Brownsville, Ca. – Born and raised on Long Island New York Gloria moved to California after graduating from Farmingdale High School and Grace Downs Secretarial School. She taught shorthand and typing at Heald's Business College in Oakland and in San Francisco. In 1972 she moved to Dobbins, California, Yuba County, with her husband Bill and sons Billy and Nick. She immediately got involved with the community working as a teacher's aide at the Dobbins Elementary school for a couple of years and in the Planning Department at Yuba County.

Gloria and her husband Bill volunteered in the building of the Dobbins/Oregon House Volunteer Fire Department in the late 1970's

Gloria's career with the U.S. Postal Service began as a clerk in Camptonville in 1976, then secretary at the Marysville Post Office. Her next move was supervisor at the Oroville Post Office and Officer in Charge at the Olivehurst Post Office.

In 1993 Gloria became the Postmaster in Brownsville where she has been for the last 23

She now resides on 4 charming acres in Rackerby. Friday July 1, 2016 will be her last day before beginning retirement.

Gloria has always been active in community affairs and most likely will continue during her retirement. Her most recent venture/adventure was running for Sheriff of Gold Trader Flats in Forbestown. She won the election (at $1 a vote) last year and is fulfilling her duties as the first saloon girl/sheriff.

Congratulations Postmaster/ Sheriff/Saloon girl!

Yuba County Incumbents Battered in Local Races

– Commentary by Elden Fowler

The local political landscape in Yuba County was rearranged by a tumultuous surge of anti-incumbent sentiment in the June 7th primary.

With approximately 1800 votes yet to be counted on Monday, January 13th, it appears of the three supervisors up for election, two will soon be gone and a third must face a runoff in the November Presidential Election.

In the 2nd supervisorial district, incumbent John Nicoletti was easily defeated by political newcomer Mike Leahy by a margin of 60% to 40%. In the 3rd district, Mary Jane Griego, suffered a 59% to 41% beating from newcomer Doug Lofton. In the 4th district, although he had come out against and was a leader in the fight to stop the contentious Magnolia Ranch Project, incumbent Roger Abe only collected 47% of the vote, short of the 50% plus 1 required, and now must face a runoff with second place finisher Gary Bradford who collected 36%

Griego was elected to the Yuba County Board of Supervisors in 2000, re-elected in 2004 and 2008, and served as Chair for 2005 2010, and 2015.

Supervisor Nicoletti was elected in November of 2004, re-elected in June 2008, 2012, and served as the Board of Supervisors Chairman in 2009 and 2014.

Supervisor Roger Abe was elected to the Yuba County Board of Supervisors in 2008, took office on January 5, 2009, and was re-elected in 2012. Supervisor Abe served as Board Chairman in 2011 and is the current chairman.

It seems there was a growing distrust of this Board of Supervisors to do what the people consider the right thing that created this turnover. There were the bungled attempts at passing a new marijuana cultivation ordinance complete with the allegations of Brown Act violations. Although, under this ordinance cultivators suffer no penalties, property owners pay the price for cultivation. While this pleased many, it angered enough voters to become an issue the three incumbents could not overcome.

Perhaps the biggest contribution to their demise, Griego and Nicoletti were strong proponents of the Magnolia Ranch Project north of Wheatland and recipients of campaign contributions from the developer. Voters have become prone to believe the campaign contributions sway the elected to vote for projects that favor the contributor. They have become jaded and believe that, no matter the intention, the supervisors, and their appointees, are in office to serve themselves and the government.

When the Board, with the strong support of Griego and Nicoletti, voted for the Magnolia Ranch Project, it set in motion a voter initiative that soon forced the board to rescind the vote. It is from those efforts that much of the organized opposition to Griego and Nicoletti grew.

Another long-term incumbent, Thomas "Tib" Belza, current Chairman of the seven member Yuba County Water Agency Board of Directors, was overwhelmingly defeated by rice farmer Charlie Matthews by a margin of 59% to 41%.

Belza, whose service with the Agency dates back to 1989, faced an uphill battle with Matthews whose campaign was bolstered by his introduction of a voter initiative known as the Groundwater Fairness Act. Matthews claims if the initiative is qualified and passed by the voters in November, the Act would dictate a set of terms and conditions whereby proceeds from groundwater sales would be equitably distributed to entities and taxpayers within Yuba County.

It was anticipated with the interest in the campaigns for president, and with two marijuana initiatives on the ballot which were defeated soundly, Yuba County's electorate would have turned out in high numbers. It was anticipated the vote would run as high as 60%. However, as the vote count nears a final tabulation, it only hovers at close to 49%.

Yuba County Election

Notes – Commentary

by Lou Binninger

This primary election may be remembered as unmatched in intensity, chicanery, and lawsuits. The trouble preceded campaign season with the anti-Magnolia Ranch movement having thousands of referendum signatures disqualified by the Yuba County Board of Supervisors (YCBOS). The supervisors were then twice overruled in court before CEM Investors withdrew the Magnolia Housing Project, denying an election.

The question remains on who picks up the legal costs of county counsel defending Magnolia Ranch against thousands of Yuba County citizens. CEM said they would. Did they? And does the anti-Magnolia Ranch group get reimbursed for legal fees defending their constitutional right to put a measure on the ballot.

The Pro and Anti-Magnolia Ranch people will get to vote after all when incumbent Roger Abe faces challenger Gary Bradford. Abe opposed Magnolia Ranch favoring a vote of the people. Abe says, "Magnolia Ranch is big money for the developer, but terrible for the people of Wheatland and Plumas Lake. It would be a traffic nightmare, destroy farmland and jobs, and is too close to Beale AFB."

Plumas Lake, a beautiful subdivision with attractive schools, did not build out nor create promised businesses and on-going employment. Abe was not on the board when the project was planned but believes supervisors should work to facilitate promises made.

CEM'S Al Montna, Supervisor Griego, pro-Magnolia Ranch forces and unions are going after Abe. Their candidate, pro-Magnolia Ranch Bradford is on the Olivehurst Public Utility Board but has a record of not attending meetings and being confused on what benefits Magnolia Ranch will produce.

Measure A, drafted by citizens to replace a badly flawed county code governing marijuana growing, lost. Supervisors have twice approved codes that are either cumbersome to enforce or too expensive to comply with. Measure A proponents filed a lawsuit against opponents.

