By Patrick Larenas

RIO LINDA, CA (MPG) - The Rio Linda High School Class of 2023 celebrated its graduation ceremony on Thursday, June 1st at Sutter Health Park in West Sacramento. The Knights took one last time together at graduation to recollect their memories, to reorient their priorities, to instill their thoughts on others and to accept their diplomas.

After marching into the arena to Edward

Elgar's classic Pomp and Circumstance, Class of 2023 President Clarissa Sainz led the Pledge of Allegiance, and graduating Senior Liberty Williams sang the National Anthem for the celebratory occasion.

Rio Linda High School Principal Paul Orlando addressed the graduates telling them that they were the first class to have experienced school life, programs and many activities pre-COVID, and also to have gone through the ordeal maintaining the vital spirit of leadership in the school. He said that many of these scholastic experiences were "only last done by the seniors when they were freshmen, so they have three classes" that they had helped orient. "Thank you, Class of 2023 for your guidance," Orlando said.

Principal Orlando reported the class's academic standing as of graduation day: "We had over 881 students who are CTE Completers and FFA culinary, floral, business

2021 County Greenhouse Gas Inventory Released

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County has released its 2021 Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Inventory for public review and is proud to show reduced GHG emissions in government operations and throughout the unincorporated community as a whole.

The GHG Inventory presents both a Sacramento County government operations inventory and an unincorporated community-wide inventory. The Inventory shows that Sacramento County has reduced GHG emissions in its government operations by 32.5 percent compared to 2015 levels, the year of our last inventory. The Inventory also shows that the unincorporated community of Sacramento County has reduced GHG emissions by 3.2 percent since 2015.

“Our 2021 government operations

inventory shows a reduction of 39,979 metric tons of carbon dioxide equivalents from 2015 levels, which equates to 8,897 gasoline-powered passenger vehicles driven for one year or planting 661,056 tree seedlings grown for 10 years,” said John Lundgren, Sacramento County Sustainability Manager. “While we still have a tremendous amount of work to do to reach carbon neutrality, we can celebrate a victory in seeing our internal government operations efforts pay off in documented GHG reductions.”

The Inventory will be presented to the Climate Emergency Mobilization Task Force as an informational item on June 15. The public may submit comments on the GHG Inventory until July 31 by emailing John Lundgren at Lundgrenj@Saccounty.gov.

and television and media. Sixty-four students will receive the Golden State Seal. We have the most (Seal of Biliteracy) of the district (TRUSD.) 49 Rio Linda High seniors have accomplished the feat of earning the Seal of Biliteracy on their diploma. AVID Seniors: 42 seniors have completed or graduated as AVID students. 4.0 plus students: You see 27 have qualified to wear the white gown this year. Congratulations! College credits: 3 seniors are graduating with more than 1 year of college credits underneath their belt already. That's huge!"

"Speaking of Rio Linda High graduates," Orlando said with pleasure, "We are proud to honor our students joining the military. We'll have our share of students joining the US Marine Corps, US Army, US Air Force, Coast Guard and National Guard."

Next, Rio Linda High School Class of 2023 Salutatorian Aaron Lee shared his experience through high school with the graduating class.

Lee spoke of the increased freedom given to students by parents and schools as their level of maturity increased and the bonding which took place with peers. He said the experience was aided by associating with others "who were in the same situation... align[ing] our goals together with the sole purpose of remaining close with those we could relate to."

The next step in life, Lee said, "is no longer... a far reality that we can only dream of." The dream is "right here, right now."

The salutatorian advised his fellow Class of 2023 members, "Follow through with what you choose to do for you and own it. In life we all have our fair share of success[es] and failures. Without an attempt you will never know your full capabilities. As I look out at each and every one of you, I see multiple possibilities. So, as we advance to the next peak in life, I hope you will find fulfillment in your own choices."

The final speaker was Rio Linda High School Class of 2023 Valedictorian Nathaniel Grandinetti who spoke to the audience considering the many contradictory feelings often felt when graduating, including having "excitement yet nervousness; readiness, yet unpreparedness; pride yet melancholy about growing up; joyousness, yet anxiousness for graduating to the next step."

"Understand that you are not alone in any feelings of anxiety and uncertainty," Grandinetti told the graduating class.

"We've reached a point in our lives where we now face what may be the biggest question in our life: What next? This question has no clearly defined answer and is unique to everyone," he said. "Whether we are going to college, joining the military, or simply going into work. Everybody has a unique path, yet one thing remains constant: We are Knights."

Grandinetti explained the meaning of knighthood to the Class of 2023. "Knights were known for their courage, loyalty, and unwavering commitment to a cause greater than themselves. They were warriors who fought for justice, protected the weak and upheld honor and integrity."

