Police release video of officer-involved shooting

West Sacramento Police released the following video, which provides footage from body-worn cameras of the fatal officer-involved shooting from Thursday, Feb. 25 around 3:42 p.m. at Reed Avenue and Riverpoint Court.

While the independent investigation of the incident is continuing, this video is being released in accordance with the City of West Sacramento's policy and values for transparency with our community.

Some may find the subject matter disturbing. Viewer discretion is advised.

Dispatch received a call about a man, later identified as 24-year-old Adam Lundt, who staffed himself in the neck at the Walmart parking lot. In the video, the caller stated that the man killed himself, which according to the police statement, was "invaluable" information. Officer 1 located Lundt's vehicle. Officer 2 saw Lundt reaching around inside his car. Officer 1

City Council adopts anti-racism resolution

BY MICHELE TOWNSEND

On March 3, the West Sacramento City Council joined the Yolo County Board of Supervisors, the City of Davis, the City of Woodland, several school districts throughout Yolo County, and communities across the country in adopting a Resolution (Resolution 21-1) for CONDEMNING AND COMBATING RACISM, XENOPHOBIA AND INTOLERANCE AGAINST ASIAN AMERICANS AND PACIFIC ISLANDERS (AAPI). This resolution has been brought before councils due to the uprise of attacks against people that are, or appear to be, of Asian or Pacific Islander descent. Schoolyard bullying, vocal attacks, and sometimes physical assault are accruing by people that are accusing the victims of being responsible for the COVID-19 virus coming to America. In February, West Sacramento City Council unanimously passed becoming a Compassionate City. Adopting Resolution 21-1 met with the same response.

Woodland resident, Lisa Yep Salinas, presented Resolution 21-1 to the city council. Lisa is the wife of Yolo County's clerk-recorder/assessor/registrar

Some WUSD students to return to in-person learning this week

Yolo County is now in the Red Tier, which allows WUSD to continue the phased-in approach to have both elementary and secondary students return to campus for a hybrid/in-person learning. Full virtual learning continues to be an option for students. Parents have completed surveys regarding their preference for an in-person or virtual learning environment for the remainder of the 2020-21 school year.

Students who have selected the hybrid model will return to campus on the following dates: March 18,19 - Preschool, TK-5; March 23 - 6-8; March 25 - 9-12.

The planning for summer school opportunities has begun, and dates for the summer session will be finalized in the upcoming weeks. Information regarding Fall 2021 will be shared at future Board meetings.

THIS 'n' THAT California Vaccinations – Moving Right Along

BY CAROL BOGART

I'll tell you what. As you read this, I'm one day shy of two weeks past my second Moderna shot. Which means I'm about as close to being protected from the virus and one variant (UK) as it's possible to be right now. Might I need a 'booster' for extra infectious variants (mutations) in South Africa and Brazil? Maybe, and if I do, I'll sign right up to get them. Plus, there's now a new variant confirmed in New York City. As of this minute (3/9), I don't know much about it.

The CDC is reeeeeeeally pushing vaccination. On Monday, 3/8 the agency announced it's safe for small groups of vaccinated people to get together – WITHOUT MASKS! Also safe: gathering maskless (if you're vaccinated) with 'low risk' people – such as ...? Sorry. Just who they are seems to be a moving target. Current testing, as far as I know, does NOT include more infectious viral variants. People with no symptoms still can spread it. Is political pressure to 're-open' prompting loosened guidelines?

OBITUAIRES

Gaing Wing Chan

Gaing Wing Chan passed away on February 19, 2021, at the age of 98. He was born and raised in Oroville, CA. After graduating from Oroville High School in 1941, he enrolled at the University of California at Berkeley. However, his freshman year was interrupted when the United States entered the Second World War. During World War II, Gaing helped with the construction of Liberty cargo ships at the Kaiser Shipyards, and also served as a U.S. Army technical staff sergeant at Camp Beale. He was a recent recipient of the Chinese American World War II Veterans Congressional Gold Medal. After World War II, Gaing continued his undergraduate studies at UC Berkeley, graduating in 1949. He was also a proud member and active alumnus of the Pi Alpha Phi Fraternity. After graduating from Cal, Gaing attended the University of California at San Francisco School of Medicine and earned his medical degree in 1952. He completed his residency training in general surgery at the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco, and then moved to West Sacramento with his wife, Lily, in 1956 where he practiced family medicine and general surgery for 44 years.

