

Forbestown Daze

As the peak days of summer settle over northern California, the historic gold rush town of Forbestown comes alive with its annual community celebration of Forbestown Daze on Saturday, August 5, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Located in the foothills above Oroville, Forbestown is proud of its heritage as the destination for many immigrants from the eastern United States and from foreign lands who came seeking their fortunes among the quartz seams and tall forests of the Sierras in the 1800s.

The day begins with the traditional patriotic raising of our nation's flag at the Yuba Feather Museum and Gold Trader Flat. The hoisting of the Stars and Stripes and playing of the Star Spangled Banner will be conducted by Boy Scout Troop 6400 and local Veterans of Foreign Wars George Steiner Post 10135. Then, throughout this day of "living history," visitors mingle with costumed docents, lawmen and gun fighters in Gold Trader Flat, an interpretive village lovingly constructed by descendants of the early pioneers as well as by more recent transplants. Inside the Museum, curated exhibits display the way people lived and worked during the gold rush era from the expert basketry of the first peoples to the "green gold" of the lumber industry. On the boardwalks and along the streets of Gold Trader Flat, visitors can tour the establishments of a typical gold rush town from chapel to saloon and homestead to hotel while listening to the strains of old time music, sipping ice cold sarsaparilla and filling up with hearty chow.

Our blacksmith Jeb Swart will be turning out his marvels at the forge, Donna Hankins will be peddling her toys and souve-

Family of the Year at the Nevada County Fair

Brad and Alana Fowler have been named the 2017 Family of the Year by the Nevada County Fair's Board of Directors. The Board chose the Fowler Family for their ongoing commitment, participation and volunteer efforts in the livestock program at the Nevada County Fair.

Brad and Alana, who were both born and raised in Nevada County, have been attending the Fair since they were children. Alana started showing animals in 4-H at nine years old and continued through high school in FFA; and Brad showed throughout high school in FFA. Since that time, they've continued to help in the show arenas, volunteer on Treat Street, work in educational booths, assist at the Junior Livestock Auction, set up various displays, and clean barns after the Fair. Today, they spend countless hours in the livestock barns, helping their own children, as well as other youth exhibitors, prepare their animals for the Fair.

The Fowlers, who will celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary this year, have five daughters – Macey, 14; Molly, 12; Morgan, 10; Wendy, 7; and Wyatt, 7. All their children have been involved with livestock since birth, and have been showing and exhibiting at the Fair since they were young. The older girls started with pygmy goats and rabbits and moved to beef and dairy. Their oldest three daughters raise steers for the Junior Livestock Auction, and their youngest daughters entered Mutton Bustin' last year. The girls have each started their own herds of various species, so in addition to bringing steers to the Fair this year, the oldest three girls will also bring some of their own breeding animals, both beef and dairy cattle, to show. The youngest girls help their sisters and have their own animals that will be the foundation for the future livestock they exhibit at the Fair. Additionally, Macey works with several horses during the week, trading for lessons; Molly plays volleyball; and Morgan competes in track.

Not surprisingly, when asked about their favorite memories at the Fair, both share fond memories of their time with the livestock community. "My favorite part of the Fair is watching the Junior Livestock Exhibitors show their animals," says Brad. "Fair is also important to me because I get to see people in the community." Alana echoes his comments. "Fair is like a family vacation with friends and family," she says. "I love to see the livestock exhibitors sharing their knowledge of these animals with families that visit."

When not busy at the Fair, Alana reports that "life outside of Fair is much like Fair." They are self-employed, and for the past 10 years they have sold pasture-raised hogs, turkeys and chickens, as well as grass fed beef, lamb and goat directly to consumers in Nevada County. They also use goats and sheep for fire prevention grazing throughout Nevada, Placer and Yuba counties. Outside of work, the Fowlers are involved with the Nevada County Farm Bureau, the Nevada County Food and Farm Conference, Nevada County 4-H, Nevada County Food Policy Council, and Nevada County Livestock Producers.

"The Fowler's involvement in the livestock community, and their countless hours of volunteering at the Nevada County Fair, embody the community spirit that makes up the Nevada County Fair," said Rea Callender, CEO of the Fairgrounds. "We are thrilled to be able to recognize them as the 2017 Fair Family of the Year."

The Fowler Family will be honored at the Fair's opening ceremony. They will receive a Fair package, as well as a family portrait by Shaffers Originals of Grass Valley. The 2017 Nevada County Fair is August 9 – 13.

Jefferson Meeting Exposes False Accusations

by Lou Binninger

On Saturday, July 29th, more than 150 leaders from the State of Jefferson movement throughout Northern California came to Yuba City for a meeting at Church of Glad Tidings.

They were there at the request of State of Jefferson Chaplain Dave Bryan to address rumors and expose fake news and slander directed toward the Jefferson movement and its founder Mark Baird. Bryan also wanted to see a reconciliation of any factions resulting from misunderstanding or offenses over the last 3 ½ years since the movement began.

A Dave Hodges radio broadcast was played claiming that more than $300,000 collected to fund an ongoing legal action by Jefferson against the State of California for lack of representation was being wasted on the endeavor. Hodges said pursuing the lawsuit was intended to deplete funds and destroy the movement.

