purchase of a piece of rescue equipment or specialized personnel training. It was established in recognition and dedication of an employee, Bill Shaw.

Last year, Shaw was involved in an accident while operating a construction vehicle near one of YCWA’s more remote facilities. His injuries were so severe, he was unable to return to work for several weeks. A fire chief in the foothills himself, while Bill was still in recovery, he suggested that YCWA create a grant to support the first responders and fire districts that the agency relies upon during incidents.

“It was important that the folks that showed up to help me that day were well-trained and knew how to deal with my injuries,” said Shaw. “In recent years, I’ve seen call volumes increase and the number of responders and volunteers decline. The costs are increasing, but the budgets aren’t, and it’s a serious problem that we have county-wide. So, anytime that YCWA can step forward and help pay for training for new personnel or buy new equipment as needed, is a real benefit.”

Many different public agencies within Yuba County provide first-responder rescue and safety services for employees at YCWA’s Colgate Powerhouse and New Bullards Bar Dam, and people recreating at New Bullards Bar Reservoir, the surrounding areas and associated agency facilities. Agencies will be able to apply for the funding as long as the expenditure is for equipment or training that is within YCWA’s authorized missions.

“These grants will ensure the first responders can purchase and train on the specialized equipment that we might need in an incident,” said YCWA General Manager Curt Aikens. “And, this way, they are available for others in the community who may need them, too.”

Following the accident, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration conducted a thorough inspection of the incident, but it did not result in any fines or violations. Shaw was cleared earlier this month to return to work for YCWA without any restrictions.

The grant program was unanimously approved by the board of directors.

CRITIC’S CORNER

The Greatest Showman
Starring: Hugh Jackman, Michelle Williams and Zac Efron.
Rated: PG, Runtime: 105 minutes.

A young tailor’s son finds himself living on the streets after his fathers death. He finds work with the railroad until he can come back to find his first love and ask her hand in marriage. After falling on hard times he decides to try his hand at being a showman. While learning to exploit the suckers at the minute in which they were born.

The story is broken up by bouts of singing that entertain while moving the flow of the film along. The acting is great and the themes of the film remind us of a more divided and closed time. As well as how close to the edge of doom people really lived before our multitude of social safety nets. The acting is great and the dancing is fun to watch.

The Greatest Showman, earns four out of five, Hep-helump Riding Monkeys. This is a serious film that entertains and teaches some of the history the famed Circus we all went to and loved as kids. Oddly enough clowns were mentioned but none were shown. Thanks Stephan King. If you like musicals then you will love this film. If musicals aren’t your thing then it may be best if you skip it all together.

Food and Farm News

Mudslides add to Southern California farm losses

In the wake of the deadly mudslides that hit Santa Barbara County last week, officials have begun to gauge the impact to agricultural operations. The California Cut Flower Commission says a number of flower farms in the Carpinteria Valley have been affected--either directly from the slide or indirectly through loss of power to greenhouses and through road damage. Groups representing growers of other crops say they are still trying to assess any losses.

Walnut business prepares for increased production

Anticipating larger crops in coming years, people in the walnut business have been adding facilities and marketing plans to handle and sell the crops. The California Walnut Commission says it plans to focus on enhancing demand in domestic markets, in part by stressing the nutritional benefits of walnuts. The commission will also work to develop new products featuring walnuts, including in confections, spreads and sauces.

Dairy marketers follow dietary trends

Do you drink your milk, or eat it? Americans have been eating a higher proportion of their milk intake by consuming dairy products such as yogurt, cheese and butter. In response to the trend, California-based dairy processors say they're working to create new products and different blends of existing products. The California Milk Advisory Board says it sees potential in incorporating dairy foods more frequently into snacks and at breakfast.

USDA reports on crop condition

With more rain and snow due in Northern California during the next week, farmers may be able to ease back on wintertime irrigation of developing crops. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that farmers have been irrigating a variety of crops this month, due to dry conditions so far this winter. Rain that fell last week benefited lettuce, pasture and other crops, but USDA says additional rain will be needed.

Scholastic Writing Awards Ceremony at the Burrows Theater

Marysville, Ca. Yuba Sutter Arts (YSA) is in the midst of an on-going series of literary arts events during the first quarter of 2018. Last year, YSA signed on as the regional affiliate for the Scholastic Writing Awards. You know, Scholastic, the publishing company that puts on the book fairs at schools from which our kids get a bit of that old time book store experience and at which they twist our arms to buy them books. We are pleased to announce that our inaugural ceremony in recognition of the regional 2018 Scholastic Writing Awards recipients and their educators will take place on Thursday, February 1st at 6pm at the Burrows Theater in Marysville. This is a free event.

