

Yolo Food Bank food access spotlight: “Curbside” Kids Farmers Market

Donors, volunteers, and food...when these three essential elements collide, magic occurs for the food insecure children and families of Yolo County.

Yolo Food Bank’s “Curbside” Kids Farmers Market drive-through free, fresh food distribution at Woodland High School, beloved octogenarian Virginia and Howard Moehrke of Woodland joined regular volunteers Lisa McMillan Paschal (site lead) and Magalean Martin, and our staff Program Coordinator Laura Quiñones-Neri, to serve more than 100 vehicles — some with families as large as seven children — with the nutrition that they need to succeed in the changing learning environment around them. This occurred while the children simultaneously availed themselves of free and reduced-price school meal

“take out” service from the school cafeteria.

“Curbside” Kids Farmers Market, a COVID-19 adapted version of our traditional on-site produce selection and educational program, currently is operating at 13 school sites in every Yolo

County school district and will continue despite the re-introduction of in-person and hybrid learning models.

Program Spotlight: Eat Home Yolo

“Eat Home Yolo” is the new name for Yolo Food Bank’s food access service to senior citizens, homebound residents, and low-income neighbors of any age living in apartments or multi-household complexes with particularly high food security challenges.

This program takes two primary forms:

- Twice-monthly door-step home delivery for low-income seniors and others who are vulnerable and unable to travel to Yolo Food Bank “Eat Well Yolo” food distribution sites due to illness, COVID-19 safety concerns, or a lack of transportation. These recipients can count upon receiving a 40-pound box with dairy, meats, produce, and shelf-stable items.
- Group “drop-off” of similar food boxes to senior/low-income housing complexes.

Farm Fresh To You, Mercy Coalition, and Kare4All team with our Programs and Operations Departments to execute these deliveries.

Advisory boards seek volunteers from West Sacramento

BY MICHELE TOWNSEND

Recently we have seen a call for volunteers for positions open on several Yolo County Advisory Boards. What are these boards and how do they affect West Sacramento residents? The county advisory boards are boards that were created to oversee the needs of certain groups that have their own specific needs, unique to the needs of that group. For example, the needs of the elderly will be different than those needing childcare or preschool. The Juvenile Justice and Parks are also likely to have different needs. Both groups are equally as important, but generalized rules, services and financing will rarely address needs to both groups. It is for this reason that advisory boards are created. By doing this, it allows for each group’s needs to actually be addressed by people that have the knowledge and the ability to seek resources and ideas for solutions to where our systems are failing our community’s needs. So why would you want to volunteer your time? What makes you qualified to be on a committee? Why is it your job to do this? Well, Gandhi said it best... “Be the change you wish to see in the world”. In other words, why NOT you? These committees are made up of regular

Civic Leadership Awards Announced by West Sacramento Mayor Martha Guerrero

Individuals and organizations who made a difference during the COVID-19 response in West Sacramento will be honored with Civic Leadership Awards at this year’s State of the City event, as announced by West Sacramento Mayor Martha Guerrero.

“These recipients showed great community pride and selflessness, working tirelessly over the past year to help meet the needs of residents impacted by the pandemic,” said Mayor Guerrero. “Working together, this group of businesses, non-profits, and volunteers represent countless others who have chipped in to help the City navigate this crisis.”

The awards will be presented during the Mayor’s State of the City address, which will be held on June 8 at Sutter Health Park from 5:30-8:30 p.m.

THIS ‘n’ THAT Rabid Bat Confirmed in Southport

BY CAROL BOGART

Here’s a confession. I have long been fascinated by bats and vampires. I think this stems from not being allowed to watch horror movies as a child. “Too impressionable,” my mother said. By that, she meant she and dad valued a good night’s sleep.

I was maybe 8 when, watching TV by myself in grandma’s living room, a horror movie started. An electrified suited man was, zombie-like, ambulating toward a roller-skating little girl. At the VERY LAST INSTANT, she skated safely right around him. Mom assured my traumatized small self it “wasn’t real. It was just a movie.” Not convinced, I woke up screaming. No more watching TV by myself allowed at grandma’s.

