Rumley Oil Pull

by Rod Hisken

The spectators of the Marysville Heritage Faire got a once in a life time experience at the tractor display area. They experienced the driving and running of a Rumley Oil Pull. The loud "Boom Boom" of the engine was a sound they will never forget! The 1929 Model W was a powerful tractor which was much smaller than that pictured. The Model W owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Ferris of Chico was featured on the cover of the Territorial Dispatch prior to the Faire.

The Rumley Company began in La Porte Indiana in 1853 and purchased the Advance Threshing Company in 1910 and in the process became Advance Rumley. They manufactured farm equipment and produced steam tractors. Steam had been on the scene for about 100 years but at this time was beginning to phase out. Steam tractors were very heavy, slow, took at least four cords of wood a day and many required 2,000 gallons of water a day. The supply task was monumental, particularly if you were in Kansas or other locations. One of the first tractors in the area was a large Case Steam which was in a shed west of Live Oak. My understanding is that it went back east to an auction.

The engineers of Advance Rumley felt that if they built a tractor somewhat like a steam tractor it would sell better, thus they looked like the 16-30 even though the power was an internal combustion engine. A variety of sizes were built and by 1928 they were producing the Do-All which looked more like a utility four wheel unit.

The Rumley Oil Pull was famous for reliability, power and economy of operation. The designers came up with a two cylinder horizontal engine (John Secor) and used a carb that fed water into the firing chamber that prevented pre-ignition and "knock" (William Higgins). They decided to use an inexpensive fuel available in quantity at that time, kerosene. Kerosene needs a higher temperature for combustion and water would vaporize quickly, so they used oil to cool the engine. Thus , the name came into being "Rumley Oil Pull. In England it was called the Overtime. The pictured 16-30 weighs about 9,500 pounds, others exceeded 26,000 pounds. About 56,647 Rumleys were known to be built.

Because of their weight which caused a high soil impact they were not popular for rice farming areas but we did have Rumley's in the area. Most commonly they were used in dry crops and were often used in groups pulling multiple plows. This tractor spent many years on the Godfrey Humann farm in Tehama County.

Other operational Rumleys exist in Woodland and Paso Robles that I am aware of and once in awhile you will see them in museums. The problem with museums is that they tend to be static, but to hear and see one running is a special thrill.

Local Political Hustle

– Commentary by Lou Binninger

In less than 30 days, a small number of voters will decide the future of our community. Everything rises and falls on the quality of leadership whether it's the home, a business or government. Judging from the state of local affairs voters have been swinging and missing.

Some citizens advocate winning at any cost but most people regardless of political philosophy value honesty, fair play and hard work from those wanting to rule over them. People don't appreciate being stolen from, lied to, or manipulated.

Last week, a LeVake for Supervisor sign appeared at Hwy 99 at Bogue Rd., Yuba City.

A quick read while speeding by looked like a Farm Bureau endorsement. Not so.

A motorist would have to stop to read the small print at the bottom to see that just two farmers endorsed Barbara LeVake, not the Farm Bureau's 1,250 members. The Farm Bureau asked that the deceptive sign be removed.

Who hasn't been misled by an advertisement, made a purchase and been stung by fine print or bait and switch tactics? Twice, drought-fearing voters authorized the state legislature to borrow hundreds of billions in bonds for water storage then realize politicians punked them once again. In 2012, Governor Brown begged naive college students to support Prop 30 tax

Weckman Target in Defamation Lawsuit

by Elden Fowler

The co-authors of Yuba County's Measure A have filed a lawsuit in Yuba County's Superior Court against Clarence "Buck" Weckman.

They claim Weckman, the self-proclaimed leader of the opposition to Measure A, has made false statements about them in an ongoing battle over medical marijuana.

Measure A's backers claim it would provide a fiscally responsible alternative to the current medical marijuana ordinance and would provide more than a $1,000,000 annually for the county's general fund.

Weckman charges that Measure A is just a front for the commercialization of “pot.”

In the suit filed May 12th, Yuba County resident Michelle Parsons and Butte County resident Angelique Perez claim the sole intention of Yuba County resident Clarence "Buck" Weckman in making the alleged false statements “was to harass, harm the plaintiffs, Plaintiffs’ husband’s business, shame them in front of their community and taintentionally and specifically harm their character and reputation.”

The offending statements were allegedly made by Weckman at a debate forum held May 9th.

One statement, that Parsons property was the subject of a criminal search warrant obtained by the Yuba County Sheriff's Department after she had denied officers entrance, is refuted in court papers filed by the plaintiff's Attorney Charnel James. "The defendant (Weckman) knows that Plaintiff Parsons was never subject to criminal investigation or was she ever charged with a crime. He is also aware that her only issue she had with the county was a code enforcement issue, as he was at the code enforcement hearing in front of the Board of Supervisors. These statements are false.”

Charnel James works out of an office in Marysville.

James provided a copy of a cease-and-desist letter dated May 6th in which she claims Weckman was given ample notice a lawsuit would be filed against him if he failed to remove all references to Parsons on his websites and Facebook pages within 72 hours. The letter continues “Furthermore, any more personal attacks on my client will result in a lawsuit against you.”

The suit also alleges the “Defendant (Weckman) has also published on his website specific allegations against Plaintiff Perez about criminal activity including selling drugs to children and making profits from criminal drug dealers. He specifically refers to the store owned by Plaintiff Perez, and it can only be inferred that she was the person he was speaking about in his website.”

The lawsuit charges "Defendant (Weckman) knows that Plaintiff Perez is not a drug dealer, nor is she a criminal, and has stated such only to harass, embarrass, and harm her business."

Perez operates “Two Chicks, a garden supply store in Marysville.

In an interview, Parsons said “Weckman also acted with total disregard of the facts when he wrote “April 6, 2016: The backers of Measure A continue their attempt to shove down our throats outdoor commercial marijuana growing with up to 60 plants, filed a court case challenging the Arguments placed on June 7th sample ballot pamphlet. They wanted 13 of the Arguments against Measure A thrown out. Except for one small technicality, they lost the entire case. More Superior Court time and money spent in listening to their Pot induced ramblings.”

Parsons said “In reality, Measure A’s backers have not, at any time, filed a Superior Court challenge to the ballot arguments against Measure A. She said “It is indicative of another false claim by Weckman.”

Weckman has also attacked the financing of Measure A. On a website which he founded, it is stated "The few medical marijuana users are being used as pawns by out of Yuba County and out of State Interests. Over $20,000.00 has been contributed by these special interests from locations such as Reno, Nevada; New Washoe City, Nevada and Brooklyn, New York. They are also supported by an Attorney in Rapid City, South Dakota and a National pro marijuana

Marysville Gold Sox Sign Abilene Christian Pitcher Zack Kornely

The Marysville Gold Sox today announced the signing of junior pitcher Zack Kornely from Abilene Christian University for the 2016 season. The 6' 3" 205 pound right handed Kornely has pitched to a 5.02 ERA through 14 innings with 16 strikeouts to 6 walks in 2016 for the Wildcats.

Kornely earned a spot on the NJCAA all-academic team in 2015 and was a first team all-state selection in high school as well as his district's pitcher of the year in North Richland Hills, Texas. "Kornely is a guy that we're excited to work with to refine his pitch ability. Anytime you see a guy with more 1:1 K's to Innings Pitched you know right away that he has plus stuff. We're going to work with him on consistently pounding down in the strike zone, and when he makes that adjustment he will be a great asset for us this summer," commented Manager Mike Walker.

"Kornely is a guy we have been looking for to round out our rotation this summer," said General Manager Michael Mink. "We believe that the results he has put up this season don't reflect his true ability as a pitcher and we are hoping to work with him and develop him into a great starter for us." The Gold Sox are excited for another quality player to join our roster for the 2016 season. For more information on player signings, Gold Sox tickets, and the 2016 season schedule, go to www.GoldSox.com. You can also follow the team on Facebook and Twitter.

Farmers assess hail damage

In the wake of hailstorms that raced through California last week, farmers and agricultural officials will spend the coming days assessing damage. Peach growers in the Sacramento Valley say hail hit their orchards hard, ruining as much as 10 percent of the statewide canning-peach crop. Cherry farmers in the San Joaquin Valley say the storms hurt their fruit. Crop surveyors also report hail damage to tomatoes and cotton in the Central Valley.

California rice acreage recovers

The improved water outlook in Northern California has led to a recovery in rice planting. Farmers say that will help rural businesses such as rice mills and seed sellers that suffered during previous, drought-reduced crops. California rice farmers say the improved plantings should also help them regain markets from farmers in other states and nations. A government crop report says farmers have planted about 40 percent of the California rice crop so far.