Since 1923, the Scholastic Art & Writing Awards have recognized the vision, ingenuity, and talent of our nation's youth. Join us as we celebrate the winners at a gathering of students, educators, supporters and the general public. Scholastic Awards alumni include Andy Warhol, Sylvia Plath, Truman Capote, Lena Dunham, Robert Redford, Joyce Carol Oates, and many others.

"Jessica Hougen, Sutter County Museum Director, approached us last year to take on the Scholastic Writing Awards part of the program," said David Read, YSA Executive Director. "She'd had experience with the Scholastic Awards in other parts of the country and, after learning more, we knew we needed to add the program to our literary arts portfolio for the good of the community," he added.

Earning a Scholastic writing or art award is often the first moment of validation for a young artist or writer, and can function as a catalyst that leads to a lifelong commitment to develop and apply their creative gift—no matter what career or path they may choose. The program helps celebrate the accomplishments of creative students, extending opportunities for recognition, exhibition, publication, and scholarships to teenagers who demonstrate exceptional aptitude in writing and art.

In addition to presenting the Scholastic Writing Awards program, YSA will host its Poetry Out Loud competitions on February 6th and 8th and also kick off of a new literary journal. We also have two upcoming "open mic" events for spoken word and poetry readings and other recitations in January and February.

Please join us as we honor the achievements of creative teens. We feel that now, more than ever, it is important to recognize creative accomplishments and provide students with the support and resources they need to make creativity a lifelong pursuit. We hope you'll join us at the ceremony and help honor these remarkable young thinkers.

Figuring the Stock Market

Ever since stock markets existed, people have tried to find the Holy Grail as to predicting what a particular stock or index would do, how much and in which direction it would go and when would it go there?

There are technical analysts who might steer at a chart of price movements over a particular period of time and draw from that a conclusion as to future movements. Some tout seasonal tendencies for movements such as stocks fall in the fall, or "sell stocks in May and go away" as the saying goes, then buy them back in November. There is one for presidential cycles, who wins the Super bowl and even one based on the length of women's skirts. The various prognostications obviously run the gamut from highly technical to ludicrous. Heck, I knew a woman who would shake some wooded cubes with symbols on them that only she understood and depending on the shake, would then buy or sell a certain security. Talk about leaving your money to chance! Hey, that reminds me of another game called gambling.

Actually the Wall Street Journal gained notoriety for the "dart board" test. It went along the lines that a monkey with box of darts tossing them at the Journals' stock ticker pages could make more money than most professional money managers. The WSJ had their employees play the monkeys and hurl the darts. The contest has been held 100 times and the pro's lead by a score of 61 to 39 (Investor-home.com).

The returns in percentages are higher than the numerical score so don't hire a group of monkeys and go out and buy some darts. But the difference between the two groups is embarrassingly smaller than one would have thought.

Around this time of year, two more theories abound, the Santa Claus rally and the January effect. The bearded fat man in the red suit theory assumes people in the festive mood of holiday season would buy stocks based on how good they felt during this time of year. The time period affected would be the last week of December to the first two trading days of January of the New Year.

Another theory is the January effect. This is based on the idea that year end stock selling to harvest tax losses versus gains meant (Santa Claus effect put aside now) that more stocks than usual would be sold in December gain a better tax situation and then in January all that money would come flooding back into the markets.

Needless to say if any of these were foolproof the word would be out and the house would rig the game against such methods. Alas we see no such rules set by the authorities forbidding investors from betting their hard earned savings based on such silliness which tells us none of these theories hold much water. Sure, perhaps some statistics might lean one way or another as statistics are rarely in perfect balance but the bottom line is none of these or any other methods or systems, manmade or computer generated can predict the ups and downs of markets, although there are Charlatans' out there that would try and convince you otherwise.

The reason is the same as to why a degree in Economics is a Bachelor of Arts and not Bachelor of Sciences degree. It's because the stock markets are said to be a study of human sociology and not a study of science. Science, like math, has definite truths, absolute cause and effect and irrefutable conclusions given a certain set of circumstances. The movement of markets however, is just the sum of all the beliefs of all the millions of investors in it at any given time. And that my friend is sociology, not science.

