Farm and Tractor Fun!

Dale Bostrom, the man behind this Western 1907 engine.

Story and photos
by Cecilia Feser

RIO LINDA, CA (MPG) - Sweet success could be felt through the people laughing and riding on the tractor-pulled hayrides. Sue Frost welcomed everyone to the last day of tractor days. Local internet radio, ANT-FM.com, was playing background music. 4-H was on display with goats and information on joining a fun family hobby. There was food for sale to support the Rio Linda Food Closet, and lots and lots of tractors and engines to be seen. Mr. Richard Vanderostyne, president of the Early Day Gas Engine Tractor Association Branch 13, was there to welcome everyone. "This is a nationwide association. Looks like we are going to have good weather for today and Saturday," he said. I agreed and walked on to see all of the event. Friday was school day. Several local elementary schools were represented. The kids were having a lot of fun, running and laughing—just being young. There was a small petting zoo on both Friday and Saturday. As I mentioned earlier, 4H was there. Did you know you don't have to own property to be in 4H, it is a teaching community for future farmers or garden growers. I met a nice lady, Barbara Howard pumping real water from an engine. She was visiting her son from Arkansas, they stopped in to

LAS VEGAS, NV (MPG) - Each April, football players from around the world have their dreams realized and shattered over the course of three stressful days known simply as the National Football League (NFL) Draft.

The 2022 NFL Draft was held April 28-30 in Las Vegas, Nevada as several Northern California hopefuls anxiously awaited through 262 picks for their names to be called. The Sacramento region only had one player fulfill his dream of hearing his name called this year. However, the Northern California region had six prominent players agree to terms on professional contracts as undrafted free agents.

Cornerback DaRon Bland out of Fresno State heard his name called on the draft's final day and was selected with the 167th pick by the Dallas Cowboys. Bland played high school football in Modesto at Central Catholic before committing to play collegiately for Sacramento State beginning in 2017. Bland recorded 92 tackles (26 assisted), three interceptions, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and one sack in 30 games played over three years with the Hornets.

Bland shined as a junior at Sac State, earning first team All-Big Sky Conference honors as a defensive back and the Hornets' Outstanding Defensive Back Award. Following the pinnacle of his Hornets career, Bland transferred south to Fresno State where his brother, Keane, previously had run track.

In one season with the Bulldogs, Bland had at least one tackle in every game and tallied 45 total (11 assisted) in 13 games which ranked fifth on the team, second among all defensive backs and first among all cornerbacks. Bland also had five pass break ups, two interceptions, one tackle for loss, one forced fumble and one quarterback hit.

The 6-foot-2 Modesto native's play on a bigger stage going from the NCAA Division I Football Championship Subdivision (FCS) to the Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) impressed the Cowboys enough for them to spend a fifth-round pick on him rather than risk attempting to sign him as an undrafted free agent.

For those who are not fortunate enough to hear their names called, the final pick of the draft isn't necessarily the end of the road. Each year, many undrafted players are signed as free agents from teams around the NFL, Canadian Football League (CFL) and now even the recently resurrected United State Football League (USFL) immediately after the draft concludes.

One of the first NorCal natives to sign with an NFL team as an undrafted free agent was tight end Stone Smartt from Old Dominion University. The Sacramento native who played high school ball at Del Oro in Loomis agreed to a deal with the Los Angeles Chargers.

Smartt is a versatile player that offers L.A. flexibility, similar to New Orleans Saints' do-it-all Swiss army knife type player, Taysom Hill. The 6-foot-4 Smartt spent the first half of his college career as a quarterback before converting into a wide receiver. With his weight at 232 pounds and given height, Smartt could become a formidable tight end in the NFL.

The next tight end from Northern California to sign an NFL contract was Tucker Fisk who played at Davis Senior High School before going on to play in the PAC-12 Conference at Stanford. Fisk, who split time in college between tight end, defensive end and special teams, reached an agreement with the Atlanta Falcons.

The 6-foot-4 Davis native could provide flexibility for Atlanta given his ability to play on all sides of the ball. Fisk earned the Jack Huston Award in 2021, which "goes to the player exemplifying aggressiveness, exceptional performance and unheralded efforts."

Tucker has followed the same path as his dad, Jason, who played football at Davis and Stanford before moving on to the NFL. Jason Fisk was a seventh-round pick of the Minnesota Vikings in the 1995 NFL Draft. The Davis native played defensive tackle for five teams during his 12-year career, recording 386 tackles, 19 sacks, four forced fumbles and three interceptions. Tucker will now attempt to top his father's accolades in the league.

