DACA and Confusion

by Lou Binninger

Most Americans have little understanding of the Constitution of the United States which all laws and policies are to follow. The California school system preoccupied with sexuality, co-ed restrooms and showers, and following the dictates of the teachers union, assigns minimal importance to students understanding the Constitution.

Knowing this, it was no surprise that most students and others missed the fact that the Obama Administration violated the law by creating Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) outside of Congress. The President is authorized to insure that existing immigration laws are enforced but cannot craft his own.

Since people today don't know the Constitution they judge right and wrong not based on law but rather on feelings. If Americans dislike an immigration law or policy they should contact their member of the House of Representatives. Once people veer away from being a nation of laws, chaos is the next stop.

Unfortunately, elected representatives did not have the backbone and convictions to rebuke President Obama for his lawless action. C.S. Lewis would call them 'men without chests.'

DACA was a rogue effort to smooth over the fact that adult citizens of foreign countries have been and still are illegally entering America and bringing children with them. In fact, Obama was encouraging more to 'crash the American party.'

The families should have been deported if previous administrations obeyed the law. Obama and liberals need the votes of this demographic group to regain political power. Faux conservative politicians want them as well. Taxpayers in the middle are paying for these people and want them to leave.

According to DACA advocates, we shouldn't deport young adults here illegally because it's not fair to hold them accountable for something their parents did. That is nonsense since all American children

Conservative Feminism – An Oxymoron

by Lou Binninger

For Democrats on the Senate Judiciary Committee all highly intelligent and accomplished women are not treated equally. Or, feminist accolades are reserved for liberals only.

Amy Coney Barrett was before the confirmation committee as a nominee to the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals. Joan Larsen, who had been on the short list for Supreme Court Justice, was there as a candidate for the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Democrats, including our own Senator Dianne Feinstein saw them as highly flawed and biased. The liberal attack on these conservative women was brazen, bigoted, and obnoxious.

The Washington Examiner reported that Dianne Feinstein said Barrett's nomination was "controversial" and chided, "You are controversial. You are controversial because many of us that have lived our lives as women really recognize the value of finally being able to control our reproductive systems."

Feinstein's fixation on Barrett's uterus may have been triggered by the fact that Barrett is married and a mother of seven. Will babbling Feinstein or Pelosi be carted off first?

Barrett would be the first Indiana woman to reach the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals. Although Feinstein sees Barrett as unable to manage her vagina the nominee is a professor at the Notre Dame Law School and a former clerk for Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia.

Cases involving pregnancy or abortion would be impossible for Barrett to rightly divide according to Dianne. Now, if Barrett had aborted a few of her children then the Senator would have something to work with.

Live Oak, Ca.

The festival begins on Saturday, September 16, 2017 in the Historical Commercial District with a parade down Broadway that starts at 10:00 a.m. The streets will be lined with families watching the parade and hoping to see friends, neighbors and local dignitaries.

Following the parade down Broadway we will end up at the Live Oak Memorial Park. The Festival will begin at 11:00 a.m., there you will be treated to a carnival atmosphere with dozens of vendor booths of all kinds including a large variety of food. Families should bring their own chairs and find a place in the shade to listen to the background music. Memories of the old days.

There is a special children's area along with activities included in the festival. One attraction that was enjoyed by young and old last year was the "Bell Ringer", a test of strength.

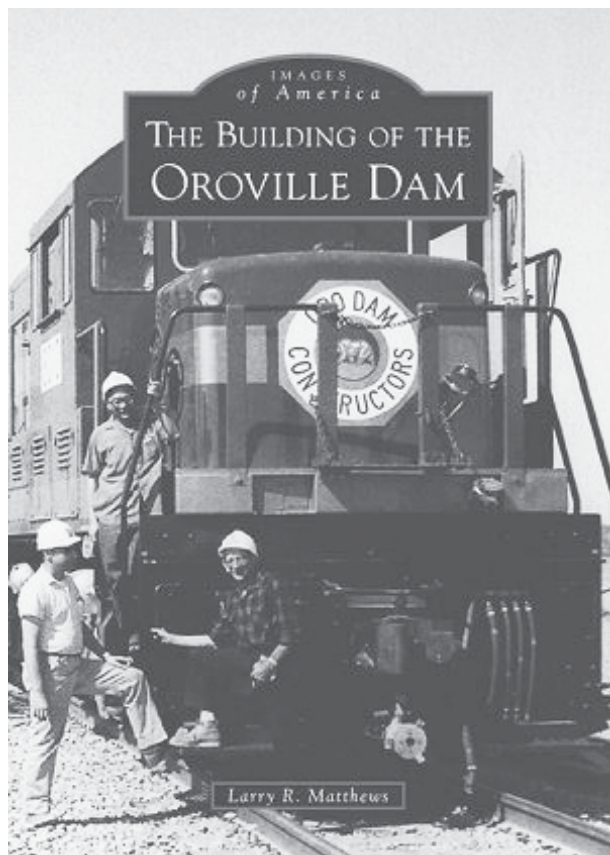

Car shows have become a big part of festivals today. The Live Oak Festival is no exception. The car show is comprised of old restored cars and pickups, Hot Rods, and brightly painted custom cars. They had a very good turnout last year.