Tell me what hundreds of millions of people will do at any given day in the market as a whole and the stock market will be your oyster. But then again, that's not quite possible is it?

Veteran Asks to Have Maxine Waters' Seat For State Of The Union Address

Rep. Maxine Waters (D-CA) is one of four Democrats in Congress to announce she'd be boycotting President Trump's first State of the Union address on January 30, 2018.

Why? Because Trump is "the most despicable human being that could possibly ever walk the earth," she told MSNBC last week. If Martin Luther King, Jr. was still alive, he'd be marching against the current president,

Well, if she doesn't want a seat in the room during Trump's historic address, this appreciative veteran certainly does.

Ricky Taylor, a ten-year Army veteran who served two tours in Afghanistan, started going viral after he tweeted that he would like Waters' seat, so he can attend the State of the Union and thank the president. He said he takes issue with how Waters tries to speak for all black people and minorities.

His tweet, Deplorable Vet, went viral.

Improving the Yuba River's Ecosystem

by Curt Aikens, Yuba County Water Agency General Manager

Like many Sacramento Valley rivers, the Yuba was once amazingly productive. Hundreds of thousands of salmon and steelhead would trek up the river each year to spawn, and benefit from the vast riparian vegetation and marshlands that also served migratory birds and wildlife. But with the Gold Rush, came hydraulic mining, blasting away mountainsides with high-pressure water so the miners could sift through the sediment for gold. Incredible amounts of sediment and debris washed downstream, impacting navigation (riverboats were a primary transportation mode back then) and causing massive environmental damage, devastating the fish population. The fix was the government's construction of Daguerre and Englebright Dams – debris dams, to prevent the remaining sediment from flowing downstream. This impacted the fish even more, because Englebright Dam blocked all upstream passage to historic habitat, while Daguerre impairs fish passage.

Fast forward to the 21st Century. The Yuba County Water Agency and the US Army Corps of Engineers are working together on a plan to improve habitat conditions of the Yuba River. The draft plan recommends the restoration of approximately 178 acres of aquatic and riparian habitat along the lower Yuba, between Englebright Dam and the confluence with the Feather River, downstream of Marysville. The plan is now available for public review. I encourage you to read it and submit your comments for the record. Let the Corps know if it meets our community's needs.

YCWA appreciates the restoration suggestions included in this draft report, but we continue to encourage the Corps to do even more, including reexamining fish passage improvements at Daguerre Point Dam, specifically, step pools. Construction of a series of ascending, curved steps on the downstream side of the dam, would improve the ability of salmon, steelhead and other fish to pass the dam in their journey to and from upstream habitat. A step pool would not only enhance the Corps' proposal, but it would also have complementary public safety benefits. That possibility did not make it into the tentatively selected plan due to budget and schedule constraints, but we hope it will be part of the future.

YCWA has spent a huge amount of time and effort to improve habitat in the lower Yuba River for salmon and steelhead. The most significant improvement in decades was implementing the Lower Yuba River Accord, with its higher instream flows during the summer and fall. While our actions and those of others show some good progress, more improvements are needed to address the loss of historical habitat. We will continue working with the Corps, other agencies and interested stakeholders in an effort to identify the best combination of restoration, recreation and public safety measures for the long-term sustainability of the Yuba River and this community.

Think About It ...

by Charlie McNiff

It's been a year since Donald Trump became OUR PRESIDENT Trump (and don't give us this sniveling whine of "he's not MY President"...because I and others considered Barack Obama OUR President even though we felt we could endure him for four years...that evolved into eight years}. But we did...and the world turns.

I've really-really gotten tired of the blistering battering all year long from the so-called mainstream (read lame stream) because a lot of people have forgotten the viewership numbers of the TV networks from last fall that showed NBC, MSNBC, CBS, ABC, and CNN that collectively totaled about 45% of the viewership while FOX News came in with a resounding 55% approximate total viewership. How about those apples.

Which brings us to the fake news in the news-print industry. The overriding percentage (probably 90% or more) have a left-leaning philosophy that has even permeated our local daily with their Associated Press wire service.

Or maybe you haven't noticed there aren't too many good things that they've mentioned about what President Trump and his administration has accomplished in his short one year tenure in office. You won't get it from them...so in succeeding issues of the Territorial Dispatch, you're going to hear it from me.

