Grand Marshal for “Second Annual Historic Faire Parade”

Marysville, Ca.

On Wednesday December 21, 2016 at the Brick Coffee House, a group of representatives from the Focus on Marysville & the Mary Aaron Memorial Museum presented Mr. Dick Marquette an invitation to be the Grand Marshal in the parade at the Second Annual Historic Faire in Marysville to be held on February 11, 2017.

When presented with the honor the group was not surprised that Dick was not speechless. It took him by surprise and within seconds he told the group he was thankful and quite humbled. He then continued to do what he does best tell historic stories of Marysville's Past. By the end of the week a three-page letter was received from Mr. Marquette with suggestions and ideas for the event, with a note indicating the following:

“I am much honored to be the Grand Marshal. I'm very excited there is so much energy being put towards this event and we need to give the people something new, which is Marysville's Historic Past”.

Mr. Marquette, known as “Dick” was the official mail carrier of Marysville Historic District. He grew up and worked for more than 40 years as a mailman. He also is known for his art work which not too many people know of. If given the chance to sit with Mr. Marquette, he will take you on a trip through Marysville when saloons and Bordello's ruled. He can remember today addresses of every merchant located in the downtown district. He is a walking history of knowledge of Marysville's past, the people, and places of yesterday.

It wasn't hard for the group to see that Dick was most suitable for the title “Parade Grand Marshal” for the Second Annual Historic Faire

The “Second Annual Historic Faire” is set to be held on Saturday February 11 2017, five days after Marysville Celebrates 166 years of its' Incorporation.

For more information on the event contact Judy at 530-740-2418 or Ken at 530-415-3893 or consultfree-man@gmail.com.

First Baby of the Year

Sierra Nevada Memorial Hospital

Grass Valley, Ca.

The first baby born at Dignity Health Sierra Nevada Memorial Hospital in the new year, Miles Henry Mathiasen, arrived at 5:24 a.m. on January 2, weighing 8 pounds, 1 ounce, and 21 inches in length.

This is the first child for parents Tine and Tavish Mathiasen, who moved to Grass Valley two years ago. Tine is a Grass Valley native and Tavish is originally from Gilroy.

“It's pretty special - it's the most amazing thing,” said father Tavish about the arrival of their son. Tine shared his sentiment, adding, “We've really been looking forward to starting our family.”

The family received a red wagon full of baby items provided by local merchants, a tradition made possible each year through generous community businesses.

We wish to congratulate the Mathiasens, and warmly welcome Miles to our community.

Sutter Sups Hire Mitnick for CAO – Makes Sense

News/Commentary by Lou Binninger

Sutter County Supervisors voted unanimously January 3rd to hire Scott Mitnick as their County Administrator. Just over 5 months ago, July 7, 2015, Thousand Oaks (T.O.) City Council voted unanimously to fire him as their City Manager.

After serving Thousand Oaks in Ventura County for 16 years and with friends on the City Council he was fired for lying, being manipulative and deceptive, and using his job time and business email for personal benefit.

His position as city manager was used to persuade corporations doing business with the city to financially support his sons' high school baseball team. He pressured school officials to replace personnel in the athletic program while withholding a $20,000 city athletic grant to upgrade baseball fields as leverage. He asked city and school district personnel to conceal his unethical behavior.

The Sutter County windfall for Mitnick is like the traveler handcuffed and arrested for driving while intoxicated. His car is towed and he's heading to jail in the back of a cruiser. He's pondering the horrible consequences and financial loss. However, to his surprise, when he gets to booking, everyone starts clapping, blowing horns, they hand him a gavel and declare him mayor. What a city!

Supervisors are so enamored of Mitnick that they spiked his pay for the job to $230,000 plus benefits, most ever in Sutter County. Benefits fit for a king include a $500 / mo. vehicle allowance, all professional dues and subscriptions paid, the “cafeteria plan” of health / dental / vision / life / accidental death and dismemberment insurance, $500 / mo. for deferred compensation increasing to $1,000 in 2018, and a $250,000 life insurance policy. He also gets all county holidays and for starters 100 hours of vacation and another 100 hours of sick leave.

To quote from an article by Mike Harris, writer for the Ventura County Star, “Your termination is for cause — dishonesty, as set forth in ... your employment agreement,” TO Mayor Joel Price wrote in a July 7 notice of termination to Mitnick.

