Board Members of MPSCA Inc., Pres. Judy Mann VP Chris Billeci, Secretary Salina Chan, Treasurer Minoo Prllwitz, Other Board Members; Richard Ow, Bill Honsinger and our Scholarship winner for 2017 Brandon Beech.

Marysville, Ca. – On May 30 2017 at the Marysville High School Gymnasium the Winner of the First Annual Marysville-Peikang Sister City Association Scholarship Award went to Jordan Beech, a senior attending Marysville High School and who is planning on attending Yuba College or a four-year college, which meets the requirement of the scholarship, also included as a requirement an essay had to be written on how the Asian Culture is influenced in the Yuba-Sutter Communities. It didn't take the board long to decide with a 4.5+ average, accomplishments all through high school and finally his interest in becoming an engineer, we awarded a small scholarship to go towards helping with the many expenses he would accrue for college.

We are proud of Jordan's accomplishments and wish him success in the future. Before the end of the Awards Ceremony Jordan walked away with 11 other awards. We are proud of all the winners of such awards in fact we were told it was the first time in history MHS had so many students receiving awards. The Marysville-Peikang Sister City Group looks forward in doing this again next year.

Aly Yeoman's Autopsy Reveals "Drowning" as Cause of Death

Sutter Co.
On March 30, 2017, at approximately 10:30 PM, Alycia (Aly) Leane Yeoman went missing. She was last seen driving westbound on Butte House Road from Romero Drive in Yuba City. Aly was in route to her home located in Gridley. Aly never made it home. On April 5, 2017, Aly's vehicle was found near the Feather River, just north of the Live Oak Recreation Park. Aly's cell phone was found on top of the levee, not too far from her vehicle.
An extensive search and investigation was initiated. A unified investigation team was formed which included the following agencies; Gridley-Biggs Police Department, Butte County Sheriff's Office, Butte County District Attorney's Office, Yuba City Police Department, Sutter County District Attorney's Office, Sutter County Sheriff's Office, Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Office of Emergency Services. In addition, many citizens throughout the nation assisted in the search for Aly's safe return.

On May 7, 2017, the hope in finding Aly alive ended when her body was located in the Feather River, not too far from where her vehicle was found.

An autopsy was performed and the cause of death is listed as "drowning." The manner of death is undetermined.

Special Meeting of Marysville Planning Commission

Marysville, Ca.
These seven-member Marysville Planning Commission serves as an advisory board to the Mayor and Marysville City Council. The Special Meeting of the Marysville Planning Commission on June 14, 2017 was scheduled to change the zoning requirements for the proposed Marijuana Dispensary's since they violated the city's existing zoning ordinance. The change would eliminate any compliance with state or federal law. Item: 6. Consider modification or elimination of state-municipal Code Title 18, Zoning, regarding upholding the laws of the State of California and the United States, specifically Sections 18.08.070, 18.67.060, and 18.67.120 and possibly other code sections, and consider recommendation to the City Council.

This was an attempt to make changes to the ordinance that would nullify the rescheduled future appeal of the City Council's decision, presented by Buck Weckman of FACT (Families Against Cannabis Trafficking)
The vote by the Planning Commission was 4 to 1 against eliminating the ordinance, thereby upholding the state and federal law. 2 commissioners were absent and the lone vote to eliminate was Michael Paine.

After the meeting Buck Weckman made the following statement, "The decision by the Marysville Planning Commission was a reminder to me that there are people of integrity and honor within City Hall. I need to thank and mention the good employees and staff more often. But this is just one round of the continuing battle against the corruption that comes with commercial marijuana."

Marysville Council at Crossroads

by Lou Binninger

The Tuesday, June 20, 2017 Marysville City Council meeting will test the mettle of its members. The council can follow the same failed policies of the past or launch a new direction more fitting for a small town that is broke. The days of the Cargill Meat Company, department stores and a downtown full of auto dealerships are long gone. It is time to deal with reality.

The way small businesses and contractors have been treated both personally and through fees and fines have taken a toll. It's simple, no businesses no town. It's time for the council to take charge and set a new tone.

A number of hot issues on and off the agenda may surface Tuesday. They include taking on nearly a million dollars in new debt to keep a very expensive and unnecessary police department afloat, what to do with City Manager Walter Munchheimer, the violating of Buck Weckman's right of appeal regarding the marijuana dispensaries, voiding the planning commission decision to obey state and federal law, unethical moves by the city administration to undermine opposition to marijuana dispensaries, giving away $58,000 in public assets, hiring a parks worker, pay up to $15,000 for a new city website and the city's legal firm that has forgotten who it represents.

It would be refreshing to see council members act like they're representing those who voted for them rather than the city staff, the union or tradition - "we have always done it that way." Citizens did not elect the council to allow these three influences to set the city's course.