And, I've got to tell you, the "rear-end" garbage comment contributed to President Trump by Senator Dick Durbin during the cozy bipartisan meeting of Democrats and Republicans telecast on the DACA (dreamers) immigration problem, Senator David Perdue and Senator Tom Cotton do not remember President Trump uttering that garbage word. And neither did I ... because I watched the whole thing on TV. President Trump also denies that he said it.

THINK ABOUT IT. If he had said it, there would have been a hellacious hullabaloo by the Dems and some Repubs IMMEDIATELY after that bipartisan meeting...because that meeting was broadcast worldwide in front of God and everybody. The hullabaloo DIDN'T HAPPEN. Durbin's droppings didn't become known until the next day. Think real hard about that.

But the firestorm had been lit and the left wing media went into a frenzy over Durbin's comment and it fed the media for over a week.

It's just another roadblock (it seems like one pops up every week for this past year) in trying to throw fake news to the populace to steer people away from the outstanding accomplishments of OUR President in the last year.

A litany of those next time.

FLASH... Breaking news last Thursday could show some new rays of sunshine piercing through Foggy Bottom (Washington D.C.) that could involve quite a few high ranking officials from the Obama administration's FBI and DOJ fiefdoms that still hold their seats of power in the Trump administration.

It involves a "Surveillance Memo" from the House Intelligence Committee that brought alarming comments from various congressmen and investigative journalists, to wit... Shocking... Total Corruption... Alarming... I Can't Believe They Did That... and It Should Shut Down The Mueller Investigation.

All respondents had the same vein..."The memo has to be released as everybody needs to read this." That's very strong language to say the least.

By the time you read this (four days hence) there will undoubtedly be a lot more sunshine falling on quite a few bad actors. This sounds Very Explosive!

USDA Forest Service Doesn't Leave When the Fire is Out

by Randy Moore, Regional Forester, Pacific Southwest Region, U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service

Natural disasters can occur at any given time and in any given area. The size, duration and damages are usually unpredictable. The devastation, destruction and cost of California wildfires are increasing annually.

In 2017, more than 1,500 wildfires burned over 640,000 acres on National Forest System lands in California, including the Thomas Fire which is now the largest in California history. Although the fire is fully contained, the surrounding communities are presently dealing with debris flows caused by a now charred and barren landscape that no longer has the protection of trees, grass and other vegetation for a stable ground. To date, 17 people have died, several others are still missing, and more than 100 homes have been destroyed as a result of these mudslides.

Additionally, in early October, a series of wind-driven wildfires burned more than 200,000 acres across Northern California. The fires destroyed thousands of structures and killed 44 people. Although the fires did not occur on Forest Service lands, the agency worked closely with state and local cooperators on fire suppression efforts.

The Pacific Southwest Region has spent over $500 million preventing or suppressing wildfires over the last year. Funding for suppression efforts performed by the Forest Service comes from the overall agency's budget based on a 10-year rolling average—a model that is simply unsustainable, given the last several years of unprecedented fire seasons. When wildfire suppression funding is insufficient, the Forest Service is forced to shift money away from other investments designed to build healthy, resilient forests and communities. We must find a permanent solution that restores the balance between fire prevention, fire suppression and resource restoration.

As mentioned above, many residents in California have suffered significant harm and loss from recent fires and mudslides. We see and empathize with those affected, and are working to reduce the potential for future loss by performing hazardous fuel reduction treatments. In Fiscal Year 2017 alone, we performed fuels reduction treatments on over 310,000 acres of Forest Service lands across the state, but there is more to be done. To date, 80 million acres of National Forest System lands are currently at moderate to high risk of insects, disease or fire. Of these, 10 million acres are located in California. Essentially, the more acres we treat, the healthier our forests become, contributing to safer and more resilient communities. The science, data and monitoring shows that hazardous fuel treatments and thinning positively affects fire behavior and lowers the catastrophic risk of fire damage. A fire funding fix will allow the USDA Forest Service to invest more in this critical work.

We are appreciative of the ongoing work of USDA Secretary Sonny Perdue and Congress who have acknowledged the funding issue and are working hard to help resolve these challenges.

Fortunately, there is bipartisan support from key leaders in Congress toward legislation to reform the way wildfire suppression is currently funded. Finding a permanent solution to fix the fire funding problem will go a long way in sustaining the health, diversity and productivity of our Nation's forests and grasslands for current and future generations.

