

The History of SUHS Rifle Team

In 1989, Allen Jaynes and Ned Lemenager established the Sutter Rifle Team with the 4H group of 15 kids. They practiced once a month with most of the equipment handmade other than the guns, which were not target guns, just old field guns. The team started competing in the 4H championship competition once a year. In about 2000, the high school team was founded. At that time we realized that the team had evolved into a very competitive team with a lot of talent. In 2000 we had 2 members qualify for junior Olympics. The students were Megan Sandiagne and Lee Lemenager. Megan came home in 3rd place overall in the Junior Olympics that year. Megan Sandiagne was also the first one to receive a division I scholarship to Ole Miss. Over the last 15 years, the SUHS Rifle team has had 18 more high school kids go onto division 1 scholarships, 2 that have PhDs, 3 all Americans, and 14 academic all Americans.

In 2012, the team became the first high school team in the history of the air gun national championship to come home with first place. Over the years we have had at least 25 junior Olympians coming home with at least 7 medals.

The team will be in Ohio on June 20th for the Jr. Air Rifle National Championship.

Staying or Going Is Expensive

by Lou Binninger

Sutter County Community Services Director Danelle Stylos was fired by Supervisors effective May 23, 2017. Supervisors Flores, Munger and Conant voted in favor of termination. Supervisors Whiteaker and Sullenger voted no.

Stylos was placed on administrative leave by Supervisors after being arrested by District Attorney (DA) Investigators on February 1, 2017. She was accused of making false statements, providing false information, perjury and voter fraud. She was booked into Sutter County jail and released on $25,000 bail.

Some supervisors and department heads were angered by the arrest inferring that the DA's charges were political and petty. They protested her arrest while aware she was violating her employment agreement with Sutter County. Stylos stated she lived at the residence of a former Sutter County Fire Chief though she actually resided in Sacramento.

Her job responsibilities required her to dwell in Sutter County. She used her fictitious Sutter County address on various legal documents.

Stylos was afforded two week's severance pay in addition to being paid while on administrative leave. According to Transparent California, Stylos received pay and benefits of $192,015.92 in 2016. Stylos collected approximately $64,005.31 during her absence prior to dismissal.

The case against Stylos is proceeding through court. However, Sutter County officials maintain their terminating of Stylos had nothing to do with the legal charges, but was based solely on an internal investigation performed by outside professional services.

The investigation reviewed her work and regard among fellow administrators and those she managed in her department. Though personnel details are confidential, her firing speaks loudly about her performance knowing it is nearly impossible to dismiss a government employee even when they serve 'at will.'

Stylos is the second key Sutter County employee to lose their job in less than two years.

In October 2015, Supervisors declined to renew former County Administrative Officer Jim Arkens' (CAO) contract and placed him on leave with a salary and benefits of $267,598.95. The Supervisors' decision occurred just months after they defended Arkens' handling of county affairs in a letter to the Territorial Dispatch.

An outside audit by Gallina LLP revealed that CAO Arkens and Sutter County Supervisors violated accepted government accounting practices by keeping a second set of books on the county's $10.5 million Chevron Energy Project financing, avoiding Auditor – Controller Robert Stark's oversight. Supervisors stated they supported the CAO's handling of the project.

The Supervisors had a habit of circumventing the view of independently elected Auditor-Controller Stark. The solar project started during the term of Stark but the outside audit revealed the financial miscue to newly elected Auditor-Controller Nathan Black.

The lesson of the two dismissals is that staying or going, poorly performing public employees are very expensive.

Diplomas and Poverty

by Lou Binninger

As debate rages about the 'homeless' most miss the fact that thousands of teens have this month completed one of three objectives to protect them from that fate. They graduated from high school. Few teens grasp the significance of their accomplishment though they are not immunized against disaster.

Now, their challenge is to not blow it. Unfortunately the community doesn't address the next critical goals enough.

Since 8-year-olds don't plan on someday being poor, in prison, or addicted, just how do they get there? Most young adults have the wrong values and no idea what they are doing. Someone said if you don't know where you're going you'll get there every time.

A Brookings Institution study showed that 98% of Americans could avoid poverty by doing three things: graduate from high school, get married and delay child-bearing until after marriage. This isn't so much a formula like lining up three cherries on the slots, but it reveals a perspective or set of values that when lived-out leads to a better life.

Proverbs 13:11 says wealth is obtained little by little. That phrase read in context is laden with values often absent today from American society and even ridiculed. The values would include but are not limited to honesty, loyalty, deferred gratification, and selflessness.

According to the National Endowment for Financial Education, 70 percent of people who get sudden wealth (lotteries, big inheritances or favorable settlements to lawsuits), declare bankruptcy within a few years – meaning they're worse off than before

Fishing the Klamath River With Jerry Lampkin, TNG Motorsports

Jerry Lampkin

The Rooster Tails Fishing Club monthly breakfast will be held at the Auburn Elks Lodge on Pine Street on June 16. This event is open to club members, spouses, and non-member guests. Doors to the Lodge will open at 7:00 a.m. to share fresh brewed coffee. A fantastic $13 wide-selection buffet breakfast is served at 8:00 am followed by a 9:00 am guest speaker, Pro Fishing Guide Jerry Lampkin owner of TNG Motorsports. Reservations are not necessary to attend the breakfast, but attendees are encouraged to arrive by 7:00 a.m. for a good seat.

Pro River Guide, Jerry Lampkin invites all members and their guests to this special presentation to share his experiences on the Klamath River. Jerry has been fishing the Klamath for salmon and steelhead for over 25 years and brings with him a unique perspective about the river you will want to hear. Jerry and his wife Sherry will be available to fisherman and women interested in fishing for 'Springer Salmon' during the week of July 10 – 14. Jerry has set aside Wednesday, July 12th, as Rooster Tail Day and will meet with members and guests to provide the latest fishing information. Sherry will provide information about the area accommodations, site seeing trips, and coordinate fishing outings with Jerry.

Jerry's clients enjoy the luxury of fishing from his custom state-of-art 23' Rogue Jet boat equipped with the latest electronics and creature-comforts. In addition to use of quality rods, reels, and tackle, Jerry goes out of his way to teach his clients on techniques and strategy for using them. You can find out more about this talented guide by visiting his web site at <http://tngmotorsports.com>. For more information or to book a trip, contact Jerry directly at 530-878-0994 or his cell phone at 530-320-0994

The Klamath is special among many rivers in California. It is only second by out-flow to the Sacramento River and flows 263 miles through Oregon and northern California emptying into the Pacific Ocean. It drains an extensive watershed of almost 16,000 square miles from both states. Unlike most rivers, the Klamath begins in the high desert and flows toward the mountains carving a path through the rugged Cascade and Klamath mountains before reaching the sea. The scenery and wild life are varied and spectacular. The area is a nature lover's dream and a panacea for photographers.

The 30 year old, 200+ members Rooster Tails Fishing Club of Northern California, Inc. is a non-profit organization that meets the third Friday of each month to educate, entertain, and enhance fishing experience. Unlike many bass and fly fishing clubs that concentrate on very specific types of fishing, the Rooster Tails Fishing Club provides a balanced mix of fishing techniques presented by fishing experts targeting a variety of fish species on multiple types of waters. For more information contact Jim, Club Chairman, at 530-887-0479 or visit the club's web site at www.roostertailsfishingclub.org

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 73 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

We have reports from the after bay at Oroville. Water levels continue to go up and down a couple of feet on a regular basis which continually changes the water temperature which fluctuates 10 degrees at a time. This really messes up the bite and there is no indication, with the ongoing work at the spillway, when fishing will get any better. On the other hand the bass bite in the reservoir itself has been out of this world. Anglers are catching easy limits and some days are catching and releasing hundreds of bass.