Joining Fisk in Georgia was another Davis product, except this 309-pound rusher played collegiately for the Aggies. Bryce Rodgers was a defensive lineman at UC Davis for five seasons dating back to 2016, earning All-Big Sky second team honors during his senior season in 2021. Rodgers led the Aggies defensive linemen in tackles with 18 (10 assisted) while adding two sacks, two quarterback hurries, one forced fumble and one blocked kick.

Fisk and Rodgers may be teammates for the first time, but they may already have several mutual friends and acquaintances after each played football in Davis and Palo Alto. Fisk started in Davis before moving to Palo Alto. Rodgers did the opposite growing up in East Palo Alto before migrating to Davis.

Rodgers was not the only former Aggie agreeing to terms with a National Football Conference (NFC) South division team, as punter Daniel Whelan signed with the Saints. Whelan currently holds the UC Davis record for longest punt average (44.01 yards) in a career and a single season average record (46.25) that he achieved in 2021.

The Irish All-American is "arguably the greatest punter in Aggie history," according to UC Davis Athletics. Whelan earned All-America first team honors from four organizations in 2021: Stats Perform, AFCA, HERO Sports and Phil Steele. The 6-foot-6 Irishman was also named to the All-Big Sky Conference first team and a finalist for FCS Punter of the Year after the shortened 2021 spring season.

Whelan will be competing with third-year punter Blake Gillikin for the starting job. Gilikin is ranked second all-time in career punting average (43.03) at Penn State. However, Whelan's average in college was nearly one full yard longer, which may have led to the Saints organization deciding to sign him.

Rodgers and Whelan were not the only former Aggies to agree to terms with a professional football team. Offensive lineman Kooper Richardson, who spent his first four collegiate seasons at UC Davis, signed with the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the CFL. Richardson was adaptable for the Aggies splitting time at tackle, guard and center.

Before coming to UC Davis,

Richardson played at Folsom High School for his dad, Kris, who was the Bulldogs' coach until 2019 when he became the assistant head coach and offensive line coach at Sac State. Richardson played two more seasons for the Aggies but ultimately deciding to transfer to Sac State to play for his dad again in his final year of eligibility. The 6-foot-5, 295-pound lineman earned All-Big Sky second team honors in 2021.

In a draft that was widely considered to be "weak" when it came to quarterbacks, Vacaville native Carson Strong expected to hear his name as one of the 262 called, but the moment never arrived. Strong, who attended Vacaville High School, was not drafted due to medical concerns over his knee according to the NFL Network. Strong agreed to terms with the Philadelphia Eagles who, if Strong stays healthy, could have gotten a steal of a prospect.

The 6-foot-4 Strong started for three seasons at the University of Nevada, Reno where he completed 852 of 1,252 (68%) attempts for 9,368 yards and 74 touchdowns in 31 total games. In 2021, Strong earned Mountain West Conference Offensive Player of the Year honors after tossing 366 of 523 (70%) passes for 4,175 yards and 36 touchdowns.

Two players from Sacramento to keep an eye on who were expecting to be signed but have not yet been are Grant Union High School alumni, center Orlando Umana and safety TieNeal Martin. Umana played collegiately at The University of Utah and Ole Miss. Martin began his college career at Yuba College before transferring to the University of Tulsa. ★

Kings Announce New Mike Brown as Head Coach

Sacramento Kings News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On Monday, May 9, Sacramento Kings General Manager Monte McNair named Mike Brown as the team's new head coach. Per team policy, the terms of the deal were not disclosed.

"Mike has consistently demonstrated his ability to lead winning teams throughout his long and successful coaching career," said Sacramento Kings General Manager Monte McNair. "He has worked with some of the best players in the NBA and is one of the league's premier defensive minds. I am excited to bring his extensive experience to Sacramento."

Brown joins the Kings from the Golden State Warriors, where he is currently in his sixth season as an assistant coach. He helped guide the team to back-to-back titles in 2016-17 and 2017-18. Prior to the Warriors, Brown held head coaching duties with the Cleveland Cavaliers (2005-10, 2013-14) and Los Angeles Lakers (2011-12). Brown's teams qualified for the playoffs in six of his seven full seasons as a head coach, advancing past the first round in each appearance.