In West Sacramento, he also served the community as a Kiwanis International service club member, a volunteer physician for the James Marshall High School football team, and a volunteer physician for Kamp Kiwanis. Dr. Chan was an active member of the medical staffs for Sutter and Mercy Hospitals in Sacramento and served a term as President and Chief of the Medical Staff at Mercy Hospital. In his spare time, Gaing enjoyed spending time with his family, working as a part-time “handyman and carpenter” around his home and office, traveling, and watching Cal-Berkeley football and San Francisco 49ers and Giants games. He was predeceased by his beloved wife of 64 years (Lily), his parents, and siblings. He is survived by his six children (Carolyn, Diane, Martin, Patricia, John, Alan), sons/daughters-in-law (Gordon, Kenneth, Lynn, Daniel, Lianne, Carol), 15 grandchildren, 4 great-grandchildren, and many brothers/sisters-in-law, and nieces/nephews.

No public services are scheduled at this time. Please check with the Harry A. Nauman & Son Funeral Home website (dignitymemorial.com) for updated information. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests those who wish to express sympathy to consider making a memorial contribution to one of the following: ACC Senior Services (Asian Care Center of Sacramento) <https://www.accsv.org>, the University of California at San Francisco (<https://makeagift.ucsf.edu>), or the University of California Chinese Alumni Foundation (751 14TH Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94118).

Patricia “Pat” May El-lison
Patricia “Pat” May El-lison passed away peacefully on March 2, 2021 at the age of 79. Patricia was the daughter of James & Gyla (Welch) Green. She was born on November 8, 1941 in Keyser, West Virginia. In 1952 she, her mother, sister, and brother moved to West Sacramento where she resided for the remainder of her life. Pat graduated from James Marshall High School in 1959. It was there she met Dale Harrington. They were married in 1960. She worked for the State of California until the first of their 3 children arrived. She later worked for Household Finance Company and the Washington Unified School District. She went on to earn her cosmetology license. She had a passion for music and began singing at an early age. In her younger years, she sang in the Trinity Presbyterian Church choir. She, her brother Eddie, and Sister Anita formed a folk singing trio. Their voices blended together perfectly. They enjoyed singing at local venues as well as many family gatherings. Her other passions included collecting antiques, decorating for Christmas, sewing, making jewelry, reading, and staying in close contact with friends near and far.

Pat had a variety of health issues through the years and her strength in facing these issues was an inspiration. She had a resilient spirit. Perhaps it was her wonderful sense of humor that carried her through the difficult times. She had a quick wit and enjoyed making others laugh. It’s her warm sense of humor that her family and friends will miss the most. She is preceded in death by her parents James and Gyla Green, her sister Anita Dunn and her nephew Larry Bullock. She is survived by her brother Eddie (JoAnn) Green, former husband, Dale (Patty) Harrington, daughter Terri (John) Haven, son Alan (Janine) Harrington, daughter Jill (Clark) Morris, grandchildren Sara Ventura, Michael Fonbuena, Tom and Amy Harrington, Kyle Morris, great-grandson Issac Ventura, niece Peggy (Allen) Luty and family, and brother-in-law Dennis Dunn. She also leaves behind many dear friends. We will always hold her memory close to our hearts. A celebration of life will be held at a later date.

Shooting

stepped out of his car; Lundt did the same. Officer 1’s camera on the patrol vehicle’s dashboard showed an image of Lundt charging toward Officer 1 with a gun in one hand and a knife in the other. It was determined later that it was a pellet gun. Officer 2 initially deployed his taser. The perspective from his Officer 2’s body-worn camera shows that, after the initial rounds were discharged by Officer 1, Lundt fell down and then stood up and again ran at Officer 1. Officer 2 then discharged his service weapon and ordered motorists and paramedics to back away from the scene, as it was unclear if Lundt still posed a threat. When Lundt fell to the pavement, he was still pointing the pellet gun at Officer 1. When he stood up, he pointed the gun at Officer 2. A gas station security camera showed Lundt stumble to the ground twice, only to get back up and charge Officer 1 who fired multiple rounds as he retreated. Paramedics were cleared to approach the scene once officers determined Lundt was no longer a threat. He was pronounced dead at the scene. The following is a statement from Police Chief Rob Strange: “The West Sacramento Police Department appreciates the community’s patience and compassion for everyone impacted by this incident. Our administration continues to cooperate with the Woodland Police Department as they conduct an independent criminal investigation of the incident. Concurrently, we are conducting our own internal investigation of the incident and review of department policies. Several months from now, the Yolo County District Attorney’s

Office will complete its assessment of this officer-involved shooting and issue its findings. “Two weeks have passed since the events depicted in the linked video. The work compiled through the criminal and administrative investigations has begun to shed light on what occurred in the afternoon hours of February 25th. Pursuant to our policy and standard practice, I have assessed the information gathered through these investigative efforts and have determined that the involved officers will be authorized to return to duty. These officers continue to cooperate with all investigative efforts and other work readiness processes, while they also engage with supportive resources to enable a healthy return to their work serving the residents of West Sacramento. “

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 844-477-7869, or visit this internet Web site www.stoxposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case T.S.# 85195. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale." For sales conducted after January 1, 2021: NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: SIGURD JETT CASE NO. PR2020-201

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of SIGURD JETT. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by DENISE ANITA MACK in the Superior Court of California, County of YOLO. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that DENISE ANITA MACK be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

Study finds adolescents with autism may engage neural control systems differently

MIND Institute researchers used brain scans to measure proactive and reactive executive control

A new study by UC Davis MIND Institute researchers suggests that executive control differences in autism spectrum disorder (ASD) may be the result of a unique approach, rather than an impairment.