Study looks at history of carrots

In announcing their achievement in sequencing the carrot genome, researchers say they've traced domestication of the plant back more than 1,000 years--and that wild carrots may have coexisted with dinosaurs. The researchers say their genetic work could lead to further improvements in carrot nutrition. The crop already represents the richest source of vitamin A in the American diet. California farms grow more than 80 percent of the nation's carrot crop.

Student chefs learn about egg standards

Learning what distinguishes a Grade A or AA egg could make the difference in creating a successful meal, which is why student chefs at San Joaquin Delta College in Stockton received a briefing on egg standards from U.S. Department of Agriculture specialists. The USDA establishes quality standards for eggs and a variety of other agricultural products. At the Stockton seminar, specialists provided culinary students with tips on how to judge egg quality.

FISHIN' TALK

by Boots Johnson

Dan "Boots" Johnson has fished and hunted in California for 70 years. Anyone with questions or comments can email him at boots3@syix.com

The Annual Kiwanis Children's fishing Derby will be held on Saturday, May 21st at Ellis Lake in Marysville. The event is for pre-school children up to the 8th Grade. There will be a free pancake breakfast from 6:30 A.M. to 9:00 A.M. with fishing until 11:00 A.M. and prizes to be awarded at the conclusion of the derby.

This is a wonderful way to have the kids enjoy a day of fishing. A huge thank you goes out to the Kiwanis Club for sponsoring the event, to Johnson's Bait and Tackle in Yuba City for the donated bait, trout ponds and the fishing poles and reels set up for the boys and girls, to the California Department of Fish and Wildlife for donating the catfish and rainbow trout and all the volunteers who donated their time and effort. This community service project is one of a kind and involves scores of volunteers. Kudos to all!

It appears the heavy planting of rainbow trout in the North Fork of the Feather River has paid off for happy anglers. Last week showed limits of trout being taken by just about everyone with a line in the water. The hot spot was above Caribou Crossroads Resort off of State Highway 70. Shad are now in the system big time. All local rivers are producing lots of action for these feisty fish. We hear evening is the best time to score using various jigs both from shore and from anchored boats.

Camp Far West Reservoir is a good bet for bass fishing at this time. The best area is the Rock Creek and Bear River arms. Fish are hitting worms and artificial lures.

Collins Lake is again planting more trout this week. 2000 pounds of trout were released which had many anglers having a ball catching the fish. Bass fishing is still hot on Lake Oroville. The fish were just about hitting anything placed in the water in front of their nose. Both bass and trout are on the bite at Scott's Flat Reservoir above Nevada City off of State Route 20. Apparently the Marina area has been the hot spot for rainbows using dough bait. Boots Johnson's fishing tip of the week: "You can spend a lot of money on fishing lures and hooks, but unless those hooks are razor sharp you will miss some good strikes and possibly the fish on the end of your line."

Fishing for Fun: A Family Affair

Nevada City, Ca.

Family fishing season is almost here! Bring the whole family to Pioneer Park on Saturday, May 21st for the first ever Fishing for Fun: A Family Affair, offering games, activities, an ice cream social, and important health information for families about eating fish.

South Yuba River Citizens League, The Sierra Fund and Wolf Creek Community Alliance are hosting this exciting and educational event to celebrate the fun of fishing with kids of all ages, while raising awareness around which fish are safe to eat and which might be better caught and then released.

On May 21st, kids can join in on several fish-themed activities and games, while teens and parents will have an opportunity to talk with experts about fishing locations, the history of mercury in our watershed, health impacts of eating mercury contaminated fish, and how families can safeguard their children by choosing fish that are safe to eat.

Mercury and Fish Understanding how to prevent mercury exposure through fish consumption is important because of the legacy of mining in the Sierra Nevada. Mercury was first introduced to this area during the Gold Rush for use in gold processing. Of the 26 million pounds of mercury brought here, between 10-30% was lost to the environment, where it still remains, affecting our ecosystems and getting into our fish.

Eating mercury contaminated fish is the primary human exposure pathway to mercury. This is particularly relevant in the Sierra, where elevated levels of mercury have been found in mining-impacted waterways, like the Bear and Yuba watersheds.

An Annual Volunteer Effort

In order to protect anglers and their families from eating mercury contaminated fish, South Yuba River Citizens League, The Sierra Fund and Wolf Creek Community Alliance organized a community volunteer event last July to post state-issued fish consumption advisories in the Bear and Yuba watersheds.

The advisories, issued by the California Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment, cover mercury in fish and offer "safe eating guidelines" for consuming fish from California's lakes and reservoirs. On July 11, 2015, volunteers posted nearly 100 advisories at 28 water bodies and recreational facilities from the Gold Lakes Basin to Camp Far West.

The event was a huge success, and the organizers are excited to continue and expand the effort this year, including posting fish consumption advisories in the American, Feather, and Truckee River watersheds. If you would like to volunteer May 21 to help post these advisories, please contact SYRCL's Community Engagement Coordinator, Jenn Tamo at Jenn@syrcl.org or 530-265-5961 ext. 201.

While volunteers are out posting fish consumption advisories, the public is invited to Seaman's Lodge in Pioneer Park, Nevada City, for a day of educational fun for the whole family. There will be games, trivia, art, and a broad breadth of information about the best choices for eating locally caught fish. Free ice cream sundaes will be provided from 2-3:30pm, while supplies last!

Project funding provided by The Sierra Fund.

Supervisor Marshall Donates Portable Stage

Each of the Colusa County Supervisors was allotted $25,000 to contribute to special projects of their choice in their districts or any part of Colusa County.

Supervisor Mark Marshall (Dist. 3) recently contributed a portion of his allotted funds ($5,201.15) to the Williams Community Center Association for the purchase of a portable stage.

The Williams Community Center is a project dear to Marshall's heart and he has been a supporter of it from the beginning.

In 2013 after more than two decades the Williams Community Center Association succeeded in opening a community center in Williams when the Williams Community Center was established in the renovated former Williams Veteran's Hall.

Establishing the center was a result of the tireless 20-plus years of fundraising by the Association, and the $250,000 Community Development Block Grant that Colusa

County Supervisor Mark Marshall is credited with securing for the project.

Once the Center was opened, the grounds were given a 'facelift' as well when a group of volunteers from a number of groups and businesses completed the center's landscaping project.

Again, Supervisor Mark Marshall and his wife Nancy Marshall showed their continued support of the center by donating all of the plants needed for the landscaping.

Marshall commented that this has been a great project for Williams. "We are so pleased that we could be a part of seeing it come to fruition," he said.

"We are extremely proud of the Williams Community Center," said Marshall. "There have been many volunteers that have helped to make this a reality in our community," he said.

Each year, the center hosts the Summer Showcase; a local talent show fundraising effort. The portable stage will be a huge edition to the show, said Melissa Baikie-Rick, vice chair of the Williams Community Center Association and director of the annual talent show.

BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call, 1-800-280-2832 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site, www.auction.com, for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, T.S.# 9411-8348. increases to keep tuition down. Prop 30 passed and tuition went up.

High School Civics students distributed campaign literature for races in Yuba and Sutter Counties last weekend. Students volunteering for supervisor candidate Liz Cervantes describe being stopped and threatened with a lawsuit by Supervisor LeVake. You can't get that kind of civics lesson sitting in class. The high school instructor gets high marks for the chance to get up close with an elected official.

Yuba County Supervisor John Nicoletti explained to one forum that we needed to honor the 2002 Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with Enterprise Rancheria because it wasn't their fault it took so long to break ground on the casino. What people is Mr. Nicoletti representing?

He failed to mention that there is a renegotiation clause in the 15 yr. old MOU. And, that he, Mary Jane Griego and Hal Stocker opposed board members Vasquez and Abe wanting to revisit the financial agreement. Rather than receiving just $697,120 from the Rancheria, Yuba Co. Public Works indicates citizens would have received more like $1.2 million in fees from a non-tribal development of similar size.

Supervisors like Nicoletti, Griego and LeVake are comfortable taking contributions and then moving projects forward for donors. They have taken money from developers of the Magnolia Ranch in Yuba County and proposed projects in South Sutter County.

LeVake joined Sutter County board members in slowing down SMUD's (Sacramento Municipal Utility District) proposed Colusa-Sutter Transmission Project to bring cheaper and cleaner surplus power here from the Northwest. New lines would be needed through farmlands and rural areas. Some affected farmers are opposed to it due to the difficulty in working around the towers and power lines.

Although a potential benefit to businesses and residents SMUD's cheaper power would compete with local energy companies like Calpine. According to her campaign disclosure Supervisor LeVake's lobbying firm received between $10,000 - $100,000 in fees from Calpine and Calpine made a $1,000 contribution to her election effort.

Congressman Doug La Malfa's campaign slogan says he is "One of Us." He once represented Yuba-Sutter in Sacramento but now has Congressional District 1 to the north and east. La Malfa's recent votes funding Planned Parenthood, Obamacare, and supporting the Trans-Pacific Partnership are confusing.