The Live Oak Festival is a celebration of the role the agricultural industry plays in the community. The Chamber of Commerce says that the community serves as an anchor of the diverse agricultural products grown in the area.

FISHIN’ TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan “Boots” Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

Another big catfish has been caught. This time the fish was huge and we will call it the “Big One”. We don’t have much detail, but the big cat was caught at Rollins Lake, was caught at night and weighed in at 27 pounds according to the Long Ravine Marina. The lucky angler is unknown at this time.

Salmon are being caught at the Barge Hole on the Sacramento River, but most of the fish are Jacks and the ratio per boat is less than one per angler, while action on the Feather is strong at the Outlet Hole if you want to put up with crowds of shore anglers and tons of boats. Salmon have been taken downstream, but the Outlet Hole is the hot spot this week.

Kokanee Salmon are on a biting frenzy just about in all reservoirs in the Northern Part of the state. Reports tell us Whiskeytown Reservoir and Stampede Reservoir is producing easy limits at this time.

It’s official. The big spotted bass, which was weighed in at eleven pounds four ounces and was caught last February by angler Nick Dulleck at Bullard’s Bar Reservoir was recognized as the all-tackle world record-holder by the International Game Fish Association. The bass, in addition to weighing over eleven pounds measured 24 ½ inches long and had a girth of 20 ¾ inches. Now this is definitely the “Big One”. Congratulations to Nick!

Autumn is close by and we think about all the high elevation trout streams which are running low, are crystal clear and have some of the best trout fishing of the year. To be successful one must be extremely quiet and if you wade we highly recommend doing so upstream. I love to fly fish and this time of year is a good time to go this way. It is not as important what fly is used, but mainly the presentation. By this I mean gently so as not to make a big splash. In addition red worms fished on the bottom of the stream and drifting downstream is a good idea for spin anglers. The secret to fall trout fishing in the high country is to be aware of the quiet clear water and avoid any chance of spooking the fish.

Closing thought: Our hearts go out to the folks in Houston and now in Florida. God Bless.

STANDARDS OF ETHICS AND ACCURACY EXCEED THOSE OF THE NEW YORK AND LOS ANGELES TIMES (D)

French Organist, Christophe Mantoux, to Perform in Yuba City

Marysville, Ca.

Yuba Sutter Arts is proud to announce a community organ concert in collaboration with Marian Metson and First Lutheran Church in Yuba City. The featured organist will be internationally renowned musician, Christophe Mantoux, Professor of Organ at the Regional Conservatory of Music in Paris where he teaches students from all over the world.

The concert will be on Tuesday, September 19 at 7:30pm at First Lutheran Church, 850 Cooper Avenue in Yuba City. The concert is Free, but donations will be accepted for the upkeep of the organ.

Marian Metson, coordinator of the upcoming concert series, was the organist at First Lutheran from 1994-2010. During her tenure at the Church, there was a successful concert series that included top organists from around the country. Due to a generous anonymous gift, she has been asked by the church to reinstate the series.

"We were able to collaborate with Chico State where the organ builder had built his first instrument and attract some of the finest organists available," said Marian. "So now we have an opportunity for our community to once again hear a world class organist playing on a world class instrument right here in Yuba City," she added.

The First Lutheran organ was built by Munetaka Yokota, who went on to build organs at universities in Sweden and in Rochester and Ithaca, New York. Yokota is revered in esoteric organ circles. The organ is one of the finest church organs built in an historic style in Northern California. While not a copy, the organ is identical in appearance and in voicing to the seventeenth century North German Baroque instruments Bach would have known. Its crispness, clarity and balance are exceptional.

Christophe Mantoux's career as a concert organist has taken him to more than twenty-five countries in Europe, South America, South Korea, Japan, Canada, China and the United States. He has played some of the world's most prestigious instruments including many of the great organs of Europe and the U.S. including the Fisk organ at Stanford University. He recently held a weeklong teaching residency and presented a concert at Yale University. His recordings include a CD featuring the music of Johann Sebastian Bach on a new organ built in the "Bach" style, by Dominique Thomas in Strasbourg, France.

ing bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. DACA and Confusion are impacted by the choices of their parents, good and bad, legal and illegal.

President Trump and Attorney General Sessions called DACA what it is, illegal. Now, Congress can answer the question of illegal people in the United States and how to proceed. That should be a fiasco since Congress is a corrupt bunch.

For those realizing they have no idea what happened with DACA and what the Constitution says about this, get educated. No one is paying bonuses for ignorance.

For those wanting to learn about the founding document, the Institute on the Constitution is offering a 12-class series, 90 minutes each, comprised of videos and group discussions starting September 20, 6:30pm-8:00pm.

