

The 18th Annual Marysville Peach Festival

Marysville, Ca.

The City of Marysville will once again welcome more than 25,000 locals and visitors as the historic town hosts the 18th Annual Marysville Peach Festival, July 14 and 15 this summer.

Admission -- and parking -- for this blocks-long street fair is free.

Marysville, once the third largest city in California when it was the gateway to the gold fields, enjoyed a second Gold Rush a century later when it produced half of all the canned peaches in the world. The golden fruit is still grown in its many varieties, by local family farms and larger companies alike.

What began as a small street event in 1999, is now a two-day festival known around and beyond California, featuring ever more inventive ways for visitors to savor the flavor of the luscious fruit. Fresh peaches, peach ice cream, cobblers and pies, shakes and smoothies, candies, sodas, peach-basted barbecue are just a few of the foods that will be offered. Other vendors will be displaying non-edible peach products, and there will be a variety of peachy games, rides and children's amusements.

Live entertainment on the Festival Stage at 6th and D Streets will include performances by Guilty Again, The Ray Allen Band, and Tijuana Taxi. The seventh annual Tasty Treat Challenge at St. John's, 8th and D Streets, will showcase pies, pastries and preserves with entry fees for competitors going to benefit the local community food and clothing program Loaves & Britches.

Returning to the festival this year, the Miss Peach Festival All Natural "inner beauty" pageant.

Also scheduled: a peaches and pancake breakfast and 5K Run/Walk, on Saturday morning.

This year's festival is scheduled for Friday, July 14 from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday, July 15 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

More information about the 2017 Marysville Peach Festival may be found on the official website, www.marysvillepeachfest.com. Those interested in being a sponsor or vendor are invited to contact the City's event coordinator, Shannon Carroll, at (530) 749-3954 or via e-mail at scarroll@marysville.ca.us.

Yuba Sutter Arts Honored at California Nonprofits Day

Marysville, Ca. – On Wednesday, June 28, Yuba Sutter Arts was honored as a Nonprofit of the Year at a celebration of California Nonprofits Day at the State Capitol in Sacramento.

Yuba Sutter Arts was selected by Senator Jim Nielsen as an exceptional nonprofit organization in his District #4 district community. Yuba Sutter Arts joined nearly one hundred other nonprofit leaders from across the state that were honored at the annual California Nonprofits Day event, formally recognized by Assembly Concurrent Resolution 54, authored by the chair of the new Assembly Select Committee on the Nonprofit Sector, Assemblywoman Monique Limon (D-Santa Barbara).

Yuba Sutter Arts, established in 1981, exists to expand artistic awareness of and engagement in the arts throughout the community. It works to ensure the highest quality and widest variety of arts and cultural activities so that the region can experience art every day and to recognize the arts in the everyday.

"While never expected, recognition of this sort is very much appreciated. We are extremely pleased to have been honored by Senator Nielsen as his designated Nonprofit of the Year," said David Read, Yuba Sutter Arts' Executive Director.

The award recipients were honored at a luncheon at Sac-

David Read, Executive Director Y/S Arts, Senator Jim Nielsen and Abbie Cesena Managing Director

ramento's Convention Center with welcomes from Assembly Speaker Anthony Rendon, Assembly member Limon, and Jan Masaoka, CEO of the California Association of Nonprofits. California Attorney General, Xavier Becerra, also spoke to the gathered honorees and their legislators.

"Nonprofit organizations are vitally important to the economy and well-being of California. But too often nonprofits are 'hidden in plain sight.' We are thrilled that the State Assembly has passed a resolution for the second year in a row that puts the spotlight on nonprofits as an economic power that uses that power for the common good. We congratulate all of the award recipients on being honored for the great work they do every day to make California a better place," said Jan Masaoka, CEO of California Association of Nonprofits, a statewide alliance of over 10,000 organizations, representing and promoting California's growing nonprofit sector and working to bring the full power of nonprofits to strengthening communities.

Homeless Woes Worsen

by Lou Binninger

A town hall meeting last week in Sutter County Supervisor Matt Conant's district attracted some angry constituents. Homeless people living along the river are vandalizing businesses on Burns Drive and causing havoc in the Shanghai Bend subdivision. Conant's constituents came and left frustrated and confused about what is being done.

County Administrator Scott Mitnick was there, but his mind was in Thousand Oaks, Ventura County, where he resides. He repeatedly inserted 'Thousand Oaks' when referring to Yuba City / Sutter County. Mitnick joins a growing number of county and city administrators and employees that are good enough to get the job here but too good to live here. It's getting old.

Mitnick instructed the sheriff's department to not cite or arrest the homeless but shew them into the river bottoms until he comes up with a plan. One lady interviewed by KCRA News said she had been residing in her camp along the river for 7 years. She said she liked living down there.

It's amazing when people feel entitled to live wherever they wish even when the property doesn't belong to them. There are limits though. Yuba County District Attorney Pat McGrath sent a lady to prison that moved her family into a fully furnished Olivehurst home while the owner was away. A 'meth' perspective convinced the inmate that if she claimed the house then it was hers. McGrath didn't see it that way.

Hundreds of thousands of Sutter County dollars have already been spent for hotel rooms to cure homelessness and cleaning-up the river bottom area only to have it trashed once again. Neither Sutter nor Yuba County leaders have discovered how to get these 'victims' to pick-up after themselves.