Although Marysville council members colluded to approve a marijuana dispensary ordinance, Yuba County residents rejected Measure B to permit dispensaries. City dispensary zoning favors developer David Lanza's properties. Lanza backed the council's desire to raise sales taxes on purchases in the city. Crony-capitalism comes natural to politicians who have too much power.

The 2017 YCBOS faces two huge financial black holes ... pensions / health benefits and the Tribal Casino. County employee pension / health benefits are unsustainable and will bankrupt the county. The BOS by not renegotiating the 2002 Memorandum of Understanding gave the tribe a 50% discount on reimbursements to the county for services rendered.

Supervisors Roger Abe and Andy Vasquez twice asked the board to open negotiations since 16 years have passed since the original MOU. Supervisors Stocker, Griego and Nicoletti opposed. The outcome will be the taxpayers underwriting county services to the casino. Griego and Nicoletti have served the tribe well.

With the defeat of Nicoletti, Griego and Yuba County Water Agency (YCWA) Director Tib Belza, 3 of the 7 member board will be new. After staying the course for fifty years working with PG&E paying off bonds and managing water flows it is a different world now. The agency is producing and selling power and water, responsible for all maintenance and deciding how to manage all revenue.

How should "excess" revenue be spent? Does including all five supervisors on the YCWA board create a conflict of interest with the BOS? The make-up of the YCWA board hasn't always included all five supervisors.

Should a handful of business people make millions of dollars from pumping water, a resource many believe belongs to all Yuba County residents? Adding three new board members, including rice farmer / water pumper Charlie Mathews who has been an adversary of YCWA could lead to some turbulent board discussions.

Gold Sox Win Series Against Chico Heat

Marysville, Ca.
The Marysville Gold Sox opened their 2016 season with a strong series win, taking two of three from the Chico Heat to kick off their first season in the Great West League.

On Opening Night at Colusa Casino Stadium on Friday, June 3rd, the Gold Sox turned to starter Jack Cushing from Georgetown University who pitched five strong innings of one-run ball on just two hits. His nerves were probably calmed as the Sox scored early and often, putting up eight runs in the bottom of the first, and twelve runs over the course of the game. Joseph Zimmer, Adrian Vela, Dalton deVries, Chris Papapietro, and T.J. Dove all had big hits during the game, and helped to chase Heat starter Stuart Bradley during the first inning. The final score was 12 – 4 as the Heat chipped away at the lead but gave up four more runs in the bottom of the fifth.

1,384 fans watched the opening night win at Colusa Casino Stadium as the Gold Sox improved to 13 – 1 in season openers since 2003. New Gold Sox Manager Mike Walker also won his first game as Gold Sox Manager starting the season strong.

Over the weekend, the Sox traveled to Chico and split their two games there, losing Saturday and winning on Sunday.

On Saturday, the Sox lost 10 – 1 thanks in part to Chico designated hitter Clayton Hubbard who drove in six runs on the night. Chico starter Ryan Byrd limited the Gold Sox to just one run on seven hits and two walks, getting bailed out by great defensive plays including several double plays to end Sox rallies.

But it was a different story on Sunday, as the Gold Sox prevailed 9 – 6 to win the rubber match and the series, improving to 2 and 1 on the young season. The Sox jumped on the Chico starter in the first inning for the second time in three days as they scored five runs to start the game off of the Heat's John White. Marysville turned to starter Shinpei Kanamori, newly arrived from Japan for the season. Shinpei lasted 4 1/3 with 3 earned runs, 1 strikeout and 5 walks. Though the final line isn't pristine, Kanamori gutted through some tough outs and induced many rally-ending ground balls in the 100 degree heat for an impressive American debut in front of a hostile Chico crowd. The Gold Sox traded runs with the Heat for the rest of the game, holding on to win 9 – 6, ensuring a happy trip home (with celebratory In-N-Out burgers for all).

Gold Sox General Manager Michael Mink said "It was a great weekend with a win on opening day and a strong start to our season. Our guys battled on the road Sunday to capture the series, and we're excited to be back home on Tuesday to play in front of our fans."

The Sox will have a day off Monday before starting their first series with the Lodi Crushers on Tuesday. All three games against the Crushers will begin at 7:05 PM and the Sox have three exciting events planned. On Tuesday, the Sox are having an election night party where fans who wear their "I Voted" sticker get buy one, get one free general admission tickets. Wednesday night, the Gold Sox are whitening out the stands with a "White Out Wednesday" planned. Fans who wear white will get in for $5 general admission. Then Thursday we are getting a little thirsty. Beale Air Force Base will be showing out and free general admission will be given to anyone with a Military ID. We also will have $2 beer and hot dogs to cool you down and fill you up as you cheer on your Gold Sox.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 70 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

We hear the snow is melting quite rapidly up in the high country which is causing a rise in streams, rivers and creeks on the way down the hill. Be aware of the possibility of higher water in areas you go trout fishing and usually find summer like conditions.

With open season on all areas of water for trout we must be prepared for the unexpected. What does a person do when fly fishing and find no hatch, no activity on the surface of the stream with nothing flying to copy or imitate? Well folks, I believe in a couple of famous flies which will work well when there is no indication what the trout are feeding on. One of these is the famous woolly bugger, which we believe was derived from the woolly worm (think a fat caterpillar). This fly can be tied short or on long shank hooks. The latter is good for imitating, according to color, large insects, small shiner minnows or small trout minnows and even crawdads. We have also tied this artificial with a bead or split shot at the head.

I recall my friend Don, who lived above Nevada City. He had a fly he tied and claimed was the best anywhere. He tied it black except for the tail which was bright red. One opening morning many years ago I accompanied him on a trip to fish the South Fork of the Yuba River. I caught the first rainbow, a feisty 12 inch fish and was turning him loose when Don let out a yell. I watched him fight the fish as it ran up and down the river. He was waist deep in the water when the big fish finally gave up the fight. He was sitting on the rocks, a smile as big as he ever had when I pulled out the DE liar scale. That fish measured a hair less than 30 inches. I never doubted Don's fly tying again...in fact I talked him into tying me a couple of those black devils.