The free course will be conducted on the Church of Glad Tidings Campus at 1179 Eager Road, Yuba City, in Building 500, Room 210/212. However, a student manual can be purchased through the course website at www.theamericanview.com in hard copy for $45 or electronic download format for $10.

Contact Tammie Rikard at 530-701-2845 or at tjrikard@gmail.com to register or to acquire more information. This is a great opportunity for students and others wanting to understand this nation's owner's manual.

The course will explain the historical roots of the principles in the document, the origin of law and government, the worldview of those coming here from Europe to establish the colonies, and will dissect the text of the Constitution along with other founding documents.

Conservative Feminism - An Oxymoron

Another black mark, no that's racist. Another red mark against Barrett is that she doesn't believe she came from a monkey, but instead has faith in Jesus Christ. Her Catholic doctrine had to go if she was to be a fair judge.

Feinstein was touting the 'slut and nut' ploy used against victims in sexual assault cases. Since Barrett can't keep her legs together and she believes in the supernatural she is only qualified to work at Walmart or handle parking ticket disputes.

Did you realize that Democrat politicians hate Blacks, conservative women and Catholics? Do a little research.

Joan Larsen after graduating first in her class at Northwestern University School of Law also clerked for Scalia, and is a professor at University of Michigan School of Law. She was appointed to the Michigan Supreme Court in 2015. Larsen is also a wife and mother with a robust resume, all a problem when you have a conservative worldview.

Racist liberals see Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas as the court's 'House Nigger.' These two bright and accomplished female law professors are too low-brow for liberals to tolerate on a Federal Appeals Court. The stereotype is pregnant, bare-foot and biased. They even love family life and God, just disgusting.

CRITIC'S CORNER

Wind River

Starring: Jeremy Renner, Elizabeth Olsen, and Graham Greene. Rated: R, Runtime: 107 minutes.

A tracker finds the body of a woman in the frozen mountains of a native reservation in Montana while looking for lions that are hunting livestock. The lone FBI agent sent to investigate enlists his help in finding those responsible for her death. This is an emotionally driven story that brings you along the path of mourning, guilt, savagery, and Justice. The acting is good and the production value is well done.

Wind River, earns four out of five, Snow Machine Riding Monkeys. If you are a fan of murder mysteries then this is the movie for you. If you are looking to escape the smoke on a warm afternoon then this film for you and will not disappoint.

Yuba-Sutter Annual Farm Day

The Yuba-Sutter Farm Bureau is hosting its annual Farm Day on Friday, September 29th, 2017. This year 2,000 plus local 3rd grade students, plus teachers and parents, will visit the Yuba-Sutter Fairgrounds for a fun-filled day of learning all about agriculture. Farm Day provides educational exhibits (equipment, livestock, and crops), and demonstrations geared towards educating our local third grade students on the important role agriculture plays in our lives.

Farm Day provides basic and current facts about the agricultural industry, gives students and teachers the opportunity to become familiar with food and animal production, and allows personal contact with farmers. Our goal is to increase awareness of the positive contributions that agriculture makes to our local community and our economy.

If you are interested in being a volunteer, an educational presenter, or sponser please contact Shae at the Yuba-Sutter Farm Bureau Office: (530) 673-6550 or shae@ys-farmbureau.com

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Jani Beckwith, artist and postmaster at Challenge, is planning to start an art group meeting at Books and More on one Saturday a month (the middle of the month). She will be putting up flyers with more details, but her first meeting is September 16 in the afternoon. Call Books & More if you are interested and need details.

There is a definite need for a few people to help out at the Paper Hut and recycle bin behind the Thrift Shop. When this project first started mostly newspapers and magazines were bundled and put into the Paper Hut over by Mountain Aire Hair Care. People would empty it occasionally and bring it to the recycle bin in back of the fire house. When we moved the Paper Hut next to the bin, several of us would carry paper and cardboard to the large transfer van. Then Recycle replaced the van with an awkward bin and now the Paper Hut is so full of large, heavy cardboard pieces that it is too hard for us to move. We are hoping the recycle bin would be replaced by shorter one; we can hardly raise the lids of the one we use now. When we went over today to leave recycle items, paper was blowing around the area and several garbage items were strewn about. We picked up broken glass and plastic items to take home to our own garbage bins. What a mess! If an organization or few people would take that on as a community project, it would be great. We asked the Boy Scout troop to help, but they couldn't. Who else might be interested in keeping that area clean? If people would place recycle items in the bin, skipping the Paper Hut, that would help. We need a Friends of our Community group.

Food and Farm News

Winegrape harvest accelerates

Quantity may be a bit lower but quality remains high for the California winegrape crop. Winegrapes are reaching maturity in vineyards across California. The consensus among farmers and wine executives is that yields will be slightly below average, but quality has been excellent. Farmers say cool, wet days during bloom appear to have reduced grape production. Growers have also been checking the impact of late-summer heat on their crops.