Further, Hodges explained 'his un-named inside sources' revealed that George Soros and MoveOn.org had infiltrated the organization to undermine it so the Cal Exit effort could succeed. More details were promised by Hodges to come later.

Hodges also predicted that the Cal Exit advocates would somehow sabotage Oroville Dam causing a breach where the catastrophe would lead to the federal government allowing the state to secede from the union.

Local radio host Paul Preston and friend of Hodges was also noted at the meeting as claiming Mark Baird, the unofficial and unpaid leader of the movement, had misused Jefferson funds and would soon be held criminally accountable for his misdeeds.

Mark Kent, who set-up Jefferson's 501 (c) 4 and oversees the monies given for the lawsuit, was at the meeting and took offense

Yuba-Sutter Political Notes

by Lou Binninger

Yuba County Clerk-Recorder Terry Hansen announced she will be campaigning for another term in office. Other than the court system the Clerk-Recorder office may have more face to face contact with the public than any other county department.

The office keeps track of the complex and changing laws on elections, conducts elections, and keeps candidates briefed on compliance issues. It handles voter registration and the integrity of the registration list. People wanting marriage and other licenses, passports, or to record any document come through that office. The Clerk keeps the details of births, marriages, deaths, name changes, real estate and more.

A poorly managed county office can create havoc for the citizens. Fortunately, Hansen's is easy to work with and seems efficient and effective doing the people's business. Her workers are knowledgeable and Hansen actually returns calls promptly.

Marysville can't seem to get ahead. The story of $17 million debt on 5 acres worth $1.5 million should be engraved on a monument to remind future generations that government has no business gambling with the people's future. The debt will outlive those council members who created it at no personal cost to them. Even if the property is sold the city still has to pay the balance on the bonds.

After the council got its 1% sales tax increase and up to $1.5 million in extra cash annually, $288,000 will go to the state for a fine because Marysville employees were too lazy to complete quarterly reports to the Dept. of Water Resources.

After borrowing $700,000 from Yuba County to leverage a multi-million dollar grant to upgrade drains, streets, sidewalk and gutters at 12th and J nothing was ever done though the project was pitched to Yuba County as shovel-ready. The loan, interest and administrative fee were repaid and the residents in the area are still waiting for a resolution to annual flooding.

The city was offered an opportunity to join the Linda Water Agency to upgrade its water treatment facilities years ago where Marysville could send its waste water and sewage. Marysville chose to stick with its antiquated system in the flood zone until the Regional Water Quality Board threatened fines saying the sewage ponds had to go. Now, city residents will be paying more than they had to by piping their fluids to Linda because they procrastinated and missed an opportunity to join Linda Water in the first place to obtain a $10 million grant.

Now, the contractor to build the pipeline to the Linda Treat-

Look Back in Time – In 1925 boys swimming in Dry Creek near Oregon House found a bucket with gold nuggets in the bottom under some sand. The date, 1868, was on the side of the bucket (you never know what you may find in a creek).

Don't forget to take the family to Forbestown Daze this Saturday. It is held at the Forbestown Park and Gold Trader Flat, the replica gold mining town on New York Flat Rd., in Forbestown. There will be lots of activities, food, vendors, music, raffle and more. The gates will be open from 9:00am to 4:00pm and the parade starts at noon. It is great fun for the whole family!

School starts again on August 14th, so you still have a couple of weeks to get those new school clothes, binders, paper, pencils, backpacks, etc. It sure seems like the little darlin's just got out of school for the summer. Time does fly! We wish all the kids a successful and fun school year.

The Heifer Bells will be in concert at the Chestnut Grove in Brownsville on Saturday, August 19th from 6 – 8 pm. Pre-paid reservations are required and tickets can be purchased through Kathy Fletcher. You can contact Kathy at 530-675-7979 or email her at katfletcher@syix.com. Food and beverage are sold separately by Circa 53 Catering and Foothill Lions Club Bar. Come sit under the stars and enjoy good music, good friends and yummy food and drink. It doesn't get much better than that. Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

The eagle lake trout are a strain all their own and have thrived in the alkaline water of Eagle Lake for years. This body of water is a natural lake and has a hatchery included. Over the years eagle lake trout were placed in other lakes and reservoirs throughout the west.

One reservoir that now has these feisty fighters is located in the foothills of the Coast Range. I am referring to Lake Berryessa, which is located near Winters. At this writing these rainbows are exciting lots of anglers with limits of fish running up to three pounds. Apparently the trout are holding down to 35 or 40 feet. The fish have been hitting on spoons and lures. There is a problem for anglers on this lake which is lots of boat and wave runner traffic.

The salmon fishing has been slow on both the Feather and Sacramento Rivers. Things should pick up into August and September.

Congratulations go out to Craig Smith on his big catch at Collins Lake. Craig was trolling near the dam dragging a spinner when a nice seven and a half pound trout grabbed the spinner. Craig lives in Olivehurst. Also a big kudos to Kevin Muff, who lives in Chico, on his nice eight pound ten ounce trout caught while fishing at Bridgeport Reservoir.