"Now my fellow graduates, as we embark on our own unique paths, we too have the opportunity to become modern day knights. We may not wield swords or don armor... but we can embrace the spirit of knighthood in our actions and choices," he said.

"As we conclude this chapter of our lives and turn the page to the next," said the valedictorian, "let us do so with a sense of purpose and commitment to make a positive impact. Let us be the knights who inspire others, who stand up for what is right and leave a lasting legacy that extends far beyond our time here in Rio Linda High School!"

Congratulations to the Rio Linda High School Class of 2023 for their scholastic achievements. ★

‘Sanctuary State’ Governor Upset Migrants Were Sent Here for Sanctuary

By Katy Grimes, California Globe

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - California’s sanctuary state Governor Gavin Newsom and Attorney General Rob Bonta were quick to blame Florida Governor Ron DeSantis for Friday’s migrant flight into Sacramento, and then accused Florida of “state-sanctioned kidnapping” for transporting migrants from the Texas border to a Sacramento church.

However, when he was still Lieutenant Governor, Newsom proudly declared and reaffirmed California’s sanctuary state status after the Trump Justice Department threatened to charge state or local officials who enforced sanctuary policies protecting illegal immigrants.

As California Lieutenant Governor, Newsom issued a warning to the Trump administration a Tweet. “Let me be clear, @realDonaldTrump: California is a sanctuary state. We believe in the power of diversity. We have defied and resisted the xenophobic, hateful policies of your administration at every turn. We will do it again.”

And he posted a video on Facebook saying, “California will remain a sanctuary state, and your attempt to intimidate will not stop us.”

So which is it Gov. Newsom – is California a Sanctuary State which welcomes illegal immigrants and releases them from custody? Or are you sending them back in disgust?

Is all of this bravado and bluster grandstanding for future Democrat voters? Newsom is clearly running for President, and Bonta has announced he wants to be the next California Governor.

As for the two flights into Sacramento, there still is uncertainty if Gov. Ron DeSantis is actually behind the flights. Thus far, all reports about the illegal immigrant planes appear to be speculation, and DeSantis is mum.

Governors DeSantis and Greg Abbott (Texas) have sent planes with illegal immigrants to sanctuary cities Chicago, New York, and Martha’s Vineyard to share in the housing and care of the migrants they claim to want sanctuary for.

Democrat President Joe Biden has called this movement of mostly Latin American migrants “playing politics with people’s lives” and said it is inhumane, especially in areas such as New York City, which have services brought to the brink already because of the migrant influx, the Globe reported Monday.

However, officials from Texas and Florida, including DeSantis, have fired back that “every community in America should be sharing in the burdens.”

The federal government has also sent secret flights full of illegal immigrants into Westchester, New York in the middle of the night, stirring controversy of their own:

Leaked video shows migrants being transported on secret charter flights under the cover of night from southern border states to Westchester, New York.

“The government is betraying the American people,” a federal contractor told a Westchester County police officer in a conversation recorded on the officer’s body camera on the tarmac of a Westchester airport on Aug. 13, 2021.

Westchester Police Sgt. Michael Hamborsky asked the contractor hired to transport migrants around the country why: “You know why. Because if this gets out, the government is betraying the American people,” the contractor said.

Gov. Newsom and Sacramento Mayor Darrell Steinberg turned on the rhetoric claiming, ‘Human trafficking is not only despicable; it’s a felony. I urge authorities to investigate how 16 vulnerable people were lured from El Paso, to Sacramento. ’ ‘Is there anything more cruel than using scared human beings to score cheap political points?’”

Both Steinberg and Newsom support open borders, and illegal immigration.

And it isn’t human trafficking or kidnapping to take illegals from a non-sanctuary state to a sanctuary state that claims to welcome them.

Rich with irony, Gov. Newsom has been releasing dangerous felons from state prisons, most of whom reoffend or end up living on the streets, addicted to meth and/or heroin.

Perhaps the most ironic Tweet summed up their hypocrisy best: “Lol yes you are not worried about them coming across the dessert and risking their lives but put them on a private jet and send them to your cities, now that’s a travesty.” ★

California Water Rights At Risk As Three Legislative Proposals Advance

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

When California imposed its first-ever regulation on the extraction of water from underground aquifers in 2014, it gave environmental groups a landmark victory in their decades-long effort to overhaul water use laws.

It was also a political setback for farmers, who are California’s major water users and have depended on wells to irrigate their crops as increasingly frequent droughts reduce surface water in rivers and reservoirs.

However, while groundwater regulation ended one front in California’s never-ending political and legal battles over allocation of water, it merely set the stage for an even bigger conflict over surface water rights, particularly those pre-dating 1914, when the state first began controlling diversions.