Mitnick, consultants and the supervisors will jump off the same cliff Yuba County did, but of course they will spend more money and kick it up a notch. Rumors are flying about sacrificing the newly renovated Sutter County Sheriffs Training Center along the airport to add yet another shelter.

How many shelters will it take until social service workers do their miracle to empty them? Since we have been funding these county departments for more than a hundred years just what have they been up to until now?

The Pension Heist

by Lou Binninger

Yuba-Sutter and its cities are going broke from pension and health care debt while the general funds are depleted to bail-out a corrupt, flawed and horribly managed California Public Employees Retirement System (CalPERS). CalSTRS for teachers has the same terminal condition.

Yuba County Administrator Robert Bendorf's latest suggestion to add a 1% sales tax for an employee benefit bail-out is like the SF Giants correcting their lousy play by raising ticket prices. The state pension system is an insult and a rip-off to private sector workers and other taxpayers paying for it.

Citizens are sick of being shafted by self-dealing politicians who run short of money for infrastructure and public services and then dump the responsibility back on the citizens. When local government employees make $100,000 to over $400,000 annually, continue to get most of it in retirement, and then suggest raising taxes with a straight face there is a seared conscience.

Both counties' supervisors provided fantastic increases in wages and employee benefits when they were rolling in money due to the construction boom and the dot.com bubble in the early 2000's. Yuba County Supervisors were so euphoric they nearly doubled their own pay/benefits to $80,000 annually. They took credit for the boom, but blamed others for the eventual bust.

Yuba County not only increased employee pay but did so retroactive to the date of hire spiking some long-time employee income by thousands a month. Of course, those increases carried on into guaranteed pensions.

Sutter County Supervisors raised the pension percentage from 2% to 2.7% in August 2004. In 2001, there was a $28,707,894 surplus in the county's retirement fund. Today, there is a debt of $150 million according to Auditor-Controller Nathan Black.

If CalPERS earns 3.25 percent on investments using 2015 figures every Yuba County household owes $14,490 each to pay-off the pension debt. However, CalPERS earned just 2.4 percent in 2014-15 and 0.6 percent in 2015-16. If the system is not earning more than 7.5% all jurisdictions must make supplemental payments to the fund. Taxpayers were lied to, deceived and defrauded by local and state politicians.

Yuba County is in poorer shape than other local jurisdictions. Sutter County owes $7493 per household, Yuba City $9676 and Marysville $9113.

When thinking about CalPERS being trusted with the public's pension money versus the private sector think about the alphabet soup of government agencies. Which one is well-managed?

Learn to Fish for Kokanee with Pro Guide Captain James Netzel

The Rooster Tails Fishing Club monthly breakfast will be held at the Auburn Elks Lodge at 195 Pine Street in Auburn on July 21. This event is open to club members, spouses, and non-member guests. Doors to the Lodge will open at 7:00 a.m. to share fresh brewed coffee. A fantastic $13 wide-selection buffet breakfast is served at 8:00 am followed by a 9:00 am guest speaker, Pro Fishing Guide, James Netzel, owner of Tightlines Guide Service, who will give a special presentation on his new and proven successful approach to fishing for Kokanee. This will be an informative presentation you don't want to miss. Plan on arriving early to speak to James one-on-one.

James has been fishing since he was able to hold a fishing rod and specializes in King Salmon, Stripers, Kokanee, Trout, Land Locked King Salmon, and Mackinaw on the Sacramento River, Folsom Lake, Oroville Lake, Stampede Reservoir, Donner Lake, Lake Tahoe, and the Sacramento Delta. His goal is to allow his clients to sit back, relax, and enjoy themselves while he does whatever it takes to help create an enjoyable memory that will last a lifetime.

Unlike the recreational angler, state licensed pro fishing guides like James are independent entrepreneurs that have invested thousands of dollars in their guideboats, fishing electronics, top-shelf tackle, and have virtually hundreds of hours perfecting their fish catching expertise. James provides quality equipment from Shimano and Abu Garcia reels, to Lamiglas and Shimano rods with the latest in electronics. He runs 2 boats for different applications, a 2014 23' Rouge Chinook with 225hp tiller-model sled for rivers and the Delta and a 2006 22' Boulton Pro Sea Skiff with 225hp engine, which is equipped to run 4 downriggers for lakes.

James holds something that is very important to him, which is for us to remember and honor our veterans for the sacrifices they made for us. If you see James boat on the water flying an American flag, that means he has a veterans on board. Be sure to stop-by and say, "Thank you for your service," to the veterans he is providing guiding. James is an active supporter of Purple Heart Anglers, a non-profit organization founded in 2009 to help aid in the healing of disabled veterans through fishing and hunting trips. James provides a $50 discount to any military veteran for a guided fishing trip.

The 30 year old, 200+ members Rooster Tails Fishing Club of Northern California, Inc. is a non-profit organization that meets the third Friday of each month to educate, entertain, and enhance fishing experience. Unlike many bass and fly fishing clubs that concentrate on very specific types of fishing, the Rooster Tails Fishing Club provides a balanced mix of fishing techniques presented by fishing experts targeting a variety of fish species on multiple types of waters. For more information contact Jim, Club Chairman, at 530-887-0479 or visit the club's web site at www.roostertailsfishing-club.org.

Former Yuba City Bears Player Charged

Yuba City, Ca. Yuba Sutter Community Baseball has just been informed of the allegations regarding former Yuba City Bears pitcher, Tyler Minton. As an organization, we have a 'no-tolerance' policy against allegations such as this. The allegation and charge of rape stems from an incident in February. Twenty-year old Tyler Minton has been released on his own recognizance and is not scheduled for his first court appearance until August 2nd.

