

Foothill Residents Want “Pot Emergency” Declared

by John Mistler

Marysville, Ca.
Hill residents turned out at the August 8th meeting of the Yuba County Board of Supervisors. Approximately 10 individuals spoke to the Board requesting protection and enforcement of the Marijuana Laws. “Outdoor grows are illegal!” Approximately 50 people mostly from the foothills seemed to feel that it took the shooting of two Yuba County Deputies to shine the light on what is going on in the Foothills. Speakers expressed fear, and intimidation of their grower neighbors. One participant said there would have been more people complaining if this had been a night meeting and yet many are fearful of speaking out.

Buck Weckman founder of FACT (Families Against Cannabis Trafficking) presented the board with a resolution demanding the Supervisors adopt a “State of Emergency” because of illegal Marijuana activities. The speakers let the board know that they wanted them to take action and to support the resolution. The other sentiment that came through clearly was that the residents did not blame the Sheriff but that the Board of Supervisors needed to give the Sheriff what he needs to solve the problem. Marcia Cecil of Browns Valley suggested the board needed to cut the budget 1% across the board and give it to law enforcement for deputies and equipment.

Buck Weckman addressing the Board

Randy Fletcher the Foothill Supervisor acknowledged there was a problem and said they will be working on it.

Editors Note: The Yuba County Marijuana Ordinance is not a law enforcement ordinance it is a code enforcement ordinance. This must change; we have three new Supervisors and a new County Council. Government's number one responsibility is to keep its citizens safe, even though we live in California.

Yuba Sutter Stand Down 2017 August 24, 25 and 26

Marysville, Ca.
The Yuba-Sutter Veterans Stand Down is coming to the Cotton Rosser Pavillion at Riverfront Park, 1010 Bizz Johnson Drive, in Marysville.

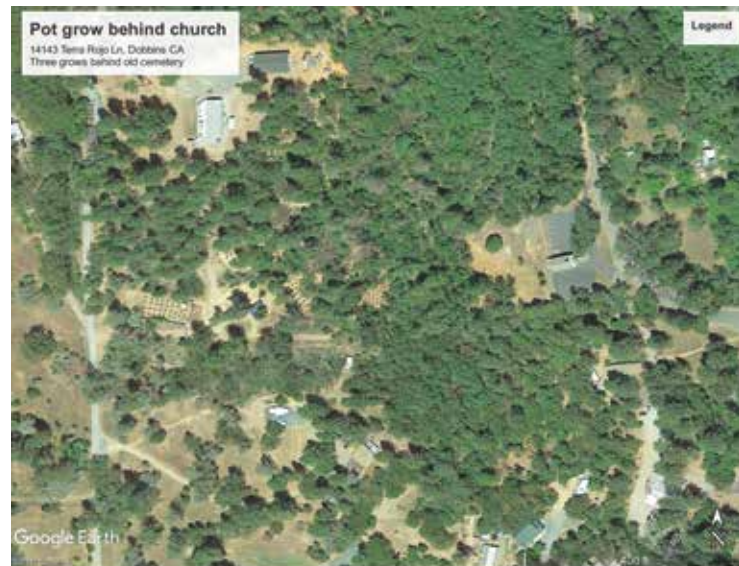

What is the Veteran's Stand Down?

The original Stand Down for the homeless veterans was modeled after the Stand Down concept used during the Vietnam War to provide a safe retreat for units returning from combat operations. At secure base camp areas, troops were able to take care of personal hygiene, get clean uniforms, enjoy warm meals, receive medical and dental care, mail and receive letters, and enjoy the camaraderie of friends in a safe environment. Stand Down afforded battle-weary soldiers the opportunity to renew their spirit, health and overall sense of well-being. Stand Down is an intervention that was conceived from the ground up specifically for veterans. It is designed to transform the despair and immobility of homelessness into the momentum necessary to get into recovery, to resolve legal issues, to seek employment, to access health and benefits, to reconnect with the community and to get off the streets...A very tall order for a three-day event. Stand Down is a belief in the triumph of the human spirit over extraordinary odds. It grows out of a conviction that the overwhelming number of homeless veterans on the streets of America is unacceptable and that the veteran community itself must respond. Each year the Yuba-Sutter Veterans Stand Down has grown, been refined to meet the needs of our veterans, homeless or not, all active duty personnel and their dependents. There are organizations / agencies and more than 2,800 and growing volunteers from all walks of life that make Stand Down happen. Some never set foot on the Stand Down field; others are there from the first day of set up until the site is returned to its original form. Perhaps the hallmark of success is that each year more and more of our volunteers were once participants who have made the courageous move to change their lives.

New Cannabis Grow Revealed

by Lou Binninger

As Yuba County officials seek to calm frustrated and fearful residents by explaining that the hill country is safe, families have second thoughts. No one questions Sheriff Durfor's integrity or the lower crime statistics for the rural areas.

However, residents are aware that illegal growing is occurring nearby, buildings are erected without permits, agri-chemicals are used without supervision, and honey oil labs and illegal electrical installations present a volatile fire threat. Add to this people brandishing weapons and making threats. There are no crime statistics for feeling unsafe, intimidated and fearful.

Last week, the Rastafarian 'Church' illegal marijuana farm at 9015 Marysville Rd., Oregon House and a much larger operation on 429 acres at 10874 Marysville Road, Dobbins, were noted in the article 'Yuba Co Pot Chaos Life Threatening' about Yuba Co deputies being shot protecting an illegal grow.