“You ... failed to honestly answer questions of the City Council and staff, violated city policy, and did not effectively perform the duties of city manager,” Price wrote. “Your actions are an embarrassment to the organization.”

“As a result of your dishonesty, the City Council has lost confidence in your ability to fully and effectively discharge the duties of city manager,” Price wrote. “Trust and credibility are an essential element in the city manager's relationship with the City Council, the community, other governmental agencies, the executive team, and city staff.”

“Mitnick's actions also “erode public confidence in the city, negatively impact many aspects of city operations, and are inimical to public service,” Price wrote.

Mitnick did not initially own up to the whole truth when ‘confessing’ that his blunder only amounted to using his business email for personal communication. In fact, the council seemed understanding at first.

However, information uncovered by two newspapers, the Thousand Oaks Acorn (TOA) and the Ventura County Star (VCS), via Freedom of Information Act requests for emails led to Mitnick's firing.

Emails show Mitnick happily thanking businesses for baseball sponsorships and assuring a good word when they come before the city council again. Emails also show his interference with the school district.

Section 1, Chapter 10 of the Thousand Oaks city code states: “Officials or employees . . . should avoid even the appearance of conflict between their public duties and private interests.”

Mitnick made extreme demands of the school booster

Never lose money

Losses and negative balances when they occur can be an unwelcome aspect of investing but they can actually tell us a lot about what kind of strategies are being used and whether they are appropriate for a particular investor's situation.

In my humble opinion, the words of famous investor Warren Buffet apply first and foremost:

"Rule No. 1: never lose money; rule No. 2: don't forget rule No. 1."

Investors would be prudent to heed such advice. Limiting losses when the market moves against you is more important than how much you make in up markets.

Looking at the percentage amount of your losses in down markets may be an indication of how much at risk your portfolio might be. On the flip side, how much you make in up markets also can indicate the level of risk.

Suppose an investor sees a general market increase of 50% and his portfolio moves up by the same amount or even exceeds the percentage and gains even more. The investor is thrilled and perceives the strategy a sound one and that he or his advisor is a genius.

Standing back and analyzing that result with more thought however may yield a different opinion.

If the portfolio rises in lockstep with the market, it could also fall in lockstep. In our example, a 50% gain may feel great, but if the market falls 50%, would a 50% loss in your portfolio feel as good?

Probably not. Most investors I know would not tolerate such a setback. A 50% loss is a gigantic hole to dig out of. To recover from such a loss would then require the market to double from the lower level due to the math involved just to break even. Many investors might think the market only has to recover 50% from such a loss but a rise of 50% gain from the lower level would still yield a 25% loss.

A portfolio that moves up in lockstep with the market may mean you are over exposed for your level of comfort should the market move against you.

A more conservative approach may mean you make less in up markets but you also won't be subject to violating rule No. 1 as badly.

Think back to the markets of 2009. Many investors took losses in the double digits and some lost significant amounts and still haven't recovered. Had the losses been limited to single digits however, recovery is much quicker and a lot less stressful.

If you are seeing huge profits in your portfolio in up markets, that may indicate a level of exposure you may not be comfortable with once the markets move against you. Generally speaking, a more conservative approach will mean you won't make as much when markets run, but it also means you won't lose as much if markets fall.

Portfolios that don't move much may not seem as exciting or rewarding as your neighbors portfolio at times, but it may mean you will sleep a lot better than he will if the tide of markets rush out unexpectedly.

Portfolios that grow slowly over time but keep losses at a minimum when they inevitably occur, could help to keep rule No.1 at bay.

Heavy concentrations in stocks to gather fast gains may be enticing but there was a reason the tortoise beat the hare. Slow and steady may be the order of the day when it comes to long term investing and living within your risk tolerance level.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 70 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

As I write this week's column it has been raining for three days. According to our weather source it will continue to rain for another three days and then he advises to expect a break, not a very long one, but a break for a day or two. The news media and local folks, who are old enough, are talking about the "pineapple express". This brings back memories of 1986 when Linda flooded with a break in the Yuba River levee. And then we have the 1955 flood which inundated Yuba City after the levee gave away at the Gum Tree (Shanghai Bend) with the Feather River lapping at the top of the levees.

In 1955 it rained for three weeks solid with no letup and we almost lost Marysville, probably would have it the levee on the Feather River at Shanghai had not broken. I was throwing sand bags at the base of the "D" Street Bridge when the water burst through the asphalt on the street. A lot of brave men refused to stop and actually stopped the water as it rushed down D Street. Many of those men, including myself, lived in Yuba City and lost everything.