Executive control difficulties are common in individuals with autism and are associated with challenges completing tasks and managing time. The study, published in Biological Psychiatry: Cognitive Neuroscience and Neuroimaging, sought to tease out whether these difficulties represent a disruption in proactive executive control (engaged and maintained before a cognitively demanding event) or in reactive executive control (engaged as the event occurs).

Using functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI), the researchers took brain scans of 141 adolescents and young adults ages 12-22 (64 with autism, 77 neurotypical controls) enrolled in the Cognitive Control in Autism Study. During the scan, the participants completed a task that required them to adapt their behavior.

They were shown a green or red cue, followed by a white arrow (probe) pointing left or right. In half of the trials participants saw a green cue asking them to push a button that matched the direction of the arrow, and in the other half they saw a red cue that asked to push a button that didn't match. Trial order was randomized across the experiment.

"Our brains are seemingly hardwired to be able to respond to a probe with a matching action more easily than doing the opposite," said Andrew Gordon, a postdoctoral scholar in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and the lead author on the paper.

Participants with autism show a unique approach

Analyses of the brain scans during both the cue and probe phases found that participants with autism showed significantly greater brain activity than control participants during the cue in networks associated with proactive control processes, but on the less cognitively demanding trials – the ones with the matching arrow. On the more demanding trials – when the arrow didn't match – activity was similar across groups.

"This suggests that proactive control is not in fact impaired, but that those with autism implement it in a unique – and not necessarily maximally efficient – manner, because they employ proactive control to prepare for the easier versus the harder trials," said Marjorie Solomon, a professor in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and the senior author on the paper.

The researchers also found that during the arrow probe, connectivity between regions associated with reactive control processes was uniquely enhanced on the more-demanding trials in individuals with autism, but not in neurotypical controls.

The results were a little surprising, said Gordon. "Previous research suggests that disruption at a neural level may be responsible for behavioral differences. What we actually show is that participants with autism are simply engaging neural control systems differently to those with neurotypical development."

The researchers noted that the results do not explain why the participants with autism engaged in a different, less efficient strategy during the task than the neurotypical participants.

"Our findings suggest that, as in many other areas, those with autism use a unique strategy to complete a task," said Solomon. "But it does leave open the question of why they exert more control during the easier task, and it may have to do with reductions in cognitive flexibility."

Solomon and Gordon added that future research would benefit from manipulating the order in which the stimuli are presented.

"These findings stand in contrast to a lot of prior work on this topic," noted Gordon. "Although no one study can be considered enough evidence to change how we think about executive control in autism, these findings suggest we need to be more nuanced with regard to this subject in the future."

Coauthors on the study include Marie K. Krug and Rachel Wulff of UC Davis, Matthew V. Elliot of UC Berkeley, Jeremy Hogeveen of the University of New Mexico and Tyler Lesh and Cameron Carter of the Imaging Research Center in Sacramento.

I WANT to be optimistic. For one, I need to get my taxes done and I'm so thankful the VITA program has resumed. VITA stands for Volunteer Income Tax Assistance. Preparers are certified by the IRS. Local partners are West Sac's Family Resource Center/Yolo County Children's Alliance (YCCA) and the United Way. Qualifying seniors get their taxes done for free!! These tax preparers have been doing this for years in West Sac; God bless 'em. And God bless YCCA's Katie Villegas, too. She's a long-time workhorse for the disadvantaged, as is her husband, West Sac's county supervisor, Oscar.

The VITA program, around for 50 years, is a godsend for my low income self and others. To make an appointment, call 1-(916) 572-0560. Before the pandemic, the preparers helped you at the former senior center on Cummins Way. Here's the drill for this year: At your appointed time, wear your mask and drop off your documents at YCCA or the library (no appointments left, though, at Turner). The YCCA/Family Resource Center, 1200 Anna St., is now located behind Alyce Norman School in Broderick, 95605. Behind the school you'll drive through a gate, and that's the building.

You can wait in your car in the parking lot, if you like. But take your cell. If they have questions/your return is ready, they will call you. When you make your appointment, they'll ask you for your phone number(s).