County records show the larger acreage owned by BBNR LLC, Lance Bates, Adam Bates, Mary Bates and Scott Bates. However, BBNR LLC attorney Courtney McAlister called to say his clients sold the property on an unrecorded contract of sale to new owners who may not want to be identified. McAlister was to call back with a yes or no regarding the new owners' names, but had not by this paper's deadline.

A third plot has now been revealed located just behind the Dobbins Catholic Church with access at 14143 Terra Rojo Lane. It's a 5-acre parcel that supports at least 3 separate plantings (See aerial photo). This grow has been reported to county officials numerous times over a number of years and yet, today it flourishes. Plants have been visible from the road and from the church property.

County records show the property is owned by Tosha Asker who uses 1410 Calistoga Rd., Santa Rosa, CA. 95409-2541 as an address of record. The Sacred Heart Parish is the structure and parking lot in the photo on Old Dobbins Road.

Last week's Supervisors' meeting was attended by concerned citizens asking that a state of emergency be declared and for federal authorities to be sought for help. Many residents also feel that enforcement of illegal cannabis activity laws should be handled by deputies and not code enforcement.

The supervisors are on their third marijuana ordinance. They are the policy makers of the county and need to draft an ordinance that helps law enforcement do their job. Unarmed code enforcement people do not have the ability to handle this problem.

Some estimate there are thousands of pot plantings in the Yuba Co hills. People wonder why the illegal grows remain?

Yuba-Sutter Political Notes

by Lou Binninger

On August 9, the Sutter Butte Flood Control Agency (SBFCA) in charge of managing more than $200 million in levee upgrades disbanded the Citizens' Assessment District Advisory Committee (CADAC). It did so after promising to establish and utilize the 'watchdog' group in exchange for the public's support for the 2010 levee improvement assessment measure.

Two previous measures had failed until public assurances were given that a citizens committee would examine the finances and ongoing management of the revenues from stiff property assessments on more than 30,000 parcels and continuing for 33 years. The public did not trust huge property assessments handed over to an unelected and unsupervised agency.

CADAC people receive no pay, even for travel. However, CADAC members created an immediate stir in the beginning when SBFCA employees wanted to spend $80,000 for a junket to Washington D.C. to lobby for flood insurance changes. CADAC members felt this expense was outside the scope of repairing levees. The request was then reduced to $10,000 and then withdrawn altogether.

CADAC members continued to question expenditures and the size of some budget items including the fees of outside contract employ-

Correction

The front page picture on the August 9th issue had the wrong caption. It should have been "The property at 10874 Marysville Rd. in Dobbins. Owned by BBNR LLC, Lance Bates, Adam Bates, Mary Bates and Scott Bates. Not the Rastafarian Church property."

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

Our latest report on salmon in local rivers shows that the run has not gotten here yet. Granted, there are a few fish in the rivers, but the main run is yet to be seen. Old Timers, who have chased after the salmon over the years, tell us to expect a bumper year in all rivers which will start the last part of August and continue through September and probably into part of October.

Our weather source advises there will be a cooling off period for the Sacramento Valley on August 14th or 15th but do not expect it to be around very long. He advised this is not the end of the heat, but a break in the action and to expect the hot weather to return as we continue into August and into September.

Apparently most of the planted trout ended up in lakes, streams, rivers and reservoirs in Inyo County last week with around 50 plants throughout the county. Northern California received some fish, but it was just a drop in the bucket compared to what took place further south.

Reports from Stampede Reservoir advised anglers are catching lots of kokanee salmon. Bullard's Bar Reservoir has also had good results with these landlocked salmon.

Collins Lake has been good for pan fish and catfish with trout being taken down deep. When the action (boats, wave runner, skiers and etc.) hit the water anglers might as well leave fishing alone until the early morning hours.

Local anglers Kyle Caldwell and Ted Johnson, along with several friends headed down to Bodega Bay last week. They caught halibut and sharks. In fact apparently they got into a school of sharks and could not hold on to some of them. Ted said it was a different fishing trip but they had a ball. Lots of fish were caught with fish in the fridge and freezer at home.

Little Grass Valley Reservoir, located above La Porte, finally got a good sized trout plant. The fish were the usual size, between 10 and 12 inches and were reported to be all rainbow trout. We imagine any one camping there who fish hit the water pretty hard when the planter trucks dumped their loads at several boat ramps on the lake and left the scene.

Boots fishing tip for the week: "When fishing reservoirs drop down deep this time of year and also fish the shoreline with top line lures before or at first light."

Malakoff's French Connection Festival

Malakoff Diggins State Historic Park, Nevada County, California—On Saturday, September 9, 2017, from 11 am-4 pm, Friends of North Bloomfield & Malakoff Diggins and California State Parks will jointly commemorate the French heritage of the park, and unveil two new interpretive panels that are the result of recent research into its French and French Canadian pioneers.

162 years ago, the French army toppled the impenetrable Malakoff Tower, thereby ending a 10-month siege by French and English forces upon the Russian naval port of Sebastopol. French people all over the world celebrated France's victory in the Crimean War. A mock Malakoff tower was created in the streets of San Francisco, and French miners drawn to the Sierra during the Gold Rush gave the name to their claims. Hundreds of thousands of French-speaking immigrants were lured to California to participate in what has been called the greatest migration in history. The famous Malakoff Mine is testimony to their presence.

Recent study has found that their influence at Malakoff Diggins State Historic Park was widespread. Entrepreneurs designed massive water systems and hydraulic ventures, opened hotels and businesses, and planted gardens. They dominated the local scene at the Park for 15 years, laying the groundwork to the nation's biggest hydraulic operation of the day, the North Bloomfield Gravel Mining Company, which was commonly called the French Company for years. The Malakoff Mine became so large that it was the defendant in the famous federal lawsuit that handed down the Sawyer Decision, the renowned injunction against the laissez-faire practice of polluting waterways.