Another fly is known as the streamer fly and most of the time is tied on a long shank hook using various colored feathers and so on. A favorite on mine used to be the pheasant colors. As per the fly described above, including the streamer, these are designated as a "wet fly" and are usually fished on or near the bottom of the stream or river.

While on the subject of fly fishing how many out there who read this column have trolled with flies? I was introduced to this idea back in the 80's by a friend while fishing the Umpqua River in Oregon. We used float tubes and fins to fish parts of the slow water and caught some nice rainbows.

Shad fishing has slowed down considerably as the fish are winding down on their yearly run into local rivers. Stripers are still around but this run is also on the last part of the run this year.

A report from the Eagle Lake area tells us the fishing has improved some since the opener when the place was overrun with boats, people and vehicles. Once this area gets back to normal in regard to activity we hope the fishing will improve.

Boots fishing tip of the week: If you get skunked at a favorite lake or reservoir be sure to try again. Many bodies of water, which hold trout, have unsuccessful days which turn into limits the next day.

Sew-n-Piece A New Business in Marysville

Sounds nice like a get-together

We are excited to bring Sew-n-Piece to historic downtown Marysville! Sew-n-Piece is a place for anyone and everyone to come and learn or expand on sewing and quilting techniques, a place to come and spread out your project and work with others as they start or complete projects.

The shop is owned by Vivian Riley and Kimberly Tuttle, retirees and former neighbors.

Years ago, Vivian, a retired teacher and principal, imagined a place where the sewing and quilting enthusiast could go and sew, relax and enjoy the company of others who loved to sew. She envisioned a place where ladies (and gentlemen) could come in and pick up a project and just sit and sew in peace as well as a place where someone could come and learn to sew or quilt.

Years later, when Kim's niece decided to sell her long arm quilting machine and small business, Sew-n-Piece became a fast reality. Now with Kim's experience in the necessary financial and fiscal aspect of running a business, having worked as a fiscal analyst for the Department of Education for over 30 years, and Vivian's extensive sewing and quilting experience they are a perfect match.

Our place is a sewing and quilting store with an emphasis on teaching. We will hold many classes in both sewing and quilting. Our vision is to capture and create new sewing and quilting enthusiasts. We are hoping that all of those experienced sewers and quilters will come in and share their craft with all of us from time to time. Because Sew-n-Piece became a reality so quickly, we are still in the process of setting up and growing as a business. Beautiful fabric and supplies continue to arrive weekly. We are thrilled to meet so many who have come in to say hello or just to learn about who we are. We welcome you and look forward to sewing and quilting with you at Sew-n-Piece.

View from the Buttes

by Fred M. Duncan

For anybody asleep here are some interesting facts that should wake you up. In the Middle East, Palestinian terrorists manufactured automatic weapons in the West Bank and attacked Israel shooting 19 and killing 9 civilians. This obviously incited, aided, and abetted by the PLO, or Palestinian Authority supported by the Obama administration with Foreign Aid consisting of your tax dollars. If you also support the anti-Semitic Divest, Boycott, and Sanction Movement you are favoring the forces of the anti-Christ.

The land called Palestine by the west is the land that God gave to the Jews forever and named Israel. History, fact, and Bible.

Here at home the Ninth Federal District Court in San Francisco California, ruled that you do not have the right to carry a concealed weapon, (gun), in public unless you can show a specific reason which is diametrically opposed by the intent of the Second Amendment to insure self-defense. If you do not know your potential attacker or where the assault will take place you must remain unarmed.

Really?

Any Local Sherriff that favors this policy is not qualified to protect the citizens' rights and safety. This includes Marin, Yolo, and Orange Counties.

At the national level President Obama is in favor of a plan that would allow a California non-profit organization control the internet and not the federal government. Such a policy would allow the Chinese and or other government body act independently with their own system. Such kayos would be without our First Amendment rights and leave all our 'Dot Gov' applications in limbo.

His endorsement of Hillary Clinton is a de-facto declaration of four more years of Obama policy as Hillary was in total agreement with him as Secretary of State where he and she appeased and supported our enemies and insulted our allies.

Assembly Approves Cannabis Excise Tax

The Trinity Journal reports Assemblyman Jim Wood's proposed excise tax AB 2243 won a major victory last week, passing the Assembly with 60 votes. Any new tax in California requires the support of two-thirds of each house (54 votes in the Assembly) necessitating support from both Democrats and Republicans.

"I have worked from day one to ensure our rural communities have the resources we need to prevent, and clean up the environmental catastrophe currently under way in our forests and watersheds," Wood said. "This excise tax was part of AB 243 last year and was ultimately pulled at the last minute; this victory today is a huge step forward."

AB 2243 would levy a $9.25 per ounce tax on cannabis flowers, a $2.75 per ounce tax on cannabis leaves and a $1.25 tax on immature cannabis plants from nurseries. The tiered approach is modeled after the way alcohol is taxed based on the potency of the product, and is designed to ensure funding goes to the most impacted communities.

"AB 2243 imposes a reasonable tax on the production and distribution of commercial cannabis and will focus revenue on the communities, forests, and rivers," said Hezekiah Allen, executive director of the California Growers Association.

AB 2243 is projected to raise nearly $80 million annually. These funds will be distributed as follows:

30 percent to fund the Watershed Enforcement Team;

30 percent for local law enforcement;

30 percent for environmental cleanup on public and private lands;

8 percent to restart state funding of the Williamson Act;

2 percent to fund inter-agency regional enforcement coordinators within the Department of Justice.

"Last year the Legislature took important steps to create a regulatory and licensing structure for medical marijuana," said Paul A. Smith, senior legislative advocate with the Rural County Representatives of California. "AB 2243 fleshes out the Legislature's work by providing the financial resources to preserve the integrity of the regulatory structure, with a special emphasis on addressing the environmental impacts associated with marijuana cultivation."

AB 2243 will now go to the Senate to be heard next in Senate Rules Committee.

CRITIC'S CORNER
by Matt Woolery
X-Men: Apocalypse
Starring: James McAvoy, Michael Fassbender, and Jennifer Lawrence.
Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 144 minutes.