What does he mean by "Us?" His district is one of the most conservative in the state yet he received only a 68% conservative rating from Heritage Action Voting Scorecard. In contrast, Congressman Tom McClintock (Dist 4 - east and south of Yuba-Sutter) earned an 87% ranking.

No wonder so many don't vote. Politicians are faster than the eye can perceive. Comedian Will Rogers said, "America has the best politicians money can buy." Maybe that's how candidates enter office with thousands and retire with millions.

“Remembering Our Fallen”

Traveling Photo Memorial of California Fallen on Display at Yuba Sutter Mall

“We must remember these American Heroes and speak their names when we see their family members. We can never forget those who sacrificed everything for our freedom,” said Bill Williams, co-creator of the memorial. “While this memorial is about those who have died, it was created for the living...to help the families in their grief, while reminding the rest of us of the terrible price paid for our freedom by our current generation of military.”

A very emotional memorial, “Remembering Our Fallen,” is a stark reminder of the ultimate sacrifice made by 729 Fallen from California killed in The War on Terror while wearing our country’s uniform in a war zone. The photo memorial, which includes military and personal photos of each of California’s Fallen, is traveling throughout the state and will be coming to Yuba Sutter Mall in Yuba City, California.

43yr old Duane Dively with the US Air Force, 24yr old Chase Marta with the US Army and 27yr old Harvey Parkerson III with the US Marine Corp were all Yuba City Natives.

3 of the 729 honored, called Yuba City home, along with several other heroes from neighboring cities including Sacramento, Roseville, Citrus Heights and Folsom.

The financial sponsors of the memorial are Yuba Sutter Mall and the Tri-Counties Blue Star Moms. Yuba Sutter Mall serves as the local shopping destination to a diverse community for the Yuba-Sutter area at the intersection of highways 99 and 20. Tri-Counties Blue Star Moms are a local chapter of the non-profit service organization of mothers of children who have served or are serving in all branches of the Armed Forces.

These memorials, and 17 other state memorials representing half of our country’s fallen since 9/11/01, have been created by Patriotic Productions, a non-profit organization headquartered in Omaha, Nebraska. The goal is to complete a memorial for every state. More information at: RememberingOurFallen.org or PatrioticProductions.org.

DETAILS:

-“Remembering Our Fallen” will be on display May 9th to 26th at Yuba Sutter Mall

-Dedication and Ceremony is on May 15th. Doors open at 11am for private time with Family & Friends. Ceremony to begin at 12pm and is open to the public.

-The exhibit can be seen during Mall hours, Monday – Friday 10am-9pm, Saturday 10am-8pm

& Sunday 11am-6pm.

-No admission charge, thanks to Yuba Sutter Mall and Tri-Counties Blue

CRITIC’S CORNER
by Matt Woolery
Captain America: Civil War
Starring: Chris Evans, Robert Downey Jr. and Scarlett Johansson. Rated: PG-13, Runtime: 147 minutes.

This is the third movie featuring the hero Captain America. Most of the avengers are in this film and are divided between giving up their freedom to use their powers as they see fit or to be governed by the United Nations. The writing of this film is some of the best I have seen. With nuances of core American values and basic questions of rights and liberties it is no wonder their stories make so much money at the box office.

The acting is really good, the only thing I did not like was the use of the shaky cam in the first few fight scenes. Then for the later action sequences the gabapentin kicked in and the camera monkey was able to hold the camera a bit better.

Captain America: Civil War, earns five out of five, Truck Kicking Monkeys. I had high expectations going into this movie. I didn’t see a lot of smiles on the folks that came out of the previous showing so I was bit reticent to go into the theater. I am happy that I was not disappointed and with the addition of the Black Panther and Spider-Man to the group just made it better. There is not enough room in the paper to expound on how cool it is to see the Black Panther on the big screen and portrayed so well. This may be the best super hero movie ever. Go see it a few times and enjoy.

50+ Local Agencies Attending “Community Resource Fair”

An impressive list of local non-profit and governmental agencies will be on hand for a “Community Resource Fair” to showcase scores of local programs and services designed to assist those families and individuals in need.

The free event is from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 21 at Gauche Park, at Wilbur Avenue and C Street in Yuba City.

“This is the most impressive event of its kind, ever,” said Bob Harlan, Executive Director of Yuba-Sutter United Way.

“Last year, we attracted more than 600 people. We expect about the same number on Saturday,” Harlan said.

“Families will find services and programs they need for their families that they may have not realized were available,” Harlan said.

In addition to the information provided, the first 600 attendees will receive a free barbeque lunch sponsored by local donors. Plus, there will be more than 50 free prize drawings, kids’ obstacle course and a kids’ fun run.

“I urge everyone to let friends and relatives, who may benefit from this event, know about it,” Harlan said.

Organizations on-hand cover areas such as social services, services for the disabled, food closets, medical services (physical, mental and dental), education, recreation and more. For more information and a list of participating organizations, visit www.yuba-sutterunitedway.org or call (530) 743-1847.

Bathroom Talk

The narcissism of our President has no bounds. He could be in a room with Einstein, Da Vinci and Newton and he would still think he was the smartest one in the room.

His latest display of narcissism is to bully the Governor of North Carolina, Pat McCrory, who is attempting to resolve the recent dilemma of bathroom gender choice – brought about partly by Bruce Jenner's sensational transition to a female form (well, almost).

Mr. Obama and his liberal cronies who are always the champions of the minority, no matter what the cause (gender issues, skin color, religious preferences, etc) have decided that anyone undergoing a sexual transition should be allowed to use the bathroom of their newly chosen sexual identify. There is nothing in the constitution that covers this situation (neither was gay marriage) so they have taken upon themselves to make up a few rules to protect these poor mixed up souls at the expense of everyone else who are happy with their sexual identify and can recognize the universal symbol on all public bathroom doors (the one with the pants is for males and the one with the skirt is for females).

As usual, Obama has decided to throw out the baby with the bathwater – such as the “Affordable Health Care Act” wherein he deemed that 80% of the insured population were happy with their health insurance but it was the 20 % uninsured who concerned him. Rather than come up with a special program for the 20%, he decided to reinvent the wheel and come up with a plan for everybody – to hell with the people who were satisfied with their private plans. The same rule applied to the gay marriage debacle wherein thousands of years of traditional marriage between a man and a woman were swept aside and replaced with the liberal theme “anything goes” – long live diversity!

The North Carolina legislation came up with a “law” to attempt to clarify this new and perplexing social dilemma. You must use the restroom which corresponds to the gender identified on your birth certificate until your transition is totally complete. Obama's administration came down hard on this governor and warned him if he didn't rescind that law his state would lose all federal funding. Whoa! Blackmail is alive and well in the Obama camp. No thought is given to the young girls in school who feel uncomfortable sharing their bathroom with a boy dressed up like a girl – or vice versa. The next federal law will most certainly be that all girl's bathrooms should be equipped with urinals for the trans-genders who still have their male genitalia.

This gender thing is getting out of control. The North Carolina legislature's solution is the only practical and fair one to this problem. The concerns and feelings of the majority must rule over these ridiculous situations brought about by a population that has run amok in political correctness, and led by the King of PC, Barack Obama. Enough of this kind of nonsense – we have a very important presidential election coming up. Certainly that is more important than bathroom choices for trans genders! Grow up, America. Our future is at stake and you are spending time on bathroom talk. Let's get serious!

Waiting For A New Watch

I've said many times that Obama was a real good used car salesman ... even better than Bill Clinton. And he proved it again this first week of May.

The trouble is that it sounded peculiarly like we had heard it before ... like seven and a half years ago ... either during his inaugural address or shortly after.

The familiar phrases that echoed ... Tax Reform ... Rebuilt Infrastructure in our Roads Bridges City Water Systems Working with Congress Blah Blah Blah etc. etc. Like in six months he's going to accomplish all those things.

And during this populous refrain I saw the upper eyelids dropped “just a smidgeon” and his eyes glazed over and the half crinkling grin from his lips. I've seen that mannerism so many times before ... like when questioned about the IRS scandal (not even a smidgeon), his address to the U.N. Assembly about the video that in turn caused the deaths of four Americans at Benghazi that included our ambassador lamenting continuously in his first term that he couldn't get anything done because the “Republicans” kept bills from going through to him ... all the while they were stopped by his “hitman” Senate Majority Leader

Harry Reid, etc. etc.

During the refrain there was the “Eureka” moment. And we're going to hear this stoppage tactic over and over well beyond his exit from the oval office. He couldn't get anything done because of the Republicans ... or it definitely was Bush's fault.

You had your eight years, Barack, and you blew it. Especially the ISIS explosion that has spilled out into the world. Hopefully we can clean up that mess quickly. Don't forget Barack, that was on your watch.