When I turned 16, dad said I could date. My favorite date? A horror movie at the drive in. Back then there were no ‘slice and dice’ flicks. I don’t like them and wouldn’t have then, either. But eerie gothic castles? A count named Dracula? Unwary damsels bitten on the neck and, voila! new vampires! The count had mas-

OBITUARIES

Luella Elaine (Landenberger) Hudson
Luella Elaine (Landenberger) Hudson passed away May 1, 2021, in Sacramento, California just short of her 89th birthday. She was born May 29, 1932, in North Dakota to Frederick Landenberger and Martha Hieb

Landenberger. Luella lived in West Sacramento, California for many years and retired as an auditor for The County of Sacramento. She was preceded in death by her husbands: Bill Hopkins, Jim Wolfe, and Terry Hudson; her parents; her sisters (Connie, Marlene, Myrna, Shirley, Dollie) and a brother (Douglass). Luella will be remembered as a giving friend, beautiful woman, compassionate landlord, savvy real estate partner, loving mother and grandmother. Her favorite activities included gardening, especially huge tomatoes, playing pinochle at the West Sacramento Moose Lodge, and dancing. She was quick to share her sage advice and personal opinions drawing from her wealth of unique life experiences. However, it was her gregarious laugh that will ring out in our hearts as her most outstanding characteristic. She wanted to be remembered as a kind person and will be missed by all who knew her. Surviving family members include daughters Janice (Paul) Guernsey, and Liane Hopkins, brother Myron (Lee Anne) Landenberger, grandson Alex (Marcie

Matthews, and numerous nieces and nephews. A graveside service will be held at a later date at Camellia Memorial Lawn Cemetery. Arrangements by River Cities Funeral Chapel.

Lisa Michelle McPherson
Lisa Michelle McPherson, age 54, passed away May 15, 2021 due to complications from lung cancer. Lisa was born on August 13, 1966 in Roseville, California to Boyd and Susan Stockdale. Lisa was a long time resident of West Sacramento. She knew many folks in the community from having grown up in West Sacramento all her life. She was known for her signature Thanksgivng mashed potatoes (with her secret ingredient) and love of the Holidays, but her greatest love was her daughter Brianna. Lisa took pride in being a Mom above everything else. Lisa and Brianna took many trips together visiting Disneyland and Washington. She had a great love for the ocean, especially Bodega Bay.

For those who knew Lisa well, her stubbornness worked out in her favor while she was ill. Her strength never wavered and she fought her battle with grace until the very end. She was taken from us entirely too soon. Lisa will be incredibly missed by her family and friends; her parents Boyd and Susan, Brother Mark, Daughter Brianna, niece Megan and nephew Brett (Shanna). (this includes her doofy dog Atikus, and kitties Bert, Victor and Gwyneth.) Her smile and laughter will be forever in our hearts. A Celebration of Life will be held in honor of Lisa a date is to be determined.

New college program for students with intellectual disabilities accepting applications