The council should do what is best for the residents by making whatever changes necessary to get the city financially in shape and the infrastructure improved. The city, even with the new sales tax revenue, is circling the drain while proposing more debt.

After telling citizens that $1.5 million in new sales taxes annually would 'save' police and fire the administration is now proposing to add another $870,000 in debt to lease 19 new police vehicles. This is added to the $17 million in bond payments owed on the B

Chocolate Milk from Brown Cows

by Lou Binninger

There are some benefits to growing-up in Northern California. You realize that brown cows don't produce chocolate milk. This understanding is called agricultural literacy which some people have missed out on.

Whether government schools covered that topic or parents, it seems that 7% of more than a thousand people surveyed were fuzzy about the origin of chocolate milk. Seems logical but wrong – if white cows give white milk then brown cows offer chocolate milk.

A 1990's Department of Agriculture study found that 1 in 5 adults did not know hamburgers were made with beef. And in 2011, researchers learned that more than half of the fourth, fifth, and sixth-grade students interviewed did not know pickles were cucumbers or that vegetables such as onions came from plants.

However, these ag or food literacy rates are not the same throughout the nation. Those living in rural areas and those having higher income and education levels know more about their food sources. Ag literate Yuba-Sutter youngsters can at a glance tell the difference between peach and prune trees and between walnut and almond orchards without fruit or nuts on display. They can also name row crops at a glance.

At one time, the big talk just before summer for students around here was where they were going to work. Many found jobs in orchards or the fields, canneries, construction, retail and restaurants, while some headed to Alaska for the fishing industry.

The thought of work was exciting. It was before the unions lobbied for laws limiting equipment operating to those 18 and older. In one summer a 16-year-old could learn how to drive and maintain a tractor, operate a forklift and bobtail truck.

More importantly a multitude of soft skills were accumulated while having a great time and making money to buy a car. Teens paid with cash and most bought their own. They learned timeliness, diligence, determination, and team work. They experienced laboring under stress and pressure, how to get along with co-workers, following directions and they understood the value of a dollar.

Some were promoted and guaranteed a job for next summer while others were fired, both a great lesson. For Baby Boomers Street property valued at $1.5 million and the spiking unfunded employee pension and healthcare liabilities.

Munchheimer has an aversion to working with the county. He resigned rather than seek help from the county and save $20,000 in a personnel search. He and the council did a disservice to the city by not asking the County Sheriff for a proposal to police the city. This is a classic example of going broke by maintaining outdated practices rather than saving a million a year in the policing budget. Stubbornly being stuck in the past is expensive. Munchheimer may have experience but pride comes before a fall.

The first year's sales tax will be consumed by the B Street property payment, a $288,000 fine from the State Department of Water Resources and employee raises. Nothing is left for parks and streets. The citizens get nothing while paying more and more taxes. It's the mantra of city after city.

Tuesday, the council will debate and vote on the Planning Commission decision that chose to stay with current city codes in compliance with state and federal laws. However, the dispensaries don't fit under current ordinances.

The city violated the rights of Buck Weckman who submitted a timely appeal on the dispensaries. The city without explanation postponed the hearing.

Weckman's appeal will highlight the city violating its own codes to complete their marijuana outlet plan. Will the council have the courage to do what is right? Or, will Rich, Fuidge, Lane and Bordsen double-talk them and the city get sued by Weckman? Of course, going to court would be a cash cow for the law firm. The city is rushing the ordinance change through thus avoiding Weckman's testimony since city hall knew he could not attend the council meeting.

Munchheimer's outdated ways have contributed to an eventual insolvency here. Spend up to $15,000 for a small town website, incredible. Expand parks personnel when the city cannot afford its pensions is crazy? The parks need care, but by private industry. The council has an opportunity to look at outsourcing finance and community services positions and go to a 3-day a week city manager.

It's time for a change. Tuesday will speak loudly one way or the other.

and Generation X, the summer job was a rite of passage.

Today, more and more teens are not working. Those that are working are most likely employed by July, according to data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). In July of 2016, 43 percent of 16- to 19-year-olds were either working or looking for a job. That's 10 points lower than in July 2006. In 1988 and 1989, the July labor rate for teenagers nearly hit 70 percent.

Whether its summer or year around, teens are dropping out of the workforce. They are finding other tasks to occupy their time. Some are attending classes to get ahead scholastically. In July of 2016, more than two in five 16- to 19-year-olds were enrolled in school during summer. That's four times as many as were enrolled in 1985, the BLS says. Almost a million students graduated in 2009 having completed an advanced placement (AP) class, up 39 percent from four years earlier. Others not working may just be lazy.