Dousing The Water Connection Conspiracy Theory

What an astounding letter submitted by Buck Weckman in the 05.09 issue of the Territorial Dispatch!

Buck, as is usually the case with his anti-everything-common-sense wars, your substantiating information is flawed and your analysis feeble. Why do you constantly thrive on dividing communities with hearsay, conspiracy theories and fear mongering?

His embarrassing assumption that the volunteers who worked to defeat the rate hike were motivated to keep water rates fair because they grow MMJ is irresponsible lunacy.

First, how many of the volunteers in the “opposing group” does he personally know? Has he visited their homes? Where are the facts to substantiate your ill-conceived, malicious labels of your neighbors?

Second, if you recall, his speculative notion that MMJ growers are somehow using excessive amounts of NYWD's water was proven false. Matter of fact, all of your concocted issues that you used to coerce the NYWD Board to sign your anti-MMJ petition were shown false according to District records.

Finally, by my calculations, over the last year, he has attended just a handful of meetings at NYWD most of which were only to promote your anti-MMJ position or to gripe when you lost the board's support. If he had attended more, he'd know that many meetings are overflow capacity and often exceed fire code. He'd also know that most of the unapologetic, demeaning comments come from the past Board President and now, from him. Most importantly, he'd understand why people are attending the meetings in droves and participating in the democratic process - To keep a watch on an agency that's wasting ratepayer and taxpayer's money and running amuck because of bad management and a mostly do-nothing, corrupt Board.

So, Buck, now owes the NYWD customer community two, maybe three, apologies. He has wrongfully shaken a finger at them during the last Board meeting and now he has taken to writing maligned pieces that label them criminal. Shameful. What motivates him? It wouldn't be that he is a sore loser would it?

He is right about the “personal attacks.” We, the community, do take it personally and we're sick and tired of your intimidation and hostility towards us.

Hope to see you at the next meeting with apologies in hand!

soundly defeated the project.

Barbara LeVake is currently the incumbent from District 5, however she was appointed to this position after it was vacated when James Gallagher was elected to the CA Assembly. LeVake was selected at the urging of her Special Interest clients to fill the balance of Gallagher's term, but promised that she would not run for this office as being an (unelected) incumbent “would give her an unfair advantage.” Did she ever plan to keep her word or did she plan to run for Supervisor the whole time? Many years later, Sutter Pointe is back for a second bite at the apple and mysteriously, LaVake comes out of retirement to push this project again. This massive development is not going to benefit Sutter County because it was designed as a bedroom community for neighboring cities, Roseville and Sacramento. These luxury homes will be sold to owners who commute to work in areas outside Sutter County. It would increase our population by 50,000 new residents bringing traffic congestion to our already overcrowded streets. Furthermore, the ultimate plan is for Sutter Pointe to become its own city which would eliminate any tax benefits going to the County. We get all the problems, they get all the benefits.

Sutter County's economy is built on farming which pumps $3 Billion into our community annually. Please don't turn Sutter County into another Roseville by approving candidates who want to convert our valuable farmland into a satellite bedroom community for yuppies.

Having attended several debates now, I feel I have enough information to chose whom I will vote for in the upcoming election, and that candidate is Liz Cervantes. She is a fresh voice and a proud military mom who wants nothing more than to work for us, the residents of Sutter County instead of powerful special interests. With her background at the Chamber of Commerce, I believe she will be a strong voice for local businesses and work hard to make Sutter County a better place to live in for all of us.

Trump Triumph ‘N Turmoil

by Fred Duncan

Here's the deal; Trump and the Art of the Deal, made no deals to secure the Republican Party surprise of the only viable candidate on the ballot. Why, because mainstream America is tired of the same old dog and pony show; politicians of every stripe promising hope and change and continuing the same tired policies of tax and spend while American values and traditions are denigrated and our moral and physical infrastructures are run into the ground.

No race or minority need be sanctioned just because we need to secure our borders and insure a legal and sure way for all who want to come here in peace and become Americans. Not hyphenated people but citizens and patriots of the United States. This means no divided loyalties or secret agendas to make America more like the home that they left. Yes, celebrate your cultural heritage but that enriches the communities we live in it should not divide them.

No denigration of the so called rich or wealthy should be necessary to help the poverty stricken began to climb the economic ladder to success. Success should be taught and striven for at home, in school, and by the church and not left to nameless, faceless bureaucrats to regulate.

The tenets of freedom with attendant responsibility must be reasserted as the primary way of life and the so called entitlements should be earned and not bestowed by pandering politicians seeking popularity and continuing in office at the public's expense. Government officials whether elected or appointed should serve the community and not themselves or cronies.

All laws and regulation written to insure special treatment and allowances to favor the LGBT folks need to be rolled back and instead the rights of the majority should not be sacrificed. We can accept differences if they are not made paramount and superior to the common wheel of the public. A public restroom is no place for insisting on diversity.

The money one earns should not be seized by the government for the first half of your pay, or extend through the first half of the year. We need a balanced budget and to reduce the national debt else we trade our children's and grandchildren's futures for our own expediency.

The right of self-defense is a Tenet of our freedom and the Second Amendment is part and parcel in our ability of self-determination.

Finally the freedom of worship assured by the First Amendment to the

The real person deserving credit for this funding accomplishment, along with the Sutter County Supervisors, is Brenda Stranix, President/Chief Operating Officer and Economic Development District Director for Sutter County. Ms Stranix works diligently to aid Sutter County the community in obtaining funding. She has numerous accomplishments in obtaining funding for Sutter County entities. As said, "Give credit where credit is due." Bravo, Brenda. Keep up your good work.

How We Got Here, Measures A and B

In 1979, the National Organization for Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) Executive Director, Keith Stroup, announced they (NORML) would use the medical marijuana issue as a “red herring to give marijuana a good name.”

So the movement begins, leading to 1996, when California Voters passed Proposition 215, the so called Compassionate Use Act. Proposition 215, was written by many time arrested San Francisco drug dealer Dennis Peron and funded by George Soros, the billionaire financier of far left radical causes. Upon passage of Proposition 215, NORML's Executive Director, Allen St. Pierre, proclaimed, “In California, Marijuana has been de-facto legalized under the guise of medical marijuana.”

As written, Proposition 215 was unenforceable, creating a subculture of “sick people/patients” and a subculture of marijuana growers euphemistically referred to as “cannabis farmers,” to provide “medicine” for the “sick people.” I can unequivocally state that the motive of most “cannabis farmers” is anything but altruistic; it's more about padding their wallets.

What followed was a series of intertwining events that leads to Yuba County voters making a critical decision on the future of our life style in Yuba County: Measures A and B.

One of the authors of arguments for Measure A is a young woman who says that if not for “medical marijuana” she would be bedridden for life. She, and other qualifying “sick people,” knows that under Yuba County's Ordinance 1542, they can produce enough marijuana to meet their personal needs. Yet, she promotes Measure A which is nothing more than a veiled attempt to legalize unfettered, illegal commercial marijuana growing in Yuba County. As written, county officers and deputies cannot independently make compliance inspections unless there has been a written complaint by those living within 600 feet of the grown plants, even if those officers see a non-compliant grow site. It is a constitutional right that any citizen or non-citizen can make a complaint, in writing, verbally or anonymously. Also, law enforcement officers cannot, nor should not be mandated to not enforce the law, for offenses committed in their presence.

Measure B is sponsored by a Bay area longtime lobbyist for the legalization of marijuana for any purpose. In March 2008, he plead guilty to one count of conspiracy to manufacture a mixture or substance containing marijuana, a federal, felony offense. A federal court judge gave him a 24 month sentence, followed by 5 years federal probation.

Measure B is a scheme to establish up to five marijuana dispensaries in Yuba County, combined with the two authorized by the Marysville City Council, for a total of seven dispensaries- about the same number of legal pharmacies in the entire county. Just how many “sick people/ patients” do we have in Yuba County that require medical marijuana?

Measure B is so terribly flawed, space does not permit me to point them all out, example: doesn't require background checks on dispensary workers; doesn't require any form of quality assurance or inspection to protect customers, (sick people/patients) from buying tainted or inferior products, etc.

Marijuana dispensaries, (pot shops) are notorious for illegally providing marijuana to young people under the guise of “medicine.” For example, a law enforcement raid on a city of Chico marijuana dispensary revealed a total of 3,972 doctor recommendations; 2, 059 or 51% of the total were for “sick people/patients” under 30 years old; 210 or 4% for “sick people/patients” in the 60 to 90 year old group. Need I say more?

The Measure B campaign posted shamefully, deceptive billboards in the area of Yuba College and one directly across the street from Marysville High school that states, “Because Health is Your Right, Yes on Measure B, Vote June 7th.” Ironically, the State lawmakers just passed a law raising the age of tobacco sales from 18 to 21 to protect our youth from the proven cancer causing chemicals, which are many more times more concentrated in marijuana smoke.