These kinds of storms really put the brakes on fishing. Streams and rivers are blown out and lakes and reservoirs become dirty with runoff. The aftermath of the high water is devastation to the fish families, especially the rivers and streams in the foothills and mountains. I recall fishing the opening weekend in 1956. By the end of April the stream was still running high and the fish were not interested. Those trout I caught were all beat up with some missing half a tail or a fin. When I caught the first trout, a 10 inch rainbow, I was overwhelmed with the damage to the fish and realized just how hard the raging waters can be to those creatures that live there.

If you want to wet a line during this storm I suggest you head down to the Delta. Reports tell us the stripers are cooperating as well as the sturgeon. Once the high water stabilizes sturgeon will be the ticket in the Sacramento River. We will more than likely see sturgeon in the Feather and American as well. Of course, we cannot leave out steelhead, which are currently in local rivers.

Closing thought: "Life is short, so be kind, love your family and remember the basic things in life are the most important."

CRITIC'S CORNER

Passengers

Starring: Jennifer Lawrence, Chris Pratt, and Michael Sheen. Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 116 minutes.

A starship hurtles through space at half the speed of light. Not a person awake during the one hundred and twenty year voyage. Until one fateful day a passenger wakes up to find himself the alone in the vast corridors of the Avalon with ninety years left in the journey and not a way to put himself back to sleep.

Passengers, flows nicely from act to act with some brilliant acting and set design. The technical devices used in the film are great as well the automoton bartender and the maintenance droids help tie things together. The space walks are nicely done, however the fusion reactor scene is almost too much.

Passengers, earns four out of five, Door Holding Monkeys, This is a great sci-fi film. It holds the attention and explores the psychological aspects as well as the technical aspects of a great sci-fi story. Man verses machine and man verses himself. Just a good solid movie.

The Ghost of Stephen J. Field Returns Throwing the 167th birthday party for Marysville

Marysville, Ca.

The ghost of Stephen J. Field, who plans to haunt Marysville until a statue is erected in honor of Marysville's first politician and first U.S. Supreme Court Justice from the American West, is throwing a party for California's Oldest Little City's 167th birthday on the evening of Wednesday, January 18.

Live music, comedic history, a light-hearted musical slide show documenting Marysville's past, and birthday cake will all be part of the program, which is a fund raiser for Yuba-Sutter Arts. Cost is $5.

The celebration will occur at the Lee Burrows Center for the Arts theater at 7th and E streets in Marysville at 6 p.m.

"No one shares my particular perspective of the importance of Marysville in the development of California and the United States," said the ghost, who talks incessantly about his own significance in the founding of the city.

Field, who was born 200 years ago, came to California in 1849 at age 33, having left his brother's law practice in New York to explore opportunities in the American frontier. On January 18, 1850, just three days after arriving at what was then known as Nye's Ranch, and after convincing the property owners to form a city, he was elected its first politician: alcalde, under the Mexican rule of law which was still common in the period between the Treaty of Hidalgo under which the United States took possession of California in 1848 and California statehood in 1850.

On the night of the election, they celebrated with champagne and decided to name the new city Marysville, in honor of Mary Murphy Covillaud, a survivor of the Donner Party and the wife of the largest property owner, Charles Covillaud.

Field taxed the gambling tables to form a police department and implemented the whipping post to compensate for the lack of a jail. He was later elected to the California Assembly and the California Supreme Court, before being named by Abraham Lincoln to the United States Supreme Court, where he served longer than all but one other justice in the history of the court.

Last year, the ghost of Stephen J. Field emerged as a character personified by local history enthusiast Chuck Smith, a West Marysville resident who advocates the creation of statuary for Field, Mary Murphy Covillaud and two of her sisters, and African-American Mountain Man James Pierson Beckwourth. Mary Murphy's two sisters, Harriet and Sarah, walked for 32 days through knee deep snow from Donner Summit to Wheatland to alert rescuers to the plight of their families. Beckwourth discovered the lowest elevation pass in the Sierra Nevada and led the first intact wagon train down the Feather River canyon and into Marysville five years after the Donner Party was stranded at what became known as Donner Summit at the head of the Yuba River watershed.