Your One Minute News Digest

by Don Rae

- Moonbeam is moving to Colusa County when his term expires. We'll spring for a subscription to the Territorial Dispatch to welcome him to the "neighborhood" so he'll get some real news and actual facts. Maybe he'll learn something in his retirement.
- Darrel Issa says he will retire at the end of the current term. California is positioned to be a one-party third world state run by left-wing, infinite gender, Marxist-oriented, open border, climate change, anti-car loons. God help our grandchildren.
- California legislators are back in session. Look out. The top issue on the agenda – sorting out what is and is not sexual harassment. Since this matter has been front and center in the workplace for at least the last four decades, the brilliant elected dodos are a bit behind the curve. Making this the top priority is baffling since we are facing so many other urgent problems.
- Immigration is still on the table. What a disappointment for the lefties. They scream and cry and stamp their feet at what a horrible place America is. Then they disrool in rage when anyone suggests that illegal immigrants be sent back to their own country. Make up your minds snowflakes.
- Assuming Trump did call Haiti a nasty name, why is Haiti so bad off? Because the Clintons stole all their recovery money.
- Why do 1/3 of all Nicaraguans now reside in the US? Probably because their own country is a paradise on earth – at least according to Democrats.
- How many times do we have to hear of Fusion GPS, Hillary, emails, $145 million to the Clinton Foundation, etc? And absolutely nothing happens. What kind of government do we have? Disgraceful.
- If you rob a savings & loan in Marysville – a City in a Sanctuary State – is it a felony or just an undocumented withdrawal?
- NPR prints a headline "Israel Accused Of Revoking Thousands Of Jerusalem Residency Permits From Palestinians". What NPR conveniently avoided was telling us that the permits were revoked over a fifty year period. Also, it does not mention how many were terrorists promoting violence, or common criminals. We fund NPR with our tax dollars. This headline shows hatred of freedom and Israel. End the public funding now.
- Labor unions in California have a cash cow by taking money from employees' checks every payday. Where does that money go? According to a recent report, Planned Parenthood received $805,100 and the Democratic Governors Association received $14,126,000. The Center for American Progress, a liberal organization received $6,279,591. Even the Clinton Foundation got its beak wet. No conservative group was so blessed by the unions. There is a bill floating in Congress to stop this travesty. The Employee Rights Act would hold union officials accountable to their members.

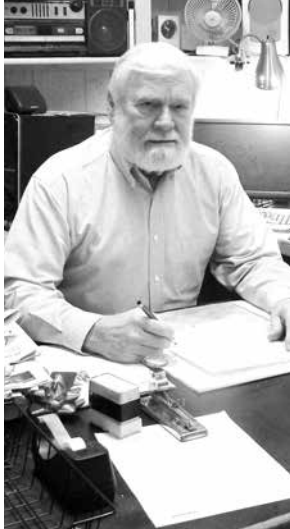

- And to make matters worse, Assemblywoman. Lorena Gonzalez Fletcher, a Democrat and former officials of unions, wants to give the Legislature's more than 2,000 employees the right to unionize.
- Jeff Bezos, a billionaire wacko, is reported to be setting aside $33 million for scholarships for Dreamers. Why didn't he do the same some time ago for American students who are saddled with massive student loans?
- Feinstein says her bad cold made her improperly release closed-door testimony. Perhaps it was something else – like dementia?
- Even Google is getting fed up with the provisions of Proposition 47 which provides that if a theft of someone's property is valued at less than $950, you can simply avoid prosecution as the police and district attorney will turn a blind eye to the crime. Why? Because Google is being yanked around by having its bicycles stolen from its campus left and right. The Wall Street Journal reports Google lost between 100 and 250 of their "Gbikes" weekly. It has hired a private security firm to do what the police won't do. Moonbeam crows about how much money not arresting criminals saved. Maybe in his doddering, he doesn't know how much Google and other firms have to pay private security for protection. Think Moonbeam is telling us the truth about the cost of crime?
- Of course Moonbeam has gone about serving the people by pardoning criminals. The crime family has taken over the government.
- Hollywood is so filled with hypocrites, honest folks are banned. Just like Sgt Schultz of Hogan's Heroes, they know nothing, see nothing, and say nothing. One example, among a host of recent comments, is that made by Natalie Portman in a letter demanding that convicted pedophile Roman Polanski be allowed back to Hollywood. On the other hand she recently cried crocodile tears about sexual predators. Perhaps it's okay, she's just an actress.
- The Florida governor praises the fact that there are some 250 languages spoken in his state. Tower of Babel. No one can understand his neighbor. Diversity is not a virtue.