The Malakoff's French Connection Festival will commemorate these early French pioneers responsible for much of the early technological and cultural developments at the Park. It will be a festive, lively gathering open to the public with French themed music and dancing, food, wine and beer, games, tours and hikes.

We will unveil newly installed interpretive panels, welcome dignitaries from near and far, and premier an original marionette show explaining the origin of the name Malakoff. World and fusion quartet, Beaucoup Chapeaux, will provide the music. A raffle will be held featuring a grand prize of a week's lodging in the French Riviera.

Malakoff Diggins State Historic Park is located 26 miles northeast of Nevada City, nestled in the western foothills of the Sierra Nevada. Within the Park's roughly 3,200 acres of forested hills, lakes, dramatic cliffs, and historic buildings lies the exciting and significant story of the nation's largest hydraulic gold mining operation and the nation's first environmental regulation. Malakoff Diggins State Historic Park, 23579 North Bloomfield Road, Nevada City, Ca.

Visitors are awed and humbled by the dramatic, multi-colored cliffs of the Park's main attraction—the remains of a hydraulic mine—a massive, man-made pit carved into the landscape by giant water cannons. The Park was created in 1965 in order to preserve this important part of California's gold mining history.

Today the Park is often characterized as a place of peace, quiet, and solitude, an ironically drastic shift from the destruction and devastation that created it. Popular activities include historic town tours, hikes through scenic diggings, mountain biking, camping, fishing, and photography.

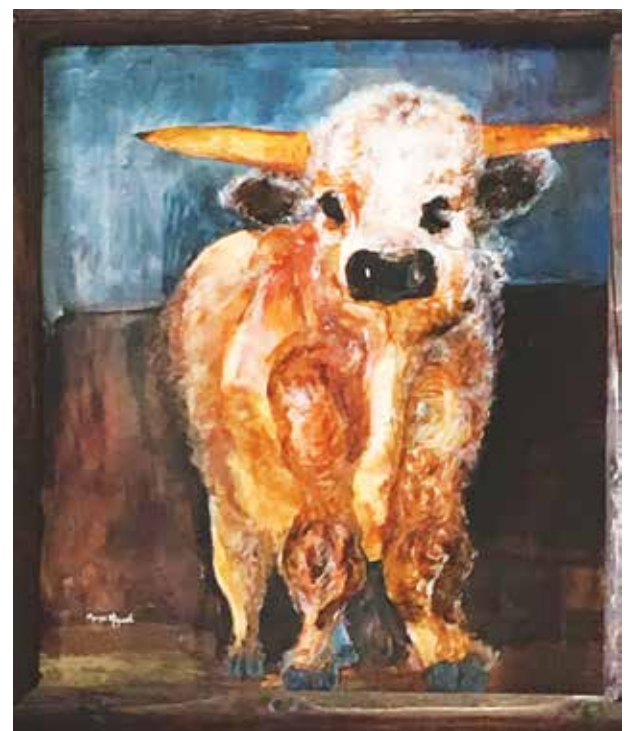

For more information on Malakoff's French Connection event, visit malakoffdigginsstatepark.org

Friends of North Bloomfield & Malakoff Diggins Mission Statement: We enhance the interpretive experience for visitors, promote park-based education for learners of all ages, and support and preserve the natural and cultural resources of Malakoff Diggins SHP.

We also assist other cooperative associations and the State Park System mission for the benefit of the public.

Western Art is Their Theme, and Fun is Their Motto

By Patricia Vermillion

The Foothill Art Society residing in Brownsville, will put on their 8th annual Art and Wine Show on Saturday, September 2nd, the Labor Day weekend. The festivities are located at 16911 Willow Glen Road, Brownsville, at the Sutter North Medical Clinic central lawn area. The fun begins at 10:00am and concludes at 4:00pm.

The theme this year is "Out West", putting under the spotlight their paintings with a western flair, including western animals, landscapes, plant life, cowboys, etc...

The Art Show features many events: A silent auction with selected paintings from artists in our group. Another event that is always fun are the RAFFLES! We are raffling off six paintings, each with a bottle of wine about one per hour. (You need to be present to win!). The featured raffle is a custom framed painting of a "BULL CALF", by Marge Miguel. It measures 39"x35", including frame. For this one you do not need to be present.

Come and enjoy live music by Mike Sheesley and Carl Jones from 12:00 noon on. Other highlights are the wonderful sound system organized by their friend Curtis and the Master of Ceremony duties handled by Dwaina, Curtis wife.

General Jim's food

truck serves delicious lunches that can be purchased at the event.

Last, but not least, is the WINE. They offer a selection of wine that can be purchased by the glass. The wine is served in a free wine glass with the Foothill Art Society logo proudly displayed on it. You get to keep the glass as a souvenir!

The Foothill Art Society will present young artists from two local elementary schools. Their mission in the Foothill Art Society is to help young children in our community become better artists. This spring they had the pleasure of working with two classrooms. The first was from Yuba Feather Elementary School: Mrs. Citron's first and second grade class. The children created tropical fish using watercolors. The second group of students was Mrs. Choate's fifth grade class, from Edgewater Elementary School in Marysville. These children created beautiful flowers using acrylic paints.