Just months after the groundwater regulation’s enactment, with drought still gripping the state, the water rights battle was joined when the state Water Resources Control Board attempted to curtail diversions by some pre-1914 rights holders.

The board accused a small water system on the southern edge of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta, Byron-Bethany Irrigation District, of ignoring its curtailment order and continuing to take water from the Delta for 13 days.

“We are a test case,” Byron-Bethany’s manager, Rick Gilmore, said at the time. “I think this has become a larger issue. I think the water board wants to use this as a precedent so they can start to gain more control over senior water right users.”

An immediate confrontation was averted, but the underlying conflict continued and last year the state court of appeal declared that the board lacked emergency curtailment authority over senior rights holders.

Meanwhile, 2022 saw another clash involving another small water agency that ignored curtailment orders on the Shasta River a few miles south of the Oregon border. The Shasta River Water Association’s farmers and ranchers continued to tap the river and later paid small fines.

The court decision and the Shasta River case fired up a long-standing drive by environmental groups to reduce diversions that damage wildlife habitat, contending that pre-1914 rights reflect exploitive and even racist 19th century attitudes incompatible with climate change and 21st century societal mores.

Water rights reformers have pressed the board to aggressively invoke the “public trust doctrine” of California water law and the state constitution’s declaration that water use must be reasonable.

Despite its clashes over curtailment orders, the water board has been reluctant to engage in a sweeping political and legal war. It did, however, underwrite research by UC Berkeley’s Center for Law, Energy and the Environment on the powers needed to curtail diversions during droughts.

The resulting report, issued in April, declared that “the state needs to implement curtailments on a regular basis, not only in times of extreme crisis. Routine curtailments already happen in other western states. California cannot afford to remain an outlier.”

Not surprisingly, three bills have been introduced in the Legislature to give the water board the authority suggested in the UC Berkeley study, pitting water rights reformers against agricultural and municipal water agencies.

Although advocates contend that the bills would merely give the water board much-needed managerial tools, a coalition of water districts and agricultural groups see them as a prelude to the wholesale abrogation of their water rights. The board could gain the “potential to strip public agencies of water rights that have been used to sustain communities for decades,” with decrees of “arbitrary outcomes,” they wrote in an opposition letter.

All three measures, Assembly Bill 1337, Assembly Bill 460 and Senate Bill 389, survived initial floor votes but the political battle is just beginning. Their fate could rest in Gov. Gavin Newsom’s hands as powerful interests clash over a bedrock issue – who prevails when there’s not enough water to meet all demands.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for more than 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. ★

Don't Put All Your Eggs in One Basket

Dear Dave,

My employer offers an employee stock purchase plan at a 15% discount. I'm usually the kind of guy who buys stocks and holds on to them forever. But when it comes to an opportunity like this, should I buy it and wait for a year to sell it, or should I buy it and sell right away?

— John

Dear John,

Generally, I don't recommend buying single stocks at all. Single stocks are way too risky, and a 15% discount is nothing special in this kind of scenario. Virtually every single company out there that has an employee stock option plan offers a 15% discount.

In most situations like this, if you pull up a 52-week chart on the stock's performance, you'll find a variance of as much as 15% in those 52 weeks. In other words, you could lose any or all of that discount in one move of the stock. Plus, it's not like 15% is a big discount to begin with. Fifteen percent off a single stock, considering how volatile they are, is no big deal. But hey, if you love your company that much, they have a great track record, and the stock has a good history, go ahead. Just don't allow single stocks as a category to make up more than 10% of your net worth.

The core issue here is a lack of diversification. When you put all your eggs in one basket, there's always some clown twirling the basket. The first time I ran into that was a long time ago with a lady who was 70 years old. She had worked for a large company for 40 years. On top of that, she invested all her 401(k), all her wealth—$800,000 total—in that one company. Well, this company experienced a crisis. It lost nearly half of its value, and her $800,000 was suddenly worth about $400,000. She left herself vulnerable with a high-risk play, John.

I'll say it again. Don't bet the farm on one horse, and don't have more than 10% of your net worth wrapped up in single stocks. Hundreds of research projects have been done that show individuals who buy individual stocks and think they know what they're doing actually lose money much more often than they make money.