The California Department of Fish and Wildlife have been busy this past week planting trout all over the golden state. Those counties and water in the Northern area are as follows: BUTTE CREEK: DeSabra Reservoir and Big Butte Creek; LASSEN COUNTY: Lower Goodrich Creek and Clear Creek; PLUMAS COUNTY: North Fork of the Feather River at Beldon and at Lake Almanor; SHASTA COUNTY: Sacramento River, Grace Lake and Keswiche Canal; SIERRA COUNTY: North Fork of the Yuba River; SISKIYOU COUNTY: McCloud River and the Sacramento River; TEHEMA COUNTY: Gurnsey Creek, South Fork of Battle Creek and Deer Creek.

Closing Thought: "Some of the best times fishing is sitting around the campfire exchanging fish stories and adventures in the outdoors."

Admission to the Museum and Gold Trader Flat is always free. Donations and proceeds go towards upkeep and improvement of the Museum and interpretive village both of which are supported entirely through private memberships and donations and maintained by volunteers for the benefit of the community.

Next door in the Forbestown Community Park, the Forbestown Advisory Council (FAC) has a full day of activities planned for children of all ages. At noon the annual parade will commence across from the Forbestown General Store and head down New York Flat Road. Put on by the Forbestown Parade and Picnic Committee, the parade always draws a large crowd. This year's Grand Marshall is Pat Dork, an early resident who raised five children in the foothills and was a founding member of the Yuba Feather Historical Association and the Hill-top Gang. This year the FAC is happy to announce that the Masonic picnic area on Forbestown Road just north of the Forbestown Store will provide designated parking for the event. Shuttle service will be available from the local taxi service.

Approximately 30 vendors will have set up their booths in the Park with local crafts and lots of sumptuous mountain food to keep you going throughout the day. Musical entertainment will include performances by the duo of Dougan and Bernie and by the Mike Corliss Band. Excitement builds towards the end of the day when great prizes are raffled off. Proceeds from the raffle and the other activities at the Park go to support the Forbestown Mountain Library and other community programs of the FAC.

This Month In Your Garden
by Cecilia M. Rice
BALD MOUNTAIN NURSERY
6195 BALD MOUNTAIN ROAD • BROWNS VALLEY, CA • 530-743-4856

Late June ushered in some exceedingly hot weather and July tempered that a bit with a very pleasant but very temporary bit of relief. One doesn't have to live in the area for long to know that our summer weather is usually just hot with little pockets of relief. For most people it is a month for upkeep – not lots of gardening. It is a time that gives one some time to plan what they might like to do in the yard as fall approaches. August leads us right into the beginning of the fall season, but don't let that fool you, August is usually one of our hottest months. As we begin to exit the summer heat and look ahead to coming fall months, there are lots of things that can be done in the yard. Perennials can be planted now to become well established before going dormant. They will then be stronger plants as they emerge next spring. Think about Coreopsis, Gaillardia, Shasta Daisy, Rudbeckia, Penstemon, and many others that could add beauty and interest to your yard next spring. Keep dead heading the annuals that were planted earlier to keep them blooming longer. If you have a vegetable garden, harvest the vegetables frequently to extend their production. Pumpkins and melons in the garden should be kept up out of the wet soil to prevent developing a rotted spot in the rind. Perhaps you are planning to plant a winter garden this fall. If you happen to have some younger kids that live or perhaps are frequent visitors in your house with the frequent lament "I'm bored", or "I don't have anything to do", you might create some interest and help by engaging them in planting seeds for winter veggies. They can be planted in small peat pots and when they are ready to be planted plant pot and all. Some people plant them in old egg cartons which should work pretty well. It is less expensive than buying vegetable starts for a large garden. Root vegetables such as carrots and beets can be planted now and be ready for harvest next spring. While it is still very hot, continue to deep water younger trees in the yard one or two times a week to maintain a healthy root system. This should be done until a tree is about three years old, tapering off the frequency gradually. A reminder that citrus trees should be fed monthly with citrus food except for the coldest winter months. Don't promote growth during those months because any new tender growth will be damaged. If the leaves are looking yellow, give them chelated iron, not fertilizer. Iron will green them up without encouraging new growth. It doesn't take much, and it will gradually green up the foliage. Follow the directions on the iron product you purchase and be patient. Remember to always water a plant well before fertilizing and water the fertilizer in well following its application. This is particularly important when the weather is hot since they will take the water up quickly if they are thirsty and the fertilizer can cause leaf burn if they were not adequately watered when it was applied. We have had a lot of hot weather this summer and I will bet most of us are looking forward to fall – I know I am! Jefferson Meeting Exposes False Accusations at the Preston lie. Mark Baird said he has nothing to do with the 501 (c) 4, is not on the board and handles no money from the organization. He is a volunteer like all Jefferson advocates.

Dave Bryan explained this is now the second time Preston has been involved in spreading far-fetched tales causing damage to those he targets. Bryan referred to a recent Liberty Tour conducted by Preston that was held at Glad Tidings where engineer Scott Cahill spoke about Oroville Dam.

The next week, Cahill posted a You Tube video slandering the church as allegedly destroying a video of the event and undermining the truth about the dam's condition and the State of Jefferson movement. Cahill also attacked the character of the church and Bryan, the pastor.