In March 2016, the University of California Davis released a Study that mirrors many I have seen in my 36 year law enforcement career. One sentence summarizes the UCD Study: “The results are consistent with findings from studies that have shown that Cannabis (marijuana) was associated with reduced income and education, increased welfare dependence, crime and lower relationship satisfaction.”

I encourage Yuba County Citizens to Vote No on Ballot Measures A and B. Let's keep our community a safe place to live, especially for our children.

Don't Raise Taxes

by Fred M. Duncan

I just got two flyers on my door today; one urging yes on Measure 'C' framed by the city name in block letters with pictures of yester year from top to bottom. This missive on the behalf of a 'Marysville Policeman' asking us the voters not to lose one more 'cop'. His thinking like the photos, is far in the past when Marysville was the hub of commercial enterprise and Yuba City had not become the new shopping center. Sadly today the old guard are stuck in the past because times and circumstances have changed.

The second flyer was a simply printed announcement saying 'NO on Measure 'C'. Then it concisely enumerated some of the history and conditions of the present mess that the old guard has got us into. Mentioned are the bond payment for the 'B' Street property, the high price of buying our own water, and the possibility of using the Sheriff's office to police the city and merging our fire department with another. All these ideas have merit but the old guard would risk losing control of the budget.

Meanwhile readers might want to know that the area is still viable because people care enough to invest in what will make Marysville and Yuba County better.

Mike Leahy reports that several properties are being removed from government ownership and sold to private investors. Thus putting the properties back on the tax rolls and the ensuing businesses will bring new income as well as adding much needed cash from the sale. Now if we can just sell the 'B' Street property.

Other friends of the city have donated a new pump for Ellis Lake, the labor to install it, and there is a donation of enough money to pay for the electricity to run it for a whole year. The inflow will be doubled and will come from the pristine Yuba River not the murky Feather River.

In short, we do not need to raise taxes if we can raise interest in helping our city return to a healthy financial state and making it attractive to potential investors and businesses.

He makes California the laughing stock of the nation. Where else can a 15-year-old girl get an abortion without her parents being notified, but a 20-year old can't buy a cigarette?

• Last October, the Oakland Unified school board approved an ethnic studies course for all Oakland high schools. This is another example of what has been occurring in other California school districts. The “experts” claim that these courses are designed to broaden understanding of the roles played by African-Americans, Latinos and other racial and ethnic groups. It is difficult to understand how these courses prepare students for life outside the classroom. Wouldn't it be more productive to mandate courses in managing your money, how to prepare for work or household budgeting?

• Another Hollywood leftist, Rob Reiner, said that Trump supporters are “racists.” Doesn't he realize that those making such charges are the actual racists?

• White water rafters are having spasms of ecstasy coming down the American River. Of course these few folks are enjoying their sport at the expenses of farmland, orchards and lawns. All that white water goes out the Golden Gate. What arrogance and selfishness.

• Geraldo Rivera says the crime rate among Americans is greater than that of illegal aliens. He emphasizes then that we should not be concerned about illegal immigration. Perhaps Geraldo should go back to opening Al Capone's vaults.

• Some sore loser Republicans are running around like headless chickens claiming they'll never vote for Trump. What a bunch of sore losers. They'd rather have Hillary then someone who will get things done. Remember the Republicans were handed the House and Senate in the last election, but kow-towed to Obama's agenda.

• According to the polls, Hillary and Trump have the most unfavorable rating ever seen. If so, how did they both manage to win primaries? Perhaps there's something wrong with polls and pollsters. Some folks don't have the brains God gave to a rubber duck.

• Vegans are apparently not only highly PC, but terrorists as well. They threaten folks who eat meat with death? When are they going to turn their attention to lions, tigers, wolves, killer whales, spiders and even birds, all of whom kill and eat meat? Dumb as fence-posts.

• “Sudden Oak Death” is now claimed to be unstoppable in California. This has been going on for decades. Another crisis to use to make the Feds take over more land?

• The Obama Justice Department is making its own law by demanding North Carolina void its' “bathroom” law. There is no precedent for Obama to decide he is the law and can decide that all bathrooms be open to anyone.

• It is way past time that the Republicans, led by Ryan, McConnell and Reince Priebus act. Trump is surging as these ineffective boobs hide under their desks.

But one of these characters is bound to be charged with fish murder.

• Moonbeam said something correct the other day – will wonders never cease? He said that drought is becoming a regular occurrence. Yes. Did you just notice this phenomenon after living in California for seven decades?

• John Stossel, Fox business reporter and libertarian lives in New York. He applied for a gun permit, filling out a 17 page application and paying a $430 application fee. Eight and one half months later he was denied. Of course New York kept the $430.

• Now the left has managed to affirm the “dignity” of transgenders. What's next? Some ideas pending include polygamy (note the current reality TV programs on the subject). Lower the age of consent to puberty? (Wasn't that the glory of ancient Greece?) How about consensual pederasty? Maybe incest? The campaign will not stop so long as leftists have their way in today's “no judgment” world.

• The universities are getting worse, if that is possible. Case in point: The University of Minnesota had a speaker claiming being fat is a phobia caused by “white hetero-normative society”. Possibly the speaker hasn't been listening to Michele Obama.

Yuba City Water and Sewer Rate Proposals

by Rick Dais

On April 18 a public hearing-Prop 218 notices were mailed to Yuba City water and sewer users.

The notices alerted people to the dates of the Protest hearing- June 8 at 6 PM at Yuba City Council chambers.

The notice vaguely referenced that if a written protest by parcel owners or water or sewer users with "a respect to a majority of the parcels" were turned in by June 8 the rate increases will not be imposed. In the case of Yuba City water users this translates to about 9,000 protests to stop the increases. In the case of city sewer users roughly 8,000 protests are needed to stop the increases.

What are the proposed rate increases? For city sewer users the rates will increase 10% a year over the next five years. For single family customers the current bill of $40.53 per month will increase to $65.27 per month by the beginning of the fifth year. This is a cumulative increase of 61% over today's sewer charge.

For Yuba City water users the proposed rate increases are much more severe! How severe are they? Two factors are involved. Number one, minimum water users will now have a baseline of 11 units (HCFs) down from the old baseline of 15 HCFs. Secondly, you will be paying a lot more for that lower baseline.

For Yuba City water users that will utilize the new baseline of 11 HCF or less per month their water bill will be 2.49 times their present bill based on 11 HCFs. For those customers using 15 HCFs per month (the present baseline) by the beginning of the third year your bill will be 2.2 times your present bill. Yuba City customers with combined water and sewer can expect their minimum payments to be $93.44 per month by the beginning of the third year. This increases to $108 minimum by the beginning of the 5th year. These are insane increases!

Yuba City staff reports indicate their water sale revenues declined 19% in the last 6 months of 2015 due primarily to the drought and mandated water cut-backs. But the drought is easing. Even if revenues continue to be off by 19% that hardly justifies a 149% increase in rates for minimum users by the end of two years. Where is the money really going? The city cites bond payments and increased maintenance costs as well. But anyway you slice it these increases are extremely excessive.

If you are a Yuba City property owner and/or a water or sewer rate payer, make up or get your hands on a protest ballot. Be advised that your protest needs to indicate a NO to both water and NO to sewer rate increases separately.

Bring these protests to the protest hearing by 6 PM on June 8 or hand deliver them to City Hall. Or mail them in time to meet that deadline. That would mean 5 days in advance which is June 3. Emails and faxes are not valid and will NOT count!

Circulate protests to neighbors and friends. Keep your fingers crossed. If people unite these ridiculous rate increases will not be imposed.

Williams Pioneer Review Named Business of the Year

Lloyd Green Jr., owner/publisher of the Williams Pioneer Review was named Business of the Year at the Colusa County Chamber of Commerce annual dinner on May 2.

Green stepped into the publishing world right out of high school when he opened a small graphics and website design firm in Colusa.

"I remember filing for my business license in 2004 just before I received my diploma," said Green.

Kathy Craigo, owner of Kathy Craigo Media Consulting and former news reporter in Colusa presented Green with the award.

In doing so she recalled that she had actually watched Green grow from an ambitious youngster into a dedicated businessman. "He has accomplished many things here in Colusa County," said Craigo.

The Williams Pioneer Review published its first edition in 2008 and in August 2010, Green purchased the publication.

"Back then it was what we in the 'biz' would call a 'good news' paper. Today it has grown into a journalistic product that covers both hard news and good news," said Craigo, "The Williams Pioneer Review has developed into a once weekly paper that keeps the county informed."

Until this year, the Williams Pioneer Review has been a one-man operation.

"Lloyd did the news coverage, ad sales, writing, layout/design, and producing it on his own," said Craigo, "He even has been his own delivery person. He more than burns the midnight oil, and it's not uncommon to see him a little sleep deprived, but he works until he gets the job done."