Extra scholastic work and sports camps have their benefits but missing out on job experiences cannot be replaced by reading or hearing about them. College graduates with a spotty work history may make poorly adjusted workers and soon join the unemployed.

For some kids a job may save their life. In two Chicago jobs programs, arrests among participants for violent crime dropped by 42% for one and 33% for the other. The effect continued for at least a year after. Though the work programs could not show future employment or education benefits keeping people occupied for pay had a unique outcome in the city where shooting people is a pastime for some.

Rural and urban kids have differences, but having a job has been a rich learning experience for them in the past. Now, for many, going jobless until they need to support themselves should be interesting.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

We decided to head up to Little Grass Valley above La Porte for some camping, fishing and riding of the quads. We learned about the new management, or should I say the management which took over the old ways, and discovered the rules. For one, you cannot ride your motorcycle or quad, in other words anything that is a motorized vehicle and not registered for highway use anywhere in the camping areas. All camping areas are designated as "restricted areas" and this covers just about everything except camping. No firearms area allowed which includes non-firing weapons such as bows and arrows. If you want to ride your off road vehicles they insist you load them up and go outside the camping areas. But wait a minute.....you still cannot ride them on any paved road or other dirt or gravel roads unless they are designated as such on an official forest service map. Good luck.

The fishing on the lake at Little Grass Valley was a waste of time. We trolled for four hours last Tuesday morning with all kinds of lures, spinners, spoons and even broken back rapalas. We had four poles out, two on down riggers and two with lead line. We tried depth levels of 15 feet down to 50 feet and never got a strike. A run of the lakes boundaries failed to produce any excitement on the graph. The new state of the arts electronics just recently installed in the red boat failed to produce any fish, except for an occasional single show on the screen.

I stopped at the store in La Porte to make a purchase on my way down to the valley and was told the lake has been very slow, but there have been some fish caught in the river, both above and

Our report on Fuller Lake last week once again prove to be wrong. Apparently the Department of Fish and Wildlife decided to plant the small lake last week. We assume they wanted to drop fish in the lake after the roads were repaired.

We are headed up to Lake Tahoe tomorrow (Monday) and will make a decision whether to charter a boat and fish Tahoe or drop down a bit to hit Donner Lake for the elusive Mackinaw Lake Trout. If we decide to hit either lake we will report our findings next week.

Boots fishing tip for the week: "Troll at different speeds to find out what the fish will strike on."

Nominations Sought for Prestigious Awards

The Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way is accepting nominations for two community awards to be presented during their "Annual Meeting and Awards Breakfast" on Thursday, August 3.

One of the community's most prestigious awards, the "Pedro Award," is given to an individual who demonstrates a lifetime willingness to help his/her fellowman without thought of personal gain. Residents of Yuba, Sutter and Colusa counties are eligible to receive this award.

The "Pedro Award" originated in 1977. The name Pedro came about because the Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way received a generous contribution with a simple note saying "To help others" and was signed "Pedro."

The "Nancy Ferreira Leadership Award" recognizes an individual or organization most significantly contributing to the Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way annual fundraising campaign.

This honor is named after Nancy Ferreira, a long-time executive director for Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way whose spirit, actions, values, efforts and dedication immensely benefited the citizens of Yuba, Sutter and Colusa counties.

Nomination forms are now available by calling (530) 743-1847 or emailing terry@yuba-sutterunitedway.org. Completed forms must be received no later than noon on July 19th.

CRITIC'S CORNER

Alien: Covenant

Starring: Michael Fassbender, Katherine Waterston, and Billy Crudup.
Rated: R, Runtime: 122 minutes.

The crew of a colony spaceship are brought out of hypersleep after a neutrino eruption damages the energy collectors of the ship. While effecting repairs they receive and investigate a rogue signal that comes from a nearby planet. With an amazing sequence of poor judgment and the consequences thereof people are eaten and hunted in usual Alien franchise fashion.

The acting is good and the set design and costumes are well done. The drunk cameraman must be the brother in law of the director. The gentle sway of his drunken stance gave the feeling sitting in a rowboat on a windy day.

Alien: Covenant, earns two out of five. Surprisingly Well Armed Colonizing Monkeys. The madness of this film is laughable. The only saving grace is how the movie adds to the over all story of the Alien Universe and the tie in with the Blade Runner movies. It really is not worth a trip to see in theaters. I would save it for a Sci-Fi marathon after all of the movies are released and you can pick them up in a box set at the five dollar bin at Wal-Mart.

PG&E Offers Energy Saving Tips to Save Money

As temperatures rise, many North State PG&E customers will use more energy and incur higher bills to stay cool. With six simple steps, PG&E residential customers can save as much as $400 on their energy bills over the year.