The striped bass run is still among us even though many have spawned and are returning to ocean waters via the Delta. Water being released from the Oroville Dam, which is coming out of the bottom of the structure, is cold and will slow down the remaining spawn for late arrivals in the Feather River.

We hear from the Verna Area. This is where the Feather River joins the Sacramento River and is known as the mud line to many anglers. Striped bass were in this area last week and it appeared the best part of the Sacramento River to catch stripers.

Shad are in all local rivers at this time, but the hot spots seem to be along the American River in the Sacramento area. These feisty cousins of the tarpon have been taken on jigs, darts, spinners and spoons.

The road to Bowman Lake is now open and we have access to Fuller Lake on the way. However, our information a couple weeks ago was not true in regard to Fuller being planted with trout. This will not be done, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife, until mid-July.

Now that we have the Memorial Weekend behind us the waters of lakes and reservoirs will once again be fishable. All the boat and recreational vessels last week really put the stop on fishing.

Donner Lake is outdoing Tahoe at this time. Mackinaw lake trout are being taken consistently up to six pounds in depths between 80 and 140 feet. In addition, the kokanee are also on the bite, but most fish are small, around 11 to 12 inches.

We hear from Folsom Lake. The reservoir is almost full at this time. Fishing has been slow. Expect better fishing from now into the summer months.

Boots fishing tip of the week: "reading the surface of the water is a good way to understand what lies beneath."

Boy Scouts Thanks and Remembrance

by Martha Duran

Over 100 members of the Buttes Area Boy Scout District arrived at Yuba City City Hall at 8:00 am on Memorial Day to put out the flags around City Hall and Veterans Circle. This was an incredibly moving experience. A prayer was said a patriotic song was sung and everyone got to work unloading the flags from their resting place and putting them in place. It took all of about an hour to do this amazing service of thanks in remembrance of our military service men and women who paved the way and preserved our freedoms. Some having paid the ultimate sacrifice for these freedoms we enjoy.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE Trustee Sale No. 129509-11 Loan No. 0237531 Title Order No. 95311097 APN 020-481-003-000 TRA No.: YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 05/15/2007. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. On 06/14/2017 at 03:00PM, MORTGAGE LENDER SERVICES, INC. as the duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust Recorded on 05/21/2007 as Document No. 2007R-008654 of official records in the Office of the Recorder of YUBA County, California, executed by: JOHN ISGRO, as Trustor, WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States, by cash, a cashier's check drawn by a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state). Place of sale: At the front entrance to the County Courthouse, 215 5th St., Marysville, CA 95901, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County, California describing the land therein: AS MORE FULLY DESCRIBED IN SAID DEED OF TRUST. The property heretofore described is being sold "as is". The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 1380 JASON DRIVE, MARYSVILLE, CA 95901. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, estimated fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, to-wit: $203,651.91 (Estimated). Accrued interest and additional advances, if any, will increase this figure prior to sale. The Beneficiary may elect to bid less than the full credit bid. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located and more than three months have elapsed since such recordation. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. # Diplomas and Poverty

they became rich. Why is that?

If they were poor to begin with, that way of thinking will probably take them back where they started. In fact, not only were many people's instant wealth short-lived, but in some cases they weren't long for this earth either.

According to endowment spokesperson Paul Golden, "If you've never had the comfort of financial security before, if you were really eking out a living from paycheck to paycheck, if you've never managed money before, it can be really confusing." In other words, there are no bonuses for ignorance or deviant behavior when seeking financial stability.

The opposite can be true as well though harder to study. Take away a wealthy person's substance and before long through right thinking and right choices they will regain their financial footing.

Cabinet member and retired neurosurgeon Ben Carson in a recent interview indicated that hitting the big one was no substitute for years of hard work and good habits which – along with favorable circumstances – can lead to gradual advancement. Of course, though Carson came from poverty and childhood misbehavior, his comments are misconstrued and resented by liberals propping-up the lie that the poor are victims of capitalism and racism. Most Republican politicians are also swayed by this nonsense in voting millions of dollars to fund the poverty industry.

Carson's comments were addressing what instigates upward mobility. He knows something about it since his brother Curtis Carson is an aeronautical engineer while their divorced mother Sonya Carson worked multiple jobs in Detroit to pay the bills. Sonya suffered from depression and suicide attempts and Ben overcame a period of angry outbursts in his youth.

The Carsons are the Black family that Black race hustler's and liberals love to hate and mock. The Carsons overcame the adversity that 99% of people will also face at some point in life.

What Carson didn't address was the devastation caused by substance abuse and the government giving away a trillion dollars a year while holding no one accountable to change. In spite of, or more accurately because of the government funding hundreds of anti-poverty programs we have the same level of poverty as in 1965 when the war against it was declared by President Lyndon Johnson.

According to Economics Professor Walter Williams we are maintaining poverty by funding it. We fund it with no accountability of recipients because we believe they're victims. So, they don't have to look for work, donate their time or stay sober - just continue breathing.

'Homeless' has become a convenient term that portrays people as victims and disguises what their actual ailment is. Liberals love a good victim story even if it's a lie. The truth is the taxpayers are subsidizing addicts, vagrants, tramps, thieves and the mentally ill. Workers have no idea what to do with them since the government's mission is – hand outs with no expectations – no change required.

Classifying the group as victims puts the police on pause since we can't arrest victims. Politically correct thinking has rendered poverty fighters impotent.

Funding wrong behavior while neglecting to advocate the right choices necessary to produce stability will always result in disaster.

Rideout Receives National Quality Award for Stroke Care

THE AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION/AMERICAN STROKE ASSOCIATION AWARD RECOGNIZES RIDEOUT'S COMMITMENT TO QUALITY STROKE CARE

On May 31, 2017, the Rideout Regional Medical Center Stroke Program was awarded the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association's Get With The Guidelines® - Stroke Silver Plus Quality Achievement Award with Target: Stroke Honor Roll SM Elite Plus at a ceremony indoors at the Rideout Regional Medical Center.

Rideout was awarded the Silver Plus Quality Achievement Award for meeting or exceeding national stroke achievement measures.

Rideout was also awarded the Stroke Honor Roll Level Elite Plus designation for its performance in ensuring the time between the arrival at the hospital and receiving life-saving clot-busting medication meets the national standard of within one hour. This is the highest award an organization can receive. It is especially important because getting treated within this time frame has been shown to significantly reduce the effects of stroke and lessen the chance of permanent disability.

"The American Heart Association and American Stroke Association recognize Rideout Regional Medical Center for its commitment to stroke care," said Paul Heidenreich, M.D., M.S., national chairman of the Get With The Guidelines Steering Committee and Professor of Medicine at Stanford University. "Research has shown there are benefits to patients who are treated at hospitals that have adopted the Get With The Guidelines program."

Rideout is proud to receive the award because it recognizes its commitment and success in ensuring that stroke patients receive care in accordance with the most up-to-date, evidence-based guidelines with the goal of speeding recovery and reducing death and disability.

ABOUT STROKE

Stroke is a disease that affects the arteries leading to and within the brain. It is the number 5 cause of death and a leading cause of disability in the U.S.

A stroke occurs when a blood vessel that carries oxygen and nutrients to the brain is either blocked by a clot or bursts (or ruptures). When that happens, part of the brain cannot get the blood (and oxygen) it needs, so it and the brain cells die.

Quick stroke treatment can save lives. If you or someone is having a stroke, immediate medical attention is critical. Immediate treatment may minimize the long-term effects of a stroke and even prevent death. Thanks to recent medical advances, stroke treatments and survival rates have improved greatly over the last decade.