Pear growers report improved crops

Reports have been positive from California pear orchards, where farmers are wrapping up harvest. Pear growers describe both the size and the quality of their crops as much improved from last year. Hot weather brought smaller-sized fruit and sunburn in a few cases, but for the most part pears have done well this season. About two-thirds of California-grown pears will be canned, with most of the rest sold as fresh fruit.

Estimate shows impact of citrus tree disease

As citrus growers in Florida struggle with a devastating tree disease, California has for the first time in decades passed Florida in total citrus production. A government report shows California farmers sold nearly 4 million tons of citrus in the latest marketing year, compared to 3.5 million tons from Florida. The tree disease HLB has cut Florida citrus production. In California, the disease has been limited to backyard trees, so far.

Farmers explore the possibilities of pitahaya

A fruiting cactus known as pitahaya grows well in the mild climate of Southern California, and more farmers appear to be taking interest in growing the fruit. University of California specialists say the pitahaya fruit--sometimes marketed as "dragon fruit"--has become popular in Asia and the Middle East. They say the cacti can also make excellent landscape plants, and that pitahaya thrives in regions that produce avocados.

Walnuts Still Yuba County's Top Crop; others hobbled by low prices

Marysville, Ca. – California's extended drought that carried into the 2016 harvest season played a significant role in reducing Yuba County crop gross values by nine percent.

Yuba County Agricultural Commissioner Stephen Scheer said drought conditions and lower prices for many crops resulted in a gross crop value of $214.9 million, a significant drop from 2015's estimated value of $231.8 million.

"The extended drought and lower prices continue to pose significant challenges for producers," Scheer said. "The decrease in value is primarily due to the prune crop loss and lower pricing for many of our top commodities."

While some of the county's agricultural totals suffered from lagging prices, other crops such as walnuts, kiwis, timber, and almonds benefitted from notable increases in value. Farming acreage devoted to walnut trees increased, helping that crop jump from $52.7 million in 2015 to $65.9 million in 2016.

By contrast, rice – the county's number two crop – dropped in value by more than $6 million. Prunes experienced the greatest decrease, dropping nearly $19 million in value due to lower prices and decreased yields.

Local Appraiser, Steve Souza, Announces Run for Yuba County Assessor

Longtime Yuba County resident and certified appraiser, Steve Souza, will run for Yuba County Assessor in 2018.

The assessor position is unique in that it requires candidates to have an appraiser's license.

Souza is the owner of Steve Souza Appraisals and has earned three appraisal designations including Certified Real Estate Appraiser (CREA), Senior Residential Appraiser (SRA) and California Certified Real Estate Appraiser (CRREA.) He is recognized as an Expert Witness on real estate in our regional Superior Courts.

"I've personally appraised over 16,000 properties in Yuba County and throughout Northern California," said Souza. "I'll be the first Assessor in a long time that will have first-hand knowledge of many residential properties that come across my desk."

If elected, Souza's main priorities will focus on increased communication with the public, improved relations with business and real estate industry organizations, and frequent updates to the assessor's website. Souza hopes to use his business experience to work closely with the staff and streamline any cumbersome and costly government procedures in the assessor's department.

Souza is a member of the National Association of Real Estate Appraisers and the Real Estate Appraiser Association, Sacramento Chapter, and an affiliate member of the Sutter/Yuba Board of Realtors.

Souza has been a Reserve Yuba County Deputy Sheriff for almost 20 years, and was a Volunteer Firefighter in Dobbins-Oregon House for 5 years. He holds two black belts and was an instructor for the Tae Kwon Do studios in Marysville and Oregon House.

Steve is a member and past officer of the Knights of Columbus, a former little league and soccer coach, 4H leader, and has acted in many productions with the Ponderosa Community Theater Group.

"I believe God had a hand in crafting my life experience," said Souza. "I've worked across the fields of business, community and government, giving me the knowledge and experience to competently represent the citizens of Yuba County as their Assessor."

Steve and his wife Pam live in Loma Rica and just celebrated their 40th anniversary. They have four children and five grandchildren.

- When thinking about climate change keep in mind the following history. In the dark ages, everyone knew the earth was the center of the universe and the sun and stars revolved around mother earth. Not too long ago, most people believed the earth was flat and if you sailed too far west from Europe you would fall off the face of the earth. Today, "everybody" – according to scientists (?) knows humans are the primary cause of climate change. What will we know tomorrow?

- In 2009 the Tea Party marched in Washington DC. Hundreds of thousands of Americans made their feelings known. There was no vandalism, no burning of businesses or police cars, no burglaries and pepper spraying. And no injuries. After the event, the National Park Service reported that the streets and parks were cleaner than before the march took place. Could such a gathering occur today just 8 years later? Doubtful. Conservative marchers like the Tea Party would be set upon by gangs such as Antifa, BLM, anarchists and those enabled by Warren, Pelosi, Sharpton and others who are continually allowed to incite and condone leftist and rightist violence.

- The leftie loons complain that there is "white privilege" and such is the reason why there are so many victims in the country. However, we never heard of "Black privilege" when Obama was elected and Black mayors, sheriffs and police chiefs popped up in many of our largest cities. Remember the Henry Gates Jr. incident when Obama remarked about "stupid cops"?