This is somewhere between the sixth and forty-seventh, X-Men movie. With a new time line old stories can be rewritten. This is a story full of mutant history and how that history comes to destroy the known world. Just another day at the iron foundry.

The story starts slow building a solid foundation of characters to use to move the plot along. Some truly horrendous and heart breaking scenes take place then we have our tickets and are in our seats on the train to the apocalypse.

The acting is good. Sophia Turner and Olivia Munn give strong performances as well as Evan Peters who plays Quicksilver. Couple with that some really great visual effects and you have yourself a fine film worth seeing on the big screen.

X-Men: Apocalypse, earns four out of five, Car Splitting Monkeys. This may be the best X-Men movie so far and whets the appetite for more to come in the future. This is worth a trip to see in the movie house.

Returning Freedom Is Up To US
Let’s Make Marysville and Yuba County
A Constitutional City and Country

If we are serious about our freedom we must act at the local level. We must elect persons who swear allegiance to the U.S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights! People that will refuse to enforce Unconstitutional laws created by tyrants that want to destroy the Constitution. We have to denounce those shills who claim the State Constitution overrides the U.S. Constitution as anti-Americans with their head stuck so far up the tyrannical governments backside that their feet don't show. We must...no, it is our duty, to expose these tyrants and denounce them and their followers. We have to take back our freedom now because as you read this, traitorous tyrants have passed laws defecating on your Rights in California.

The California State Assembly rammed through several bills which would enact even more restrictive laws/regulations on gun rights, criminalizing the mere possession of unserialized firearm parts, banning the purchase of more than one firearm in a month, allowing your boss, teacher, or therapist to secretly take away your RIGHT to self-defense, banning guns with a bullet button, and allowing the state to send harassing mail to legal gun owners!

This unconstitutional legislation, Senate Bill 1161, or the California Climate Science Truth and Accountability Act of 2016 is scheduled for floor action after clearing Senate committees in April and May. The measure would allow state and local prosecutors to pursue claims against climate-change skepticism as a violation of the state’s Unfair Competition Law [UCL], as well as extend the four-year statute of limitations for such claims retroactively to Jan. 1, 2021. Yes, you read that right. California is planning to make it illegal for you, your business, or anyone else, to disagree with the liberal opinion on man-made climate change/global warming. YES ILLEGAL to Speak out! Over at the California Political Review, Stephen Frank puts this into perspective and explains what this bill really is...“Did you donate to the Pacific Legal Foundation? Do you support Americans for Prosperity? Are you a member of the California Republican Party, which has a platform approving of all forms of energy, including fossil fuel (oil)? Do you work for a gas station, an oil company, have your written a letter to the editor in favor of oil drilling? If so, you could find yourself with being charged in a court of law, thanks to SB 1161... a totalitarian statement by Democrats that the First Amendment is now dead.”

If you actually believe that the socialist left in America today is the same Democrats that existed 50 years ago, you are fooling yourself and being thought a fool. The generation that fought for civil liberties and less government interference in their lives have apparently either died off or gone completely senile in their drunken quest for power. The Democrats who used to advocate for more “freedom” are now the very same people violently attacking people who don't support their view and want to destroy your liberty. Today’s Democrat Party has more in common with the totalitarian excesses of the Soviet Union, Nazi Germany or Mao’s China. This is happening in California now, but if the socialist haters of our Constitution have their way, they’ll soon be coming for the rest of America and all of our freedoms as well.

We the Citizens of the newly formed {Not yet Sanctioned} State of Jefferson have to start taking back our Cities and Counties this Year so we can become a Free Constitutional Republic State!

More on Ali

As the world began its mourning of Muhammad Ali soon after the news of his death on Saturday Morning, virtually every aspect of the one-time heavyweight boxing great's 74 years was being remembered. But there was one side of the man known universally as "The Champ" that so far has received little press attention: How Ali was an active supporter of conservative Republicans in his later years. He startled many longtime fans in 1984 by endorsing President Ronald Reagan for reelection. Ali announced in October of that year that he was switching his support to Republican Reagan. "He's keeping God in schools and that enough," explained Ali, who was later joined by fellow past heavyweight champions Joe Frazier and Floyd Patterson in endorsing Reagan. God's will and

His blessing and His protection were prayerfully sought by those who have given us our Nation and by those of us who have fought to nourish, protect and defend it through the decades. Too many politicians and too many educators have succeeded in shelving Him, and we are not a better Nation for it.

Robert Mackensen
Yuba City , Ca.

Pure Democracy

So now we have an example of pure democracy,... 2 top vote getters in the Ca senate race. Now there are voters who do NOT have a voice or choice in the November election. Majority Rule,... bullying if you will. That is why the Founding Fathers established a REPUBLICAN form of government and not a pure democracy. (America is a constitutional republic and NOT a democracy.) A republic at least gives the minority a voice. Our American republic is unique in that the highest authority is NOT the elected representatives, but our Constitution, to which THEY are subject and take an oath to uphold and defend by the way. It functions by the consent of the governed together with the rule of law. John Adams said America is a government of “laws” NOT of men. Wise move since history proves that mankind is easily misled and deceived by their fellow humans! I like what Benjamin Franklin said, “Democracy is two wolves and a lamb voting on what is for lunch. Liberty is a well-armed lamb contesting the vote!” Fellow Americans, it is time to contest!!! (Using the tool by which we are to be governed, the Constitution!)

YCWA vs County

YWCA vs Yuba County with the courts having to decide which entity should handle a ballot initiative. I find this very interesting and confusing. How can you disagree with yourself and have to go to Court to settle it?

The YCWA Board of Directors consists of the 5 current Supervisors and 2 former Supervisors. Seems to me they should be able to make the same decision for both entities . I do not recall the specifics but do remember one of them loaned money to the other, then forgave the debt. How nice!! I believe this relationship should be examined by an Independent body (not the Grand Jury). Ben Wimple Browns Valley, Ca.

commemorate the start of the AIDS epidemic?