The American Heart

Association/American Stroke Association and the Rideout Stroke Program team offers the following formula for recognizing the warning signs of a stroke.

ACT F-A-S-T

Use the letters in "FAST" to spot stroke signs and know when to call 9-1-1.

F: Face Drooping. Does one side of the face droop or is it numb? Ask the person to smile. Is the person's smile uneven or lopsided?

A: Arm Weakness. Is one arm weak or numb? Ask the person to raise both arms. Does one arm drift downwards?

S: Speech Difficulty. Is speech slurred? Is the person unable to speak or hard to understand? Ask the person to repeat a simple sentence, like "The sky is blue." Is the person able to correctly repeat the words?

T: Time to Call 9-1-1. If someone shows any of these symptoms go away, call 9-1-1 and say, "I think this is a stroke" to help get the person to the hospital immediately. Time is important! Don't delay, and also note the time when the first symptoms appeared. Emergency responders will want to know.

If someone shows any of these symptoms, call 9-1-1 immediately.

Community Play Day

HELPS PARENTS LEARN MORE ABOUT THEIR CHILD'S GROWTH

Marysville, Ca.

First 5 Yuba would like to invite all families with an infant, toddler or preschooler to the Help Me Grow Community Play Day on Friday, June 23, 2017, from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. at the Olivehurst Youth Center in Olivehurst.

The event is free, fun, educational, and exciting for the whole family! While children engage in developmentally appropriate play activities provided by the Yuba-Sutter PLAYzeum, parents learn how these interactions help stimulate their child's development. The event will also host many community service providers, providing parents an opportunity to casually chat with a professional or screen their child for developmental delays or behavioral concerns. Prizes will be available for families who complete a screening on-site!

The first five years of a child's life is the most important time for a child's growth and having questions about development, learning and behavior are expected. Help Me Grow is here to help parents with those questions and connect them to the many local resources and support services as early as possible. Getting help early is one of the best things parents can do to ensure children reach their greatest potential.

Help Me Grow Yuba County is a no-cost program available to all Yuba County children under the age of five regardless of income. Help Me Grow Care Coordinators can answer questions and personally assist families with accessing valuable community resources that help encourage their child's growth and development. Families and providers can call 800-794-4067 or visit yubakids.org

Annual United Way Food Drive Aims to Collect 30,000 Pounds

Annual United Way Food Drive Aims to Collect 30,000 Pounds

Hunger in Yuba, Sutter and Colusa counties knows no holiday. That is the reason the Yuba-Sutter-Colusa United Way annually conducts a major food drive for ten local food pantries that in turn provide tons of food per month to needy local families.

The donation of food and cash at the local food pantries is lowest this time of year and the need is actually higher.

"Donations peak during November and December for the holiday season. However, the same needs are there the other 10 months of the year, with donations bottoming out in June and July," said Bob Harlan, executive director of Yuba-Sutter United Way.

The "Day of Action Food Drive" last June collected more than 25,000 pounds of nutritious, non-perishable food stuffs.

"This year's event aims to be even bigger as we're hoping to collect in excess of 30,000 pounds of food," Harlan said.

The drive comes in two parts. First, there are currently 40 collection barrels in stores and government offices where they are conducting mini food drives. Then, on June 24 from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., there will be three drop-off locations in Yuba, Sutter and Colusa counties.

There is also a strong push for cash donations as local food closets can purchase perishable and non-perishable foods from the Yuba-Sutter Food Bank for 19-cents or less per pound and they can purchase exactly what is needed for their inventory.

Complete information on advance drop-off locations and how to donate money are available at yuba-sutterunitedway.org or call (530) 743-1847.

"While this drive doesn't solve the problem, it makes a sizeable dent in the demand. I urge all local residents to participate," Harlan said.

100% of all cash and food collections will be given to ten area food pantries.

"Risk-on" and "Risk-Off"

In the world of investing, there are two types of environments often referred to in media outlets which describe the general investing mood of the public. The terms often used are called “risk-on” and “risk-off”.

Risk-on refers to a positive outlook from investors as it pertains to the stock markets and the economies that drive them. Risk-off is the opposite of risk-on whereas when the term risk-off is used, it means there is a higher level of trepidation about economic conditions and therefore the financial markets.

During risk-on, investors are said to be more inclined to purchase higher risk assets which may have a higher potential for gains. Assets of this type might be such things as stocks and stock funds. Simply put, if investors are confident in the business and stock market climates, they are willing to take on more risk in exchange for the chance of higher gains. Influencing factors causing a risk-on environment might include favorable interest rates, little or no political upheaval (both domestic and foreign), healthy consumer spending and encouraging economic statistics from the reporting authorities.

Should one or more of these factors turn negative or appear to be deteriorating however, the investing public may begin to suspect things may worsen in any number of areas. With the specter of possible economic malaise on the horizon, a risk-off mentality may take hold.

The change from a risk-on to risk-off mentality can be sudden caused by an event like the 9/11 attack, an economic event or serious political strife, or it can be a gradual shift to a more pessimistic nature brought on by deteriorating economic statistics, bad employment numbers, or contagion from an overseas market or markets.

The possible catalysts for economic surges both positive and negative are many and one just has to think back to any number of events in our recent or not so recent past that has roiled markets or caused them to reach dizzying new heights.

The importance of understanding risk-on/risk-off environments is not to be underestimated.

Certain asset classes may have a tendency to sell off, rise or remain stable during these two opposite investing environments, and knowing the historical patterns of such asset classes may help the investor navigate such conditions.

A better informed navigation may result in lower losses or even gains during risk-off cycles while enhancing the possibility of greater gains during risk-on cycles. While historical performance is no guarantee of future results and no one can say for certain what will rise or fall and when, seeing what things have done in the past could yield some clues as to the mindset of investors and what they buy and sell during such swings.

Risk-on assets may be thought to include stocks and other traditional investments while risk off assets may be as simple as holding more cash or U.S. debt instruments. There are no hard and fast rules I can flat out list in the context of this article, but a knowledgeable financial professional should be able to enlighten you as to what exactly what assets one might hold in either a risk-on or risk-off environment.

As in all things, knowledge is the cornerstone of progress and the more you know, the better off you will be. An investor that understands market dynamics such as the risk-on/risk-off environment may be better equipped to make more informed and therefore better financial decisions when it comes to managing their investments.

As always, be sure to consult with a financial professional before making any investment decisions and do your own research before investing.

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Although the Hilltop Gang usually serves its great breakfast on the second Sunday of each month (except Dec.), in June it is held on Father’s Day. So take Dad to breakfast, or anyone else you would like to, and enjoy eating with friends and neighbors. Breakfast is served from 8 until 11 and costs $6.00 for all you can eat. A great bargain!

The Yuba Feather Museum is open now and beginning to plan the first two Ice Cream Socials of the year. They are held on the third Sunday and the fourth Saturday of each summer month. Great ice cream, donated by Collins Lake Resort, is served with toppings or root beer in a float. The cost is minimal, proceeds help support the museum, and you have a chance to visit with friends and neighbors as well as enjoying the displays at the museum in Forbestown. The museum opens at noon each summer weekend, but ice cream takes a bit to get ready, so allow about ½ hour to get the social set up.

Look Back in Time – In 1913 there were 327 autos in Butte County. One person in every 100 owns a Joy Carriage (now most families have two or more cars).

Hope to see you in Brownsville soon.