Bryan indicated the church filmed and edited the event at no charge and provided the finished product to Cahill on time. No apology was ever offered to the church or You Tube retraction provided by Cahill or Preston.

Preston, a spokesperson for the Sutter Buttes Tea Party Patriots is now working with Tea Party members to nurture a 'Jefferson' splinter group describing itself as the leading effort to start the 51st state.

At the Jefferson meeting participants were encouraged to speak-freely about any concerns. Many did so while others presented questions in writing. General presentations were made by Baird, Bryan and advertising / marketing expert Phil Enright.

Judging from attendees' comments and next day emails, most everyone left better informed and energized to carry-on the fight for the 51st state. Participant Kayla Brown, who is married to a Shasta County correctional officer, says she is hopeful that her kids and grandkids can grow up in a state where the people are truly free.

California's corruption, abuse of the citizenry and its tyrannical mission is free advertising for the State of Jefferson where the people would be free and in charge.

Farmers offer aid to fire victims

As fire crews work to contain the Detwiler Fire in Mariposa County, farmers and ranchers in nearby counties offer aid to people in burned-out areas. County Farm Bureaus in Madera, Merced, Stanislaus and Tuolumne counties have issued calls to action to their members to help haul or house livestock displaced by the fire. The county Farm Bureaus are also accepting donations of feed for livestock and household items for people.

Citrus disease-fighting program to continue

A cooperative effort to fight a fatal disease of citrus trees has earned extension. California agricultural authorities decided to continue the program after hearing from citrus growers and packers. The program coordinates response to the plant disease HLB, which can be carried by an insect called the Asian citrus psyllid. HLB has ravaged Florida citrus trees but has so far been confined to backyard trees in California.

Research points to natural pest control

In research they say could lead to new natural management of crop and garden pests, scientists at the University of California, Riverside, have learned more about how microscopic worms called nematodes attack insects. Some nematodes feed on insects, and the UC research showed how they find new insect hosts. The scientists say the findings could eventually lead to biological insecticides to protect plants including oranges, tomatoes and peaches.

Drone helps specialist create 'virtual orchards'

"Virtual orchards" created through use of a drone are helping researchers learn how best to care for trees--and could ultimately help farmers improve their management efforts. A University of California Cooperative Extension expert uses the drone to take specialized photos of orchards that show information invisible to the human eye. Analyzing the photos can help farm advisors judge an orchard's health, and better manage water and fertilizer use.

Investing in Community- Foster Families

Investing doesn't always necessarily mean money. We can invest in many things. We can invest in our homes by keeping up with the maintenance, our bodies by eating healthy and exercising, our minds by education and in a host of other things that might need our attention and hence our "investment".

Investing in the community around us is a very important investment that all of us in that community would likely benefit from and the very word community means people. Since our future members of our community will obviously inhabit and administer it, it makes sense to do everything we can to improve and insure the education, value, health and moral of these future stewards of our society.

We've all heard of foster parents and no doubt some of you reading this have either been a foster parent or been hosted by a foster family in your youth. It's a vital service as not all home environments are conducive to providing a healthy and safe environment all the time. Whether it be because of general neglect, trouble with the law, domestic violence or other reasons, sometimes a child needs to leave the biological parents for a time to allow that home environment to get back to normal. Of course, sometimes the biological parents might never get it together or it may even take years, but in most cases the care provided by a foster family is only temporary.

The goal stated by our local foster agency Environmental Alternatives is for the family to provide a safe and nurturing environment. The families go through a screening process to protect the potential foster children and the once the child is placed, a weekly visit to the home is customary. Medical and dental is covered by Medi-Cal and a reimbursement stipend is provided to the foster family.

Children ages up to 18 years of age are looking for foster homes and there is even a need for providing homes to young adults from 18 to 21 years of age.

Environmental Alternatives office manager,

Kitty Cannon says they are always looking for foster families as the need is ongoing. Many families host more than one child and since it is preferred siblings stay together, there is an obvious need for households who can accommodate multiple children.

Investing in our community can take many forms, and hosting a foster child or two is one way we can help. Not only do we help our future generation of adults start off from a healthier launching pad, the rewards that we receive may be more than we expect. I am told special relationships which may last a lifetime often develop and the feeling one can get from helping another human being can be a once in lifetime experience. I speak from experience. 19 years ago I became a mentor to a troubled teen through the Big Brothers program and we are still good friends to this day. Next month my "teen" will be 35 years old!

If you are interested in learning more about foster parenting here in Nevada or Placer County, you can contact Environmental Alternatives at (530) 273-7120. For those in other counties, check your local phone book or web browser.

OPINION

Marysville Asks to be Treated Equally

by Bill Simmons Marysville City Councilmember

Community leaders are used to hearing criticisms about something we’ve said or done. That’s fair game if you want to be in the public eye. When the criticisms are warranted, we try to learn from them for the future; when they aren’t, we understand that people have a right to express themselves and say what’s on their minds. After all, these are generally our friends and neighbors, and they know that we’ll pay attention to what they have to say.