- The Massachusetts legislature passed a bill outlawing the description of a person's sex as male/female, substituting instead "gender identity". This insanity occurs at the same time 13 states have filed a federal lawsuit against the Obama Administration's letter that all but mandates transgender bathrooms in public schools nationwide. "Our local schools are now in the crosshairs of the Obama administration, which maintains it will punish those schools who do not comply with its orders. These schools are facing the potential loss of school funding for simply following common sense policies that protect their students," stated Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton at the announcement of the lawsuit last week... "So Barack Obama, if schools don't knuckle down to force girls showering with boys and force 8-year-old girls to have to endure boys coming into their bathroom — he's taking money from the poorest of the poor. The president of the United States will be ending the free breakfast and free lunch program — that's what he's saying."

- Obama claims a federal judge overstepped his authority when he ordered Justice Department attorneys to take ethics classes in the legal fight over President Barack Obama's immigration policies. The judge said the attorneys lied to the court on more than one occasion. The judge should have turned the matter over to the Bar for disbarment action.

- In the early 1800s Mexico encouraged Americans to immigrate into Texas, then a Mexican province, to "fill-up" the country as Mexicans were uninterested in moving north. The result? Texas became a Republic and eventually a state. Latino voters comprise over 12% of California voters. Will history repeat itself in reverse?

- Obama continually claims to have ended American participation in the war in Iraq. Last week he admitted that US troops are participating in the recent battles to reclaim Fallujah. Lies and more lies.

- The mainstream media is not biased, so say the major networks and newspapers. Recall the planeload of reporters who descended on Wasilla, Alaska, to spy on Palin? Recall Dan Rather's faked military records regarding Bush? Why go on with other instances? The Democrats and their lackeys in the press are feckless ideologues. (Note that the press has been unable to dredge up anything on Obama's personal history.)

- An IRS official pleads the fifth. Now a Clinton aide does the same. If they haven't done anything wrong, why plead silence. What happened to the most transparent administration in US history?

- Susan Sarandon speaks at a Bernie Sanders rally. This notorious left-wing actress apparently doesn't understand that Bernie's proposed policies will take from her all her money and possessions. Shows her intelligence.

Obama showed up in Indiana to take credit for that state's growing economy in the RV manufacturing business. He doesn't realize that RVs were sold by the trainload to North Dakota workers who were working in oil fields opened by fracking — which Obama opposes.

- The brain-dead administrators of a North Carolina School Board decide not to name a Valedictorian because of unhealthy competition. Unhealthy competition in education excellence? The only folks in that district who are unhealthy are the members of the school board.

- In San Francisco recently another gun was stolen from a police vehicle. This time it was an FBI agent who left his gun and badge in his car. Keep in mind that San Francisco won't let guns inside of public buildings, or in the city at large. Are we to witness in the future another Kate Steinle?

- The press keeps harping on Trump's "vulgar candidacy". It claims that such behavior causes people to go bonkers at his rallies. Perhaps that is why the protesters fly Mexican and other foreign flags and are being paid by unions and left-wing organizations to vandalize. Straight talk and common sense are now "vulgar" according to the loons.

- Socialist Venezuela is collapsing. Yet Bernie and Hillary want to follow that country's descent into chaos.

- Sometimes unions are amusing in a silly way. The local school union calls a strike vote and threatens to walk out. The school board takes steps to deal with the interruption. The union calls the school board resolutions a "scare tactic." What do these union officials think their strike talk is?

D Day 1944

by Fred Duncan

Saturday, June 06, 2015: Sacrifice, if God designated animals to be sacrificed for some men, his own son for all men, how much did we sacrifice on this day, "D" Day, 1944, on Normandy Beach? We, I mean our nation of America, along with the Allies that joined us in self-preservation. If we failed the total domination of the world by Axis Powers of the anti-Christ would surely ensue. Most people cannot define why 'they' were wrong or anti-Christ and many of the young men who died that day and the years to come had no idea either. All they had to go on was it was us against them.

As Christians we can point to specific acts and goals that the enemy had done, was doing, or stated that they wanted to do that marked them the "Devil's pawn if nor spawn. The total persecution and attempt to eliminate the Jews was the first clue. The total disregard for human life for captured enemy forces was another. The same treatment for civilian populations under their jurisdiction was another. Then there were the inhuman experiments performed on humans to test diseases, breed pure Arians, and systemically starve and exploit prisoners was more indication of evil. That the German Fuhrer wanted to be worshipped as god was the final straw.

In the beginning God forbade man to eat of the tree of knowledge. Then told man not to rely on his own understanding. Even then Jesus had no quarrel with science for the study of natural things. In the either there were men obsessed with studies of flight, thermodynamics, jet propulsion, rocketry, ballistics, radio, radar, yes and nuclear power for war and peace. These were small communities of knowledge and interwoven English and mathematics uniting facts from Russian, British, French, German, and American scientists. Whatever apple of knowledge was available the Germans and Japanese were in the forefront of significant breakthroughs in every field of study. Why, because they wanted to win and take over the world and they needed new weapons to achieve victory and their governments actively participated.

The rest of the world sought these same answers but there was no impetus for discovery and little funding from national or private interests. It was only when we determined to face the beast that our government sought out our own experts and funded their research to play catch up. Example, we had the preeminent rocketeer, Doctor Godard, but he and his work was all but ignored until V-1 and V-2 rocket powered bombs began raining down on London. The free world and America had several of the greatest minds in electronics, electricity, and radio, but little was done in communications and radar until the enemy brought the war to our doorstep. A young Britt was trying to develop a working jet engine before the war but was ridiculed by the Navy until England was under attack meanwhile Germany had three rocket powered or assisted aircraft and two working models of jets. As the war wound down or ended most of those technologies were sold to, leased to, or stolen by the Russians because they wanted to continue their Communist revolution around the world just as the Third Reich. One exception was Jack Northrup's flying wing, a superior lifting body that is just now coming to fruition.

All of our sacrifice to prevent the domination of evil had to be renewed against the Soviets, then their surrogate partners, the Chinese, then the Vietnamese. Other pockets also appeared in Africa, the Middle East, South America, and Cuba. Communism can and does exploit Fascism by either supporting short term or toppling it to establish a Communist state. Intermediate states of Islam or religious confusion also serve their purpose if they can be employed to resist the West. Propaganda, arms, and military assistance helps to ensure the purpose is carried out.

Consistent is the theme of world domination and elimination of the Jews or the State of Israel.