Applications are now being accepted for a groundbreaking new college program serving students with intellectual disabilities at UC Davis. This fall, the first class of 12 Redwood SEED (Supported Education to Elevate Diversity) Scholars will join their fellow freshmen as part of the inclusive, four-year program. To qualify, students must have a diagnosed intellectual disability and be 18-23 years old. They may have neurodevelopmental conditions such as autism, fragile X syndrome or Down syndrome, or a traumatic brain injury. The MIND Institute and the UC Davis Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion are jointly running the new program. It is funded in part by a five-year, $2.1 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education. Students will also pay tuition and room and board. "This is monumental," said Beth Foraker, co-director of Redwood SEED Scholars and an instructor in the UC Davis School of Education. "This is an opportunity for students with intellectual disability to experience the social and educational growth that a fully integrated college experience can provide." Foraker, whose 21-year-old son Patrick has Down syndrome, has envisioned a program like Redwood SEED Scholars for years. "It's the most exciting thing I've ever been a part of." Students in the program will have the opportunity to live on campus, take college classes, engage in social activities and organizations, and pursue an internship or job. The curriculum will combine traditional UC Davis courses with custom courses focused on relevant issues such as independent living. Although the students won't earn a bachelor's degree, they'll leave with a meaningful credential after four years. The program gets its name from the T. Elliot Weier Redwood Grove on the Davis campus. "Redwoods don't grow in the Central Valley," said Foraker. "Yet this grove flourishes thanks to careful tending, a habitat that allows them to thrive and people willing to make the impossible happen. Redwood SEED Scholars will take their cue from these on-campus giants." A support system will be built into the program, including undergraduate students who will serve as peer mentors, helping with academics, social activities and health and wellness. Foraker is currently training next year's mentors. "These undergraduates are incredibly engaged and realize that the relationships they'll develop with these students will be symbiotic, and will benefit all involved," Foraker explained. A critical need Most adults with intellectual disabilities are unemployed and many are living in poverty. Post-secondary options are limited, and four-year college programs are especially rare. The Redwood SEED Scholars program will be the first of its kind in California. "We hope this is the seed that grows to include similar programs at many other California colleges and universities," said Leonard Abbeduto, MIND Institute director and Redwood SEED Scholars co-director. "This is about civil rights. It's about diversity, equity and inclusion. These students deserve an opportunity to gain the skills to engage in meaningful employment, and this program will provide that." How to apply Applications are due June 4. The selection process includes an online application and an interview. Students will need to provide their most recent individualized education program (IEP), as well as other educational documents, and ask two people to recommend them for the program. The application team hopes to notify the successful candidates in July. They'll also provide feedback for applicants who are not successful on how to strengthen their submission if they want to re-apply in the future. For specific questions about the application process, email HS-RedwoodSeed@ucdavis.edu or call 916-703-0269.

Tuleyome “Nature and You” Lecture: “Walker Ridge”

Located at the border of Colusa and Lake counties, Walker Ridge is managed by the Bureau of Land Management and designated for recreational purposes. Its serpentine soil and varied geologic formations attracts all types of people enjoying its wild beauty, from birders, OHVers, and hikers to hunters, botanists, and photographers. The majority of Walker Ridge lies just outside the boundaries of the Berryessa Snow Mountain National Monument and does not benefit from its protections.

Proposed industrial-scale wind energy development on Walker Ridge would cause irreparable habitat loss, increase the area’s wildfire risk, and kill many of the region’s birds of prey and bats. The current proposal endeavors to erect 42 wind towers (or turbines), requiring extensive road widening and regrading, and a new electrical tie-line.

At 7 p.m., May 27, Nick Jensen, Botanist and Lead

Conservation Scientist with the California Native Plant Society, will speak about this place and what the Protect Walker Ridge Alliance is doing to preserve it. This lecture will be ONLINE in a Zoom meeting. You must register on the event page from <http://tuleyome.org/events/> (be sure to include your email address) and download Zoom. (There is no need to create an account.) After registering, participants will be sent an email with login information. Attendees will be able to ask questions via Zoom’s chat feature. For questions contact bgrabert@tuleyome.org.

This lecture is part of the free monthly “Nature and You” lecture series sponsored by Tuleyome, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit conservation organization based in Woodland.

The word “Tuleyome” (pronounced too-lee-OME-ee) is a Lake Miwok Indian word that means “deep home place”. The term “deep home place” exemplifies our deep connection to our environment, our communities and our regional public lands.

A $10 donation to Tuleyome is requested, but is not required to participate in this event.

Volunteers

people that have an interest in, or first-hand knowledge of the needs of that group. The name of each committee gives you a general idea of what that committee is about.

In the list of the 19 county advisory boards that are looking for volunteers, only a few of them are looking from volunteers from West Sacramento. Yolo County is broken up into districts. West Sacramento/Clarksburg is District 1. Many of the positions that need to be filled are district-specific positions. Therefore if they are not looking for someone from District 1, then someone from West Sacramento cannot fill that seat. There are, however, some positions that are “At large” positions. At large positions can be filled by anyone in the county.