"It is a major disappointment to me personally, and my two daughters who think the world of Ty. It is very hard to comprehend that he would do something like this; but none of us were there to witness the crime. We as an organization just recently became aware of this as it surfaced in the community. At that point in time, he had already been released from the team. If the allegations are true, our heart goes out to the family. Either way, multiple reputations have been damaged." says VP/GM Michael Mink.

"I have never had any issues or concerns with Mr. Minton. It's troubling all the way around; if it finds to be true, it's a terrible situation -- and if it isn't -- someone's reputation has been ruined."

says Bears Head Coach, Jeremy Gillen.

As we are aware, this incident occurred in February of 2017, and because there was no information or charges pressed, Minton was signed to play for the Bears.

Minton was released from the Yuba City Bears on June 22 following an arm injury, and officially pulled off of the roster. During the game against the Lincoln Potters, he went 0.1 with 5 runs, 5 earned runs, 2 hits, 3 walks, and 0 strikeouts.

We would like to reiterate that the Yuba City Bears Baseball Club and Yuba Sutter Community Baseball have a 'no-tolerance' policy on matters such as this, had we known about these prior allegations, the actions that we took with this player would have been drastically different.

Our thoughts are with the victims of these allegations.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

We had several inquiries the past couple of weeks about fishing in the local rivers. One question, asked by two new neighbors to our areas pertained to what is available to fish for when the runs, such as striper, shad and the upcoming opening of salmon season on July 16th end.

The first phone call last week was about the end of the striper run. I advised there were what we call resident striped bass in the Feather River year round. All an angler needs to do is find where they hang out. We also talked about small mouth bass and advised these fish can be found in parts of the river which give them cover and security. You will find them in deep holes, in debris along the banks, such as fallen trees and old tree stumps under the water and in quiet areas under cut banks where the current slows down or where then can swim from cover and grab food as it passes by.

The second message came into my email basket and was asking about catfish. I advised that catfish make their homes in all the local rivers. The channel cat is the most abundant but there are other species as well, such as the bullhead and so on. Feeder streams or ditches usually will hold catfish as well as the feisty crappie. These fish, along with the bass will find food and still water in any water which flows into any river.

Count Me In For Coffee

Yuba City, CA: You are invited to participate in the Yuba City Police Department's first COUNT me in for coffee event scheduled for Wednesday, July 26th at 9am. What does COUNT stand for? It stands for Community Outreach Uniting our Neighbors Together. With that in mind, the Yuba City Police Department would like an opportunity to sit down with community members over a cup of coffee and discuss any issues and concerns they may have. The event is being held at the Bank of Feather River in Yuba City and space will be limited. If you are interested in attending this event, please contact Community Policing Coordinator, Katy Goodson at (530)822-4725 or kgoodson@yubacity.net. There is no cost for the event, but you must preregister by July 24th in order to attend.

Sponsored by the Yuba City Police Department, Bank of Feather River, and Clark Ave. Coffee.

Another local fish which stays in the river system year round is the Sacramento Pike or also known as a Squawfish. These fish are scavengers and feed off the bottom of the rivers. They also feed on fish eggs, also called roe and according to studies by the California Department of Fish and Wildlife they eat a tremendous amount of striped bass and salmon eggs which includes sturgeon roe. The Department says we should kill those we catch. The only problem with this rule is striped bass, catfish and other species also feed on fish eggs. In fact, we have been catching trout in streams on salmon eggs and steelhead on roe (which is another species of the trout family which move into river each year) for as long as I can remember.

The Shad run also brings in these ocean fish and usually happens around the last of April or into May. I was taught that when the cottonwood puffs fall from the trees and can be seen floating on the surface of the water this means the shad are here or about to come on strong.

It is important to advise new people in the Yuba Sutter area who fish just how lucky we are to have so many rivers, streams, lakes and reservoirs available for catching fish and to tell them where to go, what kind of bait to use and what species of fish are in the water. After all, strength comes in numbers. We need all the support we can get when it comes to new fishing regulations we do not agree with or consider ridiculous.

Closing thought: "If you know you can do better.....then do better."

Long Bar (Part 3)

by Roberta D’Arcy (A member of the Yuba County Historic Resource Commission)

Browns Valley, Ca.
As life continued into the 1860’s on the wild North banks of the Yuba River, people were born, got married, made their fortune or not, and eventually died as Jacob Hoss did, never making it back home. People were now able to cross the river from

Long Bar to Kennebec Bar on the South side on a ferry which had been built in 1850. A Post Office had opened on April 18, 1854. Originally known as the Dry Creek Post Office it became the Long Bar Post Office on April 9, 1858 and was discontinued on June 22, 1864. Sometime in the early 1850’s a grammar school was established though the original location is uncertain. By 1879 the school had 17 children in the district, 14 of which attended the school. A male teacher earned $82 yearly and a female earned $67.

Hydraulic mining was looked to as a solution for finding gold as it was becoming ever more elusive. Five miles of ditches brought water from Dry Creek to Long Bar since to mine hydraulically depended on a steady supply of water. No restrictions on water use existed. It was viewed as akin to air, anyone could use as much of it as he liked. Miners and investors gave little thought as to what was happening downstream when massive streams of water shot through giant hoses at hills and riverbanks deposited silt, gravel, and even whole trees downstream.