The evening will begin with the talented musical duo of Tom and Gay Galvin of Marysville, who perform in a variety of styles and promise their own birthday interpretation. The ghost of Stephen J. Field will then regale the audience with tales of Marysville's early days, including the unique relations between Field and other judges, often involving attempts on his life and resulting in his own arrest for murder and a famous court case that dramatically expanded the power of the federal government.

The evening will conclude with the home made documentary, "A Story of Marysville," and a birthday cake.

For information about the event, feel free to leave a message for the Ghost of Stephen J. Field with Chuck Smith at 530-844-0453.

Your One Minute News Digest

by Don Rae

• The Democrats and their fellow-travelers are girding their loins to do battle after January 20. Fortunately America holds the Trump card.

• Michele has no hope? But America does.

• Obama allowed a UN Resolution against Israel's existence. Does this action have anything to do with Obama's upbringing as a Muslim in his early childhood? What a childish tizzy-fit in his final days.

• Obama claims he would have won re-election in 2016. He's a co-median.

• The usual suspects rail against Trump's "arms race" comment. Why? Because none of them have any clue how to negotiate. Keep in mind they sent Hillary and Kerry out as US representatives.

• Talking heads in the media keep asking Trump what his strategy is to defeat ISIS. Why in heaven should he tell news organizations (which are liberal blowhards) how we intend to attack the enemy?

• It gets worse. All the talking heads bloviate about what the politicians will or will not be doing. What they are missing is the ordinary voters in the heart of the country don't think or act like politicians and lobbyists as they view the world and go about their daily lives. The 2016 result shows that logically sound, common sense working Americans are fed up to the gills with ignorant, warped thinking and have sent one of their own to "drain the swamp."

• Trump won 80% of the evangelical vote and the left goes ballistic. Hillary won more than 90% of the Black vote and liberals go into ecstasy.

• "I never anticipated that one of the great joys of Trump's election would be the liberal meltdown. God, this is sinfully delicious fun." - James Wood

• The Weather Channel recently highlighted California's Salton Sea as vanishing, implying that it is disappearing due to climate change. What a pack of liberal lies. The Salton Sea was created early in the 20th Century when the Colorado River broke through a levee and flooded the lower California desert. It is not a natural feature, or even one which was planned to exist. Since it has no natural fresh water inlet, it has been evaporating and shrinking ever since its creation. To blame its demise on climate change is simply another progressive myth.

• A judge in Monterey County decides where to house a released sex offender? Simple answer, in Monterey. And he thinks that $3800 a month of taxpayer money is reasonable rent to house this predator? Maybe in Monterey. For that amount, the judge could have rented a mansion locally.

• Your tax dollars at work. $24.7 million to save the Philippines from rising sea levels due to climate change. Then again, there is the study to see if smiling in your selfie makes you feel happier.

• Democrats for decades have accused Republicans of being the party of old white men. The Democrat leadership of today averages 74 years old and is all White. Another lie by the lefties.

• We must be very careful about believing anything "experts" spout. However, some statistics appear to tell an accurate story. For example, the Democrats are now the majority in the governor's seat and both legislative chambers in only 5 states, primarily coastal. The Democrats have lost more than 1030 elected seats in governor, Congress and state legislature

• Moonbeam is looking out for the people as he granted 112 pardons just before Christmas. Brown has issued more than 850 pardons since 2011, many for drug crimes. In the 20 years before Moonbeam, California governors issued a total of 28 pardons.

• And speaking of pardons, Obama has released huge numbers of felons also, including many who were armed to the teeth during their crimes.

• Associate Professor of Politics and Global Studies at Drexel University in Philadelphia, George Ciccariello-Maher, tweeted his Christmas wish of "white genocide." And he is still employed at this illustrious university. Considering he's a poster child for University behavior, is it any wonder our children are so totally screwed up? Interestingly enough he happens to be white. Too bad he isn't inclined to lead the pack.

• If Hillary's vote lead in California were subtracted from the national total, she would have lost the popular vote. Another good reason to support the State of Jefferson idea?

• The apoplectic response of the media and lefties about the business people Trump has selected for his cabinet and other top jobs is in keeping with their lack of understanding of business. It must grate their souls that they have never run anything, except their mouths, as successful folks now take over the reins of the Washington swamp.

• Did you know that $2.5 million of your hard earned tax money was spent by Obama to find out what makes a good first date?