Green was presented with a Certificate of Recognition from the California Legislature Assembly in being named the Colusa County Chamber of Commerce Business of the Year for 2016. Assemblyman James Gallagher presented the certificate to Green.

"On the behalf of myself, and my colleges in the State Legislature, Assembly member Bill Dodd, and Senator Jim Nielsen we want to recognize your accomplishment as the business of the year," said Assemblyman Gallagher.

Assemblyman Gallagher added, "I am going to out on a limb here, I think I have my history right, but there was once a newspaper man, and flood control advocate here in Colusa by the in the name of Will Green - there is a new Green in town. Those are some big shoes to fill, and it sounds like you are already on your way."

"Lloyd, thanks you for all that you do in the community, it is so important that we have our local newspapers. We've seen the media become more and more corporate, and having these local newspapers is so important to our communities," said Assemblyman Gallagher, "and thank you for the service that you provide to our community and all that you have done."

Although Green is not related to the late Will S. Green, he commented that they share the same ambitions and drive.

"I am a very goal oriented person, and once I set a goal I find a way to meet that goal," said Green, "I have read his history and some of his writings, and I find some of our thoughts strikingly similar."

Green said that journalism and the news media was never planned for his future.

"This opportunity fell into my lap. I was helping the former owner of the publication when it came up for sale. I thought it was a great product, so we worked out a deal - I had no idea what I was doing or what I've gotten myself into," said Green.

After months of trying to develop a plan for the publication; a vision was born.

"I was forced to close my first business in 2011 after the economy took a dive; I still held onto the paper - I had to do something with it," said Green.

After facing a family tragedy, Green went full speed ahead.

"My brother was killed in a vehicle accident in 2012, and I unknowingly used the newspaper as an outlet for my grief. I was able to bury myself in my research, work, and tried to learn as much about the newspaper business as possible, - just so I didn't have to deal with my personal life," said Green. "I wanted to turn something very negative in my life into something positive."

In 2014, Green began publishing the Williams Pioneer Review - weekly.

"My family thought I was crazy; It was an obscene amount of work, but I did it for the love of the community. I had to give back to a community that offers so much," said Green.

During his acceptance speech, Green expressed his appreciation and gratitude.

"I want to thank the readers who've taken the time to read the paper each week, and to the subscribers who have put their trust and support in me to provide a newspaper worthy of delivery to their doors, and to my advertisers - who without them, my efforts would not be possible," said Green.

Green extended his gratitude to his family who has supported all of his endeavors and provided encouragement.

"My mission is to bring meaning to the lives of Colusa County residents who are interested in all things local. Newspapers are the first draft of history, and I want to convey the Colusa County experience through an informative and viable community newspaper," said Green, "This is truly a great honor and I look forward to many years to come."

The Williams Pioneer Review is distributed at no charge at over 100 drop locations throughout the county; additionally, home delivery and mail delivery of the newspaper is available by subscription. The Williams Pioneer Review can be found on-line at www.colusacountynews.net and is available on Apple and Android mobile devices. Servicing the communities of Arbuckle, Colusa, Maxwell, Grimes, Princeton, Stonyford, and Williams, the Williams Pioneer Review is located at 430 Market Street, STE E in Colusa, and can be reached by phone at (530) 458-4141.

THE Brownsville Bailiwick & Beyond

Stone Soup Group has had several lunches now and many people agree that it is great way to spend an hour or two (or more). Each Thursday at noon one can have soup, salad, bread and a dessert while visiting with friends, family, neighbors, or complete strangers. Lunch is followed by many possibilities: games, puzzles, crafts or more time to chat. This lunch program is held at Ponderosa Community Center in Brownsville so come on by.

Opening Day for Yuba Feather Museum is fast approaching. On Saturday, May 28, it will open for the summer season. Throughout the summer it will be open to visitors each weekend day from noon until 4 pm. It is a great place to visit or to bring your visitors. On Opening Day from 9 – 4 there are many special things happening: music, food, gunfighters, costumed docents and more. The big happening that day, though, is the Chili Cook-off. Local cooks have been planning a special recipe to impress the tasters, hoping to win an award. You can get a taste of each chili and vote for your favorite. If you wish to show off your chili-preparing prowess please contact Carole at 675-1626 or Bev at 742-4059 for further information. In the park next door to the museum there will be many small engines, “huff and puff” one-lungers, in operation. The owners of these engines are very enthusiastic historic restorers. We love the sound these unique engines make. People from many places in the world have visited our gem of a museum and have been impressed. Make sure you plan a visit soon. The museum is located at 19096 New York Flat Rd., Forbestown.

Foothill Fire Protection District has a new webpage www.ffpd.net where you can find out what is going on, in and about the department. Each Wednesday and Saturday from 9 am to 3 pm, through May 28, you can get your burn permit at the Foothill Fire house. May 14 and May 28, permits will only be available until noon. The Foothill Fire Protection District Firefighters Association will be holding a fundraiser on July 4 at 5:00 pm. They will have a hamburger and hot dog BBQ with the fixins’, just before the fireworks display. We will have further information regarding the BBQ at a later date. A raffle will be held at the BBQ and the firefighters are looking for donations for the raffle. For those of you who may not know about the fireworks display, it is held in the parking lot of the firehouse and all fireworks are donated by local residents and businesses. They are safe and sane and set off by the firefighters. It really is fun! Foothill had a total of 35 calls in April. There were 26 medical, 1 wild land fire, 3 structure fires and 5 vehicle accidents. Thank you to all of our firefighters for all that you do to help and protect us.

The Brownsville Farmers Market is gearing up and will be opening its proverbial doors on Saturday, June 11 at the Foothill Fire Department parking lot on Willow Glen Rd. It will run every Saturday from 9 am to 12 pm through September 3. Contact Gary Hawthorne at 530-692-9006 if you wish to set up a booth or for further information. You can also check out their website at www.brownsvillefarmersmarket.net.

Veterans Art Park Being Built In Marysville

Yuba Sutter Arts to Hole Dedication and Reception on Memorial Day

Marysville, Ca. Construction is under way for a new Veterans Art Park in Marysville. With funding provided by a grant from the California Arts Council and its Veterans Initiative in the Arts program, Yuba Sutter Arts (YSA) is creating a Veterans Art Park with murals by and about Veterans.

The City of Marysville provided access to a city-owned lot across from Ellis Lake and near the junction of Highway 70 and Highway 20. The Veterans Art Park mural project will create a meeting place for Veterans, residents and visitors, perhaps, in the vein of what the Vietnam Wall in Washington, DC has come to represent to the nation, though on a smaller and more localized scale.

The project involves the creation of a seven-panel mural array on the B Street property near 12th Street. Each Veteran has been paired with a local professional mural artist who has provided one-on-one coaching, mentorship and guidance throughout the entire process of creating their mural. The Veteran/artist teams have created mural concepts based on Veterans’ personal experiences during and after active duty. Each mural has taken on the personality and inner passions of the Veteran artists.

The professional artist/mentors have guided the Veterans through the transfer of the design to large scale 4’x8’ mural panels and instructed and advised the Veterans regarding surface preparation and the actual painting of each mural.

YSA will unveil the park and the murals during a dedication ceremony on Memorial Day, Monday, May 30 at 1pm.

David Read, Yuba Sutter Arts Board President said, “The empowerment of our Veterans in this project has been immeasurable, and we all know that public works of art can be rallying points and places of remembrance and reflection. Yuba Sutter Arts’ two-county service area is home to thousands of Veterans and active duty airmen and women. A destination, Veterans Art Park will serve as a place of pride for all members of the community and to visitors.”

Placed at a major intersection, the murals will be seen by many thousands of commuters each day as well as weekend visitors heading to nearby recreation sites. Our community will be recognized as a place where Veterans are highly valued residents, key participants in our local city and county governments and major contributors to the fabric of not only Marysville, but throughout the Yuba Sutter region.

Also included in the park design is a 'map' depicting our forgotten warriors and our local heroes from wars further back than memory allows, yet showing graphically where to find their memorials. In conjunction with the Beale Air Force Base Public Affairs office, YSA has also created a panel about the history and countless contributions of Beale AFB to the community and to our nation.

For more information about this project including volunteer opportunities, contact David Read at 530-749-8065 or send an email to: drandolphread@gmail.com.

Will Fed Raise Rates or go Negative?

So the big question on every bodies mind is will the Federal Reserve continue to raise rates at their next meeting, or stand pat in the face of the latest economic statistics?

Or will the newly announced “negative interest” rates, where banks actually charge depositors to hold their money, be implemented?

It is indeed a strange world we live in where the direction of interest rates and what the Fed will do runs the gamut from both north and south poles.