In 2007, Brown led the Cavaliers to their first-ever NBA Finals appearance and was named the NBA Coach of the Year in 2008-09 after guiding the Cavaliers to a franchise-record 66 wins. Cleveland won at least 50 games in four of Brown's first five seasons with the club, including back-to-back 60-win campaigns in 2008-09 (66) and 2009-10 (61). During the 2011-2012 lock-out-shortened season, Brown led the Lakers to a Pacific Division title and a 41-25 (.621) record. He owns a career head coaching record of 347-216 (.616) over eight seasons, which ranks as the ninth-best winning percentage in NBA history among coaches who have registered at least 500 games at the helm.

Prior to joining the Cavaliers in 2005, Brown was associate head coach of the Indiana Pacers for two seasons (2003-05) after spending three years as an assistant with the San Antonio Spurs (2001-03), where he also captured an NBA title. Brown began his career with the Denver Nuggets in 1992, spending five seasons as a video coordinator and scout before serving as an assistant under Bernie Bickerstaff in Washington beginning in 1997.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Brown is a graduate of the University of San Diego, where he played collegiately for two seasons after spending two years at Mesa Community College.

Brown was the head coach of the Nigeria men's national basketball team during the 2020 Olympic Games in Tokyo, held in August 2021. He has two sons, Elijah and Cameron.

Farm and Tractor Fun!

Tractors give farmers and friends a little country comfort.

Saturday, after the noon hour, many classic cars began to show up. I saw one that looked like Herman Munster would've been proud to own. A lot of pride in those cars. Most of the people knew each other and were sitting around laughing. Or they were dusting off their ride as it got pretty dusty driving in.

It was a nice time. Next year I was told they will have a theme for the tractor days. Until next time, smile at someone. ★

Inmate Convicted of Violently Assaulting Another Inmate

Sac County DA's Office
News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Bob Bejarano was convicted by a jury of assault with a deadly weapon by an inmate serving a life sentence, possession of a weapon in prison and possession of heroin in prison.

Allegations that Bejarano has a prior strike conviction for shooting inside an occupied car and failed to remain free from prison custody for at least 5 years were found true. The following special allegations were also found true: the crime involved great violence, great bodily harm, or other acts disclosing a high degree of cruelty, viciousness or callousness; Bejarano was armed or used a weapon at the time of the commission of the crime; the manner in which the crime was carried out indicates planning, sophistication or professionalism; Bejarano has engaged in violent conduct that indicates a serious danger to society; and Bejarano has served a prior term in prison or county jail.

Bejarano was an inmate at California State Prison-Sacramento. On January 14, 2018, a correctional officer observed Bejarano put an unknown item in his mouth. It was later determined to be methamphetamine wrapped in cellophane. On August 30, 2018, Bejarano approached inmate Eric Rodriguez who was playing basketball by himself. Bejarano called Rodriguez over to him and stabbed Rodriguez repeatedly with an inmate manufactured weapon. Rodriguez wrestled Bejarano to the ground, took possession of the weapon and began stabbing Bejarano. At this point, correctional officers saw the fight and ordered them to stop. When Rodriguez continued to stab Bejarano, an officer fired one shot from the tower, striking Rodriguez. Although life saving measures were immediately performed, Rodriguez did not survive. Bejarano was transported to the hospital, where a CT scan showed that he had ingested two foreign items. Bejarano admitted to swallowing two bindles of heroin.

Bejarano faces a maximum sentence of life in prison. Sentencing is set for June 13, 2022, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 34 before the Honorable Alyson Lewis. ★

Defendant Convicted of Transportation of Fentanyl for Sale

Sac County DA's News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Jose Aguilar-Chavez was convicted by a jury of transportation of fentanyl for sale.

On September 2, 2021, CHP officers stopped Aguilar-Chavez for a traffic violation. Upon contact with Aguilar-Chavez the officer noticed an overwhelming smell of rotten fruit and suspected the odor was used to mask the scent of illegal narcotics from his K-9. The officer then deployed his narcotics-sniffing certified K-9 partner. The K-9 alerted on the back passenger compartment of the vehicle. Upon further inspection, the officer discovered 36,000 fabricated "M30" Oxycodone pills. The District Attorney's Crime Lab analyzed the pills and confirmed they were fake and contained fentanyl. Less than one individual pill can be potentially fatal. The street value of the pills range between $180,000 - $720,000.

Aguilar-Chavez faces a maximum sentence of 5 years county jail prison. Sentencing is set for June 10, 2022, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 41 before the Honorable Helena Gweon.