Currently, some of the vacant seats are, in fact looking for a district 1 volunteer. According to Julie Dachter, Sr. Deputy Clerk of the Board, you can log on to www.yolocounty.org, click on the government tab, and then click on advisory bodies. The purpose of that committee is listed at the top. It will also tell you what type of position is available and what requirements you need to hold that position. Some committees meet monthly. Some only meet once or twice a year. So really, you won’t even be giving up that much time and you may be able to make a huge difference in what services are available to our community.

Some of the committee seats that need a West Sac resident right now are as follows: The Commission of Aging is looking for a District 1 resident. This committee addresses the needs of the elderly. Childcare Development Planning Council, category – consumer. This means that they need someone from West Sac that is using or has the need for childcare/preschool. They are looking for a parent or guardian, etc. that knows the challenges of finding quality childcare and can express what the problems are and where we need help. Sounds easy enough, right? Another one is the Community Services Action Board. This committee is about the needs of low-income residents. This position can be held by someone who is a low-income resident, or someone who works in a community-based organization that helps low-income.

An advisory board with at-large positions includes the In-Home Supportive Services Advisory Board. This position can be held by anyone that is IHSS affiliated as a worker or a consumer. Parks, Recreation and Wildlife Committee have an at large seat available. This board oversees the county’s Parks Master Plan. The Assessment Appeals Board addresses people’s files of appeal on property values given by the state Board of Equalization. They, too, have an at large position. And the County-Wide Successor Agency Oversight Board has an at-large seat available. This board only meets 1-2 times per year.

Maybe this kind of thing isn’t your cup of tea. But, maybe it is. You’ll never know until you check it out. It might be something to get you out of the house. It might be something that you may need in the future, or it may be a way to make it so that someone else doesn’t have to go through the same battles you had to.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DAN T. BAUWENS, AKA DANIEL THOMAS BAUWENS

CASE NO: PR2021-0067
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of:
Dan T. Bauwens, aka Daniel Thomas Bauwens, aka Dan Bauwens, aka Daniel T. Bauwens
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Ann Thanos in the Superior Court of California, County of YOLO. The Petition for Probate requests that Ann Thanos be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:
Date: June 8, 2021
Time: 9:00 a.m. Dept: 9
Address of court: Superior Court of California, County of Yolo 1000 Main Street, Woodland, California 95695. If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to your of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for petitioner: Jack Klosek 820 Alhambra Blvd. Sacramento, CA 95816 (916)290-7560

NAMI Yolo County "Hope Chalks" team raises money and spreads awareness during Mental Health Awareness Month

To raise awareness and decrease stigma around all mental health conditions, Yolo County residents are taking to the streets – with sidewalk chalk! The 3rd weekend in May is the annual NAMI Walks, part of the annual Mental Health Awareness Month in May, an event where thousands of people gather to raise awareness of mental health and work to eliminate stigma around mental health conditions. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, NAMI Walks has pivoted to small, virtual events. Newly titled, NAMI Walks Your Way now has thousands of participants fanning out over California and the Country to promote the same values as NAMI Walks. As of Sunday, May 16, over 20,000 people were raising money across the country. One local team, made up of Board Members of NAMI Yolo County, spread messages in chalk in Downtown Davis on Saturday, May 22. Named "Hope Chalks", the team includes four NAMI Yolo County Board members: Stacie Frerichs, Sara Gavin, Petrea Marchand, and Anya McCann. There are 11 teams raising money for NAMI Yolo County this year. You can look them up, donate, and sign up to participate at <https://www.namiwalks.org/team/Hope-Chalks>. There are multiple ways to support "Mental Health of All" during May.