Miners, worried about the increasing difficulty of making a living finding gold, had short fuses and riled easily. The headline of the Marysville Appeal for December 11, 1860 says “Murder In A Dance Hall”. Dutch John was knifed to death at Long Bar, “he died quickly, his only weapon his fists”. The article expressed puzzlement at the behavior of Long Bar residents, that “ they allowed the perpetrator (Everett) to escape was very strange and discreditable. A very small exertion of manliness would have sufficed to prevent his escape.” Sheriff Middleton of Butte County arrested Everett three days later in Chico. He was brought to Oroville for the murder of Hungarian John (some confusion on nationality!), on to Marysville and finally to proceedings at Long Bar. He was described as” young and prepossessing in appearance and looks but little like a man who would perpetrate so dreadful a deed.” Justice was swift; he was sentenced to die.

Possibly the small towns, farms and ranches, and mining bars would have survived the hydraulic debris longer if it had not been for the massive storms of 1861-1862. Beginning in mid December it rained for 43 days. What is now called an atmospheric river was followed by a modern day pineapple express. 100 Chinese miners drowned at Long Bar and Owsley’s Bar. Nearly all the bridges on the Yuba were swept away, thousands of head of livestock were lost, houses and towns broken up and sent tumbling down river. Both Marysville and Yuba City flooded. William Brewer writing in the Scientific American describes a great sheet of brown rippling water extending from the Coast Range to the Sierras. Called a megaflood, the muddy silt filled water remained in Sacramento, Marysville, and Yuba City up to three months. Thousands of people lost their lives in the Central Valley. Interestingly, few Native Americans died. The Indians living along the banks of the rivers moved to higher ground a week before the rain began after warning the “whites” that water was coming as “high as the trees”.

PG&E, Wheatland Little League Partner on Ball Park Improvements

As another season of spring baseball wrapped up, the Wheatland Little League held a closing ceremony earlier this month to celebrate the season and new improvements to its home ballpark. New bleachers, shade structures, dugouts and netting were recently installed at Tom Abe Field as part of PG&E gas safety efforts in the Wheatland community. PG&E also worked with the city of Wheatland and its little league to plant new trees near the outfield.

“The work done at Tom Abe Memorial Field is more than we imagined and could have hoped for,” said Alisha Parker, Wheatland Little League president. “Thank you PG&E for providing our community with more than our league could have ever done, for caring about the children’s safety and making them proud of their park.”

PG&E’s Community Pipeline Safety Initiative is focused on working with customers and communities to improve first responder safety access to natural gas transmission pipelines. When items like trees, sheds and other structures are located too close to the pipeline, they can delay safety crews from accessing the pipeline in an emergency, when every second counts. That is why PG&E worked with the city and its little league to ensure these items are located at a safe distance and restore the area.

“PG&E was pleased to partner with the Wheatland Little League and the city of Wheatland on this important gas safety work,” said John Costa, PG&E local public affairs representative. “We hope the community enjoys the ball park improvements for many years to come.”

Rebecca Wallace Art Gallery Opening Reception

Yuba-Sutter Chamber of Commerce Member Ribbon Cutting

Marysville, Ca. – Yuba Sutter Arts is pleased to serve up a "double-header" of art and commerce on Thursday, July 13th starting at 5:00pm. Artist and Yuba College Art Instructor, Rebecca Wallace, will talk about her new gallery show titled "Fragmentation" and the Yuba-Sutter Chamber of Commerce team will help Yuba Sutter Arts with a grand re-opening and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for its recently refurbished offices and main art gallery.

Rebecca trained at San Francisco State and California College of the Arts, earning a Master of Fine Arts in painting and drawing. She has been in numerous group exhibitions in the North State in addition to curating a showing of her Yuba College students' work as part of Yuba Sutter Arts' "Art Everywhere program." Rebecca also displayed several of her own works in our main gallery as part of a comprehensive Yuba College Faculty Art Showa and was part of the inaugural "Art, Wine and Wickets" event in April

Recently, Rebecca was the lead artist and mentor for Yuba Sutter Arts' Arts in Corrections "Color Up" recidivism reduction program. We worked with the Yuba County Juvenile Justice department to provide art training to juvenile offenders during their incarceration. Rebecca developed the curriculum for the twelve week program and worked with the young people to create large format murals.

"The concept of fragmentation and longing has been a steady thread throughout my work, especially how the fragment can function to recall the idea of the whole and at times become bigger than that from which it came," said Rebecca. "I am interested in creating spaces within my work that continue to expand providing symbolic inner and outer worlds representing the real and unreal," she added.

And then, the Yuba-Sutter Chamber of Commerce will conduct a Ribbon Cutting Ceremony (yes, including those really big, super-sized scissors to cut the giant ribbon!) to celebrate Yuba Sutter Arts renovated office and gallery complex. These ceremonies are a lot of fun and bring together business and civic leaders for an evening of camaraderie and support for businesses and nonprofits like Yuba Sutter Arts throughout the region. The Chamber's mission is "to support and promote innovative business solutions in order to grow a strong local economy and enrich our community's quality of life." By all accounts, Rikki Shaffer and her team do a great job delivering on that promise and have always been extremely supportive of Yuba Sutter Arts.

ally obvious but not always. Sometimes people see no reason to change and therein lies the most difficult part of altering paths.