Ask Toni

Losing Employer COBRA with Dental Benefits and Enrolling in Medicare ... What Do I Do?

Toni King

Hello Toni
I am a HR Manager for a local oil service company and have a question about an employee. He is turning 65 and is still working full time. His situation is a little different because next month he will begin receiving chemotherapy for lung cancer. Not sure how to advise him because technically he is working full-time. He has 5 months of pay from vacation time, which he never used and can use while recuperating that keeps him as a full-time employee. Our firm has over 100 employees and I have been told there are certain rules for a specific company size. How can I make sure that I have the correct answer to my questions for the employees of our company?

Samantha from Tulsa, OK

Hi there Samantha:

Many of the answers about enrolling in Medicare are found in the Medicare & You handbook. Some individuals who qualify for Medicare do not take Part B during their Initial Enrollment Period because they or their spouse are “still working” and have primary insurance from a current employer. Your employee’s Initial Enrollment Period begins three months before his 65th birthday and ends three months after his 65th birthday.
Below are a few options that can make your HR Department’s job easier:
• Verify your employees’ options by calling your company’s health insurance plan and ask how the plan coordinates with Medicare.
• It may be to an employee’s advantage to delay Part B enrollment. See the Medicare & You handbook under “Should I Get Part B?” for more clarification or in the Toni Says® Medicare Survival Guide Advanced edition which is available at www.tonisays.com.
Now let us talk about who will pay your claim first and this depends on how many employees are on your company’s group health plan: See chart in the Medicare & You handbook on number of employees.

• If there are 20 or more employees at the company where your employee or a spouse currently work and receives benefits, generally the group health insurance pays first.
• If there are fewer than 20 employees at the company where your employee or a spouse currently work and receives benefits, generally Medicare is primary. As the HR Department, you should verify with the insurance carrier as to how the current insurance plan coordinates with Medicare and verify whether an employee should enroll in Medicare Parts A and/or B or delay enrollment in one or both.
Employees should contact Social Security immediately to enroll in Medicare when their work status changes due to various Social Security forms that must be filed to avoid the “famous” Medicare Part B penalty. They will want a SEP (special enrollment period) and should file forms when their employment changes from full time to a part-time employee, when they decide to retire, or are terminated and need to enroll in COBRA. (It is important to remember that COBRA and retiree insurance are not considered current employer insurance. The employee will not have a Special Enrollment Period if they take COBRA or retiree insurance and wait too long.)
There are specific Medicare rules regarding leaving employer benefits after turning 65, when and how to change Medicare plans and which Medicare Part D prescription drug plan best fits one’s health situation. Email info@tonisays.com or call 832/519-8664 with your Medicare questions.

Gov. Gavin Newsom and the California Air Resources Board publicly boasted last week about making great strides toward eliminating fossil fuels and their greenhouse gases.
The board released “a draft plan that, when final, will guide the state’s transition to a clean energy economy, drastically reduce the use of fossil fuels, achieve carbon neutrality by 2045 or sooner, and significantly clean the state’s air especially in disadvantaged communities disproportionately burdened by persistent pollution.”
Much of the plan is concentrated on transportation — particularly cars and trucks — which is the largest single emitter of carbon dioxide and other pollutants.
“That means rapidly moving to zero-emission transportation, electrifying the cars, buses, trains, and trucks that now constitute California’s single largest source of planet-warming pollution,” ARB said.
Newsom, meanwhile, crowed that with new state subsidies, sales of battery-powered zero-emission vehicles (ZEVs) have exceeded 16% of all new vehicle sales so far this year, more than double the proportion in 2020. He also noted that Californians make half of nationwide purchases of electric vehicles.

“Our state is on the frontlines of extreme weather, and we’re taking aggressive steps to protect Californians from the costs of climate change — transitioning away from the big polluters fueling this crisis and towards clean energy,” Newsom said. “These incentives make it easier and cheaper to make that transition.”
This year’s increase in electric car sales was, no doubt, spurred in part by a steep hike in gasoline prices, as well as subsidies — which poses an interesting dichotomy. Newsom has decried those fuel price spikes and wants the state to offset them with payments to motorists, which would reduce some of their motivation to buy electric cars.
Moreover, were California to eventually ban sales of gasoline- and diesel-powered vehicles and go 100% ZEVs, as Newsom also advocates, charging their batteries would impose immense new burdens on an electric power grid that’s already strained to meet demand.
By happenstance, as Newsom and the air board were issuing their upbeat messages about the shift, a financial data website, Forbes Advisor, was revealing that California has one of the nation’s worst records on providing recharging sites for ZEV owners.
Its study, drawn from U.S. Department of Energy data and numbers from all 50 states, found that North Dakota is the nation’s most ZEV-friendly state with one charging station for every 3.18 electric vehicles. Wyoming, Rhode Island, Maine and West Virginia round out the top five.