Food and Farm News

Olive growers say crop could be large

An official estimate remains a couple months away, but Northern California farmers and canners say they're optimistic about the table-olive crop. Olive trees bloomed during May, and growers report the potential for a large crop. The California Olive Committee estimates table olives will be produced on 27,000 acres in the state. Olives grown for oil now cover about 38,000 acres, according to the California Olive Oil Council.

Farmers play catch-up on crop planting

Lingering effects of California's wet winter can be seen in a government crop report issued Tuesday. Wet fields delayed crop planting.

The report says less than three-quarters of the California cotton crop has been planted, whereas planting would be nearly finished by now in a typical year. California rice farmers have nearly caught up on their planting, according to the report, but emergence of the planted rice remains slower than average.

Projects aim to enhance plant health

California-based projects to improve crop production have received a boost through grants announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Projects at California universities include enhancing the vitamin A content of wheat; developing lettuce varieties that resist plant diseases; and studying how soil health helps plants cope with drought and heat waves. In all, seven California projects qualified for the grant funding.

Funds benefit biomass energy plans

With a goal of reducing hazardous fuels from national and private forests, the U.S. Forest Service says it will provide matching funds to aid use of wood as an energy source and building material. Among seven California projects to benefit from the funds is one to develop a biomass heating system for schools in Quincy. Another project would create a plant to turn wood into electricity at a former sawmill site in Yuba County.

If Taxpayers are ‘Cheap,’ It’s Because They Aren’t Stupid

by Jon Coupal, president of the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association

California’s already overburdened taxpayers are, once again, being blamed for being the problem, now that Gov. Jerry Brown has labeled those who object to his new $5.2 billion gas and car tax as “freeloaders.” Taxpayers have become accustomed to being insulted by those who want more of their money. A few years back, Barbara Kerr, then-president of the California Teachers Association, said taxpayers who opposed new taxes were “cheap.” This was the same view echoed by high-tech billionaires who financed the successful effort to make it easier to impose new property taxes to pay for school bonds. (It should be noted that billionaires are often insensitive to new taxes that mean little to them, but which can require a significant sacrifice to average California families.) Californians are already struggling with a heavy tax burden. We rank first in state sales tax and marginal income tax rates and, when adding in the carbon tax, our gas tax is already the highest — and it is about to go much higher. Even with Proposition 13, the per capita property tax burden in the state ranks in the top 20. It should come as no surprise that average folks find these new taxes onerous, taxes that, conservatively, could cost them and their families many hundreds of dollars a year. Adding insult to injury, much of the new revenue will go to accommodate bicycles and for mass transit, perhaps even the governor’s pet bullet train. This, of course, represents the political elites’ refusal to recognize that, for most people, biking to work, even with bike lanes that crowd out motorists, is not practical. They are equally out of touch when supporting spending close to a hundred billion dollars on a bullet train that will help few, if any, get to work or do their shopping. In Sacramento, they have no trouble coming up with millions of dollars to pay legal bills for illegal immigrants, billions for the train and gold-plated compensation for bureaucrats. But, somehow, we can’t get our roads fixed unless taxpayers come up with additional bribe money in the form of new taxes. But wait, there’s more, as they say on those late-night TV commercials. When gas taxes were last raised in 1990, the Sacramento politicians promised the new revenue would be a panacea for all our transportation woes. But spend it all on fixing roads and bridges they did not. When, after a decade of overspending, the state found itself in the red during a declining economy, gas tax money was pilfered for other Sacramento priorities, priorities that did not include new highways or road maintenance. Even after voters approved two separate ballot measures to force lawmakers to spend the billions of dollars in annual revenue on the roads, the state found a way around these mandates, even going so far as to changing the definition of the gas tax so that it would be exempt from the voter-approved requirements. Well, the governor, and the rest of the Sacramento gang that approved the new gas tax, can call taxpayers “cheap” and “freeloaders” if they want, but they can’t call us stupid. We see exactly what is going on.

What is Going On With The Olivehurst Post Office?

If you have driven by the Olivehurst Post Office in the past few months you would have seen a blight in the community with high weeds, overgrown trees, bushes and trash in the parking lot. If you have driven by in the past week it looks as if great improvement has been made; however this is just a band aid fix due to a call to a Sacramento news station. Channel 13 News received the call, they in turned contacted the USPS District office. The following morning a groundskeeper was sent from another post office to trim the high weeds; however with the limited time available to him the job was not completed. There are still weeds and trash along the South entrance to the building and along the entrance to the parking lot. The inside of the building is not any better. There are holes in the walls and they are filthy, there are stains on the floor and a tile missing from the floor

(unusual that only one tile is missing). You can occasionally find alcoholic containers and remnants of marijuana on the counter. The employees should do a walk through in the morning to make sure everything is clean. The flag has not flown in over two weeks due to a broken line. This deterioration has been going on for over five years and is getting worse. When the customers complain to the window clerks, they are told to call the 800 number. The 800 number generates no results. Complaining to the Consumer Affairs office in West Sacramento generates the same results as the 800 number. The only effort on the part of the USPS came from contacting media. Many residents over the years have followed the channels of complaint with little success. What does it take to have our post office maintained? Would contacting our state representatives help? Do we contact all media in a 75 mile radius and organize a protest marching back and forth in front of the post office with our concerns? Why are some post offices neglected and not others? Does USPS not know that it is cheaper to maintain buildings, vehicles, etc. then to let them deteriorate? How difficult is it to pick up trash on Mondays, to trim and cut weeds two or three times a year, make sure the plants are watered; to keep the inside of the building cleaned and maintained? The question for the USPS is when will this be done? The residents of Olivehurst do have a high appreciation for their local post office and its employees but are concerned about its condition and would like to see it restored to what it once was. Carol J. Donaldson Olivehurst, Ca.

Brownsville Certified Farmers Market Opening June 10th

by Kim Hawthorne, Market Manager

The Brownsville Certified Farmers Market is happy to announce that our opening day is set for Saturday, June 10. We will observe our normal hours of 9:00am to Noon and will again be located in the Foothill Volunteer Fire Department parking lot at 16796 Willow Glen Road, across from the Gold Eagle Market. Those of you who have shopped with us in the past will remember the friendly community feeling of our market as well as the tremendous array of products. Local farmers and vendors will offer fresh fruits and vegetables, culinary herbs, cut flowers, fresh country eggs, specialty breads, country jams and jellies, lavender products, local honey, hand-made soaps, and much more! This is the place to be on Saturday morning this summer! You will love the morning market and the fresh produce.

As a highlight of our market, we will feature the Whitehorse Ranch and Feed Lounge. Pull up a hay bale and have a rest! Take a moment to chat with a neighbor during your shopping experience. It’s the old fashioned way of shopping. Thanks to Alan Austin of Whitehorse Ranch and Feed for sponsoring our rest area.

New vendors call Gary at 530-692-9006 to arrange for your booth space. The booth fee is $15 each week. We have a big parking lot, so there is plenty of room. Vendors usually appear at about 8:15 for setup. A portion of our booth fees benefit the Brownsville Ponderosa Community Center and other programs of Yuba Feather Communities Services. What a great job they are

Foothill Lions to Host Kenny Frye Band

On Saturday June 10th the Loma Rica Foothill Lions (5667 Fruitland RD.) will host their annual Summer Concert. This year the event will be headlined by “The Kenny Frye Band. Also on the bill is Austin James, the James Aaron Band, and Whistling Dixie. Gate is open at 4:30 P.M. and music starts at 5:30. Tickets are $10.00 with VIP Tickets are $25.00. Bring your lawn chair or blanket, as seating (except for VIP ) will be first come first serve. A little about Kenny Frye: He was born in West Virginia and raised in Ohio, where he started performing statewide at the age of 16. He then moved to So. Ca, where he signed recording contract with Parham Records. He produced three albums One being “Lust”, and another named “Untamed Heart”. After several years of touring the band broke up. Kenny met his wife in 2008 and she was instrumental in getting him back into music, thus in 2010 the Kenny Frye Band was started. In the last 7 years they’ve been quite successful, having shared the stage with some of Nashville’s greatest stars. Some of the artists who have influenced him the most are; George Jones, Dwight Yoakum, Brooks and Dunn, and Paul Stanley. The band is very talented and professional. Perhaps that is why KCRA T.V. ranked them number 2 out of 314 local bands in Northern California. For information about tickets or anything else please call Mike(7426387), Roper (713-6777, or the Foothill Lions Club (742-5466 )

Sheriff Durfor Guest Speaker Sutter-Yuba Constitutional Republicans

Marysville, Ca.