- Theodore Roosevelt: "Every immigrant who comes here should be required within five years to learn English or leave the country."
- In 2014, the Post Office (under Obama) hired a communications director. He received a $35,000 signing bonus, $50K for moving expenses, and a $209K salary. Four months after the hire, the new employee disappeared. He had been removed for lying on his resume and sentenced to jail for his application misconduct. Never heard about this? Not too surprising that he was a Chicagoan. The swamp still needs to be drained because it is certain as God made little green apples, that there are more like him in DC.
- The Democrats are still crying that the tax cuts are a "giveaway." Really? People keeping more of what they earn is a giveaway?
- Flynn pleads guilty to lying. However the Democrats are waiting to believe anything he says against Trump. Stupid.
- We should be remembering that Dr. MLK, Jr suggested living a Christian life, loving your neighbor and looking at others based on the content of their character. Unfortunately, the Democrats use his celebrity as a tool to incite people to anger, riots and division among the races. Who really are the "deplorable"?
- California has been sold out. The State is no longer a home for Americans. It is a place for every other nation's citizens to do with what they may. The Democrats have conspired to make this a St-hole state. A settlement of a lawsuit brought by the League of Women Voters, the ACCE Institute, California Common Cause, and the National Council of La Raza and the State will have the DMV automatically register driver license applicants to vote unless they opt out. In other words every illegal alien who gets a driver license will be registered to vote. Think of how many illegals are in California.
- Think about how much your vote as a citizen means when every non-citizen gets to tell us who our elected officials will be and what policies we should pursue. California is no longer a state. It is a foreign country. God help us all.

DMV Will AUTOMATICALLY Register Illegal Aliens to Vote

by Stephen Frank from Nicholas Iovino, CourthouseNews

I have lived in the same house in Browns Valley for close to 40 years. During those years I was a volunteer fire fighter and one of the founders of the Loma Rica/Browns Valley Community Service District (The Fire Department). 35 years as a Charter member of the Foothill Lions, served a short time on the Board of Directors of the Browns Valley Irrigation District before being appointed, by Governor Pete Wilson, to the Yuba County Board of Supervisors. I also served as Chairman of the Yuba County Water Agency. For the last 17 years I have been the owner of the Territorial Dispatch Newspaper, a "Watch Dog on Government." For these reasons I feel that I am uniquely qualified to represent the people of Yuba County's 5th District.

I believe that to know how a politician votes is not enough. It is far more important to know what changes and direction are initiated by your elected representative. No more rubber stamps.

Before moving to Browns Valley I became an Eagle Scout, went to American River College, joined the United State Marine Corp Reserve, was Yard Foreman for Armco Steel in Davis, and owned a Gas Station in Carmichael. After the Jimmy Carter gas rationing fiasco in the mid 70's I closed the station and went to work for Montgomery Ward in Sacramento. Six months later I was transferred to Marysville to manage their Automotive Department.

My wife, Kitty, and I have been married almost 40 years. We have two daughters Melisa and Trisha and one grandson Evan.

David Joyce is Running for Yuba County Supervisor Distr. 1

Local Air Force Veteran David Joyce has filed signature in lieu petitions with the local elections office and has started collecting signatures for his candidacy for County Supervisor District 1. The Marysville resident is returning to the area after living in Sacramento area for several years. He joined the Air Force in 2003 and was stationed at Beale AFB as a Munitions Technician until 2007. After his military service he worked as a Budget Analyst for the State of California and also was awarded a Mission Continues Fellowship which he served at Congressman Tom McClintock's office where he specialized in Veteran Affairs.

In addition to his time with McClintock's office he has over a decade of campaign experience ranging from School Board to local Congressional races and was elected to the Sacramento County Republican Central Committee during his time in Sacramento. The idea of running for public office was not originally in the plan when he and his wife relocated to Yuba County. "I'm running because the same problems this county had a decade ago when I was here are still going on and in some cases even worse. The more I started digging around the more I found out things I really did not like, it became a rabbit hole. My Wife and I cannot tolerate sitting on the sidelines. The outpouring of support we received locally when we started to explore running was amazing" says Joyce.

In addition to returning to the area, Joyce has started his own marketing company and finished his Master's this past June. Joyce says his style of campaigning will be welcomed in his district, "The response to my platform and reason for running has been great. I'm a firm believer in meeting people in their homes and getting to know them and their concerns. I will govern the exact same way. I fully intend to have a daily mobile office in my district and being highly accessible, there are great people here and they deserve that". Joyce states that his district concerns involve better fiscal management of local funds, the dire situation regarding illegal pot grows and bringing businesses to Yuba County.