All the pictures are going to be displayed in the Youth Art Tents at the Art and Wine Show. Come and see the children's amazing art.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of Foothill Art Society group is more than welcome to look around and ask any of the members questions on the day of the show. You are also invited to just drop in on Thursday mornings from 9 to 12 noon at the Hoffman Art Center in the Sutter North Medical Clinic compound.

Robert Lee McNeill

August 16, 1930 ~ August 1, 2017

Robert Lee McNeill, 86, of Meridian, CA, passed away on August 1, 2017, at his home. Robert was born in Meridian, CA, on August 16, 1930, to Oliver and Effie (Staas) McNeill. He was the oldest of five children.

He graduated from Alameda High school in 1948, and promptly enlisted in the United States Army. He was stationed at Fort Lawton near Seattle. He received an honorable discharge and returned to Meridian to farm with his aunt and uncle. Over the course of his life, he was an active member of Meridian Odd Fellows, Meridian Lions club, and the Meridian Volunteer Fire Department. Robert was a 50 plus year member of Enterprise Lodge, F&AM; Order of Eastern Star, Knights Templar; and West Sacramento Valley Shrine Club. cember and made their home in Meridian where they raised two children. They were married 49 1/2 years, until her death in 2005.

Robert's life revolved around agriculture and included working for various Sutter County farms, Pacific Guano, General (Pirelli) Cable in Colusa; Gibbs Wild Rice in Live Oak and intermittently for Sutter County Road Department and CalTrans District 3.

When Robert wasn't busy working, he loved to fish, hunt, read, camp and garden. He could also be found supporting his children and other children through 4-H, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, umpiring for Meridian Little League, chaperoning Rainbow Girls events and serving on the Advisory Board. Because Your Money Matters!

"Wealthyretirement.com slaps the term "Ratepig" on investors who only look at yield when evaluating a potential investment. One of my family members does this and has been burned multiple times when the underlying investment offering the yield got into trouble. Basically a Ratepig's most important criteria is how much they will get in dividends or interest no matter how economically healthy the entity offering the investment is. A Ratepig might be attracted to the junk bonds of poorly rated companies, municipalities or even third world countries. The high yield of certain investments may reflect the underlying financial strength or lack thereof of the borrower. The high interest may be offered due to its poor credit rating or ability to pay back the debt. For the most extreme example, think a deadbeat brother in law or shady investment deal that entices investors by ultra-high returns. The old adage "if its too good to be true it usually is" comes to mind.

In the case of my family member, they received high interest payments (which they loved) until they didn't. Payments may have stopped or been reduced or the underlying stock or bond price may have plummeted, resulting in loss despite the high payments.

Borrowers pay high rates not because they want to, but because they have to, and that usually spells risk.

High returns do attract investors but what good is a 10% annual yield if the stock drops 20% in value? Or cuts the payment shortly after you sign on, or worse, defaults altogether.

Cash strapped Argentina has recently offered up a Ratepig's appetizer in a new flavor, a bond whose term hits the century mark. What that means in laymen terms is the bond has a maturity date 100 years from now.

What????

On the surface it is easily understood by most of you that anyone who buys this bond has to live a long time to get paid back, like a REAL long time, like 100 years from when you buy it, but what the heck, whose counting.

The bond's 8 % yield is not too shabby for the near zero rate environment we find ourselves in today but waiting 100 years? If that's not enough to make you turn a blind eye to such an investment, consider this: The longer term the bond, the more sensitive its price is to interest rate moves. This means if interest rates move in one direction or another, the longer a bonds term, the more violent the move up or down in the price of the bond.

If you hold a bond to its maturity, the daily price won't affect what you get paid in interest and when getting all your money back when it comes due, but should you have to sell early (because you can't wait the 100 years) the chances are you might get your head handed to you when you try and sell the thing.

Seeing Ratepigs salivate at a 100 year sovereign bond paying 8% might make a good story over a strong martini by Wall Street stock brokers is one thing, but the fact that these bonds are real and up for sale is quite another. In fact Wall Street big boy Citigroup Inc along with HSBC took the deal as lead book runners while Nomura Securities and Banco Santander opted to be co-managers.

Cha-Ching.

Now wait just a minute you say, who would buy such a bond? Apparently enough investors (if that's the right word) saw it as a good enough deal to pony up 2.75 billion for these things. (CNBC) Apparently a lot of people expect to live a long time (pun intended).

Of course the reality of the situation is its likely none of the buyers intend to keep these bonds until maturity in the year 2117 and plan to off them to someone else at some point but seeing as worldwide interest rates are near historic lows and some say could only rise from here, if rates do rise, the bonds with the longest terms get hit the hardest because of the math involved.

No doubt some Ratepigs were among those that wrote checks to Argentina for the "privilege" of loaning them money, but seeing as this country has defaulted about 12 times since 1816 (Valuewalk.com) you have to wonder who else bought these things.

Of course it may all work out in the end, Argentina will gets its act together and do something it has been unable to do for about 300 years, which is to stay solvent for any reasonable length of time. And those folks that ambled up to the trough for the "juicy" yield of these century bonds will get all their money back. But it likely you and I will never know as we will be food for another kind of animal when these things come due

Certainly at least some investors believe the country is good for the money when it comes due in 2117 and all the interest payments in between and they may well be. But then again, a lot can happen in a 100 years, especially in a country like Argentina. Keep in mind this is not a recommendation for or against any security or the debt instrument mentioned or in any way be construed as an investment recommendation to buy or sell any security or investment.

First Annual "Purple Heart Recognition Day"

Marysville, Ca.