- The left is following Saul Alinsky's "Rules for Radicals" by subscribing to the "Big Lie." The more the left keeps winning, the more it will demand. When will good people

We are organizing and looking for leaders and other volunteers wanting to take part in this historic movement to help propel us across the finish line to New California with a return to representation; common-sense legislation; and a government of, for, and by New California citizens.

State Supreme Court Chief Justice Tani Cantil-Sakauye said she has a duty to call out federal agents who arrest illegal immigrants in or near California's courthouses. No. She has a duty to uphold the law. Didn't she learn that in law school?

San Francisco middle schools offer an extensive ethnic studies curriculum, where students as young as sixth grade learn about "the power of privilege, oppression and liberation." Instead of educating future citizens to hold honest jobs and contribute positively to their community, San Francisco schools are developing the next generation of rioters, haters, totalitarians and robotic thinkers. Would you hire a trained totalitarian hater for your company?

- And if we don't begin to demand that the mainstream media do its Constitutionally-protected job in an even-handed way, the bad guys will soon destroy the nation completely. Start pressing back with all your might. The Country's future is at stake.

- Want tax reform? Garamendi doesn't. Want Health Care Reform? Garamendi doesn't. Want border security? Garamendi doesn't. Want the infrastructure repaired? Garamendi doesn't. Want our streets repaired? Garamendi doesn't. Want a strong military? Garamendi doesn't. What do Griego and Nicoletti want and why are they supporting Garamendi?

- A former special forces operative who was stationed in Afghanistan revealed recently that US troops only burned some poppy fields – those whose owners were not helping US forces. Warlords who helped were able to harvest their crops and send heroin to places like the US. Somehow that policy does not seem right.

- What's next on their anti-Confederate history agenda? Blow up Stone Mountain? Isn't that what the Taliban did to Buddhas carved in the mountains of Afghanistan?

- Someone won against all odds a huge lottery jackpot. Good luck. The leeches will be all over her like ducks on a June bug.

- McConnell, Ryan and all the other life-long elected folks have the attitude that they don't have to even consider what the White House wants. Recall what General of the Army Douglas MacArthur said about his Commander in Chief Harry Truman; "I shouldn't have to do what is wanted by the temporary occupant of the White House."

- The mainstream press commented that the Antifa folks feel their actions are "honorable." If so, why do they wear masks, hoods and black clothing?

- Recently the hosts of the Today Show (NBC) portrayed an Air Guitar Champion as a "Hero". What a misuse of a noble word.

- What is next in the bubble-world of the leftie? Trans-species? Someone is bound to hold a press conference, attended by a standing-room only crowd of mainstream media types stating that "He/She/ It" is in reality a golden frog and demands protection under the Endangered Species Act and free medical transformation. The media will immediately editorialize a federal program and non-discrimination campaign. Up is Down and Down is Up. Good is Evil and Evil is Good. That seems to be the way things are viewed these days.

- The Republican Governor of Illinois signs a "Sanctuary State" bill. Of what use are Republicans?

- Sacramento adopted an "Advanced Peace" program like the City of Richmond has. Pay a bad guy not to commit crime. If these crime-doers misbehave, how about taking away their ABT cards, subsidized housing, Obamaphones, Medicaid and all the other benefits the taxpayers provide instead of paying them to act like they should act in the first place?

- Pelosi, the darling of San Francisco, allowed statutes of Confederates to adorn the Capital while she was Speaker and never said a word. San Fran Nan is a hypocrite who just bends whichever way the wind blows. Now she says: "The Confederate statues in the halls of Congress have always been reprehensible. If Republicans are serious about rejecting white supremacy, I call upon Speaker Ryan to join Democrats to remove the Confederate statues from the Capitol immediately." What a hack politician and bigot. She didn't fall far from the tree as her father, the Democratic mayor of Baltimore, once dedicated a statue to Gen. Robert E. Lee and called him "an inspiration". I guess for them their beliefs and actions are based on "just whatever is in vogue at the time".

- Let's get real on the nuclear crisis. FDR, a Democrat, approved and funded the Manhattan Project which resulted in the atomic bomb. Harry Truman, a Democrat, approved the use of atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Truman also approved the development of the hydrogen bomb. The proliferation of nuclear bombs to other countries has been facilitated, or directly handed to, by leftists who seem to feel that out of fairness, all other countries should have nuclear weapons. But who do the mainstream media blame for today's unsettling nuclear issues? Trump. The idiots on the left are traitors. They are dangerous to our way of life and survival. Wake up America.

- In politics, if you tell the truth, you are blasted from both sides. What suffers? The truth.

- Bill Nye, the Science Guy" is an actor and writer. He is also a graduate in engineering. Where in his resume does it say he is a climatologist?

"Good Reason" Carry Requirement Unconstitutional Decision from July 24, 2017

Springfield, VA . – Gun Owners of America (GOA) is celebrating a landmark victory for the Second Amendment in a case that was decided by a three-judge panel of the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals, which ruled that D.C.'s "good reason" requirement for concealed carry permits is unconstitutional.