Today many of these evils exist as independent nations but they still are but agencies of demonic power and destruction. America as a nation has evil influences rotting the very fabric of our society like a cancer that will not respond to treatment nor can it be eradicated by surgery. We have the power to fight but not the clear objective or the united will to do so.

According to Scripture we fight not against flesh and blood, (hard to tell that when the ISIS blows your leg off with a bomb or beheads you with a scimitar), but against principalities and powers in high places.

We have but one hope. That God who started this nation, preserved it, grew it, will yet not abandon us to our fate but renew us and cleanse us of the evil that so easily besets us. Do we have enough dedicated praying Christ ones to pray for revival. Will God remember our continued sacrifice when our sin may be even greater? In my spirit the answer is God will renew America before the end gets here.

1946 BNH John Deere

by Rod Hisken

The Colusa Farm Show claims to be the oldest Farm Show in California. A few years back the Stockton Farm Show ceased operation and many of the vendors came north and made a difference in size of the Colusa Show. The largest show is in Tulare. The Colusa Farm Show is a showcase for improvements in agricultural technology: new tools, techniques, time saving machines and a spectrum from traps to GPS are present. Even if you are not into farming, it is a highly recommended visit in early February.

I am also most appreciative to Valley Truck and Tractor for giving me space to take some Vintage Machines, make some old fashioned noise, visit, hear stories from the old timers, and every now and then get a lead on an old tractor.

Such is the case of this 1946 BNH John Deere. B meaning model B, N meaning narrow or single front wheel, and H meaning Hi-Crop.

Tim Hansen stopped by a few years ago to visit about my display. As the conversation advanced, Tim suggested he had a tractor he did not want and thought I might have a trade I knew there were not many BNHs, so that night I went into my library and looked into the John Deere Production Log and discovered there were 446 built. I called Tim in Oakdale and told him I was interested. He said it was rough, didn't run and I would need a winch to move the tractor. I accumulated what I thought I would need and drove to Oakdale. We opened the doors to Tim's Barn and I saw the BNH. "Rough" is a relative term. "Shocked", seemed more realistic. It took about an hour to remove the pallets, wire and junk to get the tractor into a towing position.

I immediately discovered the brakes and engine were seized. I removed the brakes. I took on out my "Snatch Block" and rigged it into the line of my 9,500 pound winch and with some effort got it on the trailer.

As we began the restoration, it became quickly evident the tractor had sat outside and in the barn for years. The effort to get the barrels off required a cutting torch to cut the rods and a 55 ton press to get the pistons out. Josh Truchak of Oregon House and Dax Kimmelshue of Durham were very helpful in the year and a half to complete the job. The rear tires were a particular scary issue. They are 40s which are not readily available and are $1,000 a piece. They had been flat for years. One of the lucky things that happened with the tractor is that they have held air since I pumped them full. I therefore don't drive it much. The BNH is rare and all the money and effort were spent wisely.

The tractor was built on November 6 and shipped to San Francisco on November 8 and on to Hayward. The unit was sold by the Hoyt and Buettner Tractor Company on Meekland Avenue. Most likely the first owner was Ermine Theodore. The most active operator was Art Abbott who lost his right arm. I did not remove the modification of the clutch lever for Art's foot nor the hangers for easier mounting the cultivators in honor of Art. The John Deere spent most of its' life in the Pleasanton-Livermore area cultivating the numerous vegetable crops that used to exist in that region.

The popular John Deere Model B was built from 1935 to 1952. The unstyled was manufactured from 1935 to 1938. John Deere hired an Industrial Designer by the name of Dreyfuss and beginning in 1939 he changed the machines to be more streamlined in appearance, more efficient, having greater comfort and more ergonomically correct. Unit production accrued to about 300,000 by the end of the run. Original Bs produced 14.03 horsepower on the drawbar and by 1947 power had been boosted to 24.62. A basic B in 1939 could be purchased for $786. Bs would weigh about 3,390 pounds depending on options.

The Production Log shows 446 BNHs were built. 1946 saw 37 built and in November 46 production was 7.

Electronic Hack Attack World Banking Heist: $81 Million

Author, Chuck Frank

On March 12, 2016 in one of my recent articles titled "Going Cashless", I warned the public about a world that is about to fall off the deep end using digital currency in place of the traditional money system. Three days later a gigantic cyber theft took place and by May 1, 2016 the New York Times dropped the bombshell stating that not only did the Federal Reserve Bank of New York get hacked for millions by an anonymous group, but so did the Central Bank of Bangladesh which lost a cool $81 million. "The money was then transferred to accounts in the Philippines into the Philippine casino system, which is exempt from many of the country's anti-money-laundering requirements."

Now if that doesn't take all, then I will pop the question. Seeing that sinister hacking can now be done by stealthy wizards who have sophisticated talents and skills, then where does that leave the rest of the world and us who may one day open up our online banking account to see that our digital currency has somehow magically disappeared into thin air? In today's world, just how safe is our money? It's not!

money changers somehow gained access to a "super secure" international messaging system and a "highly trusted" international company called Swift which is a global financial behemoth servicing 11,000 users worldwide digitally, which includes banks and corporations.

The chairman of Swift, who is also a senior executive at Citigroup "declined to comment" on the recent financial fiasco. Take a bow Citibank AKA, Casino Royale which was partially bailed out during the 2008 financial meltdown with a "federal aid" rescue package, compliments of the taxpayers. How is it the taxpayers and shareholders get tapped every time big banks gamble and lose?. Also, 2008 was an instant replay of the 1933 depression era when President Roosevelt closed down all of the reckless banks that gambled with the depositors money and used a "bank holiday" to extract all of their savings to shore up that present and corrupt system. Besides the potential for hackers who can operate under the radar, the world financial community is already in dire straits when considering that banks are never too big to fail as was already witnessed back during the 2008 meltdown. Given that analysis, it is time to prepare for a world financial system that has the potential to fall apart because multibillion dollar global banks are for the most part interconnected with each other and if there is a crack in the dam an unstoppable flood will surely transpire

Pet of The Week

This week the Yuba County Animal Care Services would like to introduce you to Halloway (A158076). He is a 1 year old neutered male cat that would love to play with you or just watch TV while sitting on your lap. If he's not available still we have plenty of other kitties to choose from. There is no better time to adopt a cat from Yuba County Animal Care Services because we have joined The Million Cat Challenge. The Million Cat Challenge is a shelter-based campaign to save the lives of 1 million cats in North America over the next five years. During the month of June the total fee to adopt adult cats (four months and older) will be reduced to the $7 rabies vaccination fee. For kittens under 4 months of age, the fee is reduced to the $40 spay/neuter deposit. Once proof of spay/neuter is completed within 30 days, the deposit will be refunded and an additional $40 bonus will be awarded. It is a win, win for everyone, especially the cats in our care. Yuba County Animal Care Services is open Monday – Friday 10am – 3:30pm and Saturday 10am – 2pm. Our shelter is located at 5245 Feather River Blvd. in Olivehurst, 530-741-6478. You can also go to www.petharbor.com or www.petfinder.com to see all of our adoptable animals and look for your lost family pets.