The very active VFW Post 948 had its first Purple Heart Recognition Day on Monday, August 7, 2017. Veteran Brock Bowen said that they intend to have Purple Heart Recognition Day as an annual celebration. The observance is also called the National Purple Heart Day and Purple Heart Appreciation Day.

Post 948 has also renewed the Pearl Harbor "Never Forget" event. This December will be their second Pearl Harbor recognition event.

Purple Heart Day on August 7 commemorates the day in 1782 when General George Washington created the Purple Heart Medal, then known as the Badge of Military Merit a military decoration that is awarded to those wounded or killed while serving in the United States Armed Forces.

Post Commander Ray Bull, also a Purple Heart recipient, said that there were several Purple Heart Recipients in the audience and were invited to stand and make comments. Army Veteran Ed Goodman stood and said, "I earned mine on Pork Chop Hill and that's all I have to say."

Commander Ray Bull of VFW Post 948

The Purple Heart is a heart shaped purple medal with a gold border. The front has a profile of George Washington, while the back has the words for military merit inscribed on it. The medal is attached to a piece of purple silk with a silver border.

Yuba-Sutter Political Notes

ees. Two CADAC members, retired state auditor Elaine Miles and former school teacher Roberta Fletcher were dismissed for being too persistent in protecting the public's funds.

Miles has questioned the legality of some of the SBFCA board meetings when decisions about and changes in the board's composition were made. She also maintains there is lack of transparency in the finances including staff compensation.

The vote was 8-2 to drop CADAC with Stan Cleveland and Jason Banks opposing the move. SB-FCA's website states that "CADAC was disbanded by the SBFCA Board due to concerns about related staff time and duplication of effort. The information shared with CADAC members is also made publicly available at SBFCA Board meetings, on the website and via staff. The public is encouraged to ask questions, request information, attend community meetings and board meetings, and communicate directly with Board Members and staff."

To suggest that community members are as SBFCA-knowledgeable as CADAC people and that citizens' have time to attend 1pm board meetings is elitist razzle-dazzle. Most all government meetings and county department schedules are designed to benefit employees and not to better serve citizens.

SBFCA is out of control and has violated its promise to the people of Sutter and Butte Counties.

When you drive through Marysville it looks like there is a drought. Most all grass and shrubs are dead or dying. However, the shortage is not water but money to pay the egregious bills to sustain one of the most profitable private water monopolies in the country, California Water Service.

Marysville rates run 3-4 times higher than in Yuba City, Olivehurst or Linda where municipal districts manage the water. Cal Water Directors recently declared their 284th consecutive quarterly dividend and their 49th annual dividend increase in a row. Net profit for 2016 was $48.7 million. Their stock price went from $18.35 in 2012 to $33.90 in 2016.

This would be a corporation to invest in, not buy your water from. Cal Water (CW) is also celebrating the corrupt California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) awarding them rate increases for 3 more years. While Marysville browns-out Cal Water gets greener.

Every three years Cal Water justifies rate increases to the CPUC with the 'needed improvements' pitch, but the upgrades amount to window dressing. Cal Water's Marysville District was formed in 1930 with the purchase of Marysville Water Company. It has 55 miles of pipeline.

How many feet of pipeline are replaced each year? Currently CW Manager Robert Thompson is replacing 600 feet of 6 inch pipe that is more than 70 years old. For that, customers will get a 'small bump' in rates in 2019-2022 according to Thompson. A request was made to former manager Lee Seidel for a schedule of piping and its age throughout Marysville. There was no response.

With 55 miles or 290,400 feet of pipe in Marysville, to be 'good stewards' of the infrastructure replacing 600 feet each year it will take 484 years to upgrade every foot. No wonder all the CW board members and bosses are smiling on their website. Thompson says in a recent Appeal Democrat article that the newest pipe available lasts about 80 years. Seems like we are a bit behind.

At some point Cal Water rates will completely break the residents of Marysville while the infrastructure is maintained by a slumlord.

Setting the Record Straight

Regarding the article "Yuba County Pot Chaos" by Lou Binninger. It was sleazy for Mr. Binninger to mention that this pot farm was on land formerly owned by the Middlebrook family, as though to imply they knowingly sold it to pot farmers. I can't imagine any other reason to mention the Middlebrook name in this article. The printed street address was enough information to let people know the location. For many years, former owner John Middlebrook received commendation from state agencies for his reforestation project planting thousands of Ponderosa Pine trees which survived without irrigation. He also made many other improvements to the land. When his widow put the land up for sale, she was told that the Bates family were foresters. She was happy thinking the land would be cared for as it had been by John and that reforestation would continue. Before the sale, a pot grower had wanted to buy the land and she refused to sell it to him. And that's the REAL story.

Taxing Marijuana

I think we were all devastated when we learned of the shootings of two Deputy Sheriffs in Oregon House last week. My deepest and most sincere sympathies goes out to those officers and their families, but it was only a matter of time before things devolved to this level because Yuba County has failed in its responsibility to pass regulations to protect the community.

I lay this squarely at the feet of the Board of Supervisors who have refused to acknowledge that everything that has been tried to date has failed. Fear of federal raids, huge fines, life imprisonment, loss of family, and asset forfeiture has not stemmed the cultivation of cannabis.

The Yuba Co BoS have gone from a complete outdoor ban to contemplating grows as large as 40,000 plants. There must be a number in there someplace that will work for this county.

It is time for a different approach. The ONLY thing that stopped alcohol bootleggers was regulation and taxation.

Truly, have you seen the regulations to comply with the new state laws? Trust me, this has the potential to stop grows (legal and illegal) more than anything else.