GOA submitted an amicus brief in Wrenn v. D.C., arguing against the "good reason" justification for the permitting process in Washington, D.C.

Said the court: "[The law-abiding citizen's right to bear common arms must enable the typical citizen to carry a gun." The court's decision represents a stunning rebuff to the District's historical animus toward Second Amendment rights.

Washington's current permitting system is extremely restrictive. In fact, living or working in a high crime area is not a sufficient reason by itself to get permission for a carry permit.

"Americans everywhere – even those living in our nation's capital – should be able to defend themselves with a firearm," said GOA Executive Director Erich Pratt. "GOA is happy to see the Court recognize the right to keep and bear arms and deal a blow to Washington's draconian carry laws."

Washington's restrictive gun laws also affect those travelling into D.C., as Pratt points out.

"These restrictive carry laws do nothing to stop criminals, but they do leave law-abiding citizens defenseless, as shown in the tragic congressional shooting last month," Pratt continued. "We hope Congress will soon pass concealed carry reciprocity so that honest Americans can carry their firearms across the country, as well as in the District of Columbia."

Vote Fraud in New Hampshire – 5,000 ILLEGAL VOTES in 2016 by Stephen Frank California Political News and Views

While the Democrats and Establishment Republicans claim there is no vote fraud, prosecutions are going forward in Virginia and Indiana. The LA County Registrar has not been able to explain 82 absentee ballots going to one address, the California Secretary of State refuses to cross check the illegal aliens with DMV issued driving licenses and the voting rolls. Plus we have eleven counties with more than 100% of eligible voters registered to vote. My county, Ventura, happily is not one of them—only 99% on the rolls.

"Since election days, Republicans have charged that a significant number of non-resident Democrats, principally from Massachusetts, flowed into New Hampshire to vote illegally, tilting close elections to their party. Mr. Jasper's findings give credence, though not outright proof, to those allegations.

The numbers read this way: 6,540 people voted using out-of-state licenses

As of Aug. 30, 2014, about 15 percent had been issued N.H. driver's licenses."

This is why Voter ID is needed. The Republican incumbent lost by 1,017 votes—probably from the Massachusetts Democrats that illegally voted! Indict the illegal voters and make an example of them.

Tea Party Guest Speaker Cal Clark of Rough and Ready

Yuba City, Ca. – The Sutter Buttes Tea Party Patriots announces the September 18, 2017 meeting focusing on liberty and patriotism with guest speaker Cal Clark, resident of Rough and Ready. As a parent of a once injured vaccine child, he opposed SB277 and will share some insights and research on this theft of religious and personal belief freedom.

He has met and studied many great Patriots and authors of the past and present and has fought for property rights in Nevada County and opposes the United Nations false philanthropy and "sustainability" agendas. Cal wants to encourage you to "Be a patriot and be mighty".

Tanker Rollover On HWY 20

Marysville, Ca.

On Thursday, September 7th at approximately 6:46 a.m. hours, Jose L. Gonzalez, 51 of Sacramento, was travelling east on SR-20 west of Plantz Road in a Peterbilt with approximately 7000 gallons of gasoline in the tanker trailer, and 1500 gallons of diesel in a second compartment). For unknown reasons, Gonzalez allowed the truck to drift off the south side of SR-20. The truck overturned due to the shift of weight and came to rest in the irrigation ditch at this location. The tank ruptured in several spots which caused the release of a significant amount of gasoline into the irrigation ditch. Due to the release of this gasoline, the scene has been declared a hazard material scene. For safety reasons, SR-20 was closed all day on Thursday. Friday morning SR-20 was open. Dirt dams were made across the irrigation ditch to stop the spread of the gas and diesel. Hazard materials equipment remain cleaning up.

Gonzalez was transported by Reach to Davis Emergency Room for major injuries sustained in the collision. Drugs/alcohol are not suspected in this collision.

The Battle of Feather River is Coming

Civil War Days are coming on September 23rd and 24th. Be sure to come for the Battle of the Feather River and allow plenty of time to stroll through the camp. Here is a glimpse of life in the camps continued.

Artillery: Considered the King of the battlefield, the cannons and their crews of this era achieved new levels of accuracy and lethality. The men of the artillery will demonstrate the loading, aiming and firing procedures for cannon under their charge. Visitors will examine the different type of cannons and learn about the advantages and disadvantages of those various types along with the differing kind of ammunition used. .Learn how the artillery was used in battle and how it was organized, how many men comprised each battery, how many horses were required and the extent of the support staffs required to keep a battery in the field

Medical: Field hospitals of the Civil War era did the best they could. But shortages of supplies and huge numbers of casualties combined for crude care at a time when the importance of sanitation was only beginning to be understood.