Recently, however, several city council members made what we believed to be a simple request of the Yuba County Water Agency. The board of directors of the agency was meeting to consider a request of the County government for a low-interest loan to help the County deal with its large retirement program expenses. The County’s proposal for a loan was a reasonable one; if approved by the Water Agency; County taxpayers would save money on a large County obligation coming due this month. The benefits of that are obvious.

Because the City of Marysville is in exactly the same position as the County in dealing with retirement program costs, several of us council members were at the Water Agency’s board of directors meeting to ask the board for the same consideration they were giving the county government, and make a similar loan to the City to allow taxpayers of Marysville to share those savings. We feel we were making a reasonable request, entirely in line with what the County was asking- and received- of the Water Agency.

The City’s request for a meeting to consider such a loan was denied. That’s the Board’s prerogative, and we have no complaint about that. But some members of the Board, Andy Vasquez in particular, made what were wholly unfounded, hysterical statements that were not only factually inaccurate, but were uncalled for from a public official acting in his official capacity. The fact that the City was asking the Board to consider the very same sort of a loan to cover pension costs that the County was requesting, is not, as Mr. Vasquez asserted, evidence that the City failed to plan ahead or to act responsibly in the handling of its finances. If that were true, the County would be equally guilty of poor financial management in its conduct. After all, we were asking for exactly the same thing as the County was asking.

The Yuba County Water Agency is a public agency owned by the people of Yuba County. If it can see its way clear to making a large loan to the County government to ease County’s pension costs, it is entirely reasonable that an identical request from the City of Marysville should be given the same, courteous consideration, free of emotional outbursts and inflammatory rhetoric based upon a profound ignorance of the facts.

More on Socialist California

The other day I read something in the daily newspaper that made my blood boil. The California Supreme Court said that even if parents are doing everything in their power to straighten them out and if the bad behavior might cause the child to hurt themselves the state can still come in and take the child from the home.

Also, President Brown and his 17 billion dollar tunnels got the green light. Brown is trying to tell voters that the bullet train was wanted that by the voters in 1983. And on top of 5.2 million dollar transportation then cap and trade raises gas tax another $.63 a gallon and some of that money goes to fund Brown’s bullet train.

Now if voters don’t think the election coming up is important, the state of California has a debt of 400 billion dollars we can’t pay. And how does democratic Maxine Waters live in a 4.3 million dollar home on a state salary? And does not live in her district but in a gated area in a white area? It is time for a change in Sacramento.

Timing of the FERC Delay Letter Was Wrong

by Mike Leahy Yuba County Supervisor District 2

At first glance, the letter requesting FERC to delay the Oroville license was based upon the community concerns, and finding out who is to blame for the failure. This reason is why I believe many signed onto this and under those reasons it’s a reasonable request.

We all experienced this disaster and narrowly missed losing everything we have behind this “spillway failure.” Everyone agrees we do not ever want to experience this again. Yet will this letter approach help to fix the issue or not?

My problem with the letter—it’s timing is wrong and may jeopardize everyone’s lives for another event next year. Being experienced with FERC may add to our thinking base, we know exactly what it takes to obtain a FERC license. It takes negotiating infrastructure improvements, public safety and public recreation with so many agencies. It takes years—Oroville is over 12. Yet with approval comes the included projects that will bolster the local economy. The Oroville Mayor made these comments during their city council meeting about this letter. She was correct.

In this case we are all currently hoping that the spillway repairs get accomplished by the time we need it to be working. We all agree on that right?

FERC is a federal regulatory commission of non-elected commissioners. As of this date they do not have a “quorum” as many appointments are being held up behind delayed congressional hearings.

(another story)

The deciding factor for me was considering that FERC must approve the final plan for the spillway repair. Yes that is right, they need to be a part and make this happen NOW. FERC has people on the spillway regularly now. Can we afford a risk of misunderstanding?

While I have been assured that this license delay request is separate from the repair approval- there have been ZERO assurances made that this is indeed fact. The timing of this letter is off base for the true safety and well-being of our residents. After the approval of the repair design- that would be the right time.

I could not risk signing onto a request that may directly or indirectly jeopardize the lives of our community without the assurances that this action would not delay the repair design approval process. Immense pressure was exerted to have us sign on, yet again NO assurances that the message would not be misunderstood by FERC. After all the government never has communication problems, right- ohh wait?? I wanted you to know why I said no. Even if it’s not popular keeping the repair the priority needs to be the target today

Kamala Harris: Eric Holder in a Skirt

by Stephen Frank California Political News and Views

Eric Holder sold guns to the Mexican drug cartels. He made it clear he did not like white people, he was a member of the Klan in Tan. Holder hated law enforcement and used every opportunity to make Washington run local police departments. He accused all cops of being racist—even the black ones in Baltimore and Ferguson. Kamela Harris is no different. She has never been a friend of law enforcement. Did you know that in 2008 he was a bundler of donations for Obama.

““The answer to fixing the criminal justice system is not to build more prisons or privatize those prisons,” Harris tweeted. “We’ve been offered a false choice about the criminal justice system. We are either tough on crime or soft on crime — I say be smart on crime.”