• Matthew Robinson, a PhD, has defined "social justice" as existing when people are "not ...discriminated against, nor their welfare and well-being constrained or prejudiced on the basis of gender, sexuality, religion, political affiliations, age, race, belief, disability, location, social class, socioeconomic circumstances, or other characteristic of background or group membership." In other words, everyone gets a trophy.

• As for Obamacare. The Republicans have had 8 years to figure out a good alternative. If they have squandered this time, they are useless. Get with it Republicans. The voters have spoken.

• There are some 20 million who have signed up for Obamacare, under the threat of fines. What if it is repealed and there is a delay in getting something else on line? Probably no big deal. The huge deductibles in Obamacare assure that no one will be able to use their insurance anyway.

• The Manson follower, Patricia Krenwinkel has since 1971 enjoyed room and board, medical aid and every other convenience paid for by taxpayers. Why? Because the California Supreme Court decreed that the death penalty was unconstitutional. Show us where in the Constitution it says so. Thanks "do gooders" for wasting huge amounts of our money on a killer.

• Many universities are spending taxpayer money touting the use of "gender-neutral" pronouns as being warm and fuzzy and welcoming to all. What this fascist tirade really does is make students scared out of their minds that they will offend someone and be accused of microaggression and hate speech. Their only defense is to keep their mouths shut. Suppression of free speech. When will this nonsense cease?

Hindus Seek Diwali Holiday in all 1025 California Public School Districts

Hindus are urging all 1,025 public school districts of California to declare official holiday on Diwali, the most popular of their festivals.

They are also urging California's all 1,222 charter schools, all about 3,170 private schools and all independent schools also to adopt Diwali as an official holiday on their 2017-2018 school year calendars.

Hindu statesman Rajan Zed, in a statement today, pointed out that it would be a step in the positive direction in view of presence of a substantial number of Hindu students at schools around the state, as it was important to meet the religious and spiritual needs of these pupils. Some school districts in New York, New Jersey and Maryland had reportedly already declared Diwali as a holiday.

Zed, who is President of Universal Society of Hinduism, indicated that schools should make efforts to accommodate the religious requirements of Hindu students and show respect to their faith by not conducting regular business and scheduling classes on Diwali. We did not want our students to be put at an unnecessary disadvantage for missing tests/examinations/papers, assignments, class work, etc.; by taking a day-off to observe Diwali.

If California schools stayed closed on other religious holidays, why not Diwali, Rajan Zed asked. Holidays of all major religions should be honored and no one should be penalized for practicing their religion, Zed added

Zed suggested all California schools to seriously look into declaring Diwali as an official holiday, thus recognizing the intersection of spirituality and education. Zed noted that awareness about other religions thus created by such holidays like Diwali would make California students well-nurtured, well-balanced, and enlightened citizens of tomorrow.

Rajan Zed urged California Governor Edmund Gerald Brown Jr., California State Board of Education President Dr. Michael Kirst, California Superintendent of Public Instruction Tom Torlakson, California School Boards Association CEO Vernon M. Billy, California Charter Schools Association President Jed Wallace, California Association of Private School Organizations President Kevin Baxter, and California Association of Independent Schools Executive Director James McManus to work towards adding Diwali as an official holiday in all the public, charter, private and independent schools of the state.

Zed further says that Hinduism is rich in festivals and religious festivals are very dear and sacred to Hindus. Diwali, the festival of lights, aims at dispelling the darkness and lighting up the lives and symbolizes the victory of good over evil. Besides Hindus; Sikhs and Jains and some Buddhists also celebrate Diwali, which falls on October 19 in 2017.

Hinduism is oldest and third largest religion of the world with about one billion adherents and moksh (liberation) is its ultimate goal. There are about three million Hindus in USA.

A New Business in Oregon House

The Wellness Center (12896 Rice's Crossing Rd.) in Oregon House has a piece of Public Art installed. The "be WELL come" art quilt (created by Maria Billings, installed by Peter Adams) greets visitors as they approach the facility. "We wanted something that integrates with nature and what's already here," said Terra Kosako, building manager and B & E healer. "Maria did a great job designing and executing this piece. It's all hand-work; so it is a personal art statement, just like our group of wellness specialists, we all take a very personal approach to YOUR health - it's the personal touch that counts."

Textile art and quilting hardly need an introduction; even abroad, quilting is often automatically associated with American culture. Art quilts can be used to communicate a message: whether you read this as "Be well", "Well-come", or "become well", all of these are implied. To find out more about Maria's art see www.MariaBillings.com.