The markets at least for now seem to like what the Feds are doing as the Dow presses up once again on the 18,000 level, an area where it has never risen above. The average Joe at least on the surface appears to be treading water. I get this impression not from some economic statistic but just on the recent experience that everyone I talk to appears to be in some sort of motionless state of monetary limbo: not getting ahead yet still managing to hold onto a job, at least most of us anyway.

Commodities, the price of many of the basic materials and foodstuffs are rising a tad as indicated by the CRB index which tracks such things. It's up over 10% just since January. This could mean inflation is starting to ignite and that could spell pain for the pocketbooks of an American workforce where the majority of them are having at least some difficulty making ends meet. This constant struggle to pay household bills could be at least part of the reason Democratic moderate (some say socialist) Bernie Sanders is so popular. People are just tired of having a select few reaping the rewards and riding in the cart of the greatest country on Earth while the working majority seem to do most of the pulling.

After half a decade of trillions in stimulus and bailouts from the Feds and global central banks everywhere to foster an economic recovery, the most obvious effect, besides stemming the economic tsunami that was 2008, is the US stock markets seemingly relentless push from around 6500 on the Dow in 2009 to nearly triple that where we sit today.

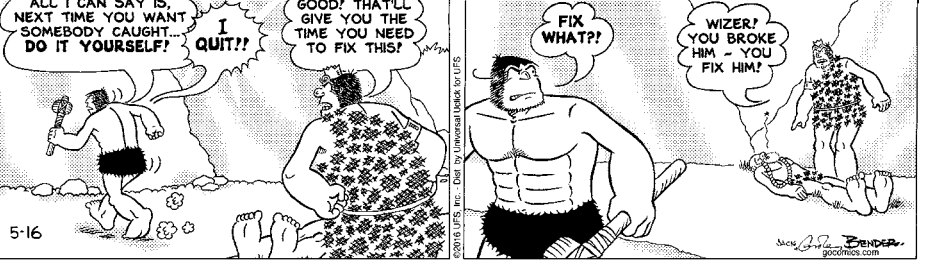

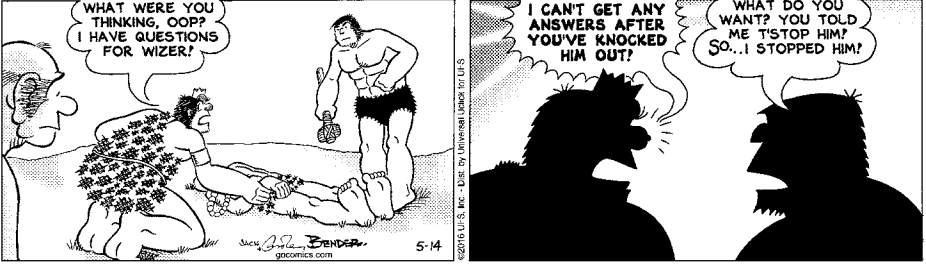

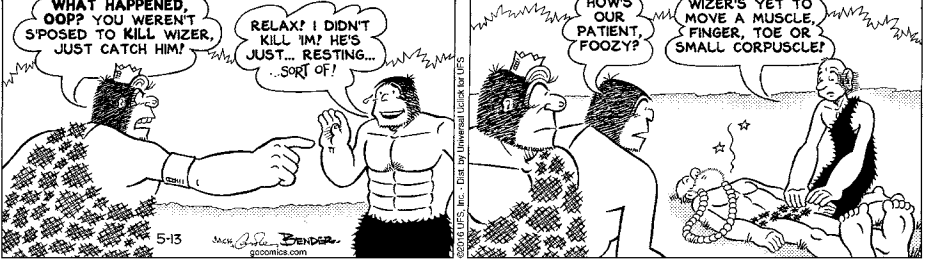

Noticeably absent from the 6 year rally are banking stocks and energy. With unprecedented amounts of Fed money going into the banking sector (Federal Reserve release of information/ Bloomberg 2011) banking stock are off the lows they hit during the depth of the crisis, but they are nowhere near their previous highs prior to the crisis.

Energy stocks although recovered with overall market after 2010, the recent bloodbath in oil prices have hammered these stocks mercilessly.

With concerns regarding slowdowns in many areas of the world and even more talk of easy monetary policies from the European Central Bank and the Bank of Japan, and with close to one quarter of the worlds sovereign debt (government debt of major countries) now yielding negative rates (lenders get back less than loaned), an argument could be made the world is not yet out of the woods thrust upon it by the severe crisis of 2008/2009.

In the face of a rising market, more talk of monetary accommodation (low interest rates and more quantitative easing) struggling energy and banking sectors and economic stagnation or outright recession in many areas around the globe, there are indeed many economic currents and cross currents. The conflicting economic data that continues to pour in and how the world's central banks react to that data is making for one difficult market for investors and predicting what the central banks will do next is anyone's guess. I sometimes doubt central bankers even know themselves.

Speaker Series for Youth Wraps Up Its First Season

Tom Browning, retired Fire Battalion Chief and current Fairgrounds Board Member, shares a near death experience and lessons learned

On August 11, 2014, while working on a fire in the Klamath National Forest, Tom Browning and two others were forced to take refuge in fire shelters while the fire burned over them. Tom, a retired Fire Battalion Chief, shared this near death incident on Tuesday night with more than 20 FFA and 4H students from Bear River and Nevada Union high schools as part of the Nevada County Fairgrounds Foundation's Speaker Series. The series brings business education - through access to business leaders, life experiences, and leadership tips - to local high school students.

When faced with an adverse or dangerous situation, Browning's advice to the students is to "stay calm. You can't think when you panic or are overwhelmed.

Being calm is contagious." Browning has more than 40 years of firefighting experience, including 34 years with the City of Grass Valley Fire Department. He retired as a Battalion Chief in 2011. Since his retirement, he has been a member of the North San Juan Fire Protection District, where he serves as volunteer Battalion Chief. He is also a member of Nor-Cal Team II, a federal Inter

On Tuesday night, Tom Browning, a retired Fire Battalion Chief and current Nevada County Fairgrounds Board member, shared a near death experience and lessons learned from the experience to local 4H and FFA students as part of the Fairgrounds Foundation's speaker series. This monthly series provides business advice, tips and leadership experience to local high school students.

South Lindhurst High School Promoting Community Service

South Lindhurst High School has been very active within the local community this year participating in over 27 different community service events or activities. The notion of helping others, developing leadership skills and providing service to our local community has become the cornerstone of the continuation program. To this point, the FFA program and Leadership class led by FFA Advisor/Teacher Mrs. Jessie Brown has served as the conduit for this service. On Thursday, April 29th South Lindhurst High School took a major step towards expanding these opportunities for their students. A permanent organizational meeting was held to establish the first Excel Club in California for an Alternative High School. Excel Clubs fall under the umbrella of the National Exchange Club and are groups of high school students dedicated to improving their schools, communities and country through volunteerism. Excel Clubs focus on Exchange's four programs of service: Americanism, youth activities, community service & the prevention of child abuse.

At the meeting, 20 South Lindhurst High School students were certified as charter members of the Excel Club of South Lindhurst High School. Abigail Gallardo was inducted as President, Briana Galvez as Vice-President, Chastity Padilla as Secretary, Nathaniel Hernandez as Treasurer. Student Advisory Board Members include Conner O'Brian, Labreshanae Thompson, and Dalia Dolores. The meeting included several notable Exchange Member guests from our local and regional areas. Jack Ruzic the Regional Vice-President, Roy Carlson a volunteer field representative from the Sonoma Club, Randy Reed the Sierra Pacific District President, Joe Nickols a volunteer field representative from the Chico Club, Bernie Rechs and Jim Flurry as club sponsors, and David Jones as Club Advisor and Principal were all in attendance.

Agency Incident Management Team, whose responsibility is to help manage large wildland fires on federal responsibility lands.

Browning is a sixth generation Nevada County resident, and has served as past president of the Nevada County Livestock Producers and the Nevada County Farm Bureau; and is a current board member and past president of the Nevada County Fair Board. He holds his AA degree in Administration of Justice and a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management.

In sharing leadership and life experience advice, Browning emphasized to the students that they should "focus on education and learn as much as they can; experience and learn from life's lessons; be ethical by doing the right thing even when no one is looking; never give up; and never stop learning."

The Fairgrounds Foundation's speaker series, which began in October, featured six speakers. Students had an opportunity to hear about the speaker's career path, how they achieved their goals, insight regarding their area of expertise, and an opportunity for questions. The series, sponsored by Sandy Ballou of California Outdoor Properties, will start up again in October and high school students are invited to attend.

YCWA Calls for State Investigation of Disputed Water Rights

Marysville, Ca.