These tips are tailored specifically for gas and electric residential customers in hotter climates like the North Valley to help them reduce their energy usage and lower their energy bills.

The savings amounts are illustrative only. Actual savings will vary as few households are typical.

1. Seal air leaks: gaps and cracks between the inside and outside of a customer's home can allow cooled air to escape in the summer. Sealing air leaks on doors or windows can save up to $95 on annual cooling costs.
2. Raise the thermostat: customers can save up to $85 on annual cooling costs for each degree the temperature is increased in their home during the hot summer months.
3. Turn off AC when leaving: turning off the air conditioning before leaving home will save up to $65 annually, especially for customers on a Time of Use rate plan or when there is a Smart-Day event for those on a SmartRate plan.
4. Improve shading for windows: Enhancing shade on windows can save up to $60 each year by ensuring the sun doesn't heat up the inside of a home.
5. Maintain AC: air conditioners use more energy than necessary if they are not properly maintained. Maintaining a home's AC this summer will help the system last longer and save up to $50 each year.
6. Check air filters once a month: heating and cooling consume the most energy in the average home — up to 50 percent of total home energy use. Cleaning or replacing filters monthly will improve energy efficiency and save up to $45 each year.

Yuba Sutter Arts Awarded California Arts Council

“Local Impact” and “Veterans in the Arts” Grants

Marysville, Ca.
The California Arts Council has announced its plans to award $18,000 to Yuba Sutter Arts (YSA) as part of its Local Impact program. The Local Impact program fosters equity, access, and opportunity by providing project and partnership support for small arts organizations with operating budgets under $1 million. All projects extend the reach of the arts to underserved populations that have limited access to the arts.

With this support from the California Arts Council, YSA will continue a city-wide, three-year exterior mural project in underserved Live Oak in Sutter County. YSA will continue to use the commissioning and implementation process to engage residents encouraging participation particularly among the young. Our murals and the artistic process express the rich history of the city, together with its rural backdrop and its diverse, deep and abiding cultural heritage. The project is called Murals of Live Oak.

YSA is one of just 130 grantees chosen for this highly competitive program, which received applications from 203 organizations statewide. The news of the YSA grant was featured as part of a larger announcement from the California Arts Council, which can be viewed online at <http://arts.ca.gov/news/pressreleases.php>.

“The Local Impact program eliminates barriers keeping low-income, rural, and historically underserved communities from equal access to arts programs,” said Donn K. Harris, Chair of the California Arts Council. Yuba Sutter Art's project helps to further the Arts Council's vision of enriching the lives of all Californians through arts participation, while allowing the local community to access their own creativity.”

To view a complete listing of all Local Impact grantees, visit http://arts.ca.gov/programs/files/CAC_LocalImpact_Grantees_2016-17_FINAL.pdf.

In addition, YSA received notice this week that it has also been awarded a $10,000 grant for the expansion of its Veterans Portrait Project. The Veterans in the Arts program of the California Arts Council provides projects and partnerships support for non-profit arts organizations, local arts agencies and veterans' assistance agencies to reach veterans, active duty military and their families.

“These two generous grants will greatly enhance our ability to move forward with two of our anchor projects,” said David Read, YSA Executive Director. “We are proud to have our vision and our work recognized by members of the state arts leadership team,” he added.

Yuba Sutter Arts'

It's Time Once Again for Citizen Artist Event!

said, ““Have no fear of perfection - you'll never reach it.” And our Citizen Artists this year will have nothing to fear in terms of achieving perfection since they're not really artists at all. In fact, THE qualifying factor in becoming a member of this exclusive “club” is that the participants must be able to exhibit an absolute lack of any actual artistic talent.

We've gathered together an alumni cast of “Citizen [non-] Artists” for this year's event. Come cheer on some of our favorites from past years including Jenn Eubanks of Hillcrest Catering, Renée Garcia of U.S. Bank, Amy Johnson of Rockabetty's Hair Parlor, Community Volunteer - Susan Kimmel and Karen Tabler of Meagher & Tomlinson.

Salvador Dali also said, “A true artist is not one who is inspired, but one who inspires others.” All of the Citizen Artists are inspirations to others based on their leadership in the community and selflessness for a variety of causes.

This year's event will be held on Tuesday, June 27th starting at 6pm at the Burrows Theater at Yuba Sutter Arts, 624 E Street in Marysville. Following Yuba Sutter Arts' annual General Membership Meeting and State of the Arts presentation which is open to the public, you will be invited to observe and encourage your favorite Citizen Artists as they each create one or several one-of-a-kind masterpieces.

Tickets are $10 (free for YSA members) which includes a wine tasting, appetizers and a floorshow featuring the Citizen Artists. The completed “works of art” will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. A special award is offered to the artist whose work fetches the highest price at auction that evening. All proceeds will support the YSA's bi-county burgeoning community arts programs and outreach.