David and his wife Kendra reside in Marysville with their daughter Lola. If you want to assist in signature gathering or get to know more about the campaign contact him directly at 530-301-6433 or email djoyce79@gmx.com.

Legislation Honoring Marine SSgt Sky Mote Signed by President

Congressman Tom McClintock announced that the President of the United States has signed H.R. 381, designating a mountain in the John Muir Wilderness of the Sierra National Forest as "Sky Point." The bill honors Marine SSgt Sky Mote of El Dorado, who was killed in action in Afghanistan on August 10, 2012.

On that day, SSgt Mote was at his post in the tactical operations center of the First Marine Special Operations Battalion in Helmand Province. When an Afghan police officer opened fire on the Marines at the operations center, Sergeant Mote was in an adjoining room. According to the Navy's citation, "He instead grabbed his M4 rifle and entered the operations room, courageously exposing himself to a hail of gunfire in order to protect his fellow Marines. In his final act of bravery, he boldly engaged the gunman, now less than five meters in front of him, until falling mortally wounded."

SSgt Mote was awarded the Navy Cross for his heroism in defending his fellow Marines. In addition, SSgt Mote had earned the Purple Heart, the Navy-Marine Corps Commendation Medal, the Navy-Marine Corps Achievement Medal, two Combat Action Ribbons and three Good Conduct Medals during his nine years of exemplary service to our nation.

The peak was chosen in consultation with the Mote family because it overlooks a region where Sky Mote often camped and hiked.

"We will not allow the young men from our region who perished in service to our country to be forgotten," said Congressman McClintock. "Nor will we ever forget the daily anguish of the Gold Star families they leave behind. This bill is a small token of the commitment of our country and our community to remember the fallen and to grieve with their families."

license, as 800,000 have. Instead claim citizenship and you get a license and a vote.

"We are very pleased that Californians will have easier access to voter registration," said Jeremiah Levine, an attorney with Morrison Foerster who represented the voting rights groups. "We are especially satisfied that changes will be made before California's statewide and federal primary elections."

For many years illegal aliens received full blown drivers licenses from the California Department of Motor Vehicles—all they had to do, is what they do every day, LIE. In this case they were claiming they were here legally or citizens. It was never vetted, challenged or checked. Now a Court has determined that every person that gets a license in California is automatically registered to vote. Why should an illegal alien get the special drivers the state agreed to roll out a new program that will automatically register driver's license applicants to vote unless they opt out. The program is part of AB 1461, dubbed the California New Motor Voter Act. Signed into law in October 2015, the new statute requires the DMV to forward records for all eligible applicants to the Secretary of State's Office for registration unless those applicants elect not to register to vote.

Yup, the infamous League of Women's voters policy is to support corruption of the electoral process. No one is surprised. Then the Secretary of State, who refuses to remove illegal aliens from the voter rolls—he won't check the special drivers license list for illegal aliens against the voter rolls—who believes it is OK for fraud in elections. April 1 may be the key date free elections, what is left of them, ends in California.

Dems Punk Blacks Again

in the country, being overtaken by Hispanic-Americans.

“Although black Americans were 13.5 percent of the nation’s native-born population, they were only 7.8 percent of the foreign-born population in 2000,” Briggs noted. “Hispanics, on the other hand, were only 8.5 percent of the native-born population while being 45.2 percent of the foreign-born population.”

Briggs again stated in 2008 that there was “little doubt that there is significant” impact on African-American workers who generally compete for the same U.S. jobs that illegal aliens and legal immigrants seek after.

Studies show that if employers have an opportunity to hire illegal immigrant workers, they will always give them preference over legal citizens of any ethnicity. This is because illegal immigrant workers view low skilled jobs in the American economy as being highly preferable to the job opportunities in their homelands.

It is interesting that Democrat California Attorney General Xavier Becerra has threatened to prosecute any business found cooperating with law enforcement regarding the apprehension of employees here illegally. There is no love for black workers here.

Compared to white men, a much larger share of native-born black men have relatively little education. About six out of 10 adult black men have only a high school degree or failed to graduate high school, compared to about four out of 10 white men.

Schools in black communities typically are horrible. Though students can now opt-out, families often lack the resources to move or transport children to better schools. Liberal legislators consistently block voucher systems for poor black families, trapping them where they are.