The Wellness Center just opened in December 2016: Terra Kosako (Thai Massage, 530.218.6243), Laura O'Brien (Craniosacral Therapist, 530.218.6809), and Patricia Stahl (Marriage Family Therapist, 530.635.0499) provide services for you - with more spaces available. Both together, the focus on your personal wellness and site-specific public art are a gift to the surrounding communities. Come and check it out.

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Martin Luther King Jr. Day is Monday, January 16. Martin Luther King, Jr. was born in Atlanta, Georgia on January 15, 1929 and was assassinated in Memphis, Tennessee on April 4, 1968 at the age of 39. During his short life he accomplished much for the progression of Civil Rights in the U.S. As a Baptist minister, he joined other civil rights leaders to found the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in 1952. On August 28, 1963, he gave his unforgettable "I Have a Dream", speech at the March on Washington where over a quarter million people, from all races and walks of life, gathered from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial, onto the National Mall and circled the reflecting pool. He won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964, the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 1977 (posthumous) and the Congressional Gold Medal in 2004 (posthumous). The YFCS has sent out membership forms along with a newsletter and a message from the committee president. There are plans in the works for fund raising activities and events all through 2017. If you did not receive your membership form in the mail, you can contact Colleen Weckman at 675-3221 or pick one up at Books and More.

Friday, January 13, is National Rubber Ducky Day. I know, I know, it sounds crazy, but it's actually on my calendar. So, take your Rubber Ducky to lunch, for a walk in the park or just a good old float in the tub. Quack (oops, I mean squeak)

Precipitation up, snowpack down
Jan. 3 readings by the Department of Water Resources measured the water equivalent in the statewide snowpack at 70 percent of historic average. Total precipitation since Oct. 1 has been above average, but warmer temperatures caused more rain and less snow. Total water storage in state reservoirs is estimated at 98 percent of historic average. Acting Director Bill Croyle is "cautiously optimistic" about the state's water conditions, though it's still too early to determine the impact on the drought.

eggs, butter, nuts, raisins, whole-body turkeys and sparkling wine. Some of those same products and others will also see demand rise in anticipation of lunar New Year celebrations at the end of the month.
Mushrooms gain popularity
Propelled by increased demand from home cooks and food-service operators, many California mushroom farmers have increased production of the versatile fungus. Farmers say customers are interested in the crop's health benefits, particularly its vitamin D content. Another popular attribute is its "blendability," in which mushrooms are mixed with ground meat to create burgers and meatballs.

The Puppet Masters

Author, Chuck Frank

Where does the real blame belong with regard to what transpired in the last 8 years of the Obama dictatorship? It lies not only with Obama but also the deceitful puppet masters of Saudi Arabia, the Rothschild's, the Rockefeller's, the czars of the federal agencies, members of Congress, lobbyists, the Clinton regime, Hol-lyweird, anti-Christian agendas and pro Islam favoritism. It was all fast & furious but it is coming to an end, like all rogue insurgencies that finally do. Now we must look to a recovery mode.

We don't need any more kingdoms, corporate Lords, czars of the agencies, biased judges or dictators that are appointed or "elected" into a federal, state, city or a county office. We just need leadership that encourages prayer, and observes one nation under God, the Bill of Rights and the U.S. Constitution. Leaders need to be loyal and sold out to those who are of the working class who fit the bill and who are already paying their fair share and more, all the while, they are toiling very hard at what they do to make a dollar and a decent living.

And what may I ask was the result of the past dictatorship which paid no attention to the anger and discontent of nearly 70 million voters, the farm foreclosures, the excessive regulations, the lack of jobs, our Judeo/Christian heritage, the inner governmental corruption and finally the lack of reaching out to the middle class who primarily supports the inner workings of a political/economic/social and educational system? The result is this. Those faithless and treasonous politicians of years past have now paid the price and it's called blowback! Their treacherous plans did not go unnoticed in the last election.

Now then, I would not say that I am a fan of the Huffington Post but here is a semi-accurate analysis of what happened during Obama's 8 year "major transformation" stint.

The Huffington Post's political editor, Sam Stein shares the following with regard to Obama.