Testimony received will help determine the use and distribution of CSBG funds. Participation of low-income residents of Yuba County is invited.

The property offered for sale excludes all funds held on account by the property receiver, if applicable. Spring weather affects blueberry harvest

The cool, rainy spring complicated the California blueberry harvest. Farmers say spring weather delayed harvest by up to 10 days, causing California blueberries to be short on the market at a time of high demand. But reduced crops in other states helped California farmers win markets. Blueberry production in the state has grown the past decade, and marketers say demand for the California-grown crop continues to expand.

Cherry harvest increases

Volumes of California-grown cherries on the market have shown a sharp increase this year, according to a government estimate. The report says California cherry farmers expected "the best crop in recent years" after several seasons of drought and low yields. The estimate pegged the California crop at 99,000 tons, up 65 percent from last year. Washington leads the nation in cherry production, and also expects a larger crop.

produce has been expanding faster than production, leading to a "supply gap" analysts believe could continue for several years. A report from the agricultural lender CoBank says it takes three to five years for farmers to transition crops to organic status. That can lead to a lag in fulfilling new demand for organic crops. The report says food companies and retailers have increased imports of organic produce to meet demand.

Access to Emergency Air Ambulance Service at Risk

Sacramento, CA (June 12, 2017) – Today, members of California's network of emergency air medical providers are assessing how their ability to care for patients will be dramatically impacted if one of their primary sources of funding is not renewed by the California Legislature.

The Emergency Medical Air Transportation Act (EMATA) was established in 2010 to specifically fund emergency air ambulance services by placing a $4 fee on moving violations. The EMATA program sunsets on December 31, 2017, unless renewed by the Legislature. Legislation introduced by Assemblymember Jim Wood (D-Healdsburg) that would extend the sunset for this crucial fund is currently stalled in the Assembly.

The fee generates approximately $8 million for California's emergency medical helicopter network, and allows the state to receive an additional $8 million in matching funds from the federal government. Without this funding, air medical bases are at risk of closure.

"We recognize that the fees being tacked on to traffic tickets have become excessive, but without a funding source, we risk making these services, that are often the difference between life and death, available to only the wealthy and privileged," said Asm. Wood. "We must find a solution for this critical piece of our state's infrastructure."

A significant number of patients transported by emergency air medical services are only covered by California's Medi-Cal program. The reimbursement rates from Medi-Cal were last adjusted more than 20 years ago. Should the EMATA program be allowed to expire, critical funding that minimizes the gap between Medi-Cal reimbursement and the actual cost of services will be cut by more than half, which could result in reduction of services and even force the closure of air medical bases.

Reduction or elimination of air medical services will disproportionately impact rural areas that do not have immediate access to trauma centers and children's hospitals throughout the state – putting some of California's most vulnerable residents at risk.

"In rural areas, emergency helicopters play a vital role in EMS and our ability to get the most critical patients to a hospital in time to save them. Traffic accidents, in places like the roads to Yosemite National Park, present a unique challenge to us, where we are a long way from a trauma center," said Bill Caldera, EMT-P and chief operations officer, Tuolumne County Ambulance Service. "A $4 fee on moving violations seems like a small price to continue paying to ensure we do not lose access to these lifesaving services."

Air ambulances also play a critical role in transferring patients from rural and community hospitals to receive trauma care or specialized treatment they may not have access to in their area.

"We strongly support the EMATA program as a way to fund air ambulance services. We have two good community hospitals in Imperial County, but when we have a critically ill or injured patient, we rely heavily on air ambulances to get them to larger hospitals in San Diego or Palm Springs," said Chuck Peraza, Fire Chief, City of Brawley in Imperial County. "Because it's like comparing the cost of a cup of coffee to the possibility of losing this lifesaving service, the legislature should act quickly to ensure this program remains intact."

Air medical services are an integral part of California's emergency response infrastructure throughout the state.

"Access to emergency air transport can mean the difference between life and death for trauma patients, or someone suffering a stroke or cardiac event. For these medical conditions, a few minutes of time can make all the difference," said Dr. Jim Hinsdale, M.D., San Jose trauma surgeon and former president of the California Medical Association. "Whether you are driving along the North Coast Highway, hiking the Sierras, ATV riding in the Mojave Desert, or simply caught behind gridlock traffic, having an emergency helicopter available can save valuable minutes, and maybe even your life."

Several organizations support the extension of EMATA, including the California Children's Hospital Association, the California League of Cities, the California Fire Chiefs Association, the California Hospital Association, the Rural County Representatives of California, the California Chapter of the American College of Emergency Physicians, Save Our Air Medical Resources (SOAR), and others.