Obama, Sharpton, Jackson, NAACP and other black liberal politicians are strangely silent regarding the lack of education opportunities for “their people.” Of course, “their people” does not mean Americans in general but black skinned humans. And, that perspective makes other people racist? The liberal response to uneducated blacks is to give more money to unions of deplorable schools.

If these “leaders” loved “their people” they would quit using them as a meal ticket and enable them to go free. However, politicians and charlatans lose power when people leave the ideological plantation. Black Race Hustlers have all been quiet as President Trump’s cut in regulations and taxes have reduced black unemployment to a record low in just one year in office. If they had access to quality schools blacks could fully access existing opportunities.

In 1993, Civil Rights icon and Democrat Congresswoman Barbara Jordan was appointed President Bill Clinton to chair the Commission on Immigration Reform. The Commission’s conclusion sounded profoundly Trump-like.

The Commission found that mass immigration to the U.S. hurt poor, working-class and lower-tier middle-class Americans the most, as it unfairly put them in competition with a never-ending flow of cheaper and often illegal foreign workers.

The Commission recommended cutting immigration numbers in half and enforcing E-Verify laws, preventing the hiring of illegals. It admonished Congress to prioritize skilled, English-proficient immigrants over low-skilled, non-English speaking immigrants, in order to give relief to America’s working and middle class. In other words, implement and enforce a legal merit-based system.

In 1995, Jordan wrote an article for the New York Times, titled “The Americanization Ideal.” Her comments are heresy to democrats today.

“Those who choose to come here must embrace the common core of American civic culture. We must assist them in learning our common language: American English. We must renew civic education in the teaching of American history for all Americans. We must vigorously enforce the laws against hate crimes and discrimination. We must remind ourselves, as we illustrate for newcomers, what makes us America.”

The Commission’s recommendations have been ignored. Today, the late Barbara Jordan’s comments would be called racist, though she was black and brilliant.

Ehrlich’s Snake Oil

export food.

Vardy reports that Charles Maurice and Charles W. Smithson at Texas A&M University studied the history of natural resources over 10,000 years and discovered that temporary shortages in resources are the norm. However, these scarcities led not to catastrophe but to an improved substitute.

The Greeks’ transition from the Bronze Age to the Iron Age 3,000 years ago was caused by a shortage of tin. The rise of coal-use followed a lack of timber in 16th-century Britain. A scarcity of whale oil in 1850 led directly to the first oil well in 1859.

Obama, either the idiot or the liar, boringly lectured about running out of fossil fuel resources. His solution was to force people to use energy from expensive and unpredictable solar and ‘bird-blenders.’ Like the guy that misplaces his keys, massive reserves of oil and natural gas were there all the time. New techniques and permission were needed to find and extract it.

However, the sadistic wing of the environmental movement sees mankind as an unfortunate arrival at earth’s party, and notes a bright side to famine, fewer of us. This genocidal bent is the result of a dark influence, leaving God and the divine spark of creativity out of the equation.

Ehrlich’s peer, Sir David Attenborough of Population Matters thought humans to be “a plague on the Earth” and saw it as “barmy” (crazy) to send food aid to Ethiopia, since the famines there resulted from “too many people for too little piece of land.” This thinning out the population is connected to thinning out the minorities via abortion and forced sterilization as well. Ehrlich taught that Blacks were an inferior “race” of humans, slow to evolve, nearer the primates.

These two intellectuals are stupid. James Delingpole explains that “the Ethiopian famines of the late 20th century were the direct consequence of civil war and, in the 1983-5 disaster, of the ‘social transformation’ policies imposed by Mengistu Haile Mariam’s Marxist junta. Overpopulation was no more the reason for that mass starvation than it was for the Ukraine famine of the 1930s or the Chinese famine of 1959-61.”

There can be unsavory consequences to misunderstanding the truth. Dominic Lawson explains that in India it led to Mrs. Gandhi’s mass sterilization program; in 1840s Ireland, it led to the British official attitude that there was no point sending food relief to the starving Irish during the potato famine because Ireland had an overpopulation problem.

Politically correct thinking is ideological coercion the opposite free speech. It leads to people needlessly suffering and others dying. Locally, whether it’s stopping timber harvests for the spotted owl or no water for farms to save Delta smelt or no oil drilling due to junk science worship, Californians are suffering. Meanwhile weirdos like Ehrlich are honored by liberals.