But what does that mean, exactly? To a far leftist, smart on crime means soft on reality. It means looking at crime statistics, for instance, and seeing a disproportionate number of blacks behind bars and concluding a fault with the system — inherent racism — rather than a fault with the individual, or community.

This is an Eric Holder style of thinking. This is a Barack Obama way of seeing the world.

Harris for president? She’ll be Holder in a skirt; Obama, with longer hair.

When Gen. Kelly was being confirmed for Homeland Secretary, what was her first question? With terrorism, illegal aliens, cyber issues as serious problems, she made clear what her priority was. She asked Kelly what his position is on gays, lesbians and transgender people. A transparent effort to get votes. A sick lady, Holder in a skirt and a wannabee Obama scam artist.

Town Hall Meeting

Sutter County Sheriff Parker & Yuba County Sheriff Durfor

Yuba City, Ca.

The Sutter Buttes Tea Party Patriots announced Sutter County Sheriff J. Paul Parker and Yuba County Sheriff Steve Durfor will be Guest Speakers for their Monday, August 7, 2017, Town Hall Meeting.

This will be a good old-fashioned Town Hall Meeting with our local sheriffs. A few of the topics of concern to local citizens are:

- Butte, Sutter, and Yuba Counties have re-evaluated the Oroville Dam crisis evacuation plans as a result of the evacuations earlier this year. The latest findings and updates will be discussed.

- The California legislature is on a crusade to destroy the Second Amendment. Governor Brown has recently signed several unconstitutional anti-gun and ammo bills that create a new class of criminal from law-abiding citizens. What is the impact on the average law-abiding citizen?

- The river bottoms have been overrun with the homeless who are destroying the riverbanks and the habitat. What are the plans to correct the situation?

THE WAY IT USED TO BE

Television commercials have always caused me anxiety, and sometimes some unintentional laughs (but not many). Mainly, I've been pretty much appalled.

Way back in the 1960's you would see cigarette commercials with their semi-catchy music jingles. Then there would be the beautiful girls with a smile on their lips and cancer in their lungs. What a beautiful sight that was!

As of January 2, 1971 those TV commercials were banned and good riddance to them.

However, over the past decade we have been blighted by an equally bad plague. That of the pharmaceutical commercials that are very hard to avoid. Did you ever try to watch any of the half hour network news shows without seeing any of these irritating commercials? Yes, I am one of the few who tries to watch these news shows. I am officially burned out on the 24/7 news networks.

Just try to switch between NBC, ABC and CBS and you will find identical commercials that promote cures for everything from the most personal human defects to sexual problems..... and in way-too-graphic detail! Certainly nothing you want to hear while you are trying to eat your dinner.

We are treated with the product's miracle cures all within the first few moments. For the rest of the commercial we are burdened with a list of all of the very gory calamities that might result from its use; a case of the cure being far worse than the problem itself.

Sometimes the products have been advertised for over a decade. One that makes me pause is the one where the little grand kids tell Grandpa that he sometimes "huffs and puffs" due to his lung problem. I note that two prior actors have played "grandpa" in these commercials. Does that mean that the medication must not be very effective because two prior "grandpas" have apparently gone on to the big rest home in the sky?

I did discover something very interesting from one of the commercials; that dry eyes is actually a disease (who knew?) and that their medication makes you look very pale and walk really slow.

I asked my mother-in-law's MD the other day if one of the advertised meds would be better for her than the one she is taking. He said, "They are equally effective but the one advertised is not usually covered by insurance and costs 3 times more". So that settled that.

I have written several times before about obnoxious drug commercials and I know it has not done any good. But it is a great way for me to release my frustrations. (It keeps me from taking any stress medication.)

People must be buying these medications in record numbers for these companies to be able to advertise on such a massive scale.

As for me, I will skip most shows that feature this type of commercial and when I do run into one of these nasty things I will have my mute button ready.

I would think that the TV networks would realize that viewers are at the point of "overdosing" on these types of commercials and are switching channels in record numbers. I can't believe that I'm the only one who is sick of them.

One final thought: What would happen if the pharmaceutical companies would quit spending multiple millions of dollars on advertising? Maybe they could apply that savings toward reducing the cost of their medications. Maybe more people could then afford to pay for the medications they really need!

correct in bailing out of the leftist, globalist income-redistribution idea. According to the report, the data used to justify the claim that humans are causing climate change is bogus. A careful review of each new version of the global temperature data shows it always portrayed a steeper warming trend over its history. This change occurred by systematically removing the previously existing temperature patterns. In other words, as data has been intentionally tampered with, the result is the evidence has been falsified. As a result, untold billions have been taken from the taxpayers' pockets to provide the salaries of pseudo-scientists in the most gigantic fraud in history.

- The Union of Concerned Scientists, an environmental advocacy and research group, warned in a 2015 "study" that 128 U.S. military bases could be submerged because of rising sea levels. All the bases were on the East Coast and Gulf of Mexico. West Coast bases apparently would not be affected. So the Atlantic will rise and the Pacific will not? Oh, these "experts" say the reason for the disparity is because there is land subsidence in the east, but not in the west. So the oceans are not rising, the land is sinking?