The regimental surgeon will explain to you the nature of the most common wounds and the most expedient forms of treatments. He will also show-off various surgical and examination instruments used in the field. And since more men died from disease than from battle, you will gain knowledge about the most common drugs used to treat soldiers. Because not all medical personnel were actual doctors, you will see how the training of various individuals that tended the wounded.

Commissary: Keeping the troops fed and supplied was a major problem during the war and the skill of the company cook often made a big difference in the quality of a soldier's life.

The cook will explain the many types of foods issued to the troops; those supplied by the army and those collected through foraging. Officers ate differently from enlisted men and the sick were often prepared special meals when conditions allowed. While much of the food consumed by the Union and Confederate armies was the same there were some differences. Getting supplies to the men in the field was often the biggest obstacle facing the armies. You will gain a better understanding of how the food and supplies reached the men in the field, whether by wagon, ship or train.

Civilians: Not everyone who participated or suffered during the war was a soldier. Many civilians went following Union soldiers south, while many southern civilians suffered heavily as the war raged across their family farms and through small towns. You will hear about the plight of many southerners and how the “Yankee invaders” ruined their ability to make a living. Some civilians traveled with the armies, working in a number of noncombat jobs.

Politics: It is often said the Civil War pitted: brother against brother”. That men followed their conscious and staked their lives on what they believed. As you move throughout the encampment you will hear why men are fighting, whether it be for the Confederacy or the Union. What motivated them and what pressures may have come to bear when making their decision to take up arms?

While a modern visitor may think of the Civil War purely in terms of preserving or ending slavery, they may be surprised to learn men fought for other reasons that many soldiers in the north were ambivalent about slavery and even opposed the Emancipation Proclamation while many in the south had no stake at all in the preservation of that “peculiar institution”.

Civil War Days is a local public event sponsored by FOCUS on Marysville and Mary Aaron Museum. Join your neighbors on Sept. 23rd and 24th Camps open at 9:00am with two battles daily. Come travel back in time to the 1860's and relive an exciting part of our shared past.

How Marijuana Bills Could Shape California's Legal Weed Industry

Excerpts from the Lost Coast Outpost by Ryan Burns

State lawmakers are scrambling to develop regulations for California's legal weed industry before Jan. 1, 2018, when it finally becomes legal for adults to buy marijuana without the cover of a doctor's recommendation. Regarding that mad scramble, our representative in the California Senate, Mike McGuire, offered an analogy: “We are building the plane while it's being flown.”

The Legislature now has until Sept. 15 to pass bills in the current legislative session, and Gov. Jerry Brown has until Oct. 15 to sign them into law or veto them into oblivion.

“The new rules and regulations that will be required of cannabis businesses next year are going to be a big change for the industry,” Wood told the Outpost. “We are working to do everything we can to make this transition period as easy as possible.”

Here's a look at how the current batch of bills from our local lawmakers may impact the industry.

With legitimacy comes taxation. (Or is it vice versa?) Starting Jan. 1, all licensed cultivators in California will have to pay the tax man for their harvested ganja. How much? Per voter-approved Proposition 64 (aka The Control, Regulate and Tax Adult Use of Marijuana Act, or AUMA), the state will levy a tax of $9.25 per ounce of harvested buds bound for the commercial market The rate for leaves, meanwhile, will be $2.75 per ounce, and consumers will pay a 15 percent tax on retail purchases.

When Prop. 64 became law, many growers expressed concern about having to pay taxes at the time of harvest — before the product has been sold. To address these concerns, Wood introduced a bill, coauthored by McGuire, to allow growers to pay their taxes through a licensed distributor, meaning they won't have to pay the tax man until after they've been paid for their product. (Technically, the distributor would pay the tax, just like retailers are responsible for paying the sales tax they collect.)

Women CEO's

Do women make better VP's? It's a tough question to answer and certainly a hotly debated one. Although the majority of company CEO's are male, there are a number of women steering the rudders of large and small companies alike, and although we can't know for sure how a private company is doing, public companies whose stock shares are available to retail investors have to publish their financials every quarter and by looking at these financials, we can discern whether the woman CEO is measuring up or even surpassing her male counterpart.

According to a 2016 survey by Fortune, only about 4% of Fortune 500 company CEO's are women and that number actually decreased in that year. For those doing the math, it means a paltry 21 companies Fortune 500 companies were commandeered by women in 2016, down from 24 two years before. 2017 however is witness to a new record of women run companies with 29. The caveat being with women making up 50% of the population, only about 6% of notable companies are run by them.

Of the women heading up or used to head up these companies, some notable names and companies appear on the list, some with glowing results and some not so favorable.

Meg Whitman, former CEO of Hewlett Packard, GM's Mary Barra, Pepico's Indra Nooyi, Ginni Rometty of IBM, and Merissa Mayer of Yahoo are but a few of the well-known companies with women who held CEO positions. Lockheed, Xerox and Avon also can be added to this list. There are more of course.

The obvious question is do women perform any differently than men when it comes to calling the shots of such behemoths. The sample set is obviously limited with such a low percentage of female CEO's but since all numbers can be crunched in some manner, we can at least draw some hints as to how well women have performed in the past when heading up large companies.