Bernie Sanders Model, Venezuela

According to CNN Money, soda icon Coca-Cola announced May 24th that it had temporarily stopped production of its flagship drink Coke and relate sugar based beverages due to sugar shortages from Venezuela. The halt in production was confined only to plants located in the beleaguered country and is just another in a long line of troubles the South American country has found itself in due to its extreme economic problems. The nation’s government can’t afford to pay many of its bills because of rampant and ongoing overspending by an obviously misguided ruling class.

It was just a few months ago when we told you the Venezuelan government had to fly in cargo planes full of its paper currency because its own printing presses couldn’t keep up with the governments rampant spending. Inflation is in high gear and likely going higher in a country that has simply promised more than it could produce. The country’s authorities has curtailed government employee work hours to two days a week to save on power and it can’t afford to pay for basic imports such as sugar, milk eggs and flour.

This is causing empty super market shelves amongst critical shortages of many foodstuffs including the sugar Coke needs to makes its product.

The company said it will continue to pump out its water and non- sugared products as long as its supply lines stayed intact and that the production cuts would cause some workers to become idle.

Making matters worse, Venezuela’s main source of energy, the El Guri dam is not producing as much electricity as designed due to what the government claims as low water levels blamed on drought, but experts say mismanagement is the main cause of the power shortages. Rolling blackouts lasting four hours a day are taking place in many cities and government official pushed its time zone ahead by 30 minute to accommodate working hours.

Because of its massive inflation, the Venezuela’s economy is in tatters and thought to be one of the worst in the world by many economists. Inflation is expected to rise to nearly 500% annually with many experts saying actual inflation is much worse.

According to the IMF, its economy shrank by 5.7 % last year and forecasts that Venezuela will be in recession until at least 2019. Sounds like a shortage of Coke is the least of Venezuela’s problems.

Food and Farm News

Farmers harvest more apricots – Things look better in California apricot orchards this season. Farmers and marketers say production has improved, in part because apricot trees received enough chilly weather during the winter. An official estimate is due out next month, but farmers say they expect to see an average-sized crop in the range of 50,000 tons. Apricot harvest will continue for the rest of this month in the San Joaquin Valley.

Sunflower acreage recovers – More sunflowers will be blooming across the Sacramento Valley this summer. Plantings have rebounded after falling last year due to reduced demand overseas. Most California sunflowers are grown for seed, which is sold to farmers in other parts of the nation and world who grow the crop for sunflower oil. Russia and Ukraine represent two key markets--and political tensions in that region may have contributed to lower demand a year ago.

Weather losses cut prune crop 58 percent – This year’s California prune crop could be the smallest in nearly 100 years of record-keeping. Cold temperatures, high winds and heavy rains hit Sacramento Valley prune orchards in March. That, combined with reduced acreage, will cut the state’s prune production by 58 percent compared to last year, according to a new estimate. If that comes true, it would be the smallest prune crop since the state began official estimates in 1920.

Study tracks Americans' eating habits – As the recession eased, Americans resumed eating out more: That’s the conclusion of a new federal study. The percentage of food prepared away from home dipped for four years beginning in 2007, roughly corresponding to the recession. Researchers said Americans economized by preparing more food at home. But the proportion of food prepared away from home has since returned to pre-recession levels: about 34 percent.

PG&E and Division of Boating and Waterways Warn of Higher, Colder Flows

Sacramento, Ca. – With more snow melt this year than in recent years, California State Parks Division of Boating and Waterways (DBW) and Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) are warning water enthusiasts to be aware of colder and higher river and stream flows, and to take precautions when in or near water.

Snow pack measurements this winter and spring were greater than last year. The additional spring snow melt means more and colder water than California has seen in several years. The swift water can create treacherous conditions for all recreationists – waders, swimmers, paddlers, boaters, anglers and hikers cooling off at the water’s edge.

“While the drought is not over, we have the best snowpack in years. We ask those enjoying the outdoors to be careful near mountain streams, rivers and reservoirs. Water flows can fluctuate as snow melts faster on warmer days, so always be prepared for a change in conditions,” said Ed Halpin, senior vice president of generation and chief nuclear officer for PG&E.

“The month of May traditionally marks the beginning of boating season in California,” said DBW’s Deputy Director Lynn Sadler. “As we enjoy getting back out on and in the water, it is critical that we exercise extra caution and awareness, especially if venturing into unfamiliar waterways, or areas impacted by the drought. Have fun, but please stay safe.”

Know the Law

- Every child under 13 must wear a Coast Guard-approved life jacket when on a moving recreational vessel of any length.

- A Coast Guard-approved life jacket must be carried for each person on board a boat. This includes rigid or inflatable paddlecraft.

- Every person on board a personal watercraft (popularly known as “jet skis”) and any person being towed behind a vessel must wear a Coast Guard-approved life jacket.

- It is against the law to operate a boat or water ski with a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of 0.08 percent or more. You can be arrested even when your BAC is less than 0.08 percent if conditions are deemed to be unsafe.

For more water safety information, please visit www.BoatCalifornia.com.

If you are struggling to keep your weight under control, you are not alone. In California approximately 35 percent of adults are obese. Among youths, 34 percent of those ages 6 to 11 are overweight or obese, as are 35 percent of those ages 12 to 19.5. Obesity is often linked to many serious medical conditions. A healthy weight loss program is more than a diet -- it’s changing your lifestyle to live healthier. ## Father's Day by Pastor James, Hillside Community Worship – Brownsville, Ca.