Social Security Matters
How Will Working Affect My First Year's Benefits?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I retired from working in January of this year and have since claimed Social Security. I didn't work at all in February or March, but I began a part time job in April. I'm very confused about how Social Security counts earnings for the first year. I don't know if I need to keep each month's earnings under $1,770 or if they average it. Some of the literature I've found says each month must remain under $1,770 or NO benefit will be paid that month. Two people at the Social Security office told me that they'll just dock me $1 for every $2 I am over that, even in my first year. I also cannot find anything about when they count your income. Is it when it's earned or when it's paid? If I go over in a month because there are three pay periods, can they withhold the benefit for that month? I'm just so confused! Signed: Part Time Worker

Dear Part Time Worker: The Social Security earnings test during your first year collecting benefits before full retirement age is, indeed, somewhat confusing. The reason is because there are two methods which Social Security may use during your first calendar year collecting early benefits, and they will use the one which results in the least financial impact to you. To elaborate:

If you claim benefits mid-year before your full retirement age, for the remainder of that first year (starting in the month benefits begin and ending in December) you'll be subject to a monthly earnings limit ($1,770 for 2023). If you exceed the monthly limit in any remaining month of that first calendar year, you won't be entitled to benefits for that month, so Social Security would (eventually) take back that month's benefit. That is, unless using the annual limit ($21,240 for 2023) instead will result in a smaller penalty. If your total earnings for your first year collecting are over the annual limit (e.g., $21,240 for 2023), the penalty would be $1 for every $2 over the annual limit and, if that is less than the penalty from using the monthly limit, they will assess the smaller penalty. In other words, Social Security will use the method which is most beneficial to you when assessing a penalty for exceeding the earnings limit during your first calendar year collecting benefits. And just for clarity, the earnings limits are much higher and the penalty less during the year you attain full retirement age (FRA).

Something else to be aware of: if you know in advance you will exceed the annual limit it would be best to inform Social Security in order to avoid an Overpayment Notice next year. If you don't, Social Security won't know about your 2023 earnings until you file your 2023 income taxes, so you'll get your 2023 monthly payments as usual. But when the IRS informs Social Security of your 2023 earnings later next year, Social Security will ask you to detail your monthly work earnings for 2023. If you have exceeded the limits, they will determine an overpayment amount and will ask you to either pay back what is owed in a lump sum or will withhold your benefits for enough months to recover what you owe for exceeding the 2023 earnings limit. Then, after you reach full retirement age (FRA), you'll get time credit for all months in which benefits were withheld, thus slightly increasing your monthly payment after your FRA.

Finally, it is when your income is earned that counts, not when it is paid. So, for example, if you worked in January 2023 and were paid for that work in February 2023, that is considered January income which wouldn't count toward the February earnings limit.

Wanted Fugitive Nida Muhammad Niazy Returned to Sacramento County

FBI News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On May 30, 2023, Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Sacramento Field Office special agents returned wanted fugitive Nida Muhammad Niazy, 32, to Sacramento County to face multiple sexual assault charges. Niazy was booked into the Sacramento County Jail and is currently awaiting his initial appearance before the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento.

With the assistance of the FBI Berlin Legal Attaché and the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL) Germany, Niazy was apprehended by Landeskriminalamt Schleswig-Holstein, near Eutin, Schleswig-Holstein, Germany, on February 23, 2023, pending extradition.

"The FBI is eager to help our law enforcement partners ensure those accused of crimes can and will answer to charges, despite their efforts to flee," said Special Agent in Charge Sean Ragan of the FBI Sacramento Field Office. "We thank our international partners and the FBI International Operations Division for assisting us with our effort to apprehend Mr. Niazy."

Niazy's return to Sacramento County to face prosecution is funded by the United States Government's "Project Welcome Home," which provides funding to assist in the transportation of federal fugitives to the United States.

Niazy is alleged to have sexually assaulted two people last fall. The Sacramento State Police Department, which serves the California State University, Sacramento campus community, and the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department investigated the assaults. The Sacramento County District Attorney's Office is prosecuting the case.

The FBI obtained a federal arrest warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution on December 14, 2022, following the FBI's discovery that Niazy had taken a commercial flight from San Francisco to Switzerland, on November 5, 2022. The Sacramento State Police Department, Sacramento County Sheriff's Office, and FBI Sacramento Field Office worked collaboratively to locate and apprehend Niazy.

The FBI continues to collaborate with its law enforcement partners to apprehend criminals charged with state crimes who then flee the jurisdiction. Cases seeking information from the public, including fugitive matters, are posted on the FBI Sacramento Field Office's Most Wanted page and FBI Most Wanted app. Anyone with information that may aid these cases may contact their local FBI office, United States embassy, or submit information online at tips.fbi.gov. ★

A large crowd of people is gathered outdoors, looking up at a massive flock of birds flying in the sky above trees and a building. The scene is captured from a low angle, showing the backs of many people in the foreground. The birds are densely packed in the upper half of the frame, creating a dark, textured cloud against the bright sky. The trees in the background have green and some yellowing leaves, suggesting an autumn setting. A modern building with a flat roof is visible on the right side of the image.