Investigating women's intuition and judgement on handling money, a gender investor comparison study in the year 2000 by Terrance Odean of UC Berkeley and Brad Barber of UC California entitled “Boys will be Boys: Gender Overconfidence and Common Stock Investment” determined that women investors outperform men by 1.44% annually. Extrapolating out on that study, Kristin Orman of Wealthy Retirement compared the performance of S&P 500 companies after women CEO's replaced male counterparts and found the companies went on to outperform the broader markets by an average of 104% based on their stock price. The women run companies saw a price increase cumulatively rise 170% while the market increased only 67% during the same measuring period. Although the obvious observation is the sample size is very small, the results do spawn some questions.

Are women better managers than men? Why aren't more women in the top positions at large public companies? Are the results of the few studies undertaken conclusive? Why do the statistics we currently have available to date seem to indicate women are indeed superior CEO's based on stock price performance? Is stock price performance the only indicator of a successful manager and is it a valid indicator of a company's success?

In time the answers to these questions will become clearer as the number of women who are put into CEO positions increase and the passage of time and greater sample size allows for better statistics to yield better conclusions. One thing is certain however: The number of women in top positions is woefully disproportional to the number of women in the general population. That certainty leads us to the obvious and most important question: why?

Joanna Robinson, Cindy Maple Share 2017 Lambert Award

Two of Nevada County's leading advocates for the local homeless population have been selected as recipients of the 28th Annual Col. William H. "Bill" Lambert Award, which is presented each year as part of Nevada City's Constitution Day Celebration. The prestigious Lambert Award is presented by the Famous Marching Presidents of Nevada City to recognize outstanding contributions to our community. The award is named in honor of the late Col. William H. Lambert, founder of Nevada City's annual Constitution Day Parade.

Joanna Robinson

This year's recipients are Joanna Robinson and Cindy Maple, co-founders and longtime supporters of Hospitality House, western Nevada County's 54-bed emergency homeless shelter for men, women and children.

"No two people have changed the landscape of the issue about homelessness in Nevada County more than Joanna Robinson and Cindy Maple," said Marching Presidents founder David Parker.

"They both have devoted years of great effort to not only providing amazing services to Nevada County's homeless, but they have actually provided the portal for many people to escape being homeless and restart their lives with self esteem and a positive future.

"The Famous Marching Presidents take great pride in honoring these two outstanding citizens for their outstanding community service," Parker said.

The Marching Presidents announce the award each year on the eve of the annual Constitution Day Parade, in which they participate. This year's 51st annual parade rolls down Broad Street beginning at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 10.

Robinson, widow of the late folksinger U Utah Phillips, is a co-founder of Hospitality House (2005) and remained very active in the successful campaign to build the group's $1.5 million Utah's Place shelter in Grass Valley. She is a longtime Nevada City resident and former book store owner.

She is most proud of the group's work in finding housing for more than 400 formerly homeless folks. "We serve Nevada County residents," she said. "Hospitality House began and has remained a community endeavor."

She said she is pleased to accept the Lambert Award "on behalf of the compassionate, generous community that has created Hospitality House. I'm honored to be in the good company of all the past recipients (who include her late husband Utah Phillips in 2006)."

Maple, who was also among the organization's co-founders, served as Hospitality House executive director and tireless advocate for the homeless for 12 years. She resigned last year and has since moved to Las Vegas.

"I'm deeply honored to receive this award," she said. "Sharing it with my dear friend and partner in this work, Joanna Robinson, makes it even more special. I've been incredibly blessed to do the work of my heart with Hospitality House. Knowing how much Hospitality House has benefited some of our most vulnerable citizens, and that its work is appreciated means a great deal to me."

Robinson will be a guest of the Marching Presidents in Sunday's parade and will accept the awards for both herself and Maple at group's post-parade awards banquet at Miners Foundry.

Past Lambert Award recipients are retired city manager Beryl P. Robinson Jr., former mayor and city clerk Cathy Wilcox-Barnes, longtime parade organizers George and Pat Harper, city councilman and former mayor Pat Dyer, the late real estate broker Jim Mackey, local writer Dave Carter, Chamber of Commerce executive manager Cathy Whittlesey, former mayor Steve Cottrell, businessman Bob Buhlis, retired Nevada County general services director Dennis Cassella, John Christensen, a leader of community efforts to establish the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Museum; cartoonist R.L. "Crabman" Crabb, business owners Lee and Susan Thurston, Nevada City public works director Verne Taylor, the late historian Edwin Tyson, the late folksinger/activist U Utah Phillips, city engineer Bill Falconi, Marching Presidents organizer Patti Foster, retired school administrator Karen Chizek, musician Mikail Graham, retired county librarian Madelyn Helling, local builder Gary Tintle, former mayors Paul Matson and Reinette Senum, Nevada City Film Festival Director Jesse Locks and Nevada City musician and producer Paul Emery. Marching Presidents founder David Parker was honored with the group's 20th anniversary award.