'What were the electoral benefits that he gave to the party?' President Obama oversaw "the destruction of the Democratic Party," leaving it "in a much worse position" than before his presidency started. "You look at the destruction of the Democratic Party under Barack Obama's leadership and you have to wonder, what was the political — what were the electoral benefits that he gave to the party?" Stein asked on MSNBC's "Morning Joe" on Wednesday.

"He leaves them in a much worse position," Stein continued. "The states are decimated, they lost control of the House and Senate, the governorships are decimated."

Was this just the destruction of the Democratic Party? Not quite. The agenda was a revolutionary movement meant to destroy the entire nation and rebuild it into a totalitarian regime that would eventually be part of a New World International Order. I don't know what could be more closer to the truth? Even the Pope supports a New World Order.

But, that is just the tip of the iceberg when one considers the amount of corruption and kickbacks and all of the deals that have transpired since the last four Presidents came into office. My head is still spinning from all of the deceit that transpired along the way from so many Presidents, but also this included other major politico puppeteers who's agenda was power and profit. And one does not have to look very far to finally come to the conclusion that there are ruthless sinister players in high places subverting the U.S. "democratic system" in not only voting but also in the "checks and balances" model which is now disappearing at light speed.

What next will be on the chopping block, the first 10 amendments to the U.S. Constitution which enshrined the people's rights since the year 1788? Wake up America, your nation is under attack and your freedom could be lost.

What we the people need is a true solution for a government that is supposed to represent them, however it was stolen some time ago. Yet, the correct solution would most definitely entail a very long discourse that would have to be shared at another time. So in the meantime, be of good cheer until the bad pieces on the chessboard are cleared out and defeated to where we are able to win the game. Never forget, we are on a mission and I encourage everyone to be part of it. Let 2017 be the year where "we the people" made a major difference.

Sutter Sups Hire Mitnick for CAO – Makes Sense

club that was seeking the grant according to club treasurer Peri Fealy. First, the club provided 3 years of tax returns, by — laws and their IRS 501C3 application.

Then, Mitnick wanted two years of bank statements, two years of audits and two years of financial reports. Fealy said these documents are not required by any other regulatory body but were given to Mitnick in the spirit of full disclosure.

It seems that Mitnick is a master of the government rope-a-dope when he doesn't get his way.

A TOA editorial written before Mitnick was fired says, "Clearly this error was not born from inexperience, but perhaps too much experience: Has Mitnick simply grown too comfortable with his own power that he would so blatantly abuse his post and assume he'd get away with it?"

"The first time a person gets caught is rarely the first time they've committed the transgression. Which raises the question: How many other times has the most powerful figure in T.O. used his widespread influence to accomplish personal goals?"

Money and power can be intoxicating. Mitnick made $385,456 in 2015. He could have funded the school baseball program on his own. Sponsorship banners sold for $350, chump change for him.

Mitnick's character flaws would likely cost him a job interview at Home Depot, but considering the culture of corruption in Sutter County, making him CAO makes sense.

M3's Cornish Christmas Court Makes Major Impact

Grass Valley, Ca. The third annual Cornish Christmas pageant took place in November at the Foothills Event Center. The new court members immediately went to work in serving the community in a variety of areas. The court served all 5 weeks of Cornish Christmas in downtown Grass Valley by Ringing Bells for Salvation Army, raising $1,926.57 which was $300 more than the combined efforts in 2015. Additionally, at M3 Mall at 133 Neal St in downtown Grass Valley, all five weeks the Cornish Court and the Spring Court provided FREE gift-wrapping, FREE photos with the Kings and Queens in front of a Cornish Castle backdrop. The M3 Mall team also provided FREE shopping consultants and FREE makeovers. M3 Mall's Owner and M3 Queens Pageant Director, Melisa Mistler, a native of the area and an NU graduate feels it's a priority to keep the traditions alive. Examples include, having the "Cornish" wear during the pageant, the Queens sashes are made from real Cornish Tartan fabric purchased from Scotland, the court learns the details of the Cornish History, and the M3 Mall display window and entry way had many Traditional Cornish decorations. This included balloons from Joyce Stogner of Party Time in the Gold and Black for the nobility, the burgundy from the beak and legs of the Cornish Bird the Chough, and the other colors include the blue from the sea that surrounds Cornwall and the silver lining of the tartan. M3's Northern California community service pageant system is for guys and gals ages 3 to 103. Each contestant is expected to determine their platform and serve the community year round using their title to bring awareness to the cause they represent. The Spring pageant is underway now.