I can already hear the shouts that this won't stop them either. Perhaps not at first, but as the program gets established, it will provide the means to target those who choose not to comply. Even if you outlawed every last outdoor leaf, the county does not have the funds to eradicate these farms. Everyone knows this is true so they roll the dice hoping they won't be detected.

It is unfair to saddle our law enforcement officers with this burden.

The community has spoken loud and clear that they do not want large outdoor grows in Yuba County. The growers have themselves to thank for this because they pushed the envelope when given the opportunity to grow outdoors in the past. Clearly the "trust me" plan has not worked.

I don't think most reasonable people will object to a limited number of plants being grown outside for personal medical necessity. Whether you want to allow commercial cultivation is a whole other question. However, if it is allowed it should be a condition for getting a dispensary license in Marysville that they purchase all of their product from local farmers rather than importing it from outside areas.

The only way to keep growers in check is to issue them permits which gives the county the ability to revoke them if they fail to follow all of the requirements - and after buying expensive permits, I believe they will be more inclined to stay within the limits.

I object to taxing medicine on general principle, but I seem to be in the minority.

The state requires that the program to license and regulate cannabis be self funded, meaning that the licenses are going to be very expensive especially in the beginning.

This requirement should be adopted by Yuba County as well as surrounding counties. The permits should cost enough to hire as many enforcement officers as needed to eradicate the non-compliant grow sites.

We might be able to lure some federal officers here for a few weeks, but they have their own staffing problems and a lot of territory to cover now that 26 states have legalized cannabis in some form. We cannot count on their help to solve our local problem. This is an issue that we have to handle ourselves before more blood is shed

Members of the current SCCCR will be present to provide information on the New State movement and answer your

In Birth of New State Program, What’s In A Name? by Stephen Frank

The Feds, under Obama set up a voluntary retirement fund called “myRA”. It lost $70 million, few wanted to participate and the average account was $500. California has learned that lesson—so instead of making it voluntary, they are going to force 6.5 million Californians to participate in a government retirement program. Not mention is the $1.4 trillion in unfunded liability of the current government pension program—collapsing and a disaster to local government. Now, Sacramento is looking forward to abusing billions in family’s assets to finance corruption, crony capitalism and financing money losing “green” companies—think Solyndra.

“The current name, Secure Choice, doesn’t say much about a big new program that in five years could be a mandatory option to supplement Social Security for an estimated 7.5 million Californians currently not offered a retirement plan by more than 200,000 employers.

Secure Choice also has a kind of generic bureaucratic tone, not exciting or appealing to young people, said a staff report given to the Secure Choice board last week, and it has an “association with other sensitive policy issues,” presumably like pro-choice on abortion.

First ObamaCare steals money from millennial’s—now Jerry Brown wants to steal as well. Why are productive folks leaving the State? Programs like Secure Choice that steal from the young and give to the special interests and unions. Shame on the criminals in Sacramento.

Some sanctuary cities, and “potential wanna-be” sanctuary cities like Stockton, are apoplectic about Session’s warning that federal funding will be cut if the jurisdiction doesn’t support ICE. According to the Police Chief, Stockton isn’t a sanctuary city. But Stockton has applied for federal funds and is simply being put on notice that if they decide to become one, then money will dry up. Why can’t high-level public employees understand that simple logic?

Another example of the Associated Press bias came through in a recent article about Trump’s wealth. The article calls it extraordinary. How about the $100 million collected by Al Gore? Or the massive riches somehow accruing in Maxine Waters’ bank accounts and other assets? How about the wealth of the Clinton Foundation? None of the Democrats get tagged with the “extraordinary” tag.

There is lots of angst over public salaries and pensions in California. And there should be. Since public agency collective bargaining rights were granted in 1968, there has been a continuing increase in employee costs to public agencies. The unions have shown their muscle in terms of money and boots on the ground to fund politician campaigns at every level throughout the state. Until that stops, we can only see more jurisdictions cutting services and raising taxes. Why can’t democrats figure that out?

The Democrats in Sacramento now want to lower the passing grade for the State BAR exam. Of course. Then we can have less qualified lawyers. And we can be assured of more illegal aliens getting their legal license so they can attack our country’s laws.

CalPERS is demanding some 20% more contributions from its member agencies this year. Unfortunately this demand means cutbacks in services or local tax increases. Thanks to local politicians who take union money, funds for street repairs, police and fire are fast disappearing.

Moonbeam hailed the extension of “Cap and Trade” as a major accomplishment to combat climate change. In the reality of the folks, it means a probable 63cent increase in gas taxes, an increase in the cost of doing business in the state and a major job killer. Thanks Moonbeam and cronies.

Your One Minute News Digest

by Don Rae

State Senate Leader Kevin de León (a Democrat) has introduced a bill mandating California to get all of its electricity from renewable sources by 2045. Current law passed last year required only 50% by 2030. Since there is already an impossible law on the books, it makes no sense to add another impossibility on top of it. Of course, the press has been silent about this and some of the other requirements buried in the fine print. All new homes and all existing homes sold must have solar panels as their source of energy; apartment buildings with more than four units; and all commercial and office buildings must install solar panels by 2025. As for farms, 25% of their acreage must go to windmills. A good example of why we need a part time legislature. If there were less time to think up these idiotic laws, California would be much better off.

The Albuquerque Tea party recently received it’s 501(c)4 status after eight years of battling the IRS. Recall that the IRS refused to process tax-exempt status requests to conservative groups during the Obama Administration? The win for Albuquerque is a beginning for the rule of law and justice. Now we need to see Trump prosecute everyone who engaged in this criminal activity. Lois Lerner needs to be prosecuted.