Proponents are asking the Legislature to extend the fee to protect this vital funding.

Elected Lack of Intelligence

Sad that some can't understand that the President can "OB-STRUCT" whatever he or she wants under the powers given him/her under the Constitution ... it is especially sad when supposed elected and former elected people as well as a dumbed down media who claim to know the law, spew lies and ignorance, to try and make the uneducated masses believe something that just isn't true... or just to spew to be popular. The President has the Power TO tell all under him/her to STOP any investigation PERIOD! But this never happened in the Case of President Trump. The Leftist have proven they will lie, cheat, steal and kill to impose their agenda. They also use the less intelligent to do their dirty work and then leave them in it! i.e.... Just look at our schools and how they are trying to brain-wash our children to believe the communist manifesto is the constitution. The Leftists have no Honor and we must show the dumbed down masses who they really are. People need to educate themselves on the Powers of the President before they spew like Maxine Waters and be thought as much a fool as she is....

Follow the Money

Mayor Ricky may have inadvertently come up with a solution for Marysville's debt problem. Since he believes that the city council's job is to follow staff recommendations, we could save a bundle by dismantling the council and simply rely on staff. Let me set the stage.

Walter Muncheimer, retiring City Manager, recommended the council adopt a bid for $20,000 to pay a headhunter company to fill several vacancies in the City's administration rather than go with a cheaper $2,000 option available if they used existing Yuba County resources.

Muncheimer has made a series of recommendations and decisions that have already cost the city millions of dollars. You might say his recommendations are questionable at best.

Yet despite Muncheimer's dismal track record, Mayor Ricky voted to go with the more expensive $20,000 option for a headhunter reasoning that "The council should not interfere with staff decisions."

All credit is due the four council members who voted against this silly recommendation, but Mayor Ricky raised a good point. If the council is just there to rubber stamp staff's decisions, do we really need a mayor or a city council? Just think of the savings we could realize from not having to pay their salaries or retirements!

Staff is not elected to serve the citizens of Marysville. They have no accountability to the voters for their decisions. We did elect a city council and we should expect that they represent the views of the voters, not staff.

Unfortunately the majority of the city council has acted irresponsibly by voting to allow two marijuana dispensaries licenses despite the wishes of the electorate. The process to push these dispensaries through has been tainted from the start and the stench grows stronger every day.

Just for the record, I have been a medical marijuana advocate for the past forty years. I do not object to the presence of a dispensary in Marysville and believe that two is better than one to avoid price gouging. However, I strongly object to the unfair methods used to award these licenses.

You know a process is corrupt when I (and many others) predicted exactly who would get the licenses months before the applications were available. Yet that didn't stop the city from accepting thousands of dollars from 15 or so applicants that had no chance of getting a license. The unfortunate truth is that the same two applicants would probably have won the licenses anyway but the methods used have forever clouded the outcome.

We have to ask why favorable treatment was given to the two finalists for the dispensary licenses. We already know that Mayor Ricky received thousands of dollars from one of the licensees that he failed to mention during his run for mayor last year, but what was done behind the scenes?

Allegations swirl about bribes, kick backs and campaign donations that were not reported surrounding these licenses, but we will never know for certain until a forensic auditor is hired to follow the money. I'm not singling out Mayor Ricky alone. David Lamon, Walter Muncheimer, and possibly others need to be scrutinized as well.

This needs to be a top priority when the new Grand Jury is seated in July.

Yes, apparently it is a huge secret. Is there anyone in Olivehurst that knows "Clean up day" is June 24th? At least that's what I heard through "the grapevine". I've heard no announcement from our new supervisor, Recology, the county or anybody else. Do they want people to pile up their "Big" size trash till it looks like a third world country? People's incomes have become so scarce they can't afford to pay for "runs to the dump". Besides keeping this a big secret, we have more BIG news. If you are disabled or elderly and want curb side pickup because you can't get to the "free dump day" - well - good luck! First, you have to know that you have to call Recology and ask for "curb services". Then, they will send you a mess of paperwork to fill out and send back in and hope it gets there in time, and gets approved! What happened to a SIMPLE-FREE dump day??

President Jerry Brown Decides to Ally California with China

by Stephen Frank

He could not become President of the United States—so, apparently, he stayed at a Holiday Inn Express and declared himself to be President of the new nation, California. He is supporting nullification of many Federal laws. At the same time he has decided that Federal laws on the environment, health care or education no longer are appropriate for California. Now his foreign policy is being formed.

“Gov. Jerry Brown said he will discuss merging carbon trading markets in his state and China during his trip to Asia, a sign of the governor’s ambition to influence global climate change policy.