'...In my Father's house' Jn 14:2

I was a perfect child or close...

OK, I just thought I was! And, those times when I wasn't, and out of control... Mom would pull out the, 'big guns,' the sure fire, all-inclusive, atomic, death defying words, that would cause heart palpitations, weak knees, worse than taking a bath!

She would say, 'I've had it,' never sure what 'it' was and never wanted to find out! But, those words followed these words, 'wait till your father gets home.' Fatal words, to a boy with an unhindered-imagination. All the ways of torture came to mind, the many slow death ideas – left to my own conceptual ending was pandemic fear...

When my father finally got home he would give me, 'the look,' 'the talk' and threaten 'the belt' but, he could see on my face, 'melted terror,' and say 'don't do it again, because next time, 'you're going to get it.' There 'it' was again... what was, I to get?

We usually think we are good or pretty good, at worst, we can always find someone that in our minds, we are better, and so justify our behavior... no matter how bad...

As we step into the adult world of: science, geography, and biology – just before all reality sets in, supernatural things happen we can't explain, and we realize, if we admit 'it' or not... we are not in control... (Just look around?) That's the explained 'it.' God is in control... And Jesus is Him and His Spirit lives in born-again-believers... (Jn 1:1-3)

The bible says, 'none is righteous, no, not one; 11 no one understands; no one seeks for God. 12 All have turned aside...' Romans 3:11-12a.

So, because man-kind is out of control, God sent His Son, that whoever believes in the Son of God, shall be saved, and receive, 'Him' Jesus.' (Jn 3:16) Salvation – life in heaven with God, no more tears, pain, sin or death... Jesus is coming back to take believers home!

How do we become a born again believer? Admit your sin, Believe in Jesus, Confess to God Jesus is 'God' and the only way...

Jesus talked about our heavenly home,

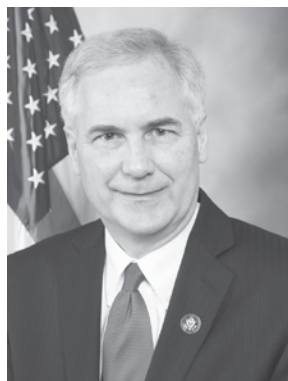

'Let not your hearts be troubled. Believe in God; believe also in me. 2 In my Father's house are many rooms... I go to prepare a place for you? 3 And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again...' Jn 14:1-3

Some days, I feared my father's coming home. These days, I can't wait to see my heavenly Father, at home, how about you?

Happy Father's Day

Breaking the Promise

Congressman McClintock delivered the following remarks on the House floor in regard to H.R. 5278, June 9, 2016 – "PROMESA"

The House is expected to take up the "PROMESA" bill today, June 9, 2016, with serious implications to every taxpayer in the country.

This bill applies a form of Chapter Nine bankruptcy to the general obligation bonds of Puerto Rico that are guaranteed by the commonwealth's constitution.

Article VI, Section 8 of Puerto Rico's constitution explicitly provides that "interest on the public debt and amortization thereof shall be paid first." PROMESA ignores the Puerto Rican constitution and breaks that promise.

Here's why this is so important to the rest of the country. Every state government has similar constitutional provisions that guarantee their general obligation bonds. This is what allows them to borrow at extremely low interest rates, because their debt is constitutionally guaranteed and therefore the risk of default is extremely low.

If Congress is willing to undermine a territory's constitutionally guaranteed bonds today, there is every reason to believe it would be willing to undermine a state's guarantee tomorrow.

This, in turn, invites credit markets to question such guarantees as being no longer secured on constitutional bedrock, but rather dependent on the shifting whims of Congress. And this, in turn, means the value of those bonds is devalued and interest rates paid by taxpayers on that debt will increase.

The governors of six states have already raised this warning. And the U.S. Virgin Islands, whose credit is directly undermined by this bill, wants out of the bill for that reason.

PROMESA could have respected the $18 billion of constitutionally guaranteed debt and focused instead on restructuring the $54 billion of Puerto Rican municipal debt that is not constitutionally guaranteed. After all, there is no reason to treat San Juan's municipal debt any differently than San Jose's. But constitutionally-issued debt is fundamentally different, and its reliability must be maintained. Tellingly, supporters of the bill voted down just such an amendment in committee.

Supporters say they have addressed this concern by inserting instructions to the control board to "respect the relative lawful priorities in the constitution, other laws, or agreements." Ironically, one of those "other laws" the control board is instructed to respect is the government's repudiation of its debt.

Furthermore, the same section instructs the control board to "provide adequate funding for public pension systems," and includes other contradictory instructions. The only possible interpretation of these provisions is that the sanctity of the sovereign debt is subject to balancing – and therefore subordination to junior claims -- by the control board.

Just last week, Treasury Secretary Jack Lew and the White House admitted this was the intent of the bill.

Meanwhile, another provision of PROMESA prevents lawful bond holders from enforcing their claims in court for a period of six months, but does not prevent the government from paying out other junior claims during this period.

Indeed, in anticipation of this bill, the new budget for Puerto Rico INCREASES general fund spending while it radically reduces its debt service payments.

Honoring the rule of law and maintaining the commonwealth's full faith and credit guarantee would be a powerful signal to bond markets that the United States stands by its promises, even when it is inconvenient.

Under current law, it is in the interest of both sides – debtor and creditor – to work out terms that both can live with to restructure and repay this debt. Indeed, until the prospect of a congressional bailout arose, Puerto Rico was negotiating terms of a debt restructuring with the mutual consent of its creditors.

It is also in the interest of the people of Puerto Rico to uphold the full faith and credit clause in their constitution, which will be vitally important for them to re-enter the credit market once their affairs are put back in order.

Puerto Rico faces both a crisis and an opportunity: a crisis born of slavish devotion to failed leftist economic policies and an opportunity to replace those policies with proven free market solutions that can create a fresh start for the people of Puerto Rico and shine as a beacon of hope for other similarly afflicted states.

I fear the net result of this legislation will be to spread the crisis to other states with heavy debts by increasing their debt service costs, while squandering the opportunity to revive the Puerto Rican economy and to restore the American dream to that beautiful island.