Democrats in DC are simply playing hypocrite in their continuing press to find evidence of Russian collusion with the Trump administration while ignoring the Russian ties of the Clintons. Remember that Bill Clinton gave a $500,000 speech to a Moscow-based financial firm, while Hillary began opposing Russian sanctions, according to emails published recently• by Wikileaks.

Some organization called Opposing Views has posted a video on Facebook claiming that the border wall will destroy huge numbers of animals, birds and fish, most of which are not even found along any of the territory covered by the wall. However, an ap response was made on Facebook by Brian Piereson: “The wall will disrupt migration patterns of the blue whale and common dolphin. It will throw the Earth’s orbit out causing it to go careening towards the sun at an ever accelerating pace. Just the blueprints for this wall are keeping the Atlantic cod from mating. A thorough scientific study conducted before lunchtime yesterday has concluded that the elephant cemetery will no longer be a mystery if this wall is built. This wall will cause flooding of biblical (epic, if you’re a Godless heathen) proportion as it causes millions of snowflakes to melt in Washington, Oregon, California, Colorado, and New York. Yes my friends...the end of days is upon us.”

Ferrari is considering adding an SUV to its model line-up. So much for the demand for small electric cars. Folks don’t want small and limited range. They also understand that the electricity used to power electric cars comes from coal-fired power plants. They also understand that the environmental damage done by the production of electric batteries is highly significant, not to mention the disposal problems of old batteries. The do-gooders unfortunately keep doing bad things.

Citizens for Fair Representation's Court Case Moves Forward

Last week, Federal Court Judge Judge K. Muller, asked the Chief Magistrate to form a 3-judge panel to hear the case; Citizens for Fair Representation vs Secretary of State Alex Padilla. In May, Citizens for Fair Representation (CFR) filed the lawsuit against the State of California, for lack of representation and dilution of vote. The lawsuit was filed on May 8, in the United States District Court, Eastern District, Sacramento Division. The significance of the three-judge panel is paramount, according to the legal team representing the CFR. Issues decided by three judge panels have the right to appeal directly to the United States Supreme Court. Mark Baird, one of the CFR spokespersons, said, “the case will ask important questions: Can one State Senator properly represent one million people? Can one State Assemblyman properly represent one-half million people? Baird added, Californian’s have no representation in the state house. The lobbyists and the unions own California and we intend to put the people back in charge of the government through smaller districts where it is cheap and easy to get rid of an incumbent who fails to serve the people. California has the worst representation ratio in the United States and we will prove that to be unconstitutional.” Citizens for Fair Representation is supported by the people of 22 Northern California Counties.

Roger Ingram Receives 2017 Blue Ribbon Award

Roger Ingram of Grass Valley has been named the 2017 Blue Ribbon Award recipient by the Nevada County Fairgrounds Board of Directors. The award was created by Western Fairs Association (WFA), a nonprofit trade association serving the Fair industry, to recognize those who support and contribute to the quality of their local Fair. Roger is recognized for his contributions to the agriculture programs at the Nevada County Fairgrounds.

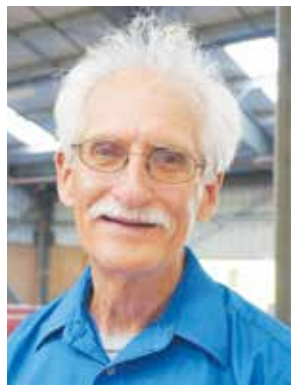

Roger's involvement with the Fair began in 1986 when he started with the UC Cooperative Extension (UCCE). From 1986 – 1993, he served as the 4-H/Livestock and Natural Resources Advisor in Nevada County. His primary responsibility was management of the 4-H program; and, specifically, at the Nevada County Fair, he organized and conducted a livestock judging contest until 1995. He has been instrumental in coordinating carcass quality programs for Fair animals and working with exhibitors and leaders to understand the data and to use it to improve their feeding and management practices.

Additionally, from 2006 – 2011, Roger gave a series of agriculture-related presentations at the Fair as part of the series of workshops coordinated by the Nevada County Resource Conservation District.

Roger became the UCCE Livestock and Natural Resources Advisor in 1993, and the County Director in 2007. During this time, he helped with the development of Nevada County Grown, worked with local meat producers on marketing and processing issues, and worked extensively on agricultural policies and regulations. He has also been involved with the Nevada County Farm Bureau, Nevada County Agricultural Commission, Nevada County Grown, Tahoe Cattlemen's Association, and Gold Country Sheep Producers Association. Roger retired earlier this year.

"For decades, Roger has been an advocate of local youth in agriculture, particularly the youth at the Nevada County Fair," said Rea Callender, CEO of the Nevada County Fairgrounds. "His contributions to the agriculture programs at the Fairgrounds have educated adults and children. Whether it's participating in the annual Farm Day, assisting with agricultural youth programs, serving as a guest speaker in the seminar series at the Fair, or assisting the kids at the Fair – his work is invaluable."

"I am both honored and humbled to receive the Blue Ribbon Award," said Roger. "The Nevada County Fair holds such a deep connection with local residents, and it has been an honor to serve the residents of Nevada County."

Roger was recognized at Opening Day Ceremony of the Fair on August 9. The 2017 Nevada County Fair is August 9 – 13. For information, visit NevadaCountyFair.com.

Constitution Day Parade Nevada City

The 51st Annual Constitution Day Parade tops a weekend of festivities Sept. 9 & 10, 2017 in this historic California Gold Rush town. Nevada City's Constitution Day Parade has been a local tradition since 1967 and is reported to be the oldest and largest Constitution observance in western America.