Brown discussed his plans in a telephone interview after U.S. President Donald Trump on Thursday announced he would withdraw the United States from the landmark 2015 Paris climate accord, a global agreement to fight climate change. The move fulfilled a major Trump campaign pledge, but drew condemnation from U.S. allies and business leaders.”

This is good news for Arizona, Nevada, Texas, Florida and other States in the United States. Brown has decided to make it even more expensive to live in California, have fewer jobs—and try to turn over our jobs to the Chinese. My guess is that this creates the next economic boom for the rest of the nation—except for the failed States like New York, Illinois and Washington. California State tax revenues are down, education has failed, roads are crumbling and the debt of the State of $1.5 trillion, with CalPERS. Brown is working hard to assure Third World status for a once great nation—is Puerto Rico his goal?

finished with these creeps, then pick up your phone or drop a letter to the advertisers of these villains and ask whether they actually support the evil they are paying for with their advertising dollars. Hit them in their pocketbook. Hit them hard. The left does what it does because they have no morality and no limits.

- Government entities and bureaucracies do little more than protect themselves and to the devil with the public which pays for the salaries and pensions. The Territorial Dispatch asked the State OES for inundation maps for all dams on rivers draining into the Sacramento Valley. After several prods, a disc was received which had a heading for the San Joaquin Valley, but the information whatever it was, could not be opened by several different computers. So the PIO of Yuba County was contacted to discover how the County came up with an evacuation plan. The response was that the county had the maps. When asked to review them, the response was “No. They are for official use only.” Isn’t that wonderful? The press is told to buzz-off. Someone needs to be reminded who pays their salaries. Ridiculous.

- A certain Judge William Orrick has barred the video exposing some of the seamier parts of the abortion industry. He also opined against Trump’s attack on sanctuary jurisdictions. Surprise. He is a big-time Democratic Party donor.

- The lefties say the “science” of climate change must be believed. But the science of biology (2 sexes) should be ignored. Hypocrisy.

- The state legislature hates everyone. They want to allow liquor to be sold until 4 am. Why not just eliminate the requirement to close at all. Then the drunks can drive off to kill folks 24 hours a day.

- The “golden shower” piece was apparently done by the Russkies. It was certainly designed to hurt Trump before the election and therefore pro-Hillary. So why are the Democrats so obsessed with investigating something which was designed to help their candidate?

- Many colleges held graduation ceremonies based on race this year. Recall the lefties were in the forefront of integration and the fight against segregation. They won. Now they have no “cause.” So they came up with “Celebrate Diversity.” Thus ending all their success with integration. Same thing with climate change, which was “a new ice age” in the 1970s. Lefties will die if they never have a “cause.”

- Another leftie cover-up? It seems there may be a tape of the Clinton/Lynch clandestine airplane meeting. A Freedom of Information Request was denied by the NSA because of “National Security.” Keep in mind that the usual suspects claim only grandkids and golf were discussed by the two suspects. How can those discussions rise to the level of National Security? Release the tapes.

- At the Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris a man attacked a police officer with a hammer. Where are the lefties demanding a ban on hammers?

Have you noticed that after every terrorist attack the police swarm the scene and stand around wondering what to do? Perhaps it would be smarter for the authorities to prevent the carnage in the first place?

- The London Mayor says Trump is not welcome in his jurisdiction because Trump calls out Islamic radicalism. Politicians such as the London Mayor are counting on the votes of Islamics for their election. They care more for their job than the lives of citizens.

- Hillary is getting close to having 31 flavors. She has now come up with 25 reasons why she lost the election. She has forgotten a couple very important reasons. She is an unprincipled liar; she has absolutely no accomplishments in her life. The Dems would have been better off with Maxine Waters. At least she’s an honest idiot.

- The hate America crowd (a small one at that) claims that the USA is an illegitimate country. Check your history. After WWI all of Eastern Europe and the Middle East were divided up by Woodrow Wilson, Lloyd George and Georges Clemenceau. Talk about illegitimate! The USA wasn’t divided up by three so-called statesmen.

- The proposed federal budget doesn’t cut much of anything. What it does is reduce the amount of the built-in automatic increases. But the Democrats cry that old people will die, children will go hungry and Obamaphones will no longer be available. The usual lies.

Early Riser Kiwanis Club of Yuba City Awards $16,000 in Scholarships to Local High School Students

The Early Riser Kiwanis Club of Yuba City has awarded eight (8) $2,000 scholarships to local high school seniors on behalf of the Vern Williams Scholarship Program and Early Riser Academic Scholarship Program. The recipients were selected from thirty-nine applications. Interviews were conducted before the field was reduced to the final eight students.