You could write or draw your own messages of hope and resilience in chalk or on a poster and take a photo and email to friends@namiyolo.org. Photos will be shared on the NAMI Yolo County website. You could post the photo on social media, tag @

NAMI Yolo County on Facebook, and include the hashtags #notalone and #namiwalksnorcal. Donations to NAMI Yolo County can be made on the team page <https://www.namiwalks.org/team/Hope-Chalks>. Most importantly, all the money raised supports NAMI Yolo County's mental health programs. NAMI Yolo County supports the 1 in 5 who experience mental illness in our community and the 5 in 5 who are affected by it. Our vision is a stigma-free future where all people affected by a mental health condition experience resiliency and recovery with safe, affordable housing, meaningful activities, supportive relationships, and hope. The pandemic has only increased the need for mental health services.

Eddy's Walkabout

BY EDDY SALMONS

The treasures I have found at the end of the rainbow and on my walkabouts have been a blessing and are numerous. There are many things to see and hear along the walkabouts I take along this long lonesome levee. The almost rhythmic sounds of vehicles motoring up and down the Yolo Causeway, or the sound of geese calling to each other while flying in formation like some miniature F-105s flying over the Delta in Nam, yet they are not dropping 750 bombs. The bombs they drop, if one is unfortunate enough to be targeted, only tend to leave the recipient uttering their content in frustration.

These photographs are from a series of three walkabouts.

Twice in March, I walked along Prospect Slough where I enjoyed the fresh air and sunshine. As the clouds broke, split by the sun, I anticipated a rainbow. I wasn't disappointed. God's promise to never flood the earth again or little liquid prisms refracting the light of the sun into a glorious bow of colors. Either way one thinks about it, they would be right. Whether it is a palm tree, a sign, or simply a friend, the treasure is always in the eye of the beholder. I would like to bring my cat but he loathes leashes.

Beware the Ides of March. Shakespeare's soothsayer could not foresee that this March would be a good omen. From March to May we get to see the delicate unfolding of spring to summer. As I refocus my lenses, I am able to detect the harmony of nature and am amazed daily. A beautiful secret spread out before us. If we only take the time to not just look, but see. Included are a couple of photos I shot at dusk. I hope you enjoy these offerings as much as I enjoyed shooting them. It is truly a blessing to be able to share these images with you. Ciao for now.

The 2021 Yolo County Fair will not run as planned and will not be open to the public.

When discussing plans for the fair, CEO Vannucci, Fair Board & staff expressed concern for public health, as well as the financial impact of hosting a fair that would adhere to current safety protocols and the lasting impacts of the long-term sustainability of the event.

Although vaccination rates are improving significantly each day, California continues to fight the battle against COVID-19 including the new variants. Where we are today in this struggle makes it difficult to plan a large-scale entertainment event like the free gate Yolo County Fair, especially not knowing where we will be, or what Yolo County and the State of California will look like, in August.

In addition, the important safety practices that have been put in place to protect Californians, including indoor seating capacities, live events seating capacities, proof of testing or vaccines, and other restrictions may lead to attendance that is considerably lower than previous years. The financial implications of hosting a typical Yolo County Fair with the same overhead costs as previous years, but far less revenue, could be devastating to our association. In a typical year, the Yolo County Fair’s budget is designed to break even or have a nominal profit. Holding a full fair this year would likely lead to significant financial loss.

While we wish we had the ability to see the future we do not. Taking all the above into consideration CEO Vannucci, the Board of Directors and fair staff feel that the best decision is to greatly limit the traditional aspects of the Yolo County Fair. While this is a difficult decision, we feel it is the best way to protect the long-term sustainability of the Yolo County Fair, as well as the safety of those involved.

The 2021 Yolo County Fair will be limited to FFA Market Animal exhibitors and their family members for a week-long event that will culminate with a Live Auction on Saturday August 21st.

We fully plan on bringing back the full Yolo County Fair in 2022, with its carnival rides, the 2-night demolition derby, the rodeo, entertainment, food vendors including local beer booths, livestock shows and all the homegrown exhibits you have come to expect.

Detailed plans for the FFA Market Animal Event are forthcoming on our website.