Now, as promised, here's my personal experience with Moderna.

No pinch, let alone a 'jab' with Shot 1. The absolute 100 percent truth is, I didn't feel any different at any time in the weeks I waited for Shot 2.

Shot 2, in my dominant arm where the muscle is more developed – ow. But no immediate side effects, so I left and went to Raley's.

When I got home with groceries, something had begun to happen. A little unsteady on my feet. Vision a bit blurred, even with my glasses. Muscle pain was worsening, especially in my neck and shoulders. I wasn't worried. Everything I'd read said to expect your body to react most after the second shot – proof the vaccine was teaching your body to 'recognize' the virus and defeat it. No headache, though, nausea or other digestive .. issues. No chills, no fever. Everybody's different, though, so your side effects may include those.

The after-vaccination instructions said to drink a lot of water. So, I did. At bedtime, I took my usual nighttime meds and added half-a-Tylenol. Knocked me right out! Didn't get up once to use the bathroom!!

Tax time. A conundrum for some this year. Which preparers are doing taxes where?

By the end of the second day after shot 2, I felt good! Honest! No aches, no pains, and even ... ENERGETIC! By day three, being off balance and the blurry vision cleared.

The vaccinators caution that being vaccinated only protects you from severe illness and that you still can infect someone else. This is why the CDC's revised March 8 Covid 19 guideline leaves me bewildered:

“(Vaccinated) individuals can gather indoors with others who are fully vaccinated with no precautions (masks, handwashing)

but must still adhere to masking and social distancing in public spaces. Additionally, vaccinated people can visit low-risk unvaccinated people from a single household without masks and physical distancing.”(emphasis added)

Huh. Meaning what? You can hug them? Is Walmart a 'public space'? What happened to outdoor air is safer than indoor air?

Today, as I wrap up my column, it's March 9. My 72nd birthday. Restaurants are open for indoor dining. This year, though, like last, no Raku Sushi with my son, Mike, and his now-fiancé, Ashley.

When they can get their vaccines and it's been two weeks, that's when we'll do it.

Low income seniors: To make an appointment with West Sac VITA for free preparation of your taxes, call the Family Resource Center at 1-(916)-572-0560. Leave a message if no one picks up. If you don't get a call back that same day, keep trying; they're super busy. Call Yolo Health's Covid info line, 1-833-965-6268, for updates on West Sac's planned mass vaccination clinics at City Hall. If you volunteer to help out at a vaccination clinic, you can get a vaccination, too. Comments? Contact Carol at carol@bogartonline.com.

Anit-Racism

of voters, Jesse Salinas. Lisa explained in her presentation that she, herself, has been the victim of multiple attacks in Woodland grocery stores as well as at her gym.

Locally, the elementary school-aged children of a high-ranking West

Sacramento city official, have experience bullying at school. These are only two examples of the many assaults reported... not to mention the large number that is not reported.

Yolo County Supervisor Oscar Villegas said “Yolo County condemns any and all xenophobia and hateful and racist acts towards our Asian and Pacific Islander community. We have all worked hard in this community to make it welcoming to all and anything less won't be tolerated”.

According to the West Sac City Council agenda report, a United Nations report released in October of 2020, more than 1,800 racist incidents occurred against AAPI citizens just between March and May of 2020. That was a year ago and the attacks don't seem to be subsiding.

By adopting the Resolution, the city is taking the first step in condemning and combating Racism, Xenophobia (prejudice against someone because of the assumption of where they geographically come from), and intolerance against AAPI citizens.

Furthermore, the city allocates that these actions are unacceptable. In addition, the adoption of this resolution will allow West Sacramento to possibly be eligible for funding for programs to educate and eliminate unfounded fears created during the pandemic. Mayor Martha Guerrero said, “We will strive to get resources to provide an extension of support where it is needed, to build back a stronger West Sacramento”.

Resolution 21-1 begins with “Whereas, West Sacramento supports inclusion and belonging for people of all races, national origins, and ethnicities, which is critical to guaranteeing the safety and security of all people...”

The resolution includes that despite the increasing acts of intolerance, it recognizes that in Yolo County and throughout our nation, that Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders have been a significant part in the security of our nation throughout history and during the pandemic. It notes an estimated 2 million Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders serving on the front lines of the COVID crisis as healthcare providers, first responders, and other essential roles.

The resolution ends with “NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the City Council of the City of West Sacramento, that the City of West Sacramento, in accordance with the Presidential Memorandum, hereby condemns racism, xenophobia, and intolerance against Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders; accepts responsibility to prevent racism, xenophobia, and intolerance against everyone in City of West Sacramento, including Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders; and calls upon all citizens, city staff and community groups to assist in the furtherance of these objectives.”