For example, suppose an investor loses millions using a trading strategy that repeatedly fails. Or an overeater gets a note from his Dr. their blood pressure is too high and cholesterol is through the roof. In both examples, the need for change is obvious. But many times the need for change can be obscured. Ego can make change an admission of failure. Not an option for a person with a high ego. Addiction can mask the reason for change through chemical or mental euphoric and reoccurring "hits", making any change not only undesirable but possibly painful because of the nature of withdrawal. A lack of will power might be to blame or perhaps external conditions such as finances or even incarceration might also make change impossible. The list is endless.

But the meaningful and willful positive changes in one's life that are controllable, doable and deliberate can be rewarding in many ways. Financial changes can result in less debt and more income. Changes that address addictions can make for a happier and healthier life. Changes in lifestyle, career, residency or peer groups may make for better outcomes in the long run. Again the list is endless as are the positives from making such change.

Realizing there is need for change is step one. Regardless of what you think you need, like, require or are addicted to, taking a step backwards and being honest with yourself and your particular situation is required in order to change.

The need for change is not always self-realized. Others might drop hints, make suggestions or bring up the issue directly either through honest conversation or even the radical and often last resort of "intervention".

No matter where you are or think you are, reoccurring negative outcomes and consequences are signs that perhaps something needs to change, and at least being open to the conversation with yourself is the beginning of possible change. If friends or family are making comments or even being ignore entirely, that could also be a red flag that perhaps something needs to change in your life.

Is it ever too late to change?

Arguably no. Eventually a change in direction albeit late in a cycle will yield at least some results. The sooner you make a change, assuming it's a positive one, the sooner you will begin seeing positive results. Even change late in the proverbial game will likely help something.

Unfortunately there are things in life that cannot be undone as that is the way the world works. Some things are permanent. You just can't go back and undo them.

But I am of the belief, no matter whether it's financial, personal, medical or what have you, the willingness to change does yield some kind of result, even if it's just the improving the self-respect of the individual making that change.

Regardless of whether it's early, right on time or even very late, the saying "it's never too late to change" may be a concept we should grasp tightly and never let go.

It brings to mind something I heard once somewhere: "God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference" (Reinhold Niebuhr (1892-1971).

Being a financial columnist, I will sum this up by saying it is never too late to change investing strategies. Better late than never certainly applies to revising a financial strategy that isn't working. The longer you wait, the less money you will make by going to a more successful plan. And it goes without saying, the longer the wait to make a change, the more money you will likely lose.

Transformers: The Last Knight

Starring: Mark Wahlberg, Anthony Hopkins, and Josh Duhamel. Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 149 minutes.

Years after two factions of sentient alien robots come to Earth and battle for supremacy one launches himself into space to destroy his creator. His creator has other plans. Meanwhile back on good old Terra Firma the US government in all of its wisdom decides to aid the alien faction that tried to rule over the earth and in doing so betrays the fellow that saved a city by running a bomb out of the city despite being in the company of many giant robots that could have cleared the distance in seconds. The last thing they would think of is calling and asking if they could join forces with someone that didn't try to enslave all of humanity. But then what would be the fun in that?

This latest and far from last installment of the Transformer series has some good elements that save an overall shoddily constructed story. It takes true courage and scholarship to tell a factual based tale of King Arthur and Merlin the Wizard. The acting is not bad and the effects are great. Some new characters are fun to watch and have engaging story arcs.

Transformers: The Last Knight, earns three out of five, Trunk Riding Monkeys. This movie is worth seeing on Discount Tuesdays. Unless you are a rabid fan of giant robot dinosaurs then you have already watched this movie on an illegal web site and five times in the theater and were not disappointed. For the rest of us not suffering from hydrophobia it is better to wait until Tuesday and wait in the popcorn line long enough for your expectations to drop. (You will have more than enough time to wait in the popcorn line. Bring a book.)

Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

We learned more about the Grand Jury system this week as one of the jury members brought a copy of Yuba County's 2016 – 2017 Grand Jury Final Report in to Books & More. This copy is for your perusal.

One can apply to be on a Grand Jury for a year to help investigate the workings and politics of Yuba County. This year the group investigated Yuba County Jail, Tri-County At Risk Youth, Wheatland High School, and Sutter Yuba Behavioral Health Facility. If you have a complaint about a Yuba County facility, there is a form in the report that you can use. The more we get involved with our local happenings the more we can do to help improve our communities. We believe that if you are going to make a difference, you have to get involved.

On Saturday, July 15th come stroll through the Chestnut Grove in Brownsville and check out the rows of classic cars. This car show benefits Autism Speaks. Gates will be open from 10 – 3 and admission is free to the public. The Chestnut Grove is located at 8979 LaPorte Rd in Brownsville.

Kyle Ledson will be performing at the Chestnut Grove on Saturday, July 22nd from 6 -8 pm, the gate will open at 4:30. Prepaid reservations required and tickets are $20. For information or tickets contact Kathy Fletcher at 530-743-7979, kathyfletcher@syix.com or www.thechestnutgrove.com. Food and beverage will be sold at the event.

Don't forget the Ice Cream Socials at Yuba Feather Museum: July 16 and July 29. Stone Soup is going well; good salad, soup, and dessert served each Thursday at noon for a $3.00 donation.

Look Back in Time – In 1910 A. H. Ermatinger took a load of lumber to Honcut and will haul a load of hay for Ruff & Ermatinger's logging camp at Scales (we think Ray and wife still live in Bangor but he is not cutting lumber any more).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Homeless Woes Worsen

The Second Street area in Yuba City is already in chaos between the homeless running amuck along the levee and the controversy with the airport being out of compliance with the FAA (Federal Aviation Administration). Twin Cities Rod and Gun Club is now paying $338 / month versus $10 annually for its range to help the county follow FAA rules. All the while, the club faces ongoing vandalism and members report illegally parked recreational vehicles now residing adjacent to them and the airport.