Stay tuned for news on our website about a Family Event Center coming to our grounds complete with Carnival Rides & Food July 29th to August 8th, plus a Virtual Stills Showcase where you can enter your arts, crafts, sewing & photography and just maybe a Summer Rodeo.

Yolo County and the Yolo Habitat Conservancy Seek Members for Implementation Advisory Committee

Yolo County and the Yolo Habitat Conservancy (Conservancy) are currently accepting applications for the Yolo Habitat Conservation Plan (HCP)/Natural Community Conservation Plan (NCCP) Implementation Advisory Committee.

The Implementation Advisory Committee will advise the Conservancy on the development and management of the reserve system of conserved properties.

The Yolo HCP/NCCP conservation strategy involves integrating the many existing protected lands with newly protected lands to ensure that the conservation commitments by the acre for both natural communities and species listed in the Yolo HCP/NCCP are met over the course of the plan's implementation.

The committee will be comprised of nine members: one individual appointed from each of the four cities and the County; three individuals representing agricultural and wildlife conservation organizations appointed by the Conservancy Board; and one individual appointed by the Yocha Dehe Wintun Nation. The nine-member committee will be supported by a non-voting staff liaison from each of the five-member agency jurisdictions and one from the University of California, Davis. Members will serve for two-year terms.

Applications will be accepted until the committee is filled. To apply for the Implementation Advisory Committee, go to yolocountyca.seamlessdocs.com/f/CommitteeApplication and complete the application.

The Yolo Habitat Conservancy is a joint powers agency comprised of the County of Yolo and the cities of Davis, West Sacramento, Winters, and Woodland, whose mission is to conserve natural and working landscapes, and the species on which they depend, by working with local communities and conservation partners to coordinate mitigation and implement regional habitat conservation. For more information, interested parties can call (530) 666-8850 or email charlie@yolohabitatconservancy.org, or visit: <https://www.yolohabitatconservancy.org/>.

eries. However, despite serving nearly 1,000 households, many more seniors, home-bound residents and low-income housing complex dwellers remain in need of "Eat Home Yolo" service, particularly in rural areas and underserved portions of the incorporated Yolo County cities.

Thanks to compassionate, generous donors, Yolo Food Bank is continuously expanding "Eat Home Yolo's" reach. Recently, service began at the Woodmark Apartments (pictured) and Sycamore Pointe Apartments in Woodland, as well as Bartlett Commons and Rancho Yolo in Davis, and is planned soon for the Washington Courtyard and West Capitol Courtyard Apartments in West Sacramento. To contribute to the success of "Eat Home Yolo," you're invited to consider donating funds or time by visiting <https://yolofoodbank.org/>. This 'n' That tered the disappearing act. His black cape turned into bat wings. Silhouetted against the moon, he flew away! The search resumed, wooden stake in hand, for Dracula's bed – his coffin. Scareeeeeeeeeee! But no bad dreams.

All this came to mind a couple weeks ago when Southport homeowner reported earlier this month on Nextdoor that in their yard on Linden Loop, a rabid bat was found by their dogs. Another movie that made a strong impression on me was Old Yeller – a nice dog bitten by a rabid wild animal. In the Southport case, the dogs' owner said, although vaccinated, the dogs were ordered quarantined for 30 days.

Here's what crosses my mind: If there's rabies in a bat in West Sac ... are there more? How about in our feral cat colonies? Are any of these cats rabid? How about dogs in homeless camps. Do they have rabies vaccinations? What about indoor/outdoor cats. Do they have rabies vaccinations? Yolo County warns to vaccinate your pets – even if they're only in your yard!

Apparently, though, the risk is small. The Centers for Disease Control says: "Most bats don't have rabies. ... even among bats submitted for rabies testing because they could be captured ... only about 6 percent had rabies." Others, said the CDC, were sick with something else, or a cat had hurt them. (<https://www.cdc.gov/rabies/bats/education/index.html>)

In the United States, typically there are only one or two human cases in a year, says the CDC. But the most likely animal to give you rabies is the bat. Without post-bite treatment, the virus has killed adults and children.