And California? It has the fourth highest ratio, just one station for every 31.2 ZEVs. New Jersey is the least accommodating to ZEV owners, with one station for every 46.16 electric vehicles.
Okay, so California is lacking when it comes to infrastructure needed to support the ZEV nirvana that Newsom and the ARB envision, both in terms of electrical power supply and sites to connect that power to electric cars.
However, the situation may actually be worse.
Again by happenstance, last week brought us evidence that not only is California failing to provide enough ZEV charging stations, but those it does have often don’t work.
David Rempel, a retired professor of bioengineering from UC Berkeley, and a team of volunteers tested 181 public Bay Area charging stations with 657 plug-in kiosks and found 73% in working order but 23% had inoperable screens, payment failures or broken connector cables and in 5% cables were too short to reach vehicles recharging inlets.
California’s much-vaunted shift to electric cars may turn out to be one of the state government’s many high-concept programs that become managerial disasters, another Department of Motor Vehicles or Employment Development Department.
Dan Walters has been a journalist for nearly 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. ★

Make Way for Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month

CHP Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - With the days getting longer and temperatures on the rise, motorcycle riders are making their way up and down our state highways. The California Highway Patrol (CHP) emphasizes the importance of paying close attention to a motorcycle rider's location, sharing the roadway, and working together to keep all motorists safe as we travel throughout the state.

"Motorcycle riders statistically face greater danger than other motorists," says CHP Commissioner Amanda Ray. "Safe riding practices and cooperation from all road users will greatly help reduce the number of fatalities and injuries."

In 2020, the CHP responded to approximately 6,500 crashes involving a motorcycle. Nearly 80 percent of those crashes involved an injury and 328 motorcyclists tragically lost their lives.

As part of May's Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month, the CHP will employ education and enforcement efforts to help call attention to the dangers and vulnerabilities motorcyclists face on the road.

As motorcyclists are often vulnerable on the road and may be difficult to see, riders should always be keenly aware of their surroundings, follow all traffic laws, and wear protective clothing, including a legally required U.S. Department of Transportation-approved helmet.

To help both new and experienced riders understand the laws and refine their safe riding skills, the CHP is proud to oversee California's official motorcycle training program. Students who pass the California Motorcyclist Safety Program (CMSP) will be issued a Certificate of Completion of Motorcycle Training, which may be used to waive the motorcycle skills test at the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV). Graduates would only be required to pass the DMV knowledge test to receive the motorcycle endorsement. For more information or to register for a CMSP training course near you, please visit <https://motorcycle-safetyca.com>.

The mission of the CHP is to provide the highest level of Safety, Service, and Security. ★

California Republican Party Endorses Cathy Cook for Assembly

Cathy Cook for Assembly 2022

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Cathy Cook, Republican Candidate for State Assembly District 6, announced her campaign has been endorsed by the California Republican Party and the Sacramento County Republican Party.

Jessica Millan Patterson, Chair of the California Republican Party (CRP), released the following statement:

"As chairwoman of the CRP, it gives me great pleasure to inform you that our Board of Directors has voted to endorse you, at our recent Board meeting, for the 6th Assembly District. Thank you for all that you have done and all that you will do on behalf of the California Republicans."

In addition, Betsy Mahan, Chair of the Sacramento County Republican Party (SacGOP), released the following statement in support of Cathy Cook for Assembly: "Sacramento voters are living with the repercussions of representation by out-of-touch legislators like Kevin McCarty. Cathy Cook understands that the gas tax needs to be reduced, criminals need to be held accountable, parents know what's best for their kids, our farmers need water to grow our food, and the homeless need real solutions, not slogans to lift them up. Cathy Cook is the leader that voters need in Assembly District 6.

Cathy Cook is pleased to receive the support of the county and state Republican Party. She will be a strong voice for our middle-class families to improve their quality of life and hold down their taxes. She will bring new energy and a positive, cooperative attitude to the Assembly. It's time to elect a candidate with a lifetime record of integrity and willingness to solve problems impacting our community. She is up to this challenge and asks for your support. Cathy Cook will fight to keep California Safe and Affordable.