How will this all turn out? George Mason University Economics Professor Walter Williams says whatever is subsidized will grow and whatever is taxed will shrink. Poster cities for this approach are San Francisco (SF) and Los Angeles (LA) where the spending on the homeless has spiked along with the street people population.

SF spent $241 million in 2015-16, $275 million in 2016-17 and $305 million in 2017-18 to 'conquer' homelessness. But in 2016 the liberal San Francisco Chronicle ran a front page editorial declaring the city's efforts a failure.

The number of SF homeless on an average night was estimated at about 7,500 in January 2015. By late 2016, city officials' estimate was up to about 10,000, with some homeless advocates saying the number was closer to 12,000. The Chronicle's editorial took the side of those who argue that these numbers were on the low side.

LA budgeted $100 million for 2015-16 and $138 million in 2016-17. In 2016, voters approved $1.2 billion in bonds to build houses for homeless. However, in spite of the generosity with the public's money, the average number of those homeless on any night according to city tracking has gone up by nearly two-thirds. In 2015, the average number was 21,338. In 2016, it was 28,464. In 2017, so far the number has grown by 18 percent to 34,189.

For those Yuba-Sutter law-abiding citizens who pay for services, they see their community overrun while law enforcement stands down. No longer can you walk, fish, or bike the river. The region has been surrendered to people packing weapons and under the influence of drugs, drink, and demons. Meanwhile, most of the city and county aristocrats carry-on comfortably away from the fray.

The Pension Heist

CalPERS is unconcerned with profits because its decision-making is first political and investments politically correct.

Add to the mix the criminals at the helm. The estate of the late Alfred Villalobos must pay the State of California $20 million to settle charges of bribing CalPERS officials.

According to John Coupal, "Before his death from a self-inflicted gunshot wound, Villalobos pled guilty to bribing CalPERS officials to make investments through him, which allowed him to earn about $50 million in commissions. The former CalPERS CEO Fred Buenrostro also pled guilty to criminal charges for accepting bribes."

"That this criminal activity could take place in a major state agency is troubling on a number of levels. First, it puts at risk the security of thousands of government workers who will depend on funds from CalPERS when they retire. Second, that this bribery conspiracy went on for a number of years, without being discovered, raises the troubling question: What else don't we know? And taxpayers, as well as the workers contributing toward their pensions, have a right to ask if the $20 million settlement even comes close to compensating them for their loss which appears to be at least $30 million more."

It is clear that Villalobos and his co-conspirators' self-dealing hand-in-the-till government way fits into the widely-held image of insiders dishonestly taking care of themselves at the expense of the general public.

Since the late 1960s when government employees unionized, all pay and benefits negotiations have occurred out of public sight with no one representing the taxpayer. Politicians and unions continue to take care of each other leaving the tab with the citizens.

At some point taxpayers not only must say "No, but hell no!"

Your One Minute News Digest

by Don Rae

• Congress is considering forbidding folks from complaining about low-income housing projects invading their neighborhoods. Really? Politicians, you can pass such a law but you'll feel the backlash like you can't imagine.

• Instead of the stupidity in Washington, Maxine Waters should be forced to live next to low-income housing instead of her mansion in the richest zip code in America.

• Representative Adam Schiff, a California Democrat, still spouts Russian collusion with absolutely no evidence of any kind. Schiff is a liar.

• Environmentalists must offer up scary scenarios in order to keep their "charity" contributions coming so their paychecks will keep coming. To cite just one example of how things are evolving in that field, in 1970 Kenneth Watt told college students that "The world has been chilling for about 20 years and if present trends continue, the world will be about 4 degrees colder in 1990...and 11 degrees colder by 2000, about twice as much as it would take to put us in another ice age." Whoops.

• According to a new study by some odd-ball Pediatrician, breastfeeding is not natural. Of course some insane feminists are chortling for joy. So, how did women some 100,000 years ago get their Similac?

• Shakespeare in the Park (Washington D.C.) is nothing more than a hate crime playing nightly. Where are the usual fake news agitators?

• The Pride Parade included signs proclaiming "No ban; no wall." Mixing Pride with Immigration?

• The Democrats are saying virtually nothing about folks who speak and write about killing the President. But some, like Pocahontas and Pelosi, jump up to the legislative podium and claim that a Health Care Bill will kill hundreds of thousands.

• In the Associated Press story on the gigantic water tunnels Moonbeam has on tap, the author says whales will be hurt. Seen any whales in the aqueduct heading for Hollywood?

• If the press were honest, there would be few access restrictions on reporters. Unfortunately, and inappropriately, the media has been highly selective and biased in its reporting for decades – especially before cable held their feet to the fire. Consider the press never showing FDR in his wheelchair or trying to walk unattended. Consider that JFK's womanizing was never reported. The same lack of reporting of LBJ's peccadilloes. Do you see any common thread in these examples? When the press becomes even handed, perhaps they will be more respected.

• Some folks seem to believe that their Pit Bulls are being unfairly singled out for criticism. Unfortunately this breed was developed for fighting in the ring. They are not appropriate for human companionship. Ever hear of a Cocker Spaniel ripping someone apart?