So if you see a bat, or any other animal, that seems weak or sick or isn't 'acting right' – don't touch it. Even if it's friendly. 'Love your own, leave other animals alone.' That's what the CDC says.

I would like to add that I'm 'pro-bat'. On my farm, I had a dawn-to-dusk lamp on a tall pole in the barnyard. Like a lot of lights, it attracted insects. At night I liked to see the bats that flew around it. On summer nights, we could sit outdoors and listen to the night sounds. Mosquitoes weren't a problem.

I think it's cool that, at the Yolo Bypass Wildlife Area (West Sac borders it), you can go on a 'bat walk' at dusk, sponsored by the Yolo Basin Foundation, and watch bats fly out from beneath the causeway. (2021 info: <https://www.yolobasin.org/bats2021>) The wildlife area is managed by California Fish&Wildlife.

There used to be, and maybe still is, a long time bat colony beneath the I Street Bridge. It occurs to me that along the river there are feral cats and dogs in homeless camps that probably aren't vaccinated. Such animals are attracted to small things that flutter – hence the surge in baby birds at area wildlife rescue centers (<https://wildlifecareassociation.com>). I hope when trapped feral cats, or pets, are taken in for spay/neuter, the cats are getting rabies vaccinations.

In dogs, rabies vaccination is required in Yolo County. While the risk is low that your dog or cat will encounter a rabid animal, why take chances?

The U.S. Department of the Interior says, "Often misunderstood, bats are crucial to our planet. They provide essential pest control, pollinate our plants and disperse seeds for new plants and trees."

Bats are good animals. If you see one, please don't hurt it.

If you need help with a 'found' bat, call Nor-Cal Bats at 1-(530) 902-1918, or the California Department of Fish & Wildlife, 1-(916) 358-2900. For bat advice specific to Yolo County, go to <https://www.yolocountysheriff.com/services/animal-services>. Comments, questions? Contact Carol Bogart at carol@bogartonline.com.

Guidelines to Reduce Exposure to Rabies

(Yolo County Animal Services) – While the mild weather may encourage folks to go outside more frequently for walks, jogs, or bike rides; public health experts want to alert people that bat migration season has begun. Bat activity has increased, and so has the risk for rabies. The Yolo County Health & Human Services Agency would like to remind all Yolo County residents that the rabies virus is endemic in Yolo County, meaning it is always present – at higher levels in the spring and summer, and lower levels during other times of the year.

In Yolo County, bats are the animal most frequently reported with rabies. Rabies has also been detected in other wildlife such as skunks, raccoons, river otters, and foxes. To minimize exposure to rabies, Yolo County residents should follow these guidelines:

- Vaccinate dogs, cats, horses and other livestock for rabies and keep vaccinations current. Consultation on rabies vaccination is part of the comprehensive healthcare provided by your veterinarian.
- Report unusual animal behavior to Yolo County Animal Services at (530) 668-5287. Unusual animal behaviors include, but are not limited to, excessive drooling or foaming at the mouth, aggressive behaviors, and bats on the ground, unable to fly or active during daylight hours.
- Avoid contact with stray and wild animals.
- Keep pets under supervision in a yard or on a leash to minimize contact with wild animals.
- Teach children to never approach unfamiliar dogs, cats or wildlife, even if they appear friendly.
- Treat animal bites with soap and water and contact a medical professional immediately.
- People waking to find a bat in their room or a child's room should contact a medical professional immediately. Bats have small teeth and bites may not be visible.

"Vaccinations can keep pets, horses and livestock from getting rabies, and help protect pet owners should pets be bitten by a rabid wild animal," said Yolo County Deputy Health Officer Dr. Mary Ann Limbos.

It's important to get animal vaccinations and to report animal bites to local animal control officials and to follow recommended quarantine guidelines. For more information, visit <https://www.yolocountysheriff.com/services/animal-services/>.