The Sutter-Yuba Constitutional Republicans announced Yuba County Sheriff Steven Durfor will be the special guest speaker at their next meeting Monday, June 12, 2017 in the Sierra Nevada room at the Caltrans District 3 Office Building, 703 “B” Street, Marysville at 6:30 PM.

The Sutter-Yuba Constitutional Republicans (SYCR) is a chapter of the California Impact Republicans (CIR). The California Impact Republicans’ charter was approved by the California Republican Party on Sunday, February 26, 2017, at the CA

GOP Convention in Sacramento.

Sheriff Durfor will be discussing the relocation to their new facility, the status of the Oroville Dam and future evacuation plans, the myriad of anti-Second Amendment legislation coming out of Sacramento, and what are the consequences of non-compliance on the part of previously law abiding citizens.

Registered Republicans are invited to attend this meeting and join other conservative Republicans to help turn California red in 2018. There is currently no cost for SYCR membership. We are organized to do what the establishment isn’t doing.

Contact Larry Virga, Chapter President, at (530) 755-4409.

• Why did the New York Times fire its public editor, the employee whose job it is to keep the newspaper on the straight and narrow? The so-called “paper of record” has just slaughtered its conscience.

• “More than 7 million voter registrations appear to be registered in two states simultaneously,” according to the Washington Free Beacon. This was obtained from the Kansas-run interstate voter registration cross-check program.

• Locally, Terry Hansen, the Yuba County Registrar of Voters, informs us that there was absolutely no Russian interference in the 2016 election process.

• Sean Spicer: “Trump’s tax records are now available in a safe place for all to see.” CNN Reporter: “Where is that?” Spicer: “They’re underneath Obama’s college records, his birth record, his passport application, his immigration status as a student, his funding source to pay for college, his college records, his selective service registration, and Hillary’s email log and 66,000 missing emails” Next question?

• The Democrats in the state legislature are hell-bent on destroying what is left of health care and health insurance by continuing to keep a single-payer plan moving through the hallowed murky halls in Sacramento. If they succeed with a multi-billion dollar disaster, they had better include themselves and their families in the mess.

• The Associate Press’s prattle on the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals ridiculous reasoning on the travel ban executive order is typical of the so-called news organization’s bias. Discussion of the dissenting opinion is found in the 11th paragraph of the leftist rant. How many folks read that far into an article?

• “The Afrikan [sic] Student Union at Berkeley has nothing better to do then issue a demand including a $40 million endowment, their own “safe spaces” on campus, and mandatory “cultural awareness training” for all students. Why? Compensation for what they call racially insensitive incidents. These emotionally fragile students run around filled with bigotry, hatred and self pity instead of focusing on education. These snowflakes need therapy.

• Harvard, the bastion of Leftist ideology in America admits the truth - “Academics at the Shorenstein Center on Media, Politics and Public Policy analyzed coverage from Trump’s first 100 days in office across 10 major TV and print outlets. They found that the tone of some outlets was negative in as many as 98% of reports, significantly more hostile than the first 100 days of the three previous administrations.”

• Chelsea Clinton tied child marriage to climate change. Huh? Well, she is Hillary’s daughter.

• The US Supreme Court okayed the execution of a murderer recently. The plaintiff was involved in murder-for-hire in 1982. 35 years for justice? The legal system is broken.

• The same old tune is trotted out by the Democrats and faithfully followed by the “lamestream” media who claims that the budget put forth by Trump cuts money for the poor. In reality, the budget simply doesn’t increase amounts as much as prior budgets had. In other words, according to the “common core” math done by Dems, a 3% increase in Trump’s budget instead of a 5% increase as was in the prior administration’s budget, is a cut.

• Newt Gingrich -‘All people talk about was their influence from Russia? (The Trump Campaign) Does this mean they are going to look at the $500,000 paid to Bill Clinton (by Russians)? Does that mean they are going to look at the uranium deal that gave Russia 20% of the uranium while Hillary Clinton was Secretary of State? At the same time we have this very strange story now. This young man who worked for the Democratic National Committee who apparently was assassinated at 4 in the morning after having given Wikileaks something like 53,000 emails and 17,000 attachments. Nobody’s investigating that. And what does that tell you about what is going on?”

• The purveyors of climate change just can’t help themselves. They are totally brain washed. Now the Joshua Trees in the Southern California desert are dying off because the world is coming to an end. Keep in mind that in the future whenever anything happens, it will be because we humans are a blight on the planet.

How stupid are politicians? Some 20 states give in-state tuition to illegal aliens, But out of state American students don’t get the same.

• The Associate Press story about Anthony Weiner’s travails sounds like a Hollywood tearjerker. The former Democratic congressman and husband of Hillary’s closest confidant doesn’t deserve accolades. He is a pervert. And he’s the recipient of thousands of Hillary’s emails many of which contained classified material. The Dems don’t think this illegal behavior is in need of investigating or a special counsel. Hypocrisy beyond belief.

• Lawyers for Lois Lerner, who resigned from the Internal Revenue Service, argue that more details of her targeting of tea party groups should not be revealed because her safety is in danger. Referring to out of court testimony, they claim “This documentation, as the court will see, makes very personal references and contains graphic, profane, and disturbing language that would lead to unnecessary intrusion and embarrassment if public dissemination of their deposition testimony would put their lives in serious jeopardy.” John Eastman, professor of law at Chapman University commented “That is a stunning admission, that what they did is so egregiously wrong and so criminal that people might be very angry with them over it.” Transparency in this evil matter is required.

• Trump’s new budget, would set higher eligibility standards for the earned income tax credit and the child tax credit. Think about the current practice - if a person has no income tax liability, the government sends the person a check. This is theft from the public and government.

• According to the state’s official watchdog agency, the Little Hoover Commission. One out of every five Californians must receive permission from the government to work. Senate Bill 247, introduced by Sen. John Moorlach, R-Costa Mesa, and sponsored by the Pacific Legal Foundation would repeal the need for licensing fitting or selling hearing aids, locksmithing, barbering, the application of makeup, disposing of cremated human remains, performing custom upholstery services, regulating certain landscapers, tree service contractors, and private investigators. Actually these regulations are designed to restrict numbers of workers, provide jobs for government regulators, support unions and force up wages.

Gallagher Helps Close the Digital Divide Internet for All Now Act of 2017 Advances to the Senate

Sacramento, Ca.

On June 1, 2017 the California State Assembly passed the Internet for All Now Act of 2017 which will help expand broadband infrastructure deployment and adoption in rural communities in the North State and throughout California. Assembly Bill 1665, jointly authored by Assembly members Eduardo Garcia (D-Coachella), James Gallagher

(R-Yuba City) and others, is a landmark piece of legislation to ensure that California continues to be a national leader in digital inclusion.