- Assigning blame for everything that happens is a universal sport today. Local homeowners, as an example, are required to purchase flood insurance even though the government allowed developers to build residences in a flood danger zone. Everyone points the finger at everyone else, but those who knew the least are the ones who pay the cost – the homeowner. Thanks politicians and greedy developers.

- In a recent survey of 13 television stations, the highly respected CNN came in 14th.

- When the NRA points out the riots, property damage, injury and death to police officers and other illegal acts, the left demands that the NRA apologize for pointing out the facts. How many NRA members have been charged with any of these despicable acts? Perhaps the lefties need to focus on their own swamp.

- Commentators from the usual fake news outlets criticized Ivanka over her pink dress. Where were these loons when Hillary started wearing pants suits or when Michelle Obama met the Queen of England in a sleeveless dress?

- Kate's killer is claiming that the officer who left his gun in his government car was the one at fault for the shooting because he left his car unlocked. He also claims the gun was defective and the defect caused it to discharge. These arguments sound like typical Democratic talking points – blame everything except your own actions.

If Trump Junior deleted all his emails, cleaned out his server, hid his server in a closet and lied about it would the mainstream media declare him innocent of all wrongdoing. Oh, yeah, he also did not sell 20% of US uranium to the Russians, therefore he must be guilty of something.

- Bernie compared the proposed health care bill to 9/11. Pelosi said thousands will die. Well, if these two folks picked up the ACA and threw it at someone's head, people would die.

- College Diversity Officers average $175,000 annually. No wonder tuition is rising.

- Black Lives Matter is demanding that those who disagree with them should be shut down. Free speech only for terrorists.

- Seems like some mainstream commentators would like to see more low-income housing. Have they ever toured some of those projects already built? Instant slums.

- The Associated Press has trouble even in reporting the Emmy nominations. After lavishing praise on NBC for getting 64 nominations, way down in the body of the story the AP casually noted that HBO got 110. Got to support the mainstream media even when it is misleading or lying.

- It may not have anything to do with Obamacare and its culture, but some $1.3 billion in health fraud has been charged by the current Justice Department. Why wasn't that crime discovered in the 8 years of Obama?

- Thanks to Obama, 5 million granted United States citizenship during his presidency cannot speak English. The research and testing, done before Trump took office, suggest that 32 percent of all naturalized citizens speak English "not well or not at all." Nearly half were Hispanics. One of the criteria for citizenship is the ability to read and write English.

- Here we go again. Klaus Eberwein, the director general of the Haitian government's economic development agency was found dead recently with a gunshot to the head. "The Clinton Foundation, they are criminals, they are thieves, they are liars, they are a disgrace," Eberwein said at a protest outside the Clinton Foundation headquarters last year. Eberwein was due to appear before the Haitian Senate Ethics and Anti-Corruption Commission.

A Disaster Creates Gold Rush

by Paul Preston

As with all disasters there's a little bit of hope that can be found and so it is with the Oroville Dam disaster when on February 12, 2017 the dam overtopped its emergency spillway endangering the lives of over one million Californians but brought up new gold from the soils of Oroville.

Oroville Dam is an earthfill embankment dam built by the California Department of Water Resources (DWR), Oroville Dam is one of the key features of the California State Water Project (SWP).

Oroville Dam is the largest earthfilled dam in the United States standing at 770 feet high and impounds Lake Oroville, the second largest man-made lake in the state of California, capable of storing more than 3.5 million acre-feet of water.

The emergency was prompted by a broken main spillway that occurred on February 7, 2017 which forced a frantic decision by the California Department of Water Resources to reduce the amount of water flowing over the main spillway thus allowing the reservoir to suddenly rise. As water 'inflows' from the Feather River continued to enter the reservoir the water level of the dam continued to rise out of control as 'outflows' were not matched by the main spillway. By February 11, 2017 water from the reservoir started to overtop the old weir of the emergency spillway.

I visited the top of the dam at the old weir at noon on February 11, 2017 and witnessed the water overtopping of the weir. I was stunned at the size of the overtopping but was even more shocked by what was obvious erosion taking place in front of the weir on the 'dirt deck'. Yes the dirt deck. I asked a couple of workers on top of the dam why the DWR was allowing the water over the emergency spillway and their response took me by surprise. There was no discussion about the damaged main spillway but rather DWR was concerned there might be damage to fish habitat downstream in the Feather River by high flows over the main spillway!

With 2 systems out of control the DWR was rapidly losing control of the dam. The dam had become an 'out of control' dam threatening millions of people's lives and the destruction of one of the world's most productive agricultural areas.

Erosion at the emergency spillway was causing 'head cutting' back up toward the weir itself putting it at risk of collapse. If the old weir was to go a 30 foot wall of water would have emptied the top 20% of the reservoir and inundated the valley floor past Sacramento.

On February 12, 2017 around 3:30 pm over 27 hours after my observations on the dam Butte County Sheriff Kory Honea was told by DWR officials there was one hour before the head cutting would reach the old weir and it would collapse. Honea without hesitation ordered the evacuation of all people downstream of the Oroville Dam. The largest evacuation in U.S. and California history of nearly 200,000 people.

Gold Rush!