The 2 p.m. Sunday parade features more than 100 entries and culminates other activities including Revolutionary War Living History in Pioneer Park, the Gold Country Duck Race on Deer Creek.

The parade through the downtown historic district includes marching bands, floats, antique autos, equestrians, politicians and the perennial crowd favorites the Famous Marching Presidents of Nevada City, a humorous but reverent group that portrays each U.S. president.

Yuba County Military Spirit in the Civil War

From the earliest days Yuba County has possessed the military spirit. During the Civil War, several well-drilled companies were maintained. These not only were of value at home as a safeguard against disorder, but also furnished from their ranks a great many disciplined soldiers to fight for the old flag in the field. The City of Marysville and surrounding hills provided several military companies.

Yuba Guards were organized in 1855 with a membership of 65 young men from the elite city of Marysville. During its existence of several years, this company received $520.00 appropriation from the Board of Supervisors for armory rent and supplies.

Marysville Rifles. This company was organized with about 40 men in 1859 and continued in a flourishing condition until the end of the Civil War. They numbered as high as 80 men, but were constantly reduced by members going to the front. Among their officers was 2nd Lt. Emil Sutter, son of John Sutter.

Downey Guards were organized in Sucker Flat in 1861, with 36 men and officers.

Marysville Union Guards. Another prosperous company organized in 1861 with a strength of about 65 men, but this quota was hard to maintain on account of the great number who enlisted and went to the front. In 1863 it had been re-organized as an artillery company, and mustered out in 1867.

Yuba Mountaineers were organized in 1863 and had its rallying point in Oregon House

Marysville Zouaves. This was a French company organized in 1863, with strength of 50-60 men. They only existed for about one year.

Yuba Light Infantry... Organized in Camptonville in 1863 with 80 members. The company was supplied with the regulation Springfield breech-loading muskets. The local armory was enlarged from time to time and used as a dance hall and theater. Two balls were given by the Company each year, in May and September. They had a military band of nine pieces organized in 1878 as the Camptonville Brass Band. The 1st troupe to play on the new armory stage was the Wilbur and Mills Minstrel Troupe.

Marysville Light Artillery. When the Union Guards disbanded some of the members formed a new company. This resulted in an artillery company in 1867 with the strength of 116 men. They were equipped with 2 six pound and 2 twelve pound guns (cannons). They mustered out in 1869

Sherman Guards. They organized after the Civil War in 1872, with strength of about 60 men. They disbanded in 1875 only 3 years later.

Look Back in Time — In 1909 Dennis La Plant made a rich strike of quartz gold on his claim on Rabbit Creek (some excitement in La Porte on that day).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Atomic Blonde

Starring: Charlize Theron, James McAvoy, and John Goodman. Rated: R, Runtime: 115 minutes.

Set in the late nineteen eighties just before the fall of the Berlin wall. A top MI6 agent is sent into East Berlin to retrieve a list of all of the allied spies. Once there she relies on wit and sheer brutality to survive her mission.

The story runs along the line of typical Cold War movies. The acting is pretty darned good and the choreography of the fight scenes is simply amazing. There is a lot of nudity and impolite language and more than a little bit of violence.

Atomic Blonde, earns two out of five, Satchel Monkeys. This is a good movie for its genre, however it really isn't worth the money to see in the movies. Better to wait for Netflix unless these types of movies are your thing. Then go for it.

Food and Farm News

Researchers work to slow citrus disease

Hundreds of scientists are looking at every possible way to prevent a deadly plant disease from reaching California groves. A University of California researcher says one focus is to be able to detect the HLB disease earlier, which would help to slow its spread. HLB has hit citrus production in Florida but has been kept out of commercial California citrus, so far. It's carried by an insect called the Asian citrus psyllid.

California-grown apples reach market

The nation's first fresh apples to reach market come from California, and farmers in the Central Valley say their crop has returned to a typical harvest schedule after two years in which it started unusually early. Gala-variety apples are the first to arrive, and farmers in the southern San Joaquin Valley started harvesting them last month. The other main commercial apple varieties grown in California include Granny Smith, Fuji and Pink Lady.

Grants support fruit and vegetable consumption

With the goal of encouraging fruit and vegetable consumption among recipients of food assistance, five California projects will share in federal grant money announced this week. The state Department of Food and Agriculture earned a grant for a statewide program to expand incentives for aid recipients to buy fresh produce at farmers markets. Other grants support similar incentive programs based in Los Angeles, Oakland, Sacramento and Woodland.

Food-price trends diverge

The cost of eating out has been rising faster than the cost of eating at home, according to a federal study. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says the average cost for eating at home actually dropped slightly last year, due to lower crop prices and energy costs. But the average cost of eating away from home continued to rise, mainly due to increased wages and benefits earned by food-service employees.

Yuba County Employees Turn Out for Negotiations

Marysville, Ca.

Yuba County Employee Association Members turn out in support of overdue wage increases.

On the closed session agenda for the Board of Supervisors on August 9 was Labor Negotiations. Executive Director of the Yuba County Employees Association, Ron Slaven, spoke to the board and said your employees are here today to talk to you. I hope you will be available.

Mr. Slaven said that this is the first time the employees have turned out and let their presence be known. He said we are asking that Yuba County Employees be brought up to the same median income as other like counties. One of the issues is that the county pays half of the employees retirement and the employee pays the other half. For the last few years the employees have been paying part of the county's requirement.