• Watching and listening to the government "experts" pontificating about the safety of dams reminds us that government experts allowed sub-divisions to be built in the middle of flood zones. Campaign money from property owners who were looking for a quick buck greased the skids. Can you guess who'll be holding the bag in the event of a disaster?

• The new Special Counsel has a real task ahead. He's hired dozens of leftist lawyers to assist him in proving a negative. Good luck with that one.

• The snowflakes on CNN are crying crocodile tears about Trump slamming them. Of course, they have been doing the same to Trump and company ever since he became a candidate. What's good for the goose is good for the gander. If you can't take the heat, quit your bitching and find a safe space and a blankie. Oh, and don't forget the pacifier.

• The "deep state" leakers managed to unhinge the relationship between the US Intelligence agencies and those of the Brits. There is nothing these clowns will consider sacred so long as they can attack the present administration. They are seditious swamp critters who not only need to lose their jobs but to be put in prison on bread and water for some considerable length of time. Drain the swamp.

• AC-Pro commercial shows a dog knowing more than an adult male. Another example of the liberal "entertainment" demeaning men.

• Oregon has decided it is God. It now recognizes 3 genders. A number of Oregonians have also decided that Californians should not be allowed to live in Oregon. If you have a California license plate, watch out. For decades this attitude has been visible in the Pacific Northwest. Ask any fisherman about vandalism of California cars on the Oregon and Washington rivers.

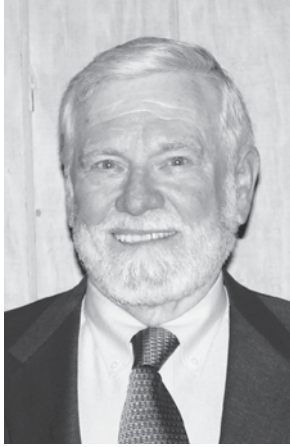

• In July 1888 Bennett, Colorado, recorded a temperature of 118. Even if this record is suspect because of its age, Las Animas (1933) and Sedgewick (1954) registered 114. In the so-called CO2 induced global warming, has Bennett or these other Colorado towns ever seen a higher reading?

• The problem with public toilets in San Francisco is not that a homeless person may use it. It is because the homeless homestead it and others are left in the lurch. Unless you have a porta-potty in your vehicle, it is best to avoid San Francisco.

• Transgender activists are now demanding that males who will not date transgender males (who have decided they are female) should be hounded into re-education camps. When will this crazy Nazi behavior stop?

• The Democrats can't do anything with the electoral college or impeachment, so they are now trying to use the 25th Amendment to the Constitution to derail Trump. They are going to try to get a commission organized to determine if Trump is a mental case. These ridiculous clowns will do anything to get their power back.

• A Black female police officer was assassinated by a Black male last week. Remember "Black Lives Matter" marching while chanting that they wanted dead police officers? Remember Hillary supporting BLM? Remember Obama inviting BLM to the White House?

From Wikipedia: The concept of a "Deep State" suggests that there exists a coordinated effort by career government employees and others to influence state policy without regard for democratically elected leadership. This has also been used in American political science to refer to entrenched government institutions wielding power, without necessarily implying a conspiracy. "Draining the Swamp": Trump likely drew his inspiration for the phrase from President Reagan's call to "drain the swamp" of bureaucracy in Washington and cleanse Washington of political insiders who are out of touch with ordinary Americans. This also includes the "News Media" that are now a part of the entrenched Leftist/Liberal movement.

When Bill Clinton became president in 1992 one of the very first things he did was to clean out all of the appointed bureaucrats left over from President Reagan and George H. Bush. He then replaced them with his own people, mostly leftist and liberal. This was a very normal and reasonable practice for a newly elected President of the United States. However; President George W. Bush chose to make changes only in Federal Judges and little more; thus giving the leftist "Deep State" eight more years.

George W. Bush, Donald Trump and the "Deep State"

by John Mistler

Note: George W. Bush was not one to stand up for his policies and defend his decisions. This lack of leadership hurt the Republican Party for eight years. If the president will not defend his policies and fight for what he believes it is difficult for other elected's to defend the fight. His behavior led to the Democrats, News Media/Fake News and entrenched bureaucrats ability to define George Bush. Based on their behavior at the presidential election the Bush family, George H., George W. and Jeb, have more than their toe invested in the "Swamp"

When Obama became president he continued to berate President Bush and his policies, with no response from Bush, further hurting the Republican Party and defining the Bush administration. President Obama replaced Federal Judges and tinkered with or adjusted his leftist appointments. At the end of President Obama's eight years the entrenched bureaucrats, "Deep State", now twenty-four years in place, were well positioned to wreak havoc with the new President Trump's agenda. You do not and will not see Barack Obama relinquish the power of the presidency; so much for a smooth transition of power, the one thing that separates us from most other countries.

Now we have the non-politically correct President Trump. He is faced with opposition from the Democrats, News Media/Fake News, elitist Republicans and the "Deep State", yet he is out maneuvering all of them. Through his use of Twitter he is bypassing the "Fake News" and at the same time "Draining that part of the Swamp" also bringing his unfiltered thoughts directly to the public. Without his presidency we would not know how well entrenched the "Deep State" is.

The effort over decades to make speech "Politically Correct" is censorship. When President Trump speaks unfiltered through Twitter, he is not being politically correct and his enemies go "Nuts" trying to control him with terms of "Not Presidential", "No Class" and many more demeaning charges. Though his Tweets sometimes make us cringe, he usually gets it right.