The Vern Williams Scholarship was created in memory of Vern Williams, a long-time community volunteer and fellow Early Riser Kiwanian who had a special dedication to the youth in our area. His untimely death spurred the club to do something in remembrance of his love for youth and his desire to help them enjoy a happy and successful life. This scholarship provides financial assistance to students who have overcome difficult obstacles or demonstrated a marked change in behavior to successfully graduate from an alternative education program or any of the area high schools in Sutter County.

Recipients of the Vern Williams Scholarship or the Early Riser Academic Scholarship Program must demonstrate a strong desire to further their education and a life plan that embraces community involvement, a desire to make the most of their individual potential and a commitment to improving the quality of their lives through education.

The club's annual "Brews, Blues and BBQ" event is the source of the funding. This year, the "Brews, Blues and BBQ" event will be held at the Yuba-Sutter Fairgrounds on Saturday, August 26, 2017 from 4 – 8 p.m. with all proceeds benefiting the scholarship program.

Long Bar (Part 2)

by Roberta D' Arcy (A member of the Yuba County Historic Resource Commission)

Browns Valley, Ca. Outside money from faraway investors began to fund mining activities. Henry Bleeker, H.B. Cartwright, and W.S. David Pierson who set up camp in 1849 at Long Bar sponsored men to work for them using the new methods. Gold mining was becoming more organized, more subject to the rules of business. Still, the grueling work of mining was done by men who were learning on the fly; men who had tilled land in Illinois, raised cattle in Chili, or wrote for newspapers in Boston; men who had never done this punishing work before or faced such loneliness and deprivation day after day. The dream of returning to their loved ones a rich man must have sustained many. According to the Marysville Appeal, a traveler to Marysville reported miners on the river were making $5 to $10 dollars a day, "He speaks in glowing terms of the country around and the cordiality shown him by the miners".

Though people of all nationalities and skin colors worked side by side at all the bars up and down the Yuba, their long held prejudices and discriminatory beliefs brought from home still ruled their actions. In July 1849 a resolution was passed at Long Bar that "a Negro could not hold his own claim." Chinese and American Indians also were held in low regard and had few rights.

By now 1000 people lived at "The Bar". Stores, saloons, hotels, bakeries, even laundries provided services to miners, investors, and visitors. Crime increased as the population grew; men already under incredible stress had short fuses when challenged. In November 1850 as described in the Marysville Appeal, W.E. Villey was charged with attempting to poison Captain Kirkpatrick, his son George, and Mr. Donato. All the victims recovered but motive is lost to the passage of time. Perpetrator and victims were all Long Bar residents. An increasing population brought confrontations between men over mining claims, thefts of equipment, or the favors of the rare woman. Solitary isolated men far from home and family were ill equipped to settle disputes peacefully. Around the end of 1850 disillusionment about the increasing scarcity of gold fueled murder, hangings, and rapes. According to "Gold Dust" by Donald Dale Jackson, British convicts exiled to Australia had made their way to San Francisco and up through the Northern mines wreaking havoc. One beat a shop keeper to death in Rough and Ready as he pleaded for his life.

At first gold mining at Long Bar was thought to be a summertime activity but miners soon learned high rushing water from winter storms deposited new gold along the river banks. Miners moved swiftly to mine the new sites and mining became a year round job. By 1850-1851 previously worked claims were being worked and reworked, some for the third time.

It is unknown when Jacob Hoss arrived to mine for gold at Long Bar but it is known he was there approximately from 1853 to 1856. A letter to his son in January 1856 depicts the mining life in stark terms. "Mining is not like when we first come here it is all chance if a man gets a claim that will pay wages. The country is overrun with men that are working 1 and 11/2 cent dirt and think they have good claims. The times in this country are pretty hard right now. Provisions are high, flour is $6 per 100 pounds. A good cow and calf will bring a hundred dollars. Chickens bring 2$ a pair. I am going to try my luck at mining once more and if I have none I am coming home pile or no pile if I live and have my health." Sadly, the next letter received by the son, Henry Hoss was dated November 1856 from No. 1 Sons of Temperance, Long Bar Division "my painful duty to inform you of the death of your father Jacob Hoss. He died on 5th of November last of no disease in particular but it seemed from the effect of old age and debility more than anything."

"He has finally gone to that House from which no traveler returns". The letter writer David Fairfields goes on to assure the family that Jacob had faithfully kept his pledge (to abstain from alcohol) and was "much beloved and respected by not only the Brothers of the Order but by the community at large". The Order arranged the burial with the "usual ceremonies" he "was followed to the grave by a large procession of the citizen generally". It is assumed by family that Jacob is buried at Long Bar Cemetery but this is difficult to confirm. Only three headstones are visible, the remaining 26 are buried under 10-15 feet of river rock and debris shot down the canyon from high pressure streams of water from hydraulic mining.-