“The digital divide is just not acceptable in the 21st century. Rural Californians deserve the same access and opportunity as those in urban areas,” said Gallagher. “AB 1665 will help improve public safety, economic competition, and educational opportunities in the North State and beyond.”

AB 1665, will allocate $330 million and extend the soon to expire California Advanced Services Fund (CASF) for broadband deployment and adoption in rural and low income urban areas lacking sufficient internet infrastructure.

The CASF was established by the Legislature in 2008 and is administered by the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC).

This legislation will call upon the CPUC to reach a goal of 98% household connectivity per region. AB 1665 also stipulates greater legislative oversight and accountability over the CPUC’s administration of funds to improve the program.

AB 1665 is now headed to the State Senate for further consideration.

Fishing License Reform Bill Passes State Senate

On June 1, 2017 the California State Senate unanimously passed Senate Bill 187, authored by Senator Tom Berryhill, state legislation that will transition California’s calendar-based fishing license to one that is valid a full 12-months from the date of purchase. In 2015, similar legislation failed to reach the Senate floor.

“This bill would not only improve access to recreational fishing, it will protect California jobs dependent on outdoor tourism,” said Senator Tom Berryhill, author of SB 187. “Labor unions, state and local chambers of commerce, anglers, tourism groups and everyday Californians recognize that California’s antiquated fishing licensing program has proven to be a barrier to participation.”

Based on the success of other states, the bill sponsored by the California Sportfishing League (CSL) aims to address California’s costly and failing fishing license program by increasing fishing participation rates and license sales.

“California’s costly and antiquated fishing license program is a contributing factor to an alarming decline in fishing participation rates,” said Marko Mlikotin, executive director of the CSL. “As fishing license sales face a death spiral, fishing’s economic contribution will continue to decline, as will revenue for state conservation and fishery programs.”

The legislation is also supported by an impressive coalition of state and local organizations representing small business, labor, local government, travel, hospitality, marinas and boat manufacturers. The coalition recognizes that an unprecedented decline in fishing license sales threatens recreational fishing’s $4.6 billion annual economic contribution to California communities dependent on outdoor tourism, jobs and tax revenue.

“Recreational fishing generates billions of dollars annually in economic activity for our state and communities dependent on outdoor recreation for jobs and tax revenue,” said Barb Newton, President and CEO of the California Travel Association. “Making fishing less expensive and more accessible is not only critical to increasing participation rates, but protecting our state’s tourism industry.”

Even the International Union of Operating Engineers and SEIU Local 1000, who represent the rank and file Department of Fish and Wildlife employees, agree that a 12-month fishing license will sell more licenses and bring in more revenue – not less revenue – to the DFW.

Before reaching the Governor’s desk, SB 187 must pass the State Assembly.

Background: Despite all its natural resources and size, California’s fishing participation rate has declined to dead last (per capita) in the United States. Furthermore, according to a 2015 study conducted by the CSL, California’s annual fishing license is the costliest in the United States (w/permits). Sales of the state’s annual fishing licenses have declined over 55% since 1980, during which time California’s population increased over 60%. When compared to other states, California’s annual license is 76% more expensive. Another contributing factor to declining sales is that the state’s annual license is not valid a full 12-months from the date of purchase, like the state’s annual park pass. Calendar-based fishing licenses expire on December 31st of every year, providing little to no incentive for anglers to purchase a license late in the year. Today, 11 states and Mexico offer a 12-month fishing license.

The State of Texas implemented a 12-month license program in 2005, and over the past five years (2012-16), they experienced an 11.8% increase in sales and a 12.58% increase in revenue (or $1.9 million). Maryland experienced similar success.

Fishery and conservation programs are also at risk as fishing license sales fuel the Fish and Game Preservation Fund, which is facing an unprecedented $20 million deficit. This deficit will only grow as federal funding, assessed by the number of licenses sold, is reduced as annual license sales continue to decline.

The California Sportfishing League (CSL) is a nonprofit coalition of fresh and saltwater anglers, and businesses devoted to protecting access to recreational fishing. California’s 2,795,253 million anglers generate $4.6 billion in economic activity annually, supporting local tourism and jobs.

This Month In Your Garden

by Cecilia M. Rice

BALD MOUNTAIN NURSERY

6195 BALD MOUNTAIN ROAD • BROWNS VALLEY, CA • 530-743-4856

June can be a busy month for many people. There can be graduations to celebrate at many levels. When I was young, kindergarten classes never had graduations. In fact, many schools didn't have a kindergarten class. Now we have kindergarten, grammar school, middle school, high school, Jr. college, college and beyond. After all the celebrations come vacations because school is out. There is time to let go of some of the schedules and have some relaxing time. Even the gardening can be less time consuming. Watering has to be done - that is a fact. Doing more than that is putting the burden on yourself and depends on how much work in the garden you choose to do. If a vacation is in the summer schedule and you are fortunate enough to have an automatic watering system, you have it made. My only suggestion in this case is that you might want to ask someone to check the system occasionally just to be certain it is working properly. If you need to have someone do the watering for you, be sure they know exactly what is to be done. If you put all the directions on paper and laminate them and put them in a spot where they can't blow away and they can then refer to them if they need to. Then there are few excuses for things not being done the way you want them done. Going through the routine with the care-taker -to-be is safest, especially if they happen to be a youngster. Actually, I think most of those kids are very conscientious or they wouldn't have sought a summer job. If they know what is expected they will probably do it right. Just use your judgement on how detailed you need to be. I only go into this in a bit of detail because of post vacations stories we sometimes hear.

It is generally recommended that fertilizing should be done 3 times a year, February or March,

June and September. March fertilizing helps to get everything off to a good start after the winter dormancy. June is for maintaining growth and energy needed for flowering and/or fruiting. September's feeding is taken up by the plant, some of it used and most of it is stored by the plants through the winter while they are dormant and then used when needed as they awaken for spring. Many people have definite ideas about fertilizing and what should be used. Basically, we have chemical or organic fertilizers to use. You will usually see a faster response by the plants to the chemical fertilizers, but there is much negative criticism in the past few years about the damage it does to the soil. It is quite obvious that in years past people gardened with natural fertilizers since they didn't have the convenience of all the things we have available to us since the chemical fertilizers have been developed. Organic fertilizer companies are becoming very competitive and many people are turning toward them feeling that they are more in keeping with nature and perhaps safer, as well as making the soil richer. If you have always used the chemical fertilizers and decide to go organic, keep in mind that you will see slower results from the organic fertilizers but they work equally well, and do it without depleting the soil.

Much of our time during the summer months is spent outside. The summertime pastimes seem a bit more carefree than winter activities - not needing coats or jackets each time we go out and that sort of thing, and the summer days are much longer. Along with more time outside, we enjoy seeing all of the color that is available. If you are looking for colorful plants that are great summer bloomers that really seem to enjoy our heat, look for Crape Myrtles or Rose of Sharon. They can both be found as bushes or trained to a single trunk tree. They both are available in several different colors - shades of red, white, pink. Of course there are many beautiful roses to add color to the landscape. They need regular watering and fertilizer every four to six weeks to keep them looking their best. It is also necessary to dead head them regularly. If the spent flowers are left on the plant they will become red seed pods, called rose hips, and the rose will quit blooming because it has done its job for the year. That is true of many plants since they set seed to carry on their species. If the seed pod - or whatever form they are - is removed, they will bloom again to produce more seeds. Annuals are available that will provide all summer color. Most gardeners take advantage of their quick growth and varied colors, shapes, and growth habits to add color and interest to their yards.