The Feather River is a major gold producing area and has enormous history from the 1849 California Gold Rush which prompted one of mankind's largest migrations right into the 'Golden State'.

Causing the new gold rush was the overtopping of the emergency spillway and forcing the DWR to open the gates of the main spillway which destroyed much of the lower portion of the main spillway thus creating new channels cutting into the ground, taking soil off the bedrock. When the water stopped the damage revealed the gold-bearing soils which ultimately found their way into the Feather River. Gold debris left behind by the damaged Oroville spillways has triggered 'gold fever'.

Now months later the gold from the Oroville Dam disaster is making its way into the stores that are downstream of the dam where miners who have been panning gold in the Feather River are cashing in on the new gold rush. I've stopped by Yuba City Coin and Bullion several times to talk to the owners Ray and Angela Dimmick to gauge the impact of the gold rush and found the start of a 'real' modern day gold rush!

Both reported their business has jumped dramatically with people bringing in gold from the Feather River. Angela stated 'We're buying gold all day long.'

Where's the gold and where can I buy gold panning equipment has now become the questions most asked by their customers and people from all around the country. I asked them if they were going to be the new Levi Strauss and outfit new miners to satisfy their fever? Angela said they were buying gold pans to meet their new found customer base.

ment Plant is suing Marysville for $1.1 million. RGW Construction Inc. claims the city failed to properly inspect and perform compaction tests. Nor did it inform RGW thereby causing delays in the project. RGW is asking $508,000 in damages. The city cancelled the contract with RGW and the contractor says they have not been paid properly.

The recent shameful violating if its own codes and ordinances to approve two marijuana dispensaries cost the city the little credibility remaining. Buck Weckman, who exposed city leaders' incompetence and dishonesty via appeal, showed 3 members of the council (Samayoa, Simmons, Pedigo) wanting to save face and sell their souls to deal in bud.

You can't be this incompetent and dishonest by accident. These mis-cues are routine and go back for years including numerous council member changes. When your city mascot is a demon called Bok Kai you might wonder whether the spiritual deck is stacked against you.

There was a stabbing at a '7-11' store in Yuba City recently. Will the city now forbid '7-11' to sell 16 oz single beers? The city's arbitrary and prejudicial banning of Washington Ave Market selling a 16 oz beer was exposed by a Freedom of Information Act request of police activity around similar stores in Yuba City. The data revealed other convenience stores having more problems and still able to freely sell single 16 oz. beers to customers.

City bureaucrats had the gall to tell Washington Ave. Market owner Kumar Kairam that selling 16 oz. single beers was not a big deal anyway, profit-wise. The problem is that we now have a state ruling over us that sticks its nose into everything we do and treats us like children. The beer is not the biggest problem. Rather, it is the lack of freedom. Until citizens are willing to say 'Hell No' they deserve what they get.

Feather River Parkway Closed During Emergency Levee Repairs

The Feather River Parkway will be closed from July 31 - December 31, 2017 for emergency levee repairs

Emergency placement of 2.9 miles of seepage cutoff wall will cause the Feather River Parkway, located north of the 10th St. Bridge, to be closed from July 31st through December 31st, 2017. Repairs are necessary before next runoff event to ensure the safety of approximately 75,000 Yuba City and Sutter County citizens.

Levee distress was observed in downtown Yuba City during the High Water event in February of 2017. A particular area of distress is a historic portion of the levee that has failed in the past and been repaired multiple times, including repairs done following the 1997 High Water event.

Feather River Parkway

opened in 2013 to highlight the importance of local waterways to the City and surrounding community. With almost 90 acres to explore, it is the largest park in Yuba City and includes walking and biking trails, picnic areas, wheelchair-accessible scenic overlooks, a pavilion and other recreational amenities, as well as public education displays and interpretive signs to describe the wildlife and habitat.

Though the temporary closure of the Feather River Parkway may come as an inconvenience to our community the repairs are required to ensure public safety and to protect damageable property. Please feel free to contact the Community Services Department with any questions or concerns at (530) 822-4650.

4-H Corner Can't Wait Until Next Year!

by Kiana Walton
Reporter for Wheatland 4-H

Lily, historian

Have you ever thought about what 4th of July means to you, well to me it's about getting together as a family and barbecuing and just having a great time all together, and that was exactly what it was at the Wheatland 4th of July picnic. This picnic has been going on since 1913.

At the picnic, the whole community got together to celebrate 4th of July. There was plenty of drinks and food to keep you cool; watermelon, shaved ice, lemonade, and even ice cold margarita's and beers for the adults. Bingo was a great success. Wheatland 4-h sold and helped out with the bingo cards. You didn't just have to play bingo inside, you could walk around and look at all the venders with pretty things to buy and play horseshoes. To keep cool on such a hot day there was a water slide for the kids. Of course, they had a nice barbecue with a supply of hotdogs and hamburgers with grilled onions made by the Lions Club. There was even a watermelon contest it took 576 rubber bands until it exploded. A girl named Paige had the closest guess which was 590. Thank you Recology for making an enormous donation, and thank you to all the other groups that came out and helped make the picnic a fun and enjoyable success; Senior Center, FFA, Lions Club, 4-H, and the Wheatland Christian church.