President Trump knows we are in a fight for the very heart and soul of our nation, this is not a game. The Republican Party has not had a Junkyard Dog since Lee Atwater while the Democrats have a whole kennel full. President Trump is a fighter and will not allow himself to be defined by his enemies.

The Doors Are Wide Open For California Election Corruption

Ruth Weiss, Director of Education and Training

Yuba City, Ca.

The Sutter Buttes Tea Party Patriots announced Ruth Weiss, Election Integrity Project (EIP) Director of Education and Training and the Sutter County Registrar of Voters, Donna Johnston, will be Guest Speakers for their Monday, July 17, 2017 meeting.

The Election Integrity Project (EIP) seeks to preserve a government of, by, and for the people. As a nonpartisan organization, the Election Integrity Project empowers citizen volunteers, through education and training, to participate actively in protecting our freedoms and way of life.

Ruth Weiss, Director of Education and Training, will address concerns about the Vote Center model of elections. The main concern is that the opportunity for public oversight is greatly reduced. She will also discuss a plan for modifying the EIP model of observation to fit the new situation and talk about how to build a team that will be effective, and how individuals can protect their own vote.

Sutter County Registrar of Voters, Donna Johnston, will give an informative presentation on Senate Bill 450. Sutter County has been selected as a pilot county for vote by mail only Vote Centers and same day registration and voting for the June 2018 Gubernatorial Election. Her presentation will address the new laws and regulations covering the pilot program in Sutter County. She would like your feedback.

Don't forget— Our regular feature In The News will follow our Special Guest Speakers. The issues of the day will be discussed.

Sierra snowmelt appears to have peaked

Even though there's plenty of snow in the Sierra and plenty of warm weather ahead, state officials say they believe the annual snowmelt has peaked, and should now decline. Central Valley farmers and other landowners have coped with flooding that resulted from the record-setting June heat wave. A state flood-operations specialist says the June heat caused snowmelt runoff to peak, and that any future peaks should be smaller.

Vegetable harvest recovers

After a slow start caused by late-season rain that delayed planting, Salinas Valley vegetable farmers say the 2017 growing season has recovered. Prices rose this spring for lettuce, broccoli, spinach and other vegetables, but have now settled back to levels similar to a year ago. To improve efficiency and maintain their production for the long term, Salinas Valley farmers say they're employing automated planting machines and other new technology.

Fruit, vegetable consumption improves

Americans continue to eat more fruits and vegetables, though consumption remains below what the government recommends in its dietary guidelines. A U.S. Agriculture Department report compared food trends from 1970 and 2014. It found that fruit and vegetable consumption has increased during that period. But Americans eat only about two-thirds of the recommended amount of vegetables, and less than half the recommended fruit

State's field-crop acreage increases

Slightly more field-crop acreage has been planted in California this year, according to government estimates. A new report shows field-crop acreage up about 2 percent in California, though acreage declined slightly nationwide. The report estimates California farmers have planted more corn, cotton, barley, sunflowers and potatoes this year, but they decreased acreage of rice, wheat and oats.

Blessed to be Born in the United States

by Rod Hisken

Those who are involved in the Vintage Tractor hobby find a myriad of ways to enjoy them and share the old machines with others. Following a trip to a third world country I again realized how blessed I am to be born in the United States. I saw many good people working very hard and living in conditions that we would find less than acceptable. Most of the persons involved in the tractor culture are vets, very patriotic, and give the Pledge of Allegiance and include the phrase "Under God" with great passion.

Many of them are the kind of people you would be willing to spend the night in a foxhole with great trust.

When it comes to the Fourth of July celebration it is done so in ways most cannot even imagine. The included picture is just such an occasion. At the throttle is the engineer Jess Gilbertson of Knights Landing assisted by two skilled firemen from Paso Robles. The awesome Best 110 can be seen at the fabulous California Agricultural Museum in Woodland. The tractors came out able to burn wood, straw, or fuel oil thanks the genius of Dan Best. The basic process for the "Fireworks Display" is to shut down the oil input and switch to wood. Build the fire grate with a large supply of charcoal. Throw sawdust over the coals and let it cook for awhile. A loading device such as a Baker Fan is belted up and the throttle is pushed to wide open. The smoke stack draft draws in the fuel, burns quickly, and the cool air coming in draws the saw dust out the stack. A glorious display in the summer night creates a memory to never be forgotten.

The creative mind of Dan Best generated many patents. The upright boiler had many advantages including the ability to go up and down grades maintaining constant pressure. Boiler construction allowed for higher pressures providing more power. Use of fuel oil dramatically reduced the supply problem and was copied by the railroads of the time. Moving the chaff from the back of the harvester to the boiler by use of a conveyor device was inspirational. Using injectors that were modified to enhance the water supply was addressed by Best. The quality of the machines and the improvements opened vistas to other industries besides agricultural en-

Being a man of vision, Dan Best knew the days of steam would not last. The ground compression of the giants, the water and fuel supply, and the cost of the machines were only affordable to large operations were all limiting. Improvements in the internal combustion engine, techniques in reducing gasoline costs, and Rudolf Diesel thoughts and the use of tracks in logging in Maine had the potential to cause dramatic changes

A visit to the California Agricultural Museum in Woodland, the Bolt Museum in Oroville and the purchase of the book "Making Tracks" by Ed and Sue Claessen, Beavers Pond Press is highly recommended.

Hope you had a wonderful 4th of July and be thankful to God that you were given the privilege of being born in America.