More calls come during the summer months about wilting and dead plants than any other time of the year. The best thing you can do, especially for a plant that was planted earlier this season is to mulch around the base, keeping the mulch a few inches away from the trunk or main stem, and deep water it twice a week. Deep watering is achieved by creating a slight basin and laying a hose that is running slowly enough so that there is no run off - all of it is soaking into the soil at the base of the plant. Let the water run slowly for several hours or overnight. Roots are better able to get well into the soil, thus the plant is able to better sustain itself.

Flag day is June 14, Father's Day is June 18, the first day of Summer is June 20 - enjoy your summer!

Bat With Rabies Confirmed in Yuba City

On May 26, 2017, a bat was found on children's play equipment at the 700 Block of Bogue Rd. in Yuba City. It is not determined at this time if two children under the age of 3 years were exposed to the bat. The bat was collected by Sutter Animal Services Authority (SASA) and taken to Sutter County Health department to conduct testing. It was confirmed the animal had rabies.

The Center for Disease and Control (CDC) states on their website "Avoid contact with wild animals. Put screens on all windows and use chimney caps. Place draft-guards beneath doors to ensure that all doors to the outside close tightly. Do not keep doors or unscreened windows open, especially if people are sleeping.

Evacuate any room with a live bat and close the door".

Contact Sutter Animal Services Authority (SASA) at: 530-822-7375 immediately if there is a live or dead bat inside or outside your home. Never touch bats, especially if appearing sick or dead. Keep your pets' rabies vaccinations up-to-date.

Nevada Co. Farm Bureau 100th Year Agriculture Tour

Now in its 100th year, the Nevada County Farm Bureau (NCFB) is excited to announce that the 2017 Nevada County Agriculture Tour will be an all-day event on Wednesday, June 14; and will feature farm, ranch, and vineyard visits that represent the diversity and innovation of agriculture in Nevada County.

Tour stops include:

- Super Tuber Organic Potato Farm and AM Ranch Pastured Pigs
- Heart and Soul Alpacas and Spinnery
- West Coast Equine Sports Therapy
- Historic Miller Ranch (including a BBQ lunch by the pond)
- Chacewater Ponderosa Vineyards

"As we celebrate the 100th year of the Nevada County Farm Bureau, it seems fitting to provide the opportunity for members of the public to experience one of our most exciting Ag Tour events to date. Attendees will have the opportunity to visit a historic ranch, see behind the scenes at a leading-edge equine therapy facility, taste some of our finest local wines, learn about holistically grown pork and potatoes, and maybe even pet an alpaca!"

Tickets for the tour are available by advance purchase only until June 9, and can be purchased by visiting www.nevadacountyfarmbureau.com or by calling NCFB Manager, Debora Totoonchie, at (530) 346-8146. The cost is $40 (or $30 for NCFB Members.) Tickets include air-conditioned transportation, lunch, educational talks at each stop, and wine tasting. Space is limited and the event is expected to sell out.

About the Nevada County Farm Bureau: Nevada County Farm Bureau is an organization where all county residents interested in ranching, farming, and agriculture have the opportunity to join together, stay informed, and have a voice in managing agricultural resources. For more information about membership and to learn more about NCFB programs like Farm Day, agricultural advocacy, youth scholarships, the annual farm picnic and dinner, and educational workshops, please visit www.nevadacountyfarmbureau.com.

A Beloved Father's Day Tradition Since 1961

A New Tradition This Year

The 57th annual Nevada City Classic returns to the foothills on Father's Day weekend, June 17th & 18th, 2017, celebrating a tradition that is older than national Father's Day itself. New for 2017, the traditional 1-day bicycle race (which has a reputation as perhaps the most challenging 1-day bicycle race in America) is expanding to a 2-day affair which will also include Saturday cycling events and an urban running event on Sunday aptly named The Nevada City Mile.

Beginning on Saturday morning, Gourmet Gravel Nevada City will open the festivities with a Gravel Grinder event starting and finishing at ol' Republic Brewery in the Seven Hills District of Nevada City. With so many pristine gravel and dirt roads a stones throw from Nevada City, we want to showcase what a great location Nevada City is for the newest and fastest growing segment of cycling in the US, gravel/mixed terrain riding. Not to be outdone by the riding, ol' Republic will be host to the post ride party & raffle not to be missed.

Saturday evening will be a first for Historic Downtown Nevada City with straight line bicycle street sprints up Broad St. Starting in front of the Historical National Hotel and finishing approximately 225 leg burning yards directly up Broad St, cyclist will race flat out, four to a heat with two riders advancing and two being eliminated each round until a final dash for cash of four riders for both men & women battling head to head for top honors. Incredibly spectator friendly, the entire scene can be viewed from anywhere along the course. Sunday sees an expanded day for the traditional Father's Day Classic. Bicycling events will begin in the 10 o'clock hour with the kids ride followed by amateur and then professional women & men. Positioned before the Pro/Am women's event will be the inaugural Nevada City Mile running race. The course will be the Nevada City Cycling Classic criterium course which is a 1.1 mile, 7-turn, counter-clockwise loop with 110'+/- of climbing per lap through Nevada City's narrow Victorian streets. An urban course truly unique to running with a straight downhill finish, the same finish on which cyclists have in recent years have been clocked at over 60 miles-per-hour.

THE WAY IT USED TO BE By Larry R. Matthews

PEAVINE TOM'S ORDEAL

Peavine Tom had remained close to death for almost three days. It was September 1879 and Tom was pretty much in the middle of nowhere. There was no doctor near and he had not seen anyone for those days – not even anyone who could have given him a decent burial. For those days he had crawled through the underbrush. He had a large scalp wound, his ribs were exposed on his left side and his left arm was useless; having been dislocated. Tom was 41 years old and had been a hunter all of his life. He worked at Buck's Ranch in the Plumas County area of Bucks Valley. Bucks Valley had been established in 1850 by Horace Bucklin. Tom was known as a great hunter and one of his duties at the ranch was to ride out into the country and bring back game. It was on one of these expeditions when he was injured. On the morning of the third day he managed to crawl to a pasture where cattle were grazing. It was part of the ranch where he worked. A ranch hand came out to investigate why the cattle were being spooked. Apparently they had picked up the scent of Tom's blood. He found the nearly dead Tom lying in a bloody heap. Tom was carried to the bunkhouse where his wounds were dressed and he was fed some soup so that he could regain some strength. When Tom awoke a day later he told a fantastic story. So strange that those hearing it thought he was hallucinating. It was hard to believe that any human could have survived what Tom said he had. So nobody believed it. The ranch owner told two of his ranch hands to back track on Tom's trail so that they could recover several horses that Tom had taken with him when he had disappeared. The trail was very easy to follow and within a day the two men came upon a clearing. In the clearing they found Tom's rifle, some ripped and bloody clothing and the bodies of three bears. One had been shot and the other two had been killed by Tom's knife. One had its throat slit and the other still had Tom's knife stuck through its heart. Tom's story had been true. He had surprised five bears in a clearing. He had shot one bear and then two of the others had advanced upon him before he could chamber another round. He had successfully fought three bears at the same time with a gun and a knife and had miraculously come out the battered survivor. Tom eventually healed and continued to work at the ranch for many years. But I would be willing to bet that he thought twice the next time he went hunting for dangerous game. Today much of the area of Bucks Valley and Bucks Ranch is flooded by a large man made lake. The Feather River Power Company built the dam in 1928. It's still a semi-isolated community with a population of about 10. Throughout all of the history of Bucks Lake there has probably never been another story quite as unique as the one when Peavine Tom and his three bears had their fracas. (In researching this story I could not verify why Tom was called Peavine Tom. However, there was a place once known as Peavine that is now called Merrimac. It's located half way between Bucks Lake and Brush Creek on Oro Quincy Highway. Tom and his Native American family may have resided in that area.)