The Yuba County Water Agency (YCWA) has filed a complaint with California's State Water Resources Control Board (State Board), requesting that the State Board investigate the water rights claims of Cordua Irrigation District (Cordua). Cordua has not signed a new water supply contract after several months of discussions with YCWA to replace the contract that expired on April 30, 2016, and therefore, must rely upon their water rights for diversions from the Lower Yuba River. Cordua's previous contract provided water from YCWA's water rights.

Cordua is asserting a right to divert a significant amount of water from the Lower Yuba River, including stored water supplies released from YCWA's

New Bullards Bar Reservoir. Cordua's claims significantly exceed the district's water rights, as summarized in a 2003 water rights decision for the Lower Yuba River issued by the State Board. Cordua's illegal diversion or sale of these supplies could potentially harm the water rights and water supplies of other agricultural water districts in Yuba County as well as the water supplies available for salmon, steelhead and other fish and wildlife species. Moreover, Cordua landowners traditionally use a large amount of Yuba River water to flood their rice fields in the fall months for rice straw decomposition and waterfowl benefits. Under the existing 2003 State Board decision, the district has no water rights for these diversions. Previously, water supplies for these purposes were provided under the contract between YCWA and Cordua (which has expired).

YCWA General Manager Curt Aikens said today, "The Yuba County Water Agency will take every necessary step to responsibly manage water rights and water supplies in Yuba County."

Aikens added, "Our action should be a clear signal that we are going to protect the rights of our local farmers, ranchers and the environment."

This is the second legal action YCWA has taken against Cordua. On April 15th, YCWA filed a lawsuit in Yuba County's Superior Court challenging Cordua's illegal steps to transfer up to 108,000 acre-feet of Yuba River water supplies, which would require groundwater pumping of up to 12,000 acre-feet per year over the next nine-years.

The lawsuit claims, more recently, Weckman “declared that the Political Action Committee (PAC), Citizens for Solvency, the Plaintiffs are members of was accepting out of state donations and have accepted huge contributions from many of these types of investors.”

However, contrary to the statements above, a review of the campaign finance forms submitted by the PAC show a total of $8,486 in contributions as of May 5th, 2016.

When asked about the financial support allegations by Weckman, Parsons said "He should deal in reality and fact and not try and deceive the voters."

In a phone interview Monday, May 16th, Weckman commented "In today's litigious society, people can sue over almost anything. Since we are in the early stages of this process, it is not appropriate that I make further comment."

Parson and Perez are asking the court to award each with $100,000 for general damages and $250,000 each in punitive damages.

California Corporate Cannabis Corruption

Whether the citizens of California like it or not, big business and corporate interest are making their move to take over the cannabis industry in California. Approximately seven months ago the Governor of California signed the bills necessary to create the Medical Marijuana Regulation and Safety Act (MMRSA) which will establish statewide regulation of medical marijuana cultivation, distribution, and sales. The MMRSA creates a mandatory distribution system which was included as a result of big business lobbying that will allow corporate interest to have an effective stranglehold on the industry.

Vice global media recently interviewed Steven D'Angelo, founder of Harborside Health Center which is the largest medical marijuana dispensary in the nation. In that Interview D'Angelo exposes the corporate interest and their plans to takeover the cannabis industry in California. D'Angelo informs viewers and readers "Southern Wine & Spirits and the Teamster's Union wielded their political influence with California's legislature and executive branch." He goes on to say "The Teamsters and Southern Wine & Spirits rank among the largest political contributors to the legislature." D'Angelo also points out how the mandatory distribution system will cause the cost of products to double and will wipe out eighty percent of the small growers. Price inflation and eliminating the competition is of course key elements involved with the takeover of any market or product.

Recently, proponents of the Adult Use of Marijuana Act (AUMA) turned in over six hundred thousand signatures to qualify the initiative for the November ballot. The AUMA is being bankrolled by multi-billionaire Sean Parker who is the ex-president of FaceBook and cofounder of Napster. Parker isn't the only one trying to cash in on the cannabis industry. One of the biggest AUMA contributors is Climate Corp., which is owned by Monsanto, which is owned by Pfizer. Another major funding entity for the AUMA is Drug Policy Action which is a 501c4 non profit committee, which is the same thing as a "super pac." A super pac can take in unlimited funds from any group or corporation and not disclose the donor information. Hiding the source of what is known as political "dark money" is the main reason why there is growing controversy and disapproval of super pacs. It is a bad sign to see a super pac involved with silicone valley billionaires, even without the involvement of Monsanto and Pfizer.

Critics and opponents of the AUMA have several issues with the initiative. One of the largest being that something very sneaky and clever was hidden in the AUMA that gives the legislators the ability to amend and alter the initiative however they desire, AFTER it is made law by the voters. Some people find this completely unacceptable, especially when considering the source of the money responsible for creating the AUMA and enabling it to become law. It is well known that corporate money leads to political corruption. Big business lobbying will influence the legislators' amendments. Favorable changes made to the new law will be sold to the highest bidder. This is the very foundation of political lobbying. Big business and corporations do this for several reasons; exemption from being punished for environmental and civil damages, to eliminate competition, and to gain complete control of a market or product. The voters will likely get to decide the fate of the AUMA this November.

Almost immediately after the Governor of California signed the MMRSA bill package, county cultivation bans swept across the state. Is this coincidence? Could this have anything to do with the attempted corporate takeover of the cannabis industry? Is local government declaring they favor big business corporate farms more than small locally owned farms?

In order to block big business and the Teamsters Union while preserving small local farms, some counties are already reversing their bans and enabling county permitting. This creates more incentive for other counties to adopt a permitting program that enables local citizens to acquire cultivation and distribution licenses. In the past, the Sheriff of Nevada county has spoken about ban county migration which was his argument for enacting a ban there. The theory was that surrounding counties with bans would funnel the growers to Nevada county as they sought refuge. Now this theory describes the migration of illegal cartel criminals seeking refuge in counties with bans, while fleeing from counties that are gaining massive regulation funding from permits. In counties lacking permitting and regulation, criminals are sure to bring environmental destruction with them.

No one wants to see small local businesses destroyed by big business corporate interest. The best way to stop this is by allowing the small local businesses to gain permits and licenses and be allowed to favorably compete with the likes of Monsanto, Pfizer, Southern Wine & Spirits, and the Teamsters Union. Its up to the counties to choose who they rather see running the farms because there is no stopping the California cannabis industry which is estimated to reach a thirty five billion dollar value by 2020.

59th Annual Penn Valley Rodeo Stencils Create Activity Space For Sutter County Youth

Penn Valley, Ca. – The 59th Annual Penn Valley Rodeo will take place in Penn Valley, California on May 20 and 21 followed by "Play Day" on the 22nd.

Way back in 1956, a handful of local ranchers staged a one-day rodeo behind the old Fire House to help fund Penn Valley's volunteer firefighters.

The Penn Valley Rodeo became a yearly event and continued until 2004, when rodeo attendance declined and the rodeo was discontinued.

At that time, Penn Valley residents and rodeo fans formed the Penn Valley Community Rodeo Association to preserve the tradition of rodeo in Penn Valley.

PVCRA produced its first rodeo in May 2005. It has since added an AMA sanctioned Mule & Donkey Show, the Doc Halstead Open Barrel Race series, and Summer Fun Gymkhana Buckle series.

PVCRA produces quality family entertainment in the western tradition with two nights of pro rodeo, Friday and Saturday, followed by the Penn Valley Community Rodeo Playday on Sunday morning.

The Rodeo Parade will take place on Saturday May 21.

Information supplied by Penn Valley Rodeo Assoc.

In 2012, Sutter County Public Health Education staff began implementing the Nutrition Education and Obesity Prevention (NEOP) program funded by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). The goal of the NEOP Program is to educate and provide support to participants, parents and their children, to consume healthy foods and beverages and increase physical activity to prevent chronic disease and obesity. Recently Sutter County Public Health staff received stencils by the California Department of Public Health CDC Prevention First 1305 grant to enhance community environments to support active play.

In January 2016, a community mini grant proposal to purchase paint for the stencil kit was awarded to Sutter County Public

Kids play hop scotch at Richland Housing Center

Health through the Sutter County Children and Families Commission.

The focus of the stencil project is to enhance the physical environment with colorful and engaging playground markings designs (e.g., bulls-eye, animal shapes, and hopscotch) in order to both promote active play during leisure time as well as provide an 'outdoor activity' to engage residents in "active" learning. The playground stencil kit and paint will be lent to any community partners in Sutter County that serve the 0-5 year old population.

The use of the stencil kit and paint will be promoted on Sutter County Facebook page, Yuba Sutter Child Care Council, Children's Home Society, and Children and Families Commission.

The stencils were first used at Richland Housing Center in Yuba City, and were scheduled to be used at Mahal Plaza and Robbins Elementary School. They are available to use by anyone who wishes to enhance the physical environment of a play area. For additional information, contact the Public Health Department at 530-822-7221.