Sutter Performing Arts Association's "The Theater Gallery"

Yuba City, Ca. June brings multi-talented ROSARIO CLERICI-GREEN to The Theater Gallery in Yuba City. Her exhibit features dynamic acrylic paintings and interactive mixed media sculptures. Joining her are resident artists Luisa Leger, D.Ellen Day, Paul Spoto, Rosalynd Bliss, and Janet Todd. The art show/sale runs from June 1 through June 30. Don't miss the Artist Reception at the gallery on Thursday, June 1, from 6:00 to 8:00 pm. The event is free, offering complimentary refreshments. Located at 756 Plumas Street in downtown Yuba City next to the Sutter Theater, the gallery's hours are Wednesday through Saturday, 12:00 to 5:00 pm during the exhibit. After earning college degrees from Chico State University and Concordia University in Portland, ROSARIO CLERICI-GREEN began dabbling in art. A self-taught artist since 2001, Rosario considers herself a "life long student" not only in art, but also in her work with nonprofit organizations, such as the "Centered Learning Academy" which she founded several years ago. In her view, "thoughts become things" as a person strives for self-realization and empowerment. Creating art is a perfect example of this, because it requires you to be "right there in that moment." Her artwork is both dynamic and versatile. She feels that art should be about choices where the viewer becomes engaged, wanting to have a closer look and interact with it. For her, a yearly trip to the coast of El Salvador inspires her to create soothing, relaxing sculptures influenced by the sea and marine life. Hers will be a stunning show that will tickle your fancy and engage your curiosity! The Theater Gallery is open every week, Wednesday through Saturday, from noon to 5:00 p.m. Come in and enter the drawing to win a jewelry piece each month. An Artist Reception is held from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on the first Thursday of every month, complete with complimentary wine and hors d'oeuvres. Proceeds from The Theater Gallery benefit the Sutter Performing Arts Association's effort to renovate the Sutter Theater, turning it into a viable community center. In 1877, a United States Post Office was established in the tiny community of Occident. A year later, the name was changed to Maxwell in honor of George Maxwell, who donated land in the area for a railroad line. Originally a depot station on the Northern Railway, the community grew steadily, becoming a prominent point for the handling of grain which included two large warehouses with the capacity of 22,000 tons of storage. The soil in the area was also adapted to fruit and viticulture with small vineyards planted along with pears, peaches, cherries, apricots and oranges "growing side by side". As the importance of providing sufficient water for these crops grew in importance, the citizenry had great confidence in the development of their area with the completion of a proposed irrigation district which would be headquartered in Maxwell. On November 22, 1887, the Central Irrigation District was organized by the vote of the electors of the district composed of 160,000 acres of land lying on the plains and in the central part of Colusa County. By April 2, 1888 the question of issuing bonds to raise money for the construction of irrigation works was also approved by the electors. The source of water supply was the Sacramento River with the head of the canal located near the northeast corner of the county. Its course would run six miles southwest to Willows, follow the foothills to a point midway between Williams and Arbuckle, where its outlet would be in a small creek. It was estimated that the main canal would be 30 miles with sub-canal supplying the lands with water. Among the members of the Board of Directors was Patrick Hagan, a native of Ireland who arrived to California in 1869. Residing five miles northwest of Maxwell, Hagan was an ardent supporter of irrigation measures and was "impressed" with Colusa County's possibilities of the varieties of fruit and other crops which could be raised in the area. William Semple Green, Assistant Engineer for the project, was well-known as the "father of irrigation" in the state, who envisioned that the Central Irrigation Canal would "impart life in the land, the orchard and the vineyard, thus multiplying homes, diversifying products, establishing a market and placing Colusa County in the van (forefront) of production, of usefulness and of domestic comfort". Over the years, Maxwell included two hotels, drug stores, lodgings, four saloons, a photography studio, a hardware store, bakery, three general stores men's furnishings, two livery stables, a lumberyard, a variety store, two blacksmiths shops and a meat market. There were also contractors, realtors, an insurance office and a physician. By 1891, Maxwell also boasted of a public school constructed of brick and three churches--Catholic, Methodist and Baptist. There were also lodges including A.O.U.W., a parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West; a Masonic Order and Odd Fellows. The Maxwell Mercury newspaper was conducted by John G. Overshiner and was "independent in politics" and "a staunch advocate of irrigation". And thanks to those pioneers and supporters of the Central Irrigation District and other water projects in the region, this would just be the beginning. The community of Princeton will be featured in July

Colusa County Fair Happenings

Fair Beer Garden

"The Garden, hosted each year by the Sacramento Rural Fire Protection District (Sac River Fire) has been relocated to a larger area next to the Main Stage entertainment and closer to all of the food and the main mall," said Fair CEO Jonathan Howard. In past years beer garden patrons have been restricted to staying in the garden while enjoying their beverage. This year the rules have changed and patrons will be allowed to walk about the fairgrounds with their beer until 7pm daily.

Etchepare Garden

Etchepare Hall and courtyard/stage area at the Colusa County Fair will be a hub of entertainment and culture at this year's Fair says CEO Jonathan Howard. Two years ago, the circa 1970's Etchepare Hall was rejuvenated and updated with the development of Frances M. Etchepare Memorial Courtyard/Stage and renovations to the hall itself. The renovations to the hall included painting of the building and installation of air conditioning for the building. A drainage system was put into place to eliminate any flooding issues of the area. This year the stage and the hall will host live music from returning artist Razzvio, a violin and electronic drum duo that reinvent familiar pop and rock arrangements from an entirely different angle. New to the stage is Jessica Sty-ler playing an instrument called Hand Pans (Hang). Hang sounds like an incredible meld between a harp, xylophone, hand bells, and a gong. In addition to Razzvio and Jessica Styler, the stage will be filled with more acts including local talent. "We will have more shows on the stage this year, and the hall itself will be filled with the floral displays," he said.

New Event for Festival Hall

Instead of only the usual commercial items, the building, will now host about 30 booths including commercial and handmade items. "Our goal for the building is to create an opportunity for the whole family to find souvenirs from the fair," said Araceli Plaza from the fairgrounds. "We have a candy lady coming back this year," said Plaza. "Everyone likes the candy." Johnston Amusements and the Johnston family have been entertaining families for more than 60 years. Johnston Amusements is one of the top providers of amusement rides, games and food. "They are the best of the best, and we are fortunate to have them at our Colusa County Fair," said Fair CEO Jonathan Howard. "This year's theme is "Carnival Fun for Everyone," said Howard. Having Johnston Amusements here makes that more than a theme; it is a solid promise," he added.

CRITIC'S CORNER

by Matt Woolery

Baywatch

Starring: Dwayne Johnson, Zac Efron, and Alexandra Daddario.
Rated: R, Runtime: 116 minutes.

When a driven villain runs drugs, commits murder, and corrupts politicians to attain their goals of bay domination, who can stand in their way? The indomitable swimsuit clad pack of duty driven lifeguards. Based on the nineties television show of the same name, Baywatch, takes an absurdly comical view of the life saving, crime fighting antics of the Baywatch Squad. With more than a few genital related jokes and some over the top action sequences the sheer charismatic power of the cast and overall fun tone of the film keep it from being overly disturbing. Baywatch, earns three out of five Beach Grifting Monkeys. Baywatch doesn't take itself too seriously at all and still manages to be fun and keep a cohesive story line. There is some solid comedy and the actors do a great job keeping a straight face during some funny scenes. There are naked bits and foul language, hence the R rating. So if you happen to find yourself near a movie house and are looking for some fun summer entertainment then this should meet your needs.
